I thought Shri Ram had made so many wrong decisions. And I've been able to make the wrong decision so many times. I might not would have saved him when all his business was going to hell, and he could have been a homeless beggar and then gone to his next life. I could walk away from him when he had his Lona, and then she would erase him altogether. I could have chosen that man from my past lives when Shri Ram, enjoying with Lona, threw me on the expanses of The universe toward the other. I could do made so many wrong choices. But every time I stayed with him. Probably, it is a cliché in my subconscious, I guess I'm a hidden masochist, because I attract such men and such an attitude to myself and I make a choice in their favor.

We are from different worlds and can never trust each other completely. Shri Ram is Asur. He used to feel his power over the people, who have no idea that this a decent-looking, very nice, such a cultural, educated person can do such monstrous things, on the internal, energy areas, looking very much even highly spiritual. These are Asuras. Who am I? I'm the destroyer of vile creatures, including the Asuras. We're enemies. And he's the best enemy to me, and I'm the best enemy to him. We can't trust each other. He knows how to do all sorts of tricks on the internal, energy areas, which I can not see here, and I know how to create a situation to confront which he can not. How can we trust each other?

«Let's continue to live, let's leave the past in the past, where it should be». And how can you go on, leaving the past in the past, knowing that there was so much bad? As they say, spoons were found, the Deposit remained. The sediment is still there. How can you continue to be with him, knowing that he is such, even if externally and looks very nice, inspiring full confidence and desire to open up? How can you open up, knowing that he can spit in this open flower at any moment? Flower is unlikely to blossom, knowing that you grow in that garden, where the flowers though, and I love it, but mercilessly rip.

«He nodded. He didn't have to count on the best, he got more than he deserved». Shri Ram has been shown that he can't expect the best, it won't for him, and I will be his punishment. How to be together, having such an attitude and awareness? And if this the best appear, then he immediately gonna run there? Shri Ram was very much disliked the idea that I is his punishment. He something after all wanted to enjoy.

And I also did not think that my man like this. Not to mention, he can do so many nasty things to me. Just one thing that he can such do to someone is closes the floodgates between us. And need to be with him. But Shri Ram asked for forgiveness. Through someone on the street, he told me he was bad, but he beats those that are much worse than him. What now? I also beat those who are bad and who are much worse than those bad. But eradication people who are really, really bad doesn't give you the right to treat women like that.

I remembered Yaroslav Klimanov's song about «Bhagavad-Gita» and thought that this song about me and Shri Ram, that this Bhagavad-Gita, this song of God is me.

I was born as all, every day
Wait for death and live in the fight,

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

But Providence itself is causeless
I was brought to you
I saw you, I touched you,
I started reading you
And is gone for you, me not to return
And never to be the same.
You told me about a conversation,
Which is the secret of secrets,
About the great war, where all died,
To become alive again,
And about where the immortal wind blows
And who runs it,
And who is the most beautiful in the world
And how to see him again.
You let me into the infinite world,
I was fascinated.
You called me to a heartfelt feast,
to I can know love,
She told me everything that was hidden from my eyes,
Any your line...
Bhagavad-Gita, Bhagavad-Gita»...
Song for ages.
At the fork of fate, it was getting creepy
Heroes and wise men.
Arjuna did not want a fight,
Ruthless to the scoundrels.
But your words are like streams of light
Smashed the doubt to dust.
For the good of others, you've given answers,
And fear left my heart.
And when the darkness of illusions was broken,
And people joined in battle,
And the ground of Kurukshetra was washed
In the blood that flowed,
All who heard your Holy teachings,
Immortality attained.
And for friends, and for enemies you gave salvation
And the removed burden from the ground.
You let me into the infinite world.,
Carry away me for a,
You called me to a heartfelt feast.,
So I can know love.
And who understand you, won't mourn
That life is short.
Bhagavad-Gita, Bhagavad-Gita»...
Song for ages.

Shri Ram told me that I and his choice and his fate and need to somehow accept this fate and be together, forgiving each other. He was worried that instead of enjoying his punishment is waiting for him, but in the screenshot with «Mahabharata» in the 227th series of my novel it was said that this is not a punishment, but mercy. He was given such a chance! His soul mate was going to leave the material world, but came to him to say about it and show that he was not alone all this time, that even in such a situation he was not abandoned, and gave him a chance, gave him a choice, gave him the main role, where he will decide which way to go. He already got more than he deserved. He didn't have to count on the best.

All this time, I found out about the not my men, I was really depressed. I wanted to kill Shri Ram so badly... I don't know how I held on. I remembered my Gurudev, his gesture of good will to Shri Ram and how Krishna said to give Shri Ram a chance. I thought that I had no right to act self-willed. And it was very hard for me because I thought that Shri Ram had no right to live because has no right to do so. I thought that by saying no to a behavior that doesn't honor you, you serve everyone, because there will never be a love in supporting someone to manifest itself in such a limited version of yourself. If you don't say no to something that doesn't honor you, then you support his manifestation in such a limited version of yourself. This Shri Ram so long was in such a limited version of himself, he had no respect for the woman as a person, as a living being, because there I was not alone, us were many.

I wanted to kill him so much, but Krishna said that it was against Dharma because Shri Ram is my eternal husband. And it was very difficult for me to restrain myself, because I believed that he had no right to exist. I was thinking about how I destroyed those forty strongest Asuras, I 40 times was born in asuric worlds. And I understood myself that I could not then behave otherwise. And surprisingly: in the case of Shri Ram, I was able to hold back. Although it was non-contact, through distance, still it was impossible to restrain, and there, in those forty incarnations, everything was on the physical plane. I felt it so deeply, like it was all real.

I thought the Dharma of a man was to protect a woman. What is the meaning of a man's life if he does not fulfill his mission to protect a woman, if he treats a woman as a sheep on the slaughter, as a piece of meat? In the pickup correctly said that the woman is targeted to fulfill the instinct of procreation. And if she sees a suitable male, so to speak, an alpha male, with whom she can fulfill her purpose — procreation — in the best way, then she submits to him. And the pickup trucks use this, all sorts of tricks in the pickup truck came up with how to make it so as to demonstrate, to give the command to the subconscious of the female individual, so that she took this female, male individual, for the alpha male, with whom she can successfully fulfill her mission female — to extend the genus, civilization.

And pickup trucks use it — the fact that a woman is targeted for the continuation of the genus. Pickup trucks use this, female, in order to simply use her and throw out, without taking responsibility. And even in the pickup aerobatics, not to spend a penny on her at all. What if she will feed you, it will be a good thing. But to you are desirable not to spend on it. Although sometimes the end justifies the means and you can take someone for a long siege, but still with the thought that you just use it, and do not take responsibility for it for your whole life. But in this case, a man does not fulfill his purpose, because his Dharma is in the protection of a woman, because a woman is aimed, set up for the continuation of the genus. And so that she can do it in the best way, a man has to take full responsibility for a woman, with all seriousness.

And pickup correctly says that the woman works on instincts — on the instinct of procreation. This is by nature. But a man has to protect a woman, because a woman prolongs the family. Because who will she give life to, who will she send in life if used? If she does not feel full care of herself and if this care is really not present and is not expected. Who will she give life to? Who, then, will be to go around? Pickupers are not right. They contribute to the General degradation. And as said Sergey Vladimirovich Serebryakov, if the kettle is not boiling, it is useless. If a man does not protect a woman, that he completely useless. He's not needed. He's a worthless, a burden on the earth. He breathes foreign air, because he does not fulfill his mission, the mission of protecting women.

179. The outgoing person, go your way, but tell the last time a kind word to someone with whom you decided to broke up

And I thought this Shri Ram the same. He only wants to enjoy. And I wanted so much to forget him forever, to close this page with him and go on, but I was reassured by my own words in one letter at the very beginning of our interaction with Shri Ram. Then I wrote to someone, but in fact it was my own letter from the past to myself in the future, that this will not happen again. I kind of sent these words to myself before I was born in this body: «When you are incarnated there and you live to see this time, that this series of events will begin to unfold, I will send you this letter. You will write to someone, and then you will understand that in these words to itself gave explanations that more such won't be repeated that you suffer somehow». And it said: "I'll manage". That is, there I myself as if reassured that this will never happen again and that I will cope with it, I have something provided there. In advance plan so drawn up, that I can endure this intensity passions.

I remembered how in the very first series of my novel there was a screenshot from «Mahabharata», where Krishna said: «Give him a chance». Then I told that when I was between lives, I saw that Srila Prabhupada came to Earth and there is a real opportunity to get out of the material world into the spiritual world. I have many lives was an inspector of the Universe Patrol, I give for creepy beasts face through their death. Those creatures who have no face, I given them a face, a normal embodiment, respectively, destroying them, and they are born in good conditions, as normal living beings. I, many lives doing all this, looked at all sorts of things and, seeing that Srila Prabhupada gave a real chance to return to the spiritual world, decided to leave this service and fall into the spiritual world, completely out of this material world forever. Krishna said give this Shri Ram chance, because he is my eternal couple, because even if we are with him and were not together, I somehow invisibly it is supported, helping him grow in his asuric career and protecting from a fall in hell.

Krishna told me that the one who is leaving can go, but necessary say one last good word to the one from whom you have decided to leave. And then in the first series of my novel Krishna in the screenshots showed that if Shri Ram does not take this chance, then he will never see me at all, Krishna will completely break our connection with Shri Ram, although we are with him and the eternal couple. Because Krishna is God, he can do anything. And even though I wanted to completely close this epic with Shri Ram, I remembered that it would not happen again, the chance is given once and it is necessary to give this chance, no matter what it costs me. And in those first series of my novel, when I said that poor Shri Ram, how without me he will be in the material world, came out a screenshot of Arjuna with his eyes closed, that is, in any way.

And I thought: but how, he's my eternal couple, he has to protect me. The Dharma of a man is to protect a woman. Instead of protecting me, he did me so much wrong. How many bad things he did to me in such a short time! I was lucky I inspector of the Universe Patrol and I have some kind of immunity. How many sinful reactions has he earned that he to his eternal wife everything so many bad things was done! But I it all this time defending you, I was fulfil Ekadashi and the benefit of their gave him. Apparently on those higher areas I was knew what he was doing.

It is here when you live, and you do not know what is really happening, you see only this outer shell, and what is happening on the internal, energy areas, you do not know. And I did not know that he did all this with me, it was opened later, but he earned so many sinful reactions, I see, I have these Ekadashi with the transfer of the benefits from them to him, so that he did not go to hell for what he did to me. And to how many other women did he do all sorts of nasty things? I thought: how then should I be? I want to kill him because he has no right to live, but Krishna says not to do it, it is against the Dharma. I held on with all my might not to kill him. To me it was given with great difficulty.

All this time I was sitting alone, and even there is no one to say this. To whom can say this? And then I feel like came someone, a native person, a parent with those from my past lives. And I'm like crying to them. Well, I think at least to someone I can cry it out my grief, how bitter and lonely and hurt. I started crying to them about how Shri Ram had hurt me. And then I felt the energy of some man who was my husband when I was the daughter of the one who came to me now. I felt his energy as if it's some sort of image. And I allowed me to cry that he hurt me as well. I cried bitterly and wept, feeling the invisible presence of someone native from there.

I kept saying and saying, "He hurt me so much, he hurt me so much"... And I thought they wanted to protect me somehow. I thought that one of those parents in past lives of mine living here now, and somehow it happened, and they recognized me and they cared about me, and I could even cry to them. And then I thought that they told Shri Ram that I was not a girl without family, and that I am a worthy girl who belonged to a noble Royal family.

Those who came to me must have told Shri Ram that he had no right to do this to me, that I was their daughter and belonged to a noble Royal family. I belonged to a noble Royal family there, and this noble Royal family still exists among the Asuras. And I belong to this family. But I was there not only to this Royal family belong to, since I'm forty times the strongest Asura destroyed. In different birth, perhaps, was born. But someone recognized me there. And it is seen that Shri Ram was told that he had no right to humiliate me so, because I belong to their noble Royal family. And somehow I felt so good, so easily, as if I was sitting and some hand on top of me protects, as if saying: «Do not be afraid, I'm with you».

I felt that this family was protecting me. Because I'm not what they thought. They thought I had dishonored them. No. Even if I was born to destroy the most powerful Asura, but he made his choice. He made me a victim. If he had behaved normally, everything would have been fine, I would have been faithful to him all my life, I would have been a chaste, loving wife. In no case would anything bad happen to him. I would have defended him, and he would have become even stronger, more powerful, despite the fact that I was born to destroy him. But he himself, with his hands, destroyed everything, including himself. And those my parents saw that it really was, and that this Shri Ram did the same thing to me, albeit non-contact, through distance, and they recognize for one's own me and took under their protection.

And just then I actually read those words from the book about Artemis Fowl: «Maybe you made the wrong decision. Maybe I could have made the same decision. We are from different worlds and can never trust each other completely. Let's will continue to live, leave the past behind where his place». And then, «He nodded. The best was not expected, he got more than he deserved». I thought about these words and felt protected, seemed to tell me: «Shri Ram, she is ours. We recognized her. We won't let you hurt her». I felt the protection of this kind, although Asuras, but guard the honor.

I thought that Shri Ram and I were from different worlds and we could never trust each other completely. They, Asuras, look very intelligently. They're very pretty, so charming, externally trustworthy. If Shri Ram comes to me, I'll forget he did this to me. And what he did to other women. And when I look into his honest, such honest eyes, I will not even think that he is capable of such a thing that even the thought of such a thing can come to his mind. I thought: how deceptive can be appearance and how people are fond of it. If he represents, demonstrates one thing, but actually makes there another.

Me neither. Who am I? I'm a little mouse, but and in fact, who am I? How many of these Asuras did I kill? Some eerie creatures in some worlds. Who am I? And I thought: what if we are with him from different worlds and we are encrypted? How can you be together, such two different personalities, both of which are encrypted, because they perform some kind of business that others should not see? I remembered that the word as a gentleman of Shri Ram, which he many times broke. And how can you trust, if he said, "Trust me. This is my hand", and he did something nasty on me, all summer connected to me energetically strangers men, taking advantage of my trust. And how his attractive appearance, absolutely deceptive, misleading? If he comes with such a look as the Asuras, and you would not think that he is capable of such a thing at all. How to be here?

180. Ram took a vow to our advantage

Some time after some parent came to me from those past lives and I was thinking about the words «Let's live, let's leave the past in the past, where it should be», I wanted to see what will be the sign, and then on my desktop came a screenshot of «Mahabharata», where Krishna said: «You can go after him». I looked at these words and I think: «Why should I follow him, if he did such abominations with me and I still feel my impotence that I can not do anything with him». But Krishna said that.

I think Krishna knows better. Someone came to me, recognized me, protect me, said that I its grains. So if the girl is not his, then he can do anything?! The rest, means, not women, not people, and the pieces meat? But Krishna said I could go after him. I do not see what the situation is in reality. I think: why did Krishna say that?

And then I wanted to revise the lecture of my Gurudev, in which he offered me for Shri Ram. I wanted to pump with her more screenshots. I listened to her, took 160 screenshots from a 20-minute lecture. And when I got to the end of that lecture, there were words, «Ram took a vow in our interest».

And I thought: I'm sitting here and I don't see how they really have the situation, I have a strong desire to this Shri Ram to be not, but this screenshot with the words «you can go for it» came out because somewhere this Shri Ram took some vow in our interests. And Krishna said to me "You can follow him". I didn't follow him right away because I had to accept it. Well, then I did, so to speak, went after him.

So I went after Shri Ram. This step was given to me very difficult. But Krishna said that I could follow him, and some parent of mine from my past lives came to me and took me under his protection, and I was shown in my Gurudev's lecture that Shri Ram took some vow in our interests. I thought, Yes, it's good that he took some kind of vow, but how strong is his word? He had already given the word as a gentleman, and then safely pretended that nothing had happened. How can I trust his word? But I can trust Krishna's word. I decided to surrender to Krishna. I said to Krishna, «Krishna, I'm going to go get that Shri Ram because I think you're for it. But if this Shri Ram, Krishna, does something wrong, then please take him away from me completely. I don't want to be in a place where I get hurt, where I'm not respected or appreciated”.

I thought that I had come to give Shri Ram a chance and that I should give him a chance, and what he would do with that chance is his choice and his decision. And either way, I'll go my own way. And when I went after him, I had such a great impulse, such a rush, that if Shri Ram would deceive me, let what I went after him destroy him completely, that there would be nothing left of him. I thought it was wrong for a woman to wish her man that, but I couldn't help it, it was against my will, my resentment was so strong. I think that's how the female energy works. If a man protects a woman, her energy protects him, and if he harms her, her energy destroys him. And it happens by itself.

But Shri Ram told me that everything would be fine, that he would do anything for me. How did I know about this? This time from the words of my Gurudev. When I transcribed the video of my novel in the text, I came to a description of how I started my Mahabharata among the Asuras: with the blessings of my Gurudeva, with the word as a gentleman Shri Ram and my letter for Borka, a former leader of the Moscow asuric organization that his life was finishes.

Then I was going to write like this:

In that lecture there were words that I took as the answer of my Gurudev: «Srla Prabhupada, I am happy serving you. I have no shadow of doubt, fear or illusion about my position as your servant. I'd do anything for you. If you had ordered me to go to hell to preach, I would have jumped on the first train rushing to hell, and on the way I would have happily sung the Holy names». It was January 18, 2017. And on February 14, Valentine's Day, Shri Ram gave me his word, about what I learned from the book «Falcon and Swallow» Boris Akunin, which then read. Then Shri Ram, sitting somewhere in his home, far away from me, said in the words of this book: “I will not do you any harm. You have my word as a gentleman. On the contrary, I am so grateful to you for your coming from nowhere to brighten up my loneliness. Trust me! Here is my hand. I will not abuse your trust. We are alone in this gloomy world, so let's stick together.”

These quotes from my Gurudev's lecture and from the book “Falcon and Swallow” I copied from the previously recorded part of the text of my novel. I typed in the search in the word I needed word`s phrase, copied the quote found on it and inserted it in the right place I write me the text of the novel. And it so happened that first I copied and pasted the words of my Gurudev, and then the word as a gentleman. But for some reason when I inserted the word as a gentleman into the text, word glitched, and instead of the word a piece from the previous copy, that is, the word of my Gurudev was inserted. And it turned out that:

Then Shri Ram, sitting somewhere in his home, far away from me, said in the words of this book: «Srla Prabhupada, I am happy serving you. I have no shadow of doubt, fear or illusion about my position as your servant. I'd do anything for you. If you had ordered me to go to hell to preach, I would have jumped on the first train rushing to hell, and on the way I would have happily sung the Holy names».

I sat looking at the glitch in word's text and thought that was what Shri Ram was telling me right now. He sitting now somewhere there, far away from me, says he is happy to be with me, happy to serve me. That he has no shadow of doubt, fear and illusion about his position as m-y husband, and of his duty. That he would do anything for me. That he would definitely take the chance I'm giving him. That if he needs to go with me to our future lives with him, where my debt will direct me, he will be happy to go there with me. I understand that so. I looked at those words and they calmed me so well.

At the same time I took another book in the library — «Cosmo Hill» by Jon Colfer. And when Shri Ram told me in the words of my Gurudev that he would come to me, I opened the first page of this book before going to bed, and there was this epigraph: «Thank you for the last four years and in advance — for many years in the future». I looked at those words and thought, Shri Ram and I have been together for four years? Really? I has become count when our interaction began. From that sign of the Universe when I was flooded by the neighbors above. It was November 1, 2013. And now the summer of 2018. Yes, it all fits: we have been interacting with him for more than four years. Four years exactly.

I once again marveled how the Lord's energies are inconceivable and amazing: our communication with Shri Ram takes place and thus. Literally through everything. I looked back at this epigraph: «Thank you for the last four years and in advance — for many years in the future» — and thought: it's great, just not in the format of non-contact. After all, the last four years we have been interacting with him at a distance. But it does not suit me. But Shri Ram said that he thanked me for many years in the future. So we have many years in the future? That's interesting.

I thought about what it could be years. I thought, of course, in real life. Of course, with him personally, not on some stupid deceptive scheme of theirs using other. Of course, honest, to respect my wishes and his. I remembered his promise that I would at least be rich and that he would do anything to make me happy. I wondered how he would do it, how we would live, where. I wanted the usual female happiness. Just like that woman who was with Shri Ram in the summer of 2016, who thought that every woman was born for happiness and she deserves it.

How quickly paradigms change when conditions change. I thought, the most important thing for me is not to forget, remember and always keep in my mind's eye the memories of what I have knowed over the past four years, when Shri Ram and I were through distance, but so closely interacted. I thought, how will we meet him? I was afraid to think about it, because I thought it was just unreal. But in the 227th series in the screenshot of the Mahabharata, Shri Ram said that I don't need to think about it, that he will do everything himself. I thought it was right, and he reassured me that for me he is ready for everything and he has no shadow of doubt, fear and illusion.

I thought, okay, Shri Ram somehow everything will make, but I don't want, when we shall be reunited with him, played the quiet game, pretending that we were usual, randomly met people. I had an interesting idea, how to get our relationship with in the real world to the platform where we the eternal couple. I created a website that outlined the whole novel, and made a business card, which placed the background screenshot of the series «Mahabharata», where Draupadi with a sword in his hands destroys flying snakes. This is when the Pandavas came to the forest snake Takshaka to build next to the forest, his city of Indraprastha. Then Takshaka sent his snakes to them and the slaughter began. And there she was waving a sword, killing those snakes that attack people. I took this screenshot, made it the background of that special business card and said to place there the text with the name of my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife" and referring to the site with my novel.

I thought that with this business card, I would find a way to transfer our relationship with him in real life, albeit in a facetious form, to that platform. I've seen it happen before. As he ask me, and that this for woman with sword and that this for novel, and I I'd say him: «Ah imagine, that we with you eternal couple and many lives were together, and then you turned asur, somehow not thus, as we, people, and with me was the and the». And I would tell him, my Shri Ram, about me and him. I like this idea so much! I thought that this idea is more sympathetic to me than the version of our meeting, which I invented and set out in the 181st series of my novel. There we met and got together, but was pretended knowing nothing, that we had accidentally encountered as ordinary people.

But here, in this version opened such wide horizons! We could take this game into our lives and be ourselves, pretending it was just a game. But that's interesting. And then he could even clear up some incomprehensible to me places in my novel, as if expounding their assumptions about them. I would ask him: «Look, I do not understand this in my novel. Imagine that you are this Shri Ram. As if it was all in fact, with that vision? Well, think about it, turn on your full imagination, allow to manifest the most incredible versions, how could it really be? I'm interested in your vision». And he would have answered me as it really is, but imagining it as if he had invented it, presenting himself as this Shri Ram. And I could even call him Shri Ram as a joke.

It would be our game with him. Which is actually our real life with him. Like in a song:

I believe you, of course.
How can there be doubts?
I saw it myself. —
It's our secret,
Our secret!

This will be our secret, about which we will say each other openly, presenting it as our game, because I recorded this novel of mine. Because sometime between lives, I made this great plan to our reunite, and it came true. And also because I talked about all this in my videos, and then it in the text. As a result, I have had such a novel. I decided that I will definitely record a video about our meeting in real life, about our reunion and about this game of ours. I will definitely tell about our acceptance of this game, about our acceptance of this secret about we are an eternal couple. I thought that it was not for nothing that my Gurudev gave me the name Vinodavani, which means «personified love of God». After all, one of the meanings of the word «vinoda» is «game». Our whole life is a game. And our whole life with Shri Ram will be this game. It will be a game in ourselves, as we really are. I thought: I like this game. Krishna, make this happen. I want this. I already want to play this game, which is not really a game, but a true, waking life, with a full understanding of myself, my path and a vision of the real picture of what is happening. Krishna, You are God. You can do anything. Krishna, if You want it to happen, it will. I remembered one episode from TV series «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» in which Parvati said, «Whatever happens, it will be the will of Narayana, and it will be in the best interests of the world». Now these words will be my motto. Whatever happens, it will be the will of Narayana, and it will be in the best interests of the world.

That Shri Ram's words «Thank you for the last four years and in advance — for many years in the future» came to me through the book «Cosmo Hill» by Jon Colfer in July 2018. After that I began to write this history from videos to text and upload it on the Internet, and then I began to translate the text into English.

All July and August 2018 I was engaged in the text in Russian, and at the end of August started to translate the text into English. It took me a long time to do this. To translate text in English, I have used two online translators — Yandex and Google. I was doing a translation of a small piece of text in Yandex, and then insert the translated piece alternately into Yandex and then Google, checking in order to the original meaning of the text was preserved.

I was moving the text many times from one online translator to another, first for translating from Russian into English, and after that the resulting English translation already for translating into Russian. I was choosing synonyms, different formulations to the meaning of the text is not distorted. I had to sacrifice many nuances, figures of speech and speech patterns for a more accurate presentation of the essence, but I wanted to translate my novel into English, and I did it. After a while, I found a site «Reverso Context» that added into my translation the picturesque, poetic and precision.

When I was throwing the translated pieces of text from one electronic translator to another, checking how already translated into English text is read when it was translated into Russian, I discovered a lot of truths that were hidden from me, and I decided to tell about it in my new videos. The discoveries turned out to be so significant that I couldn't help but tell about it out, and so I began to write down what I was going to present in the new videos, at the 228th series.

I also began to write down in this diary the events that took place at that time, with some particularly important moments of our interaction with Shri Ram or in which I received some insights. The first thing that got the honor of being recorded in my diary was that once I hugged my favorite pillow before going to bed, felt the presence of Shri Ram in this pillow, and words burst out of me by itself that I agree to anything to be with him. These words opened a new season of my videos.

At that time I looked at these words and thought that these words showed me that I have agreed to the most terrible, the most dangerous, and the most shameful tasks in my past lives, only to become with him again, in the progress of time, with my eternal husband, who became asur and to whom I was forbidden to approach. From this realization I became so sad... I thought that in this life I did everything just to become with him, but he didn't spare me. As soon as a woman who is much better than me, drifted into his view, he immediately abandoned me and began to give me to his friends from his asuric organization, so that they through him at the energetic connectivity fuck me, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence.

These thoughts made me feel bad, and I thought that I had come to him in vain, because he was not worthy of it. But on the other hand, it is right that I came to him, as it's time to sort things out. It was necessary to show him that he has an eternal soul mate, and that he now decides which way he will choose: the path of empty hedonism, sensual joys and continuation of staying in the material world, or the path of reunion with eternal soul mate and the return with her into the spiritual world.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And even in one session with pillow Krishna showed that if Shri Ram does not take this chance, then Krishna will tear our eternal connection with Shri Ram, free me from it, and Shri Ram and I will never be together again. I thought that for the sake of this I had to come and put myself under the blow, so that Shri Ram would show all his standard moves, choices and decisions, so that he could see that I knew what who he really is, but, despite this, I went to him.

At that time I had a conversation with teacher music. My son decided to learn to play the accordion. I went to talk with teacher music. It was a nice cultural woman. Through communication with her I with Shri Ram had conversation. She asked me how we used to live, how we came here, how we live now. I told her that my husband had tried to persuade me to have kids, he wanted children, but did not believe that he might have children, because he was a virgin and someone told him that he may not have children.

I presented everything to her in such a way, just not to get involved in the details of those events, just to keep the conversation going. I told her that before meeting me he did not have a woman with whom he could check if he could make the baby, but when we met, he wanted to check it with me. We began to have sex with him to conceive a child. We were tracking my cycles, using ovulation kits. As a result, we had a daughter, and then a son. I told her that when children were born, when he was convinced that he might have children, that he already had children, he found a good soft pillow, fell on her, and drove me with the children out to the street.

And through these words I spoke to Shri Ram, allegorically, in between words, that in past lives he was persuading me to come to him. He was calling on his Shakti, his eternal soul mate, his real woman. He didn't believe that he had his eternal own couple, but he had some yearning, some feeling that he had something like that, and he was calling on me somehow in his past lives and between lives, he was persuading me to come. He didn't believe he had an eternal soul mate.

And indeed, not everyone has an eternal soul mate. The eternal soul mate, a real couple, can be only for those living beings who were a couple in the spiritual world. And such couples, falling into the material world, live here too as couple. But in the spiritual world there are many souls who do not have a couple, so here, in the material world, this concept about the eternal soul mate for most of the people is just a myth. In their case, we can talk not about the eternal soul mate, but about partner. Those who in the spiritual world do not have their own couple, in the material world can have only a partner for some time.

And all those seminars, webinars about how to find a good partner, how to attract a man suitable for the desired format of relations, can be useful only for those women who do not have their eternal couple. But there are women for whom this is not a myth, but a reality, because they had a couple in the spiritual world. For such women all these seminars and webinars, how to find a suitable man, how to imagine in advance how you want to feel in the desired relationship, in fact, useless, as suitable partners and desired formats of relations can not bring satisfaction for those women, because they can be happy only with their eternal couple.

And Shri Ram thought: «What if I have such an eternal couple?» He did not believe this, but at the same time was persuading his eternal couple to come to him. And so I came to him. He made sure I am his Shakti, his eternal wife. He was looking for me. He hired among the asuras some great specialist who knows how to find people in the territory of sleep in their image. He paid this specialist a lot of asuric money, that is, the energy withdrawn from women and their pious merits. That specialist found me on the territory of the sleep, and Shri Ram became convinced that the woman in the dream is me, because I described this dream in my diary.

Everything has come together. Shri Ram has ascertained that he had found his Shakti. And even he saw in my life files, to which I gave him access, how we were a couple and very happily in our long-standing past lives. Shri Ram has found that he has his eternal soul mate and that's me. But when he «saw a nice soft pillow, he immediately fell on her and he chased me out with the kids on the street», that is, when he met a good woman in real life, he immediately gave me to his fellows from his asuric organization, plugging them into me invisibly at our contactless interaction.

Through my words to the teacher of music about children I opened Shri Ram that he was persuading me to come to him, I came to him, he obtained evidence of that I am his eternal couple, and threw me out to his employees for their fun. He thought his eternal soul mate always would will bring pleasure to his feelings the way he wants, but I wasn't as amazing as he expected. And when he met a woman who, according to his concepts, is more suitable for him to enjoy, he immediately gave up his eternal soul mate and gave her to others.

Then in that conversation with the teacher on music I said about my eldest daughter. I said that when I divorced her father, she lived without a full-blown family and that if I had known that this husband would be the same, I wouldn't even have greeted him back and wouldn't have slept with him. I said that if I knew that these children wouldn't also live in a full-blown family, then I would not have become pregnant and would not have bear them. She told me, «How can that be? These are your children», but I said, «No, I cannot accept this sort of logic». Through these words, I told Shri Ram that he gave me to others, that he dumped me and that I would never come to him again, despite the fact that he is my eternal couple. He was persuading his eternal soul mate to come to him, was saying that he would do anything for me. He was talking me that he doesn't need anyone else. He was talking me that he needed only me, but when I came to him, he gave me to others and made me unhappy.

Part of the Russian word «несчастливая» («unhappy») «част» is similar in sound to the English word «chastity». If the meaning «chastity» of the fragment «част» is used as the basis of the word «несчастливая» («unhappy»), the Russian word «несчастливая» («unhappy») can be logically decomposed into the following components: «несчастливая» («unhappy») = «не-с-част-на-я» = «не» («not») + «с» («with») + «част» («chastity») + «на» («at») + «я» («I»). In this version, the Russian word «несчастливая» («unhappy») can be understood as: «несчастливая» («unhappy») = «не» («not») + «с» («with») + «част» («chastity») = «без част» («without chastity») = «без целомудрия» («without chastity») = «нецеломудренная» («unchaste»). Saying that I am a unhappy woman, whom he enjoyed, and then threw out, I told Shri Ram that he had break my chastity, he gave me to another men, to his asuras at his asuric organization. Since asuras do not care what kind of sexually interactive: in real life or through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, then he violated my chastity, plugging into me asuras from his asuric organization.

That is, he was asking his Shakti to come to him, he was persuading her, giving her promises. She came to him, he got confirmation on this, and he immediately moved on to another woman and stripped his Shakti of her chastity. This is very regrettable, especially since he was once of divine nature. How did I know about that? From the same conversation with the teacher music, because I said about my husband that he was a virgin, and beings with divine nature in Sanskrit are called Devas, demigods. In Russian, the words «девственник» («a virgin») and «девы» («Devas»), that is, beings with a divine nature, have the same root «дев». Therefore, I realized that Shri Ram had a divine nature, since the word «девственник» in Russian clearly indicates the divine nature due to the same root of the word «дев», that is, a demigod, a creature with a divine nature. Shri Ram had divine nature, but the asuras turned him into an asur.

182. 16 Mondays for Lord Shiva

At that time my daughter was prescribed glasses. I bought glasses for her, we were driving home from the optician's shop, and I decided to go to a karate class, show the coach that my daughter is now wearing glasses, and discuss how she will train. And so we came to class, I call up the coach, show him these glasses and say that it is necessary to train without glasses because the glasses fly off in the first place. Once I was engaged in self-defense, and there said that it is necessary to train without glasses as in a fighting situation the glasses fly off in the first place and the person, not habitual to be without glasses, thus becomes disoriented, vulnerable and inefficient. So I told the coach that my daughter would train without glasses. He said he agreed.

In fact, through these words to the karate coach, I told Shri Ram that before he comes to me in real life, he must to free from all his adventuring with other women. He should break up with them all. Since Shri Ram is asur, the greater asur, RA, he can interact with women at the energy plane of existence, and he always has a lot of contacts with different women, out of whom asuras take female energy, pious merits and just having fun the sex at a distance, contactless, without personal presence. And through my words to the coach that the glasses fly off in the first place, I told Shri Ram that he should stop it completely, and this should be done before he comes to me in real life, because other women are nothing to him, but I am his eternal soul mate, his eternal couple. And this time the karate coach said he agrees.

I remembered a similar conversation with him long before, at the very beginning of our interaction with Shri Ram. There was a karate tournament, all the karate sections from all over the city gathered. There were a lot of children, and among them I noticed one boy in glasses who fought in sparring without removing glasses. I went to the karate coach and told him that he was in charge, he is their teacher, he instills in them some self-defense skills, but why then is this boy fighting with glasses? In a combat situation, glasses fly off in the first place. But the coach said he didn't care.

I was outraged by this: who is he, a coach or no? How could he be so indifferent that he doesn't care? I told him that if someone on the street starts a fight with this boy, then the attacker will first of all try to throw off glasses from this boy so that the boy becomes ineffective combat. If a boy trains with glasses, then in a combat situation, in a fight, without glasses he will confused and all his karate skills will be not as effective. He will not be able to confront the enemy properly, he will not be able to do this because he did not train without glasses. He trained only with glasses. I told the coach that he must to take account of everything, but he kept saying he didn't care. Through these words of the coach then, even before I started recording these videos of mine, Shri Ram told me that he was not going to give up those women with whom he has sexual interaction at the energical connectivity. Shri Ram told me that he does not care with whom to be, that he does not care, sexual connection with a personal presence or at a distance, contactless, without his personal presence, at the energetical connectivity.

He said that he doesn't care, because that interaction with those women is not in the real world, but through distance, without contact of physical bodies, and those women even can not guess about it, because the connection to them occurs at the energy plane of existence, completely invisibly and intangibly. But for him it doesn't matter how this happens: in real life or in energy interaction, because he feels everything as it is. But in real life he looks like decent, faithful and reliable man.

I remembered that conversation and thought that it is necessary to make responsible some large group of asuras for the fact that my eternal husband, who should protect me according to his eternal male destiny, became asur, began to give me to other men, depriving me of chastity. And for what Shri Ram told me, his eternal soul mate, that he does not care with whom to be — with me or with other women, and also for what he did not abandon other women, although I insisted on it. I thought the asuras were responsible for it and I will brutally destroy them.

I came to the karate coach not only because of my daughter's glasses. I needed to know how to apply for a new school year. Even before talking with teacher music, I already talked with a karate coach on this topic. At that time I came before class, he came out and took out a document for re-registration of the child for the next school year.

I took out my phone to take a picture of document, but at that time another woman came and she also became interested in re-registration of his child. She had a little boy in her arms, and she was holding an older boy for hand. And it so happened that the coach was talking to both of us at the same time and we were both taking pictures of that document at the same time. When I came home and began to remember this situation, I did not like it, because at projection to the situation with Shri Ram, this meant that a new version of the development of the situation, which had not existed before, has appeared. It was a new life's road, with another woman, in some future.

I was very upset with this situation and being in anger I deleted from my phone photos of this document. After that, there was conversation with the teacher music, from which I learned that Shri Ram in some of his past lives was persuading me, his eternal soul mate, his Shakti, to come to him. And in that conversation, this teacher music started telling me that my son is too fat, that I'm defacing him, give him improper nutrition, which leads to many chronic diseases such as obesity and hypertension.

She kept saying that I'm defacing him and how would I live with him when he grows up? When I came home, I remembered her words. I also remembered that recently we went to my dad and he said the same word for word, and my lady friend the other day talked about it. And they all said the same thing, like they were in cahoots.

I thought it was for a reason, and began to decrypt this conversation, trying to pull on the hidden meaning in it. And it occurred to me. I had already started to translate the text of the novel into English, and at the same time I had to read, delve into the situation, to experience events and emotions of those days again, and because of this, I wished Shri Ram a lot of bad. I just wanted to make him started feeling bad. I said that how could he be happy with any woman if he made me so unhappy? How can he make any woman happy if he humiliated and insulted me like that, made me so that I consider myself below the straw lying on the road? I wished him that he could not make any woman happy.

I sent him a lot of wishes of calamity and misfortune when I began to translate the text from Russian into English and immerse myself in those experiences and reflections.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I could not help myself, because I had to choose synonyms, consider different meanings of translated pieces of text, because of which I again was experiencing events and emotions of those days, and I could not help wishing him bad, and, apparently, many such wishes have accumulated and this began to be fulfilled. Because when I first came to the karate coach in the fall of 2018, the woman with the children was standing next to me and we turned to the coach together with her and looked at the same piece of paper.

I thought, how could it be? After all, in the spring of 2016, when I had signs about the third double, about the woman who came to Shri Ram that summer, one night, I had a dream in which this Shri Ram came to me and told me that he will take a loan and try to help me. I said that if he could somehow remedy the situation and that if Krishna would give me some sign about that Shri Ram had succeeded, then I agree that he come to me. And that time Shri Ram took that loan, because I received a sign, when I sat in a bus and before my eyes was an advertisement with a squirrel, cleaning carpets, and with the words: «Everything would be clean». Thanks to this, I realized that Shri Ram was able to take this credit. He took someone's pious merits in order to pay off my karmic debt and remove my negative script of the further vital way with doubles, that is, with women interfering in other people's relationships. I was told then that everything would be clean.

And already this fall of 2018, when I and other woman were talking at the same time with the karate coach, I saw aggressor, the other woman again in our future. I thought, how could it be? He has cleared this way using the loan of the pious merits, but then how did this woman with these children simultaneously with me reading the same text? I thought that these were not my karmic reactions to my sinful actions in the past. This life scenario already is excluded from all diversity of patterns of development of situations in my life. This situation presents in total number of his future life situations. And I did this to him, because they tell me from all sides that I myself am ruining him and how I will live with him if he is as the damaged goods. I ruined his life path in his future, and I have to fix it now.

I thought: I have already wished many misfortune and suffering to Shri Ram, and it already began to be fulfilled, since I see manifestation of this in this woman with children, and Shri Ram is trying to convey through these people to my awareness that we will be together, that he took a vow and firmly decided to keep it, but how will I live with him, if I myself wished him a lot of bad that no woman will be happy with him, but I am also a woman. Shri Ram conveyed to my mind through conversations with these people that I need to fix this situation because I am also a woman.

And then I thought: how can this be neutralized? I thought: I wished him a lot of misfortune, and now I was showed that this has already been launched, this has already begun to be fulfilled. But what to do now, how to fix this situation? I thought about Ho'oponopono. Ho'oponopono is a very good practice of purification of one's existence. Ho'oponopono is based on idea of 100 % responsibility, on idea of the taking responsibility for everyone's actions, not only for one's own. Person has to take complete responsibility for one's life, because everything one sees, hears, tastes, touches, or in any way experiences is one's responsibility, because it is in one's life. The problem is not be with our external reality, it is be with ourselves. According to Ho'oponopono, we need to take total responsibility, because everything exists as a projection from inside the human being. Ho'oponopono using the mantra, «I love you. I'm sorry. Please forgive me. Thank you». I thought that this version of the development of life with the invasion of other women in a couple's relationship is a program that is in my subconscious, these are my karmic reactions to some of my sinful actions in past lives. I thought that now I will clear my subconscious, my existence from these programs. After all, if I see this life scenario, this situation, it means that I have this program, and that means that I can now free myself from it, remove it. I started to say the phrase: «I'm sorry that I created all these situations. Please forgive me. Krishna, I thank You for removing all this from my subconscious. I love You».

I started apply technique Ho'oponopono, but I thought I had to add something else, to secure substantial support to implement this task, and I remembered about Shiva's 16 Mondays. Shiva said that if any woman will fast for 16 Mondays in a row and to honor Shiva with sincerity in her heart, Shiva would fulfill her wish. I decided that I definitely need to enlist the help and support of Shiva, as I myself have spoiled Shri Ram. This was Shri Ram`s cliché, his option for development of the further vital way, since I have not that situation with another woman at the upcoming development of situations, because Shri Ram took a loan of pious merits and snuffed out my sinful karmic reactions which were causing at me those scripts of the further vital way with doubles, women who break a couple up. And there everything was clean.

And with next Monday after this conversation with teacher on music I started to fast during 16 Mondays of Shiva. I said to Shiva, «Shiva, please neutralize all the bad things I wished to this Shri Ram. Let it won't affect us. Let this be completely neutralized and will not affect us in any way». And I started to fast during these 16 Mondays Shiva.

When I had fasted during a few Mondays of Shiva, I decided to know if this practice worked, and I asked Krishna to give me a sign. Krishna gave me this sign when I came to the karate coach for the second time when I bought my daughter glasses. After all, it was still necessary to draw up papers for the new school year, because after the first conversation with him on this topic I was angry and removed all the photos of a document out of my phone. And when I bought my daughter glasses, we went to the karate coach to show him the glasses and ask for help with that document.

And no one else was there this time. There were no other women at all, the coach came up to me, gave me this piece of paper in my hands, I did not even need to take pictures of it, he gave it to me personally, no one else, and I asked about the glasses. He said that glasses fly off in the first place, that she would be engaged without glasses, and he agreed.

Thanks to this, I realized that Krishna shows me that 16 Mondays of Shiva is effective practices. Definitely, it works. Yes, you need to fast 16 Mondays. It's difficult. It would take a lot of work, but it'd be worth it. This practice is effective. I was showed that 16 Mondays of Shiva neutralizes everything. Because during the first conversation the other woman was, but when I decided to enlist the support of Shiva and began to fast on 16 Mondays of Shiva, there was a second conversation in which there was no other woman, everything was clean and everything happened very favorably. Thanks to this, I realized that the 16 Mondays of Shiva is very important, and I continued to fast.

183. Stree dharma or Ideal Womanhood

Around the same time, I had one conversation with Shri Ram through one of my lady friends. It was at the Sunday program Hare Krishna. I sat down next to her, because I wanted to ask what's her relationship with a lot of Hindu men who constantly write her compliments on social networks. Literally every day, some Hindu men put «likes», writes her some backhanded compliments to her every post, and she respond favorably to their compliments. I am not a supporter of inter-ethnic marriages, and I was interested in her attitude to this issue.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I sat down next to her during honoring prasadam and asked her about it. Prasadam means Krishna's mercy. Prasadam is food offered to Krishna for His enjoyment. I and my lady friend were honoring prasadam. I asked her about her attitude towards Hindu men who constantly write her compliments on social networks. She said they're so good, they're so cute, they always write to her so well, and I said to her, «This is a cheap trick. They are filling your ears with lie. They just jest with you. And you actually trust them? But you're no beginner. Pick with your head, not your heart. Just be smart. People prefer easy lies to difficult truths. I have lady friends who have lived with Hindus for some time. These my lady friends slept with Hindus. They had sex with Hindus, thought they'll be okay, but it ended badly. I do not advise you to start any relationship with them. If somebody's trying to get close to you, just stay away. Their pleasant words, the likes on social networks, funny emoticons are just decoration. It's just cheap compliments. They like to impress. So take it easy, don't be so naive».

And she answers me, like, what's wrong with that, they are such charmer. I told her about my lady friends. I have some lady friends lived in India. One my lady friend lived long enough in India with a guru, who was devotee of Shiva. Another lady friend, too, lived some years with a different guru, also devotee of Shiva. Also one lady friend of mine lived with an Indian guy in Dubai. I said about all these lady friends in one story. I combined three stories of these lady friends of mine into one story. I just compiled three different stories into one story, so as not to go into details and not mention my specific lady friends.

The result was a story that my lady friend was deceived by compliments and pleasant manner of the Hindus. She went to India and lived there for a long time with a Hindu guru, who was devotee of Shiva. She was having sex with him. He was coming out to his worshippers in order to give them darshan. They were bowing to this guru, devotee of Shiva. My lady friend was coming out with him, and his worshippers were bowing to him and to her too, because they were together, she stood next to him, she slept with him, and they were a couple. But after a while he said to her, «You are many years old. You are already an old woman. There are so many beautiful young hot women. They want to be with me. Get out of here!» She said to him, «Am I really so many years old? I'm still young». She actually was about 35 years old. But he answered her, «No, you are many years old, look how many young, everyone wants, go».

I also told her that another lady friend of mine lived in Dubai, also with a Hindu. He was a real Hindu, who is born in India, but was living in Dubai for a while. She was sitting at home within the walls, went nowhere, went everywhere with him. And this lady friend of mine asks me, «Can you sit at home within the walls now and not go out?» And I answer her, «I live this way. I all the time sit at home within the walls». I said about my work that I work at home on the computer.

I also learned something from this conversation. In particular, I told to Shri Ram that I have a husband out there somewhere, and he is devotee of Shiva. He worships Shiva. I told that as if he is a Hindu, from India, he is from the spiritual world, but he lives here in the material world. This way I told Shri Ram that my husband is Nrisimhadev. He is from the spiritual world (because he is a Hindu, from India), but He lives in the material world (because he lives in Dubai). How does He live? He lives as a Deity, in the form of a Deity. My husband is Nrisimhadev himself. He is from the spiritual world, but lives in the material world in the form of Deity.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And through these words for that lady friend of mine I said that when I danced the dances of devotion to the Deities on the higher heavenly planets, I took Nrisimhadev into my heart and fell in love with Him. I loved the Deity of Lord Nrisimhadeva with my entire being from the moment I saw Him. I often danced for this Deity. After some time, I began to mentally fly to the Deity. I mentally was entering into this Deity and mentally was spreading out by molecules inside this Deity. I literally was dissolved into this Deity, for many lives in a row. And all this time I was with this Deity of Lord Nrisimhadeva. When everyone was coming to receive the darshan of this Deity, to worship Him, I was with Him. I was dissolved in Him. Everyone was bowing to Him and me, because I was dissolved in this Deity. Although I personally did not stand there with Him, but I was in Him. We were together.

This is what I said to my Shri Ram through words for that lady friend of mine. Nrisimhadev is Krishna himself, living here in the material world. And Krishna worships Shiva in the material world. Krishna is devotee of Shiva. That's why I said that my lady friends lived with the guru who was devotee of Shiva. This way I said to Shri Ram about who is my husband. This is a guru, a devotee of Shiva, who is from India, that is, from the spiritual world, but who lives in Dubai, that is, in the material world. This is Nrisimhadev Himself. And when I was inside the Deity of Lord Nrisimhadeva, in a dissolved state, merged with the Deity of Lord Nrisimhadeva, after some time, Nrisimhadev told me to come to those souls embodied in the material world who are young in their spiritual development and who are desiring.

He said that I am already many years old. It means that I am already at a fairly high level of spiritual development. He said that there are many young people. This means that these people are young not by the age of their body, but by their spiritual development. They are not aware of the true values of life and have low-lying carnal desires, mundane interests and low consuming attitude to the woman. He said that these young people want such a woman, like me, and that I have to go to them and help them to rise. And in the words that my lady friend was sitting in Dubai at home within the walls and nowhere did not go out without her man-hindu, did not communicate with no one almost, went everywhere only with him, I told Shri Ram that I was faithful, I had no one else. I told Shri Ram that I have only Nrisimhadev, and that where Nrisimhadev went, I went there with Him, being dissolved in the Deity of Nrisimhadev. Shri Ram asked me, can I be so faithful now, and I told him that I am still the same. I told him that I am sitting all day long at home within the walls and do not go anywhere.

Through these words I said to Shri Ram that I am faithful to him. I'm faithful to him since that time as soon as he came to me and plugged into me. That time I realized this due to my changed behavior, because I began to look at myself with different eyes, as if some man was looking at me from my eyes and I wanted to impress him. And since that time, my inner compass is tuned to him and does not deviate anywhere. I thought, how he was not ashamed to give to other men at the energy plane of existence a woman who stays at home, only with her husband and doesn't go anywhere, who is all the time with him and do not take her eyes off him? Shri Ram was calling me to him, he was persuading me to come to him.

In some past lives he thought about his Shakti and somehow was persuading her to come to him, but when this Shakti came to him, he began to give her to everyone. He desired, as those young, who wished. But when he got what he wanted, that is, me, he looked at me and said, «Well, if you want to be with me, then you'll be through me with other men. If you agree to everything to be with me, then you will be with all other men».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Also in that conversation with that lady friend of mine, I touched on the topic of my second husband, with whom I lived for many years. I said that the whole time we lived together, I used contraception, protection. This way I said that we used abstinence and I was doing everything so that we did not fall. I tried so that we could restrain sexual desire and not have sex. But if this was happening, I was using contraception, protection, because we were not planning to have children. And the rest of the time I tried to protect myself from these falls. To make it clear to my lady friend, I said that I was doing my best to protect myself.

In these words, I told Shri Ram that the most important thing for me as a wife is faithfulness (because I sat at home within the walls and went everywhere only with him) and protection. That is, when I went to those young people, I defended them, and it was my most important function — to protect.

And it turns out that through these words I told Shri Ram that the most important mission, the Dharma of wife is to be faithful and to protect her husband. I told him that was the main thing and that I did it. But he had a very different understanding of the purpose of women. He believed that a woman is an object for pleasure. He wanted a woman to bring him pleasure, but I came to him and began to ensure his safety, began to protect him. As soon as he plugged into me and told me that I could tune in to him, I immediately tuned in to him and began to protect him. I perform my function as a wife. But he abused it.

He was persuading me to come to him, was giving me promises, said that he would do anything for me, but when I came to him and began to be faithful to him and started to protect him, he said that I'm not good enough to his enjoyment, and he began to give me to asuras, abusing the fact that I was fulfilling duty of a wife, that I am focused on him and ensure his safety. I was fulfilling my Dharma, but he thought it was wrong. He decided that a woman should give enjoy for man, that she is good for nothing more, and if something in the enjoyment of the senses is not enough, need to get rid of her, empty her and give her to other.

That's what he thought. And he calmly went on this scenario, according to the which, so it turns out, he always went. Indeed, this is indicated by the fact that in the summer of 2016 a situation arose that that good woman came to him and he immediately switched to her and began to give me to everyone. It means he's always been like this, in all past lives. Every time as soon as there was better object for the enjoyment of the senses, he immediately destroyed the object that was before, although it was a woman and, maybe, she also followed her Dharma of a woman, wife, but he thought that for the enjoyment of feelings the new will be better, and he just was erasing the old.

184. Look before you leap

Around that time I was translating from Russian into English history about on some higher planes of existence some man from my past lives came to me. This is when Shri Ram had Lona, who was erasing the future of asuras. This Lona somehow was appearing into view of those men, whose she needed to erase. She had special qualifications, special expertise, she was super into sex.

A man, having tried once having sex with such a woman, could not tear himself away from her. She had a program that immediately was establishing a strong coupling with him. He was getting a lot of pleasure, because with her he had amazing, incredibly exciting, earth-shattering sex. He was at the height of bliss. But during this mind-blowing sex Lona was pumping out of him all life files, all information, all strengths, abilities, everything that he had. Somehow, Lona pumped everything out of him into those who worked with her.

Asuras had a secret project with Lona to eliminate unwanted asuras. Asur to whom Lona came, was having incredible sensations during sex with her. His dick worked like crazy when he fucked Lona. During sex with her, everything seemed to burn at him. It was the best, totally unbelievable sex of his life. This can be compared to a raging gas flaring escaping out of the ground. His torch burned with great force, and when all the gas ran out, this asur became an impotent, and not only in sex, but in life. And after leaving his body, he set off on an incorporeal existence. He was completely wiped out. Because the asuras take feminine energy and pious merits out of woman during her female orgasm. The asur can take pious merits out of woman when he plugged into her during her sex with someone in real life, through her man, invisibly, at a distance, or during her masturbation. When the asur loses the ability to take pious merits out of women, he quickly deflates. Lona was pumping all out of these asuras. Asur, who had the happiness of having sex with her, as a result of this became completely empty, without strength and without the ability to replenish them. And after that, he went into an incorporeal existence, like a ghost, a spirit without the ability to receive a body, to be born like all of us. Because he did not have pious merits for this. Lona pumped everything out of him. Without his pious merits and without the opportunity to take pious merits out of someone, this asur could not be born like all of us and have a normal body and ordinary life. He became a ghost for a long time.

And when Shri Ram had Lona, he turned me down because Lona loved seeing women abandoned, humiliated, and fallen to the bottom of life. She forced every man to throw his woman out of his life, and so she loved to come to such men who were with a woman. And Shri Ram, having fallen into trap of Lona, dumped me, told, «Farewell, we break up forever».

And immediately at some higher spheres of existence a man from my past lives came to me. He told me that Shri Ram had abandoned me of his own free will, and that he is a man from my past lives, and that he really wants me to be with him because he wants to save me from this Shri Ram. He told me that he will love me, that he loved me always, that he waited for this opportunity for a very long time and finally received when Shri Ram put me up for tender. I had questions and doubts at the time, but I chose Shri Ram because I thought that my whole life was dedicated to giving Shri Ram a chance, because he is my eternal couple, we were separated for many lives, because he was turned into asur. And that man was forced to leave.

And when I was translating this story into English and uploaded a series about him on Facebook, there was the preview window with Jalandhar devastated in the wake of the loss of his wife Vrinda. I looked at this heartbroken Jalandhar on this preview window and realized that this man from my past lives was still grieving, that he had lost me, that he could not help me, that I was left with Shri Ram, who does not respect women and erases them as soon as a new, better option is provided. Looking at this preview window, I realized that for this man it is a great tragedy that I chose Shri Ram.

I looked at this picture and thought: this man did not care whether there are many pious merits in my bag and whether I have this bag at all, with these my jewelry, at the expense of which you can calmly, happily live here and pretend that it's you did all, it's yours. This man didn't care what Shri Ram did to me. He just wanted to save me. He said that he loved me, that I would be protected with him, but I refused him. He came to me not to pump my pious merits out of me. He came to me not to please himself. He came to save me, but I refused him because I need to give Shri Ram some chance. I was really sad and was crying a lot.

I thought: Shri Ram has done so much wrong to me that I'm feeling like insignificant. I am so insignificant that this is the only way to treat me the way he has treated me. But for someone I am the most precious thing in the world, and for him it is a great tragedy that I chose this Shri Ram, who does not respect a woman. And this man treated me with sensitivity and respect. He loved me more than anything in the world.

And I thought that Shri Ram should fulfill his Dharma. First of all, he's my eternal husband. Secondly, when he connected up to me, he began to arouse my sexual desire. He began to pull out of my memory the pictures on the subject of sex, although I did not need it for a long time, but he began somehow to show me that he wants sex with me. I looked at my behavior as if from the side then: I behave as if a man is looking at me, and I like this man, and I want to impress him, and he wants to be with me, he offers me sex.

I then thought: well, he offers me sex, and I see that I want to impress him. I do everything for this. I haven't had this before. I then thought: «Don't you think there's a reason?» And I agreed. I lay on the sofa and began to masturbate. All that time, I constantly saw this man in front of me on my inner screen. But masturbation has not turned me on. I did not have sexual excitement. Then he began to throw into my mind all sorts of obscene pictures, pornography, in order to trigger at me feelings of sexual arousal. But it didn't work that way for me.

I didn't want to look at this pornography and those lecherous pictures he threw into my thoughts. Then he began to pull out of my memory remembrance with those men with whom I was, but I said, «No, I do not want to look at them. They are not interesting to me. I do not want to be with them. I want to be with you».

But I didn't give myself permission to tune in him, because I thought that maybe I didn't have the right, maybe he had someone there. Yes, I see that a man is plugged into me and that I want to impress him. I see clear signs that he wants to be with me, but I don't know anything about him. I didn't allow myself to tune in him. And suddenly I heard his voice in my head: «You can tune in to me». I immediately tuned in to him, and I was able to succeed. I got an orgasm.

But he immediately has placed a line of his asuras, with their erect penis in front of me on my inner screen. They demanded that I give them a blowjob or have sex with them. And there were a lot of asuras with their erect penis. But according to the Vedas if a man shows the woman his strange attentions, he is obliged to take full responsibility and to marry her. And when Shri Ram began to show all these signs towards me, he said in this way that he was ready to marry me. In this way he said he was taking me as his wife. But as soon as I accepted him as my husband and got an orgasm with him, he gave me to all his asuras.

And I thought: «No, if you've shown your desire to be with me and take me as your wife, then you have to do it. Now you're stuck forever. You must be responsible for your words and your actions». I feel sorry for the man from my past lives, of course, but Shri Ram was wrong. He thought he had the right to toy with people's lives as if they're nothing more than paper dolls. Now he will do everything as it should be, or Nrisimhadev will tear him into small pieces and nothing will remain of him.

Because Nrisimhadev told me, «There's a lot of young, they wish, go to them». Shri Ram was wishing, asking me, persuading, showing his desire, now let him be responsible for this, let him fulfill. Nothing comes without a price. You pay for what you get. Shri Ram has to pay his bills. And asuras are at great risk when they do this, because asur can meet a woman who will say, «You dared to invade my personal space. You are a man, and I am a woman. You have no right to invade my privacy if you did not have the wish to take me as your wife. But you violated my personal space. Now you have to take me as your wife. Sooner or later, we all face what we've done. You must come to me in real life. You must take me as your wife. You must perform your duties. You must love me, honor and cherish me, forevermore. It doesn't matter whether you love me or not, but you are now my husband and must take full responsibility for me. And you will have to love me, because from the moment you connected up onto me, you became my husband».

In Hollywood it is customary to adhere to the theme that love is a feeling. Today I love you, and we are together. Tomorrow I don't love you any more, and you can go to hell. But it does not correspond to dharma. Dharma is a duty. It is not so important whether you love this person or not. If you are husband and wife, you must be together and help each other. Life was given to us not for the enjoyment of feelings, but for austerities. With the help of life, we can break out of the wheel of samsara. With the help of life, we can interrupt endless reincarnations. That's what life is for. But not in order to extract drops of pleasure, using other people as objects. But asuras invade people's personal space without taking any responsibility for them. Asur plugs into a woman and forces her to either have sex with some man or masturbate. And during this, he has sex with her, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, although she does not know about it. Asur plugs into the woman and feels everything as it is, although he is not present with this woman. But even before this, the asur violate the boundaries of a woman when he just plugged into her. The asur violate the boundaries of a woman when he got into her thoughts, looks at her from her eyes, when she is in the shower, goes to the toilet, looks at herself in the mirror. From that moment he is obliged to take responsibility for this woman, because a man has no right to get so close to a woman if he has no intention of marrying her. Asuras are at great risk in their activities. So I told Shri Ram, recalling those events.

185. A lot of young people

In that conversation with my lady friend, I told her that guru, devotee of Shiva said at one point to other my lady friend, who lived with him, that she was many years old and that there are many young people who want to. And he told her to go away. There it was, of course, was about young women who want to be with this guru, but in my situation it was about men who are not at the highest level of development in understanding the true values, attitude to women and understanding of their purpose as men. And these men wanted a woman like me. And I was born to be with them.

But what did everything come down to? I was born at least 40 times in the asuric worlds. I every life became the wife of the most powerful, unattainable asur, whom according to the laws of Universal had to be erased. I was coming to him. Apparently, he wanted a woman who would fulfill wife's Dharma, he wanted love. And I fulfilled his desire, I fulfilled my Dharma, I was faithful him when I lived in that incarnation. But every time this husband-asur was abusing my trust. He was periodically introducing me to a state when I was not aware of reality. And at that time he with his friends was fucking me. And although he himself wanted such a woman, he himself lowered me. And so it was many times and many embodiments. As a result of this, I destroyed him.

I had visions of those sexual orgies. I also constantly came across evidence indicating that those orgies were actually. But it never occurred to me that this was true, until some our fatal sex. In that sex I was sitting on him and before my inner gaze the memories of those evidence and the pictures from those visions were starting to appear. Evidence and pictures were matching in turn one by one with each other, like pieces of a puzzle into a single mosaic. I clearly understood that those orgies were in real and that all this was organized by my beloved husband, whom I wholeheartedly loved and to whom I was faithful. And then I was activating the function of destroying asuras.

Inside me, on my inner screen, a dazzlingly shining golden fiery phallus-sword was coming out from below. This shining sword at the energy plane of existence was moving in sync with the movements of my physical body and burning all the chakras and everything asuric in my husband, rising higher and higher in his energy body. When this phallus-sword was pulling out of the top of his head, he was leaving the body. And when the soul leaves the body through the upper chakras, especially through the Sahasrara Chakra, the soul receives a higher birth. And this asur was receiving the elevation. He was getting the better embodiment. It all was ending. I was seeing the dead body of my beloved husband. I've cried over the body of the person I loved most in this world. I was shouting and screaming near his lifeless body and prayed to God to take me. Inside me a wildly flaming fire was appearing which was filling my whole energy body, and I immediately was leaving my body. And thus I came to these most powerful asuras into their asuric worlds 40 times.

Why 40 times? Because one of my favorite books as a child was Boris Lavrenev's book «Forty-first». There Maryutka killed 40 white guards, but she did not killed 41st. And already in this life, when I found out that Shri Ram did the same thing to me, only at the energetical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, I nearly killed him, but Krishna showed me that I should not do it. And that way I realized that Shri Ram is the 41st. So here it turns out that before him, I killed 40 of the greatest asuras, who humiliated me like this, even though they wanted a woman like me.

They were young by their level of development, they wanted, I came to them, and what happened? I destroyed them. Yes, they've gone to the rise, but what did I get out of it? Usually women, when communicating with each other about the men, ask the most important question: «What you getting out of it?» Yes, of course, for some time I enjoyed with him, but as a result I was brazenly used, humiliated and I was forced to destroy him, mercilessly, detached, and then immediately leave my body, although I was not so many years old, I was a young and blossomed woman.

Also in this life of mine I was coming to many youngs in terms of development. I remembered Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuras. I named him Borka, because we had a big fat spider, who I called Borka. We had a huge web over our TV. I did not remove this web, because I liked this Borka, I treated him as my friend. I often was looking at that web, as spider Borka sits there and watches his prey, and I was talking him, «Hello, Borka! How are you?» When we were poisoning cockroaches, Borka also died. And there's one web left, Borka was gone, and then I removed the web. And I gave the main Moscow asur the name Borka, like to this spider. The main Moscow asur very much reminded me of our spider Borka. The spider sat so big, fat, so important... Gone in a moment.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

In this life, I also came to the main Moscow asur, whom I also began to call Borka. I had an invisible interaction with him before Shri Ram. And when I was with Shri Ram, after our so-called heavenly wedding, he switched to that good woman in the summer of 2016, and gave me to his companions from his asuric organization. I was inconsolable and called upon Borka. I mentally imagined him, sent a block of information to his eyes and made a complaint to him that he was not protecting me well, that he was not doing what he should do. I asked for his help, and he told me he would try to help me.

I gave him the opportunity to show his best male qualities — to take care of a woman. I told him, «Help me, friend». He said, «I'll do anything to help you». So what? He helped me? No. He decided again take advantage of my stupidity, my naivete, wanted to pass off himself instead Shri Ram, as if Shri Ram is with me, but on fact there was would Borka. After that he wanted to slip his subordinates asuras to me. What happened after that?

I did not agree to his encroachments, and he decided to put me as his lot, item on their asuric totalizator, to break me as a woman. He wanted their specialists in breaking the female nature to crush everything in me, to turn me into a female during estrus, without the opportunity to stop. He wanted to activate at me a mode of incessant estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization. He wanted to defile me and take from me all my pious merits, completely empty and lower me. This Borka was thinking about me. I came to him and gave him the opportunity to show his best male qualities, but he said, «I will destroy you, a ragged goat». He was so young, he didn't know what he was living for.

In this way I came to Bhishma, the elder of the asuras, who had leverage over all of the asuras, all information about each of them. I came to him the same way. That summer after Borka the Oracle «Hot Delphine Dumpling» on the Internet told me that to me some big influential man will help. Then I thought: I don't know anyone like that, but then I thought: there must be someone. And then I tuned in to this «must be someone» and saw him on my internal screen. I asked him to help; he told me «daughter», stroked my head and treated me fatherly.

I came to him so that he could show his best masculine qualities. Probably he also wanted to see a real woman. I granted his wish, but what did he do? He have placed an erect penis in front of me on my inner screen and told me to give him blowjobs and to sit on his dick. He as if told me, «You want my help, you pay my price. Nothing comes without a price». And when I rejected his offer and walked out of there, what did he do? He approved that they put me at stake on their asuric totalizator to break me. He convened the most powerful breakers of female nature. He urged the asuras to make big bets on this asuric totalizator and enjoy the sight of how this obstinate bitch would be broken, lowered and turned into a lustful female. Asuras rejoiced at this. And many asuras had stood in line, intending to fuck me and deflate me my pious merits, when I would become without brakes with a constant thirst for sex and no impossibility to influence this. And none of them cared what would happen to my children when the asuras turn me into a whore. That's what came out of it.

I did right. I was told, «You are many years old. You are a remarkable woman who's accomplished incredible things. You have accomplished great things and have the capacity to accomplish even more. There are willing young people who do not understand what they live for, who do not understand their Dharma. They want to see a real woman and to respect a woman. Go to them». I went to them. What came out of it? I gave them an opportunity show the best version of themselves, but they showed the worst version of themselves because they couldn't even imagine the best version of themselves. But I helped them. After I destroyed them, they started showing a better version of themselves, in their future lives, because they couldn't show a worse version of themselves anymore, because I destroyed it.

And after they couldn't break me at their asuric totalizer because Shri Ram didn't give me to them, I gave Borka the opportunity to show the best version of himself again, to show his best masculine qualities. Already when I started recording my videos of my novel «My Roman. I'm asur's wife». Long before that, during our interaction with Borka in Moscow, he gave me some promise for my services. And I in my first video in an allegorical form, quite understandable to asuras, told him that it was time to keep his word. He did not want to do this.

He decided that he has no better version of himself at all, that he will be as he always was. But I forced him to keep his promise, applying direct forceful methods. He was forced to keep his promise. He gave Shri Ram something very important. But Borka still did not stop. He and Shri Ram decided to stop me another way. They found some very good, gorgeous man for me, who in fact was as if a little dog. They were going to push down his consciousness and to put me in touch with this man in order to I became with him and stopped recording my video about asuras.

I would think that this is Shri Ram, but Shri Ram would manifest himself through the body of this man, but not personally. After that Borka was spending manipulations of my consciousness, in order to force me stop to record my video and to tell about the asuras. Than all ended? I told him many times, «Show the best version of yourself, show respect for a woman». He didn't want to show a better version of himself. I was forced to destroy him. And so, it seems, happened every time.

It turns out that a woman can be such a powerful weapon. It's possible when she has respect for herself as a woman and respect for her female Dharma. Because the woman is called to help the man to show the best man's qualities — to take care of her, to solve her problems, to make everything that her became better. And if a woman like that comes in and men does something wrong to her, then these men are useless, they're not even drones, they're just expendable, they're nobody. They're not needed for anything at all. Nature gets rid of them.

The material world is cruel. You think your life is a fairy tale? Yes, but this tale is scary. A woman can be such a weapon if she fulfills her Dharma — to be faithful, to protect her man and to fulfill his desires. I guess I defended those 40 strongest asuras when I was their wife in my past lives. Probably, the opponents that they had, miraculously gone away. They probably thought it was happening by itself. And those asuras have become absolutely invulnerable, impregnable.

They probably thought that it happened because he was like that. But no, it happened because a woman like that came to him, and due to that all his competitors have gone somewhere. But instead of going on a better, higher path, showing a better version of himself, he began to abuse his power and inflate his arrogance. And what happened after that? He was destroyed, and he went only the way of his best version of himself and more nothing, because his worst version of himself was destroyed. A woman can be such a powerful weapon just by doing her Dharma.

186. «Where there's the flashlight?»

Then my first cousin came to me to help me to fix the computer. We chatted about this and that. The conversation has turned to about how I moved here. I said that I had an apartment there, in the far suburbs, and I sold it. After some time, when I deciphered this conversation, I thought that I was talking about my second husband, who I lived with for 14 years. At that time at some point Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuras, connected up to me. He wanted to bend me, but I did not give up, and after that he decided to marry me to pump out of me all my pious merits. And in that conversation, I got confirmation that that's exactly how it happened.

I as if sold that husband the same way I sold that apartment. And then I told my brother that at that time I wanted to buy another apartment there in the suburbs, and I even went to see the apartment, and I liked it, and they tried to persuade me to buy an apartment and agreed to all my requirements. I was given a loan. My lady friend who was a realtor offered me her free help at register the sale/ purchase transaction of an apartment. My customers, employers helped me. But I at one point refused this idea and went here. I told my brother that I had decided to get back to my family.

It turns out that I decided to come to this Shri Ram, because he is my eternal husband, my own, although I could become wife of the then leader of the Moscow asuras there. And all my words about buying an apartment say exactly that. I said that I went and visited the apartment which was for sale. It means that Borka personally came to me, I communicated with him. I said that they tried to persuade me to buy an apartment. It means that Borka was persuading me in every way, through different people to become his wife. And I liked him, very much. He was a very handsome man, pretty boy, a very lovely man. I told my brother that I could buy that apartment. It means that I could become wife of the most important Moscow asur. I told my brother that I would be given a loan, I would buy an apartment and then I would repay it all.

From these words about that I would then pay everything, that is, the credit would be repaid, I realized that this is confirmation. Really, Borka then was going to pump out of me all my pious merits during many years of married life with me. He was going to take all my pious merits out me. He wanted to transfer all pious merits from my piety account into his piety account. Emptied out bank accounts and disappeared. That's what he needed a wife for. He needs a wife not for a happy married life with her. He needs a wife for happy life, but not with her, but for himself. He was just a ruthless gold digger. He wanted to do big confiscation of pious merits of his wife, take out of her all her piety, to leave her with nothing, and then to kick her out of his life, when she would become an empty and good-for-nothing. And where would she go, with whom would she be without her pious merits?

When my brother did everything and was going to go to his home, it was already dark. I asked him to help me. I grow two tulasi plants. The Tulsi plant (Holy basil) is regarded as the holiest of all plants, an earthly manifestation of the goddess Tulsi/Vrinda. The offering of tulasì's leaves is of great importance in worship of Krishna. A person who waters and cares for the Tulsi daily is believed to gain moksha (salvation) and the divine grace of Vishnu, even if he does not worship Him. I had to take for a few days our tulasi to my lady friend in a next house, while we have poisoned cockroaches. It was dark. I was afraid to go alone and asked my brother to accompany me. He agreed. I take two tulasi under my arm, and we leave the house together. It's dark outside, you can't see anything. I took out my phone and said, «Where's the flashlight?» I began to look for a flashlight on my phone. I found flashlight and said, «Here flashlight!» I turned on the flashlight and started to light our way. We go; I carry two tulasi, hold a flashlight and illuminate the road in front of us. I gave tulasi to my lady friend and went home back.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Everything's got to have its place. This episode I decrypt so. When this Shri Ram comes to me, and he must come to me, I will take with me two of my jewels, that is, my children, and we will go to live to him. And there I'll continue to give him signs, how to coordinate his asuric organization, his life, where what to invest to get more benefits and to avoid undesirable, and so he knew who was telling the truth, who is cheating, who has what abilities, whom he can bend, who can not be touched.

I show him the sign of the Universe, that is, preemptive signs that constantly goes through me, through everything in my life. Shri Ram knows how to decipher these advance-warning signs, and many signs speak plainly him what is good for him or bad, what is best to do. Now I with my children live in the same room. We watch on TV a lot of cartoons. I have two children different sexes, the cat, and a lot of cockroaches. This provides many opportunities for displaying signs of various kinds. And the signs go to him in a continuous stream through everything in my life. And when I with my two tulasi, that is, my two children, will go to Shri Ram and live with him, I will also give him signs, because when I with my brother and tulasi left the house, it was dark, we can not see anything and I said, «Where is the flashlight?» As if we came to Shri Ram there, already live there, and I as if ask, «Where is the flashlight? With what will I show the way?» And then I said, «Here the flashlight!» I turned on the flashlight in the phone and illuminated the road, and we went.

And I think: I wonder how there I will give him the signs of the Universe? After all there will for me flashlight with which I will illuminate the path. I see that I have this specialization — to give the signs of the Universe through everything in my life. Everything that happens in my life is a sign. But since I'm with Shri Ram now, then the signs of the Universe are intended for him. The man from my past lives who came to me when because of Lona Shri Ram put me out to tenders, was similarly able to see, decipher and apply these signs in his life.

I learned that he been able to do that when I began to talk about him, remembering my classmate. The situation where I had to choose him or Shri Ram, reminded me of my classmate. I had clear associations of that man with my classmate. I was talking about a classmate, trying to get more information about that man. I said about my classmate that we at school played Battleship during the lessons and he was peeking my moves in the game in my glasses. He was looking at the reflection in my glasses of what was drawn on my piece of paper, and thus seeing the whole picture on my piece of paper.

It made me realize that the man from my past lives who came to save me from Shri Ram could see these signs coming through me in my life. When we were together, these signs of the Universe were going to him, and most likely, we lived very well, because if he saw what was better to bet on and what was need to avoid, what would be favorable and what was not, then most likely, we enjoyed the good life.

Through me there were going these preemptive signs, he saw these signs, and he understood these signs and thanks to it organized our life well, worked actively as the man. He was getting everything for a good prosperous life and arranged our life, and I with him lived well, just showing him the signs. And these signs itself rush through me. These signs itself goes through everything in my life. This by its very definition cannot be controlled. And I thought it is very important for Shri Ram that these signs go through me, and for this I will find this flashlight there. I will find there through what to show these signs.

Not all people can see these signs of the Universe. And basically no one saw that I gives such signs. They were like a monkey who is using a high-resolution, proper precision microscope with exceptional features and capabilities just in order to crack nuts. They didn't have the brains for anything else. And I felt sorry for that man from my past lives, because he was left without my guidance for live with the help of these signs. After all, he sees these signs and can use these signs in his life, but if there is no such person next to him through whom these signs go, then he in this life can not reach the heights that he would have had if he can to receive such signs. He, of course, can have a good life, but he will not have such luck, such chic advance-warning signs that he could have if he had such a couple. And I'm exactly the same.

If I live with some ordinary man who knows nothing about it and does not even realize that through me there the signs of the Universe goes, that he could lead our life on good course, then if you tell him about this, he will say that you are too creative and have strange imagination. And with such a man these signs will not help me in my life. After all, a man must be active in life, in order for these signs to really benefit, because these signs of the Universe intended mainly for the man who is with me. I need a couple. Through the woman goes the signs of the Universe, the man sees these preemptive signs, he organizes their life, and they live well. If there is no such coincidence, such a pair, then a man with such abilities can not realize himself, and a woman with a stream of signs through her can not relax and trust the flow of life.

187. The trustworthiness and authenticity of initiation

At the same time I gave Shri Ram the answer to his question whether his initiation which he received at my spiritual master Indradyumna Swami is full-fledged. As usual, I did not hear his question. He just thought about it and wanted to know, and I answered him in an allegorical way in a conversation with one of my lady friends. I and my lady friend were sitting on the Sunday program Hare Krishna, expected prasad, chatting about this and that. She asked me about my children, and I said that my children are Muscovites. She asked if they own shares in the apartment. I said that no, there municipal property, they are registered on a common basis. And then I realized that it is a conversation with Shri Ram in an allegorical language, through hidden meanings embodied in ordinary words. Through my lady friend Shri Ram asked me about the initiation, which he received in November 2016 at my spiritual master Indradyumna Swami.

Then Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, put me at stake at their asuric totalizator. He wanted the coolest specialists in breaking and lowering women to break me. He wanted to make a lot of money on it and to obtain satisfaction. Asuras wanted to force Shri Ram to give me to them because there were already big bets made and big forces were converged in there. Borka was so furious because of my disobedience and obstinacy that he decided to gather those asuras who, as he thought, would surely break such an obstinate bitch. And really, they could to break me there, because there many first-rate experts gathered for my breaking. These asuras were the pros at what they were doing. They had powerful asuric mystic abilities, powers, blessings, opportunities. They could break, empty, and lower any woman.

When I destroyed Borka, and then Bhishma, their elder, I started to do it to those asuras who were going to break me at their asuric totalizator. Among them was some asur with big terrible black tentacles in the area Svadhithana chakra that nothing could destroy. I tried to destroy these tentacles, but tentacles were growing back again. Then

I froze his black tentacles and smashed to bits. His tentacles turned to dust and nothing was left of them.

Also there was Eustace, Old Riga, as I called him. He had some powerful blessings with which he could break any woman at the energy plane of existence. This was good, a decent man... I saw him on my internal screen and instantly fell in love with him. All women probably were melting in his presence and thought him a very worthy man, exalted personality, although he used his blessings to turn women into the lustful reckless, promiscuous females.

Asuras told Shri Ram to give me to them in order to they can tear me on their asuric totalizer, so that they would cast me down to a state of the female who is not being able to stop, who is constantly in sexual arousal, in order to that I just couldn't hold on long enough and would begin to fuck with everyone, although I am not like that. Their plans were simple. First they would force me to masturbate. They planned to plug into me during my masturbation and fuck me through objects used in masturbation, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. During this, they were going to pump out my pious merits from me and defile me. After that, they were going to make me go look for men in physical reality for fucking in real life. I would go fuck with everyone who is looking for sex on dating sites, as well as in general with everyone around, not paying attention to who they are, and not thinking about the possible consequences. Asuras wanted to make such a fault whore out of me.

They did not think about my children, how the children would live with such a mother, who would become as a female at a low animal level, would sleep around with everybody and fuck with anyone, even at home, not ashamed of children. There among the eager me to break was the so-called Herr Fritz, chief of the German asuras, who was the tantric and aghori. When I was sending him to his future lives, I stood over them all like Kamakhya, in the form of personified Yoni, and Yoni, which is in a state of orgasm and cannot stop. That's what they wanted to make me.

They wanted to attack me all at once. The asur with black tentacles wanted to influence my Svadhisthana chakra. Eustace Old Riga wanted to bend me using his blessings. Herr Fritz with his tantric forces wanted to disrupt all female centers of my subtle energy body, making me such a female who is constantly in a state of sexual arousal and cannot get out of it. They were going to bring me to such a state in order to I could not stand this non-disappearing, not passing unbearable sexual arousal and would go fuck with anyone, although I am not like that. But Shri Ram refused to give me to them. Then they told him that they would kill him, and challenged him to a fight at the subtle plane of existence.

He had to go to this battle. He was faced with a formidable opponent who would have killed him, and in order to protect me somehow from all those experts in the breaking of women's nature, he asked me to ask the goddess Lakshmi for bless me to conjugal fidelity to Shri Ram. He tried very hard to get me to agree with his arguments, but I put forward such a counterargument that I will agree to do it if he becomes a disciple of my spiritual master Indradyumna Swami. Shri Ram knew that he would be killed in that battle on the subtle plane of existence, as a result of which his physical body would cease to function and he would go to his next incarnations, and he agreed to my terms.

But when at him that battle on the subtle plane of existence began, I was shown that he had a battle and that he would be killed there. And I began to ask Krishna and my Gurudev to save Shri Ram. I began to sing protective mantras in his defense, that he remained alive and even won. And after that he was forced to fulfill my condition, although he was not going to do it, because he was sure that he would be killed and that it just won't come to that. But he had to do it, I had him cornered, and the day after that battle, he became a disciple of my spiritual master.

That morning I suddenly saw on my inner screen myself and Shri Ram, who was standing to my right, and my Gurudev was there in front of us. And there was some invisible dialogue between me and Gurudev. None of us said anything aloud, and on the mental plane was also a complete calm, but I saw that between me and my Gurudev is some kind of thought exchange, conversation that my mind does not hear. As if I was asking Gurudev for something, maybe even promised something. And suddenly this silent dialogue stopped, and I saw that my Gurudev turned his eyes on this Shri Ram and between them went two powerful streams of energy, at the same time from Gurudev to Shri Ram and from Shri Ram to Gurudev.

And there were sparks, and everything buzzed really hard. And from Shri Ram to my Gurudev a great stream of energy rushed. My Gurudev took away the karmic reactions of Shri Ram, his bad asuric karma for all the time when Shri Ram lived as asur and did terrible abominations. And my Gurudev took it all. I saw it all with my own eyes on my inner screen. And then I suddenly saw that this Shri Ram began to grow and he had raised high above the sky. I'm standing small, my head lifted up, and I can't see him, he rose so high.

And then, after a while, the name Shri Ram came to me, in a randomly opened lecture of my Gurudev about the initiation of the bhakta Konstantin in Evpatoriya. And there my Gurudev gave initiation to just one disciple, there was no sacrificial fire, no bananas in the fire, no ceremony, no other external attributes, and Gurudev there said that in fact the initiation is happening at the level of the heart, at the level of relations. And when I listened to this lecture, I saw such direct Parallels with that initiation of Shri Ram that when Gurudev came to the name of that disciple and said «Shri Nam», the name «Shri Ram» came out of me by itself, because I had called him Ram before. And this way he became Shri Ram.

And this autumn in a conversation with my lady friend, when she asked me about my children, she said, «Are they Muscovites? Do they have shares in the apartment?» And I answered her that they are Muscovites, that they have there a registration, municipal property, on a general basis. This way Shri Ram asked me about this initiation. He did not believe that this initiation is real and the same as for everybody. He thought that if he is an asur, if he did it under duress, if it was at the energy plane of existence, then this initiation is not like that. Although he saw everything himself, he understands everything in these energy matters at the energy plane of existence, but he had doubts. And he asked me through my lady friend about it, allegedly about children, «Was it true initiation? Are the children Muscovites?» I replied, «Yes, they are definitely Muscovites. Similarly the initiation is true». He if as asked me, «And this initiation which I received, maybe, some incomplete, some partial?»

After all, everything was at the energy plane of existence, at the level of the heart, relations. There were no attributes of initiation, no recitation of the pranama mantra, bhakti-sastra. There was no verification of firmness of intent. There was nothing as at initiation of everyone else. He made no promises. Everything was not audible to the human ear, but the energy flow was, and then Shri Ram grew up. And Shri Ram was asking me: maybe this initiation is inefficient, not fully? That is a share in the apartment, this is part, and initiation is the same, partial, truncated, not such, as at all. And I answered: «No, the children have a registration there on the same basis, common municipal property».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And this way I told this Shri Ram that this initiation is the same as for everyone. Despite the fact that this Shri Ram is asur, despite the fact that he did not pass any tests, and did not ask for a recommendation for initiation, and did not chant 16 circles of Hare Krishna mantra, and did not comply the four regulative principles, and, moreover, he did many bad asuric things. But my Gurudev accept him as a disciple and took all his bad asuric karma. Shri Ram very much doubted the effectiveness and the authenticity of this initiation, but I through the usual words rebutted this. I said that children do not own a shares of the apartment, that they are registries on a common basis, there municipal property. Thus I gave him a very clear answer that this initiation is truly.

188. The discount card «My»

In mid-October 2018, Shri Ram and I had a meeting in real life, as it seemed to me. So, this is how it was. My daughter and I went to the store to buy groceries. We are waiting in line, at the checkout to pay for the purchase, and the man behind us is referring to me. A lovely, cultured, a very nice man. He asks me for my discount card of this store. On this discount card the word "My" is written in capital letters.

I am often asked for discount card. Someone is buying the products in other shops and they have no discount card of this shop; someone forgot discount card at home. I always help them. I have been asked for discount card many times. Apparently, it is quite common. I never paid a mind to it. But in this case I was forced to pay attention. When the cashier counted all goods of this man and it was time to scan the discount card to factor the rebates, I was going to give my discount card to the cashier, because she is conducting an operation on this card.

Usually, if someone asks for this card, I give it to the cashier, she scan it and immediately returns it to me. I did not give a discount card to any of the buyers. They do not need a card, but a discount. And this time I began to do the same. I hand this card to the cashier, but this man takes control, makes a move to take a proactive role and somehow lets me know that the card should be given to him. I was so surprised... But I thought that if a person asks, then for God's sake.

I give him this discount card, he takes it and gives it to the cashier. The cashier scanned the card, granted the discount and put discount card on a plate for change. I reach out my hand to take this card and put it in my purse, but this man again makes a proactive gesture and, without saying a word, shows me not to take this card, that he will take it himself. And then he takes the discount card off of the plate for change and hands card to me. I take the card from his hands to myself and put in my wallet.

I with my daughter went home, but I had a thought that this situation with discount card is very strange. That's never happened to me. Yes, many people asked me for a discount card and often, but I always gave it to the cashier, the cashier took it and gave it to me. These people did not care how it all happens, but this time suddenly the man who asked for this card made such a gesture in order to I gave the card not to the cashier, but to him, although I already was handing it to the cashier. What does he care how the discount for the purchase will be carried out?

And when the cashier puts the discount card on the plate for change, it is more convenient for me to take it, it is closer to me, to my hands, but he somehow slowed me down, took the card himself and handed it to me. At the same time on the discount card in large letters written «My», and if you look at this action in terms of symbolism, it turns out that I gave him the word «My», he took, and then thus gave me the word «My».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

That is, there was a clear impression that everything was done intentionally, purposefully, very symbolically, and in the center of everything was not discount for purchasing, but the word «My».

A very strange picture, it led me to think that maybe I did not invent my whole novel and all this is true. Before that, I often thought that I was just writing a novel, interpreting different events of my life, but now an event occurred that made me think that this novel is not an essay, not a fantasy of wild imagination, but really real life. Well is that possible?

But my life runs its course, nothing happens in it, I just imagine something in my imagination, and I have written this novel. And then suddenly a man with this discount card «My» at the checkout in the store with such a symbolic gesture, as if saying, «I commit my fate into your hands». I even thought: what if all this is not invented, but actually happens? Maybe this is the same Shri Ram? It says «My» on the discount card. Maybe it's some kind of sign. And when all these thoughts were swirling through my head, I felt sad, all of a sudden.

After all, Shri Ram is asur. Asuras live here among us like regular people, very nice, cultured, pleasant people. And this man is the same. I thought: what a nice man... Such a nice, cultured, courteous, good man. I thought that the same Shri Ram I am talking about here is this man who thus attracted my attention, but did not take the next steps, because I gave him a sign that this should not be done now, because in my plan, which I made long before my birth, there are still milestones which we must pass separately, so that everything can be realized as it should be.

I was lost in thought about this event and thought: how could such a pleasant, such a courteous, such a highly intelligent, such a respectable man, who makes you want to open up, do all that I am telling about in this my novel? How could such a good man do all this? If it is him. But why would an ordinary person do such a maneuver with a discount card? It is more logical when I give this card to the cashier, then take it, put it to my purse and go home. That's usually how it goes. But it was different this time.

Here it was necessary that I gave this card to him personally in hands and then that I took this card from him personally. It is seen that this man is normal, intelligent, intelligent, adequate, richly clad. Why would he need such illogical actions? I'm nobody compared to him. He's a very handsome man who looks like he keeps himself in shape. Why would such a man do this? This maneuver with this discount card is irrational. And why does he even need this discount card? Only to lower the check a little bit? It can be seen that this man is enough rich, and this negligible benefit for this discount for him is inconsequential thing. That is, it turns out that this discount card is a kind of symbolic tool. And I thought: Yes, it could be Shri Ram.

And then I remembered the conversation with the karate coach, which I decrypted using the allegorical language, thinking that through these hidden meanings this Shri Ram communicates with me. At that time he told me, «We're from different planets», and I replied him, «Definitely». Then Shri Ram told me that we are from different planets, we are completely different, and I reminded him about the dream with the word «definitely», when he was looking for his Shakti and found her at the territory of sleep and it was me.

That conversation took place in the early summer of 2016. At that time, he had good woman in real life. I mentally looked at the man with the discount card «My», remembered those words and thought: Yes, we're from different planets. We're from different stars. We're from different worlds. He's a true man, like no other. He is man many women desire. He's like a delicious cake with whipped cream and strawberries.

He's like the best amazing tiramisu that melt in mouth, he is... fantastic! Compared to him, I'm just nobody, a fly in the soup, a repulsive cockroach in the dish. That woman that summer more suited for him; she was the same him. She's like a rare and exquisite delicacy served with the most expensive wines in the world. They are people of one round. And he then told me that I was not of his rank. He's like a lion, and I am like crow. A lion and crow in strange alliance.

I mentally looked at the man with the discount card «My» and thought: that woman suited him much more. But how could we be an eternal couple if we're so different? And how could he even think to stand next to someone like me? Why would he? That woman is much better. And how could such a wonderful man do such abominations that he did to me which resulted that I began to consider myself a piece of shit and think that I could be treated only like that? Gosh, I am just a worthless piece of shit. Because this way you can engage only with the worthless piece of garbage. Just 'cause you're the boss doesn't mean you can treat people bad. I remembered how Shri Ram used direct forceful methods against me, trying to bend me and force me to fulfill the low-lying wishes of all asuras of his asuric organization by means of activating at me a mode of incessant estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization.

How can so handsome man, inspiring unbounded respect, admiration, and even worship do such a thing? Such a striking, catastrophic, humongous discrepancy between the appearance, created impression and the essence. But such maneuver with the card “My” is just a clever move. These things don't happen for no reason. Because this man asked for a discount card in order to this word “My” would be passed from hand to hand. It's something symbolic. But since Shri Ram is master in these allegorical, symbolic Affairs, this maneuver is very much in line with him. And I thought that it could definitely be Shri Ram.

I thought that it could be Shri Ram, because such a maneuver with a discount card is not necessary for an ordinary person who just needs to get a discount for products by means of a discount card that he does not have. I thought that this action was deliberate, considered and very symbolic, because word “My” is written on the card. Either way, looks like this maneuver with a discount card wasn't an accident or a mistake. I gave him this “My” into his hands, and then he gave me this “My” into my hands. I was remembering this man and thinking: what if it is my Shri Ram? How good if it is he! He is such a wonderful man, handsome man, so decent, well groomed, evolved, reliable man. Every detail is carefully been considered. He is man who inspires immense respect and admiration.

189. «He never used the wrong words»

I thought it might not be him. He could send someone instead of himself, because before that there was something similar and I also was thinking that this man may be my Shri Ram. And he cultivated in me these thoughts that it could be him. He did not dispel these thoughts and did everything so that I often recalled previous candidate for the role of Shri Ram and thought about him. At that time I thought about that candidate for the role of Shri Ram for a long time, and now situation with a new man, with a discount card “My” in the store at the cash register. And in both cases, a non-standard, non-trivial situation, suggesting that this was done intentionally and very symbolically.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought how disrespectful he was to me. He throws these situations to me like to a laboratory mouse, like to a monkey. He throws into my mind these ideas about that it is him, and looks at how I will react in this situation. The funny amusement is to watch this toy jumping at a hot pan. The asur throws a funny idea to this toy and watches how this toy will now get out of this situation.

This is all fun and games to the asuras. I was very sorry that he did not respect me so much that before that he threw into me these ideas about the previous man. And I thought: either one of them is my Shri Ram, or none of them and he just wants to laugh at me, look at my reaction, how I will get out of this situation.

I thought he was wrong. If he showed such disrespect to a woman, considering her a toy, then I will definitely make someone of the asuras guilty and they will be responsible for his such behavior. I thought of all the time I've wasted. I was defending him. I was giving him the pious merits I have received by keeping the fast at Ekadashi. I came to him, although I shouldn't have to do it. Everything I've done is for nothing! I don't know what the hell I was expecting. I shouldn't have done what I did. And I still keep the fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva, to reaction for his behavior not affected him. The reaction that he had to receive for the fact that he insulted me, for the fact that he was humiliating and lowering his soul mate, his Shakti.

I thought, that I, of course, offended on him, that he treating me like to toy, but I should not wish to him bad, after all I keep the fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva so that my bad wishes will not affect us and in order to Shiva will neutralize all this. But the bitterness did not pass, and then I said, «Krishna, please, hit him harder. I, of course, keep the fast of the 16 Mondays of Shiva, but these sad thoughts haunt me, and I want to forgive him. Please, Krishna, hit him harder. Please, hit him right now that I could forgive him. Hit him so that I feel that You hit him very hard, that he is in pain, and then I can forgive him».

I can't wish him bad, because I keep the fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva, but I have to forgive him. But I can't forgive him any other way, so I asked Krishna, «Help me to forgive him. Please, hit him there so I can forgive him here». And after that I had thought: what if one of them is really my Shri Ram? But then who's...? But what if it's none of them? These thoughts bothered me greatly.

I needed to look at something in folders with pictures on my computer where screenshots from «Mahabharata» and «Mahakali» which every 30 seconds randomly change on my desktop are stored. I opened that folder and found that for some reason a lot of screenshots were duplicated. And I the whole evening manually was deleting all these duplicates. I was thinking about this man with the discount card «My» and about the previous man and was deleting doubles of screenshots. I had deleted all doubles of screenshots. After that, I opened desktop of my computer and began to watch what screenshots will be shown to me there.

And then appeared the screenshots with the words: «He never used the wrong words», «When he spoke, he had no problems with the body. He was always very focused». This is the words from a lecture by my Gurudev, in which he described the dignities and blessings of Hanuman, but actually told Shri Ram about me. And one of my dignities was that I never used the wrong words, that is, I was never being with other men. I was always faithful to my husband, I was focused on him.

And then appeared the screenshot with the words «You have to agree to the terms of the great Bhisma». I thought it was Krishna telling Shri Ram that he should agree to remove his double and show me who is definitely his double so that I can remove double because I have always been faithful to my husband and have never been with other men.

The next day in the morning my daughter and I went to the store. We go, and suddenly on my inner screen in front of my inner gaze rose the previous man, about whom I also thought for some time that he could be my Shri Ram. And he's standing on my internal screen the same they all were standing in front of me when I was destroying them. He is standing, and I understand that I was given him, because he is definitely not my Shri Ram. That is, through the words that «he never used the wrong words», Shri Ram was told that he had no right to send to me others because I am focused on him, but he sent another man to me and because of that I was meditating on other man. And if I was meditating on someone who is not Shri Ram, then the other must be removed.

And I started to delete him. I dealt with him half a day. I thought that he was at asuric organization of Shri Ram, he was Shri Ram's subordinate, his disciple. He was carrying out Shri Ram's assignments. Shri Ram dared to send that man to me in his place. Apparently, I really asked Krishna to knock Shri Ram hard so that I could forgive him, because this disciple of Shri Ram, who had the audacity to fulfill this command of Shri Ram, appeared before me in my mind's eye, on my inner screen.

I went into inside him and became a dazzling bright white star shining in all directions. From me it went bright radiance, and this radiance was piercing him completely. This radiance was piercing him for a long time. All the time that we were going to the store, after the store. I fried him well by this radiance. Then I turned on powerful turbocharging at the very bottom of him, and there was a furious stream of energy, the raging fireworks. A powerful stream of energy was rushing through his inner tube of his energy body and everything was buzzing.

After the energy turbocharging, I turned on the raging fire there, it completely filled him, and I began to burn everything there inside him slowly, qualitatively, consistently from the bottom up. From the bottom up, it was all gradually burning up and completely had burned down. And there everything became empty and lifeless, black and hollow, like an empty, dead, black, completely lifeless hollow pipe. After that, I turned on the Hare Krishna mantra to fill his entire empty, black, unviable hollow tube with the sound of Hare Krishna, so that he would receive real benefits.

But even after that, I couldn't forgive Shri Ram. There was something missing so I could forgive him. I thought: for so long I thought about that man, but it was not Shri Ram. Once that man stood in my mind's eye, on my inner screen, I saw that it's the previous man. This means that Shri Ram dared to deceive me. Maybe he's lying to me again. If this man with the card «My» is not my Shri Ram, then I will destroy more asuras. I will tear out all the trees of this forest because Shri Ram dares to humiliate me so much, he does not to respect me so much, dares to send someone in his stead. I will burn everything at the asuras for he was deceiving me. I thought: Jesus, I feel like a worthless piece of shit.

I thought that if the previous one wasn't Shri Ram, then this one with the card «My» might be Shri Ram. I remembered him. Such a handsome, such a wonderful man. I'm a pathetic peasant compared to him. I'm pathetic like a dog that's been kicked too many times, and keeps coming back for more. My inferiority complex began to grow. I thought: that woman is much better than me. She suits him better. I am no match for him. How will he be with me? After all he should become with me. I am nothing, compared to him. I am as a little scrap of ordinariness for him, and he's like a sky full of stars. He seems like an actual gift. You know, like at Christmas when you get a gift? He's like the tastiest ice cream. He's like a delicious amazing chocolate. How is he going to stand next to me? But once, at the beginning of our interaction, he told me, «Be my wife, become my wife». Words have consequences. Everyone must be held accountable for their actions. He gave his word. He must honor it. Nothing comes without a price.

Yes, that woman in the summer suited him better; they were people of one round. But when he became a fatal failure and his life went downhill, he would lose everything, including house, then it was clear that she would get rid of him on plausible justification, and he would remain on the street, although he is handsome, although he is man life has been kind to, although he is used to living comfortably. But she wouldn't have pitied him. She would have quietly thrown him out on the street, because her credo was «Every woman is born to be happy, and I am Worth It». But if a man is a loser, you will not get happiness from him. She suited him better, but she would have thrown him out of her life and he would die on the street.

Lona on her outside characteristics was better suited him, than I. She was gorgeous, sophisticated, beautiful, well-attended, very sexy woman, in sex everything was at the highest level, but she would have erased him. She would have made him an impotent, not only in sex, but in all spheres of life. She would have pumped out of him all his life files, forces and skills, and he would become a nothing. But she suited him better. They were like two peas in a pod. He was destroying, erasing everybody, and she likewise was destroying everybody; she was erasing them completely. He is nice looking man, wonderful man; you will never guess that he says, «We remember only the best, and what is not the best, we will forget. We will do so that everyone will forget what is no longer the best, because there will be no one to remember, we will erase completely».

And Lona was the same. She was saying, «We remember only the best. We'll pump everything out of him; he won't be the best anymore. Everyone will forget about him». Lona really suited him, but she would have destroyed him completely. But I'm a sucker, a nothing, absolutely do not suit him, but I'm his only love, I'm his Shakti, the eternal soul mate. How can we be so different?

190. Bouquet of flowers

Time went on. I continued to translate the text of my novel from Russian into English. Once I was invited to participate in a game with Metaphorical associative cards. I wanted to know more about the mysteries of this novel, hidden from me, and I asked Metaphorical associative cards to reveal these secrets to me, and at the first card were drawn a man and a woman. A man holds out a bouquet of flowers to a woman standing inside the mirror. I associated this picture with myself and Shri Ram, and this bouquet of flowers piqued my interest.

I thought: what can this bouquet mean regarding our situation with him? What kind of bouquet does this man hold out, which the woman seems to take, but it seems she does not take, but at the same time stands with a blessing gesture, but looks not at the bouquet, but into the eyes of a man? And she is in a kind of mirror, in a sort of cocoon, in a pearl luminous sphere, which is kind of like a completely different world.

And as I was thinking about it, I suddenly wanted to listen to a lecture of my Gurudev, which I found in the fall of 2016, when I was thinking about what spiritual name my Shri Ram could get when he was initiated at the level of relationships, at the level of the heart. It was a lecture about the initiation of the bhakta Konstantin in Evpatoriya. Thanks to that lecture, I learned about this name Shri Ram. I wanted to listen to this lecture, so I began to listen to it from the beginning.

I have reached in this lecture the following words of Gurudev: «The spiritual master also takes a vow in his heart. He will not consider his mission accomplished until the disciple is liberated — returned into the spiritual world, to the Lotus feet of Sri Sri Radha and Krishna. And there, in the spiritual world, a disciple and a master are already serving Krishna in their spiritual bodies». When I was listening to this, just at this moment Gurudev's words about the vow of the spiritual master coincided with my thoughts about this bouquet, which a man holds out to a woman in the mirror in the Metaphorical associative card, and with translation of text about one asur and a friend's hand.

When I was sending that asur to his future lives, I said to him, «Friend, help me. I want so much to return to Krishna into the spiritual world. You see, that this life is absolutely hopeless and inconsolable. Maybe someone is looking for some kind of love here, believes that they can do something and has some optimistic plans, optimistic moods, for God's sake, it's their business. But you see what I'm doing. (At this time I was sending him out of body into his future incarnations.) I'm a woman. Every woman is born to be happy, and she is worth it. Each woman are worthy of happiness, but at every life I'm born only in order to destroy Universal villains like you. You can see the sacrifices I've made even in this life to remove you, to give you exaltation. I risk my life, my emotions, in order to destroy such as you. I want in this world for myself this: „Every woman is born to be happy, and I am Worth It“. I want happiness, because I'm a woman, but I'm on duty. I destroy many villains like you. I am a powerful weapon, unique weapon, very necessary and in some sense irreplaceable, I have some unique abilities. And the fact that this Shri Ram, who is my eternal husband, is not with me, even gives me a head start. Because I can go to the most terrible, horrid and shameful tasks that no one wants to take, but I go there. I'm fearless, although I'm frightened of everything. You can see that I am very necessary, very important and that I do not want to be in this material world for a long time, but because I am very necessary, I have no chance to give up this job, because I am as if a knight and I want to help, protect. Friend, help me. You're a man, you can do this. I beg you. I'm sending you to future lives now. You will be a devotee of Krishna there, you will help the mission of ISKCON, the work of Srila Prabhupada, and you will help people to return into the spiritual world. Help me, I beg you. Do your best for me to return into the spiritual world». When I already sent him, I passed into the room and accidentally touched a hand of the friend, that is, stick, a scratcher with a hand on one end of a stick. I took this hand of friend and thought it was a sign.

And this time I was translating this piece of text with this story, when I listened to the words of my Gurudev about the vow and thought about the bouquet in the hands of a man. I translated these words then into English: «This is a sign to me. Everything went fine. We have done away with this giant, and he told me as a friend, „Here is my hand. This is the hand of your friend. I will do everything for you“. And I told him, „Friend, I'm counting on you, I'm hoping on you“».

All these events came together at one small period of time, literally at the same time. First event is picture with the bouquet. Second event is my thoughts, what does this bouquet mean. Third event is the translation of the text about the hand of a friend and his promise to help me return to the spiritual world. Fourth event is words of Gurudev in the lecture that the spiritual master in his heart takes a vow and he will not consider his mission accomplished until the disciple gets liberation — return to the spiritual world, to the Lotus feet of Sri Sri Radha and Krishna. All of this miraculously coincided, merged in an instant.

And then I remembered that Shri Ram made some kind of vow in our interest in July 2018, when I found out that he was giving me to everyone from his asuric organization, at the energical connectivity, and when I tried with all my might not to destroy him. Krishna did not give me permission to do this, and then after a while Krishna through a screenshot from the TV series «Mahabharata» told me, «You can go after him». I didn't understand then why I could go after Shri Ram if he didn't respect women enough to do that to me.

And at that time I had wanted to listen to the lecture of my spiritual master, which I also accidentally found on the Internet on September 4, 2016. Through this lecture my Gurudev offered Shri Ram to accept me as his wife and described my virtues in an allegorical form. At the end of this lecture Gurudev spoke about the vow made by Lord Ramachandra that anyone who says to Lord Ramachandra «I am yours» will always be protected, always safe, he will always be all right.

At that time, in the summer of 2018, when I tried with all my might not to destroy Shri Ram, I listened to this lecture, and when my Gurudev there said that Ram took a vow in our interests, I realized that just because of this Krishna told me through a screenshot from «Mahabharata» that I can go after him, that is, I can again become with Shri Ram, although he behaved so disgustingly. Krishna said that I can follow him because he took some vow and this vow is in our interests.

I did not know what kind of vow it was, but this time, when I was translating a story about a friend's hand into English, I was thinking about a bouquet in the hands of a man at a Metaphorical associative card and at the same time I was listening to Gurudev's lecture. In Gurudev's lecture I had gotten to the words about the vow of the spiritual master to do everything so that the disciple could return into the spiritual world. I understood about what kind of vow Gurudev told me then about that Ram took the vow in our interests. I understood why then Krishna told me, «You can follow him».

I realized that Shri Ram had taken a vow in his heart that he would not consider his mission accomplished until I get liberation — the return into the spiritual world, to the Lotus feet of Sri Sri Radha and Krishna, where we would serve Krishna together being in our spiritual bodies. All coincided, in one moment. One word, just one thought, at one moment... The words of the asur «Here is my hand of your friend, I will do everything to help you return into the spiritual world», and the bouquet in the hands of the man, which he holds out to the woman in the mirror, and Gurudev's lecture with the words about the vow of the spiritual master, and the memories of those words of Krishna «You can go after him» and that Ram took a vow in our interests.

All coincided, converged in one point. It was like everything was finally falling into place. Bouquet of flowers, words of Gurudev and Krishna, friend's hand, all converged in this vow of Shri Ram. And it turned out that Shri Ram then took this vow in our interests. He decided to do everything to help me return into the spiritual world. And I realized what a bouquet in the hands of a man means. It is a return into the spiritual world. Shri Ram offers me a return into the spiritual world, and we will return into the spiritual world together, because the lecture said that the spiritual master and the disciple in the spiritual world serve Krishna together in their spiritual bodies.

It seems I intend to return into the spiritual world with Shri Ram, because we are an eternal couple, and it seems that's why I came to him — to give him a chance. And all events led him to take this vow. He has taken a vow to return with me into the spiritual world because I want to. I was stunned to learn about it. I thought, since Shri Ram has taken such a vow, he is going to the spiritual world. But how can he go there, if he's an asur? How the asur can go into the spiritual world? But Krishna said that someone calls Him Krishna Ranchhor, that is, a deserter, and when your chariot is ruled by a deserter, then anything can happen.

191. The return to the spiritual world

When I pulled out this Metaphorical associative card, which shows a woman in the mirror and a man outside the mirror holding her out a bouquet of flowers, I described everything I saw there. I was very puzzled by this bouquet of flowers, and I thought all day what it could mean, and in the evening at some point I realized that this bouquet is a return into the spiritual world. This indicates that Shri Ram has taken such a vow.

When I realized this, I reread my description of this picture from this perspective and saw that I was blessing Shri Ram for this. Because I saw that this woman is holding her right hand at the bouquet in a blessing gesture. And since the woman in the picture is holding her left hand to the man's left hand, I said that I support him in this. As if I told him, «Well done, this is the right decision, I will support you».

In my description of this bouquet was written that for me this bouquet is very important, and since this bouquet represents a return into the spiritual world, this confirmed that the return into the spiritual world for me is very important. I also saw that it is important for me that we go back there together, because this woman does not snatch this bouquet from the hands of a man, she does not take it to herself, they both hold this bouquet.

I was very impressed by my own words about that the bouquet itself is not so important to me, that it is only a good background for our point of contact. The bouquet acts as the exposed part of the power cord and allows merging the current of both wires together. In these words, I saw that my return into the spiritual world is not an end in itself. The goal itself is to reunite, fully, full-scale, properly, and this is possible only in the spiritual world, because only there the reunion will happen the way it ought to be.

Apparently, here, in the material world, such a reunion can not happen, because there are some interfering factors, something that does not allow these two exposed wires to conduct current completely, as if through one wire. Here, in the material world, these two wires always have some place that can to impede direct communication or in which disengagement can occur. But there, in the spiritual world, apparently, there is the only possibility for these two wires to really connect, in order to the current goes as if through one wire. And thus I realized that the spiritual world is for me not an end in itself, although already many lives I am an inspector of the Universe Patrol and perform dangerous tasks for the destruction of the universe criminals.

For me, the spiritual world is the ideal backdrop for our contact with Shri Ram, the best environment for our interaction. I came to Shri Ram, put myself at risk, in order to just make him understand the importance of this bouquet, the return into the spiritual world. And the fact that I put myself under his blows, under the blows of other asuras, was only in order to he saw the importance of our return into the spiritual world and in order to he took this vow that he would do everything for this. But my return into the spiritual world is not so important for me. For me, the spiritual world is a place where the eternal couple can actually be a couple.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

In that description I was puzzled by the fact that the man's right hand is not visible, as if he was holding something in it, hiding something in his hand. And I said in my description of the picture that until he stretches out his right arm to woman, he will not be able to pull her to him and hug her. And there I was asking questions why he just stands and hands her a bouquet? Why he not gives her both hands? Why he is not embraced her? I assumed his right hand was busy, so he couldn't stretch out his arm to her. I thought: what's in his right hand and why can't we see it?

In fact, by this question about the right hand of a man, I blackmailed Shri Ram that he was hiding something from me and that he had to open it to me. He didn't want to open this. He thought to smooth rough edges. He wasn't going to open the hidden from my awareness points of our interaction. He was just trying to keep a lid on things, but he had to open this. And these questions about the right hand that is occupied with something were blackmail, in order to force him to open those shameful pages of our interaction.

A little later that day I remembered that a year before was a similar picture with a bouquet of flowers, in a similar session with the Metaphorical associative cards. I found that metaphorical associative card, and it turns out I described it in the 103rd series of my novel. I devoted then to the description of this picture all 103rd series.

At that metaphorical associative card showed a woman with a bouquet of flowers in her hand coming to a man lying in a hospital bed. This man is all bandaged up, all his face is bandaged up, he can't see, he can't hear, he can't move, he's in a very bad condition, he is hooked to a drip, and the woman stands in the doorway of hospital room and holds out him a bouquet of flowers.

It's a paradoxical picture, because in that hospital ward he just wasn't up to the flowers. He did not can to see the flowers and hear this woman. He did not be able to have something to perceive, but woman came to him and hands him in the hands the bouquet of flowers. This picture was just before the advent of Lona, whom would have erased Shri Ram. Lona would have made him an impotent in the sexual sphere, and in general in life, and then would have sent him into an incorporeal existence, after he would have left his body. Apparently, her coming to him shook him very much and gave great realization, because of which he recovered.

Only a year has passed from that picture, and something has changed dramatically, since now there is again the Metaphorical associative card, and again with a bouquet of flowers, but now the man recovered, stood on his feet, he sees and hears, and he can speak. And even he took this bouquet in his hands and stretches it to this woman. He holds this bouquet of flowers, does not throw it, that is, understands its value and importance. Just a year has passed, and what dynamics of events and what radical changes!

I brought him this bouquet of flowers. It turns out, he was calling on me, was persuading me to come to him, saying me in his past lives, between lives, «Come to me, my Shakti, my love, come to me, I will do everything for you. All I want is your happiness. I'm ready to give up everything for you. I've waited so very long to meet you. You probably live somewhere, although I don't really believe in it and although everyone tells me that you are my hopeless dream, but I really want you to come to me. Knowing that somewhere there are you, gives me the courage to open my eyes. The reason the horizon shines for me is that somewhere it's hiding you. My love, you're always in my heart. I live only for you». That's how he was saying me, and I came to him. But I came to him not empty-handed. I brought him a gift — a return into the spiritual world. But he didn't need that gift. He did not understand value of this gift and did not even see it. And he did not understand why it is necessary at all, because we've got a nice life here.

He said, «I am the asur. I am a great asur, that is, such asur, who can coordinate a large asuric organization. I can plug into any woman and forced her either have sex with someone or masturbate. I will become richer and richer, because I am able to draw from women their luck, their pious merits during female orgasm. I can empty any woman. I can plug anyone asur into any woman. We will live very well in the material world at the expense of pious merits of these women, and there are so many of them walking around. Why would I go back into some spiritual world? The whole material world is at my feet». He did not understand why I brought him this bouquet of flowers. He thought that he was ahead, that he has all the power, that he will handle everything, that he's holding all the cards. He was calling on me, I came to him, I brought him a priceless gift, but it was not in the areas of his interests.

And after some time he had Lona, a woman who had a specialization to erase such great presumptuous asuras who know how to draw from other women pious merits and live an easy and luxurious life here at the expense of these pious merits. Her main and favorite job was having sex with such high-handed great asuras, RA. He tried sex with her and said, «I have never seen such women, although so many women pass through me every day. Through the eyes of everyone in my asuric organization I see everything and constantly make selection of different women. I constantly decide who of these women needs to be bent, who to force, who just to push, so that they engage in sexual satisfaction by masturbation or sex with someone. I've seen a lot of women, but this woman is the best. There's no one like she under the sun! She is the only person I've ever met who's worthy of being my woman». And he then immediately turned me down, said, «Farewell, we are parting forever», although he already knew that I am his soul mate, his eternal wife, although before that he saw how he was made asur.

I have highlighted to asuras the recruiter who recruited Shri Ram many lives ago. The asuras shook out all the life files from that recruiter, and Shri Ram with his own eyes saw those life files of the recruiter. He saw how it all happened, what ways it was done, in order to forced Shri Ram to became an asur, so that he left out of my space and that I was left alone, without his protection, so that the recruiter began to process me. And Shri Ram saw all this in the life files of that recruiter. He saw a lot of things, but when this Lona came to him just to erase him so he would become nobody, without a body, he left me. She would have thrown him into a disembodied existence. And such a disembodied existence was waiting for Shri Ram. Although he was a great asur, RA.

He was so protective this Lona, so looked out for her, in order to I wouldn't mess up anything in her well-functioning sexual system. He was protecting that woman from me, although she was going to make him nobody. At first he was supposed to become an impotent, and then she would send him into a disembodied existence, for a very long time. Because the word «nobody» consists of two parts: «no» and «body». That is, as a result of interaction with Lona, he would not have a body, he would become a ghost, an incorporeal spirit, for a very long time. And when you consider that he left his Shakti, his soulmate, he would went not to just disembodied existence, and he would went into hell worlds. We then removed Lona, along with those who organized the project to remove such presumptuous asuras. And I guess that due to this Shri Ram understood something, learned something, and saw something. Because after that, a year after that card with the bandaged man on the hospital bed, he got up on his feet, took this bouquet of flowers, handed it to me, and said, «I'll do anything to get you back into the spiritual world». And I said to him, «We will return into the spiritual world together».

192. The fast and brazen kitten

When that man in the store asked me for my discount card with the word «My», I thought that it was a very symbolic gesture that hardly any ordinary people would do, and that this man might be my Shri Ram. But already there was similar situation that also led me to these thoughts, and then on some higher plane of existence I told Shri Ram that he does not respect me and that he has to give me one man of the two men from these similar situations. I told Shri Ram that he has to give me man who is definitely not Shri Ram. Then, in my mind's eye on my inner screen appeared the one who was before similar situation with man with the card «My». I realized that this man is definitely not Shri Ram and that I was given him. I burned everything in his energy structure and after filled him with the sound of Hare Krishna.

Looks like it was the disciple of Shri Ram, and Shri Ram was very painful to give him to me. But I asked Krishna that He hit hard Shri Ram in order to I was able to forgive him. That's why it happened. I sent his disciple to the scrap, this hit Shri Ram hard, but despite this, I still could not forgive him. The resentment did not go away, and then I was given this Metaphorical associative card, on which a man holds out to a woman in the mirror a bouquet of flowers. It was very clearly revealed to me that Shri Ram took a vow in the summer of 2018 to do everything to bring us back into the spiritual world, and that he will consider his mission unfulfilled until it happens. This realization reconciled me in my thoughts with him, with the fact that he exists at all, that I did not kill him, that he lives and that I do not leave him.

After that, one evening I sat down to watch a series of «Mahabharata». As always, by method of random choice, without looking, I had poked in one of the series of «Mahabharata» and looked it. There Krishna told Draupadi that her mind had calmed down, but her heart was anxious. I thought it was Krishna who said about me, that my mind has calmed down, but my heart is anxious. I thought: why do I anxious?

And then my son had a school trip. I gave him the money and told him to buy just what he need, so he wouldn't buy anything else. I told him not buy harmful chips and artificial beverages, and buy normal food and normal juice. He said he would buy only useful and good, but I told that I was afraid he'd buy something I don't let him.

And I realized that in this way, through a conversation with my son, I told Shri Ram that I was afraid that Shri Ram would leave me for someone else. Because although he took this vow and unambiguously determined, but I am far from his ideal of womanhood. He has certain preferences, wishes and the image of a woman with whom he would like to stand next to and be proud that such a woman is his woman, but I am far from that image. And from what I said to my son, that I was afraid he was going to fall for something interesting, I saw that I was afraid of it. After all, many women pass through Shri Ram all the time. He constantly sees them on his inner screen, because he looks through the eyes of all his subordinates and many people. And I thought that, of course, there are many women who are better than me and who are more consistent with his image of the desired woman.

I thought that although he took this vow, but he might fall for one of them, or even a lot of good women. The asuras have such a principle — «We remember only the best». When something better is turned up, the former is forgotten and, accordingly, destroyed, if asur want to destroy. And I saw from his behavior that it is natural for him to have this behavior and this concept «we remember only the best». I thought that he could fall for the best and forget that he took some kind of vow, they say, why all this? That was my fear. And then to my mind came the thought that he is also afraid that he will be dumped.

I immediately realized that it was his thoughts about this situation. He kind of sees my fears, understands and at the same time says he is also afraid. He is afraid that I will dump him, because he already was dumped. He was three times married, and all three of his wife ruthlessly, as he believed, left him. And he, with three unsuccessful attempts to get comfortable in this material world in this life, is afraid that I will dump him. And when these thoughts came to me and I realized that it was his thoughts, I answered him. But I answered him not with words, but the situation.

We had a cat in the stairwell. This cat was domestic, but her owners left somewhere and left cat in the stairwell. All time this cat sat at door of her owners and there same brought kittens. We were sympathizing for this cat and her kittens and fed them. And when I expressed to Shri Ram my fear that I was afraid that he would follow this asuric principle «we remember only the best», and something better would surely come, and he would go there and leave me, and he in response said me that he was also afraid that I could throw him, these kittens began to loud squeak at our door.

I went out to feed kittens. One of these kittens was the most brazen. This kitten ran into our apartment when I turned to the other kittens. I began to go home, began to close the door and felt that door rested against something soft. Immediately I slowed down and realized that kitten had sneaked into our apartment. Kitten hid somewhere and began to beep. He must have been in pain. I looked for him all over the apartment, then found him hiding behind the washing machine, in the corner, sitting there, shaking and beeping. I took the kitten out of the corner, opened the door and sent kitten to his mother. And it was my answer to Shri Ram that if any man sneaks to me like that kitten, then we'll send him straight to his mother, that is, to the woman who is the right person for him, intended for him.

And then on my desktop immediately appeared a screenshot with the words «I will not throw you. I anywhere will not throw you. I'm not letting you go anywhere. You're mine. You will be mine». He told me those words when he was with Lona, that is, the eraser of such great asuras. Lona was devastating them, casting them down to a disembodied existence, although they thought that she was a wonderful woman.

When this Lona was with Shri Ram, he was very passionate with her. He felt like a real man. Their sex was awesome. At that time we had a pillow`s session. I hugged the pillow, although I was not going to, and out of me began to pour words of love for him, and then I began to ask, «Why are you not with me?» Then there were periods of silence, as if he was saying something to me, somewhere at home, but I did not hear him here. And then I started saying, «I don't believe you. This can't be happening». And when all this happened, I realized that I told him: «Why are you not with me? You should be with me, but you are not with me. How did this happen?» and he answered me something back there, but I didn't hear it here, by these ordinary ears, but somewhere in those layers of existence I heard it, and I said to him, «This can't be, I don't believe you».

I was so curious to know what he had said to me that I began to plead to Krishna. I said, «Krishna, I beg You, I want to know what he said to me there. Please, I want it so much». And then this pillow`s session continued, and new words began to pour out of me, but now the words were quite different. There were the words «You're my love. You're my beloved. You're the woman I love. I love you», and then were other words: «I will not throw you. I anywhere will not throw you. I'm not letting you go anywhere. You're mine. You will be mine».

I realized that Krishna arranged for me in order to I can utter those words what this Shri Ram, being somewhere geographically quite elsewhere, was telling me. But I uttered his words here, by my mouth. And I heard his words with my ears, although he and I were in different places and I sat alone at home. He told me he wouldn't leave me. But this was not enough for me, because asur can be with a woman not personally. He can give her to other man, so to speak, throw her into other man, and he will be with her through the body of that other man, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. He doesn't really abandon her, he is constantly with her through the body of the other man, but at the same time, he is not personally present with her.

And then Shri Ram said, «I anywhere will not throw you». In this way he told me he wouldn't throw me into other man. Because phrase «I anywhere will not throw you» doesn't sound very Russian. In Russian they usually say, «I'll never leave you». But «not throw» suggests active motion, to throw, to throw away. That is, «I anywhere will not throw you» mean «I will not send you to anyone else. I will not force you to go there. I will not impose this on you, and I will not force you to be with someone else». And this time I expressed my fears to him that I was afraid that he might meet a woman who is better than me, and that he will leave me for her. He answered me that he was afraid that I too could dump him. In response to his fears, this kitten broke into my house and I threw the kitten out the door. And then this screenshot appeared with these words from pillow`s session.

And then came another screenshot, with the words «No tricks». That is, I kind of told him, «Okay, I accept that, but without any cheating, no tricks». Because Shri Ram is asur. Asuras know how to deceive. He will say one thing, but one word has many different meanings. You will answer one meaning embedded in this word, but along with this you will give an answer to other meanings of this word. You will assent, say Yes, and he will surely get your consent for you to allow him to do what he needs.

Asuras are masters at playing on words. Asur asks a seemingly ordinary question, about the most ordinary, everyday, but at the same time he keeps in his mind his own question, which you do not hear. He wants get your permission for what he needs and what his question is about, which he keeps in his mind. He's kind of thinking, «We will crush you now. We will force you to have sex with someone and you will give us a lot of your piety. Or you will begin to masturbate, we will connect to you and get all your pious merits out of you. Thanks to these pious merits, you live well, but we will take pious merits out of you. The good that could come to you in life will not come, because we need this good. We will live a marvelous life using your pious merits, and you will live as the wretched». And this Shri Ram can easily get me to give him permission to whatever he needs.

In that way the asur keep in his mind his question to you, and through some ordinary person who has nothing to do with it, he, looking from eyes of this ordinary person at you, ask you some ordinary, banal question. And if you did not answer this question in the affirmative, you are asked another question, perhaps already through another person, and then the third question. And on one of these questions you will say «Yes». But the main question that asur kept in his mind and to which he received your positive answer was: «We will now begin to break you. You will do what we want, and we'll pump all your pious merits out of you and enjoy you, fool. Do you agree to that?» You answered some ordinary question of an ordinary person, but actually through him some asur asked you. And this asur at that time was territorially far from you and from this ordinary person. He simply used this ordinary person to draw out from you a positive answer to his question, which was not voiced. Everything can happen through different people, in the queue at the store, on the street through a passer-by, through anyone. The asur's question is neither seen nor heard, but it is implied. And in this way asuras can get permission for anything. And this Shri Ram can just as easily get my permission to do anything, so I said to him, «No tricks».

All this happened just before the beginning of the Kartika, the month when devotees offer the wicks and burning lamps for Lord Damodara. I thought that if he will be with me and will do everything to return with me into the spiritual world, it is necessary to free him from reactions for what he did to me, and from my evil wishes to him. Then I had 16 Mondays of Shiva to free him from all this, but I thought that I should offer wicks for Damodara on Kartika, and then I started to offer the wicks and burning lamps.

193. First secret

When I described the Metaphorical associative card on which a man holds out a bouquet of flowers to a woman in the mirror, I noticed that the man's right hand is not visible. And I said then that Shri Ram is hiding something from me, something is in his right hand, so his right hand is not visible in the picture. I said that until a man frees his right hand and reaches out both hands to a woman, she will not be drawn closer to him and there will be no further development of events. I said this on October 23–24, 2018, when I described this picture. In this way Shri Ram was told that he had to open what he did not want and was not going to open to me, but he had to do it.

And on October 27, he revealed to me the first secret that he held in his right hand, because of which his hand was not visible. In the summer of 2016 he had a good woman, and he wanted to get rid of me, but I did not leave him and was holding on to him like a dog with a bone, although he tried in every way to shake me off. He carried out many manipulations with my consciousness so that I myself somehow left him, but I did not leave.

On August 19, 2016, he conducted the first manipulation of my consciousness, and on the same day his business began to collapse. And for two weeks, from August 19 to September 2, he lost almost everything, although before that he was rich enough and always successful. But by September 2, he had lost almost everything. Just a little more and he would have lost both the house and all his money and become bankrupt and homeless. He was thinking about getting his money back.

On 3 September he had to be a complete collapse of life, and on 2 September on my inner screen suddenly appeared a crowd of some women. I felt that I was surrounded by feminine energy. Shri Ram is a great asur, there is a big asuric organization under him, and of course there are women, such toys to entertain, whom asuras have broken, subdued and used for sex through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. This amounts to slavery by reason of the treatment meted out to women, who become the private property of the soldiers. This is similar to during its colonial rule of Korea, Japan had forced over 200,000 Korean women to act as «comfort women» for the Japanese Army. In such conditions «comfort women» were expected to serve as many as 60 to 70 men per day. And in every asuric organization there are such women for fun.

And it turns out that when that woman in the summer of 2016 was with him, he sent me to ranks of these women whom I called contactless whores. Contactless, because without a personal touch, without personal presence, and without even dating. A woman is sitting at her home somewhere; asur is sitting at his home. No one saw each other, they does not know each other. It's just that a woman suddenly has a desire to masturbate or have sex with someone. She satisfies herself sexually in some way, and the asuras somehow enter there, connect to her and are invisibly present in her masturbation or sex with someone, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And at the same time, asuras feel everything as this is really.

Or a woman can eat ice cream or some kind of sweetness, and the asuras will connect there to her, and thus she will give them pleasure. She will just lick her ice cream and feel that some inexplicable sweetness suddenly started pouring from this ice cream. And she will not have the strength and desire to stop this action. She will continue and continue to lick this ice cream, trying not to eat it, so that this sweetness does not end. And this will continue until that asur reached orgasm somewhere there at home. And then this sweetness from ice cream will suddenly disappear, and the woman will feel such incredible bliss from this licking and eating this ice cream, as if she just had the coolest sex with a super awesome orgasm. Although there was nothing of the kind in real life, and although there could be many people around. And it would never have occurred to any of them that right here, next to them, the asuras had fucked this lonely-seated woman, who with such relish was enjoying ordinary ice cream.

In every asuric organization there are women who serve asuras on a regular basis, and Shri Ram in the summer of 2016 put me to the ranks of these women, contactless whores, although I did not know about it. I didn't know that he made me the contactless whore. I thought that we're together, we love each other and this is true love. I thought we were an eternal couple, that we had some kind of celestial wedding. I was remembering him saying to me, «Be my wife, become my wife», and I was thinking it was as sacred to him as it was to me, but he thought that what we had was all fake. This is similar to cohabitation, which was increasingly displacing marriage and not promoting healthy, stable and lasting relationships. A woman at cohabitation thinks that she is married, and a man believes that he is free. In our case with Shri Ram, it was the same.

On September 2, 2016, when everything's already gone haywire, his life was falling apart, his business was going to ruin and he was in an absolute panic, he decided that he need to somehow calm me down. He thought that this collapse came to him because I'm angry at him due to the fact that he squeezed me out of his space and removed from ranks of his contactless whores. He thought he should calm me down and then all his money would come back to him.

He thought that I really like being in his contactless whores and that he needs to get me back there as soon as possible, then I will be pleased and his life collapse will stop. He thought that I miss the sweetness that pours when asuras plugged into woman and enjoy her through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. He thought that he needed to return me to this sweetness, so that I could sit and bliss, licking lollipop, or Turkish delight, or ice cream and feeling this sweetness, which a woman feels when an asur are connected to her and when a woman licks dick of this asur through her ice cream, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

He thought that in order to return his money, he can return this sweetness to me. And then those women of his on September 2 suddenly stood in my mind's eye on my inner screen, and they kind of told me, «You are the same as we are, and there are many of us». I didn't know what that meant. I felt the energy of the shamelessness coming from them, as from women of easy virtue, and they seemed to tell me that they are depraved whores, and I am the same, and there are many of us.

I was very infuriated by the sight of them on my internal screen. I thought, «I'm not like you. I have Shri Ram, he is my husband, we love each other, we are an eternal couple», but they continued to tell me «you are the same as we are, and there are many of us». Thus, it turns out that Shri Ram said through them, «Calm down, sweetie, you are very upset that we have removed you from ranks of the contactless whores? Are you that upset about this? Don't worry, wipe your tears, you're back in ranks of our contactless whores. Now you will feel this sweetness again. You will have an awesome time. Do you glad to be back? Babe, this is so exciting! You will have lots and lots of sex. It is impossible to get pregnant, because there is no one near you anyway, you will not catch any sexually transmitted diseases, and you will feel high, having fun». Shri Ram thought that in this way he would calm me down, I would calm down and he would be able to regain his assets, his house would remain with him and things will get better. But, unfortunately, he will have to leave me in ranks of these contactless whores. But sometimes we have to make sacrifices, knowing that in the future it will all be worth it.

He thought that everyone from his asuric organization would start to fuck me again, and I would think that he is with me. But my reaction was not what he expected. He assumed that I would calm down and all the money would return to him. But those women really pissed me off. They were so full of shamelessness and blatant debauchery, and they all whispered and whispered to me, «You are the same as we are, and we are many», that I was furious and told them, «He's my man or he is no one's man. He belongs me or to nobody. Either he is mine everywhere and always, or you will go onto the dick, but not onto his dick», and I said to him, «Look, it's either me or them. You must choose between us».

This is the first thing he revealed to me when I told him, describing the metaphorical associative card with the man with the bouquet and the woman in the mirror, that the man was holding something in his right hand and therefore there would be no further development of events, that he needed to free this hand and stretch it to the woman. He revealed to me that he was sure that I was a lover of their entertainment and that, returning to this entertainment, immediately calm down and everything in his life will go on as usual. When I found out about it, I was so down. I felt so frustrated, I could not cope with anything. I thought: «He seriously thought I'm one of those women who don't care who to fuck with? He really thought this will make me happy? He thought it could calm me down? He thought I'm such a questionable filthy immoral woman, and that's why he granted these concessions?»

I thought I didn't want to be with him. I had a strong reluctance to have anything to do with him, I did not want any contact with him at all, and I thought that I did not even need his hand of a friend. He said he'd do anything to get me back into the spiritual world? But I have lots of friend's hands, I destroyed so many of these asuras, I asked them to help me get back to the spiritual world. Shri Ram is as a drop in the ocean in comparison all them. Wouldn't make any difference to me. I thought: I do not need him, I do not want to be with him at all, and I do not need his help, at all.

194. Second secret

But that wasn't all he was supposed to open me. I learned about it from the following screenshot from «Mahabharata», which miraculously appeared on my desktop of my laptop. It was written on it, «But it will be better for you to keep this a secret». I looked at this screenshot and thought: he still keeps something secret; it's not all that he opened to me. And I began to mentally tell him, «What else do you have there? Open everything. I was shown that this is not all that you have. I want to know everything». He was forced to open the next secret, which he wasn't going to open either. He revealed to me why he had returned me to ranks of his contactless whores. Turns out he did it out of great gratitude to me. He did this in gratitude to me for my help to him, for protection, for preemptive signs sent to him through me, for successful guiding his asuric organization, for all the good that I did to him. Here's what happened.

On August 19, 2016, Shri Ram performed the first manipulation of my consciousness to squeeze me out of his space. On that day all the shelves in my wardrobe fell out and the door broke, so I was afraid to come to the cupboard. On the same day, the business of Shri Ram began to crumble and he started to lose all his money. The next day, August 20, was showed 649–650th series of the TV series «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev». I opened all 820 episodes of this TV series, poked at one series without looking and began to watch it.

There was a story of how Banasura wanted to strangle his wife Vani and Shiva came to rescue Vani. And through the words of Shiva, I kind of told to Shri Ram that he didn't think about me when he decided to push me out of his space, that he thought only about his pleasure with that woman who was with him in real life in the summer of 2016. I as if told him he didn't pay attention to my leadership. After all, I agreed that spring that I would help him as my husband and steer his asuric organization as a charioteer through whom flow a continuous stream of advance-warning signs that are a projection of all his affairs. And I kind of expressed his reproach that he did not give values this leadership that so helped him. And I always defended him, but he didn't appreciate it.

In «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev», Shiva scolded Banasura and told him that he had to apologize to Vani, and then Banasura apologized to Vani. Shiva told Vani to stay with Banasura and never leave him alone. Then, after the first manipulation of consciousness performed by Shri Ram, which was succeeded, I turned away from him and did not want to be with him, but these words of Shiva brought me back to Shri Ram. Shri Ram thought that he did not take into account the fact that I was guiding his organization, giving him preemptive signs. He thought that he had offended me, that it was important for me to be with him, and he decided that he needed to thank me, ask me for forgiveness and return me to the ranks of the contactless whores. He thought that this way he would fulfill what Shiva had told him to do. He thought that he will provide me protection if I will be in the ranks of his contactless whores and if the asuras from his asuric organization will fuck me, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. He thought it would calm me down and he wouldn't lose his business, his house and become a homeless, bankrupt and a total loser.

He wanted to thank me for what I was protecting him and giving him preemptive signs, and he decided to do that returning me to the ranks of those women who stood on my inner screen, calling me a woman of easy virtue and talking me, «You are the same as we are, and there are many of us». I thought: did he have such a bad opinion of me? I was in great sorrow, thinking that I was creating such an impression and that someone might think about me like that. This Shri Ram, knowing me, seeing my life files and reading my memory of this life, of this incarnation, seeing what I was in this life, thought that I want to be in ranks of such women.

I was very angry, and I took the liberty and made a phone call to the karate coach in that mood. My daughter by that time said that she did not want to go to karate, she chose drawing. She stopped going to karate classes, but I did not call the coach about it. I didn't want to start a conversation with him, but in this mood, on edge, I called him and said that my daughter would not go to karate, and he said that she is not in the list, because she is having too many unexcused absences, that he had approved the lists and sent the lists without her and that he goes his own way.

I continued to be on edge and decided to ask advice from online oracles. I turned for advice to the messages of the forces of light, and there in the first message that opened to me it was written that it is necessary to forgive, so it will be easier. I thought: I need to forgive? I do not want to forgive... But it is written that I must forgive. And I decided to forgive. I thought that I can not destroy Shri Ram, but I need forgive, but I do not know how to forgive otherwise. And I imagined on my internal screen a lot of asuras and decided that now I will begin to forgive Shri Ram. These asuras will pay me instead of him. And I began to format chakras of these asuras.

I turned on the music and began to format chakras of those asuras by a spontaneous dance of hands. After that, I emitted the radiance in all of them from below. It looked as if the sparklers began to sparkle in each of them from below. I inserted sparklers in each of those asuras from below on my inner screen, and these sparklers began to sparkle inside them and penetrate everything in them completely with its radiance. After some time, these asuras were all completely saturated with this radiance and began to shine, like these Bengal lights. That time I didn't completely forgive them, I had a lot to do, and I thought I'd forgive them a little bit later. It was written that I should forgive and that it will make me feel better. And I thought that I would forgive them and I'll be better. I decided that I would forgive them when they flew away to their future lives, then it would be easier for me, and after some time I forgave them.

195. The playing on the nerves

But that wasn't all he was supposed to open me. Because then I asked one online Oracle in the Internet, Oracle «Hot Delphine Dumpling». This Oracle told me that another very difficult, unpleasant discovery lies ahead and that it is necessary to get through this pain. I expected with fear what else he would open me. I was afraid that when I find out this, I will feel so sad that I will do not want to touch him, but I need to touch, because even the message of the forces of light said that it was necessary to forgive him. I know, this is heavy when you don't want to forgive, but you have to forgive.

I thought what secret he would reveal to me, and then I remembered the woman with whom Shri Ram was that summer. I remembered how I described her thoughts, how she would think when he would become homeless and bankrupt. I remembered her words: «What a pity. I made a mistake. He was such a good man, but it turned out that he's nothing, a bump in the road. He's a total loser. What a pity. Well, I was mistaken, that is all». I was in a very sad mood because of he could think so about me, and I thought, «What a pity. I made a mistake. My man can't be like that. No, my man is not like that. But if this man is like that, then he is not my man. How could I have been so wrong? I'm so sorry I wasted so much time on someone who's nothing to me». That's how I repeated and thought all day.

And just at this time I reached in the translation of the text of my novel from Russian into English to the story about the mind manipulators. This is when I pulled into inside my body a character, which I call «The Shepherd, I do not love you». He was in me, dissolved in me as in the gelatinous body of a jellyfish, and then some mind manipulators carried out a series of powerful manipulations of my consciousness, hoping that I will leave Shri Ram. Then I also thought that my man would not behave this way with me and would not treat me like that, but if this man treats me like that, then he is definitely not mine. And here was the same thing, an exact match. I was translating this story about mind manipulators and spending the whole day saying that it was a pity that I spent so much time on someone who was nobody to me, because mine man could not think about me like that, but since this man thought so about me like that, then he is not mine, I'm so sorry, I was so cruelly mistaken.

And when I got to translating the words about that Shri Ram was very unhappy with these manipulators and wants them to get what they deserve, I looked at these words and thought, «Yes, I know that this is a manipulation of my consciousness that I repeat the words of that woman now and has fully identified with that of her alleged mood. This is a manipulation of my consciousness. The asuras is carrying out this manipulation now, hoping that I will leave Shri Ram». I thought: «Yes, I fully agree with this manipulation, because all this is true, but it does not add to me the good mood. I'm already too sad, and they spoil my mood even more. They'll pay for it». I thought they were wrong that they spoiled my mood, played on my nerves, and for this I will punish them. And in the evening I had sat on the couch and had seen a great asur on my inner screen, in my mind's eye.

I pulled all his nerves out of him. I imagined he had some nerves, and I pulled all his nerves out of him like strings, all at the same time. And I was yanking hard these nerves. They say, don't play on the nerves. I played on the nerves, really, at the energy plane of existence. I was pulling his nerves differently with all my might, imagining that he was in extreme pain. Because I was very hurt when he played on my nerves. Due to his manipulation of my mind I thought that my man can not do this, he would never have thought about me like this, but he did so, then he is not mine, how sorry, I was so cruelly mistaken.

Yes, these thoughts are right, but who gave him the right throw these thoughts into my mind, play on my nerves, making me hurt when my mood is so terrible? I wanted to hurt him. Suddenly, I got a long, sharp claw, and I began to pick by this claw inside him. I was finding his pain points, nerve centers in him and stabbing this sharp claw into it. I was drilling into his pain points, making pain shock therapy to him. I made him moan in pain so all the asuras could hear it. I realized that he was a very great asur, great authority of asuras, and I wanted to humiliate him in front of all of them. I wanted him, such a great asur, to cry among them and that they all heard him whining in a plaintive voice and calling his mom.

These were retaliatory measures, because I am a woman, it is necessary not to spoil my mood and my nerves, but to protect my mood. If you ruined my nerves, receive a response. And after I played well on his nerves, I lit fireworks in him. I let out the radiance inside him from the bottom up and burned everything inside of him with this powerful bright white radiance. And I did it all during Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum». I saw that all the asuras saw him writhing and whining like a little puppy, and I thought, «He tested my nerves; he got what he deserves. Don't spoil my mood. My mood is the most precious thing for me».

Shri Ram has already revealed to me two secrets, because of which the man's right hand was not visible on the Metaphorical associative card. The first secret is that when he was almost buried under the rubble of his life as a result of the failure of his life at the end of the summer of 2016, he returned me to the ranks of his contactless whores, that is, women with whom the asuras have sex at the energical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence.

He thought it would please me very much, soothe me, and that his money would return to him and he would live a normal life. The second secret is that he did this out of great gratitude to me, because Shiva told him that it is necessary to thank me for the fact that I was defending him and giving guidelines for the management of his asuric organization and his life, was helping to him in every possible way. He thought that I was offended by the fact that he threw me out of ranks of his contactless whores and his space, although I helped him so much.

He decided that as his great gratitude he will return me into ranks of contactless whores, if I dream about it. He said, «Do you miss all my fellow asuras so much? We will fix it. Don't fret. If you like so much the sweetness that flows from their dicks, connected to you, at the energy plane of existence, then work, enjoy». But that wasn't all he was forced to reveal me.

I was told about this by Oracle «Hot Delphine Dumpling», online Oracle in the Internet. I was very afraid of that. Every time I discovered what he had done to me and how he had treated me as an individual who was not worthy of respect and mercy, I fell into an abyss of hopelessness and self-abasement and regret that I could not tear myself away from him. And this time I was afraid of what else I would discover. I asked him to spare my feelings.

Then just was the end of October 2018, when he opened it all to me, and then there were the November holidays, holidays at school, we went to my dad for a week. And I asked Shri Ram not to reveal this secret to me while we were with my dad, so that he would not see my tears and my depression after I realized that I was again considered below the piece of trash.

196. Third secret

Shri Ram revealed the third secret to me on November 9, when we returned home and when the children went to school. As usual, it came as a clear awareness and vision of the whole picture of what was happening then. The third, the last, secret, which he was to reveal to me, was also very painful for me. This time he revealed to me that, it turns out, when I summoned Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, in order to he helped me to improve interaction with Shri Ram, Borka said something very bad about me to Shri Ram about what they were doing to me in Moscow. Although I didn't know anything because I was living a normal life, I had a husband, a normal family life.

I really had some kind of interaction then, I didn't know with whom. I was thinking, who they are. I was thinking, maybe they are demigods, brahma-rakshasas, ghosts, spirits, maybe, yogis-mystics who are able through people to interact and communicate. But I thought they were not people, but other beings of the highest order. When this strange interaction started, I worked in suburban trains in Moscow, selling incense, trinkets, beads and all that. And somehow that interaction started.

I go into one rail wagon, talk to some person, after that I go to the next rail wagon. There I am stopped by another person, completely unrelated to the previous one. It was obvious that they were independently, not related in any ways. And this another person says, «I just saw you», and repeats what the previous man said in the previous rail wagon. Then I go into the next rail wagon, and there history repeats itself. Again another person, and again «I just saw you», and again a repetition of the end of the conversation with the previous man, word for word. And so through rail wagons from person to person. The impression was that I was talking not to that person who stood in front of me and who spoke with his mouth. There was a clear impression and confirmation that through different people in different rail wagons one person speaks to me, who simply uses these people to conduct an uninterrupted conversation with me through them without his personal presence. Although there was a new person in each rail wagon, but the conversation that began long before him was not interrupted and went through different people in different rail wagons.

And so it was many times until I realized that it was someone who communicates with me so, through these people. Because people were different, rail wagons were different, but someone one through them communicated with me because to me thus gave to understand that it really so. This conclusion was the only possible and logical one to explain this phenomenon, albeit this conclusion was irrational and absurd. I realized that someone in an allegorical language, that is, by ordinary words, but with a hidden, enclosed in them a different meaning, veiled communicates with me through the speech of these different people. And it's someone I don't know.

I then could not understand what kind of a trick this was, but then I began to listen to what I began to tell people and what they told me. They began to show me how it is possible to understand what exactly they say with me through these people in the train, that this is not just a conversation with an ordinary person. I thought then that maybe these are some ghosts, disembodied spirits in subtle bodies who walk here among us invisibly and communicate through people with us. And it wasn't until Shri Ram plugged into me here, and something like this started here, and when I was told, «You're now the wife of an asur», that I realized that these were asuras. They live here like ordinary-looking people, but they can plug into people and even communicate with them, directly, but in an allegorical language, through different people.

In the summer of 2016, things were complicated between us. Everything seemed hopeless between Shri Ram and me. I remembered Borka, man in Moscow, about whom I knew nothing, but about whom I realized that this is the one who so strangely communicated with me through people and who once came to me personally in the train.

One conversation with the passenger there was very peculiar, meaningful. I was deciphering this conversation for years, trying to figure out what it was really about. And only when I began to communicate with Shri Ram, I began to understand and I realized who was the man who came to me then in the train and said, «My car broke down on the road, and so I'm here». I realized what his words really meant about that he had a wife, she has high blood pressure, four children. I realized that he actually offered me, when he, going to get out of the train, told me, «Come with me». I answered him, «No. Take care of your wife», and he said, «Take care of yourself». And in the summer of 2016, when everything was bored and cold in our relationship with Shri Ram, I remembered about that man. I realized who he was, and mentally called him to help me. After that I called him Borka, as I was calling our big fat spider, which died when we poisoned cockroaches.

And this time, when Shri Ram was forced to reveal the third secret, he revealed to me that Borka then came to him and said a lot of things to Shri Ram about me in their mental conversation about what Borka was doing to me there when I was in Moscow, although I had no idea about anything then. Yes, at that time I was attacked by some absolutely incredible orgasms, lasting hours, without someone's presence next to me, and out of those preternatural orgasms it was impossible to get out.

And it was often when I was sitting at home. My husband was sitting next to me, and he could not do anything, he could not help me. I just sat on the couch and a long time moaned feeling the incredible bliss. It was as if someone was invisibly pressing some button in female energy centers of my subtle body and holding it press, and I was falling into a feeling of this bliss and could not get out of there. Ordinary sex can't be compared to this. Nothing compares with this. This is an absolutely incredible feeling. On the verge of consciousness. As if a little more, and the fuse box of your body will not withstand the strength and depth of this bliss and will burn, and you can no longer control your body. In fact, in this way the asuras were taking my pious merits out of me. In this way asuras withdrawal of the pious merits from piety account of woman to piety account of asuras. It like transfer money from account to account. But in this case as money appear pious merits. When a woman feels pleasure, bliss, orgasm, her pious merits come out of her. Asuras wanted to deflate from me more of my pious merits and therefore did not hesitate in the means of achieving this. But I didn't know anything about that then. I could not have resisted this. When someone from outside presses some buttons in your subtle energy body, and you don't even know who it is and how it happens, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, then you cannot cope with this. And I couldn't do anything either. I simply was plunging into this bliss, and the asuras were taking my pious merits out of me.

When Shri Ram knew what exactly this Borka was doing to me there he decided to get rid of me. I don't know what Borka was doing to me, because all the interaction went at the energy plan of existence, without my awareness, beyond my control. I just didn't know anything about it. After many years I guessed what was then, deciphering the events of those years. At that time I was married, was a faithful wife. But it turns out that Borka did something very bad to me. Because Shri Ram, having learned about this, felt squeamishness and decided to completely remove me from himself. He had a sense of deep aversion and abhorrence towards me, this slut whom Borka and everyone were fucking there.

I don't know what they were doing to me there, but Borka told Shri Ram about it, and Shri Ram said about me that he did not want to have anything to do with this slut. He gave up on me. Because of this, his life began swiftly to fell apart. He could not straighten it out; he was shown in the series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» that it is necessary to ask for forgiveness, to show respect, that he had not taken into account my guidance, his safety, my help. After thinking about this, he decided to use this hint and decided to a display of respect and gratitude to me. And he decided to return me to the ranks of his contactless whores.

Shri Ram decided to put me up for sale. Asuras have such service — to sell sex with women at the energical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. Asuras are able to extract pious merits from women during female orgasm. And asuras sell these pious merits. Asuras look at it like a good business. They sell sexual pleasures with women, although women do not know about it, and sell the pious merits of such women.

And Shri Ram decided that if he was forced to bring me back to straighten out his financial situation, he would do it, bring me back to the ranks of his contactless whores. He was disgusted to have at least some business with me. I was so dirty as he understood. Shri Ram decided would sell me to everyone. He decided that he didn't want to dirty the dicks of his companions from his asuric organization because of contact with me. He thought that only other asuras can get dirty by such a dirty slut.

197. The will of Shiva and Gaura Nitai in the best interests of the world

Thinking about how it happened that the man to whom I came and who was calling for me suddenly put me up for sale, I began to remember the milestones of our interaction with him. Shri Ram plugged into me on January 25, 2016. From 3 to 4 March we had a so-called heavenly wedding. On March 3, I gave him access to my life files in those lives where we were still together, long before he was made an asur. Impressed by what he saw, the whole evening of March 3, he was talking me, «Be my wife, become my wife», and we had a heavenly wedding. But by June 20 he had another woman in the physical reality.

How did I know this? Because on June 20, my son was washing the floor of our flat, but he washed the floor only in the middle of room. He fundamentally did not wash the floor in the corners of room. I was greatly enraged, and I began to scream him, «Wash the floor everywhere! Wash everywhere!» In fact, I told Shri Ram that he should be my everywhere. Shri Ram was already with that woman, because if he didn't have that woman, why would I shout to my son «wash the floor everywhere»? I was screaming in Russian «мой везде». This phrase in Russian has two different meanings. The first meaning is «Please, wash the floor everywhere, wash everywhere», and the second meaning is «you are my everywhere». Through the phrase «мой везде» I told my son to wash the floor everywhere. And at the same time, I used the same phrase to tell Shri Ram that he should be mine everywhere. I told Shri Ram that he had no right to be anywhere with anyone, because we had a heavenly wedding. But he did not listen to my words and continued to be with her in real life, and he sent me to ranks of contactless whores. He said, «You are truly impertinent. You say me, „You are mine everywhere“. You give commands to me? And who are you to be issuing orders? How dare you command me? We will cast you down to the lower echelons of cheap whores where you will exchange your title of my wife for title of a silly cunt. You will be in the ranks of those who serve by mouth and cunt to everybody from my asuric organization. You are stupid slut, not «you are mine everywhere».

On July 25 I started the fasting of 16 Mondays of Shiva. It has been over a month since I shouted at him «You are mine everywhere» and since he defined me into ranks of contactless whores. He was in a huff because of my arrogant demands and encroachments on his freedom, and I continued to get in his nerves, demanding that he was only mine, and he decided to get rid of me, taking advantage of the 16 Mondays of Shiva.

He held manipulation of my consciousness in order to I wanted to fast 16 Mondays of Shiva and in order to I had entered a reservation that if Shri Ram has some kind of woman somewhere, then Shiva should completely break our connection with him. It was a cunning trick of Shri Ram to get rid of me in this way at my expense. On July 25,

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I started to fast first Monday of Shiva, and on July 27, I with my kids went to the beach, and I groped a painful place in the gallbladder area. I was very scared and remembered about Borka and our conversation with him in the train. I remembered how I said to him, «Take care of your wife», and how he said me, «Take care of yourself», and I thought he had to take care of me, but they take care of me badly.

I remembered that conversation. I remembered how he stood in the train. I mentally had ended up there, mentally recreated that situation, looked mentally into his eyes and mentally asked him to help. I kind of mentally told him that they were taking care of me badly, because I told him, «Take care of your wife». And I made a claim to him: «You do not take good care of me. I should be fine, I have children growing up, and I need to live happily ever after». A bundle of the energy burst out of my eyes straight into his eyes, and I mentally heard his words: «I will try to help you». It was July 27, 2016.

Immediately he went to Shri Ram and they had some big conversation in their mental private chat. Shri Ram said that he had long wanted to get rid of me, but did not know how, and then Borka told him everything that they were doing to me. Shri Ram, hearing this, felt a strong disgust that he came into contact with such a low-grade slut and decided to get rid of me finally. He decided that he wanted not only him, but everyone with his asuric organization to no longer have any contact with me. I don't know what terrible that Borka said about me, because of which Shri Ram decided that he didn't want to dirty any of his own by me, but apparently there was something.

And then (it was the same day when I summoned him, July 27) Borka came to me again in my thoughts and said, «It was necessary to you to agree to become my wife then». So I realized that my suspicions about the conversation in the train were well-founded, because then I understood that he suggested something to me and I turned down, but now he told me specifically that it was necessary to me then to marry him. I thought: «Oh my God, Shri Ram reached an impasse, because of which he can't come to me». I thought that heavenly wedding remained in force, that he is with me, that he wants to come to me, but he can't. Although he has long been with another woman in real life and wanted to get rid of me, but he couldn't do it.

On July 29, I went for an ultrasound to check that painful place, and the doctor found gallstones. At that time Shri Ram decided to give me to Borka. Shri Ram was plugged into me, and through himself he was plugging other asuras into me. He and Borka placed before me a line of asuras on my inner screen and suggested that I choose one of them through whose body everyone would fuck me. But not through Shri Ram. I refused that line of asuras, and then Borka entered my hand instead of Shri Ram. I put my hand on my chest and felt someone else's presence in my hand. Usually there I felt Shri Ram, but at that time I felt something wrong and had took my hand away.

On 31 July, I was shown one episode from TV series «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» in which Parvati said, «Whatever happens, it will be the will of Narayana, and it will be in the best interests of the world». August 1 was supposed to be the second Monday of Shiva, but I was diagnosed with gallstones. I told everyone about it, and everyone began to say me that I shouldn't to fast, but I continued to insist that I began 16 Mondays of Shiva and I need to fast another 15 Mondays.

And then from my altar the photo of Gaura Nitai fell. I ignored this, put photo in place. Photo of Gaura Nitai never fell from the altar, but when everybody were talking me that I have to stop fasting and that I should stop these 16 Mondays of Shiva, the photo of Gaura Nitai suddenly fell. Incidentally, as soon as I began to observe these 16 Mondays of Shiva, Shiva everywhere began to speak to me that he refuses to do this, that he doesn't want this. In all the Vedic movies that I watched, in «VKontakte» in the news feed, in different places I constantly came across the words of Shiva that he would not do it, that he did not want to participate in this.

I did not understand what he did not want to participate in, and then the photo of Gaura Nitai suddenly began to fall from the altar. Photo of Gaura Nitai fell from the altar several times, and then fell right in front of me. I looked at this and thought that Gaura Nitai suddenly began to fall not without purpose, it means something. And then I got the idea:

*harer nama harer nama harer namaiva kevalam
kalau nasty eva nasty eva nasty eva gatih anyatha*

«In this age of quarrel and hypocrisy, the only means of deliverance is the chanting of the holy name of the Lord. There is no other way. There is no other way. There is no other way» (Adi 17.2).

In this way Gaura Nitai also said to me, «Stop fasting, there is no other way but to chant the Holy names of the Lord. Leave these 16 Mondays of Shiva. In this age of quarrel and hypocrisy, the only means of deliverance is the chanting of the Holy name of the Lord. There is no other way. Chanting of the Holy name is the panacea. In this age of strife, lies and hypocrisy, all these fasts are certainly good, but the best is the chanting of the Holy name of the Lord, there is no other way, there is no other way, there is no other way».

I looked at this and said, «Well, Krishna, if You yourself have expressed a desire that I should stop fasting, then I will certainly fulfill Your desire. Whatever You say, it will be». And so ended my 16 Mondays of Shiva then, thanks to which Shri Ram wanted to get rid of me. He thought he was the most cunning. Shiva said, that he refuses, that he not will to participate in this, and I did not fast at the second Monday of Shiva.

198. The will of Narayana in the best interests of the world

This Monday, August 1, Borka and Shri Ram had some conversation. I saw them both on my internal screen. They said something there, but I didn't hear them, and then Borka turned to me and said, «Who do you think you are? Who the hell do you think you are?»

After it was all over, Borka got out, there was a strange lull. I did not know what to think, and the Oracle «Hot Delphine Dumpling» said that there is some big influential man who will help me. I thought I didn't know any such man, but it occurred to me that there must be someone. I on my internal screen tuned in to this man and turned on my telepathic radar for sensor probe the world. And indeed, some influential man found himself in front of me at my mind's eye. I felt that this was the one man about whom the Oracle «Hot Delphine Dumpling» had told me and that he could help me. I felt that this is a great asur, who can affect Shri Ram and all the circumstances, that he is very powerful, that he has all the power. As the poet says, «He's got the world on a string».

I in my life many times turned to big people, and they always helped me. And I thought that this man should help me. I asked him for help. He offered me to sex with him, but I refused and left. And after that, Borka with this great influential Asur, whom I called Bhishma, had put me on their asuric totalizator. They put me at stake on their asuric totalizator. They thought that that obstinate woman is too sassy bitch, it is necessary to break it and earn a lot of money.

Meanwhile, Shri Ram decided to get rid of me, because after what he learned from Borka, he didn't want to have anything to do with me anymore. He performed the first manipulation of my consciousness on August 19. He thought: «You were shown in „Devon Ke Dev Mahadev“ those words of Parvati, that whatever happens, it will be will of Narayana, and it will be in the best interests of the world».

I wrote out these words on a sticky note and put this sticker before my eyes on my desk. Shri Ram looked through my eyes at these words and laughed. He thought, «I'll show you will of Narayana right now. I'll do what I want». He thought he was more cunning than anyone. He thought he was more cunning than Narayana. He thought, «Don't make me laugh, naive woman! You think what is going to happen now will be will of Narayana. You know, for such a sophisticated woman, that's an incredibly naive point of view. This ship goes where my will drives it. To bend anyone I like is in my will. A simpleton, see my will in action. I can bend the very fabric of reality to my will». And he began to squeeze me out of his space.

His first manipulation of my consciousness was successful, but it brought the end of his life, because from 3 to 4 March we had a heavenly wedding. Although our wedding was at the energy plane of existence, but wedding was. We got married in in front of Nrisimhadev. Nrisimhadev himself solemnized this marriage ceremony. Although this was all an illusion, but Krishna is God, and He can manifest himself even through illusion. And thus, through this illusion, everything happened as it really is. But Shri Ram thought it was not serious. And at that heavenly wedding through that illusion Nrisimhadev said to Shri Ram, «I trusted you with my beloved Svetlana Vinodavani. I pronounce you to be husband and wife. It gives me great pleasure to say you are now husband and wife together. Shri Ram, will you love her, comfort her, honour and keep her in sickness and in health, and, forsaking all others, keep yourself only for her? Shri Ram, will you love, honor, and cherish my beloved Svetlana Vinodavani?» Shri Ram took me his wife. But after that he forgot all this, neglected and broke his promise, and because of this the collapse of his life began.

All his assets began to fall. His whole life began to crumble, like a house of cards. And there was nothing he could do, he had total bad luck. On the same day, August 19, when his first manipulation of my consciousness was successful, I wrote a letter to one person about the texts for his site: «A photo in contacts on the site is your business. If you like her so much, then who am I? Why then should I to give you directions? It's like, who do I think I am? I'm nobody on your site. I'm going to delete the entire folder of your texts from my computer. There will be no your files on my computer. I wish you the same».

In this way I told Shri Ram that he had some woman there, a photo, and that he thinks she's a woman and I'm a slut, and that if he found her attractive, then who am I to give him preemptive signs and help him, to lead his organization and protect him. I reminded him Borka's words «Who do you think you are?» in order to he again remembered about what Borka told him about me. And I told him that I was deleting all of his files from my system, that I would not have them at all and that I wish Shri Ram the same.

In this way I told him, «I'm deleting you too. You won't be here at all». He answered me immediately. I received an answer from that friend, and it was written: «Svetlana, you are a free person and you have the right to act according to your own understanding. All here on a voluntary basis, and maybe there is no gloss, but from the heart. Thank you for the emotion». The main thing here is «from the heart». After all, it was written in Russian. It was written «от души» («from the heart»), if you look at it on a word-by-word basis, it will turn out: «от» and «души» («from» and «soul»). The preposition «от» («from») has different meanings, but if you take its literal, direct meaning, then «от» («from») is like «from here, get away from there», this is the way out, the departure. And if we consider «от души» («from the soul») in this way, denoting Shri Ram as a given soul, then «от души» («from the soul») means «get away from this soul, get away from me». He said through this «от души» («from the soul») the following: «Go away from the soul, go away from me as soon as possible, I have tried so long to get rid of you. I finally did it. Get out». That's what this letter meant.

On August 20, we were shown a series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» about Banasura and Vani, where Shri Ram was told that he was wrong and that he must apologize to me, that he must show respect and reverence for that support, protection and leadership that I gave him. And although the first manipulation of my consciousness was successful, Krishna still canceled it when I watched this series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev», because there Shiva told Vani not to leave Banasura.

And although I didn't want to be with this Shri Ram because his manipulation of consciousness was successful, I decided to follow Shiva's words. And I wrote the answer to that friend: «I want to tear you and your letter in tatters. But I'll spare you. I'm kind. Now». Through these words I said, «Alas, Shri Ram, but you're making a mistake. Of course, your manipulation of my consciousness was successful, but Shiva told me not to leave you. So sorry, I will not go anywhere. You will have to tolerate me. Bear with me, do your duty. You owe me».

The second manipulation he carried out when I was in the temple on the Sunday program Hare Krishna on August 21. He impacted on my consciousness so that I could ask the Deity to release me from him, and Krishna immediately fulfilled my desire. Krishna released me from Shri Ram, but the next day everything returned. August 22, one woman was standing at the vegetable stall, did not come into the vegetable stall and did not come out of it. I approached, looked at her strange behavior and asked why she is so strange stands. She said that she would only enter the vegetable stall after a man entered there. She said she was waiting for some man to enter there, because all men are fortunate. This is something like meeting a man first is a well-known, very good, really lucky omen. And I said that a man can be lucky only if he is carrying someone on himself, and if the man is not carrying anyone on himself and refuses to carry, then his luck runs out. Here is a play on words. The woman said in Russian «всем мужчинам везет». In Russian, the word «везет» has different meanings. One of the meanings is «lucky». For example: «That's why I'm so lucky at cards and love». And the other meaning is «carry». For example: «The train is coming... carrying us away»... When she said «всем мужчинам везет», she meant luck. But I started using the word «везет» as a pun by establishing the direct link between these two different meanings of the same word. I said that since one word «везет» has two meanings «lucky» and «carry», then a man can be lucky only if he carries someone on himself. In this way I told Shri Ram that he had had a fatal bad luck just because he refused to carry me, that is be with me.

On August 24, I suddenly remembered the story of the marriage of Kardama Muni to Devahuti. I found this story in «Srimad Bhagavatam» and began to read it. There Svayambhuva Manu suggested his adult daughter Devahuti to Kardama Muni. It was written that Devahuti came from a great noble lineage, she was a daughter and sister of the kshatriyas, not a girl without a tribe. Devahuti told her father about her desire to marry a worthy man who would suit her in character, age and qualities, and the father, out of love for his daughter, took care to find a suitable husband for her. Having heard from the sage Narada of nobility, scholarship, beauty, youth and other virtues of Kardama Muni, Devahuti didn't even think about anyone else. Devahuti never met

Kardama personally, she have not had a chance to make sure in his merits and to know his temper. From Narada Muni, Devahuti learned that Kardama Muni was the most right kind of man for her, so she gave him her heart and decided that she would marry only him.

After reading this story, so I told Shri Ram that I didn't need others men, that he is my husband, that I came to him, that this whole life is dedicated to giving him this chance and that I don't need others. Shri Ram then said me, «Oh, yeah? You said you didn't need others? You are hopelessly naive. You will do my bidding. You said you only wanted to be with me? I will crush you so that you will be with any man whom I will choose for you».

And on Janmashtami, August 25, he performed the third manipulation of my consciousness. He wanted to throw me to some other man so I'd think that other man was him. He wanted to crush my mind and mind of that man, and bring us together. He thought: «Have you decided that I will be your husband? Did you say that you will be only my wife? Did you think that whatever happens, it will be Narayana's will and it will be in the best interests of the world? Who are you to tell me what to do, you a stuck-up cow? You are a ragged goat, brainless dullard. Everything that happens will be only in my interests! This will be not Narayana's will, but mine. There is no Narayana here, only I am in power here! Dummy, Narayana is far, and I am close!»

But his business was collapsing, he began to panic, nothing helped him, and then on August 29 through me he was showed a series of «Ramayana» 2008, where the king of Kashi insulted sage Vishvamitra right in front of Lord Ramachandra. Lord Ramachandra vowed to kill this king of Kashi. The only thing that saved him was that he turned to the mother of Hanuman, Anjani, for help, and she protected him from the wrath of Rama, and thus the king of Kashi remained alive. Shri Ram was told through this series that he should ask the woman for forgiveness and help, and he began to ask all the women for luck and help. They all wished him luck. The woman who was with him, wished him luck too, but the total bad luck did not pass, and then he decided to make a concession to me. He decided that, so be it, because of the great necessity he will return me to the ranks of contactless whores.

And so the 2nd of September on my internal screen appeared the crowd of women, who were saying, «You are the same as we are, and we are many». It made me very angry, and I gave an ultimatum, saying to those women, «He's my man or he is no one's man. He belongs me or to nobody. Either he is mine everywhere and always, or you will go onto the dick, but not onto his dick», and I said to him, «Look, it's either me or them. You must choose between us». He had one day left before the crash, and he would have lost everything, and money, and home, and everything. The next day he was to become completely bankrupt and homeless, and he decided to agree to this ultimatum, throw them, but he thought: «I'll still outwit you. First, I'll start right away selling you to everyone, and secondly, I already know what to do to get rid of you for sure».

199. Triumphant Ravana

Shri Ram revealed to me this third secret. I found out that Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, told Shri Ram about me, what he did to me when I was still living in Moscow, because of which Shri Ram decided that he did not want to dirty the dicks of his asuras by me. Shri Ram decided to leave me, begin to sell me to other, third-party asuras, at the energy plane of existence. This was the last secret Shri Ram was to reveal to me. I was told about it by means of screenshots from «Mahabharata» with words «But more you nobody will disturb» and «The king of Madra, you are free». And the Oracle «Hot Delphine Dumpling», before Shri Ram was to reveal this secret, told me that it would be the last test. From all this I understood that this was all that Shri Ram had to reveal to me.

I didn't know that in fact this was not all that I had to know. Because what I must know and what he had to discover to me are different concepts. Because he wouldn't disclose everything else to me for anything. Everything else was revealed to me without his participation. I did not know what such a terrible that Borka did to me, because of which this Shri Ram began to consider me such a dirty slut. In those times I had a husband, I was a faithful wife. I had no other men. I did not eat meat, fish, and eggs, did not smoke, did not drink alcohol, and did not take any intoxication. I embraced healthy lifestyle. I was much better than those women with whom Shri Ram with his team has fun at the energy plane of existence. But he said they were purer than me. Then what did this Borka do to me, because of which did Shri Ram so think about me and decided that he did not want to get dirty by such a slut? But in any case, I did not succumb to the manipulation of Shri Ram. He wanted to get rid of me, carried out such powerful manipulations, but it turned out nothing.

When I read the story about the marriage of Kardama Muni to Devahuti, through the words of this story, Shri Ram was told that I was a worthy girl who belonged to a noble royal family. But Shri Ram looked at me and thought: «Borka has told everything about you. You are not a worthy girl from a noble royal family. I don't want you to keep, even in ranks of the contactless whores. No gloss, but from the heart. Go away. Out of here, out, out!» But I didn't go away. I did not know anything. I thought we have the marvelous relationship.

And he put me up for sale. He began to sell me to some other asuras. The asuras have such a service, the marketplace for the sale of women at the energy plane of existence. And they pay their asuric currency, that is, the pious merits which they pump out of women. And he put me up for auction, so that someone bought me there, that is, through him would connect to me and be with me, and I would not know about it.

How did I know that? Because when I called the karate trainer about that my daughter decided not to go karate, he told me that he already approved lists and already sent these lists, she is not on the list because there were a lot of missed lessons. From this I realized that the asuras have lists, so to speak, a catalog of such women, whom they buy and sell. And I realized that since there were a lot of missed lessons, it means that before that there were no missed lessons, that is, before that I was in this catalog and was put up for sale in this catalog.

2 Sep on my inner screen, stood the crowd of those women whom he used as the contactless whores. And they told me that he put me back to ranks of the contactless whores. They as if said to me, «Be happy, honey, you're back with us now. He's going to put you up for sale. He's going to connect into you everyone who buys women like you. They'll empty you out quickly, and you'll get away from us, because without your pious merits, you'll be of no use to anyone, and you'll fall to the bottom of your life, lose everything you had. But now you need rejoice. Did you want to come back to us? He returned you. Well, do your master a favor, who took such good care of you. You wanted to be with us, forward, to working! Work! There's so many asuras with the aroused dicks. Show us how you suck asuras's dicks. Rather run to the store for ice cream or sorbet, lick this goodies and suck asuras's dicks through your favorite sweets.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

They will be happy. Everybody will want to buy you and enjoy you. Come on, you're going to enjoy them; you're going to feel the sweetness that flows out from their aroused dicks to you through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. They will enjoy you and will take pious merits out of you. Good work, you're back. You have to thank our boss. Wish him luck. He wants his money back».

In real life with Shri Ram was a good woman. He was asking her for help somehow mentally, was asking mentally her all sorts of different questions in order to she helped him. But though she was wishing him good luck in his affairs, he was getting nothing from her good wishes. It was all for nothing. He continued to be a fatal loser, and all his affairs were going to the blazes. And on September 3 these women so enraged me that I gave them all an ultimatum. I told him, «Look, it's either me or them». He chose them, of course.

He had long since decided to get rid of me, in addition Borka told him something terrible about me, and Shri Ram told me in his mind, «Do you think you're my wife? You, a ragged goat, do you think I will choose you? You are the silliest goose, I will never choose you. I have a lot contactless whores with whom I will enjoy sex through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And I have that woman in real life. Yes, of course, I see that I am not necessary to her without my money and luck and she will abandon me. But now you will wish me luck, will remedy my life, and I'll be with her. I, of course, will not marry her. I wanted to marry her, but seeing her reaction, her attitude, I corrected my attitude towards her. But I need sex in the real life. For male needs normal functioning of prostate, and for this need sex in the real life. Yes, I'm not going to marry her, but I need sex in real life. Therefore, this woman will with me. Also those contactless whores will be with me. I will enjoy with them. Do you think I chose you? No way! You're not my choice, not mine. I choose not you, but them. But since you're giving me such an ultimatum, I need to make a smart move. I will refuse all of them for a while, so that you improve my finances. I do not want to lose my house, my business and my money. You will return my wealth to me, and then I will back to this woman to go to restaurants, have sex and enjoy life. Of course, I do not intend to marry her. I am experienced player. I made it a rule for my moves. But I want to enjoy. Sex is good for health». So he decided.

And when I wished him good luck and his situation began to improve I went into the vegetable stall, and the owner of this stall said, «You're a big person with a capital letter». Although I came to buy only one carrot, because I had already bought everything, I just forgot to buy a carrot for the soup. I buy this carrot, and he says to me, «You're a big person with a capital letter», and I say to him, «You got to be kidding me. What I'm a big person with a capital letter? I came only for one carrot», and he answers me, «No, you are a big person with a capital letter. Come next time, take a carrot, tell to give you all-all-all, and with a big discount».

Through these words, he said to me, «Well, I'll throw them off for a while, so that you can you have improve my finances. Then I'll put you on sale, we will pump all pious merits out of you, and you will go down without luck, without your pious merits. You will lose everything that you had. You will fall into the low places. Life will crush you, and your whole life will end up in a dumpster. Your ultimatum will be fulfilled. Your life will end, and they stays with me. Few days, everything will be the way it was, baby!»

I didn't know anything about it, but at some level of my higher self I knew everything and warned him in advance that I would punish him. He thought I was bluffing, but I showed him the 649–650th episode of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» when Banasura was choking his wife Vani. There Parvati wanted to destroy Banasura, for the fact that he had insulted Shiva. Parvati appeared before Banasura and said, «Today I will make you realize your worthlessness». I in this way told Shri Ram that I would make him realize his worthlessness. He decided to deceive me in this way?

I told him through Parvati's words that I would punish him for this insolence, for this impudence and break the arrogance in his thousand hands, that is, of all asuras in his asuric organization. I warned him in advance that I would kill someone of his asuras. I told him I would destroy him. I could destroy him. Although I did not know then that I am an inspector of the Universe Patrol and could destroy them all. I didn't know it, but through Parvati's words I told him all this, at level of my higher self. Through the words of Parvati to Bhairava, I told Shri Ram not to cross his boundaries, but he did. I told him he had to face the consequences.

I told him through Parvati's words, «By giving more importance to the right given to you by Swami, you had considered me less important. You treated me like an ordinary person and treated me with disrespect». Thus I told him that he at his will told me, «be my wife, become my wife». We somehow became husband and wife, we have had heavenly wedding, when I become wife of Shri Ram at some subtle plane of existence. We got married in in front of Nrisimhadev. Nrisimhadev himself solemnized this marriage ceremony. In front of Nrisimhadev Shri Ram made a promise to protect me as his wife and to be with me always, but suddenly he put me into ranks of the contactless whores, and then decided to put me up for sale to erase me completely. I told him that he had insulted me, that he had neglected my consent to become his wife, that I was honestly fulfilling my Dharma, and that I was not leaving him.

I told him in through Parvati's words, «Since you are my soul mate, then I will not kill you, but I can make you live on earth for eternity as an ordinary person, not as asur». I told him I could destroy his asuric nature. I have no right to kill him, because he is my eternal couple, but I can to destroy all his asuric faculties, all his asuric nature. He thought, «She's bluffing. She's a pawn for us. Who is she? Who does she think she is? Borka with all his asuras fucked her. She's one of the crumbs, a cog. I will grind her to dust».

And that same day, when I remedied his financial situation, wishing him good luck, after which he told me that I was a big person with a capital letter, he sold me for the first time. It was September 3, six months since our heavenly wedding. We celebrated the event by having sex, which occurs in our situation as masturbation. But since asuras can plug into people, then it is not masturbation, but really sex, though no one present there. But for the asuras, everything is like in real life, because for them there is no difference, sex in real life, with the contact of bodies, or sex at the energetical connectivity, at a distance, invisibly.

And here is then, when we with him marked six months our heavenly wedding, he has plugged into me those who had bought such services. I told him through Parvati's words that he would be held accountable, and the day after that I burned eyes out of one of his thousand hands. I remembered how once I went with my husband to one hospital. There we went to the chief doctor, we were sitting in front of this chief doctor, and at some point I felt like some nasty tentacles inside me were looking for something in me. As if creepy, cold, horrible tentacles was digging inside me and looking inside me, at the energy plane of existence. I told the doctor that he has no right to do it, and this immediately stopped.

I remembered this and thought he was from Shri Ram's organization. I imagined immediately that I was sitting in front of this chief physician. I mental looked him into the eyes, just as I looked then. And from my eyes has rushed out a furious raging fire into the eyes of this physician, who was one of the thousands of hands of Shri Ram. I from my eyes mentally emitted a powerful pillar of fire into his eyes. This pillar of fire was rushing into his eyes, and after some time I felt that I burnt him completely. I felt that no there is no of his tentacles, he's a scrap, just junk, completely useless, he's zero. And right after that there was a lecture in which my Gurudev offered Shri Ram to accept me as his wife.

200. The burning tail of Hanuman

Shri Ram got into trouble. He abandoned me. He thought I was such a dirty slut. He all summer was giving me to his asuras from his asuric organization, and then Borka came and said that I was the lowest whore, and Shri Ram decided to get rid of me. Time passed on but I did not. Shri Ram couldn't shake me out of, no matter what he did. Shiva told me to be with Shri Ram and not leave him alone, and I followed Shiva's words. And then Shri Ram decided to put me up for sale and even already sold once. And suddenly my Gurudev through the words of lecture offered Shri Ram to accept me as his wife.

For Shri Ram, it was simply outrageous. He didn't want to do it, but my Gurudev said in this lecture that I never used the wrong words, that when I am saying that I have no problems with my body, that I always remain much focused. Thus Gurudev told Shri Ram that I had never had another man. When I was with a man, I was focused on him and there were no other men. Shri Ram thought, «What the hell does that mean? Borka told me what a slut she was. I don't want her, even at a distance. I'm not going to marry her. It's just a crazy idea. I'd tell her to go fuck herself. I have made my choice. I picked my contactless whores and the woman in real life. It's my choice. But this stubborn selfish woman is not my choice. Do marry that slut I already put up for sale and even sold her? Let the others deal with her. I'm not that mad man, I swear».

But my Gurudev was insisting, «No, take her. Are you really stupid, Shri Ram? Svetlana Vinodavani is an inspector of the Universe Patrol. You just don't know it. She specifically put herself at risk with Borka. Like Hanuman, she allowed to set fire to its tail to burn Lanka. Many asuras are all doomed. Their life has reached their end. They do not know this, but Svetlana Vinodavani targeted them. Her finger is on a trigger. She will destroy many of you. Now it's just a matter of time». My Gurudev said, «You, Shri Ram, don't think she's such a fool. Svetlana Vinodavani will destroy you all, although her goal is not to destroy everyone. But if necessary, she can destroy all asuras. You must see her for what she is».

I once stood in a jewelry store. I was buying myself a silver charm for a bracelet. There was a showcase with expensive gold jewelry, and one woman told me, «Buy this very expensive ring, and you immediately will astound everyone», and I answered her, «I do not have such a goal — to astound everyone. I want to please myself». In this way I said to Shri Ram that I have no such purpose as to kill all asuras, but I want to please him, that is it. And my Gurudev said to Shri Ram, though he did not hear it, that I can kill all asuras, but I have no such purpose in this task — to destroy them all. This is a clever play on words. In Russian, the word «поразить» («to astound») has different meanings. One of the meanings is “destroy, hit the target”, and the other meaning is “surprise, impress”. That woman in the jewelry store, when she uttered the word «поразить» (“to astound”), meant the meaning “to impress everyone”, but I saw that her words had a completely different meaning, thanks to another meaning of the word: “destroy everyone”.

My Gurudev said to Shri Ram, «Do you choose those women? You're a fool, a flat-out dumbshit. You think, if you're asur, then you can do whatever you want? You think that you will enjoy and get pious merits out of the women and thus good to live here? You're a fool! You, like all asuras, can be erased at any time, along with all the pious merits which you took out of someone. Nothing will be left of you. You need to think about that you are soul, that you are not the body with asuric abilities. You need to think about yourself, what will happen to you. You haven't dealt with Lona yet. Svetlana Vinodavani will include Lona into the game. Lona will erase you and sent to a disembodied existence. Not even fingernails will remain! Ashes to ashes and dust to dust. Because Srila Prabhupada said that if I put my head in your lap and you cut my throat that is the greatest sin. If you betray those who trust you, who depend on you and take shelter of you, this is the greatest sin».

My Gurudev told to Shri Ram, «Svetlana Vinodavani specially comes in this way. She works on the principle of the trust. She trusts because people like you are trying to abuse her trust, but that is the greatest sin. And for that sin she, being an inspector of the Universe Patrol, has every right to have done away with them and do whatever she sees fit. You don't know what kind of trouble you're in. You aren't comprehending the position that you're in. You're a dullard, but you think you're a great asur. And Svetlana Vinodavani is the wife of the most Nrisimhadeva. Once, in distant past lives, when you, Shri Ram, left her and went to the asuras, she didn't abandon you and went to serve the Deities on the higher heavenly planets, and there she fell in love with the Deity of Nrisimhadeva with her entire being. She entered Him as a Deity, and they were fused together for a very long time. She became the wife of Nrisimhadev. And Nrisimhadev with his nails will rip you to shreds. There won't be anything left in a minute. You're a chronic dummy».

My Gurudev said, «Look, Shri Ram, Nrisimhadev showed to you just a little. He did not kill you because Svetlana Vinodavani on the higher planes of existence asked Him not to kill you and not to harm you, so you are alive. But you're going too far. Who do you think you are? You're too arrogant. We can have done away with you easy. And there'll be nothing left of you to call alive or dead».

My Gurudev told Shri Ram that although Shri Ram considers me a slut, but it was done on purpose to legitimately destroy all of them. My Gurudev told Shri Ram that I have such a principle — I come to someone, I trust them, they abuse my trust, this is the greatest sin, and for this sin I, as an inspector of the Universe Patrol, have every right to destroy them all.

But Shri Ram said, «Do they want me to marry her? No way. Of course I told her that I choose her, but that was just a trick. I do not need her. I need my contactless whores and that woman for sex in physical reality. But I do not need this stubborn, uncompromising and arrogant woman. We will completely erase her, and she somewhere will disappear, be dead, and thus her words will be fulfilled and I will enjoy sex. She said that either she or they. She will die, and they will be with me. I'll enjoy life however I want. But marry her? Take some responsibility? I already once did such a stupid thing, why, I don't know. I'm not going to marry her. Why? Do I look like a fool?»

And then he was shown the 58th episode of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev». My Gurudev proposed to him on September 4, after I had burnt out eye of one of his subordinates, at the energy plane of existence. On September 3, I wished him good luck. His assets began to grow. He did not lose his house. The business has picked up. He thought that things will improve, he will erase me and will enjoy again to the fullest. He thought that he will invite that woman to expensive restaurants, and on a first-class vacation to ritzy resorts like Majorca, Bahamas. He thought that he will enjoy the wealthy life and sex.

And then on 7 September he was shown a series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev». There Prajapati Daksha cursed Chandradev. Chandradev married Revati, but did not consider her his wife. Daksha cursed Chandra, and Chandra began to die. Prajapati Daksha began to make a new planet. At the series said that if a new planet is created, there will be a disaster. That planet will take Chandra's place, and Chandra's death will be inevitable. Thus Shri Ram was told that some other man would soon come to me in his place and be with me, and then Shri Ram's death would be inevitable. And no one will save him. And he will have no pleasure at all, nothing; he will not have any sex, because he will die.

And at the same time Shiva said Shri Ram, «You are not freed from the collapse of life. You have a risk at any time lost your house and all your assets and became a broke homeless person. The effect of the curse had undoubtedly decreased, but it had not disappeared. Your crime is unforgivable. Have you put her up for sale yet? You started selling her to everyone? She's your wife. Eternal wife. She is your Shakti. You have called to her in your past lives. You made her so many promises that you are capable of great things for her, that all you want is her happiness. You were telling her through spaces and worlds, „How much I would do for you“... And suddenly you started to sell her? You have put up her for sale for asuras? You included her into asuric catalogue? Aren't you going too far? Your crime is unforgivable! You married her on your own. Even in this life you on your own said to her, „Be my wife, become my wife, I'll do anything for you“. You have to give her the status of wife. What did Indradyumna Swami through his lecture said to you? He said that you had to marry Svetlana Vinodavani. What did you say? You said her, „You're not my choice, I choose all of them“. You said this. You're a fool. Because you'll not getting them. Because you die before that. You have failed in your duty, and that is a crime. For a crime it is necessary to be punished».

Shri Ram was shown that he should accept my Gurudev's offer and take me as his wife. And then Shri Ram said, «You are not my choice. I choose not you. You told me, „either me or them“. I choose them, but you made every effort to get what you want. You're not my choice, you're my destiny. I'll have to agree». And he agreed with my Gurudev's proposal.

It was very painful for me to realize that Shri Ram thought so badly about me that he even put me up for sale and began to sell me to everyone. I remembered the 167th episode of my novel “My Roman. I'm asur's wife”, in which I allegorically told the story about the parents of the so-called Duryodhana, king of kings of the current asuras. There his father, having married the woman whom the elders of his kind chose for him, began to sell her to everyone. I thought: did this Shri Ram do the same to me? He sold me like this even though he married me? And he sold me to everyone? He made a terrible, awful, irreparable mistake.

I remembered the 167th series of my novel and how I understood what it was really about, I was overcome with sorrow for myself and cried, but my Gurudev said to me: «My heart is with you! But you must endure your misfortune with dignity and patience. And you must change. Maybe, you will not get everything you want, but you have much, much more than the six billion people on this planet have. Much more! You have the freedom to choose your religion; you have sanity, food on the table every day, clean water to drink, Holy name, association with vaishnavas, service to Deities, the opportunity to visit Holy dhamas. Look around you at the world. See what most people have lost, and be grateful for all that you have received». These words somehow warmed me, calmed.

When I was thinking about that fact that Shri Ram made me such a whore and so probably I am such a whore, on my desk Radha fell from the throne, just at that time when I was thinking about it. She somehow fell from Her throne, on which She sits with Krishna in the form of stones-Girirajas. I looked at this and realized that Radharani did not agree with my words. It was as if She said to me, «Svetlana Vinodavani, you're not a whore. I completely disagree with your words». And after that a crown fell from my Deity Gopal on my desk. I thought, «Yeah, once we destroyed Duryodhana, and now we will destroy someone great asur for the fact that Shri Ram did this to me».

201. Analogy with the parents of the king of the kings of the asuras

Shri Ram put me up for sale to his asuras and was selling to them sexual pleasures with me, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, through himself. I saved him from the collapse of his life, but before that I gave him an ultimatum: either me or them. This I had in mind those women, whom asuras use as their contactless whores, and the contestant woman, whom was with him in the real life.

I told him, «Look, it's either me or them. Take your pick». But he had no choice, because everything in his life was collapsing and very rapidly. He was attacked by fatal bad luck. He decided to show to me that he chose me, but in fact he was going to put me for sale and connect into me more of those who buy such pleasures at a distance with those women who do not even know about it, but periodically have sex or masturbation. Shri Ram had done it to me, and even at celebration of six months of our heavenly wedding. I was helping him; I was giving him preemptive signs for the best development of his asuric organization, for his enrichment. I was giving him tips, which could be useful to him. I was protecting him. The asuras are constantly fighting someone on a subtle plane of existence, and I was giving him protection. But he decided that I should be completely erased so that I would not interfere with his enjoyment with other women. And he put me up for sale.

When I found out about it, I felt so dirty, so insignificant, that I thought that if I was treated like this, then I am rubbish, I'm just nothing. But then I remembered, as I in 167th series of my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife" told about the parents of the so-called Duryodhana, king of the kings of the asuras, whom we then sent to future life.

I told about them, commenting on the screenshots from TV series «Mahabharata» about the wedding of Dhritarashtra and Gandhari. I commented on these screenshots, but I was telling not about the historical figures Dhritarashtra and Gandhari, but with my free interpretation, realizing that in my words there is a hidden meaning about the parents of the current Duryodhana, king of the kings of the asuras.

After a while, I was able to extract a lot of hidden meanings from my commenting on those screenshots. I realized that the father of that Duryodhana was forced to marry the woman his family had chosen for him. She was from a very rich, powerful noble family and from the day she was born, she was brought up in accordance with high standards of self-respect and honoring herself as of a woman. She was actually a very dignified, honorable, estimable and pious woman. And becoming his wife, she was faithful to him. But he'd done pretty bad things to her.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

In 167th series I said, «He even brought a fist to her face, as if to say: „Listen to my order“» («Он даже кулак ей подставлял, типа слушай меня, мою команду»). From here I understood the following. He, being asur, was connecting his asuric team to his own wife in his marital sex at the energy plane of existence. What do you mean, «Listen to my order» («слушай мою команду»)? What command? In the allegorical language with regard to the asuras, this may mean that he was connecting the asuras from his asuric team to his wife in his marital sex at the energy plane of existence. And they all were fucking her through body of her husband who was being their leader. Because the Russian word «команда» («command») has different meanings, one of which is «a team».

In 167th series I said that he was holding his fist to her nose and saying, «Smell my fist, what it smells like». What can a fist mean with regard to asuras? I thought it was about his sidekick, his confidant, his strike force. He was connecting to his wife his henchmen, his striking force. It wasn't in real life, but at the energetical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. For the asuras, the sensations and actions are identical both in real life and at the energy plane of existence, and her husband invisibly was connecting asuras to her. This suggests that the fourth regulative principle is very important. No illicit sex. The fourth regulative principle protects us from such intrusions into our sex.

In 167th series I said, «It was absolutely unbearable for her, because she was born into a very noble family, had high standards of self-respect and honoring herself as of a woman, and for her such treatment was completely unacceptable. But she married him, she made that decision, the decision was irrevocable, it could not be overturned. And she was forced to endure such a mistreatment to her».

Shri Ram and I have a very similar situation. I became his wife in some way at some heavenly wedding. I honest performed my conjugal duties, and Shri Ram had used this and at first he was connecting to me his fist, that is, his apprentice, whom I after that destroyed and then he was connecting to me his entire team, his asuric organization. So it was with the mother of that Duryodhana, she honestly fulfilled her duties as a wife.

In 167th series I said, «He even was throwing her on the floor and kicking her. He treated her very cruelly» («Он ее даже кидал на пол и бил ногами. Очень жестоко с ней обращался»). From these words I saw that he was connecting to her not only his confidants who had high positions and rank, but also the all the garbage among the asuras, since the floor is at the very bottom, this is the lowest position. And even he was connecting servants of asuras to her, since the legs are what serve the body. Because I said that he was kicking her, by legs («Он ее даже кидал на пол и бил ногами»), and legs are what serve the body, that is, «he was kicking her» can be deciphered as «he was giving her even to servants». That is, he began to give her even to those who serve the asuras.

He made from her simply a whore, at the energy plane of existence, although she was only with him, she was a faithful, devoted wife. But he himself was ruining her faithfulness, connecting other men to her at the energy plane of existence, and he was taking money for it. I said in Russian «Он ее кидал на пол» («He was throwing her to the floor»). The Russian word «пол» («floor») In English has different meanings. One of these meanings is «the floor», and the other meaning is «sex». That is, he made her a whore; he sold sexual pleasures with her at the energy plane of existence for money. As money in this case, the asuras use pious merits, which they withdraw from others. The more piety, the more luck, the more opportunity, the more wealth. And he was selling her to everyone to get more pious merits and to live an easy and luxurious life, to enjoy more in this world.

From the day she was born, she was brought up to crave the approval of her future husband. In addition to being instilled with respect for traditions, she was educated to be good wife and mother. Her only desire in life was to be a worthy wife to her husband. She was prepared to be a proper wife. She thought that with her husband she would feel safety. And then it turned out that her husband began to connect other men to her, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. She felt it, but could not do anything about it or oppose it, since her husband was able to do all this, and she could not and had no right to refuse to perform her conjugal duty. And he, taking advantage of the fact that she was forced to perform wifely duties, was connecting other men into her during their sex, at the energy plane of existence. And her husband was enjoying the fact that other men through his body fucked her. He was selling her to everyone. He put her up for auction and was giving her to everyone. Shri Ram did the same with me, although I am his eternal wife.

Such was his gratitude to me for me saving him from the reactions he had brought upon himself for giving me to others, although I am the woman to whom he had said, «be my wife, become my wife». And, moreover, I am his eternal soul mate, whom he was calling in his past lives and whom he was persuading, making some promises, saying, «I'd do anything for you».

He was giving to everyone that woman whom he called on, to whom he promised, to whom he said «be my wife, become my wife». And he got hit by the reaction for his atrocity. It was correct reaction. That reaction would have erased him completely, but I saved him. No one saved him. Neither contactless whores nor anyone else could save him. Even that woman in the real world, for whom he had abandoned me, who thought that every woman is born to be happy and she is worth it. She did not want to give him her pious merits, deciding that to share her good fortune with someone and make her own life worse is the greatest folly. And in this way he thanked me for saving him from the reaction that he received because he humiliated me. He began to sell me to everyone in a row, in order to pump everything out of me faster and so that I perished and disappeared completely. And he did not spare my children.

When I found out about his attitude to me, I thought that I am probably such a slut, if he behaved with me like this. But at these words Radharani fell from Her throne, as if to tell me that She do not agree with my words, because that woman, the wife of that asur, the father of Duryodhana, king of the kings of the asuras, was also not a slut. She was a very chaste, pious woman, she was born in a famous noble family, and had high standards of self-respect and honoring herself as of a woman, but her husband used her devotion, faithfulness and adherence for her duty in order to satisfy his own vulgar interests. And he turned her into a doormat for everyone.

And Radharani told me, «No, I know you're not like that. You began to think really badly about yourself, when you had known that with you they behaved so low and meanly and took advantage of your trust and openness». Radharani even fell from Her throne so that I could understand it. And even the crown fell from Gopal. Krishna thus said, «I will not tolerate this treatment of you. We will definitely respond to this affront. Now, we can't leave this like this. Those who spit at the sky only dirty their own face. The sky not as forgives, and punishes such. We must punish them. Because heaven does not forgive, but punishes such».

202. Gratitude for faithfulness over many lifetimes

The thought that Shri Ram put me up for sale for asuras was very frustrating for me. I thought, how did this happen? For what the asuras have this service for the sale of sexual services at the energetical connectivity? But I understood that the asuras have such a service. They have such stock exchanges. They put women up for sale. Women at that time live a normal life and do not even know about anything, but periodically have sex with someone, or masturbation.

Asuras are able to plugging into women (and into men too), at the energy plane of existence. They may to plug asuras into her, absolutely imperceptibly for her, imperceptibly to have her in sex or in her masturbation. And although for her this is masturbation, for asuras it's like normal sex, because they can enter into any items, into anything energetically and they can feel everything like really. And when she has an orgasm and her sexual energy is released, asuras can pump pious merits out of her.

The asuras has such a business in offering of such sexual services, because many men do not want to get married, to endure tears of the wife, her tantrums, whims, and her bad mood and fulfill her desires. Now men are very spoiled and lazy, and they do not want to go to the trouble of this family life, so the asuras say, «I will rather go to our market at our mental chat, look at the mental catalog, read the characteristics of women, will look at the mental videos. I will get information about these women when they are dressed, undressed, what they are like during sex, what energy they have. I will choose suitable woman, pay universal currency, that is, the pious merits, and when she next time will masturbate or having sex with some man, I will plug into her and will get a dose of pleasure. I, being at my home, will fuck her, not touching her, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. I will get my portion of pleasure, and no problem. No family squabbles, no female vagaries, no responsibility». And Shri Ram put me on that market, on their thought asuric catalog. But I didn't know that.

When I found out about it, I was very sad. This Shri Ram was pretending that he was with me, and I was with him, but he was plugging other asuras into me through himself, at the energy plane of existence. Such was his gratitude to me for fact that I had saved him from the life`s collapse, which came to him for the fact that he treated me very badly and decided to squeeze me out of his space, although six months before that he said to me «be my wife, become my wife».

But half a year has not passed since this event, as he began to squeeze me out of his space and already gave me to asuras from his asuric organization, because he had a much better woman than me. He met a flashy, gorgeous, sophisticated woman in real life, looked at her and thought, «Compared to this a stubborn and stuck-up coat rack to whom I said, „be my wife, become my wife“, this woman is just a treasure». And he threw me out and fell on this treasure.

But though that woman was a treasure, she was a stranger woman to him, and she didn't care what happened to him. Because her credo was «Every woman is born to be happy, and I am Worth It». It is, of course, was a good woman, a jewel, but she was spending her pious merits only on herself, and she to a large extent didn't care at all how others live. Look, you will help him; you will pinch from yourself a piece of pious merits and give to him. His affairs will improve, but something goes wrong with you, you will have health problems or business trouble, but you want to live well, you want to enjoy. In short, something will go wrong with you. If you will pinch from yourself this piece of pious merits and give to him, your affairs will develop not according to a good script of the further vital way, but according to the worst.

And when Shri Ram switched to that woman and started getting rid of me, he got reactions. He almost lost all his business, all his money, his house; he would become a fatal loser. After that, a sad ending awaited him. Bankruptcy, vagrancy, that woman's refusal from him. Why would she be with a real loser if she wanted to enjoy? If you want to enjoy, you have to enjoy, not to help some strange men who for some unknown reason have become losers.

Shri Ram very much wanted to improve his position and agreed to my ultimatum. I told him at level of my higher self that I would help him, but I made a condition: either I or they. I told him I would help him, but please respect me, I don't like the presence of other women, and I don't want them to be. He said, «All right, I'll do as you say», and he decided to put me up for sale, so that asuras fucked me, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, in order to they drank from me all my feminine energy and all my pious merits, in order to I fall down to the very bottom of life, become a trash and fall off from him. He was going after that return to his pleasures.

I remembered about Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, how he came to me on the commuter train, how he asked me to be his wife. He was choosing next wife.

The asuras have this practice. The asur marries not for the purpose of having a wife, a woman he loves and cares about. He does not need a woman he loves, but a source of pious merit. Wife he needs as a source of pious merits, as an oil well to which he connect other asuras in their marital sex and pump everything out of her. He takes, of course, a faithful woman, very pious, with a large reserve of piety, to pump out more pious merits. He appointed in advance that she, of course, will be faithful to him, but he will plug many asuras into her in order to quickly take all pious merits out of her. It's like how several oil pumping stations are connected into to the oil well, that is providing stable oil mining, and from it all pumped out. When an oil well becomes empty, the owners abandon it. And after that a factories drops hazardous waste down a dry oil well. Asuras do the same. Asur marries a pious woman with a large supply of piety. He tries to be a good husband so that she loves him and trusts him. During their conjugal sex, this asur connects other asuras to his wife, and they together pump her pious merits from her. When after a few years of their happy marriage, her supply of piety runs low, he puts pressure on her consciousness, manipulates her consciousness so that she cheats on him and goes to another man. And after that, her life turns into hell, because she, being devastated, without the piety merits, is lowering to the very bottom of life and is used as a garbage bin to dump toxic life waste into her. When she becomes empty, without her pious merits, this asur, who was her husband, presses her consciousness and throws her into some other man. Outwardly, everything happens as if she was cheating on her husband, leaves him and ran off with someone. Everyone thinks that she was acting of her own free will. But this is not so. In fact, she is just a victim, because she is by nature faithful and this behavior is not characteristic of her. She would never abandon her husband, because asuras to pump out pious merits take faithful women who not cheat on husband. But he forced her, pressed onto her mind, and outwardly it looks like she left him. And asur, who was her husband, thus is freeing from that woman he devastated. He remains crystal-clear and looking for next woman for the role of such a sacrifice, a lamb to the slaughter, such a wife, an oil well.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I have in the winter of 2017 dealt with a large party of asuras, who loved to use wives as oil wells. That time I sent them all to the hellish worlds, and before that I brutally was torturing them and pulled out their sinful tongue, that is, some energy tongue at the level of male genitals, with which during the female orgasm the asuras do withdrawal of the pious merits from piety account of woman into piety account of the asuras. I thought that Shri Ram deserved it. He himself told me «be my wife, become my wife», and suddenly began to give me to others, so they quickly pumped everything out of me.

I remembered a man from my past lives who came to me when Shri Ram sent me to tender when he had Lona, the eraser of asuras. That man came to save me from Shri Ram, who spared neither me nor my children, deciding to devastate me and simply destroy me. I refused this man, even though he came to save me and protect me, and Shri Ram just wanted to use me. That man wouldn't do all this to me, he was good man, and Shri Ram was doing such abominations to me, but I stayed with him to give him a chance.

What did he reward me for my many lifetimes of devotion? I didn't abandon him between lives, when he was made an asur and when I was looking for him between lives and when there was no response from him. That time some powerful personalities came to me. They showed me what he had become, and said that we could not be together, although we are an eternal couple. They offered me to break our eternal bond with him, they had such power. They said to me, «You will no longer depend on him, your craving for him will disappear, and your pious merits will not go away from you to him, thanks to which he there, being asur, do all sorts of abominations. Let's break this eternal bond of yours. Yes, he will be without you, without his Shakti, but it is his choice».

They offered me another eternal couple, because my svarupa, that is eternal position, is to being a wife and other positions are unnatural to me. They gave me another couple, but I refused. I said that I would not betray my beloved and would not accept another instead. And for my faithfulness to him, he gave me such a reward. He decided to put me on a sale, to empty me completely, in order to I fell to the bottom of life, and then into the lower forms of life.

What reward did he give me for my trust? He began to sell me to everyone, in order to erase me quickly, in order to my children were without me, alone, defenseless. Yes, he did not spare me. This can be somehow understood. But why didn't he spare my children? What have they done to him? They have never harmed him. Why did he think he had the right to dispose of other people's lives? What reward did he give to me and my children? Through them preemptive signs were being sent to him, whom can he subordinate, who is good, who is bad. Through my children were being sent advance-warning signs for him, but he did not consider it necessary to somehow spare, pity them. No, he said, «I'll erase her. What will happen to these children? Who cares? Who are they? There are many such children everywhere. Orphanages are full of these children. What happens to these children in orphanages, I do not care. The main thing for me is to enjoy life».

203. A silver charm for silver bracelet in the form of a bouquet

What have I missed in my devotion to him as my eternal husband? I guess I was wrong; I misapply my freedom of choice when between lives I was offered to abandon him, break our eternal bond to my pious merits had not flowed to him and contributed to his degradation. They offered me to break this connection, but I refused. I made a mistake. As a result, he began to follow the principle «we remember only the best».

Now she is the best, and we are with her. After her will be the else best woman, then third best, and every time we will go to the best. But that woman is no longer the best; need to put her on the forgetting process, of completely erasing, so that there she is nothing left. I told those powerful personalities between lives that I didn't agree to break the connection with him, that I would be faithful to him no matter if I couldn't be with him. I said that I would help him, send him my pious merits periodically, so that no one would lord it over him, so that he could respect himself, so that he could live normally.

What came out of it? I began to feel myself as a complete nonentity, which is so insignificant nonentity that this insignificance can be treated only like that. I was experiencing bitter feelings and regrets that I did not agree then to the proposal of those powerful personalities and did not refuse him. Because of this happened that when I came to him, he put me up for sale and began to devastate me to wipe out of existence, not sparing my children. When I was in such a depressing mood, a screenshot appeared on the desktop of my computer with the words «At the end of the battle, I will sacrifice a pumpkin to them».

I thought, yeah, we will kill someone of the asuras for what I'm experiencing such emotions. Such a reward he gave me when I saved him from a ruin of life. He had to become a homeless person, and then lose his asuric abilities. I would have been shown what he did to me, and I would have burned everything he had. He would have been nothing, but I saved him, and what was his gratitude to me? When I saved him, he decided to put me up for sale.

I thought: whom of the asuras will I sacrifice? What am I going to do to them? I had no absolutely no idea, but I thought I should punish some of them, and the Lord said to me in the screenshot of the «Mahabharata», «Trust me, sakhi». Krishna said to me, «You don't know who to kill? Don't worry, I'll tell you. Just trust Me. We will do everything real classy, and It'll happen without a hitch».

I decided to trust Krishna. I thought, «Yes, Krishna, You know everything». Someone should be held responsible for the fact that he was plugging everyone into me and was ruining my faithful and devotion to him. I was put into their asuric mental catalogue among many other women. There were pictures of me looking at myself in the mirror and when he was looking at me through eyes of other people, and in the gynecologist's chair, and at the doctor's office. Asuras were examining me there and reading my characteristics, when they were deciding to buy me or not, to fuck me or not, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And someone even fucked me there. They will pay for it.

Three secrets were revealed to me by Shri Ram when I was thinking that at the man on the card could not see right hand and, therefore, he must open what he hid there. First secret is about he brought me back to ranks of his contactless whores. The second secret is about he did it as a thank me for what I helped him. Third secret is about Borka said to Shri Ram something bad about me, because of that Shri Ram wanted to get rid of me, did not want anything to do with me, but he was forced to return me, and then he put me on sale. That's what he told me.

Then the Oracle «Hot Delphine Dumpling» told me that this was all Shri Ram had to reveal to me. At screenshots from «Mahabharata» was said that now no one will disturb him and he can relax. I thought that that was the end of the story, but there were still undisclosed pages of our interaction with him. There was something else that Shri Ram would not have revealed to me even if I had tortured him. But what he revealed to me really outraged me. Thinking how this could happen, I could not resist and attacked Shri Ram.

Because of thoughts and the bitter suffering due to the fact that I, like a horse, was put up for sale, I became so furious that I looked at my internal screen, and a big Trident appeared in my hand, on the energy plane of existence. I pierced Shri Ram with this trident and began to brutally stab him with the Trident, making him hurt. I wanted to hurt him more, in order to he scream at the energy plane of existence. I wanted all asuras to hear him whine because of this unbearable pain.

After that I drew out something of his mouth into me, lots. And then I saw as if zipper on him. As if there is zipper on him from the bottom up. And I unzipped this zipper completely, and from him a big stream began to rush into me. I was very gloating at that time and thought: «You will pay for everything what you did to me!» I really wanted to brutally have done away with him. I think, I could've brutally finished with him, but Krishna constantly kept before my mind's eye a picture of TV series «the Mahabharata», as if to say me, «Baby, hold on a second. Listen, no, hold on, hold on... Sweetie, it's all right, calm down. Just just slow down, all right?» And this picture somehow slowed me down.

If it wasn't for that picture, I would definitely kill him. I was very angry with him, and my anger didn't go away. And then the next morning I got a mailing of Dhirashanta Prabhu's. At the end of that mailing were these words: «Understand that those people, who are around you, may well be the people with whom you will live your whole life, and perhaps they will be next to you at the time of your death». I thought that Krishna was saying to me through these words, «Yes, of course, you are very angry with Shri Ram, but what if he is the one who will be with you for the rest of your life and will be with you at the time of your death?»

I thought: well, if that's true, then I have to forgive him, even for that. What if he helps me? But what if he says "Hare Krishna" at the time of my death, when I will leave the body? But what if he takes away the ashes of this body after death and lowers it into the river Yamuna in India so that I received the real benefits? But what if he takes care of me somehow? What if he takes care of my body and of me, who is a soul who is in the material world and who wants to return into the spiritual world? I thought I should forgive him. If he can help me, I have to forgive him. And then came the screenshot where Krishna vouched for Shri Ram, and I somehow tried to calm my anger, my rage at him and forgive him.

After that, I bought a silver charm for my silver bracelet in the form of a bouquet. Because on that Metaphorical associative card, the bouquet in the man's hands represents a return into the spiritual world. I thought: the material world is a terrible place where your eternal couple, who is your eternal husband, can make great efforts in order to force you to be with other men and even put you up for sale to them, to completely erase you. This material world is a horrible place, because here your real husband, eternal husband, your real soulmate can do everything so that blast your world into nothingness, so nothing is left of you, and for this he will not spare not only you, but also he will not spare your little children. This material world's a stinking shit-hole, so I bought this a silver charm for my silver charm bracelet in the form of a bouquet. This bouquet is the spiritual world. We must return into the spiritual world and take advantage of the auspicious that Srila Prabhupada gave us.

I thought that I am an inspector of the Universe Patrol, I can see a lot between lives, and if I came here, into Srila Prabhupada's mission, this means that Krishna consciousness is really worthwhile endeavor. This Shri Ram is my eternal husband, but

I have not come close to him for many lives. But now I have come to him, although some time ago some powerful personalities between lives told me that I should not come to him, that it was forbidden, and that it was dangerous for both of us. But despite this, I neglected this ban and came to him. I came to give him a chance, because I decided to leave the material world and to return into the spiritual world. And for the sake of this, I came to Krishna consciousness. If I neglected this strict prohibition and came to Shri Ram to give him a chance to return into the spiritual world with me, using the gift of Srila Prabhupada, then this means that Krishna consciousness is really the right path to the spiritual world. Otherwise, why would I come? After all, they told me then between lives that we can't come into contact with him in any way. No way. It is forbidden. But I did it. And since I did this, it means that it is very, very, very, very important. It is so important that everything else can be neglected.

Season 5. Creating a protection system against asuras

204. «You're pure while I'm with you».

After Krishna vouched for Shri Ram and said through the words of Dhirashanta Prabhu's mailing that those people who are around you may well be the people with whom you will live your whole life, and perhaps they will also be next to you at the time of your death, I thought that I should somehow forgive Shri Ram, I should be kinder to him, show mercy and some respect to him, and I tried to forgive him.

Life returned to normal. I participated in one game with Metaphorical associative cards. In this game I got a card on which a man held out a bouquet of flowers to a woman in the mirror, and then Shri Ram was forced to open me three shameful secrets. And then came the next stage of this game. I again said some number, and I got the card with the cute little girl in the white beret who is leafing through her diary.

I began to describe everything that I saw in this picture, and then began to look at the already written by me, in order to that I came to realize what this picture actually says about me and my current situation. When I looked at this picture, I wrote the following: «Here is a girl, sweet, emotional, and sincere, a simple soul, thoughtful, with a slight sadness and love looking at her diary. She looks at the large heart painted on the page of the diary in which the word "Love" is written. Love. She sends me the most important message: there is love in this world. It looks like the diary is all filled, it's the middle of the diary. And it's not like she's writing a new line right now. She's just looking at what's important to her. In front of her are two candies on the table. Apparently she loves them and she has them in abundance. She don't grab candies and she does not eat candies. Apparently, she used to eat candy and knows that when she will want to eat candies then new candies will be. Next is a vase with flowers. Flowers all different, and big, and small. Beautiful bouquet. Flowers behind her, too. We could think that this is wallpaper on the wall, but it seems that there is no wall. It's just a world of flowers. Nearby stands a wooden cupboard. And on cupboard there is also a large bouquet. She is all in flowers. This is a miracle! On one shelf, on top, is a cake in a box. On the shelf below are muffins in paper baskets. Lots of muffins. She's got a whole cupboard full of sweets. And next to the cake is a box. This is either a box of chocolates or a big chic chocolate. That's why she doesn't throw herself to candies. She has a cupboard full of sweets. And they are on hand always. On the table is a notepad, it stands like a wigwam. Notepad seems to be standing between the candies and cupboard with sweets. And notepad seems to be telling to candies, «Not for you! You're wasting your time here». This shows that many men are waiting for me, but I love those two my candies that lie in front of me on my table. And I don't want to be distracted by the candy cupboard. I tell them, «Here are my two candies that I love. You, of course, are the delightful treat, and patiently waiting for me to look at you, but no, I love my two candies and I will be with them, and you'll get nothing».

I had seen a lot of meanings in this picture. I had seen that, it turns out, there are some men, very good, who are waiting for me and each of them can become my husband, if I turn around and look at one of them. But I don't turn around. I'm sitting with my back to them. I look at this heart with the word «love» and at my diary, and there are two candies in front of me that I love, which I have in abundance, and I do not jump at them and do not eat greedily, because I know that they are always with me.

I thought these two sweets are my two husbands, whom I happen to love. And this is Shri Ram, who is my eternal husband, to whom I have come now, and this is Nrisimhadev, because I once in distant lives became the wife of the deity of Nrisimhadeva when I danced the dances of devotion to the Deities on the higher heavenly planets. These are my two husbands, my two favorite candies. And the sweets in the cupboard are the men who want to be my husband. They're all good, they're all delicious, and I also love all these sweets, and they're waiting for me, but I don't turn to them, I sit with my back to them. And I through this notebook in the form of a wigwam as if I say to these men: «Not for you! You will not wait, I love my two candies». In Russian, the word «вигвам» («wigwam») is very similar to the expression «фиг вам» («Not for you!»). When you say these words, there is almost no difference, with the exception of one sound, so in Russian «вигвам» («wigwam») can be considered joking way of the expression of phrase «фиг вам» («Not for you!»). And when deciphering the meaning of this metaphorical associative card a notepad in the form of a wigwam means «Not for you!». That's nothing more than wordplay. And it turns out that this notepad in the form of a wigwam as if passes my message to these sweets in the closet, that is, to men who want to become my husband: «I am not for you! I have two of my husband. This is Nrisimhadev and my Shri Ram. I love them».

When I realized that I was waiting for a lot of good wonderful men and each of them is ready to become my husband, but I just do not turn around to them and do not even look at them, I cheered up. And in my mind I said to Shri Ram, «Look, there are many men who want to be with me. You risk a lot because of you don't come to me. You're a fool, Shri Ram. Look, even though I love you, but I'm a woman, I want to well live here. I'm good, awesome, pretty and smart woman. All women say, „Every woman is born to be happy, and I am Worth It“. It's every woman's mantra. Sorry, but I'm a woman too. And I'm a truly real woman. I was a woman in the spiritual world, and here, in the material world, I can be born only a woman. Because those souls who are women in the spiritual world, being in the material world, can be born only women. And since I am a woman, and for a woman the pursuit of happiness is her natural nature, then I also want happiness. Why are you still not with me? Look, I will turn to this closet and get one of goodies, and you're gonna be left with nothing. You are fool. You mishandled me. You even put me up for sale. You treated me as if I'm some kind of slut. You're wrong! Look over there; they are men who are much prettier than you, better than you. You're not the only one who lives by credos „we remember only the best“. Look, if I start to live by your principle „we remember only the best“, I'll go to the best. There are many sweets waiting for me who are much prettier than you. These are expensive gourmet chocolate, a nice big box of delicious chocolate truffles, wonderful sweet homemade pretty cupcakes, fresh and flavorful magical sweetest muffins, and even delicate gourmet beautiful cakes. You're just some little candy, but there's the best delicious wedding cake waiting for me. And there are a lot of goodies».

And just when I told Shri Ram that there were a lot of sweets waiting for me and I could go there, and he would be left with nothing, I was translating from Russian to English a piece from the conversation of husband Daruka with his wife from the TV series «Mahakali», on the basis of which I described the attitude of Splinter, mentor, Sensei of asuras, to his wife. I was throwing already translated places from one online translator to another, choosing synonyms and more or less suitable options of meanings. And when I was doing this with the words of the husband Daruka to his wife, when translating from English into Russian, an online translator suddenly issued this: «Look, I will divorce you, and your teeth will be knocked out». Originally there were not these words and this meaning, but as a result of throwing this piece of text back and forth in online translators and selecting different meanings, this meaning has turned out.

I looked at these words and thought that I was saying this to Shri Ram. I kind of told him through the words of this translation, «Look, they're waiting for me there. The amazing, gorgeous men. Very nice, pretty men, much better than you. You're just candy, but these men are gorgeous exquisite sweets, and they're all waiting for me. Look, I'll divorce you and your teeth will be knocked out. If I leave you, then your own asuras will destroy you, because I have destroyed many asuras because of you, and they are very angry with you and dream of revenge. They will rip you to shreds, nothing will remain of you. You'll get all your teeth knocked out».

And then I translated the following words of husband Daruka to his wife, and there was such a translation: «You are pure while I am with you». I had looked at these words and thought, «This is Shri Ram saying to me, „You are pure while I am with you“«. I had saw that as if he were telling me that even if I go to those good men who are as those sweets in cupboard, and it will be all right, I still will not be pure. I knew that the asuras could penetrate into marital relations, into marital sex, but this time I had really acknowledged this.

I thought: even if I am faithful to the husband with whom I will be, and we will have a legal marriage and faithfulness to each other, still asuras will be able to penetrate into our marital sex and I will not be pure? I knew that asuras are able to penetrate into marital sex and they do it, but this time I saw it very clearly when I saw these words of Shri Ram «you are pure, while I'm with you» which he said me in response to my words «look, I will divorce you, and your teeth will be knocked out».

That is, he told me, «If you be with some man and get married him, you will definitely have sex sometime, and we, asuras, will certainly invade insensibly into your marital relations, in your marital sex, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. You won't even know about it, and your husband too will know nothing, but you will not pure, you will be defiled, because it is not real purity, because someone of the asuras will be present in your marital sex, at the energy plane of existence. You think if you become the wife of someone there and you have faithfulness to each other, you'll be pure? Absolutely not. You'll be pure, only if I will be with you. I am an asur, I am able to see the energy plane of existence and I am able to protect from penetration of someone. Only in this case you will be pure».

I looked at this and I thought we needed each other. He needs me so that his teeth are not knocked out by his fellow-asuras, and I need him, so that I am pure, so that no one else invades marital sex, if it does. Yes, we need each other.

205. Prabhupada answered simply, «Yes, ISKCON is so big, but I am so small».

When I looked at these delicious sweets in the closet behind the girl in the white beret, I said to Shri Ram, «Shri Ram, there are a lot of very good men. Look, you can miss your chance. Although I am your eternal wife, but I want happiness, like all ordinary women. Do you think that I'm an inspector of the Universe Patrol and because of that women's desires are foreign to me? No, I, like all women, says, „Every woman is born to be happy, and I am Worth It“. Look, you can miss your chance, because there are many wonderful men for me. There are many men, far better than you! Look over there. I have a whole cupboard with sweets. These sweets are the delicious, wonderful men who are much better than you. And they want to be with me. And they want to become my husband. They want to marry me, they want to always care about me, cherish me. Each of these wonderful men wants to love me unconditionally, to honor and respect me. Each of these wonderful men wants to bestow upon me his deepest devotion and be together with me at all times». I said him through the story about Daruka, «Look, I will divorce you, and your teeth will be knocked out». And he said, «You're pure while I'm with you».

I looked at it and I thought, Yes, we need each other. He needs me so that his own comrades-asuras would not knock out his teeth, because I destroyed many of them in my Mahabharata as an inspector of the Universe Patrol and sent them to serve Krishna in their future lives. And I need him so that I can be pure. I thought: but how can I believe him, if he has already done so many bad things to me and even put me for sale to his asuras, so that they fuck me and take out of me my pious merits, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence? How can I believe him, and how can he say to me, «You are pure while I am with you»?

But then I thought about the words of Dhirashanta Prabhu in his mailing: «Look at all conflicts as to a result of your own shortcomings. Please understand that those people who are now around you may turn out to be the people with whom you will live your whole life, and perhaps they will also be near you at the time of your death». I was told that Shri Ram might very well be the man with whom I would live my whole life, and perhaps he would be with me at the time of my death. The words of this mailing calmed me. I thought, but what if he will be with me? What if it's all true? What if it's not a composed novel? But what if I really tell what really happens? I allowed this possibility in my mind and thought that if this happens, I should somehow forgive him, somehow reconcile with him, especially since Krishna himself in one screenshot from «Mahabharata» vouched for him and said, «Shri Ram is good. You have to be with him».

I thought: if he really comes to me, how do I know it's him, how can I believe him? He's lied to me so many times. Then I remembered Sita's words in the new TV series «Sita and Rama» in the 203rd series, where Sita said, «Look at the serenity of the flower. It bloomed so openly, with no fear at all, that someone could rip it off at any moment. All we can do is fulfill our duties by following the path of righteousness. We cannot control the actions of others. Also actions and intentions of Ravana are beyond our control. I can't stop him from committing sin, and I can't make him realize he's wrong. Therefore, it is necessary to allow him to do what he wants. I'll just do my best».

Then I remembered Srila Prabhupada's words: «If I put my head in your lap and you cut my throat, it is the greatest sin. The greatest sin is if someone trusts you and takes shelter of you, but you betray him. This applies to any situation in which someone sincerely trusts you, depends on you, and you betray him». I thought that I should entrust the situation to this Shri Ram. Whatever he will do after that that will all on his conscience. Krishna is the cause of all causes. We have to believe not only in the fact that Krishna is God and He exists. We must trust Krishna. So I decided to surrender to Krishna and not think about it anymore.

But the words «You're pure while I'm with you» really puzzled me. I kept thinking about these words. I thought Srila Prabhupada is completely right. Because I have in my closet a lot of beautiful delicious cakes, pastries, muffins. These are men who are very good, who are much better than this Shri Ram. And if I look at one of them, that man can come to me in real life, and we'll be together. And someday there might be marital sex, but Shri Ram said I am pure as long as he was with me.

That is, in this way he told me that even if everything is pure, if there is love and fidelity in a couple and even if we do not think about someone else, then I will still not be pure, because the asuras are able to invade even into the sex of married couples. Somehow they are able to plug into people through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And Shri Ram said to me in this way, «You want to be pure. To be pure, you have to be with me, because I am an asur, I am able to protect you from others». That is, if I will be with someone, the asuras somehow imperceptibly will invade our sex.

Srila Prabhupada is completely right. The fourth regulative principle that sex is only in marriage and only for the conception of children is the right decision. No illicit sex. Cleanliness is destroyed by illicit sex. This is sex outside of marriage or any sex for any purpose other than procreation. Sex for pleasure compels one to identify with the body and prevents one from understanding Krishna consciousness. The scriptures teach that sex is the most powerful force binding us to the material world. Anyone serious about advancing in Krishna consciousness should therefore abstain from or regulate sexual activity according to the scriptures. In the Bhagavad Gita, Krishna says that sexual union for conceiving a child to be raised in God consciousness is an act of devotion to Him. And if you want to conceive children, you have to chant many circles of the mantra Hare Krishna before that, so that no asur can invade there, so that there is such a powerful armor formed, so that no one can get there, so that Krishna himself protects. And if you somehow are breaking of this principle or total disregard for it, then you are constantly in an open vulnerable space. You're easy prey. Any asur will plug into such person and fuck wife through the body of her husband. And she can not pure; she is defiled, although they hold true to each other.

I thought that Srila Prabhupada was absolutely right and that the asuras might be very dissatisfied with his activities. If people do not observe the principles of purity, the asuras have every right to invade personal space of these people, plug into them during their sex, and even to invade the marital sex of married couples. But if someone starts to observe the four regulative principles, asuras are not allowed to connect to them, and because of that the asuras lose much of their food feeders. Asuras have the opportunity to live luxuriously at the expense of the pious merits that they pump out of women during a female orgasm. And of course, they can simply be present in the couple's sex invisibly and imperceptibly, and this in itself is a desecration and violation of the integrity of the couple.

And it turns out that Srila Prabhupada very much annoyed the asuras, who live here as ordinary people. And Srila Prabhupada knew about it. He spoke about this, in particular in the commentary to the Srimad-Bhagavatam (10.4.41): «When Krishna comes to establish real perfection in the social order, He personally gives protection to the cows and the brahmanas (go-brāhmaṇa-hitāya ca). This is His first interest because without protection of the brahmanas and the cows, there can be no human civilization and no question of happy, peaceful life. Asuras, therefore, are always interested in killing the brahmanas and cows. Especially in this age, Kali-yuga, cows are being killed all over the world, and as soon as there is a movement to establish brahminical civilization, people in general rebel. Thus they regard the Krishna consciousness movement as a form of «brainwashing». How can such envious persons be happy in their godless civilization? The Supreme Personality of Godhead punishes them by keeping them in darkness, birth after birth, and pushing them lower and lower into wretched conditions of hellish life. The Krishna consciousness movement has started a brahminical civilization, but especially when it is introduced in the Western countries, the asuras try to impede it in many ways. Nonetheless, we must push forward this movement tolerantly for the benefit of human society».

I thought it was true. No one sees this, because the asuras, although they live among us as ordinary-looking people, are implementing their plans doing all at the energy plane of existence. And they could influence Srila Prabhupada and his disciples, through distance, at the energy plane of existence, in order to discredit them. Asuras could do everything so that people turn away from Krishna consciousness, stop chant the Hare Krishna mantra and stop to observe the four regulative principles: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling. Asuras could do everything so that their food feeder, the source for getting the pious merits, would not disappear and would not decline. Asuras could do something to the detriment of Srila Prabhupada and his followers, disciples.

I had read on the Internet different theories that Srila Prabhupada could have been poisoned. I had read all sorts of theories, speculations that someone might have poisoned Srila Prabhupada. Srila Prabhupada was saying that someone gave him poison, and that it is intentional, and that it is being administered by someone. There are many links on the Internet about the case of Srila Prabhupada's poisoning, that Srila Prabhupada and his caretakers were speaking about homicidal poisoning with rakshasas, murder, poisoned food, poisoning cases. There are some conversations and opinions online that Srila Prabhupada was poisoned with lethal amounts of cadmium. I am not a supporter of these theories, because in these stories we see only the external side of the matter, and not the essence. We place more emphasis on spectacle than on substance. But we have to adequately reflect these issues. Because the asuras are able to influence the minds of people. Asuras are working by foreign hands. That's what asuras does — gets people to do their dirt. Asuras are accustomed to have others pull the chestnuts. If asuras do, asuras have someone else do it for asuras. Because asuras do not have to do anything themselves. Asuras do not have to be personally present and even to be in the circle of trust or in the circle of presence. They know how to carry out their influence at a distance, at a great distance. At a very long distance. After all, at the mental, at the energy plane of existence, these distances in meters and kilometers do not play any role, do not matter. I do not take seriously the disseminate information about the case of Srila Prabhupada's poisoning because in these theories about Srila Prabhupada's poisoning, the information is be presented in a way that the asuras were expecting. The asuras found a scapegoat, a victim whom they pressed and bended, through distance, at the energy plane of existence. He has fallen under their influence. This scapegoat could not withstand the pressure exerted on him by the asuras, invisibly, and he surrendered. Everything was done by this scapegoat. He did all the dirty work. And everyone began to blame the scapegoat, he taken the hit, although he is a victim. Everyone sees only the outside of the matter. Everyone blames the scapegoat, the victim. But no one sees the one who invisibly forced this victim to do dirty work, who did everything with the hands of this victim. No one even realizes such that trajectory of this case. No one hadn't thought of it that way. A strange new twist in the case of Srila Prabhupada's poisoning, isn't it? Everyone blames the victim, and no one knows about the existence of asuras and their ability to influence people at a distance, forcing them to do what the asuras want. Therefore, I do not take seriously the disseminate information about the case of Srila Prabhupada's poisoning, since they all misses the point. They don't get the big picture. They see only what is beneficial for the asuras.

Asuras are able to manipulate consciousness, somehow influence our complexes, desires, and somehow energetically they can very strongly influence consciousness of other people. They have some ability to do that. And different asuras have different abilities and mystical powers. Asuras could even put at stake Srila Prabhupada and some of his disciples, of his entourage on their asuric totalizator. Some of the asuras could put devotees of Krishna as his lot at their asuric totalizator. In order to achieve the result they needed, the asuras could make a bet, put money on devotees of Krishna on their asuric totalizator and see who would pressed and bend the devotees of Krishna in what way. Many people want to earn more money on bets and win the pools. The asuras had their asuric totalizator, at which asuras were putting as bets on defiant people who did not succumb to the influence of the asuras. Those people who were placed at stake on an asuric totalizator had practically no chance to hold on, since the asuras placed great bets and the most powerful asuras with special mystical abilities and powers were thrown on the victim. The victim had no chance of resisting such an onslaught. The asuras could have placed at stake the devotees of Krishna at their asuric totalizator in order to precisely suppress them and achieve their goals, having earned a lot of money on this.

The asuras could also affect any of Srila Prabhupada's disciples. Asuras could assault him en masse. Srila Prabhupada was an elderly person. He had almost done all his work, and he could leave at any moment. His death was just a matter of time. He could expose himself to the asuras. Srila Prabhupada could to implicate himself to implicate asuras. Srila Prabhupada could frame himself. Why could he do this? He could go through with it for it in order to later due to this an protection system against asuras could be created for his mission, for his brainchild, ISKCON, for all the followers of Srila Prabhupada for all the subsequent times, as long as this window to return into the spiritual world on the planet Earth in this Kali Yuga is open. This opportunity to return into the spiritual world must be protected, as long as the devotees of Krishna are on this planet and before this Kali Yuga enters the phase of its complete domination. And at this time we need a protection system against asuras, a system of protection of ISKCON and the followers of Srila Prabhupada against the infringement of the asuras.

To achieve this, Srila Prabhupada could put himself at risk and take the hit himself. Well, elementary, actually. The situation could provoke the asuras to take active actions to suppress Krishna consciousness. And the asuras could influence the disciples of Srila Prabhupada or someone who could carry out the will of the asuras. For the sake of creating a global protection system for Srila Prabhupada's mission, could be sacrificed by anyone. In order to make a good protection system out of these asuras, one could take any risk. So that later, in the future, no one could influence, it was possible to pay a heavy price. The end justifies the means.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And I thought that this is a good, great idea. I said to Krishna, «Yes, Krishna, I accept the idea. It's a great idea. It is necessary to destroy those asuras who tried to prevent Srila Prabhupada's activities». In any case, whether it was or was not, it's not known for sure, but I'm sure that the attempts to do it were. And since there were attempts to harm Srila Prabhupada, then all the asuras who took part in this must be used, and they will be the pumpkin that I was told about in the screenshot from the Mahabharata: «At the end of the battle, I will sacrifice the pumpkin».

I realized what kind of pumpkin they were talking about. About those asuras who somehow tried to influence Srila Prabhupada and his entourage, so that Srila Prabhupada would stop his activities, so that people would cease to observe these four regulative principles, so that the asuras would not lose their food feeders and their field of activity. I thought it was a good idea to make the asuras involved into aggression against Srila Prabhupada the protection system against asuras for Srila Prabhupada's mission. But I didn't know what to do to them. I understood who the next pumpkin would be, but I did not know what to do to this pumpkin.

And then I found an interview with Srila Prabhupada in the book «Prabhupada Nectar», stories about Srila Prabhupada told by disciples, Satsvarupa dasa Gosvami, in the history 1–35 «But I am so small». There it was said:

«35. In Bombay, devotees were able to freely see Srila Prabhupada and ask their questions. But Pancadravida Swami sensed that as the movement grew he might not be able to maintain such an intimate relationship with his spiritual master. One day he entered Srila Prabhupada's apartment and revealed his doubt.

— I don't understand, — Pancadravida said. — ISKCON is such a big society. How can I understand that I have a personal relationship with you? If I am somewhere halfway around the world and I am, for instance, sweeping or washing a floor in a temple, how can I know that I am serving you personally?

— Yes, ISKCON is so big, — Prabhupada answered simply, — but I am so small.

Pancadravida immediately felt satisfied, but Srila Prabhupada explained it further.

— You speak of serving in the temple somewhere, — said Prabhupada, — but actually you don't have to do anything. I am responsible directly. I have to maintain all the temples, see that the floors are swept, the pots washed, and that everything is clean in all the ISKCON temples all over the world. But I cannot do it all by myself. It is like an arati ceremony. I may be offering the arati, but I ask you, „Please hand me the fan“. In this same way, I am asking you to help me in the temple by preaching, or sweeping the floor. Do you understand?» I read this and I thought, I don't have to think. This is Srila Prabhupada's job. He took all the risk. Srila Prabhupada risked his life for us. Srila Prabhupada sacrificed his life for creating the protection system against asuras to protect his brainchild and his gift to us. He stuck his neck out and took the blow of asuras. Whether it was or not is unknown, but it could well have been that some asuras could carry out some of their evil actions and try to influence Srila Prabhupada and his entourage, in order to prevent the spread of the four regulative principles: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling. Hare Krishna mantra also protects very much from the influence of the asuras. Asuras could be highly unsatisfied and were really angry with this. Srila Prabhupada could somehow succumb to some of their influence, maybe not personally, but through some of the disciples or someone else. Srila Prabhupada could somehow create a situation for this influence of asuras, in order to many years later Svetlana Vinodavani, an envoy of the Universe Patrol, fulfilled the desire of Srila Prabhupada and created an protection system against asuras for Srila Prabhupada's mission.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought it is Srila Prabhupada's job, he created this protection system against asuras, and my job is just to help him. I thought, well, if Srila Prabhupada does it all by himself, I will certainly help him. Let him do it. I'll accept anything that comes to me. I made peace with that and said to myself, «You don't have to think about it. Srila Prabhupada thought this through of this a long time ago, many years ago, and I just have to do whatever comes». I felt better.

206. Shri Ram's idea of a protection system against asuras to protect Srila Prabhupada's brainchild and his gift to us

That evening I translated the text of my novel for a long time, and at the end of the evening I felt intense sex drive aroused in me. I on my inner screen was seeing my Shri Ram, and I desired him. I really wanted to have sex with him. I was getting hornier and hornier. I couldn't stand it anymore, although I have long been practicing abstinence. I have not had sex in a long time. But now I felt an irresistible need to feel him inside of me. The feral urge to feel his cock inside me appeared in me. I was about to start masturbating in order to feel him in myself through a dildo. Inside me, I felt my willingness to just surrender. But I somehow still restrained. And then came the screenshot with the words «I didn't expect this from you».

I looked at this screenshot and thought: this sexually desire did arise from me not by itself. It was Shri Ram who influenced me. He wanted to have sex with me, so he pressed some buttons in women's centers of my subtle energy body to make this sexually desire appear in me. He thought he was gonna have sex with me right away. And really, I already was looking at him at my inner screen with aroused lust and saying «Shri Ram, I am going to have sex with you right now... Let's get intimacy right now». But I was holding out as long as I could. He was winking at me, and I kept saying to him, «We will having sex right away», and then I said, «No, fuck you, Shri Ram. You won't get having a sex».

And when I looked at those words, «I didn't expect this from you», I realized that Shri Ram aroused this sexually desire in me. And then came the screenshot, where my Gurudev as if telling him: «What're you up to, Shri Ram? You think we can't see what you're doing there? We all see! If Svetlana Vinodavani is sitting here alone and you are acting on women's centers of her subtle energy body somehow, thinking that no one sees anything, that Krishna is not present, that Paramatma is not present, then know that Paramatma is residing in everyone's heart, Paramatma sees everything that you do and everything that you want. Paramatma is beyond knowledge and ignorance. Paramatma is Krishna residing in the hearts of all beings and in every atom of matter. He is the overseer and the permitter of their actions. Paramatma sees everything, so you were wrong».

The next day I was translating a story about how I was removing some thingy out of Shri Ram. This thingy was mounted to his energy subtle body when he was made an asur. I said about this in the pillow session in words «what is it?!». At that pillow session, I was discovered that many lives back between my lives some powerful personalities offered to break our eternal connection with Shri Ram and offered me another eternal couple. They showed me what my Ram became when he was made asur, and they showed me his subtle energy body. On this body was some terrible thingy, at the sight of which I in disgust exclaimed: «What is it?!»

The next morning, after an intense sex drive aroused in me by Shri Ram, I was translating a place in my novel about how already in this life, in this Mahabharata of mine, I was removing this thingy from him. And there were these words, «I can't be with him as long as he has this thingy». I looked at those words and thought, «Shri Ram has a thingy. He wanted to have sex last night, but I have resisted the temptation, and then he went to have sex with some other thingy, with some other woman».

I got very depressed and I said, «I don't want to be with someone who doesn't respect me, who runs to other women, who just wants sex, who is not understand the values of matrimonial fidelity and of chastity and abstinence». I said to Shri Ram, «I do not want to be with you». And I began mentally to move apart from him, to split up with him, to no contact with him. I thought that if he was having fun there with some other woman, then I was not going to contact with him, and all day I was moving apart from him. In the evening he began to convince me that he had no other women, that he needed only me and no one else.

He began to convince me of this, sending me a desire to listen to music. I suddenly wanted to listen to music in the evening, and there were only two songs. The first song was Nikolai Baskov's song «Next to you»:

I will always love you.
You are everything that I have in life.
I feel that I am warmed by your warmth.
You are the happy light of fate.
I dream of always being only with you.
I want to be together with you in good times and bad.
I am dreaming of you and calling you in my dreams.
I don't live without you.

The second song was Yuri Vizbor's song «You are my only woman»:

You are my only woman, like a moon in the night, like a pine in the steppe, like spring in the year.

There is no other such anywhere, not behind any river, not behind the fogs, nor beyond the far countries.

Through these songs he spoke me that he has no other women, but his words not acted on me, utterly. And then he gave to my mind the idea of what I should do to those who are appointed pumpkin at the end of the battle.

This maneuver with a burning lust filling me and with the craving for sexual gratification and also the fact that he had sex with someone somewhere, when I did not succumb to his influence, was done intentionally. He had an irresistible sex drive, and he began to influence my women's centers at the energy plane of existence, in order to this sex desire appeared in me, but I did not give in, and after that he had sex with someone somewhere, at the energical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. I found out about it and said, «Shri Ram, I said get off of me. I said back off!» He was persuading me that other women don't exist for him, that he can not live without me, that I am the only woman in the world for him, but I was saying, «No, I do not believe you». We just tricked him in order to he fell for our little ruse. He had been played like a pair of spoons. He broke down and told me what to do to those asuras who tried to somehow prevent Srila Prabhupada from spreading Krishna consciousness around the world.

He gave me great ideas. I have such ideas not was, but he, being an asur, knows all this. He helped me by opening my eyes to what to do to those who influenced Srila Prabhupada and his associates. Asuras were doing this to stop the development of Krishna consciousness. Asuras were doing this in order to people do not observe the four regulative principles and do not chant the mantra Hare Krishna. Asuras were doing this to have opportunities easily bend people, influence them, plug into them during their having sex or masturbation and pump out their energy and pious merits. This is kind of parasitism. People are used as a breeding ground; and nutrition is in the form of pious merits. Thanks to the pious merits drawn out of people, asuras can live a luxurious life and have a great influence on others.

Shri Ram said that it is necessary to make a protection system against asuras out of these asuras. These asuras will protect ISKCON from the likes of them. Since they were doing all this themselves, they know all this thoroughly, and now they will protect ISKCON and the followers of Srila Prabhupada from the likes of them. They will always have some kind of radar turned on, constantly tuned to such. If any of the asuras try to influence ISKCON or Srila Prabhupada's followers in the future, their radar will immediately pick up a signal, and they will destroy aggressors completely, on the spot.

When I realized this, immediately a screenshot came out with the words of BhismaDEV: «But all my blessings I give you». And then came the screenshot, where my Gurudev held both his hands up, as if blessing. I realized that Krishna supports this. I cheered up, thought that our attempt to provoke Shri Ram had indeed worked. He gave in to the provocation, well done; now I know that to do to those asuras. They will be the really cool guys!

And I said mentally to the asuras, «Now you will get an equivalent response to any your trick, your every action». If any of the asuras thinks in the direction of harming the mission of Srila Prabhupada, then he will be immediately destroyed. I will not have to think about it, because I will make a shield from the same asuras, and they will do all this themselves. This is called the delegation of authority. They will do what I do now. And now all their tricks will do us good. Because we'll take advantage of what they did. The asuras themselves have given us weapons that they will not be able to repel in the future. It will be an irresistible dart. It will be the most powerful and deadly weapon. It will be impossible to repel its blow or defend themselves against its destructive power. They will be the guardians and servants, the shield of ISKCON, impervious armor for the mission of Srila Prabhupada. I thought it was a great idea.

Just by that time I had finished translating the next part of my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife". By this time I found the site context.reverso.net, where I could use choices of interesting translations from movies, books, spoken word, and I wanted to see how it would be possible to translate the very end of my novel. There were words: «The ways of the Lord are inscrutable. Krishna, as You say, it will be». Before that, these words were translated by ordinary online translators, but at that time I looked at the options on this site, and I liked the option with this meaning: «The Lord's hand is in all things. Krishna, as You say, it will be». I had looked at these words and thought: Krishna said that Shri Ram did everything that depended on him, he did the best he could, and now everything will be as he wants.

207. Actions of the asuras to stop the activities of Srila Prabhupada

I realized that four regulative principles are very unprofitable to the asuras. Srila Prabhupada said that we must follow the four regulative principles. No illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling. Srila Prabhupada also said to chant the Hare Krishna mantra. The asuras were very angry at this. Because chanting the Hare Krishna mantra cleanses the space, and the more the space is cleared, the more people can come to the pure principles of life, and, accordingly, the asuras have a reduced area of their influence on people whom they consider as sort of power source. Due to chanting the Hare Krishna mantra and the following the four regulative principles, the existence of people is purified. Asuras do not have the right to conduct their actions in relation to people who lead a clean lifestyle, who follow the divine path. The more people lead a clean lifestyle, the fewer people from whom asuras have the right to pump out pious merits. And pious merits are very valuable. This is a Universal currency. Pious merits are a currency which is accepted around all worlds of the material world, in all Universes. By pious merits can be paid in any world of the material world. This currency is highly regarded everywhere and is accepted with great joy everywhere. This currency is universal, since it does not depend on the place, on the world where living being live in the material world. At the expense of pious merits one can have a luxurious life, be born beautiful, healthy, and be successful in everything, fortunate. Thanks to pious merits, living being can be born in the best worlds of the material world, where there is no suffering and there is no need to survive and fight for existence. Due to pious merits anywhere in the material world, living being can be settled in very well. We live in a world where so many of its citizens are troubled. But even if everyone around you are undernourished, impoverished and in distress, you will be protected from this and will be lucky and prosper if you have many pious merits. The asuras here, on Earth can live very luxuriously and happily thanks to the pious merits. Asuras are using us as piety's donors. It is very profitable for the asuras when they can use as many people as possible as donors of piety and good luck. But Srila Prabhupada through his activities began to protect people from the use them by asuras. Thanks to the principles of purity that Srila Prabhupada gave us, we cease to be donors of piety for asuras. And the asuras could be very angry with Srila Prabhupada for that.

Asuras are able somehow to plug into people, and when people have sex, asuras plug into them and are present there. This is very bad, because it is an infringement of faithfulness, integrity of the couple. And in addition, at that time asuras pumps out the pious merits of the woman, and without this seized piece of pious merits the situations in her life do develop not according to good scripts of the further vital way, but according to a worse life scripts.

The asuras thus weaken the people, and people become more unhappy, vulnerable, and the asuras at the same time gain more power, more influence, and more wealth. Four regulative principles were very unprofitable to the asuras. Srila Prabhupada said we should say no to illicit sex, to intoxication, to meat-eating and to gambling. The asuras could be angry at Srila Prabhupada and start to influence him and his environment. They could do easily it. Especially since they do not have to do all this by themselves, personally, with their personal presence. No.

It is enough to pounce on someone through whom you can act at the energy plane of existence. Manipulation of consciousness is what there famous for the asuras. They are able to influence our complexes, desires that we once had and that are in a sleeping, latent state. Asuras can pull out from your subconscious these desires and so to put pressure on these desires, that you will not be able to resist this influence. And then newspapers and the Internet are starting relentless in reporting the scandals: one person was so good devotee of Krishna, but did an abomination, other person was an exalted bhakta, but began to sin and break his vows. Yes, everyone loves scandals no matter how big or small.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

The asuras could also influence Srila Prabhupada to cease his activities. They could try to influence him in some way, but it was useless to influence him because he was a pure devotee of Krishna and Krishna personally led him. But Srila Prabhupada could put himself at risk, he could risk his life. He could provoke the asuras so that the asuras would definitely attack him.

I thought that Srila Prabhupada might have provoked the asuras into trying to stop the spread of Krishna consciousness. Asuras were not profitable the reducing of their feeders. When a person observes the four regulative principles: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling, and when a person ceases to engage in illegal sex, asuras cannot get close to him, they cannot take pious merits out of him. When there are many such people, the asuras's feeder becomes smaller. You realize, of course, that puts asuras at a great disadvantage. Indeed, thanks to pious merits, we get all the good things in life and can enjoy the benefits of a good life. Asuras could try to influence some of the disciples of Srila Prabhupada in order to that they try to poison him or do something bad to him. Asuras quite skilled, so it's not difficult for them.

And I thought Srila Prabhupada did it on purpose. Because the body will someday cease to exist, and it is necessary to protect Krishna consciousness, because people must be given the opportunity to return into the spiritual world. Srila Prabhupada was already many years old. He was elderly man. The hour of his demise was already waiting him. He did most of his work. He translated many books about Krishna consciousness. He laid the foundations. And was need to provide protection for Krishna consciousness. Srila Prabhupada understood that the death of the body would come in a number of years. And he could sacrifice these years of life of his body to protect his brainchild and our opportunity to return into the spiritual world. The benefits outweighed the cost. It was worth the risk. What is a few years of mortal body life compared to protecting the possibility for many people to return into the spiritual world? Obviously it was worth doing. Courage — it'll be worth it. And he did it. But how could he, an old man at death's door, protect Krishna consciousness? And a very good move is to protect the Krishna consciousness by the using these asuras, to provoke them into attacks, to aggression and then tell them, «And how dare you? Now we will turn you into the ISKCON protection system against asuras!» And a very good move is to make these asuras a protection system against asuras for the near future, as long as this window to the spiritual world is open and as long as the Krishna consciousness movement should be on planet Earth. The devotees of Krishna must be protected all the time.

Do you think Srila Prabhupada was such a fool and he didn't understand it? He could have deliberately caused this in order to the asuras to strike him. He could take the hit himself to keep Krishna consciousness safe. Srila Prabhupada could take the brunt. He could go through with it to create protection system against asuras for Krishna consciousness. I thought it was a good move to take and use all these asuras who attacked Srila Prabhupada, tried to influence him, his environment, so that he could not spread his movement, elevate the people and protect them from the influence of the asuras through the chanting the mantra and observing the four regulative principles: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling, especially through the fourth regulative principle: no illicit sex. I thought that Srila Prabhupada had put himself at such a risk and such great suffering in order to I could now create protection for Krishna consciousness, and I must do this. His sacrifice must not be in vain. I must fulfill his desire and his will. I want to serve a pure devotee of Krishna. Maybe I'm worth something. Maybe I would be useful. Maybe I might be able to help Srila Prabhupada.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Yes, it's a good idea to take such asuras and turn them into a protection system against asuras. These asuras simply succumbed to Srila Prabhupada's provocation. They thought they were the smartest. But Krishna is the greatest mystic and the greatest strategist. He created situations for the asuras to take the bait. I decided that I would sacrifice them as a pumpkin at the end of the battle. We had put the squeeze on Shri Ram; he succumbed to pressure and opened what exactly needs to do to these asuras. We need to do that they also began to defend the mission of Srila Prabhupada.

When I realized that, I thought it was a great idea, a precise hit. The enemy won't pass, won't fly, won't creep and won't leak. The asuras themselves will give us this weapon. This is a great move. The same asuras who were attacking Krishna consciousness will now protect Krishna consciousness from the same asuras what they were. They will be an irresistible darts. They will be sleepless guards. They will be such a weapon that will have the most powerful radars, always turned on and tuned to any encroachment, to any aggression against the devotees of Krishna. And if somewhere some asur or someone like them tries to influence some devotee of Krishna, the movement of Krishna consciousness and to do something bad, radars of these irresistible darts will immediately activate homing torpedoes and will instantly destroy, burn completely those who tried to do it. They will burn everyone who was involved in aggression, their entire chain.

And these sleepless guards, irresistible darts will work only for Krishna consciousness, for what will support Srila Prabhupada and his idea. Because it is necessary for people to return into the spiritual world. Kali Yuga thrives and the further, the more. Srila Prabhupada came and gave us the opportunity to return into the spiritual world, and these sleepless guards, irresistible darts will work only to protect Srila Prabhupada's brainchild and to protect the opportunity to return into the spiritual world. They will not shoot just like that. They will be narrowly focused specialists, only for this.

Krishna has shown through the words of Bhishmadev that this is the right decision, that He blesses this, «But all my blessings I give you». And my Gurudev in the screenshot also gave his approval. And when I told all this in the 245th series of my novel, Shiva several times showed that he gives his blessing. And right before the recording of this video, my Nataraj, Shiva, fell on Gopal by himself and touched His crown. And thus I realized that Shiva also blesses the creation of this protection system against asuras, these irresistible darts. And then during the recording of the video came out a screenshot in which my Gurudev was like an enraged Nrisimhadev, and due to I realized that Nrisimhadev support that decision and blesses the creation of this protection system against asuras.

208. The actions of the asuras to discredit the devotees of Krishna

When I got ideas about this pumpkin and what we will do to it, I just finished translating from Russian to English the next part of my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife" and went by bus to buy a charm for my silver charm bracelet for the occasion. When I was going by bus to the store, I thought it would be a good idea to make such a protection system against asuras for the Krishna consciousness movement, but it would be a very small system. I thought that, most likely, there were not so many asuras who made attempts to stop the activities of Srila Prabhupada and influenced him and his entourage. I thought that it is necessary create the reliable, powerful, stable, impenetrable shield and a sword that will penetrate any armor. I thought that I needed a lot of working functional rings in this chain mail, in this defense system. When hundreds of such rings are linked together, the armor that they constitute will be impenetrable. This protection system must always surround from all sides and completely protect the devotees of Krishna, the mission of Srila Prabhupada. It is necessary that some of these irresistible darts are always present on Earth, on high alert, for ensure that no gap occurs in the work of this protection system. It is necessary for smooth operation of this defense system. It is necessary to keep all systems on full alert. It is necessary that for any attempt by the asuras to influence the devotees of Krishna, they will receive a retaliatory strike and suffer irreparable damage due to their attempt. Typically, the armed forces of a country in response to an act of aggression against their country are mobilize, take combat positions and firing into the air over the enemy, forcing him to retreat. But in the case of asuras a serious reassessment of this negotiating tactics and old habits is needed. No warning shots. No parley with enemies. You do not take risks, you shoot to kill. Retaliatory measures must be harsh, aggravated and with particular cynicism. There's no deals, no middle ground, no mercy. You want to win, there's no room for mercy. Asuras must be afraid to even think badly on devotees of Krishna. Asuras must abandon the idea of doing something bad to Krishna devotees and Krishna consciousness.

I thought that there were other asuras who impacted Krishna devotees to discredit Krishna consciousness, to somehow compromise it. I thought that most likely there were many of these asuras, they tried to influence the complexes of devotees of Krishna, carried out lower-order manipulations of consciousness, pulled out of subconscious of these of devotees of Krishna the dirty, low-lying desires and influenced the bhaktas, so that they began to satisfy these desires, being already sufficiently advanced bhaktas, leaders, spiritual authorities, spiritual masters.

Because why should the asuras affect a cog, from whom there will be no resonance in society? If to influence, then on a major player, on a large fish that there was a big scandal and for a long time. It's logical. Professional anglers go after the big fish. It is better to throw into the water a larger stone so that there are the waves higher. I thought, I understand the truth. That's why I'm here — to shine your light on the ugly truths. Continuously these scandals arise; one leader had done something bad, the other slipped up, third sinned, and broke his vows. Not a pretty sight, is it? He was great leader, respected by all, recognized spiritual master, did a lot of good, and then suddenly was showed in a very bad light. The result was a particularly unappealing retreat. The pretty unpleasant-looking things were opened. This incident has caused shock and indignation in the international community. That, in turn, could have grave repercussions and ripple effects, threatening the interests of the whole society of Krishna consciousness, with unforeseeable results. Everyone blames this leader, a devotee of Krishna and with him the whole society of Krishna consciousness. I thought that the asuras could have a hand on this and, most likely, there were many asuras who were doing thus.

Asuras could put at stake bhaktas of Krishna on their asuric totalizer. Asuras could pounce on their victim all together and bend him. Because it is a pleasant diversion for asuras and good earnings. Asuras put at stake this scapegoat on their asuric totalizer on their mental chat, all of them pounced on their victim, invisibly, at the energy plane of existence, none of the people know about it. And then public disrepute, contempt, scandal and ridicule, which might tend to reflect unfavorably on whole society of devotees of Krishna are felling to this victim: «He was so good, but suddenly he suddenly became bad!» But no one sees the real culprit. No one sees the cause of such a shameful fall of a good devotee of Krishna. I thought that those who were doing all this should not go unpunished. And I decided that it is necessary into this protection system against asuras to include all who was doing something bad to devotees of Krishna and ISKCON. Then these sleepless, invulnerable, irresistible, homing, totally effective missiles of the protection system against asuras for ISKCON and the Krishna consciousness movement will be a lot of and this protection system against asuras will actually be effective.

I thought it was a good idea and I will definitely do it. I was thinking this when I was riding the bus to buy a charm for my silver charm bracelet. And just as I was driving and just thinking about it, I turned my head to the window of the bus and saw a big advertising in the store window with words, «Everything and at once». I thought it is the right thing to do. We need to take them all and make them at once, and then there will be a good, reliable, real protection system against asuras. We will take them all at once and turn them into a strong armor for ISKCON and Krishna's devotees.

I thought that the asuras are quite comfortable here. They act invisibly, but the results of their invisible influence are visible, and everybody thinks that all this is done by those on whom asuras invisibly affect. Everyone sees only the external, only the results of the invisible activities of the asuras. Everyone thinks that the one who did the bad is to blame, but no one sees why he did it. The scapegoat who was the victim of an invisible attack by the asuras became guilty in the public eye. The innocent is being presumed guilty. Everyone blames the scapegoat, not the asuras who initiated this, who in fact did it. Their victims who were good, but suddenly became bad are guilty. But in fact, the victim was attacked by the asuras at the energy plane of existence. Asuras began to press him, manipulate his consciousness.

But in fact, the victim was attacked by the asuras at the energy plane of existence. Asuras began to press him, manipulate his consciousness.

This is very similar to the actions on the Internet. Information at the worldwide network is anonymously, as well as the asuras. Nobody can see what asuras are doing. No one even knows they exist. Their influence on people no one sees. Everyone see only results. But the results manifest themselves on the victims, on whom asuras affect. And asuras do not act personally; they can be in a completely different part of the world. And we can't find out who's really behind all this. Some devotee of Krishna was a good person, set an example for everyone, was a good bhakta, but the asuras carried out a massive attack on him, and suddenly he began to behave in a shameful way. His bad behavior was being made public. And then began a lot of hoopla. This scandal has received wide coverage by the press. This appallingly big scandal touched whole Krishna consciousness society. This good devotee of Krishna, who suffered from the attack of the asuras, is getting a somewhat controversial reputation. And everyone began to stab him. You know, you're everybody's best friend as long as the cash is rolling in, but if somebody takes a loss, guess who everyone are pointing the finger at?

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Everyone is plucking at previously good bhakta, «He fell, he bad! Everyone in Krishna consciousness is like this...»

But the truth no one sees, and lies in conditions of anonymity becomes unpunished. The asuras put their issues on innocent; they are blaming who is innocent. But this is blaming shifting, nothing more. This is a crude attempt to confuse the innocent with the guilty and add insult to injury. The asuras had put pressure on the innocent, made him a scapegoat, made him act improperly, inappropriate, and thus they discredited the society of devotees of Krishna. And after that everyone's gossiping about who is innocent. Everyone is shouting at him, accusing it of all sins, and he thinks: «How did I come to this? Why I became bad?» Or he no longer thinks about it, because he was so thrown off to the lower levels of consciousness that he is no longer interested in thinking about it. I thought that we should make the asuras even afraid to think of doing something bad to the devotees of Krishna. I thought: what will I do? What will these asuras become?

209. Brahmastra to protect Srila Prabhupada's brainchild

I remembered about the brahmastra. In ancient Sanskrit writings, the brahmastra was supernatural weapons used in the great historical war of Mahabharata. The brahmastra never missed its mark and had to be used with very specific intent against an individual enemy or army to uphold the dharma, as the target would face complete annihilation. According to ancient Sanskrit writings, the brahmastra is invoked by a key phrase or invocation that is bestowed upon the user when given this weapon. Brahmastra is a fiery weapon that creates a fireball able to threaten the world with destruction. Brahmastra is a very powerful weapon that acts as a nuclear weapon, but which does not kill everything where the weapon falls, but a specific person and does not affect anyone else. And I decided that they will be shooters, irresistible darts, like brahmastra. It will be homing missiles-torpedoes with built-in radars-antennas, with accurately hitting the target.

They will have some kind of radars-antennas that will be constantly activated. If any of the asuras or anyone like them wants to do something bad to devotees of Krishna, wants to try to discredit Krishna consciousness, these antennas-radars will activate homing missiles-torpedoes which will be instantly triggered. And the aggressors will be destroyed by the fire that will come out of these shooters, at the energy plane of existence. These shooters, irresistible darts will be completely invulnerable and wholly outside anyone's control. They will be subordinate only to Krishna and their mission and will doing his job. No one will be able to influence them. They will always work for this protection system against asuras to protect Krishna consciousness.

They will be aware of their mission and will resolutely do their duty. To do this, they will all have very good living conditions, they will all be ordinary devotees of Krishna, kind, clever, humble and wonderful persons. They will not aspire to power. They will have no ambition to be any leader. They will always be regular, decent persons. They will not take much interest in politic, neither in politicking, nor gossip and rumors, in the society news, in discussing someone's shortcomings. They will not interested in sensationalism, gossip unsupported speculation, the skeletons in someone's armoire, the dirty little secrets. They will be law-abiding citizens and successful men of good reputation, high social acceptance and a high income. They will never have any trouble with the law. They will be quiet, smart, inconspicuous, reasonable persons, never drawing too much attention. They will be smart persons who don't have mental problems. They will have no arrests, no criminal records, and no psychiatric history. They will have good health and longevity. They will know their role and will work only for their mission. They will live to always be on full alert, always have the opportunity to fulfill their mission, always have the opportunity to be the most powerful and deadly weapon at the protection system against asuras to protect Srila Prabhupada's brainchild and his gift to us.

They will be good devotees of Krishna. They'll have good families if they want to. They will be a well-settled, and they will have very good relations with devotees of Krishna. They will respect the spiritual masters of ISKCON, and they will have much to thank Srila Prabhupada for. Because when their radar will spot someone, their sensors will detect someone's aggression, at the same moment, their homing torpedo will be activated, and they will clearly to understand: «Someone wants to harm the devotees of Krishna. I'll destroy these aggressors right now!» They will be aware of everything, but they won't tell anyone about it. Is it possible to tell someone about this? Even if they were to say something, no-one would believe them. I tell about this openly, but they will keep quiet about their mission and their real activities. Their life will be only a cover for their true activities.

They will understand that there's no need to say about this and to reveal this. They will simply realize that it is very important, and will simply do it. This shooter lives somewhere on planet Earth. Suddenly some asur or someone else wanted to influence at devotees of Krishna or someone to harm ISKCON, Srila Prabhupada's mission. This shooter's radars immediately spotted an object. His antenna immediately picks up the signal. This asur appears at mind's eye of this shooter, and this shooter understands: «The goal is visible. I get a target in my sight. I shoot to kill!» And this goal will be instantly burned, completely, irrevocably, without the possibility of ever continuing this, even in the next lives, in the next bodies.

I decided that it will be the most powerful and deadly weapon. It will be impossible to repel its blow or defend themselves against its destructive power. It will be a very accurate weapon, never passing by its target and completely and irrevocably destroying it. Those asuras and anyone like them who had tried to do something bad to devotees of Krishna will never be able to do it, even in future lives, because everything at them will be burned, completely. Black empty tunnel. A complete zero.

I decided that this weapon can be used for the purpose of destruction one unit of the enemy forces as well as all enemy army. All those who will participate in any attempt to harm at devotees of Krishna will be destroyed by this weapon. This weapon will destroy their entire chain, all who were involved in this attempt of aggression. This weapon will hit them all at once with a single stroke. «The object just came up on sensors. I've got object on radar. Target sighted. I hold the target on my scope. I got prepare to fire. I fire right now! Target eliminated. Scans confirm the target has been destroyed». If other asuras and anyone like them involved in the attempt of aggression carried out by this object are behind this goal, then they too will be destroyed, all at once.

This weapon completely burns its target with one powerful, targeted strike. No armor, no blessings, no shielding can protect against this weapon. It will be a super weapon! Because it was conceived by Krishna and Srila Prabhupada. Srila Prabhupada risked his life, just to set asuras up. And his disciples took the impact. Srila Prabhupada and his disciples took this risk in order to provoke asuras, in order to asuras have yielded to that provocation and become this weapon. This weapon is so powerful that it can neither be stopped nor neutralized. This weapon is self-activating, instantly reacting to attempt to influence.

Any impact on this weapon is breaking up, without causing any harm to this weapon, that making it practically indestructible and invulnerable. These will be the sleepless guards, who are always on duty, always on full alert, day and night, at any time. Even if they are sleeping, their radars will always work and will immediately be activated at any attempt to harm the devotees of Krishna. And these sleepless guards, irresistible darts will instantly destroy all aggressors forever. The instant reaction, the immediate, effective response, the ruthless, cold-blooded and irrevocable destruction of the enemy of any size and strength.

Because Srila Prabhupada went through all that in order to defense of his brainchild. Srila Prabhupada wanted to protect his brainchild and his gift to us. He saw an opportunity and went for this. Srila Prabhupada wanted to protect the window into the spiritual world that he opened for us. Krishna saw his desire. Krishna knew that after some time on Earth His powerful weapon against the asuras would be activated, that is me. And Krishna allowed the asuras to take their steps at eliminating Srila Prabhupada. Krishna knew that it would be open to me that the asuras attacked Srila Prabhupada. Krishna knew that I will definitely destroy these asuras. Krishna knew that I will definitely turn these asuras into a shield for the brainchild of Srila Prabhupada. And therefore, Krishna allowed that the asuras attempted to influence Srila Prabhupada and his entourage in order to kill Srila Prabhupada. I decided that Srila Prabhupada went through this, and now I have to take advantage of this. He took the hit then. His disciples took the brunt of it. And now they are accused, although they played the role of a scapegoat. The asuras had done everything by the hands of the disciples of Srila Prabhupada and his environment. Now, we can't leave it like this. He has suffered so badly at the hands of asuras. Srila Prabhupada set himself up specifically to protect his ISKCON, his mission of helping the souls, entangled the networks of Maya, for their return into the spiritual world. And those asuras who succumbed to the provocation of Srila Prabhupada, will turned into a powerful weapon, protection system against asuras. And all asuras and anyone like them will even be afraid to think of doing anything bad to devotees of Krishna. This will be because Srila Prabhupada wanted to. And I'm just helping him. Thus I thought, and waited a favorable time to accomplish this.

In the 245th series of my novel, I decided that I will create the protection system against asuras for Srila Prabhupada's mission using those asuras, who wanted to stop Srila Prabhupada's activities, discredit Krishna consciousness and who made attempts to do so, influencing him and his environment. I made the assumption that Srila Prabhupada stepped on one of their nerves, rubbed salt on their wound, enraged them down hard. Srila Prabhupada began to hobble asuras`s activities, reduce their sphere of influence. People began to observe the four regulative principles: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling. As a result of following the four regulative principles, there are fewer people from whom asuras can take pious merits, because people who observe these four regulative principles have become inaccessible to asuras. Asuras cannot pump pious merits out of people if people abide by these four regulative principles. We receive all the blessings of life at the expense of our pious merits. Good health, handsome looks, excellent education, the well-being, the high standard of living, a luxurious life, a very nice house, booming business, opportunities, better chances in life, luck, sincere and true friends, the happy matrimonial life, children who make us happy. All this we receive at the expense of our pious merits, at the expense of our stock of piety. Asuras can pump out pious merits from people. This gives them the opportunity to live a luxurious life, to be born beautiful, to be healthy, prosperous, to be happy with their life. But as a result of the activities of Srila Prabhupada, more and more people began to abide by the four regulative principles. Asuras could not pump out pious merits from these people. This greatly infuriated them, since their luxurious lifestyle depends on a constant influx of pious merits. They had wanted to shut Srila Prabhupada up, and they might try to influence him, his disciples, and some of his environment. I thought that most likely it was.

I had read all sorts of theories, speculations that someone might have poisoned Srila Prabhupada. Srila Prabhupada was saying that someone gave him poison, and that it is intentional, and that it is being administered by someone. There are many links on the Internet about the case of Srila Prabhupada's poisoning, that Srila Prabhupada and his caretakers were speaking about homicidal poisoning with rakshasas, murder, poisoned food, poisoning cases. There are some conversations and opinions online that Srila Prabhupada was poisoned with lethal amounts of cadmium. Maybe it could be true. Asuras could easily organize the poisoning of Srila Prabhupada and remove him, influencing his inner circle, actually turn his immediate environment into scapegoats. It is nonsense to blame those who have come under pressure from the asuras. It's stupid to blame those who became scapegoats. Those whom everyone thinks they poisoned Srila Prabhupada turned out to be victims, scapegoats. It's stupid to consider only an outward manifestation of this case. Who's behind this, that's the question, that's where need to look. And the asuras are behind Srila Prabhupada's poisoning. Asuras can influence people from a distance, as a result of which those people do what the asuras want, and no one sees the role of the asuras in this and no one even realizes their existence on our planet Earth. No one knows that among us live asuras from distant asuric worlds. And these asuras live among us as ordinary-looking people. But they have very great mystical abilities and are able to influence people at a distance, forcing them to do what they need. And in 245th series I said that I will create the protection system against asuras for ISKCON. I will turn into this protection system those asuras who tried to stop Srila Prabhupada. Those asuras wanted kill Srila Prabhupada and did everything for this. The asuras made a lot of efforts to discredit Krishna consciousness, influence some ISKCON leaders, some devotees of Krishna, in order to these devotees of Krishna succumbed to their desires, which they did not have or which they had in past lives.

But the asuras had dragged out these long-standing desires from subconscious and, by influencing these bhaktas, forced them indulge in the fulfillment of these desires, thus discrediting Krishna consciousness, ISKCON. Asuras need all this so that people turn away from Krishna consciousness and again indulged in their pleasures. Asuras need all this so that people again lived a life full of low-lying pleasures so that the asuras had a large field of activity and could pull out of these completely stupid people pious merits and at the expense of this live an easy and luxurious life.

In 245th series of my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife" I said I will turn such asuras into the protection system against asuras for ISKCON. They will tell everyone who will do as they were doing: «Where are you going? It is forbidden to go in there!» And they will be powerful weapons; they will be the sleepless guardians. These sleepless guards, irresistible darts will in future incarnate and live as ordinary people, ordinary bhaktas, devotees of Krishna. And these sleepless guards, irresistible darts will be aimed at the destruction someone of the asuras or of like them who will want to influence someone in order to harm ISKCON and devotees of Krishna. Asuras are able to influence invisibly, without entering into personal contact.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

No one sees an asur. He is geographically located very far away. Visible only result of his work. And the result of asur's work is manifested on the victim, whom he influenced. This victim becomes a scapegoat. And everybody blames a scapegoat, everybody shouting, «He was so good, but he became bad! That's shameful!» But the scapegoat is not to blame. He was framed. Asuras pressed at all the buttons in a subtle body of this scapegoat invisibly. Asuras impacted on all his complexes, on all his desires. Asuras could even put at stake this scapegoat on their asuric totalizer. And many asuras could book for a game of high-stakes on their asuric totalizer to get a lot of money for the lowering this scapegoat down. Asuras could cooperate with such teams of asuras who have extraordinary aptitudes and who think they have the right to break people. Asuras could so hard manipulated the consciousness of this victim, asuras could put too much pressure to all centers of an subtle body of this victim at the energy plane of existence that as a result of this the victim was forced to give in, because the pressure was incredibly strong. I decided that such asuras will become such sleepless guards, irresistible darts. These sleepless guards, irresistible darts will destroy such asuras as they themselves were. These sleepless guards, irresistible darts will destroy those asuras who will have the goal of discrediting Krishna consciousness, affecting to the devotees of Krishna and doing all kinds of bad deeds to harm Krishna consciousness.

Our sleepless guards, our irresistible darts will destroy them immediately, quite ruthlessly. They will have some sort of radar which will be always activated and tuned to this. And this radar will instantly react if someone of the asuras or of like them will try to hurt the devotees of Krishna and ISKCON, will try to influence them and by staying crystal-clear and unnoticed by anyone will try to put the blame on a scapegoat. And on any attempt at the action of such cunning asuras, our irresistible darts will immediately turn on weapons. It will be self-guided missiles, the homing beam of napalm ruthless burning everything from a distance, at the energy plane of existence, with accurately hitting the target.

Our sleepless guards, our irresistible darts will immediately destroy all those asuras who try to harm the devotees of Krishna and ISKCON. And they will at the same time destroy all those who tried to pitch this idea to asuras-aggressors, tipped them to this case or hired them. That is, they will destroy not only the performers, but also masterminds, instigators, those who had ordered those crimes and all involved in this. Our sleepless guards, our irresistible darts will immediately destroy all of them at once, their entire chain. At the inner, energy plane of existence a powerful fire will immediately come out of our sleepless guards, of our irresistible darts, energetically. No one is going to kill anyone with knives and guns, it will all happen on a subtle, energy plane of existence. From them will come out a raging fire, and aimed at those who need to be destroyed. Our sleepless guards, our irresistible darts will make a targeted strike. And those asuras who thought that they can do anything they wish and that they can get away with that will be destroyed. They will be completely defeated. They will be erased from the face of this earth and go to the next life, without the possibility of ever doing such.

210. Creating the protection system against asuras to protect Srila Prabhupada's brainchild

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I told about all this in the 245th series of my novel, which I recorded on January 29, 2019. In it, I said that at the nearest Ekadashi, at Shat-tila Ekadashi, January 31, 2019, I will create the protection system against asuras to protect the greatest creation of Srila Prabhupada, Srila Prabhupada's brainchild and his gift to us. After recording this 245th series, I sat all day meditating on this future protection system against asuras for ISKCON. I periodically looked at the images with the description of this protection system against asuras, which I made using screenshots of brahmastra from the TV series «Mahabharata». I many times read the description of this weapon and thought: it will be a coolest weapon... It will be the most powerful and deadly weapon. It will be impossible to repel its blow or defend themselves against its destructive power. It will be a very accurate weapon, never passing by its target and completely and irrevocably destroying it.

I thought: this weapon is like a brahmastra, supernatural weapons, Brahma weapons. The brahmastra was a weapon that could destroy the world. The Brahmastra never missed its mark and had to be used with very specific intent against an individual enemy or army to uphold the dharma, as the target would face complete annihilation. The Brahmastra, as described in the Mahabharata, is a weapon which is said to be a single projectile charged with all the power of the Universe. I thought: this weapon is like the brahmastra, which is accurately targeted. This weapon is precisely targeted at destruction of only those who wants to hurt to the devotees of Krishna and to ISKCON. I thought: what a coolest weapon!!! Weapons of mass destruction. Lethal weapon. Effective weapon against the impunity of asuras. Terrifying weapons capable of wreaking instant and devastating damage to asuras. It's the ultimate weapon. It will be the most powerful and deadly weapon. It will be impossible to repel its blow or defend themselves against its destructive power. It will be a very accurate weapon, never passing by its target and completely and irrevocably destroying it. This weapon can be used for the purpose of destruction one unit of the enemy forces as well as all enemy army. This weapon completely burns its target with one powerful, targeted strike. No armor, no blessings, no shielding can protect against this weapon. This weapon is so powerful that it can neither be stopped nor neutralized. This weapon is self-activating, instantly reacting to attempt to influence.

That's a good move, I thought. This is a great move, this is a super move, and this move was given to me by Shri Ram, my eternal husband, to whom is dedicated my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife". And this move was given to me by Shri Ram to whom I have come in this life to give him a chance. Because once, when we were together many lives ago and when we had divine nature, he was made an asur. And we couldn't to be reunited. I was forbidden to come nearer to him.

And then, in this life, I came to him to give him a chance to return with me into the spiritual world, because Srila Prabhupada gave all us this real opportunity and it must be seize. And this Shri Ram gave to me such move — to make from malevolent asuras such weapons, the defense system of ISKCON, of Krishna consciousness. I thought: what the effective powerful weapon it will be! Any impact on this weapon is breaking up, without causing any harm to this weapon, that making it practically indestructible and invulnerable. These will be the sleepless guards, who are always on duty, always on full alert. The instant reaction, the immediate, effective response, the ruthless, cold-blooded and irrevocable destruction of the enemy of any size and strength.

All day on January 29 I meditated on these images and the description of this weapon which they will become, and in the evening my dad called me on the telephone. He said that he had cell phone application of Sberbank, but it disappeared from the phone. And my dad asked me to install it. I told him that I do not use such cell phone application of Sberbank and do not know anything about it. In fact, I just did not want to bother with it. I told him go to Sberbank the next day in order to Sberbank staff would help him to install this application. But he did not let up and kept saying, «I want now!» I answered him, «But how can I do it now? I'm here, and you're there, how I can tell you how to install this application to phone?»

Of course, I could tell him all this, using Skype. I could explain him how to do it, but I did not want to bother with it, but he continued to insist, «I want now! I want right now!» I told him, «Please, wait until tomorrow», but he had not let up, «I want it right now!» My dad's finally got to me with this «I want it right now», and I even sang a song: «No, no, no, no, we want today. No, no, no, no, we want now». I talked to him, and then I realized that my dad called me and said he wanted me to do it now. Not tomorrow, not the day after tomorrow, not at Shat-tila Ekadashi, but right now. I had thought about my dad's words: «Your wish is my command». I immediately, «right now», began to make from these asuras a system of protection against asuras. And on the same day, that is the evening, January 29, 2019, I did this.

I immediately went to wash the dishes. I do not like to wash dishes, and this time a lot of dishes have accumulated. In addition, I bought potatoes; I wanted to cook hash browns. I decided that if my dad said that he wants now, then so be it, I will do it now. I began to wash the dishes and turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham».

I imagined at my internal screen all those asuras who had to be transformed and I started to fill them with this mantra. I stood high above all of them in space, I was very tall, and they were somewhere far below, like a little bunch. And I launched into this bunch the Narasimha Maha Mantra, which I listened to and sang. And there down, concentric circles from them began to spread. I was singing inside of them this mantra and was flying inside their pipes like a whirlwind, spiral up and down, cleaning everything from this pipe and expanding it.

There are such self-moving brushes for cleaning clogged pipes. This pipe cleaner is launched into the pipe. The brush began to spin and clean the pipe, moving further and further spirally through the pipe. I became such a self-moving brush and began to move inside pipe of these asuras, flying there in a spiral in all directions, cleaning and expanding pipe. And their pipe became wide with Golden walls. There was absolutely nothing inside. There was simply empty. And then I pressed my finger on the very bottom of them, put my hands there and began to push with all my strength to the bottom. I broken a hole there, and from there rushed a lot of something. A big stream was rushing up at breakneck speed from there, and everything had came out.

Then I remembered Bhakti Tirtha Swami. I made a lot of asuras the devotees of Krishna with his help. I remembered how I have done away with the so-called Bhishma, the patriarch, the elder of the asuras. When I was annihilating him, I had heard a voice, «Please, trust us». I thought: «Who do I need to trust?» And I then thought about Bhakti Tirtha Swami. I really had felt his presence, although I personally never knew him. But when I started annihilate Bhishma, I had felt the presence of Bhakti Tirtha Swami. I connected him with that Bhishma. Bhakti Tirtha Swami put his hands on top of the inner energy pipe of that Bhishma and began to fill the pipe of that Bhishma with mantra Hare Krishna and with spiritual energies. Since that time I destroyed many asuras with the help of Bhakti Tirtha Swami. And then I remembered him again. I thought that he has left his body and that he has a huge team working for a Krishna consciousness mission.

I have turned on the farewell kirtan performed by Bhakti Tirtha Swami «jai jai radha jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan dham» and made a connection between Bhakti Tirtha Swami and these asuras who carried out the manipulations of consciousness and was making bhaktas of Krishna the victims, exposing them to public ridicule and initiating the scandals against their name, without the masses understanding what's really going on. Everyone blamed the devotees of Krishna, although the true culprits could be halfway around the world. The asuras are the persons responsible for this, but due to the fact that the asuras act unnoticed by everyone, influencing other people and realizing their goals with the hands of other people, outwardly they had nothing to do with it. Moreover, no one knows about the existence of asuras and does not even guess about their presence on Earth, about their extraordinary powers, abilities and their activities. Therefore, the asuras seemed to have nothing to do with it. I saw that all the asuras I had transforming were standing at the bottom, and Bhakti Tirtha Swami and his team were filling them with this mantra «jai jai radha jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan dham», mantra was pouring into them in a big stream. I thought it wasn't me doing it; it was Srila Prabhupada doing it. Srila Prabhupada himself said, «This is my business, you can only help me».

I remembered the metaphorical associative card that came to me on the very same day, when I was rereading and rereading the description of this powerful weapon and was very puzzled and embarrassed, thinking how I would do it. I very much doubted my abilities and mentally asked how I, such the little human, unremarkable, almost no one, can create such a powerful weapon that all future times will protect the brainchild of Srila Prabhupada.

Then in the game with the Metaphorical associative cards was next stage. I thought how can I make this protection system against asuras, asked give me clues and called number of card at random. On that card was drawn a man with an axe in his hands who had chopped down a tree. A man stood next to a tree he had fallen, an axe in his hands, and just behind the tree stood a large team of people wearing celestial raiment. They were looking like the beautiful transparent angels sent from above.

Then I thought that my job is just to raise this axe and make my move in my field of activity, and everything will be done itself, because nearby stands a large team of my assistants, who are not present here in the physical bodies, but a lot of them, they are a big team, and in fact they do everything. And when I was transforming those asuras and remembered Bhakti Tirtha Swami and then Srila Prabhupada, I also remembered that metaphorical associative card. I thought: my business is simply «to raise an axe»; I am just a small performer on physical plane of existence. But actually it's all done by that big team. They will do it all. I just need to be a tool in their hands.

I thought it is a matter of Srila Prabhupada, he does everything. He stuck his neck out to asuras, framed himself in order to create protection for his matter, and he himself will do it now. I relaxed and simply made a connection between Bhakti Tirtha Swami and his team with these asuras, who will be this powerful weapon, this protection system of ISKCON and Krishna consciousness against asuras. For a long time I listened to this kirtan performed by Bhakti Tirtha Swami, and Bhakti Tirtha Swami was connected with them. What he was doing to them, I don't know, my job is just to help him.

211. Oath of allegiance to mission

After that, I turned on the kirtan performed by my Gurudev Indradyumna Swami and thought that it is necessary to reformat all their chakras. I thought that they were asuras, and although we burned everything in them and pulled all out of them, and even though I cleaned their entire inner energy pipe and even shone as a star inside them, they will be some kind of unusual weapon and it is necessary to reformat all of them chakras. And during the kirtan of my Gurudev I reformatted all their chakras.

By that time I had washed all the dishes and was peeling potatoes. And when I was peeling potatoes, I thought: what if this is real? I'm standing here, I'm nobody, but what if there really is something, but I'll think that this is my fantasies and therefore I won't do my job. I thought that, just in case, I need to do it, even if it's just my fantasies. But what if all this is true, if it really is? And I began to imagine that there really is some asuras, and during kirtan I let go of my hands in a free dance and using this spontaneous dance of hands reformatted all chakras of these asuras, thinking that they will be the most powerful weapon, they will be defense system of the mission of Krishna consciousness, they will be a shield for a matter of Srila Prabhupada.

They will stand guard and say, «Where are you going? It is forbidden to go in there!» If anyone intends to apply aggression, these guards will immediately shoot them, at the energy plane of existence. Any asur who dares to infringe upon the honor of Krishna consciousness will be shot on sight by these guards, by these irresistible darts, instantly, at the energy plane of existence. And I reformatted all their chakras. I thought: what if it's real? This is how you live, you think that you are nobody, but then it turns out that something depends on you, but you thought that you were nobody and that nothing depends on you, and therefore you did nothing. I thought: no, even if I'm nobody, but what if in fact something depends on me? What if something important depends on me, but I don't see and don't realize it? I'll do it just in case. I will do this in order to that I don't think that I didn't do important things, thinking that I am nobody and that nothing depends on my efforts. And I did this.

After that, I made them all sing Hare Krishna with me and with my Gurudev. I turned on a good, cheerful, dynamic kirtan, and we sang Hare Krishna very well together. I made them all sing. They all were one mass with top-opened mouths, and those mouths were chanting Hare Krishna. And then I look: they put their hands up and sing, looking up. I look at them and think: «Well done, good guys, you sing correctly, you go on the right course, comrades». I hugged them all, all at once at the same time, and was hugging them as my best friends. We were hugging well and singing Hare Krishna. I felt very good... And they felt very good. We had lovely, heartfelt, warm embrace. It was very peaceful.

After some time, I saw that they were begging to let them go away to their future lives to fulfill their mission. But I said, «Why so early? No, you'll more sing Hare Krishna. You need to develop strength and hardening. You need been tempered». I continued to listen to kirtan and very sincerely sang together with them, as with my best, close, dear friends. And then I got up over them, began to mentally emit some blinding light shine into them, and then asked all of them: «Do you agree to this mission? Are you ready to accept this mission? Do you understand importance of this mission? Do you agree to be such guardians of Krishna consciousness?»

Prior to this, I did not ask any of the asuras about anything, but this time I asked these asuras for their consent. I was surprised why it happened. But I had stood above them all, looked at them and saw them looking up, pulling their hands up and chanting

Hare Krishna. And I mentally asked them, «Are you sure you agree to accept this mission? Have you thought well? Do you accept this mission? Will you be the irresistible darts, the sleepless guards, the most powerful and deadly weapon for protect Krishna consciousness?» They all said in chorus, «Yes, Yes, we agree, we accept». I had thought I was just helping Srila Prabhupada.

I remembered the Metaphorical associative card that showed a man with an axe, the felled tree, and a team of assistants. I remembered the words of Srila Prabhupada that this was his business and that we are just helping him, and I imagined Srila Prabhupada, Bhakti Tirtha Swami and his entire team, many devotees of Krishna. And all those former asuras through me swore allegiance to them as warriors swore an oath to their commander. And they likewise swore an oath through me to the devotees of Krishna, to those who stood there upstairs. All those former asuras swore allegiance to Srila Prabhupada, to Bhakti Tirtha Swami and to all who were there. It was so amazing! When they gave their consent and swore allegiance to this mission, I mentally emitted a powerful pillar of fire into them and reformatted their chakras, and after that I somehow shot somewhere up into the distance with the arrow, moreover, all they were this arrow. As if all they are an arrow, and as if I shoot with this arrow somewhere to the target.

And then I turned on the mantra Narasimha Maha Mantra «Ugram viram mahavishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham», and I by this mantra, as by a scalpel, separated them from their bodies. They were such a homogeneous mass, and I cut them off like by a scalpel from the mass they were. They all rose above their bodily shells, and I went between their bodily shells and them. Below was this mass, and above were they, and I stood under them. I placed them mentally in my open palms and offered them to Srila Prabhupada and to Radha-Krishna Deities.

And then I turned on Narasimha Kavacham, in a dynamic style, in the performance of Bhakta Marga on guitar, I found it in «VKontakte». And when was the last verse of «iti shri-brahmanda-purane prahladoktam shri-narasimha-kavacam sampurnam», during «sampurnam sampurnam» I have sent them into the funnel-shaped vortex, which on top already expected them. Funnel-shaped vortex had connected with them, and they spiral upwards rushed. And when «sampurnam sampurnam» ended, they all flew away there. On the last chords of Narasimha Kavacham the funnel-shaped vortex closed, and I looked there for a long time, thinking: «Really everything turned out? So simple? Is that possible? How can I do that?» But the funnel was closed. And before that the funnel was open, I saw it. And since the funnel is closed, it means that it has nothing more to eat. That means the funnel took all who needed to be taken.

I didn't check to see what was left of them. Previous times I used to burn by napalm anything that might have been left of those who had gone into the funnel-shaped vortex, but this time I didn't do it. I immediately switched to other thing and took up completely different things, began to watch «Mahabharata». I didn't understand why I did it, and then I had an epiphany: I didn't want that Shri Ram there to show up. I didn't want to fell on his chest and to cry. I did not want him to hug me at that time. After I found out what he did to me, I did not want his hugs and his presence next to me. For this reason, I immediately went out of there. I'm really offended, although he is my eternal husband, and although in the past he always came and somehow calmed me. I didn't do it this time.

After that I walked over to my table where all of my deities are next to the laptop, and the crown fell from the deity to the table. I put a crown on a deity and thought, «What if all this is true? What if everything really happened? Is it possible for such a powerful weapon to be made in such a simple way? And could I really do it? But what if all this is true? I'm pretending to be someone else here, I'm pretending to be a foolish, I am turning it into a spectacle here, and what if all this is really true? What if this is possible?» I thought that if it were possible, then it wasn't me who did that. Bhakti Tirtha Swami has done this so many times, and I was just present there at that time, I was a transparent, connecting environment. But it wasn't me who did that.

I just initiated it and let it happen, that's all. My job was simply to describe in words the future of those former asuras. I said what irresistible darts they will become. I thought: probably this was enough, most likely, the job was done. Moreover, Krishna, my Gurudev, Shiva and Nrisimhadev gave their blessings to everything relating to this matter. I thought: when a blessing is given, this whole thing turns out by itself. And since they all had gave their blessings, then everything had to turn out well. That means it all worked out.

212. The protection system against asuras to protect married couples

When I sent this party of asuras to their future lives in order to they become a protection system against asuras for Krishna consciousness, I thought for a long time how it happened that I asked them if they agreed to accept this mission. I asked them if they were really accepting their mission and whether they were ready for it. They all replied emphatically to my question, «Yes, we really do agree on this mission! We accept this mission». And through me they swore an oath of allegiance to Srila Prabhupada, Bhakti Tirtha Swami, and all Krishna's devotees. When in the 246th series I was talking about this, I noticed that just during the description of this event there was a screenshot from «Mahabharata» on which it was written «Manipulation». I at once did not understand, but when I watched 246th series to the end, I realized this.

Some asuras tried to influence my consciousness, hoping that I would fail. Someone from the asuras had held manipulation of my consciousness, for this reason I asked them if they agree, if they are ready, if they accept their mission. It was definitely a manipulation of my consciousness. But we benefited from this manipulation of consciousness because they all agreed to their mission, and they even swore allegiance to this mission and to Krishna's devotees. And even though it was good for us, I was upset that someone was trying to influence me to force me to do what they wanted.

They thought that those asuras, of course, will refuse. But by this time they had experienced very pleasant sensations, which they had never experienced in their lives. We sang kirtan well with them. Bhakti Tirtha Swami sang well with them too. We were hugging well like with close friends. And they all said in one voice that they were ready to their mission and sworn an oath of loyalty to their mission, but the fact that some asuras tried to affect to me and that they've succeeded, very upset me. At first I thought: maybe Shri Ram did this trick to me? I was very resented him for it. I thought, maybe that's why I didn't burn by napalm what was left of them at the very end, because I knew that he had influenced me so much. I had big doubts about that.

I remembered as in the 7th series of my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife", which I recorded on May 23, 2017, I told him not to exceed his authority and not to ruin my mood. In that series I said him through screenshots from the 776th series of TV series «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» the following: «Thus, your abilities and your skills don't make a huge difference! I warn you! If you neglect your position or use your powers to your advantage, the consequences will be dire! If I want, I can kill you now! If you cross your borders even once, I will no longer warn!»

I told him then that I wouldn't warn him again. I thought he should remember my warning, but I still did not know who carried out this manipulation of my consciousness: Shri Ram or one of the asuras. I thought that Shri Ram knew about it, I had already warned him, I told him that the consequences would be disastrous, but at the same time he knows that I cannot destroy him. I have been told so many times that I have no right to destroy him. Of course, he knows about this and could take advantage of their immunity to conduct manipulation, profitable for asuras.

Then I had decided to find out the answer from metaphorical associative cards. I wished for one card to reveal the truth to me. There was a picture of a couple in a boat, floating on the river, and the words: «Turn on the light». I looked at this picture and I thought Shri Ram couldn't do that. Of course he could do it, he is asur, big asur, he is RA, he has great abilities, he is able to carry out the manipulation of consciousness, I have seen it many times and know, but from this picture I realized that unlikely that Shri Ram did it.

I thought that asuras would pay for such insolence. Those asuras who carried out this manipulation of my consciousness, will be included in the next action, which I have already outlined. And even if Shri Ram did it, I will still include them into this action. I thought that they'd be extremely lucky. If they carried out this manipulation and get into this action, they are just extremely lucky. Because if someone else does something like that, then they're very unlucky, this would be unfortunate for all of them, because further actions will be very sad. But this action is just a gift of fate for them, so they are well done, they are just in time.

I really determined the next operation to sending the asuras to their future lives. The idea of this action came to me after I described the Metaphorical associative card with a girl in a white beret, who flips through her diary. In front of her are two candies. Behind her is a cabinet full of sweets, and between candies and a cabinet with sweets is standing a notepad in the form of a wigwam. When I was decrypting this Metaphorical associative card, I determined that these two candies are my two husbands. My first husband is Shri Ram, my eternal husband, with whom we were together in the spiritual world and with whom we had many lives together here in the material world before he was made an asur. And my second husband is Lord Nrisimhadeva.

When Shri Ram was made an asur, I was shown between lives what he had become, and offered to break our connection with him. They offered me another eternal husband, but I refused this offer and went to dance the dances of devotion to the Deities on the higher heavenly planets. There I had fell in love with a Deity of Lord Nrisimhadeva and came to love Nrisimhadeva with all my heart. Many times I mentally was entering this Deity and dissolving in that Deity, and once I turned completely into the calling on to Nrisimhadev. I asked Nrisimhadev to be my husband. He took my calling on and became my husband, and since that time I have two husbands.

And when I described this metaphorical associative card, I also determined that the sweets in cupboard behind me are the men who want me to look at them and choose one of them. These sweets in cupboard behind me are the men ready to be my husband, my support, hope, and protection. But I refuse them because in the picture in front of me on the table is standing on a notepad in the form of a wigwam through which I as though say to them: «I not for you! You're wasting your time here because I have my two candies». In Russian, the word «ВИГВАМ» («wigwam») is very similar to the expression «фиг вам» («Not for you!»). When you say these words, there is almost no difference, with the exception of one sound, so in Russian «вигвам» («wigwam») can be considered joking way of the expression of phrase «фиг вам» («Not for you!»). And when deciphering the meaning of this metaphorical associative card a notepad in the form of a wigwam means «Not for you!». That's nothing more than wordplay. And it turns out that this notepad in the form of a wigwam as if passes my message to these sweets in the closet, that is, to men who want to become my husband: «I am not for you! I have two of my husband. This is Nrisimhadev and my Shri Ram. I love them».

And when I saw and described this picture, I said to Shri Ram, who is connected to me invisibly and who hears all my thoughts: «Shri Ram, you are taking a big risk. There's a lot of candy in the closet, see? And they all want me to be with them. I might turn my attention to them». Then I was translating the story about Splinter, mentor, Sensei of asuras, and there were the words of husband Daruka to his wife, which in the alternation of online translators appeared in this form: «If I leave you, your teeth will be knocked out». These are the words I if as have told Shri Ram, «I can leave you, and then your asuras will knock out your teeth because I destroyed many of them because of you».

And he immediately answered me, also by the words of translation, «You are pure while I am with you». I had looked at these words and had thought: if I'm be with one of them, of those sweets in the closet, and even if we are faithful to each other, I still will not be pure, chaste, because the asuras are able to plug into people through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and even invade marital sex. It turns out that in such a case there cannot be marital fidelity and chastity in a married couple, although the husband and wife in this married couple are faithful to each other and honours the purity and chastity of their marriage. What there can be faithfulness and chastity, if a woman is fucked by multiple men: her husband and through his body some asuras?

I thought, Oh, that's bad... that's unpleasant... Turns out, if I'm be with someone of these cakes, chocolates, muffins and everything will be fine there, then there's no guarantee the asuras won't get into our marital sex. I thought: if I with Shri Ram be together sometime in the future lives, and he will not be asur, and we will be a couple, then some asuras will be able to enter in our intimacy and to fuck me through body of Shri Ram, invisibly. We don't need such tricks, I said. But where is the guarantee that this cannot happen? There is no such guarantee. And then I decided to make such a guarantee.

Then the idea came to me that now I have to carry out the following action and include in it such asuras who like to invade someone else's marital sex and who through the body of the man, through his dick fuck his wife during their marital sex, invisibly, at the energical connectivity. I thought they'd go into their next lives, and I'd send them out there, and they'd be traps for asuras like them now, who like to invade other people's marital sex.

I decided that to this action will be included those asuras who manipulated my mind in order to I asked for consent when I was creating the protection system against asuras. They will all be in the role of attractive strawberries with cream, and they will attract asuras who like to taste someone else's strawberry with cream. When they go into their future lives, they will all be men, because they are men now, and they will be married every life, very happily married. So they're extremely lucky. Because each of them will be a happily married man, will have a very good, a very stable family and one wife for all his lives.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

They will always be a married couple and will love each other all their lives. Such a good family. How lucky they are! The wife will be a very good, very pious woman, will love her husband very much, take care of him and protect him, pray to the Lord for his protection. And all these asuras who will go on this action and will be husbands in such a wonderful families will be a powerful weapon. If someone from asuras will try to invade marital sex of this married couple, at the energy plane of existence, the husband will destroy all them. He will do it not with a knife, not with a gun. Everything will happen at the energy plane of existence, because the asuras connects to people imperceptibly, at a distance. How do you reach them if you don't even know who it is?

But these men will have this ability. He will see everything, all these subtle plans. Because in order to kill asuras, he needs to see these subtle plans of existence. He will see these subtle plans, and if someone tries to barge in marital sex of this married couple, husband will immediately activate this weapon and will somehow kill the asuras, irrevocably. Exact hit. A clean shot, a precise hit on the target. The enemy doesn't have a chance. It'll be like at poem:

We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard.
The enemy will not be able to approach to the border,
Because we'll crush him in a heartbeat.

213. We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard

They'll be like «We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard». They will sit on the border, and very often, regularly those asuras who love to feast on someone else's strawberries and invade someone else's sex will barge in marital sex of this married couple, invisibly, at the energy plane of existence. Those asuras who love to feast on someone else's strawberries and fuck someone else's wife through dick of husband will periodically get to them, because these married couples will be like a flame for moths, they will be traps, all part of our plan. Thanks to such serve at the Border Guard, they will deserve liberation from the material world and return into the spiritual world (this was shown in the 247th series at the screenshot with the palm with the unleashed ribbon on it, at 27:27).

In their married couple a weapon will be the husband. He will destroy such asuras who love to invade someone else's marital sex. In their married couple the wife will just be a wife, but she will look very handsome, she will be the perfect bait to attract asuras. She will attract all such asuras who love to look at other people's wives and think: «I'm going to have a little fun with her. I will plug into her fool hubby and fuck his wife through his body, through his dick. He will not even know about that, because this will be through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. They're just chronic dullard, as the rest of them». But this will be fatal error of asuras, because they will look like they don't know anything, but in fact they will be in the game. They will be the end of activities and of life of fans of invading someone else's sex.

They will act in the same way as irresistible darts of protection system against asuras. It will also be a powerful weapon that can be used for the purpose of destruction one unit of the enemy forces as well as all enemy army. That is, if someone from the asuras wants to infiltrate marital sex of this married couple and if this asur is connected with a chain of asuras willing to participate in such an illegal invasion, then this husband will destroy the entire chain of asuras at once.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

He will destroy that asur that will appear there. And if that asur is connected with other asuras and there will be a whole network of lovers of such fun, then he will simultaneously burn them all, so that they are not there at all. Because he will love his wife very much and the presence of foreign men in their marital sex will be unacceptable for him, even through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And to such encroachments was not, he will destroy them all at once, because usually asuras are all connected. An attempt to invade of even one of the asuras will entail complete destruction of entire chain of asuras.

They will be the most powerful and deadly weapon. This weapon completely burns its target with one powerful, targeted strike. No armor, no blessings, no shielding can protect against this weapon. Never. This weapon will always work, and always at full pelt. A clean shot, a precise hit on the target, complete reaching the target, utterly obliterating the target. This weapon is so powerful that it can neither be stopped nor neutralized. This weapon is self-activating, instantly reacting to attempt to influence. That is, this married couple will have sex, although they will be devotees of Krishna. But they will have sex, because it is necessary that asuras has opportunity to invade because this married couple will play the role of trap. They will be a good decoy. If they strictly observe abstinence, then no one will get to them. Abstinence is our keeper against action of asuras. True freedom from influence of asuras arises only due to observe of the four regulative principles: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling. Sex is an invitation for asuras to plug into you unnoticed and to be, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, in your sex with someone or in your masturbation. During this the asuras pumps your pious merits from you, which leads to your fall in general in life. Pious merits are that by which we get all the good things in life. If your pious merits are taken away from you, then you will not be able to receive the good that is rightfully yours, because the asuras, who have pumped your pious merits from you, will receive the good instead of you. But you yourself opened the way for asuras, indulging in unbridled pleasure, not understanding the laws of the Universe. The overriding factor for the asuras is to have sex. Therefore, the fourth regulative principle, no illicit sex, is our defense. But these married couples should be open and attractive to the asuras, and for this it is necessary that these married couples have sex.

Therefore, they are very lucky. They're gonna have such a great family. One wife for life, love for life, faithfulness. He will be faithful to her, and she will be faithful to him. And she will pray for him and help in everything. And they will have sex. They will have very happy marriage. But fairly often some asuras will try to invade marital sex of this married couple because this married couple will have such role, mission. And this married couple will always get there where it is necessary to destroy the next such asuras. For this purpose it is necessary that they have sex. For this reason this married couple will have a nice sex life. They're the lucky ones! They are most lucky from all asuras at my Mahabharata. Although Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, will be more fortunate, as he will have only one life in Vrindavan and immediately after this life the return into the spiritual world, but these crossed out comrades will enjoy the most.

They will be the most powerful and deadly weapon. Any impact on this weapon is breaking up, without causing any harm to this weapon, that making it practically indestructible and invulnerable. They will be the sleepless guards, who are always on duty, always on full alert. The instant reaction, the immediate, effective response, the ruthless, cold-blooded and irrevocable destruction of the enemy of any size and strength. I decided that they would attract the enemy of any strength, but the stronger the better. And as long as the Krishna consciousness movement is on the planet, they will be born, they will be a faithful loving married couple, and they will do their work of cleaning up the asuric community. They will have such a sweet, such a honey, such a happy mission.

However, occasionally all sorts of different asuras at the energy plane of existence will try to invade marital sex of this married couple, but husband will always stand on guard. He will know about it, because asuras will constantly try to invade their marital sex, and when asuras appear at the energy plane of existence and try to plug into them, he will activate his Napalm, he will emit the mightiest fire beam and burn them ruthlessly and irrevocably. He with his wife will be happy married couple. They will be a wonderful, friendly, stable and nurturing family. They will be people who indeed love one another. And he will love his wife, cherish her, and tell her, «You are the only woman in the world for me». It will be because that's best for the case. Their love and fidelity to each other are necessary in order to the husband became enraged, unleashed the full fury to asuras and smithereens them when they will try to fuck his wife through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, using his body. Their love and devotion to each other are necessary in order to his rage would immediately flare up, righteous anger would ignite as soon as he saw someone approaching his wife on a subtle plane of existence, «Oh, you, a lover of joyful sensations? You have reached your end! I will put an end to you!»

This will be infinite love... This will be a love they never had, and now they will have this infinite love many lives. They're the lucky ones! They were so lucky. Harmony, love, warmth, tenderness, sincerity. He will tell her, «When you are with me, there is no-one in the world stronger than I am. When you are near me, I feel like I'm at peace with the whole world. When you are with me, every dream comes true». He never had such a love which will be in his future lives when he will be at this service at the protection system against asuras. He will look at her with such love and tenderness... And some asuras will constantly try through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence through body of this man to fuck his wife, the only darling woman he ever loved.

This is because he himself was so, and so there's always going to be someone trying to reach wife through him, through his body. He a lot of lives lived as asur. And he specialized in the invasion to marital sex of married couples. This was his favorite activity. And now he is reaping the fruits of his deeds. You reap what you sow. Now he has ceased to be an asur, and now other asuras are trying to invade to his marital sex. He and his wife will be a trap for the asuras. He with his wife will attract to themselves such asuras as he was in his past lives. Asuras will be attracted by this married couple like flame attracts moths. A Russian proverb says that money sticks to money. Birds of a feather flock together. They say geniuses recognize one another, game recognizes game. He was such an asur, and now the same asuras, as he was once, will constantly get sticky to him and his wife. His marriage will be the union of husband and wife in heart, body, and mind. Their souls will be on melting together in perfect unison. Some asuras will constantly try to intervene into this unity. This will be because this married couple is needed for this. And those who dare to invade to this married couple will have a bad time because their life will come to an end.

Every life they will have a very beautiful, solemn, memorable for a lifetime wedding ceremony, in order to remember all this with joy and reverence, thanking God that all this happened to them, that they met each other, that they have such love and such faithfulness all their life. And he will tell her, «I will always protect you». And he will do it, but for some reason at the energy plane of existence some asuras will constantly climb to them, wedged in their marital sex. This will be because they will have such a mission. Because we with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard. The enemy will not be able to approach to the border, because we'll crush him in a heartbeat. Because you shouldn't stick your nose in someone else's yard, otherwise a guard dog will bite off your nose. Because this yard is guarded by guard dogs and alarms. And he will say to his wife, «You are my Shakti». And someone out there will always encroach to his Shakti to somehow connect through his body to her and fuck her, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence?! Some asuras will be so stupid that will try to fuck Shakti of this man, whereas using his body, the body of her husband? He will rip them all to shreds! He'd do anything for his Shakti. He will tear everyone in pieces for his Shakti.

They will be very focused on each other. Her mind will be filled with him, and he will be the only man she ever had. She will be the most important thing, most precious in the world to him. But asuras will see in them quite another. Because this married couple will be a trap for the asuras. And who gets into this trap, will not get away of there. And for this purpose it is necessary that the asuras thought that this married couple fit them according to all criteria. That is, somehow, although they will be very focused on each other, they will broadcast to the asuras through their behavior, their appearance and their way of life, that they are suitable for them as such victims, to whom asuras can use force, although in fact they will not such. They will be a married couple. They will be people in love with each other always. I don't think I've ever seen two people love each other more. Just he and she always, no third wheel. They will be faithful to each other always. Together forever.

And they will be the two will travel around the world on our planet. Maybe he will have such business that they will go around the world together many times. Maybe they will often go to resorts. Maybe they will have still some Affairs. But they will be together as couple constantly traveling around the world and somehow attracting those asuras who like at the energy plane of existence to get into someone else's sex.

They will have such a lifestyle that they will travel around the world, to different places because they will be the forces that react more quickly, reach further, and can remain in the field longer during life, in order to provide greater coverage. And husband will be aware of it. He will think, «Here we come to this new place, now again some scoundrels will try to invade us». And he'll be ready. «Dear, I love you so much». They are having sex, love, everything is as it should be, and suddenly he looks at the subtle plan of existence: «Yeah, someone is approaching... I knew that someone will appear. Why can't they just mind their own business? They get in my space, expect me to turn the cheek. There's plenty more where they came from. It's their fault, they're like cats in heat. They seem to be coming from everywhere. What do they want from us?»

It's because you have such a mission. You for many past lives were asur and in this way was invading the marital sex of married couples, and now you karma caught up with you, and now you're such a decoy, a trap for the bears. And that's why they come to you. They cannot not invade you, because you have somehow everything is configured in such a way specifically in order to they invaded you. You are attracting for them like a honey pot is attracting for bees. They fly to you like flies to the shite. And all these decoys will have a special interior vision. Ordinary people do not see the subtle, energetic plane of existence, but these decoys will see how to them on the subtle plane of existence someone approaches and wants to fuck wife. These decoys will be a nice, married couple. They will have great love and will periodically have regular sex, quite often, as they will have such a role, such a service at the border.

And here they have it all goes well, they are having good sex, and suddenly he sees with his special interior vision that during sex someone at the energy plane of existence goes to them, and he thinks, «Either way, fellas, you brought this upon yourself, and anyone who sides with you dies with you! You've been asking for this! You'll pay dearly! I'll get you for this! Your dream will not come true. You wanted to have fun with my wife through me?! You wanted to fuck my wife through my body?! Who you think you are? Your dream won't come true! If, by foolishness, a deer runs into a cave to a lion, a deer will immediately die there. Out of my way! She is my wife! Get out of here! And anyway, away from all roads! You don't need any roads, because you tried to get to me, to my road, to my wife. You doesn't know it yet, but you and your boys just signed your death warrant, because I'm in this protection system against asuras, I serve at the Border Guard. We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard. The enemy will not be able to approach to the border, because we'll crush him in a heartbeat. Today on this field you will get a lesson of fair retribution! The lion will not give any deer a chance to survive! Anyone who dares to stand in my way today, I will turn to ashes!»

And he will really turn them into ashes at the energy plane of existence, all their chakras and everything will burn to the ground; there will be nothing left, just a lifeless space, completely not viable. And if there will be a chain, he will burn the whole chain, completely.

In this way I decided to take care of myself because Shri Ram said to me, «You are pure as long as I am with you». It turns out that if we will be together and if he becomes an ordinary person, then someone from the asuras can to invade our marital sex, and if Shri Ram does not make use of the opportunity and I will be with someone else, then asuras will also get through?! But they'd be surprised. An unpleasant surprise awaits them. I'd already took care of that.

214. Evil ivy in the rain

I determined a large group of asuras for the next action, which I called «We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard». I decided that it would be those asuras who liked to invade the marital sex of married couples. Asuras somehow can to connect energetically and be present in someone else's sex. If a woman has sex with some man, then the asuras know how through the body of this man, through his dick, through his hands to be with her at that same time. And it turns out that with this woman is not only this man, who fuck her in physical reality, at the physical plane of existence, but also some asuras, who live like ordinary men, but are plugging into her somehow energetically and invisibly present in the marital sex of this married couple.

And there may be several of them. And they take out of woman her pious merits, depriving her with her husband of the life they could have if these pious merits would have remained in this married couple and not transfer to someone else. And I decided to send into the future lives those asuras who loved to fill up in this way their bank account of Universal currency, bank account of the pious merits, wanting to live a life of ease, opulence and luxury, depriving this married couple the opportunities that they had. I decided that in their future lives, these asuras will be lures for such as they are now.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

They will be a lot of lives very happily married, and some asuras will constantly try to invade their marital sex, at the energetical plane of existence. Because this married couple will broadcast by their way of life, that they fit the asuras according to all criteria. This married couple will behave in the same way as the victims of asuras in order to the asuras can think that they have right to invade into their marital sex, plug into body of wife and fuck her through the body of her husband, who, the fool, does not even suspect that right now through his body other men are fucking his wife, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. Of course, the wife will more broadcast the signals about their suitability for the asuras. Maybe they will often go to the resorts, the wife will often go to the SPA, beauty salons, fitness, where the asuras through the eyes of people looking for new victims. And I decided to send into the future lives those asuras who loved to invade marital sex of married couples.

But I had many doubts, fears that I will violate rights of many other people and remove them opportunities, having pulled out these asuras from their life. I thought that I would leave many women without their husbands and many children without their fathers, and after all these women and children are not guilty that their husband and the father was such that he though with appearance led a decent way of life, but at the energy plane of existence he intruded into conjugal sex of foreign couples and did it intentionally. I wondered if I had the right to leave these innocent wives and children without protector, even though he did these vile things, invisible to all.

I thought: Yes, it's good that I will tear out that asur from his life, but he could have a good wife, small children, elderly parents there, who will remain without protection. It turns out that I'm doing such a bad thing. It's bad karma. Yes, of course, they will do a good right thing in their future lives, but in this life they could have families, children. I'll leave their families without support of head of the family. I am an evil! I have no right to do that. But on the other hand, they did a lot of abominations, and if there is someone who can and even must punish them, then this person must do this thankless, unpleasant job. Defending virtue is an unpleasant job but it has to be done. I was worried about it a lot. And then I thought about it and called the next card number in the game with Metaphorical associative cards. There was a card which very much calmed me. On the card was drawn rain, which pours from the cloud to the ground. And there I noticed an ivy leaf, a mushroom family and a snail hiding in its house.

I described this picture as follows: «This picture as if told me to shed a generous rain of mercy on everyone, even on those who do not want it and clearly makes wicked plans, since it is raining in the picture. At the picture is summer, and the sun is shining, as the colors are light and Golden. And when it rains and the sun shines, is a sign of good fortune. Rain falls on the leaves, flowers, berries, mushrooms and snail. Rain falls on the ground, on everything. On the left at the bottom of picture is seen an evil entity. He's drawn here like a pentagonal leaf. He's got two eyes. And even it is clear, with somehow expression he looks. He is clearly looking at the cloud from which the rain is pouring, and he has an evil look. This evil entity thinks to hide from the rain under the strawberry and flowers. This evil leaf is safely hidden under strawberries, flowers and leaves. He is sure that the raindrops could not fall on him. But the cloud is large, has a lot of water, and even one drop of water has already flown through this shield of strawberries. This leaf looks like evil ivy. Mushrooms, it seems, do not mind the rain, as there is a whole family of mushrooms, and there are very small mushrooms. They clearly need rain to grow big. Small mushrooms too are hiding under a big mushroom. And the snail is also well hidden on a blade of grass. And even snail climbed into the house, thinking that the rain will not fall on snail. But the rain is warm, very useful for them. A cloud of Golden color. The cloud swelled with water, with a greater good. My first thought when I looked at this picture was a hexagram from The Book of Changes The I-Ching, number 41. Sun is the Chinese name of the I Ching Hexagram 41. People also call this Hexagram 'decrease' or named 'diminishing.' „Hexagram 41 suggests finding strength by removing the superfluous. Sun is the image of offering something freely in a ceremonial vessel to make a sacrifice in some way. Amazing benevolence is how you let go to discover what is rightfully yours. You may need to give up something you feel is important as a commitment to conscientious growth with another. Whatever you may lose paves the way for you to open to something else. Everything that you give to others today, tomorrow fate will pay you back in full with interest. Perhaps you now feel that you are too wasteful, too many give to others, but this impression will soon pass and you will be generously rewarded. Time is conducive to thinking about plans and intellectual activity. Most of your desires will come true, and you will reap even more than you sowed“. I think that it is necessary to spill generously mercy to all participants, both visible, and those who hid, and on big, and on small. This rain is warm, brings good luck. That's just what to do to evil ivy leaf? Will he get even bigger and angrier if it rains? Maybe they think that the rain from such a big cloud won't reach them? Maybe they think that the cloud will pass them by? Maybe they think that they will ride out the rain and that the rain will pass? They are strange, hid in different places from the rain, someone is under the berries, someone in the house, and someone is under the mushroom. But the cloud is big and is covering the sky. Enough water for everyone. And it looks like it just started raining. The rain still has to go and go, and so everyone will get their portion of water. I think I should just pour water on everyone, even that evil ivy, like from this huge cloud. Maybe the ivy is evil and cruel because he has not been watered for a long time and he forgot how great it is to swim in the rain? Maybe when he's watered, he'll look at the world differently».

When I wrote all this down and reread it, I realized that among those asuras who are included in this action «We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard», there are some great evil asuras, who at this picture are drawn as an ivy leaf, which is hidden under the strawberries. I thought that these asuras hoped to escape punishment, hiding behind a large reserve of piety, which they had pumped out of many strawberries, had stolen from many good women. They hope that these pious merits stolen from others will provide them protection.

I had saw that I must to done away with these asuras no matter how great and evil they may be, because it will be for their benefit. They were pumping the pious merits out of many women. I had saw that these pious merits will not protect these asuras, because there is a lot of water in the cloud, the rain has just begun, the cloud is going to drop very heavy rain and water is sure to reach the ivy leaf. And when the rain will pour this good to the ivy leaf, ivy will not be so evil. The ivy is angry because the ivy has been hiding under strawberries for a long time, under stolen pious merits, and because it has not rained for a long time. And this rain is needed to ivy. And thus was resolved the issue with evil ivy.

215. Snail in the rain: my home is my castle

But I was confused about the snail in her house in this picture. Snail in the house means «my home is my castle». This indicates some asuras who should be punished, but each of them has a good wife. And wife for him like a castle. He expects that the protecting of his wife will exempt him from punishment and that no one will do anything to him.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And I thought: no, I can't calm down; it is not good for woman to lose a husband. Yes, he lives with her in real life as a better husband, a family man, devoted husband to his wife, but he has the sex with all at the energy plane of existence. He invades someone else's marital sex and plugs some other asuras into else's marital sex, if he has such an ability. He does bad things, but at the same time his home is his castle. He hides from retribution, living in real life with some good woman, with a good wife. I thought: well, what do I do? Krishna gave me the answer.

Then I wanted to watch some series of the film «Sita and Rama». It was the 200th series. There I saw in Sita's words to Ravana's wife Mandodari that the wife's Dharma is to protect her husband, but if he commits sin and iniquity and the wife protects him, then she becomes an accomplice of his sins and iniquity. Then I saw that by continuing to be the wife of such an asur, who commits such iniquity and such sin, the woman becomes an accomplice of his sin and iniquity. Sita also said that the punishment for such an atrocity must to be executed.

And after that I saw the 205th series of film «Sita and Rama» in which Ravana was sitting at a wedding campfire. He was waiting when his son dragged Sita there. Ravana was going to forcibly make Sita his wife, but his wife Mandodari decided to leave the life, standing inside the ring of fire, and there was the conversation of Ravana with Mandodari. I had saw that through the words of Mandodari those wives of such asuras at the level of their higher self told me that they do not agree with such activities of their husbands. Yes, he lives as a good husband, faithful on the outside, on the external plane of existence. Their life is at its best, everything is orderly, their life is going great, he has growing revenue, and everything is set, but he does a lot of abominations at the energy plane of existence, and his wife does not agree with this. I thought about each of these wives that she is good wife, that for her her home is her castle. I was worried that she would be bad as a result of the fact that she would be left without her husband, who is although a scoundrel, but still her husband. I saw that she does not agree with such activities of her husband and that she believes that this action with sending her husband into his future lives to the service «Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard» is the only way to stop him.

And when Mandodari told Ravana that she would better part with her life than watch the destruction of Lanka, I realized that I was given the answer about this snail in the house, about those asuras who think that my home is my castle, that if he is married to a good woman, who is faithful to him in real life, if she prays for him to God, then no one will do anything to him and he is indestructible. In these words of Mandodari, I saw that such a wife at the level of her higher self told her husband that if he did not want to change his mind and if he will continue his activity, it is better to her to part with her life than to watch such abuses.

And what is «to part with my life»? It is said that for a wife, a husband is her life. And thus the wives of these asuras said from the level of their higher self that they were ready to part with their husbands, because these husbands really deserved such punishment and because otherwise they can not be stopped. Because these wives live here as ordinary women and, so to speak, are silent, know nothing about it, being in their bodily shell, but at the level of their higher self they see all this, know and completely disagree. And they say from the level of their higher self that they are ready to part. They say, «Svetlana Vinodavani, don't worry and do whatever it is you need to do. You got to do what you figure is best, and leave the rest to the Lord. If our husbands are such fools and do not understand that what they do is very bad and forbidden, if there's no other way, then do it». And thus was resolved the issue with the snail in the house, which is hiding from the rain, at Metaphorical associative card.

216. Mushroom family in the rain

The issues about the ivy and the snail were resolved, but I had serious doubts about the mushroom family, because there I saw the children, small mushrooms. I thought, what if some asuras in this group has children? What to do in this case? Krishna gave me an answer to that also. At that time I was rather disconcerted by the question about why did this Shri Ram called on me, why in past lives and between lives he was persuading me to come to him. Because I had a conversation with my son's music teacher about my ex-husband, in which I said that he was persuading me very much, he did not believe that he could have children. He really wanted children and was persuading me to provide him with children.

Thus through the filter of this physical body, through this misunderstanding of real events I had expressed what I know at level of my higher self. In this way, I said in an allegorical way that this Shri Ram called on me in past lives and between lives. He very much wanted me to come to him, and, most likely, gave me some promises, said, «There's nothing that I wouldn't do for you. All I want is your happiness. I am capable of great things for you, my love. How much I would do for you... Give me a chance. Please come to me, my Shakti, come to me, my soul mate». I thought: why did he call on me, why did he need this, if he was like that? And then I pulled another number in that game with the Metaphorical associative cards, now asking this question: for what did he call on me? Why did he want to reunite with me? There was Metaphorical associative card with a picture of a boy and a girl who are holding hands, cheerfully stomping around in puddles.

I so described what I saw: «In my Metaphorical associative card a girl with a boy. They stomp around in puddle. Barefoot. In summer. The boy is delighted. He is beaming, it's because something wonderful has happened. He holds something in his fist, at the top. That this, it is unclear, but it's not a piece of mud from a puddle. There are associations with food. Like he's holding something delicious in his hand. He looks like a real winner. It is evident that he is very happy, satisfied and even prides himself. He is pulling upward his hand with something tasty as the Statue of Liberty, with the cry of a winner „We did it!“. The girl has funny pigtails, which are flying up. She seem remarkably calm, rather carefree, but not in the sense that she does not care. She looks not scattered, but as if calm. She has a peaceful, admiring smile on her face. They're friends. The puddle is very dirty. And the sprays from the puddle fly straight to their clothes. But what is strange, the spray from the puddle does not stain clothes, as if the sprays not reach clothes. The spray from the puddle is like ink, like petroleum. It's like they're jumping in a petroleum puddle and splashing petroleum. It's nice card, it's called „Together and forever, in sickness and in health, in joy and sorrow, through the good times and the bad, in felicity and adversity. No one will tear us apart. Death will not separate us“».

In this way I described for what reason he was calling on me. He wanted to be happy. The girl has the pigtails which are looking up. It's antennas. He can see signals and read out the information. He is a man reading signals, and she is the center receiving signals from all terminals of the network in the true time regime. Boy and girl are like the parts of the device functioning together as transmitter and receiver. She is like the receiver which receives the optical signal and converts it into standard analog TV signal. She is like the server which receives the standard telephone signal, digitizes it, considerably compresses, breaks into packets and sends over the Internet to destination. The pigtailed girl are the antennae which pick up the signals. The girl is picking up signals and broadcasting signals to boy. Boy reads out the information. He is a reader, which identifies this marking or receives and decodes the signals transmitted by a data carrier. And he does his active work, taking into account the information from these pigtailed-antennas. The girl is calm, because she does not have to think how to survive in this world, because he does his job, using these antennas, and due to that they have everything. And this petroleum puddle is wealth, because petroleum is wealth. It's important to him, he wanted it. He wanted to be successful man ever. And he is so happy in the picture. They're happy on their own, calm, fun, carefree. They're happy together, that's all.

I looked at this Metaphorical associative card and thought: how did this boy become so? He was fun jumping with this girl with the cry of the winner «we have done it!». He was dreaming about this girl. He wanted her during many lives. It's all he ever wanted. He was calling on her. But when he met her, he began to sell her to other men; he began to give her to everyone through. This girl saved him. She gave him so many advance-warning signs with the help of her pigtailed. She defended him. She provided him this petroleum puddle, wealth. But he sold her. Well, we all have our own unique way of showing appreciation. And this is the thanks this girl got? It's tough to say «you're welcome» after a thank you like that. She saved him from life's disaster, from death, but instead of thanking her, he decided to erase her. He gave her for sale to other men. He decided to plug other men into her and scoop out of her the pious merits, so that she would fall to the bottom of her life and disappeared. He decided to do it to her, to continue to enjoy with other women who for him are nothing and whom he did not want.

I thought: how did he, this good boy, become such a monster? And then I thought about those little mushrooms. I thought that those little mushrooms are like this good boy. They could grow up and become as this good boy, but they live, these kids, with these dads who do such abominations. And because these boys live with such dads, they then become the same merciless, ruthless, soulless, they are respecting no one and do not value anything. They become monsters who say, «We remember only the best». They say, «It was a funny time, and we were funny. Sometimes you want to look back, but probably because we remember only the best». «We remember only the best, and you are not the best. I dreamed the dream of you, but now you are not the best. Farewell, I went for the better. And I will erase you. I will sell you. I will give you to other men until there's nothing left. You'll be nothing. Ashes to ashes and dust to dust».

And this good boy handed this girl over other men to do the violence against her. I thought that these little mushrooms shouldn't be with such monsters. And thus the issue about the mushroom family was resolved. All the issues were resolved. Krishna said, «Don't think about them. All of us should live up to our responsibilities and acquire wisdom and far-sightedness». Because Shri Ram wanted that what was drawn in the picture with the boy and the girl, but when he got it, that's how he thanked for this? He decided to erase this girl completely. Trying to have this girl erased is an odd way of saying thank you.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought we'll spare nobody. I thought that if I have to pay a price for that, if there will some kind of karma, then I had already found those to whom to throw off this karma. There are those who owe to fulfill my desire, who were with me as a man with a woman and now are obliged to fulfill my desire. They were with me. They fucked me when Shri Ram put me up for sale and sold a session of sex with me when I saved him from a life collapse, at celebration of six months of our heavenly wedding. They bought sex with me, at the energy plane of existence, and they were with me, even though I did not know about it. And now they have to grant my wish.

And I thought that I'll throw off to them all karmic reaction for my Mahabharata, and for this action in including. Because I need to throw off this to somewhere. I have to do all that, but the karmic reactions will be and why I must to work off these karmic reactions, if there are those who blatantly fucked me and now have to fulfill my wish? I thought my wish is ready. I'll throw off everything to them, and not only my. I have Shri Ram, who also did a lot of bad things and deserved the hellish worlds. But I have the right to wish anything. Because those men were with me as man with a woman. I want to free Shri Ram from the karmic reactions he has earned by humiliating his Shakti, his soul mate.

I thought that those who had no right to go where they were not called will fulfill my desire, and most likely, they will immediately get into the hellish worlds for long, because Shri Ram deserved a lot of time of staying in the hellish worlds. But I've decided that I need to free him from this, because he is my soul mate. Instead him others will go there. Because it is my wish. Because a man is obliged to fulfill the desires of a woman with whom he had sex. Because a man can have sex only with his wife. And the husband is obliged to fulfill the desires of his wife.

And if they were with me in sex, even if this was on the energy plane of existence, and even if I did not know about it, because it is not physically felt, they still owe to fulfill my desire. Because that's the rules. That was how all my doubts about Metaphorical associative card with the rain cloud were dispelled. I decided that we would not feel sorry for anyone, because I was given all the answers. And about the evil ivy that hides under the strawberries, and about the snail in the house «my home is my castle», and about the mushroom's family, and even about where to throw karmic reactions for all this. Everything's settled. A good plan was devised between lives.

217. Behind every great man is a great woman

I was looking at Metaphorical associative card with a girl and a boy who were fun bouncing in a puddle, thanks to which was showed to me what Shri Ram wanted, when in his past lives was calling on me, his Shakti, his soulmate. This Metaphorical associative card made me so sad. Shri Ram begged me, persuaded me to come to him, he thought that he had somewhere his soul mate, his eternal couple, his Shakti. He was appealing to her, but it turned out that it was me. He had wonderful the fantasies, what is his soul mate. He probably thought that she is so wonderful, beautiful that he would see her and all his dreams would come true at once, that everything he wanted would be in her. But when I came to him in this life, Shri Ram plugged into me, looked at me and remembered words of Sebastian Roch Nicolas Chamfort, «I mentally drew myself an image of a woman, who is a rarity among women, and this image of a rare and wonderful woman protects me from women who are the same as most women. Believe me, I am very grateful to this lady invented by me». Shri Ram thought looking at me,

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

«But this woman is not fit an image of an extraordinary woman, who is a rarity among women. She is not the rare and wonderful woman who is worthwhile my extra effort. She is not the love of my life. She's as messed up as the rest of women. She's an ordinary dumb broad; she's an ordinary fat cow, which are many. We're going to put this cow to eternal milking of pious merits».

But he couldn't help himself — curiosity got the best of him. He asked me for access to my life files, and I gave him access. Asuras, it turns out, are able to somehow look at our life files, not only of this life, but also of past lives. He went through my life files, where he was given admission, and saw that we were with him in the distant past lives together and that we were happy, and he offered me to become his wife. We somehow became husband and wife, we have had heavenly wedding, when I become wife of Shri Ram at some subtle plane of existence. We got married in in front of Nrisimhadev. Nrisimhadev himself solemnized this marriage ceremony.

He met other woman in the summer of 2016. She was a good woman, beautiful, pleasant, a friendly and likeable, much better than me. He immediately threw me and moved on to that woman. And I thought, that he was saying me, «Come to me, please. For you, I'd do just about anything», and when I came to him, he, who was that pretty boy with the girl in the puddle at that metaphorical associative card, said to me, «It was a funny time, and we were funny. Sometimes you want to look back, but probably because we remember only the best».

And he, the good boy at the Metaphorical associative card, gave to other men me, such a good girl, with whom he cheerfully stomped around in puddles. He began to plug into me other men through him during our intimacy with him. He said that I'm not the best, that I can be erased and thrown out. He told me through the words of the karate coach that we are from different planets. He kind of said to me through those words, «You and I are so different. You're way out of my league. You are not from our world. That woman is one of our own kind, she is one from our set, but you are not from our set. Come on, leave me, leave me, leave me». I thought I had done him so much good in this life for a few years. Since the 151st series I began to tell how much the good I did to him during our interaction at a distance, without personal acquaintance. And I realized that I did him so many good so many times that he became so thanks to my help.

I felt so very bitterly disappointed. He developed thanks to the pious merits that I was pouring into him, being far away from him. We were in different worlds, but because he and I are the eternal couple, my pious merits were constantly coming from me to him. I was doing something virtuous, good, committing austerities, keeping fasts, and he was receiving the fruits of my labor. I was helping him. And thanks to the fact that I was helping him, he became one with whom, as he thought, can be such a wonderful woman like the one with whom he was the summer of 2016, but not me, loser girl, a weirdo girl.

When I was thinking that, my son's teacher called me. She told me that my son gave a toy to a classmate, and now he demands money for it. In fact, there were a bit different. My son was washing dishes at home in the evenings, and I was paying him for this work, so he could buy his favorite toy. He saved up some money and took it to school for some reason. There classmate persuaded my son to buy a toy for that classmate, saying that he will bring the money tomorrow. My son bought with his money a toy and gave that boy this toy, being sure that that boy would bring money the next day. Although my son was going to buy a toy for himself. He bought this toy with his own money, but he gave it to someone else's boy. But I earned that money. Actually this money was mine. I was working and giving some of my money to my son, and he had spent my money on a toy for else's boy. That boy was not going to give money back. There was a conflict, and the teacher began to teach kids how to resolve their conflict peacefully. I learned about this story from her.

After that the mother of that boy gave my son the money for a toy back. I began to scold a son and say that that boy has a normal family; he has mom, dad, a good living, and good living conditions. His mother spends her money on herself, goes to beauty salons, and buys expensive clothes and shoes. She may to buy to her little son any toy. I began to tell the son that I have to raise my kids on my own, that we live in a small apartment, but he took my money and bought on my money a toy to someone else's boy whose mother spends money for herself, and I have to wear other people's clothes and shoes and give my money to my children. That's what I told my son.

I said to Shri Ram through these words, «Shri Ram, you have become so a delicious man because of my pious merits. Due to my pious merits you became the one who can think that only stunning woman can stand beside you. But you became so worthy man because I give you my pious merits. I don't spend my pious merits on myself. I give my pious merits to you, and thanks to this you can be so successful man. Well, you know that behind every great man is a great woman. Behind every successful man is a truly amazing woman. And this truly amazing woman is me. I am your sponsor. I constantly give you my pious merits. You know that we get everything in this world at the expense of pious merits. I am your reliable and devoted investor, you have to respect me as such. But those women who you think are so good and worthy to be with you, spend their pious merits only on themselves, and therefore they are so wonderful. You're so cool just because I give you my pious merits». I then said to my son, «If you do this again, I will not give you more money. You'll wash the dishes for free».

I told Shri Ram, «You got played badly, you was wrong, Shri Ram, because due to the fact that I am giving you my pious merits, I do not spend these pious merits on myself. Those women do not give their pious merits to anyone. They spend their pious merits only to their luxurious life in this material world. Perfectly respectable way to maintain champagne and caviar lifestyle. Those women do not share their pious merits with anyone, and this is their guarantee to a lifestyle that open the door to the finest homes in the most spectacular locations around the world. Those women buy famous brands, live in the big, beautiful homes in snazzy places. They wear posh clothes, driving a posh car. The finest things, jewellery, smile, gifts, roses for the finest ladies. And you, Shri Ram, think that they deserve to be with you. You, Shri Ram, think that I do not deserve to be with you, that I am not worthy of you, although it is thanks to me that you can be such a gorgeous man who have the same higher status as such gorgeous women».

I said to Shri Ram, «Look, Shri Ram, I will turn off the tap through which my pious merits can flow from me to you. I may cut off your oxygen and suffocate you, and you will not receive my pious merits. Then you will become like some rabble next to whom these women who spend their pious merits only on themselves, will not stand up. You will become for them just a stinking homeless man, a poor loser, whom they do not even want to look at». So I said to Shri Ram.

And I thought I was right to come to Shri Ram. Because he became too overreaching, insolent, and he began to bite the hand that feeds him. He began to hit the hand that helps him. He said, «You are the hand that gives, but there's something wrong with you. Other women are the hands that don't give, but they are actually perfect for me. The hand that gives is never empty. And although you are the hand that gives, but you don't matches me. I don't like you, and there are many others I prefer». I thought I was right to come to him. Because now Krishna can break this connection at any moment, and my pious merits will not funnel from me to this Shri Ram. And then all my pious merits will go to the fact that I will fly away into the spiritual world, and this Shri Ram will be left alone here, in this material world, without his Shakti, to rot like some kind of animal, like a slug. He will shiver in the wind like the last leaf on a dying tree.

I thought: I'm really good. I made the right decision, that I came to him and put myself at risk. I allowed myself to be put under pressure. I put myself under his blow and he said me that I am nothing at all, that I am nobody, worthless, although he became so the respectable, distinguished-looking gentleman, so rich and successful, powerful man, so prominent man due to me. I thought that I saved him so many times. When Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuras, came to me and asked me to marry him, I refused to marry him. And if I had not refused Borka, then Borka would have took from me all my pious merits during our married life, and this Shri Ram would have remained without an infusion of my pious merits for long. He would have fallen to the lowest place, and these women would become inaccessible to him. He for long would have lost the opportunity to even see such women. Even from afar.

I thought I'd saved him so many times, even in this life. I saved him even this way. I saved him by refusing to Borka. I saved him, and he doesn't appreciate his luck!? I told him he is so cool because I was giving him my pious merits. And I give him pious merits at all not for him to be with those women who do not spend their pious merits on anyone, who spend their pious merits only on their pleasant stay in the material world. I give him my pious merits at all not for him to be with those women. I give my pious merits to him so that he can take care of me, because I am his wife. I give my pious merits to him because he is my husband. No woman will want to give a man something so that he, using her help, can enjoy with other women, because it's illogical. But he messed something up. He thought that he was so cool, that he was so smart. But in fact, even this mind he received only because of my pious merits.

They say behind every great man is a great woman. That's the truth. Although to this woman does not necessarily have to stand right next to this man, because I was standing far from Shri Ram, we were in different worlds, but I gave him my pious merits constantly. I learned about it from my words when I was describing to him my photos from many years ago. From my words I learned that, it turns out, even when we with him were in different worlds apart, I was pouring the pious merits to him, thanks to what he became thus important, respectable, a businessman. I protected him.

I told him that Krishna could end it anytime He want to, and then what would Shri Ram become? He will be nobody. I, being his eternal wife, was fulfilling his desires, even when we were scattered on different worlds. And even when I came to him in this life, I was fulfilling his wishes. And when he wished for a better woman in the spring of 2016, I had fulfilled this desire. Although he told me «be my wife, become my wife», he was looking at me and thinking, «Maybe somewhere there is woman who is better her?» Of course, whatever you say. I, being his eternal wife, performed his desire, and this best woman came to him. And thanks to the fact that I was fulfilling his desires, he became so? It turns out that I was fulfilling his wishes and he because of this I was so insulted and humiliated?!

I thought he was very wrong. It's like at the parable of yogi and the mouse. The mouse ran to yogi, said she was afraid of the cat, and asked yogi to turn her into a cat. Yogi made the mouse a cat. After that the cat ran to yogi and told yogi that she is afraid of the dog, and asked yogi to turn her into a dog. The yogi has fulfilled this desire. After that the dog ran to yogi, began to complain of a tiger and ask yogi to turn her into tiger. The yogi fulfilled her wish. And then the tiger looked at the yogi and jumped to eat him. In this moment yogi made tiger the mouse. Everything's back to the way it used to be.

And I, like that yogi, was fulfilling the desires of Shri Ram, and thanks to my help he got so great that he looked at me and said, «And you are nobody. I'll erase you now. I'll give you to all my people. I'll share you with all my buddies. All my subordinates will fuck you. And then I'll put up you for sale. Many asuras will fuck you, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, although you will not know about it. And all your pious merits will be pumped out of you. You'll have nothing left, and you'll fall. We don't care where you'll be there, who you'll be there with and how you'll be there. You'll go to the bottom of your life, and how your children will live is unknown. And in General, they are unlikely to be with you, because you will not have pious merits to be with your children, and they will be taken away from you. We don't care what will happen to them. Who are they? There are a lot of kids like that in orphanages. This is what he told me. He told this to the woman who was fulfilling his wishes, like that yogi.

When I was going to come to him, I knew how he dealt with women. Because if I didn't know that, there wouldn't be these events in my plan. And if these events were, then that's what he does to women. First he lives with one woman, and when he meets other woman that better, he throws previous woman and erases her fully, destroys her. I knew he was like that because otherwise it would not have happened now. It was his standard move called «we remember only the best». And I, knowing he would do that, still went to him?!

218. «You love not me, but my millions!»

I became very sad, and I thought: why is he with me now? I remembered how through the words of one woman at a Dating site he said me that I am second-rate goods, they say, look at yourself objectively, and don't kid yourself. You are far from perfect, you are a low-grade product. You are woman of a certain, age. Who do you think you are? If a man wants to fuck you, immediately agree, until he escaped away such a cheap like you. Stop analyzing and just enjoy moment. You are not good-looking enough for men. Don't act surprised. If by some misunderstanding some man wants to sleep with you, you should understand that it's a great honor to you. The years go by, and you'll be alone. Stop being so stubborn! Give yourself over to men! Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die. You're cheap. You're an inferior product, second-rate goods. That's what he told me through that woman. I thought: at that time he knew nothing about me and him. He did not know that I am his eternal wife, that we lived together many lives, that he was recruited, made an asur, that I became an inspector of the Universe Patrol and the Slayer of the asuras. He didn't know anything. But now he knows.

And I thought: why is he with me now? I remembered that Shiva had told him that the curse didn't lifted, that he should be punished for his crime, that he should give me the status of a wife and show me respect, but I still thought: why would he hold on to such a second-rate product? I thought maybe he decided to be with me because of the fear that his Shakti would leave him altogether and he would fall to the very bottom of life? Or maybe because I'm so cool and destroyed a lot of asuras? Maybe due to the fact that I shows him the advance-warning signs and protects him? Or maybe because of the fear that Shiva told him that the curse was not lifted and that he should give me the status of his wife? Or maybe he is afraid to become a beggar, a homeless man and die an ignoble death? Why is he with me?

I thought: when I will become ordinary, if we will reunite in real life, he will give me to other men and run to the woman who is better me? It's common knowledge that always going to be someone who's a better match for you than the person with whom you are now. And there is always someone ahead of you. And there are a lot of them, who are better, and he every time erases those woman who become not the best. He says, «We remember only the best, and we forget what is no longer the best. We forget all those who have already ceased to be the best. We will start the process of their erasing, of their forgetting and erase them completely. We will drink from them all their pious merits, and they will fall to the very bottom of life, and everyone will forget about them».

I thought maybe he is with me to keep his money? He had a life crash, and he almost lost all his money, his house, and everything. He almost became bankrupt and homeless, but I saved him, and Shiva told him that he should do his duty, otherwise a life crash will return to him and his days will be numbered. I thought all women want happiness. But how can he be happy if has no respect for women? How can he be happy if he had humiliated and insulted even his Shakti, his eternal soul mate, if he was selling her to other men?

How can he be happy if no woman can be happy with him? How can a man be happy with a woman and think that a woman will be happy with him if he behaves so badly with all other women, if he thinks that he has the right to make any other woman unhappy and grind her into the dust? And if he's erasing women, how can he expect that some woman will be happy with him? Our arrogance is surpassed only by our naivete. I thought: he is such an interesting man, but he cannot make any woman happy. In spite of this he wants happiness and waits something good in life. I thought he seemed like a smart man, but he is a chronic dullard. He fails to understand platitudes. We must stop kidding themselves that happiness is given on a silver platter all the time. Don't get your hopes up.

And in this game with Metaphorical associative cards, I mentally asked this question: what does Shri Ram want now when he knows all this? Why does he hold on to this second-rate product, does not go away and every time tells me, «You are not my choice, but my destiny»? Why would he want that? I knew that I was not his choice, but his fate and that he had to be with me, but I still wanted him to have at least some warm feelings for me. On this my question I picked one Metaphorical associative card, on which was written: «Protection and well-being». I looked at those words and thought, «This is what he wants. He needs protection and well-being».

I was very disappointed. It turns out that I am necessary to him in order to he would not lost his money, because Shiva told him that at any moment he could lose everything if he doesn't respect me. He needs protection and well-being, and that`s all. And well-being is not only money, but also sex, because in Russian the word «благополучие» («well-being») consists of the words «благо» («benefit, good, welfare») + «получие, получать» («receiving, receive») = receiving benefit, receiving the good. How can the asuras receive the benefit, the good? How can a man receive the benefit, the good from his wife? A man receives the good, because his woman fulfills his desires, and also because a woman passes her pious merits to her man, which mainly happens in sex. From this I understood that Shri Ram wants sex, too. That is, he wants sex and money.

And then I thought he didn't want me, he wanted my millions. As in soviet comedy film «Hello, I your aunt!». This film is based on the play by Walter Brandon Thomas

«Charley's Aunt». Charley's Aunt said to her grooms, «You love not me, but my millions!» I thought that Shri Ram did not love me, Shri Ram love my pious merits. And I thought, «I'm an old soldier and I don't know the words of love except Hare Krishna. I have no need for his services. Because I have a whole cupboard full of the sweets and the sweets are waiting for me. There are a lot of men who can become my husband, my support and protection. And these men are waiting for me».

And then I said to Shri Ram, «Look, Shri Ram, I don't need your millions. You're rich, of course, but I don't need your millions. There are much prettier, better men who are ready to be with me. They are waiting for me, but I do not pay attention to them. I know you don't want me, you want my millions». And then he turned on songs of Nikolai Baskov «Next to you» and Yuri Vizbor «You're the only one». He threw these songs into my mind, trying to convince me that he wants to be always with me, that he can not live without me, that I am the lucky ray of fate, that I am all that he has in his life. He tried to convince me that he needed not my millions, that he needed me. How much I understood those men who think that a woman does not want him, that a woman need his millions, his money. True, these millions are in the form of pious merits, which transfer from the bank piety account of a woman to the bank piety account of a man in order to he takes care of her.

He tried to convince me that it was not so, that he could not live without me, that he dreamed of me and in dreams he called me, but I did not believe him. But then was turned on the song of Yaroslav Klimanov «That's what I need». And when the words were «You're with me. That's all I need», I had saw that I was telling him that I didn't care that he was going to be with me just for the money, for his protection. I don't care for what reason he was going to be with me. The main thing is that you're with me, that's all I need. I told him I didn't believe all those words, all those songs, but even if he didn't want me, even if he wanted my millions, I don't care what he wants or thinks, I just want he will be with me, that's all I need.

219. Creating a protection system against asuras to protect married couples

When I was looking at the Metaphorical associative card with the girl in the white beret, in front of whom there are two candies on the table, and behind there is a Cabinet with sweets, I told Shri Ram that he is at great risk, because I can turn to this Cabinet and begin to eat sweets. Through these words, I told him that there are many men who want to take me as a wife. Shri Ram answered me, «You are pure while I am with you». I was very upset, because these words meant that if I will be with some good man, and we will be married couple and will be faithful to each other, there will no guarantees that the asuras will not get into our married sex.

I was very upset, and I decided to make such a guarantee. I decided to take many asuras from the current earthly community of asuras, who live among us as ordinary people, but treat us donors. They are plugging into us and withdrawing our pious merits, to at the expense of our pious merits lead luxurious lives in this material world.

I decided that now I will take those asuras who were lovers of invading matrimonial sex of the married couples. About it I told in the 247th series which I wrote down on January 30, 2019. In the 248th series (at 19:14), I noticed a screenshot from «The Mahabharata» in which Kunti told her sons, «I will punish them both tomorrow morning».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that I would most likely tomorrow morning send those asuras into their future lives to protect the married couples from the unseen invasion of asuras into conjugal sex. Words «tomorrow morning» was written in the screenshot. 248th series was recorded on 31 January, and it turned out that this should be done the morning of 1 February. And then came the morning of 1 February 2019. I was ready that this event could happen on this day, but was not going to do anything.

That morning my son came up to me and asked me to check his homework. He rarely comes to me with a request to check his homework. He usually says that he has done his homework. But that morning he came to me in the morning, gave me his school notebooks and said, «Mom, can you check homework today?» I said, «Yes, I can». He said, «Check, please, brutally». I was alarmed and surprised. First, he never asked me to check homework, second, he said «check brutally». And then I remembered how I at the end of the 249th series complained that I am cruel. I looked at all this and realized: I need to do them today, February 1, because my son said me to check homework today, and I need to do them brutally.

The kids went to school, and I went to the store. When I was going there and home, I was thinking about I need to do them today and need to deal to them with brutally, make them suffer and inflict pain on them. And I began to imagine in my mind that these asuras were doing to women. I imagined that the asuras are invisibly connecting up to the woman, at a distance and that they through the body of her husband are fucking her and pump a lot of pious merits out of her during her orgasm. I imagined that the life's circumstances of this family suddenly worsened after those her super intense awesome orgasms. Something unpleasant was happening to their family, as a result of which the standard of living declined dramatically. Disaster on disaster started at this family and they were forced to adapt to new, very poor conditions of existence. Asuras were ruining this nice family. They knew that the life's circumstances of this family would worsen very much, but they were making the withdrawal of the pious merits out this family, big confiscation of pious merits, because asuras want have colorful lifestyle, enjoy living beyond their means. Asuras believe that they are creatures of higher order and that they are worth to marvelous luxurious life, nice house, very nice family, the health. They're downright respectable, business owners. But they are showing no mercy neither women, nor small children. Their credo is if you want to win, there's no room for mercy.

As in advertising: «Every woman is born to be happy, and I am worth it». Asuras believed that they are born to be happy and that they are worth it, and they were lowering the level of pious merits of woman, thus throwing her into troubles and failure. And at the same time the asuras did not hesitate to present in marital sex, invisibly, even if the spouse were faithful to each other. I was imagining different pictures of what could have happened to this married couple after the intrusion of the asuras into conjugal sex. I thought that many married couple separated as a result of such an invasion, because a woman would have lacked her pious merits to remain be married, to live with her husband. I thought that many women became lonely, defenseless and unhappy because of this.

Of course, no one would know the real reason for this, because as a result of the loss of pious merits everything just happens, the life's circumstances itself would begin to develop so that something bad would happen, because of what this woman would be all alone, without a husband. Asuras would remain crystal-clear and untainted, as no one would suggest that the family can break up as a result of the fact that some asuras had made a big withdrawal of the pious merits from the piety account of this married couple into the piety account of asuras. No one would suggest that the family can break up as a result of plugging asuras into this married couple during marital sex. No one would suggest that asuras can invade conjugal sex of married couple and fuck wife through the body of husband, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. Nobody can guess the real reason for their divorce, since everyone sees only external causes, that is, the result of actions of asuras against the family, against its integrity.

In my mind flashed pictures of different scenarios that would become with this woman, who after such a brazen invasion of the asuras into her conjugal sex would be without her luck, without her opportunities, without protection, alone with her problems. And in the end I was furious. I thought, «I'll unleash the full fury! I will unleash a powerful blow to them! I intend to make them suffer for it! They'll regret even thinking about it!»

When I was going shopping, I already knew that I will have done away with them at that day. I bought a cake «Tiramisu», «Lift me to heaven», as an encouragement, as an incentive to do this. I thought I'll eat the cake when I will have done away with them. I noticed that there was no one parking space in the parking lot next to our store. Many cars waited until the parking lot cleared. And all cars were huge and gorgeous. This has never been here, the store is not so big, the usual store, cars are usually in the store parking lot, but at that morning the whole parking lot was filled with these cars and there was not even free space, and all cars were large, jeeps, minivans, gorgeous cool cars. Where did they come from and all in one moment? I looked at this and thought, «Well, I will have a big haul today. There will be big fishes, and there will be many of them». I was on edge and feeling really nervous. I imagined the pictures what these women could be after the action of the asuras, how these women would become defenseless, vulnerable against the blows of life.

I imagined different situations in which such a woman could find herself, left without a significant share of her pious merits after the asuras have take her pious merits out of her through her husband's body during her conjugal sex. I was turning over in my mind that her husband filed for divorce, declared her unfit, deprived her of parental rights, and took away the children. I was turning over in my mind that he filed a lawsuit her, perjure her and paid off witnesses. I was turning over in my mind that she could not find a home and work anywhere and over her there would be a threat to be in a prison, nut house or in other frightening places. I was turning over in my mind that she would think that everyone were conspiring against her, that the world has turned its back on her. I thought that a woman after such a robbery of her bank of pious merits could be left without a husband, without a job, go to live with small children into some remote village or into a slum in the outskirts. I was turning over in my mind that a guardianship service would come and would demand from her the good housing condition and enough money for children, but she will not have this, because the work for her would not be. I was turning over in my mind that these children would be taken from her and she would to bang her head up against the wall, cursing her fate.

I imagined a lot of such pictures. I became more strained than a stretched spring. I got myself wound up so tight that morning. I got all worked up. I was furious to the asuras for such things. I came home and I thought that a kitchen full of dirty dishes wait me. I collected dirty dishes a few days so that there was time for this action. I in addition bought a lot of potatoes. I think: if dirty dishes will over, I will start peeling potatoes, and if there is not enough time, I will cook a potato pancakes, but it hadn't got to that part. I started washing dishes.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I tuned in to those asuras who were included in this action. I thought that in their future lives they will be very happily married and will be decoys, traps for such asuras, what they were. They will attract to themselves by the way of life, appearance, behavior those asuras who like to invade someone else's conjugal sex invisibly and to empty the reserve of piety of married couples.

I thought that each of these asuras whom now I will send into future lives will be a powerful shooter, he will have some special interior vision and he will see everything at the subtle, energetic plane of existence. He always will protect his wife. If one will want to plug into this wife or somehow impact to her, invisible weapons will immediately turn on at this shooter, and this shooter will burn the one who tried to do it, and all those who were connected with the aggressor. This shooter with his wife will serve vigilantly:

We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard.

The enemy will not be able to approach to the border,

Because we'll crush him in a heartbeat.

They will become powerful weapon that can be used for the purpose of destruction one unit of the enemy forces as well as all enemy army. This weapon completely burns its target with one powerful, targeted strike. No armor, no blessings, no shielding can protect against this weapon.

This weapon is so powerful that it can neither be stopped nor neutralized. This weapon is self-activating, instantly reacting to attempt to influence. Any impact on this weapon is breaking up, without causing any harm to this weapon, that making it practically indestructible and invulnerable. These will be the sleepless guards, who are always on duty, always on full alert. The instant reaction, the immediate, effective response, the ruthless, cold-blooded and irrevocable destruction of the enemy of any size and strength.

And when I started to deal with them, after an imagination of pictures, what could become of those women after such invading asuras, I was in a strong rage. I began to wash the dishes and think about words «need to done away with them today and hit them cruelly». I thought, «I will deal with them now and I will hit them cruelly. Cake's waiting me. I will eat cake only when I will have done away with them». I began to wash the dishes and turned on, as always, Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham». I tried to imagine them, but nothing worked. My internal screen was blank, and none of them were there at all, as if they aren't existing. I thought, «Who do you think you are? That kind of thing does not bother me at all. You can't hide. A tall man cannot hide in the short grass. I'll continue to sing mantra and you'll come».

I continued to sing the mantra Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham». Suddenly I had seen that these asuras began to appear, first a little, then more, more, and then I look: already get a good group of them. Then I suddenly had some big paws, like robot hands, and I began by these hands get from somewhere asuras and throw them into this pile, trying to tear out those asuras who are greater. I had tear out whole bunch of asuras from everywhere and threw them in a bunch, and a big mountain of asuras formed. And when I was picking them out and throwing them together into this bunch, I was singing the Narasimha Maha Mantra.

When these asuras were enough of them, I continued to sing and suddenly saw that the energy pipe, which is inside each of these men, began to charred and blacken because of the singing of this mantra. Everything inside this pipe began to turn into ashes, and this ash hung there on the walls of this pipe as black burned pieces. I just sang this mantra and thought that the mantra can do anything. If I am simply nothing and can't do anything, the mantra can do everything. This mantra destroys all negative, so it can destroy all asuric. And I was singing this mantra and looking as if from outside, and burnt pieces of ash began to fall off from inner energy pipe. It was as if a piece of paper had been set on fire, it burns and ashes of burning paper are fluttering along the edges of the paper in the wind. And the whole tube was of such charred pieces of ash.

Then I remembered that need to hit them brutally. I began to reformat chakras of these asuras at a spontaneous dance of hand during the sound of the mantra. And when I was formatting their chakras, suddenly a big long claw has grown from my thumb. I stuck this claw inside them from below and began to poke and pick there in every way to hurt them.

I stuck one thumb into the base of the penis, into the place where it starts from, and I stuck the other thumb into the opening of the urethra. I shut up their penis on both sides with my thumbs and began to blow from my fingers to inside of their penis. The air was coming out of my fingers and was filling their penis, but could not get out of it. Their penis began to inflate and overflow with air. Penis swelled and felt like a balloon which is ready to blow up. The pain was unbearable. It was like how I gagged the pipe on both sides and began to blow air to inside, the pipe swelled and it became very painful.

And when the tension peaked there and it became impossible to endure this pain, I turned my attention to their prostate. Of all my fingers suddenly grew long, sharp needles. I had plunged these needles into their prostate and began to prick there. And after that I began to tear their prostate to pieces, and their prostate is nothing left. I tried to hurt them more, because I was told to hit them brutally. I hurt them very much, so that their life in the material world would not seem them like honey, so that they would lose the desire to enjoy in this material world and rush to the exit from the material world into the spiritual world. I was driving these sharp needles into their prostate so that they would be in great pain, so that they would whine in pain, and so that all the asuras would hear it.

And then I shifted my focus at their testicles. I took these testicles with both hands and imagined that there are nerves inside the testicles. I don't know if the testicles have nerves or not, I have no idea about that, but I imagined that there are nerves inside the testicles. I imagined these nerves as white threads. I plunged my sharp long claws deep into the testicles, and had looked that these white threads-nerves got snagged on these claws. And I began to pull these nerves out of these the testicles and yank nerves in every way. And after that I began to twist these white threads-nerves, and then I had seen that nerves from the whole body joined the testicular nerves. I was jerking all the nerves of their entire body and twisting nerves in all directions. In short, these asuras were loud crying and bawling in pain, they were whimpering like a pup.

I wanted to hurt them more, but suddenly my Shri Ram appeared on my inner screen. He suddenly appeared from somewhere, I looked at him, and I no longer wanted to torture them. I thought he was asking me not to torture them. I felt so sad. I haven't seen him in a long time, and now I had seen him. I felt that I missed him very much, and immediately turned on another mantra. It was the mantra performed by Manish Vyas «tumi bhaja re mana tumi japa re mana om shri ram jaya ram japa re mana». «Oh, mind, always worship (bhaja) and chant (japa) the name of God! „O Sri Rama! Glory to Sri Rama!“ — my mind sings».

And while I was singing this mantra, I shed tears and wanted all the asuras to see me crying and missing my Shri Ram. And all these tears dripped into the pipes of those asuras. I had already stopped tormenting them, although I wanted to torture them a lot more. I would have tormented them more, but Shri Ram came, I was distracted and began to cry. My tears filled their pipes, which were completely burnt. On the walls of their pipes dangled the ashes, but then their pipes became filled with blue water.

220. The Twin Flames As It Is

And then I turned on the farewell kirtan of Bhakti Tirtha Swami «jai jai radhe jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan-dham». I thought, maybe Bhakti Tirtha Swami will come and touch them with his grace, but no, Bhakti Tirtha Swami was not come. I just was singing this mantra and made them sing too. I began to format again chakras of these asuras, but slowly, calmly, gently, with a big love. After that I turned on the kirtan of my Gurudev Indradyumna Swami and made them all sing Hare Krishna. They sang Hare Krishna very well.

And then after a while I saw that they all raised their heads and looked up somewhere. And suddenly a Golden light began to rush from each of these men up. A pillar of light went up from each of them. Suddenly I had seen that from above, high, also a pillar of light began to shine to each of them. These pillars of light above and below began to reach for each other. And each such pillar of light from below had merged with his pillar of light above. And the result was a glowing rhombus of light. Many such shining rhombuses of light have turned out. It was as if two huge shining Golden cones were facing one another with the large base of the cone and these two huge shining Golden cones had merged by bases of the cone and had formed a single figure. It was as if two large luminous streams merged and formed a kind of a large golden spindle with yarn wound around it, but only of light.

I look at this and think: what is it? And here I remembered about the meeting of the soul mates. I already once arranged a meeting of soulmates for those asuras who had soulmate. And those asuras who wanted to go to their eternal soul mate, who had her, then had went to her. But these asuras didn't have soul mate. They were just ordinary asuras, but suddenly at each of these men somewhere appeared his woman. And from this woman from above to her man the flood of light went, and it turned out that two soul mate met although they were not soul mates, but became soul mates. I had such a clear feeling. I thought that each of these men has gained his Shakti. Each of them will have a soul mate, his woman, his Shakti. He didn't have his soul mate. But now he's got his sole soul mate. The idea that everyone has their soul mate is a myth. Not everyone has the soul mate. In fact, this is a very rare situation, because the soul mate is the person with whom you have been forever in the spiritual world. In the spiritual world there are both married couples and loners. And those couples who were married couples in the spiritual world, are the lucky ones who have their soul mate. But for everyone else who did not have a couple in the spiritual world, such a couple cannot exist at all. These asuras did not have a soul mate and could not be, but suddenly, by some miracle, they got a soul mate. This is a miracle. They could not get this, but received. For them, only one option was possible. They could only have partners for a while. As they say, karmic companions, karmic partners. They could gain a karmic beloved for a while, for one life, or for several lives, or for a couple of years, but they could not have an eternal soul mate, because they did not have her in the spiritual world. But they have gained a real soul mate.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I really had saw this, felt this. Each of them will have «you are my Shakti». This will be his Shakti not for one life, not for one incarnation, but for all these lives that remain at him in this material world, because, as far as I understood, when all the devotees Hare Krishna will return into the spiritual world, they will also return into the spiritual world. Krishna showed that at the screenshot with the open palm with the untied shoelace on it. And all these lives, all this time each of these men will have his own one Shakti, he will have one's soul mate, the person who's perfect right for him. He never had soul mate, and suddenly he has gained his sole soul mate. I really saw that.

When I saw this, I immediately remembered blessing of Lakshmi to conjugal fidelity and turned on the mantra «Mahalakshmi Suktam» performed by Uma Mohan. I remembered about how Shri Ram asked me to ask the goddess Lakshmi for the blessing to marital fidelity. And I remembered about I was later thinking about this blessing of Lakshmi when I was listening to this mantra. I turned on this mantra and gave for each of these men such a good session of unity, of merging with his already real Shakti, the one eternal true soulmate. After that I searched on the Internet images similar to what I saw in this session of merger souls together in the perfect unison and I realized what it was. This phenomenon is called the Twin Flames.

When I saw it on my internal screen, I did not know what it is, but when I began to look for images, I found on the Internet a semblance of what I saw. And thus I learned what this phenomenon is called Twin Flames. The Soul Mates and Twin Flames. The Internet is a lot written about this phenomenon. The Internet says that a Twin Flame, or Twin Soul, is a person who you feel connected to not just on a physical and emotional level, but also on a soulful or spiritual level. Twin Flames are also our mirrors in that they reflect back to us all of our hidden fears and shadows, but also our true inner beauty and strength. Many soul mates run from each other during the course of the relationship, which is usually part of the soul mate challenge. This should rarely happen between twin flames because as old souls they know they prepared for this reunion before they were born. Twin flames have a deep sense of coming together for a higher purpose than just having a cool relationship with great sex. In a twin flame relationship, sex is not as important as it is to a soul mate connection. Twin flames are definitely soul mates but not all soul mates are twin flames. Twin flame relation is purely a soul based, a very strong and a very matured relationship, both the souls remain committed not only to each other but to God. Twin flames relation does not stick to the standard norms of the physical plane. What the twin flames comprehend is not according to the logical or practical mind, it goes beyond to any sense of logic. I think a lot is true here, but not everything, since I saw something completely different. Here a man and a woman, who were without a couple suddenly formed a couple, and forever. Here two souls that were not Twin flames became such a Twin flames. They were not even Soul Mates, they were lonely souls, but they joined and became a Twin flames. And I saw with my own eyes on my internal screen, how it did in this case. Here I saw that the flame, a Golden pillar of light was coming from the bottom up, and at the same time the similar flame was coming from the top down. One a Golden pillar of light was pouring up and the other a Golden pillar of light was pouring down. These luminous pillars of light merged into one and formed one shining pillar of light. And I thought, they didn't have it, but now they have it. They have what everybody's writing about and dreaming about. They have gained their sole soul mate. They became Twin Flames. And indeed there was a flame. I was seeing that these two pillars of light merged, then the woman from whom the light poured from the top down, began to slowly go down below and ended up in the center of the resulting merged radiant figure.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

As if two shining luminous cones were merged by their bases and in the center of the formed figure as on a Lotus the woman sat down and the man from below this figure was like a bonfire, which tongues of fire on all sides surrounded the woman and formed the cocoon of flame. This cocoon of flame around woman was the protected space for her. And from below from cocoon of flame prominences were walking high upwards. These flame prominences were as if tongues of fire, as if golden, bright orange, sometimes crimson fire flares. These tongues of fire rose very high and began from all sides to embrace this cocoon, in the very center of which was a woman. I looked up images on the Internet about the Soul Mates and Twin Flames. There they are all sitting in sexy poses. At many of the images of the Soul Mates and Twin Flames they are bare, with passion, with desire and impulse to coitus, sex or in extreme cases to the hugging and kissing. But what I saw was not at all what it was shown on the Internet.

There I was seeing radiance, a flame, which with tongues of flame, like by wings, was surrounding the serenely sitting inside a woman and was protecting her from all sides. There was no hint of lust. Those who draw these pictures about the Soul Mates and Twin Flames are simply really just ignorant. They are off game. They are looking at this the wrong way. Everything that I saw was completely different from how this phenomenon is presented on the Internet. Those who draw pictures about the Soul Mates and Twin Flames and post them on the Internet do not know anything about it. This is the invention of their perverted mind, who thinks that the main thing in the Soul Mates and Twin Flames is sex. They're dead wrong. They did not see what I saw, otherwise they would not paint the Soul Mates and Twin Flames who are consumed by lust. If those painters actually saw the Soul Mates and Twin Flames, they would not paint them naked and reaching for each other with wanting to be connected by bodies. The way a woman's body is made, the way a man's body responds to it, the fire burning in his loins, the intense desire to merge as one... it all is coming together... in one brilliant flash... That is the limit of imagination of those who draw these pictures. But the woman inside this cocoon of flames coming from the man was not naked. There was no nudity at all. It was clear that it is a woman. It was clear that she is being inside this cocoon of flames. It was clear that she is surrounded by his flame on all sides like by hands, and she is closed by him. And all this was happening during the sounding of the mantra «Mahalakshmi Suktam» performed by Uma Mohan.

I remembered how we got married in in front of Nrisimhadev. And I thought: «Now it is happening to them. Each of these men found his soul mate. None of them had soul mate, but now each of these men has gained his the only soul mate. Each of these men was lonely, but now he'll never be alone again. And I witness and blesses the joining together of this man and this woman in holy matrimony. They are be joined by the sacred bonds of marriage forever». I was really feeling it and realizing that this is what is happening. I remembered how once upon a time, between lives, some powerful personalities came to me a long time ago. They offered me to give up Shri Ram and they gave me another eternal couple. I turned it down. I thought that if I had refused Shri Ram at that moment and agreed to accept another eternal couple, I would have gone through similar. Those personalities would give me a new eternal couple the same way, but now I'm doing it. I can do this. And I see it with my own eyes on my internal screen.

They have gained their sole soul mate, whom they didn't have, but now this sole soul mate will be at them. And the bonding process of joint occurred. I even felt and saw that a latch, a staple was put on each of them, like the paper clip which is connecting two circuits. Each of these men was be buckled up to his woman as if they were been locked to each other, as if they got chastity belt, as if each of these men was be bonded to his woman, as if the lock is in the locked position. I looked at them and thought: I am witnessing something quite extraordinary. It was an ordinary asuras, many of them were very cruel and malicious asuras, the great asuras, but suddenly they found a true friend. They found the eternal couple, soul mate, whom they never had, but now that's a fact. And they've already was be buckled up together at the sacred bonds of marriage, last forever. Their sacred union is the greatest gift from on high, the blessing of heaven, a chance to start over and bring benefits for all. And I saw it all on some my internal screen.

And suddenly all these men turned to me. They very resolutely and assertive declared to me, «Come on. Let's go. We are ready, we are right now ready to go, right now. We cannot wait any more! Let's go!» I tell them, «No, guys, just a minute, please». I was continuing to pour out this Lakshmi mantra on them, more and more imbuing them with the sounds of the mantra. I was directing to them the blessing of Lakshmi to conjugal fidelity to each other. I as if was bonding them and their union by conjugal fidelity to each other, using this mantra. Then I formatted their chakras and their unity when they became together merged. I was looking at these couples. It was not like the images on the Internet, which presents someone's fictional ideas about the Soul Mates and Twin Flames. On the Internet, the Soul Mates and Twin Flames are mainly shown in Kamasutra`s poses. On the Internet, the Soul Mates and Twin Flames are mainly shown as kissing couples, with sexual longing and hunger to satisfy every carnal need. On the Internet, the Soul Mates and Twin Flames are mainly shown as humans overcome by their lusts, mad with lust, reaching for each other with an overt desire for sensual pleasure. They are all the complete nakedness and shameless. Those who post such images on the Internet are confusing love with lust. In their view, the Soul Mates and Twin Flames are just two more travelers, mad with lust. But overcome by their lusts humans are no more than beasts. But in this case, when I was looking at these couples, there was nothing like it at all. In this case there was tenderness, security, reliability, protection. I formatted their togetherness to customize and improve their better version of themselves, and then, when I felt that everything was done and that they became a couple, I decided that it was already possible to send those men to their future lives.

They were so assertive, they were so eager to their Shakti, that I began to feel envy. I thought: each of these men is so much eager to protect their Shakti. Each of them so gently and securely surrounded his Shakti from all sides by himself as if she is his only jewel. This woman was most precious to him, but what did this Shri Ram to his Shakti? Yes, it is true, also, that my work inspires envy, and it hurts me. But work is work, and I continued my work. Each of these men eager to his Shakti with confidence and assertiveness, I held them back, but they were adamant, «We want right now! We cannot wait any more! Let's go!» And I decided: they really have to go. I had thought we came to the finish line, now I will turn on Narasimha Maha Mantra, Narasimha Kavacham and during «sampurnam sampurnam» at the end of the Narasimha Kavacham I will send them into the funnel-shaped vortex.

When I turned on mantra Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham», I continued to see this glowing figure in the form of the merged together cones. This glowing figure looked like a protected space that was surrounded on all sides with tongues of flames emanating from these men. And after some time this glowing figure disappeared. Only these men were left as if the total mass. I began to sing the Narasimha Maha Mantra and saw that during the sounding of this mantra inside of each of them suddenly appeared Nrisimhadev.

I remembered how Nrisimhadev found Himself inside teacher of Shri Ram when I begged Nrisimhadev with my hands folded in Namaste. But here I did not beg Nrisimhadev. I just began to sing this mantra and suddenly saw that the small Nrisimhadev on His Golden throne was flying inside of each of them, but nothing there kills, but just is inside and was flying there. I was singing this mantra, looking at this as if from the side, just watching the action and then I realized that they all become devotees of Lord Nrisimhadev.

I saw that Nrisimhadev entered inside each of these male and they began to acquire the same nature as at Nrisimhadev. They were filled up and imbuing with the nature of Nrisimhadev and become devotees of Nrisimhadev. They became as Nrisimhadev, but not like God, but with the similar qualities. I saw that each of them became the same as Nrisimhadev, the same furious. And Nrisimhadev there was in a furious form, «Stay away from me, I'll tear you!» Nrisimhadev looked furious, «I'll tear them all up!» And Nrisimhadev stood inside of them, and they were soaked with this fury of Nrisimhadev.

I had seen that they were rage glowing. They became as if red-hot and even began to emit some light, orange-crimson radiance, crimson glow. From each of them began to come crimson light, and they began to look like a furious form of Nrisimhadev, in mood of Sri Ugra Nrisimhadeva, «I will tear now any, cut any, burn any!» They were blazing by fire into all directions. As the mantra says, «Obeisances to the Lord Nrisimhaya, burning with His own scorching effulgence which are ablaze and whose eyes pour forth torrents of living fire, matched only by the glow of His glowing teeth. Obeisances to the destroyer of all demons, to the slayer of all ghosts. I offer my respectful obeisances unto Lord Nrisimhadeva, the source of all power. O my Lord who possesses nails and teeth just like thunderbolts, kindly vanquish our demon-like desires for fruitiveactivity in this material world. Please appear in our hearts and drive away our ignorance so that by Your mercy we may become fearless in the struggle for existence in this material world». Lord Nrisimhadeva is burning with His own scorching effulgence into all directions, and these male had the same thing. They with fury were rushing forward to their Shakti, they wanted to tear anyone, being in such a furious form, «I will tear anyone for my Shakti!» I was very bitter to remember what Shri Ram did to me, because he didn't tear anyone for me; he was tearing me for anyone. I was so sad...

They stood in a furious form, and it was evident that they're very keen to protect their woman, «I will murder anyone whoever tries to insult my Shakti or challenge me! I won't hesitate to burn anyone whoever tries to get close to my Shakti, whoever he was! I'll tear apart anyone whoever tries to touch my Shakti! I will destroy anyone whoever tries to hurt my Shakti!» They were ready to go and tear any for their Shakti, and from them came a dazzling orange-crimson light into all directions. I remembered that they must have some special interior vision, in order to they can see all the subtle plans of existence and any attack on their Shakti, and I thought, «Now we will turn on this vision».

I had looked at their heads and imagined that this vision turns on in them. And this vision had turned on in them. I saw, as if bright panoramic luminescence began to shine from their heads. This was as radiance, as some interior vision. They became like beacons with invisible light which is shining into all directions. I saw that they were standing with a completely bewildered, astonishment, stupefied looking, and it was evident that they had never seen anything like it and did not even suspect that such phenomenon existed at all.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And then during the Narasimha Kavacham when bhakta Marg was singing this mantra cheerfully on his guitar, there a funnel-shaped vortex appeared above them. Vortex was very big, very wide. This vortex can be different, but here it was so big, wide. Funnel-shaped vortex stood and waited for them all. And I saw that some gray-blue large stream was flying into the funnel, like gray-blue magma, right out from under them, from somewhere below where they stood. At first I didn't understand what it is, but then it occurred to me that these are their abilities that will be useful them in future lives in their mission «We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard. The enemy will not be able to approach to the border, because we'll crush him in a heartbeat». And then they all together began slowly to fly away into the funnel. This funnel closed a little, but not until the end, and I have this idea were, «It is not necessary to close it, we have to wait».

I looked down at what was left of them, and I saw that one of them was left; he was the very great and had not yet left. I had looked at him, had surrounded him by myself, by my gaze and somehow had expanded him. He got big, started to shine a dazzling light, and then I saw, he kneeled in front of me and bowed down. He kissed my hand, and flew away into this funnel-shaped vortex. Then the vortex closed. And this vortex closed much before «sampurnam sampurnam», somewhere in the middle of the Narasimha Kavacham. So much they were eager to defend their Shakti, radiating crimson glow, being in a rage: «She is my! She is my Shakti!» And they all flew to their Shakti. The funnel closed, I burned all that was left of them, and went to eat cake.

I celebrated this occasion a cake «Tiramisu», «Lift me up to heaven». I received such realization! I had seen that then between lives I really could get another eternal couple, because I had seen how they were bonded. It is as if the latch snapped shut and happened they have this bonding. And each of these male surrounded his woman by his solar flares, he were hugging her by his tongues of fire. This was the real Twin Flames. These men and women were not such, but they became like two souls that were created together in the beginning, two halves of the Divine whole. As the Song of Solomon 6:3 says, «I belong to my beloved, and my beloved belongs to me». But on the Internet Soul Mates and Twin Flames are shown is not so. On the Internet, Soul Mates and Twin Flames are shown in the spirit of debauchery, like in Kamasutra. But what I saw was without a hint of debauchery and nudity. Everything there was exalted, pure and noble. Each of these male has get his Shakti, now his real Shakti. And all their future lives they will be the most powerful and deadly weapon and the devotees of Nrisimhadev.

221. The single women, ladies of the night for protection system against asuras

I thought: we have protected married couples, and what about single women who are alone and can not keep chastity and practicing abstinence. There are different situations. Maybe some of women are living alone, but periodically are masturbating. Also there are women who agree to the unregistered marriage (de facto cohabitation without registration of the marriage as prescribed by law). Unfortunately, now a low propensity to marry and widespread non-marital cohabitation and extra-marital childbearing and parenting are widespread in many countries. In this situation the woman actually has no guarantees and is not protected, but is forced to agree to this kind of relationship so as not to be alone. And a man in such a relationship continues to consider he is free and does not take any responsibility for the woman with whom he lives. Also maybe some of women are looking for a couple, but couldn't say «no» to a man and agrees to casual sex with no commitment. But such women are not lecherous. The circumstances were such that she could not find her mate, but being alone was too hard for her. But asuras have access these categories of women. And such women are not at all protected from asuras. Asuras can freely plug into such women, pumping feminine energy and pious merits out of those women on a regular basis.

And I was thinking how to protect such single women who are drawn to a pure lifestyle, want purity in the relationship and want to have protection, but at this time are living alone and do not have the strength to resist the pressure of circumstances? How to protect them from asuras's incursions into their life?

I decided: we need to carry out such an action to ensure the protection of single women. Just then I was translating from Russian into English that part of my novel, in which it was revealed to me the reason why it became possible to recruit Shri Ram to the asuras. Shri Ram revealed this to me after I showed to the asuras the recruiter who conducted that recruitment.

Then the asuras had shook out of that recruiter all life files for all his lives, and Shri Ram in those life files of the recruiter saw with his own eyes what methods that recruiter used to force Shri Ram to give consent to become asur. And Shri Ram revealed to me what was the trap into which he fell then. As the bait was a wonderful woman-asuri who was a master of seduction men and who, having been instructed to separate us, managed to do it. And when I secured the protection of married couples and thought about how to protect single women, I was translating the story about the woman-asuri, because of whom Shri Ram left me, his eternal couple, his eternal wife, and became an asur.

I thought that the asuras there are women-asuri who are experts, specializing at the stealing of another person's husbands, at invading else's relationships, breaking couples, although those women-asuri no had interest in those men. Those women-asuri don't need a one man to have a fulfilling life. These women-asuri intentionally were invading other people's couples, although they did not have the right to do so. They were doing it in order to feel their superiority, or for fun, or because of the voracious libido, or for a bet, or to gratify their ego, or to refresh and hone skills of seduction, or on the instructions of the asuras, in order to make a male an asur or to deprive some woman of protection, in order to asuras be able to press her in order to she fulfilled wishes of asuras.

I thought it was a good idea to make these women-asuri a shield for good single women who, as a result of some circumstances in life, can not find her couple and remains alone. I thought these women-asuri, experts of invasion into couples and a husbands stealing, are perfect for a new action. These women-asuri have relationship problems throughout their lives. Well, you know what they say, «Lucky at cards, but unlucky at love». They always have been unlucky in love. But in fact, they just go from one client to another and do something bad there. They usually go where they were not called and where they should not be. They are single not because they are unlucky, but because they have such a lifestyle, such a job. These women are like the woman who took Shri Ram away from me and because of whom he agreed to become asur. She doesn't need a married life at all. A marriage must be between one male and one female, but she always regarded men as disposable. Her creed was freedom to hop from one man to another. She changes men like socks.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that I need to take these single women-asuri and turn them into protection system against asuras. They will protect from encroachments of the asuras the single women who are not protected. Now many men do not want to take responsibility for woman, they are lazy and want to enjoy life, satisfying only their whims. But women need protection, and they're looking for protection. In our time, moral standard plummeted. Modern society has become materialistic and consumerist based upon the illusory promise of unlimited happiness, material abundance and domination of nature. This contributes to breaking up families, the decline in moral values. Now the common perception is that if a woman wants a man to be with her, then she is obliged to give him sex, and if she does not give him sex, he will not court her and win the heart of his one true love. He will not try to earn her trust and will go to easy women who will spread their legs and give him sex, and that woman will continue to be lonely. Some women fall under the influence of this non-respectful relationships to women, gives in to such manipulation and enters into sexual intercourse with a man who is irresponsible and is not going to take any responsibility for her and who believes that casual sex with no commitment is just fine. Many women believe that cohabitation may be a prelude or an alternative to marriage. At cohabitation the woman thinks she is married but her cohabitee thinks he is bachelor. A woman becomes pregnant, and the man leaves and throws her alone with a small child, or she has an abortion, kills her own child while child is still in the womb. Women are so stupid that they allow men to fool themselves. And some women, seeing the irresponsible attitude of men and their very bad attitude towards a woman, simply do not want to be with them, and the man with whom they can be is not there, and then they live alone and sometimes for health masturbate.

I thought that all these women need to be protected, and those women-asuri who was specializing at a husbands stealing, at invading other people's relationships, will be their protection, protection system against asuras. They will be delicious, stupid, accessible looking bait for asuras who love to plug into single women, but in fact these women-asuri will be a cool powerful weapon that will destroy those asuras who like to bend single women to wishes of asuras. I have decided that these women-asuri will be the equally weapons as in the previous two actions, but they will protect the sector of single women who are not protected and are easy prey for the asuras. These women-asuri will become a trap for the asuras, and the one who gets into her, will not to escape from this trap, because he will be completely destroyed.

None of the asuras will be able to recognize that these single women are not really victims, but traps, because they will fit the criteria of such single women, to whom the asuras have access. And if any asur will notice her and wants to take over her, she will show to him her full consent to everything that he will want to make with her. Asur will never guess that in fact in such a pleasant guise of a pretty naive, trusting madame his death came to him. Actually, she will free them from their life of sin and from sinful activities.

But when I decided this, I thought that I had no right to doom women to such a life, even if they always had such a lifestyle. It will be the life of the single women, ladies of the night. I thought that I could not doom any women to such a mission, even such women. I doom them to loneliness. But on the other hand, they have chosen this lifestyle themselves. Their lifestyle, whatever been in the past, will continue to be. This style of life is quite natural to them, and for many lives they lived like this. That won't be a problem for them. But I was feeling sorry for them.

I thought that a woman should be protected, a woman must be married. I thought that I have no right to cruelty, condemning women-asuri to a life of single women, even if this is their way of life, normal comfort zone. They chose a certain life, and they chose that a long time ago. A lifestyle of single women, ladies of the night is their inherent way of life. But I still thought that I had no right to use them with continuation of such a way of life. I thought it was wrong. I felt sorry for them that they will continue the life of alone ladies of the night and will attract the asuras. Just at this time I was translating history from Russian into English how did I understand that my Shri Ram once in distant lives was recruited into the asuras.

I realized this by listening to the song of Yaroslav Klimanov «Response of the Centre to Shtirlitz» when I was planting flowers in my front garden. I was digging in the ground, listening to different songs on headsets, and because of this song by Yaroslav Klimanov I realized that Shri Ram was recruited by someone and that I will destroy this recruiter. By that time I already have done away with Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, and I have done away with Bhishma, patriarch of asuras. After them I was dealing with those asuras who were going to break me on their asuric totalizator when Borka put me as his lot, item on their asuric totalizator. Asuras were going to make of me semblance of a female animal during the period of fertilization. They were going to make of me like semblance of female animal whom does not matter with whom to fuck. They were going to make of me like semblance of female animal who are agreeing to everything in order to snap out of this state for a little while. And then it was the recruiter's turn.

I was planting flowers in the garden and was listening to this song:

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.

After all, everyone who went to serve into Special Forces, have the special task and specialized training.

If someone offers you a cup of tea,
Cleverly showing the pleasantries to you,

Be careful, be alert:

Every moment the recruitment occurs.

Someone is feeding us the crumbs off his table,

But don't act like a stupid bird.

We will remain servants of servants.

It's only a question about what hand will feed us.

When you accept, always give back.

And no need to think you're fully insured,

Otherwise, you will understand that you owe debt someone, you have already been recruited.

Being pure is hard-won toil.

The money and the fame stick to the heart.

We are always being watched carefully all the time.

Those and these, and from left, and right.

Give your soul only to God.

Do not be seduced by good deeds,

Otherwise, you will understand that you have already been recruited by others.

Need to get on comms regularly,

Remembering Krishna, for the good of all people.

Need to serve without shadow of doubts, fear and illusion.

And let the courage not leave you.

This burden is not light:

Every day you are at gunpoint.

But you yourself chose Special Forces by agreeing to serve in this your body.

Then I listened to this song and thought that someone had recruited this Shri Ram and should be punished. Then I was given this recruiter. The asuras shook all his life files out of him, looked at how it happened many lives ago, and Shri Ram himself saw it with his own eyes. I then blackmailed Shri Ram in every way, called for him to reveal it to me, and after a while he did it. So I learned that a big role there was played by some woman-asuri who was specially sent to Shri Ram. She looked like a proper woman, a charming, refined, exquisite woman, respecting him.

Many men are open to temptation, and she was singing his praise admiringly, she was flirting with him, was smiling and was clouding his mind in order to he thought she was for him the ideal, because he is the best for her. It's a good smart move, quite a useful tool in a seduction. And that woman-asuri had a specific task. Her task was to steal my husband in order to leave me without protection, because that asur recruiter wanted to fuck me, but I had Shri Ram, who was my husband. In order to leave me without protection and it was possible to carry out all sorts of manipulations and force me to have sex with that asur, that asur wanted to get Shri Ram away from me. And in order to reliably rip him away me, that asur decided to make Shri Ram an asur so that this would be irrevocable. And he sent him that woman. That woman was just doing the job. She tried to steal the man from the woman and to left her unprotected.

And this time, when I was translating this story, I thought that the asuras have women who fulfill such tasks. I thought that these women would never fulfill such tasks. They will have a completely different task. They received this task again and again and performed it. They invaded other people's relations and destroyed couples. I thought that using such women would be the right decision and I should not feel sorry for them, but I still felt sorry for them, because they are women. I was very worried that they would be alone. And at that time, I was translating that place in my novel about how I have punished the woman who was used at the recruitment of Shri Ram.

Then I directly connected her to the suffering that I felt because of she separated me from Shri Ram, although we are an eternal couple. I directly plugged into her my suffering over many lives, and the suffering of Shri Ram. He is my eternal husband, and I am his eternal wife. He offended his eternal couple, left her alone, without protection, and because of this he had failures with women during many lives. He could not make any woman happy, because, firstly, they were not his Shakti, and secondly, because he himself abandoned his Shakti, at will.

Yes, of course, it was the impact to me and Shri Ram. The asuras were performing manipulations of his and my mind in order to I say out loud to him that he was not exactly a good husband, that some men are better than him, that they are more suitable to me. The asuras was pressing on his complexes, and at the end of this asuras had used the big guns, that is, the woman-asuri, who was specializing at a husbands stealing. And when I was connecting her with our suffering during our many lives, I also was feeling remorse thinking that I don't have the right to do that, that I'm bad, cruel, and heartless.

At that time I was listening to Srila Prabhupada's lecture «The Lotus feet of Krishna are the best protection». And there were such words that if Krishna gave the order, it must be done, it is the highest morality, even if from a moral perspective it seems unethical. In this lecture was a story about how Arjuna killed Karna. Krishna told Arjuna to take advantage of the situation, even if it was completely wrong and unethical, contrary to the rules of combat. But Arjuna had to do it, and he did it. He killed Karna when Karna was defenseless, when Karna was standing on the ground, pulling the wheel of the chariot out of the mud and was without bow.

In this lecture it was said that many things may look unethical from a moral perspective, but if Krishna, God, said to do it, then it is the highest morality. And then I decided that I would do it to that woman-asuri, will connect her with these suffering. And this time, when I had a pang of conscience about these women-asuri, whom I decided to make a shield, armor for single women, I was translating these words from Russian into English. And I thought, «Yes, I think it's unethical, but they brought this upon themselves. They asked for it».

Their lifestyle will not change. When they were asuri, for many lives they carry on their transient life, they were like a rolling stone. And in their future lives at their important mission they will walk all alone. They will travel the world like tumbleweed, seeking rest and finding none. They will continue to pursue the same lifestyle, but now they will do it in a different way, not to do evil, but in order to protect other single women from the invisible invasion to them of the asuras. I decided that I will do it. I decided that I will take from the asuras the women like that woman, with the help of whom my Shri Ram was recruited by asuras and turned into an asur. I decided that I will take these women and they will be good traps for asuras who like to bend single women to wishes of asuras.

222. Their appearance is only a disguise

I decided that they would be generalists. I thought, «How will they live? What are they going to be like?» I thought that they would be very attractive to asuras who love to invade to single women, and asuras themselves will get drawn to these women like a moth to a flame. And even if these women will not go anywhere, even if they just will sit at home, still asuras will somehow trace back to them and throw nets onto them. The asuras will think, «She is a quite a catch, accessible, a prize catch, nice haul. The game better be good. Just what we need».

The asuras will think, looking at her, «We now will bend her to our wishes. We will press on her complexes and perform manipulation of consciousness, and she will begin to masturbate or will go somewhere to having sex with some lover-boy. We will plug into her, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And all of us will fuck her through the body of that male, or through her hands or dildo if she will masturbate. And all of us will fuck her during she will having sex with that male or during her masturbation. We will pump her feminine energy and pious merits out of her on a regular basis, we will put her on continuous milking».

Asuras will see that she has enough pious merits, there is something to take, that she is not poor regarding this and is easily accessible. All of these women will have a look as women who are willing to sleep with everyone. Therefore...

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.

After all, everyone who went to serve into Special Forces, have the special task and specialized training.

It's human nature to make assumptions based on appearances. But looks can be deceiving. You can't judge a person by the way they look. Maybe it's just a disguise to do their job, their mission. Maybe this person is specifically like this in order to this serve that mission. And these women will behave as if provoking asuras to active actions.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

They will look and behave like accessible loot for asuras. In their speech they will use words that attract the attention of the asuras.

Asuras will look at these women, ladies of the night, and think, «This seductive pretty girl dated more guys than you can count. She slept with a lot of guys. Many princes went with her with the hope to forget all the sorrows. So it's our turn now. She is just perfect for us. We were allowed access to such women». These women will travel all over the world, all over our planet. It will be whether some a business trips, or any international conferences, some fashion shows, beauty contests or some the photo shoot, tourist excursions, holidays at resort.

And here is such a good woman going to the resort. There she visits the SPA, beauty salons, and go to the beautician. You know, there the shaving, tattooed eyeliner, a soothing massage, an indoor pool, a sauna, a steam bath, an infrared cabin, solarium, restaurant, fitness room, a charming atmosphere, the chance to relax completely in an elegant environment. There the asuras always have people, who are ears and eyes of asuras. And asuras through these ears and eyes seek out their victims. And these women will travel around the world, draw attention of asuras and provoke them to action. The asur will think, «Now you will give me pleasure. I'm gonna plug into you right now and make you masturbate. I can see that this is something you did often. Or you will find some handsome man to having sex. You will find here a lot of men who wish to enjoy you».

Or she has arrived on resort. Asur noticed her and thinks, «I see, you want pick up someone, getting laid. Who you been flirting with? Well, go pick up someone. You will fuck with this pretty lover man, and we will plug into you during your sex and we through his body will fuck you. Come on, give us this pleasure. Don't keep us waiting. All of our will fuck you through the body of your new pretty boyfriend whom you will find here. And you will not even know it because we will fuck you through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. Because you're brainless dullard just like everyone else. We will pull out from you so much of your pious merits during your super intense awesome orgasms that you will no longer have pious merits to travel to such luxurious resorts. But while you're here, you are our».

These asuras will think about these women that they are greedy for pleasures, open to temptation, that they are women of easy virtue, that although they are cultural-looking, but they are too promiscuous. But even if these women will look like women of easy virtue, ladies of the night, willing to fall into bed with anyone, in fact, they will not be such in heart. Because I will make them devotees of Krishna. Their looks will be only a disguise.

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.

After all, everyone who went to serve into Special Forces, have the special task and specialized training.

Previously, they had their own special task. Previously they were seducing men, screwing with someone else's husband and were trying to steal another girl's husband. Now they will have another task, but something will remain the same: their appearance is only a disguise. Looks can be deceiving. Because it is necessary that they create an impression an attractive, completely materialistic, frivolous woman, dedicated only to pleasure. And those asuras-males will look at her and decide, «That must be our client». But she won't really be their client, she'll be their death. She will be pure. She'll be like a flower blooming in a dirty place. Although she will be in those places where the asuras seek out their victims, and although she will look the same way as their victims outwardly, but in fact she will be pure, but the asuras will not know about it. They will not be able to recognize that she is divinity, and not just an open-legged woman.

It will only be a disguise. Their appearance is only a disguise. It's all smoke and mirrors. It's Illusion, misdirect. But they will look very attractive to asuras because of what these single women, ladies of the night, will be some kind of magnet for all these asuras. And these asuras will think, «Right now we will enjoy her. We will plug into her right now and will enjoy this treat». And she will broadcast to them through allegorical meanings which hidden in ordinary words that she agrees fulfill any their request, that she'd do anything for them. «Guys, want to have some fun? Do what you want with me. I am yours. I'll give you what you want! I'll do as you ask». That is what she will broadcast to the asuras through ordinary speech and her behavior.

The previous two groups of protection system against asuras will always destroy asuras immediately as soon as someone of them will encroach. But these single women, ladies of the night, every time will destroy asuras not immediately. They will have been employing to such tactics that the crocodile keeps its mouth open for as long as the whole fish will not swim in into its mouth. Because these women, ladies of the night, will aim to destroy not only little asuras, and preferably their entire chain with the biggest fish, the pack leader. These women will wait and allow asuras to do to her what the asuras want, until a big fish is caught by her. It will be her task to wait for the greatest asur to come to her.

She will allow the asuras to do whatever they want, so that the big fish well swallowed the bait, well keep on the hook, and only then she as the most powerful and deadly weapon will activated. She will unleash such a powerful blow that will immediately incinerate everyone at once with one blow. She will fulfill all desires of asuras until the moment when this biggest fish falls into her snare. They will plug onto her, connect whoever they see fit up, force her to do whatever they want, and she will do it all. She will not know about it. That is, they will do as they do with ordinary women who have no idea about the existence of such a phenomenon. And in this case it will be exactly the same.

The asuras will think that she knows nothing, that she is the same brainless dullard as everyone else. And she'll let them do it. In fact, it is not something that she will allow them to do so. Actually, that's not entirely true. She just won't know it. This is necessary so that she then, so to speak, ate them all. She will not guess anything until a moment, when the largest, very large and strong fish will snap at bait. Because the most important thing is to destroy not small, performers, and the big hitters. If you want to take down the king, you got to sacrifice a couple of pawns. And she will sacrifice herself for a while, waiting for the most main asur to appear, in order to destroy everyone all at once. Fairness must be expressed by bringing to justice the perpetrators, instigators, sponsors, abettors, advocates and beneficiaries of actions, which are designed to undermine the stability and security of persons. Therefore, for some time she will remain in the dark about what the asuras do to her. But it will not last forever. This will end when the leader, the top dog will take over her, that is, when the great asur will fuck her, at the energetical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And when this happens, the period of her ignorance will end, and she will be shown what really happened to her. This will be a terrible shock to her. After all, ordinary people do not realize that it is possible to have interaction at a distance with the people who live among us. Few people can come up with the idea that sex is possible at a distance, especially with the pumping out of female energy and pious merits. And when she clearly sees that it was with her, the function of destroying the asuras will turn on in her. And it will happen at that moment when the biggest asur will turn his attention to her and when he personally will want to taste the pleasures with her, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, of course.

But such her ignorance, depletion of her stock of pious merits by the asuras and the pleasure by having sex with her will last not very long because the large fish will come to her soon enough, but at the same time not at once. This is necessary so that there were enough flagrant facts of such shameless use of her, invisibly, without her conscious consent to it and without her understanding of the events. Because when the biggest fish will get into her net and when she will realize what happened to her, it is necessary that there were many very disgusting, shameful moments when she was in the ignorance and did not know about it, did not see what really was happening to her. This is necessary so that when she saw how brazenly she was raped and how many things were done to her, outrage, anger and righteous fury flared up in her.

After all, at some point she will come to a very clear realization. She will have an epiphany that she was brazenly raped without her consent and even without her understanding about it and there were many of them, what a shame... She will realize that they unceremoniously invaded her personal space, they emptied the stock of her pious merits, stole a lot of luck from her. Yes, and it's a deep shame for a woman.

She will always catch big fish. Even the biggest ships can drown if there's a hole in hull. And she is such hole. When a big fish will enter this hole and will want to enjoy this hole, then the moment will come for the crocodile to close its mouth. And then she will have an epiphany. She will somehow suddenly realize, «Someone humiliated me. I completely screwed. I was just mugged. I was raped». And she will turn on this function «to cut down all the thorns from the tree is wise».

She will channeling all her emotions into rage and will destroy everyone who was with her, including this big fish, which took the bait. The great asur will fall into her trap as a big fish is getting caught in the fishing net. This woman will wait for this great asur, who is the biggest fish of the kind. And this great asur will sync up with her. He will tap into her mind and integrate into her energy female centers, like a big fish swallows a hook. Because she was waiting for the moment when the big fish will swallow a hook. And all asuras who fucked her, invisibly, and who were making a withdrawal of the pious merits from her account of piety, along with this big fish will be destroyed at once. And no one can hide from her, because she will unleash such a powerful blow that she will burn everyone who was involved in this.

To all these women will be at some point comes the realization when the biggest fish will swallow the bait and connect to her. She'll understand and say, «They had no right to humiliate me like that. I'm not perfect, but I'm a good woman. Does my pain amuse them? I've forced to live that life. I'm sorry about a lot of things. And I most certainly am not a role model to community. My life is the cruelly ironic of fate. I'm as a fallen flower, but it's not my fault. I'm a good woman. They did this to me, even without asking me. I don't even know who they are. I would never consent to that. And they were seeing me naked, and in the gynecologist chair, and in sex?! How embarrassing!!! I just want to curl up and disappear. They have no right to disgrace me like that. I feel just like worse than the last prostitute, than the most desperate whore, even though I'm a good woman. Is that my destiny? I'm sorry to be such. I've had bad luck with men. I just have a lot of bad luck with relationships. I forced to swap partners like you change socks. Men treat me like as disposable, a lady of the night. I don't feel well when I don't have sex for a while. I can't live without sex. I'm desperate for a sex».

When she was asuri, when she had an asuric nature, she had superior female's sensuality, increased sensual longings, womanhood and breathtaking sexiness, even filthy, shameless lust. And when she will go to her future lives to fulfill her mission, she will also have heightened sensuality, because it would be her weapon so that these asuras will surely have fallen into her net. And they will catch like a rat in a trap. She will be the perfect bait. She will bait asuras into a trap. The asuras will somehow be attracted to her, will be trapped and killed by her. Asuras will be trapped to her heightened sensuality, like a big fish is swallowing hook.

And when she understands what happened to her, she will say, «I will punish each of you! I'll leave no stone unturned! There will be no one left! I'll kill everyone of you, burn all! If you knew how ashamed I am... It's such disrespect for a woman. What have I done to offend you? I know I'm not perfect, but I'm a woman. I'm good. Just remember, however bad people look, on the inside they're still human, they're still good. I live in the name of Shiva. I live in the name of Krishna. I live in the name of Allah. I live in the name of Jesus Christ. I live in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. I live in the name of all saints. I live in the name of Lakshmi. I am woman. I'm little Lakshmi. How can you treat me like this?! What have I done to hurt you? I will spare no one! I'll burn everyone with my fire!» She will burn all their asuric organization, all who were engaged in it.

She will say, «Anyone who dares to touch my clothes will die a horrible death! They will die a horrible death even if they didn't plug onto me and if they didn't have sex with me, even through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. It will be enough that they just looked at me through the eyes of the male I was with, or through my eyes when I was showering, sitting on the toilet, or just looking at myself in the mirror. Even if they just look at me, they will all die! All!»

She'll feel unbridled raging, homicidal fury, reckless hate because what the asuras do is very bad, and she will destroy them all. And even if the most powerful asuras who are having extraordinary abilities, thanks to which no one can kill them, plug onto her, she will burn them fully. Because she will a trap for them. And there will be no such oath, curse, or blessing that she could not destroy. No metal can survive her fire.

And she will show them no mercy. And if asuras will place her to mental asuric catalog for sale and someone just look to this woman at their thought asuric Internet, to files with her too candid pictures during gynecologist's appointments through the eyes of a gynecologist, or during a bikini waxer, or through the eyes of women, washable in front of her in the shower after practice at fitness room, then those asuras will also be destroyed. Her fire will go to all of them at once and burn them all. Because it was not necessary to look at a woman as to a horse in the bazaar. She'll become like Nrisimhadev. She will say, «Men should be men, not such soulless, heartless buyers who look at a woman as a commodity».

If some asur looked at her there or took a picture of her in his mind and had placed her to asuric mental catalogue at their mental chat room in their mental Internet, then he had sealed his fate. If at least one of the asuras somehow, so to speak, touches her clothes, then he will be shredded, he will become a myth, junk. Well, the plane's totaled. Never to fly again. She will say: «Fall into the nothingness! Disappear! I swear I'll kill you!» And she will mentally emit into them a powerful fire, napalm, and will burn them, and the task for which this weapon is used will undoubtedly be fulfilled. Because the task for which this weapon is used is always performed, completely. And she will burn them all. Nothing will be left of them at all.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

It will be the most powerful and deadly weapon. It will be impossible to repel its blow or defend themselves against its destructive power. It will be a very accurate weapon, never passing by its target and completely and irrevocably destroying it. This weapon can be used for the purpose of destruction one unit of the enemy forces as well as all enemy army. This weapon completely burns its target with one powerful, targeted strike. No armor, no blessings, no shielding can protect against this weapon. They will become such a weapon.

Each of these women will look different. Among them will be women who are the vulgar simpletons, the working girls, the cultural women and even aristocratic ladies. Among them will be the ditzzy, trashy, fake blondes with fake tan and fake boob and many club wenches. Among them will be the rich society dames, the beautiful socialites, the gifted chic world-famous highest paid models, the scandal pop stars, journalists, broadcasters and the pretty celebrities. Among these traps will be motley assortment of women for one purpose: in order to asuras necessarily fall into these traps. We look at people and to evaluate somebody based on looks, on external behavior. You don't judge a book by its cover or a person from the outside. We think that this person behaves so ugly, so bad. But what if this person looks like that and behaves in such a way in order to protect you? Maybe, this person attracts all the dirt and protects you? Maybe, this person have such a important and necessary mission, the most important task, but we look down on this person and brands this person as a squalid, self-destructive person, «I want nothing to do with somebody like this person». Maybe, this person is your shield that turns attention from you to herself, takes the hit to protect you?

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.

After all, everyone who went to serve into Special Forces,
Have the special task and specialized training.

223. «Don't feel sorry for them»

Yes, I've already decided: I'll take those women-asuri who were carrying out the task of the asuras and invading into couples in order to asuras can be unhindered to impact to women. I'll take those women-asuri and make from them the shield for singles women. These women-asuri will draw the attention of the asuras, will take the hit and then they will destroy those asuras. That's how I will protect single women. I know what it's like to be a woman, alone, vulnerable. Women are left defenseless and alone in their sufferings, take upon themselves the blows of fate, but the asuras make these women even more vulnerable.

Asuras shamelessly invade the life of women, invisibly, everything happens through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. Asuras raise a woman's sexual desire, influence on women's centers at the energy plane of existence in order to woman beginning to satisfy sexually herself. And when woman has orgasm, asuras pump pious merits out of her. It's just a robbery in broad daylight.

It is as if someone came up to you on the street and said «Let's now you will masturbate or have sex with someone. You will get a super awesome orgasm, and I will take a lot of your pious merits, and after that something bad will happen in your life, the quality of your life will deteriorate very much, there will be a drastic change for the worse. I can see you're going through a lot. You have no husband. You do not have own home. You are forced to rent housing. You are alone woman. You are in a tough spot, and you need help. But you have now rented a nice apartment. You were specifically looking for apartment with a good-natured host. But why should you live in good conditions if you're nothing? It's your own fault and I don't feel a sorry for you. You should start masturbate or fuck with some asshole. You will get an orgasm, and I will take piece of your luck. After that the owner of the apartment will leave on a business trip, and instead of him his evil mother will controlled everything. She is an evil, greedy, captious, ruthless old woman. You will not be able to live in peace in this wonderful apartment. You will be sorry to lose the apartment. The apartment is actually very good, you have been looking for it for a long time, but instead of a good non-greedy owner suddenly his intolerable mother will begin to control everything. She will accuse you of everything and constantly will try to take more money from you. Of course, your life has now been improved, but I will do everything so that good period in your life ends as soon as possible. How do you feel about the female orgasm achieved by masturbation or sex with some man who is not your husband and is unlikely to become your husband? Buy a dildo and start to satisfy yourself sexually in this quiet and comfortable apartment. Go to a party, register on the dating site, find some fucker and fuck with him. Do everything in order to you will get the female orgasm. And when you have an orgasm, I'll rob you. I will make a withdrawal of the pious merits from your piety's account. I will make a big confiscation of your pious merits. I will transfer pious merits from your account of piety to my account. Your life will get worse. A kind, patient, pleasant owner of the apartment will not return. His raging feral mother will tighten control over you. I know you don't believe in this. But it's true. You will get a super awesome female orgasm, and I will receive your pious merits and will be more fortunate. You should start masturbate as soon as possible or find some fucker and fuck with him. I want to rob you. I want to in my life suddenly there was a wonderful change for the better. And the fact that your life will spoiled, I do not care. There was no need to masturbate or fuck with worthless men. But you did it and now get reactions. It was your choice, even though I tried very hard for you to make this choice. But the choice was still yours. So, do you agree to such a deal? I need you to agree».

Would you like that? Would you agree if someone approached you and offered such deal: he will give to you a super awesome orgasm, and even not personally as you don't even know him and didn't see him, and you will give to him the good luck and improvement of circumstances of his life with considerable deterioration of your life? I think you'd say the deal is not in your favor. But the asuras don't ask for your consent. They connect to you at a distance, forcing you to satisfy yourselves sexually in one way or another, and then they take payment for some of your orgasm, about which you will soon forget. And the payment in this case is your pious merits, that is, your luck, your good life circumstances, opportunities, something good.

And instead of a kind, patient, accommodating owner of the apartment you will deal with his evil mother. She every time will spoil your mood. You will want to move to another apartment because of this angry bitch, but you will be stopped by the fact that the apartment is good, in a good place, the price suits you, you do not want to look for another apartment, but no more strength to endure this toad, this evil witch, and she won't return your deposit on the flat, will fault you with anything. And I decided that I will make from those women-asuri the traps. These will be traps for those asuras who like to enslave single women who are alone with life, without help. But the asuras drown them even more, although these alone women need help. Her whole life is ruined, but the asuras take away her pious merits from her and live well thanks to her good luck and what does a woman get in return? She gets just some kind of orgasm. She was robbed, and in return she received only an orgasm. This is an unequal deal, no matter how gorgeous the orgasm. Get a gorgeous orgasm in exchange for an incorrigible deterioration of life is a bad deal. No one, being of relatively sound mind and body, will not agree to such a deal, because it's just a robbery.

I said this in the 251st series of my novel and began to prepare to carry out this action to create a shield for single women. But I still felt sorry for those women-asuries. I thought they will live many lives as a loner, a lady of the night. And they will attract the asuras to themselves. And the asuras will invisibly plug onto them and take pious merits out them. And as a result of this the life of these women will deteriorate. I felt sorry for them. After all these events they time will have to get this sharp deterioration in the circumstances of life so many times after emptying of their reserve of piety by the asuras.

I thought: these women will receive great disappointment each time when her eyes will open to those events and when she will accurately realize that after her masturbation or sex with some man suddenly her life didn't go the way she wanted and there's no way to ever fix it. And it turns out, this happened not by itself. This was a consequence of the impact on her of someone she doesn't even know, but she clearly sees that someone influenced her and brazenly took advantage of her, just fucked her like she is a fool. What a chagrin they will feel every time when the fog that hides the true picture of what is happening will fall from their eyes! I felt sorry for them, and I couldn't start sending them to that mission.

But then I remembered that when I talked about them in the 251st series, a screenshot with the words of Kunti «Do not spare them» several times as if accidentally opened to the full screen. I thought it is a sign. There, somewhere above, they see that I feel very sorry for these women, and even more sorry not for these women themselves, because they will do the same thing that they have always done, but in a different way and for other purposes, but still it will be the same. I felt sorry for those who were with these women, and this screenshot told me, «Do not feel sorry for them, do not feel sorry». But I still felt very sorry for them. And at some point, when I was really sorry for them, I went to make dinner and started taking off my rings. And when I was taking off the rings, from my hands accidentally fell a ring from the little finger of my right hand, with a ruby.

I bought this ring on Mahashivaratri 2016, which that year was March 8. At night from 3 to 4 March, I with Shri Ram had the heavenly wedding. And after that I bought this ring with the ruby for Mahashivaratri. And when was the night of Mahashivarathri, I put the deity Nataraja, set before him a plate, put my offerings to him and put this ring on a plate. I bought this ring and never wore it before this day, washed it and offered it to Shiva along with the rest of the offerings. And when I was offering all to Shiva, somehow the ring is moved and rolled to me to my side. This ring was turned to Nataraj, but when I offered everything, the ring suddenly rolled to me. And it looked as if Shiva himself is giving me his ring, which he had just received, on the night of Mahashivaratri. I realized that Shiva gives me this ring and blesses me.

And when I recorded the 251st series and I felt so sorry for those women-asuri, I was taking the rings off my fingers and this Shiva`s ring fell out of my hand and fell right in front of me. I immediately remembered Shiva's blessing and thought: Shiva wants me to do it. Even if I feel sorry for them. I remembered that in the 251st series several times a screenshot appeared when Shiva gave blessing. I thought: Shiva showed also in this series that he wants to this happened, and a ring with Shiva`s blessing fell right in front of me. I thought that Shiva very wants this. But I was still not reassured. I remembered Srila Prabhupada's lecture «Lotus feet of Krishna are the best protection», in which Srila Prabhupada said that if Krishna said to do it, even if it looks unethical in terms of ordinary morality, it is the highest morality and it must be done.

I thought that Shiva himself several times showed to me that it should be done and Shiva wants it, and if Shiva wants to, then it is necessary to perform it. But I still had doubts, and I couldn't accept this. But some of the confidence it gave me, but not much, honestly, because I thought: yeah, Siva wants this, and even if it looks unethical, it needs to do, because Shiva wants. Shiva knows better. I'm sitting here and can't see the big picture, I don't know what these women were doing for many lives, being asuri and making women lonely and defenseless. I don't know what happened to these lonely women, where they went, to what kind of the lowest place.

And what became of the men whom these women-asuri bewitched with their goodies, feminine charms? These women-asuri were using feigned respect for men, good manners, and glorification of these men in their dirty work. Charm, wit, sophistication, beauty, elegance and grace, sexual sensuality, womanhood of these women-asuri, their fake civility and decency, empathy and solidarity were simply an integral part of their specification. After all, the end justifies the means. But if the goal is to steal another girl's husband, then, accordingly, femininity, expression admiration for the man and other characteristics required for this should be included in the specification. Men get turned on by what they see. And the beautiful temptress needs to be one of those women men like to impress. Therefore, grooming of woman, even some respectability, interestingness, false modesty, of course, should be present. But these women-asuri were performing a very bad task. They did everything to make women lonely and to allow the asuras to subdue these women, and what happened to the men of these women who became lonely?

My Shri Ram became asur, and the motto of all asuras became his motto «We remember only the best, and when something better appears, we remember this new best, for a while, until next more better appears, because the best is always there. And what was once the best, we no longer remember, because this former best became not the best». And «do not remember» means that we have made so that everyone forgets about it, so that there is nothing to remember. It means to erase completely. And these women-asuri contributed to these bad things. And I'm here, living a ordinary life and not even knowing these women. I know nothing about them, but Shiva knows everything. And Shiva said that he wants it to happen. Shiva said that he wants that I sent these women-asuri to future lives to protect single women. But it still didn't stop me from feeling sorry for these women-asuri and for those with them.

224. The snow avalanche that got buried all doubts regarding the single, ladies of the night

Then in the news feed in «VKontakte» several times a day I came across a picture in which the sheep thanked the wounded dog that protected them from wolves. I looked at this picture and I thought that I am such wounded dog. I protect these sheep from wolves. I protect lonely defenseless women from asuras. I was exposed to the asuras, they tore me many times, and even this Shri Ram tore me mercilessly, spared neither me nor my children, and I did all this to protect these sheep, those who are the prey of asuras.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And I looked at this picture and thought that I have to do this. I have to send these women-asuri to their future lives to protect these sheep that are unprotected. I thought, this is a must do. I thought that there are a lot of sheep, that is, single women who need protection and whom will without protection against the asuras. And due to this the asuras will completely unhindered pump pious merits out of single women. And for this reason it is necessary to provide protection of single women. But I still felt sorry for those women-asuri and those with them.

Then I thought about pregnant cockroaches. In our house a lot of cockroaches. We sprayed for roaches many times, but everytime cockroaches were coming back. And when I see a cockroach, I beat it mercilessly. I say «Hare Krishna», I flush cockroach down the toilet and read a poem:

Boy Vanya played in the diver.
Boldly he dived to the bottom of the toilet.
Good aunt flushed the toilet.

The boy swam away into the stinking sewers.

If I see a pregnant cockroach, I hit it, too. And there are big fat cockroaches, in which an egg sticks out from behind. I beat such pregnant cockroaches, too, because out of eggs small cockroaches are born, which, growing, become large, fatty and nasty. And when I beat these cockroaches, I sing the same song:

Good aunt flushed the toilet.

The boy swam away into the stinking sewers.

I thought: for some reason I do not regret the pregnant cockroaches, but I regret these asuri. Why am I sorry for them?! I'm stupid. They did a lot of some pretty appalling things. The impudent woman-asuri a lot of lives back invaded our couple, when Shri Ram was with me, and contributed to the fact that Shri Ram was turned into an asur. And now he lives in accordance with the principle «we remember only the best» and when something becomes not so best, he mercilessly, ruthlessly destroys it. «No, — I thought, — we won't feel sorry for these cockroaches. In no case».

I remembered: in the fall of 2016 Shri Ram was lucky to stay alive after his life's supposed collapse, which could destroy him. And then somehow Shri Ram accepted my Gurudev's offer and became my husband again. Then I was shown that he had a woman that summer. I went to the neurologist because of the lack of air, which began when Shri Ram plugged onto me. The neurologist prescribed me a mild sedative and said, «So that you do not worry that this medicine can harm you, go online at home and read about this medicine. You have the philological education. You're a proofreader. You can read. You objectively assess the situation and can correct it». When I got home, I put all this into components, tried to decipher the words of the doctor with a projection on the situation with Shri Ram. I had thought, that In Russian, the word «филологический» («philological») sounds similar with the English word «feel». The Internet in this case is this mental, energy Internet, on my internal screen. I decided to look at this Shri Ram there, in that mental Internet. I thought that through the words of the doctor it was told me that I should look at my inner screen at Shri Ram and the whole situation with him, since I able do this, because I can feel. I have this philological education, that is, I have the ability to feel, scan, I have some radar that can probe the space and feel everything there. It's a kind of geolocation, like a multibeam echosounder probing the water column. The dolphin scans the water ahead with their sonar. Only in this case, this sonar probe does not probe the sea, not water, but the situation on the energy plane of existence, in the mental Internet, on the internal screen.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I closed my eyes and imagined this Shri Ram on my inner screen. And then a woman appeared from somewhere. She came right up to me; I looked at her with reproach, with resentment and immediately left from there. The whole day I listened to Mrityunjaya mantra and couldn't understand why I listen to this mantra. In the end, I realized: I listen to Mrityunjaya mantra so that this woman doesn't have anything bad due to the fact that she was with my Shri Ram. Because I was very disappointed. She was with my Shri Ram. She did not know that he was not a single man, since we interacted with him at a distance and were not personally acquainted. I was not in his life. And he looked like a completely free man. She did not know that he was bound by bonds of a sacred marriage with some woman, and therefore she allowed herself to build a relationship with him. But in fact, she did not have right to this. In fact, she invaded a foreign couple and turned out to be the reason that husband abandoned his wife in this couple. For this she must have been punished, this is sinful karma. And I listened to the mantra, so that this woman could escape punishment for the fact that she so upset me that she was with my husband. And then she appeared in front of me in the evening on my internal screen from somewhere and said, «I'm Sorry, please. I beg your pardon».

Shri Ram at that time harboured the hope of being with her, although he was forced to accept my Gurudev's offer. Shiva told him then that he had to do it. But he still liked that woman, although she did not want to help him and did not give him her pious merits to rectify his situation. He saw that she did not need him when he is a poor, fatal loser, as he then became, and he saw that she, of course, would get rid of him, but he liked her anyway and he wanted to be with her. Therefore I was told, «Please, look, read on the Internet, you have philological education». Thus, I was told to look at my internal screen and scan the situation with my sensitive invisible sensors, because I have a sensory education.

I had read at that mental Internet with this sensory education, and she appeared and said, «I'm sorry, please». Then I said to Shri Ram, «You had other woman, but now you are with me. You feel really sad». And he said to me, «Forget her. The past is the past. Please, let's not remember about her. I already forgot about her». I said him, «How could you forget her?» And he told me again, «I already forgot about her. Please, let's not remember about her».

For me it was so amazing! He was with her all summer, even wanted to get married and wanted to go back to her after he would have erased me just to enjoy with her, but when he had to take steps to maintain his status quo, he said, «Forget her. The past is the past. Please, let's not remember about her. I already forgot about her». How can you so quickly forget the woman you loved? He forgot her too quickly. I thought that he had forgotten me just as quickly, completely forgotten, as soon as she appeared in his life. He said me, «We remember only the best. We'll forget you, we'll erase you completely». I thought that those women-asuries were on the side of this attitude towards women and such actions towards women and we must not pity them.

And then such arguments came that has reaffirmed of my determination to do it and removed of all my doubts, like a snow avalanche destroys everything in its path. I thought that we created the protecting only for married couples.

We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard.

The enemy will not be able to approach to the border,
Because we'll crush him in a heartbeat.

We carried out this action. So, we created the protecting for married couples, but there is no protection for single, and this open a loophole for asuras. They can first impact not to married couples to avoid a trap. First they will have just to break a married couple, because it does not need an invasion into marital sex. Just need to hold a series of manipulation of consciousness of the wife and husband to get wife to broadcast her husband that he is not a very good husband, or to put pressure on the consciousness and the complexes of husband, so he was acting inappropriately towards his wife and in order to he was telling her that some women are prettier and better than her.

Asuras are so able to put pressure on consciousness that people under this influence even can say aloud that does not correspond to their real relation to each other. The asuras have a lot of technologies how to break the married couple, to put pressure on the complexes, and on the desires, and on the energy centers of wife and husband so that there was such a dissonance that can not be tolerated and you just want to escape from there. Asuras has a lot of methods to tear apart family. And if the asuras will not be able to invade the married couple of risks getting trapped of a weapon that will destroy them, it would be logical to first break the married couple, and then to do their dirty work without fear. And if there is protection for married couples, but not for singles, then it will be advantageous for the asuras to break married couples in order to later crush the loners.

I thought, «Oh, no, I'm against it». And I have gained confidence in belief that I must do it. I must to create of protection system against asuras to defense single women. I must to create this system using the single women-asuries. I got my confidence and thought, «I'll do it whatever it takes». In 251st series also was a screenshot with the words «of course, you violated». And this screenshot gave me thinking that really, we are violating something and this is bad, but it is necessary to make it.

And when I was tormented by doubts, I began to see places in the texts with this word, and in the imperative form of the verb: «to violate», «it is necessary to violate». And when I was explained that by giving protection to the married couples, but not giving protection to the solitary, I in this way contributed to the fact that the asuras first will destroy the family, and then will crush the singles, I decided that must necessarily create protection for the singles, and I got filled with great determination.

225. Creation of protection system against asuras to defense single women

It was Monday, February 4, 2019. I was determined and began put my plan into action. This is how things went. Children were at school. I saved up a lot of dirty dishes. I thought I'll begin to wash the dishes and will deal with these women. I also bought some potatoes in case the time to dishwashing will not enough to this. I told myself, «Go get 'em, baby!» Because if I don't create protection for single women, many families will break, because the asuras will be advantageous to first break up family, in order to after that to bend single woman, break her, and I will a culprit of this. No, no, that's not going to happen, I'll do it, I decided it.

When I made all the arrangements, I went to the mirror, looked into my eyes in the mirror, knowing that from my eyes this Shri Ram is looking at me, and said to him, «Shri Ram, when I was doing the previous action, when I was creating married couples, you had prevented me. I wanted to cause them a lot of pain. I just started to do it. I would have tormented them for a long time, but you came, and everything broke off. Frankly speaking, you made a mistake. Shri Ram, I'm going to do these women now. Please stay out of this, don't wreck my fun». Right there I come to the computer, and on my desktop there was a screenshot on which my Gurudev shoots bow and there are the words: «Without shadow of doubts, fear and illusion». I looked at it and thought, «My Gurudev told me to do it without a shadow of doubt, fear and illusion. I will definitely do it!»

And right away the following screenshot appeared. It was screenshot from the TV series «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev», in which Shiva is giving the sword Chandrahast with the words, «I give you this weapon». And then immediately the following screenshot appeared in which Shiva blesses Arjuna. I thought, «Shiva says it has to be done. Yesterday I've had a lot of doubts, but today I have no doubt. I will do it. Especially since Shiva himself has said that he wants this and gives us this weapon». I said, «Shiva, whatever you say, it will happen». Whatever's happening, it will be Shiva's will. Shiva dropped a ring Mahashivaratri from my finger to me and gave many screenshots with the blessing to this and gave many signs that he wants it. I went to the kitchen and began to wash the dishes.

I turned on mantra Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham». At first, those women could not be seen. I just sang, sang, then suddenly somehow felt that they appeared, that they are, that they are standing on my inner screen. I immediately found myself inside all of them and I began to spin there in a spiral. Then I stood up inside them at the level of the throat and to the beat of this mantra began to stomp there by one foot. I had stood up straight above this chakra and in rhythm of this mantra by my foot I began to punch this chakra. And I had punched right through this chakra. When I had punched the throat chakra, I went down lower to the next chakra, heart chakra and in the same way began to stomp in rhythm of the Narasimha Maha Mantra and to punch the heart chakra. I had punched through their next, the heart chakra, also. And that way I had punched through all their chakras, every single one of their chakras, just standing over the chakra and stamping my foot on it in the rhythm of the mantra.

After that, I had stood above all of them high up in space. I was a huge Cobra, and they were just as if the little speck down below me. On my head, like at a Cobra, there was some red stone, and I from that red stone right into this little speck mentally emitted a powerful ruby-red beam and burned everything in them by this beam. This beam went into this little speck below, and I felt that everything asuric, all negative there is burned completely. Must be, everything in them was burned, because after that I turned on the kirtan of my Gurudev Indradyumna Swami.

I had stood inside each of them. As if there were many of these women and I stood inside each of them at the same time. I began to sing kirtan Hare Krishna together my Gurudev. I had stood inside mouth of each of these women and began to sing Hare Krishna by mouth of these women. I remembered the breathing of Norbekov, when you are breathing by your eyes, by your liver, by different organs of your body. I began to sing by the mouth of these women. It's like their mouth, mouth is in their body, but I sing, and I sing through mouth of them, I sing by their mouth. After that I soar up into their eyes and began to sing by their eyes. Their eyes began to sing the Hare Krishna mantra. After that I soar up into their ears and began to sing Hare Krishna by ears of these women. Their ears sang the mahamantra. Then I had stood inside all energy centers of their body and began to sing the Hare Krishna mantra by different parts of their body.

And then I started singing the mantra by whole body of these women. I saw that at over the entire body surface of these women were appeared as if the open mouths. At the same time, it was not just the open mouths. It was the mouths and eyes and vaginas at the same time. Somehow it happened that at these women at over the entire energy body surface were appeared the opened eyes, which were both mouths and vaginas at once and their entire body was covered by a solid carpet of these mouths-eyes-vaginas and was singing the mantra Hare Krishna.

I remembered about Indra. Sri Caitanya-caritamṛta (Madhya-līla, 21.68) is said that Indra, the King of heaven, is very lusty. Once he had sexual intercourse with the wife of a great sage, and when the sage learned about this, he cursed lusty Indra with a curse that had put vaginas all over his body. Being very much ashamed, Indra fell down at the lotus feet of the great sage and begged his pardon. Being compassionate, the sage turned the vaginas into eyes; therefore Indra possesses hundreds and thousands of eyes all over his body. Thus Indra became a thousand-eyed. And when I looked at these women, I thought about the thousand-eyed Indra, because these women had pores all over their bodies, and these pores were both eyes and mouths and vaginas at once, and these mouths-eyes-vaginas were singing Hare Krishna for a very long time.

After this I went down into their vagina and forced their vagina to sing Hare Krishna. Their vagina was singing the mantra and feeling the bliss. It was as if they were drinking the nectar of conjugal love to Krishna. After all, the Hare Krishna mantra is Krishna Himself. Their vagina sang Hare Krishna, and the impression was that they have a sexual interaction with Krishna. It is as if they have a conjugal relationship with Krishna and feel the bliss of sensation of Krishna inside their female organs. After that I went up into their breasts and forced their breasts to sing Hare Krishna. Their breasts sang the mantra and feel the bliss.

All their femalehood, until the depths of their being, all their basic feminine nature sang the names of Krishna and thus had a kind of merging with Krishna, of touching Krishna, because Krishna is personally present in His holy names. It was like unearthly sexual pleasure and sexual interaction. I remembered the words about the brides of the Lord and thought that they had become them, brides of the Lord. They felt the eminently bliss because of interacting with Krishna by their female organs. After that, I again went down into their vagina. Their vagina began to get excited and began to feel an increase of sexual arousal. And then I went up into their Svadhīsthana chakra and turned on the kīrtan «om namah śhivaya».

I thought: Yes, of course, they sang with Krishna by their female organs and the whole body. Yes, of course, is good, but it was Shiva who constantly was saying me that he wants me to do them. So I thought, since Shiva wants it, let Shiva do it himself. I turned on the kīrtan «om namah śhivaya». It was such a cool kīrtan! I turned on this kīrtan and went inside Svadhīsthana chakra of these women. And I filled their Svadhīsthana chakra with this «om namah śhivaya». Their Svadhīsthana chakra became big and began to spin, first emitting a dazzling white light, a little Golden, and then began to sparkle with all the colors of the rainbow. Their Svadhīsthana chakra became like some big ball, consisting of different spheres, rotating simultaneously in different directions in different planes, and sparkled with all the colors of the rainbow. And then I filled all their chakras by this kīrtan.

And then I went back down to the bottom, went into their internal female organs and forced their internal female organs to sing «om namah śhivaya». And then I remembered Lona. Lona was woman who was the eraser. She was erasing the great asuras. She was erasing the future of the male-asuras. She had a very high sexual sensuality and so exorbitant sexual characteristics that no man could pass her by, and she was used for erasing asuras.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Every time when she was given the task to erase next asur, she was sent to this asur. He was getting into the field of her attraction and could not get away. She was gorgeous in her pleasure in sex and was stirring passions which this man had not felt never before. Her sexual talent and passion were throwing this man into extreme ecstasies. His dick worked like never before, and he felt incredible emotions during having sex with her, but she was pumping out all his life files and all his forces, and after a while he was becoming an impotent, whose cock doesn't get hard anymore and can't get an erection. He was becoming incapable, on all plans of existence, not only in bed, as a male individual, but in General, as a person, and then, after his death, he was going away into an incorporeal existence, and existed as a ghost, incorporeal, not having the opportunity to incarnate and be born as an ordinary living being.

Lona was so appealing and so developed in sexually, that I thought these women must be the same to any man could not go past her, in order to he necessarily will turn for her. I thought that these women should have the same sensuality as at Lona, and I excited all their female organs thinking that they will have the same passion and the voracious sexual appetite as Lona. And their female organs became as sensitive, as sensual and as greedy, like at female dog during the estrus.

They began to radiate this passion, lust and bliss, to emit around themselves the radiation of sexual urge, of a burning shameless lust. And it was clear that they are overflowing with ignited passion, sexual desire and bliss that everything there seems to be overgrown with a lot of willing mouths. After that, I went right inside their clitoris and made it sing «om namah shivaya». Clitoris grew up and became big and as sensitive as at Lona.

All this time I was washing dishes in the kitchen. And at some point, for some reason I needed to go to the room, there was a computer turned on, kirtan «om namah shivaya» was sounding. I looked at the desktop of computer to know what there was a picture, and there was a screenshot of the «Mahabharata» with the words «Maharaj, you must to give them a better nice welcome». I thought: we should give them an even more cordial welcome, we should do something even more for the warm and generous hospitable meeting.

And then I forced all their female parts, vagina and everything else, to sing «om namah shivaya» with such intensity, that they began to emit a very beautiful ruby invocation glow, past which no asur can not pass. As in the animal world, when a female dog is ovulating, she emits pheromones, and a male dog detect the smell of these pheromones, can not resist the call of nature and he runs to her. And these women started emitting these pheromones. But it's not really pheromones, but some beautiful cherry-ruby-crimson glow. In addition to the fact that they began to radiate bliss and desire for sex, they also began to emit this radiance, which acts on males as pheromones of a female.

I remembered that this way in the jungle a male elephant are caught using the specially trained female elephant give off intense pheromones. The male elephant detect the smell of pheromones of a female, can't control himself and rushing like crazy to her. And I thought that just as the smell of female elephant drives the male elephants crazy, so this radiance will act in the same way to the asuras, and the asuras from afar will feel this radiance, will not be able to pass by and will fall into the trap of this radiance. These women just will emit invisible radiance, and asuras will rushing to them like crazy, like male animal are rushing to female animal in heat, in estrus, smelling her pheromones.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And then I saw that all of them were not just emitting this glow, passively attracting male to themselves. It was like a switch was flipped inside them, and the active invocation had come on, as the call of the flesh, as the female's mating call, desires of the flesh. I had seen that all of these women somehow rose, became big as queen, lady, as the overlord. They became as the queens who are endowed with power and the right to give orders, and they turned their demand to men that men are obliged to carry out commands of these women, must be with them. It looked as if these women are very sensuous, longing sex, very sensing voluptuousness and bliss and are fully entitled to get it. They seemed had turned on men their gaze, which is filled with sexual attraction and demand to fulfill it. They began to give the order to all the men, «Come and do what you must do!» All these women have become like queens and ladies endowed with power, who give the order which men are obliged to fulfill. Each of them became like one female that runs the whole show. Each of them became like a queen bee who goes to mating with males from her own hive.

After that, I turned on my Gurudev's Nrisimha-kirtan and began to format their chakras at a spontaneous dance of hands. I formatted all their chakras, went up to their Sahasrara chakra, where the top of the head is, and opened it completely, and their Sahasrara chakra became like an open chamomile and began to sing Nrisimha-kirtan. And after that suddenly the shining white light began to flow up from their Sahasrara, and a pillar of light was formed. And then from top into their Sahasrara a golden glow began to flow. These pillars of light merged together, and all their Sahasrara chakra became soaked by the singing of Nrisimha-mantra.

And then I thought they could be sent. I turned on the «Ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham» and imagined that they became like the goddess Kamakhya, the personified yoni, with a lot of different weapons in her hands. I imagined that they, as the goddess Kamakhya, are inflaming with wrath and eager to severely punish the reprobates. In the 27th series of «Mahakali» Devi Kamakhya stood with an angry look with a Trident in her hands, and these women became the same as this powerful fierce goddess, and their gaze was directed in all directions.

And then when I turned on the Narasimha Kavacham, a funnel-shaped vortex appeared on top. I took some kind of blowtorch and with it, like by a scalpel, cut off all the threads that connected them with something below, and then I stood under them and, like the wound is cauterized, I had cauterized with some napalm all those places, in order to there heal faster. And then from the bottom down up something began to fly into the funnel-shaped vortex by large stream. It were some of their abilities that they'll come in handy in their future.

And then I somehow had blessed them to their mission and direct them forward. And when was words «sampurnam sampurnam» at the end of the Narasimha Kavacham performed by bhakta Marg playing the guitar, funnel top began to spin as the powerful vortex and dragged them all into there. Then the funnel-shaped vortex closed, and I saw there where they were standing, a gorgeous pink multi petal Lotus, completely opened and incredibly beautiful, and it closed very slowly and sank smoothly down, into the ground.

We sent them to their future, and they'll be at the important service. They will be as furious goddess Kamakhya, eager to punish the reprobates. These women will say, «I am the personified womb, I am Mahakali, and I am your death». They will say this to the asuras, because the asuras are acting, plugging onto women, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, through body of man during sex or through dildo or something similar if the woman is masturbating. First of all, it's not good. Secondly, asuras are selling women. Asuras are selling sexual favors, at the energy plane of existence. And thirdly, they are implementing the withdrawal of the pious merits out women.

And this woman, personified yoni, after a while, when the biggest fish takes the lure, that is, when greatest asur will plug onto her, she will destroy them all at once. I remembered the picture of the sheep thanking the wounded dog that had protected the sheep from the wolves, and I thought we had made many such dogs that will protect the sheep, that is, the lonely women, from the wolves, that is, from the asuras. These dogs, that is, the personified yoni, will be emitting around themselves the demanding calling glow. They will allow the asuras to plug onto them in order to asuras beginning to empty store of pious merits, and then, when those women will understand everything and when the biggest fish will fall into their trap, they will burn them all forever. And all the sheep will be protected.

226. The merciless process of forgetting, that is, the steal of the pious merits

In the 252nd series (at 27:10) I was reminded of the woman with whom Shri Ram was in the summer of 2016 and because of whom he refused me, saying: «We remember only the best». She was actually a very good woman. Shri Ram is the great asur. He is RA. RA is an asur at the top of asuric hierarchy. RA is asur who can plug onto people and who can plug the other asuras onto people. He can see people's thoughts, can communicate through other people using an allegorical language, being geographically far away, although living here like all of us, as an ordinary looking person.

He can do a lot. He can conceive with ordinary woman completely invisibly, at the energy connectivity, his asuric baby, who, being in some unmanifested form inside this woman, many years can wait for her to have ordinary sex with an ordinary man and there will be an ordinary fertilization, as a result of which this conceived baby will begin to grow as an ordinary embryo, and then as the fetus. And this RA, the great asur, can even extract from her this asuric baby, who is still in unmanifested state and who did not hatch. This RA can extract this asuric baby out of a woman, in whom he was conceived, if for asur need to baby was born by another woman. And this asur can sew in this baby in the other woman. And this asuric baby will be inside another woman and just waiting for the usual fertilization. It's similar to surrogate motherhood. Shri Ram is such a great asur, RA. He can do a lot of. And he's seen a lot of women in his life.

And that summer of 2016, he was with a very good woman, a gorgeous woman. And at that time he was in love with her. He has what to compare with. Having seen a lot of women through the eyes of other people, touching them with the hands of other people, being in thoughts of those women, seeing what they truly are and what they think, he, of course, had been able to compare. And this woman was for him the ideal of a woman, the ideal of femininity. He was even going to marry her. But then his life began to fall apart. He lost almost everything, almost became a bankrupt, a homeless man. And he had wanted her to help him, to give him her pious merits, in order to she straightened his financial position that was teeter upon brink. But she didn't do it. She did not give him the consent to share with him her pious merits. Of course, here we are talking not about the aware consent, but about consent at level of higher self.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

She was totally right. Because if she had shared her pious merits with him, she would have followed a different life scenario. It would be not that life scenario she had with her pious merits, but the worst-case scenario. Without her pious merits was waiting for her sad future. It would be a disheartening picture. Consider the following: she was a healthy, financially independent and blossomed woman, with a chic house, with a stable, successful business that brings great income. She was a woman who has no problem. She never had any sort of health problems and money problems. She was used to luxury and did not count money when shopping. She had got a very bright future, fulling a pleasure, the holiday of fun and joy of life. But Shri Ram takes away from her a lot pious merits. There is very little pious merit left in her bank of piety. And all her life is rapidly going apart. Most likely, she will have problems in business. The deals and the funding will dry up. The costs will increase, and revenue will have dropped significantly. Business will have gone down badly, but she still will have to pay her workers. Her company will become insolvent. She will forced to close her business and to start looking for some sort of job to pay the bills. She will be the hired worker and will forced to economize, change her way of life to reduce expenses considerably without spending much money. She will be sad to recall her former luxury, which will be unavailable to her without her pious merits, and she will try to train herself to be content with a living wage. She will begin to ask him for money. She will want him to marry her and solve all her financial problems. She will begin to treat him not as a man, but as a sponsor. She will complain to him all the time.

Since he would pump a lot of pious merits out of her, she would get a menopause ahead of time. Somehow the female nature is connected with pious merits. She will have an early menopause and many chronic illnesses that she never had. She may even get cancer. Maybe she will be in some kind of car accident. Her income will be severely reduced by health problems associated with the onerous consequences of car accident and chronic diseases such as osteoporosis, arthritis, lumbago, diabetes, rheumatism, cardiovascular diseases, high blood pressure, a persistent headache and other degenerative diseases increasing the risk of severe complications. She will go to doctors all the time, complain about her health and that she had no money. All the money would be spent to treatment, to going to doctors, to medical tests, to the bottles of urine and feces, to Ultrasonography, to the MRI and the puncture. It will be unpleasant things that will not correspond to the image of the ideal woman, whom Shri Ram saw her before that. It's totally understandable that she will not want sex. He will need sex, but she will constantly have a headache, her body will hurt, and she will always find reasons to refuse sex. But when sometimes they will have sex, it will not be so interesting and pleasant, as she will try to finish this matter as soon as possible, because the loss of pious merits will also hit her female organs. Maybe she will have a loosening of the vaginal walls, uterine prolapse, and incontinence. Maybe she will have constant painful vaginal dryness. Sex will not give her pleasure and will even be painful for her, and she will try to have less sex. Her uncontrollable urination during sex will be very unpleasant for him. She, too, will be very ashamed of this, but she cannot do anything about it. Doctors also will not help her in this problem. But most she will be suffering because of cystitis after sex. Strong burning sensation and constant urge to urinate within a few days after each sexual intercourse will bring her intolerable torment, and the very idea of sex will begin to send her into a panic. It is clear that about any sex in this case can be no question. Sex in their lives will go to zero. This will certainly be very unpleasant turn of events for Shri Ram.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

She will not have time for him. She will spend time to trips to doctors, to treatment, procedures. She will begin to want him to be more involved in her life, in improving her condition. She will start to demand that he accept responsibility for her and put his whole life on hold to be with her and take care of her. After a while, she will start to get on his nerves and will get too far. Her dejection and reproaches will be unbearable for him. He will decide that he can do without all these nagging and blame and he will go off with another woman who will be better her. He will go to other woman, and that woman who he loved and whom he erased, will be forgotten by him completely. He will erase her. He will take everything from her bank of pious merits, from her strategic reserve of pious merits. Therefore, she is, of course, did the right thing that she did not share with him her pious merits. But he did not like that she did not share with him her pious merits, to help him shore up his finances which was a wreck.

He saw that she didn't like men who are making trouble. She was well-educated woman with a high social position and a good income, aristocratic woman, who has long been accustomed to a rather carefree existence. She didn't see the benefit to get involved in other people's troubles and didn't let other people's problems affect her. Just like him. In this they are very similar to each other, just as two peas in a pod: «Don't do focus on other people's problems, just have to enjoy». He saw that she did not need him when he is a poor, fatal loser, as he then became, and he saw that she, of course, would get rid of him. And so when Shiva told this Shri Ram to become with me, otherwise he would lose everything, and that he can save everything if he will be with me, Shri Ram, to save his money, decided to become with me. He was forced to give up that woman. And he forgot her.

This I learned from our mental conversation, after this woman was showed to me at that mental Internet. I had saw her on my internal screen and listened to the Mrityunjaya mantra all day long. Then I thought I was protecting her from my anger. But I was protecting her not only from my anger. I also was protecting her from Shri Ram's actions, because he decided to forget her completely. He decided to erase her.

In this case, «forget» means something else. It's called completely erasing in order to there was nothing to remember. In this case, «forget» means to do so that there was nothing to remember, that there are no those who can be remembered. In this case, «forget» means to make so that the one who was earlier, after ceased to be, as a result of which there would be simply nothing to remember. In this case, «forget» means to erase like to erase a pencil by a pencil sharpener, cutting off more and more wood shavings from the a pencil trying to turn a pencil into sawdust, then to release the sawdust into the wind. In this case, the pencil is erased, the pencil just did not become, and everyone forgot about the fact that this pencil was once. That's what those words «forget» mean. Similarly, the asuras can cut off more and more pious merits from the woman's stock of piety and can completely empty her piety stock so that nothing remains of this woman so that she fell to the bottom of life, began to live according to the worst scenario of her life and would have completely disappeared afterwards. It's called completely erasing of woman by asuras.

Asuras erase women, forcing them to somehow satisfy themselves sexually that the woman had an orgasm. And when she has orgasm, asuras can pump out pious merits of her. They can pump out pious merits long, gradually, but can pump out all pious merits at once. And they can pump out pious merits of woman gradually and erase her, and when this woman remains without pious merits then she will go to the worst scenario in her life, and everyone will forget about her at all. And when I mental asked Shri Ram, «What about this woman? I saw her on my internal screen», he said me, «Forget her. The past is the past. Please, let's not remember about her. I already forgot about her». You know what that means? That means he decided to erase her, like a pencil by a pencil sharpener, removing wood shavings from a pencil until nothing remains of the pencil. He decided to forget her, in order to there's nothing left of her, in order to there was nothing to remember.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And when I was singing the Mrityunjaya mantra, I certainly tried to protect her from my anger, because I was very annoyed that some other woman was with my Shri Ram. Also I was trying to protect her from erasing by this Shri Ram that he is not erasing her without sending her to the worst scenario in her life. I also defended Shri Ram from these actions and from the reactions he would have received for erasing such a wonderful woman. How many goals were achieved by singing the Mrityunjaya mantra.

227. Star that fell from heaven to earth

I remembered how I described this woman. She was so wonderful! I wrote a lot about her.

I found for Shri Ram a good woman, fully consistent with his preferences and image of a real woman. She was nice woman, modest, well-groomed, cultural, erudite, intellectual, smart, the neat one, faithful, tasty cooking and loving to cook (these same words describe her in sex, about tasty cooking and that she loves cooking, because for the asuras the words about food characterize everything related to sex). She has always been interesting to him. Next to her, he felt like a real man. She was constantly exciting for him and she never was trite for him. She was wonderful woman, open, sincere, outwardly attractive, charming, with a very developed sense of harmony in everything, calm, surprisingly restrained, balanced, kind, lively and dreamy. She was sincerely admiring him, was considering him a perfect and acting as if his faults didn't exist. She was kind-hearted and surprisingly feminine. She always was giving him to understand how much he is necessary to her. Perfection itself! God, like a breath of fresh air for Shri Ram!

Wonderful woman! She just didn't want to share with him her pious merits, and it was the right choice. Because he would have taken a big portion of her pious merits, and he would have stayed win, but she would have become for him burden, an annoying distraction because of such a great loss of her pious merits. And taking advantage of her pious merits, he would have erased her and went to other woman. She was right that she did not share with him. But he did not like it, and he decided to erase her, he decided to forget such a woman! He decided to erase a woman who was refusing to see his flaws, who was thinking he was perfect, who loved beautiful things, flowers, sophisticated haute cuisine. He with such great pleasure and satisfaction was spoiling her, was saying she is his beloved. And he was delighted to perform her so cute whims...

He was talking her, «You're beautiful, my love. You're my beloved», but then he started the process of her erasing, of her forgetting. Maybe he had placed her to asuric mental catalogue at their mental chat room in their mental Internet. The asuras has a catalog in their mental Internet at mental plane of existence. In this mental catalog are included a lot of files with description of different women. At asuric mental catalogue there are pictures of women in different views — and at the reception at the gynecologist, at the fluorography, with all the open parts of the body, at the mirror in the underwear or without it. At asuric mental catalogue there are descriptions of sexual characteristics and behavior of those women at sex and how much the pious merits asuras can to pump out of those women at one female orgasm. Maybe he even put her on the sale to erase her and thereby improve his position. She is such a good woman, such a wonderful one; he was saying to her «my beloved». And then he said me about her, «Forget her. The past is the past. Please, let's not remember about her. I already forgot about her. I have already started the process of her erasing, of her forgetting. We will erase her. Soon there's not going to be much left of her. We will capitalize on that».

Shri Ram was spending a lot of money for the sake of her affectionate look and such an expensive for him smile, but he never once regretted it. He spent a lot of money on her. And after that he had wanted to compensate somehow this money which were spent for her, and decided: «Now I will put her on sale. Asuras will look at this good specimen of human female at our mental catalog, and there will be many willing who will pay for sex with her, which will be through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. She will masturbate. I will plug onto her the asuras who bought her. They'll fuck her during her masturbation, and she won't even know it. Women are so stupid. They know nothing about us, about the asuras. They do not even guess that there are some asuras who can plug onto women at the energy plane of existence. They do not even guess that these asuras can fuck her, even when she just masturbates, in solitude, in the silence of her house. And this woman is the same naive stupid fool. She will masturbate, and during her female masturbation I will establish a connection between other men and her. These men will enjoy her during her female masturbation and during her female orgasm they will do the withdrawal of the pious merits from her piety account. And gradually they will erase her. At least it'll make up for what I spent on her. Let she earn back what I spent on her. I spent so much money on her! I was offering her expensive gifts and was inviting her to expensive restaurants. We went to upscale restaurants, private concert venues, and posh hotels. I was buying her dear flowers. I had to expend a lot of time, efforts and money. Let these asuras, fools, buy sexual favors and at distance fuck her, at the energetical connectivity. I'll try in order to she wanted to satisfy herself sexually. I will press to the women energetical centers in her subtle body. I will do manipulation of her mind. I will make her think that for health she needs sex. She is unlikely to go to other men, but I will make her masturbate. I will plug those fools-asuras onto her. I will place her to asuric mental catalogue. I will include into the file with her description the mental pictures when she was naked in front of the mirror. I will put there pictures, how I saw her naked, how I had sex with her, how she reacted during sex and what she was like during sex. Many asuras will want to taste sex with such a specimen of human female at sex. How is it so funny! She has high standards of self-respect as a woman, but I'll sell her like a whore in a brothel. She thinks very highly of herself, but many asuras will fuck her like a slut. And she won't even guess about it because this will be connectivity through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. This is similar to how create a network connection to connect the system to an access point. Asuras will want to fuck her and they will pay me by pious merits which they pumped out somewhere. I spent way too much time and money to her. She has to pay for the damages. I can't get back those hours of my life, but she will give me a refund. She will masturbate, and I will receive pious merits from those asuras who will fuck her during her female masturbation in solitude, in the silence of her house. And thanks to these pious merits, I will receive many opportunities in life and I will have a lot of luck, I will be very successful. I need to know that it wasn't all for nothing».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

In that way he put such a good woman up for sale. Because I asked him, «What about this woman?» And he answered: «Forget her. The past is the past. Please, let's not remember about her. I already forgot about her». He already forgot her. He has already done everything to make her stand on the process of forgetting, of erasing. Asuras are already doing a withdrawal of the pious merits from piety account of this woman. This is similar to how fraudsters empty out the bank accounts of honest citizens. The fraudsters transfer the funds into the new bank account into their control. Similarly, fraudsters-asuras transfer funds from this woman's piety account to their piety accounts. «The process of forgetting, of erasing is going on. How much interest is already withdrawn from her piety account? We have already withdrawn 70 % of her pious merits. 30 % still are left. Gradually we will erase everything. We will take all her pious merits. We will completely empty her stock of piety. Her piety account will become empty; she will be without pious merits. Problems, failures will begin in her life. No one can help her. All her friends and relatives will turn their backs on her. Everyone that she care about will turn from her. The troubles will fall on her from everywhere, and she will not be able to fix anything, because all this will happen to her due to the fact that she will not have pious merits, her stock of piety will be devastated and she will have to work off her sinful karma within very stricter conditions, without the mitigation by pious merits. And this will be the darkest of times for her. Many bad will happen to her, and she will lost to history. She will be forgotten forever».

She had good living conditions. Apparently, I have preserved good living conditions for her when I was singing Mrityunjaya-mantra. Otherwise, she would lose these good living conditions. Her real estate, her land would come up for auction after he would devastate her piety's stock. Or she would have sold her posh house and bought some horrid little rundown shack with cockroaches to pay for her treatment. He didn't spare her. He said, «I forgot her».

She had a lot of free time for him. She was well-educated woman with a high social position and a good income, had the best prospects of living longest. She was not burdened with young children. If she had small children, he would not have spared small children. He would have solved so: «To not spare the innocent ones — that shows real greatness. There are many orphanages. Some orphanage is gonna take these babies, why feel sorry for them? There are plenty of such children everywhere». She was lucky she didn't have small children.

She was living in real life, in the physical reality, and did not poke her nose into his affairs at the subtle, fine-material, energetic planes of existence. She did nothing knowing about that and not even suspecting that this man, so courteous, so decent, so pleasant and inspiring confidence and immense respect, can do something bad. She was nice to communicate with him, to look at him. He was so wonderful, intelligent man, feeling her mood and anticipating her wishes. He was very delicate, a kindly, empathetic man.

Yes, he anticipates her mood and her desires, because he is in her thoughts and sees everything she thinks and what she wants. He just sees her desires and fulfills those desires, which he considers necessary to fulfill. He fulfills only those her wishes, the fulfillment of which will be useful in achieving his goals. But in reality, the fulfillment of her desires is not at all interesting for him. He does only that which contributes to the fulfillment of his desires. He saw in her thoughts some desire, took it and fulfilled it. This is the coolest just mind-blowing wonderful adventure. And she thinks, «God, he guessed my wish! It's more than some crush. It's just been a really magical weekend! It was divine! He is a master of surprise. He's a magician!» But it's a lot less complicated than it is on the surface. He did not guess her wish. He had seen her wish in her mind, in her memory, but she does not know about it.

She thinks that such men are so rare in these times. (Of course it is. He's an asur, and asuras are very charming, many asuras are simply beautiful. They are attractive, good breeding, well-educated men, likable, distinguished for a pleasant sensation of beauty from the first minute of communication. They inspire confidence and respect; you feel it immediately.) But she would not have known that the terrible situations in her life, which like a snowball would be falling at her from everywhere, would be the result of the activities of this wonderful man. She would not have known that he is cause of her endless misfortunes, that it was he who devastated her reserve of piety and deprived her of all favorable opportunities and good living conditions. And when he had put her at the process of the erasure, at the process of forgetting, he didn't care what will happen to her.

That woman was his ideal of woman. He did not regret a woman, who was his ideal. We found a very good woman. And he did cannot help falling in love with her. She was the perfect bait for him. She was endearing, charmless, alluring and enticing woman. But she was chaste woman. And he put up for sale this chaste woman who never strayed, who many years did not be with anyone else, who had decided to come to his bed not because she wanted sex so much, but because the man has been so nice and she thought that maybe she will succeed with him, that maybe she found her Romeo. This is a normal female desire — to want female happiness. She thought, «I've finally found what I've always wanted». That's why she started sleeping with him.

But he decided to forget such a chaste woman, that is, put her at the process of the erasure. He decided to pump out all her pious merits in order to that nothing remained of her, in order to her reserve of piety was exhausted and everyone forgot about her. This is similar to how people sharpen a pencil with a pencil sharpener, planing away from pencil the wood chips gradually, until nothing remains of the pencil. He must have put this chaste woman in their asuric mental catalogue, where the asuras choose with which woman to have sex, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, while siphoning off her piety. Most likely, he decided to compensate the losses, reimburse his financial losses. He counted to marry on her, but had saw that she isn't interesting to live with him when he is the loser, that she doesn't want other's problems. Why on earth would she must have other people's problems? Who are you? You're nothing to her. And why a woman has no right to want to live a quiet, trouble-free, carefree life? But he did not like her such attitude to life. She wounded his vanity, and he decided to take revenge on her and reimburse his financial losses. And he uploaded mental files about such a good woman to their mental asuric catalog, put her up for sale to be erased her gradually.

And he had just liked that woman first and then he began to fall in love with her more and more. And for him to completely moved on to her and remove me from his circle of trust, I somewhere out there, at higher plane of existence gave him an injection «to turn the love on» for that woman. And true love deeply moved him and illuminated his life. A long time he didn't feel anything like it. It seemed to him that all the stars in the sky at once lit up and shine a wonderful light. Well, like at Alexander Sergeevich Pushkin:

*A magic moment I remember:
I raised my eyes and you were there,
A fleeting vision, the quintessence
Of all that's beautiful and rare.
I pray to mute despair and anguish,*

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

*To vain the pursuits world esteems,
Long did I hear your soothing accents,
Long did your features haunt my dreams.
Time passed. A rebel storm-blast scattered
The reveries that once were mine
And I forgot your soothing accents,
Your features gracefully divine.
In dark days of enforced retirement
I gazed upon grey skies above
With no ideals to inspire me
No one to cry for, live for, love.
Then came a moment of renaissance,
I looked up — you again are there
A fleeting vision, the quintessence
Of all that's beautiful and rare.*

And he sees only her, he cherishes his hitherto unknown feeling as a treasure, thinking that this woman is the one he wanted. He had completely immersed into his new perception and sense of the world and into his happiness.

And he decided to fully wipe such a wonderful, such a good woman, to offset his losses, to reimburse what he spent on her, when he was driving her to restaurants, was spending his time with her. He said, «Time is of the essence. My time is at a premium, precious, valuable. My ten minutes is now worth a million dollars. She has to compensate my losses». He did not spare such a good woman, the ideal woman for him, chaste woman and he put up her for sale so that other men fuck her during her masturbation. I guess that's why I was singing the Mrityunjaya mantra. Because he did not spare such a good chaste wonderful woman, and he has brought upon himself karmic reaction for this. And I was singing the Mrityunjaya mantra in order to he would not be affected by the fact that he had already put her at the process of Erasure.

This woman was a very good woman, and Shri Ram would have erased her. And she would never have guessed that these troubles fell on her because of that handsome, successful adorable man with whom she was during just one summer and who was very good, wonderful man. It would never have occurred to her that this very amiable gentleman had pumped pious merits out of her, put her for sale at the asuric catalog and sold her to asuras. She would never have guessed that this handsome, reasonable, good, caring, honest man sold her to other men she did not know. She would never have guessed that this very nice man who was going to be her wonderful husband forced her to masturbate manipulating to her mind at a distance to plugging other men onto her during her Masturbation and pump out her pious merits. She was thinking that she found a man she can trust. But she would never have guessed that this kind, gentle, sweet-hearted and most generous man she ever met was selling her to other men in order to they paid him. What cruelty, callousness and ruthlessness! Good thing, she had no small children, because if he would erase her and she would go to the worst scenario of her life, what would happen to her children? One shudders to think about this.

She was a good but lonely woman. And to asuras did not erase such good single women, we had made the decoys from their women-asuri. These women-decoys will be very good, seductive, wonderful lures, desired for any asur. They will be a tender, death trap for the asuras.

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.

After all, everyone who went into Special Forces, have the special assignment and specialized training.

These decoys will be like the goddess Kamakhya, a fierce warlike goddess. Sometimes small fish are the most perfect bait for big fish. And when many of the asuras will be drawn to her and even the big fish, that is the great asur, will be interested in her, she will have an epiphany about what actually happened. And she will say to the asuras, who decided to take her pious merits out her and to enjoy her prohibitive sensuality and breathtaking sexiness: «You had wished your end. Your end is in front of you». And she will destroy them all, so that such good, but lonely women can have a good quiet life.

228. Postscript

We have created a protection system against asuras to protect people from the influence and actions of the asuras. To do this, I held three actions, the last of which occurred on February 4, 2019. One day my son came up to me. He was watching some movie on TV. At that movie was said the word «the postscript», and he asked me what that word meant. I told him that when the letter is completely written, and then at the end you need to add something, this is called «postscript». But he didn't understand my explanation.

I was explaining to him this way and that way, but he kept asking and asking. I even had to go to Yandex and read him about the PostScript. After many detailed explanations he understood. I explained to him that when I had already written the letter, said about everything, signed the letter and already want to send it, some other thought may come to mind. And at the very end of the letter, after the last words «Yours, with much affection...» you write for example «Postscript: I will always love you» and something that suddenly came to your mind. And it's called «the postscript». My son understood this, and I thought: he in detail was asking me about the meaning of this word, it's not a coincidence. I had thought it was Shri Ram who wanted to tell me something about some postscript, but I don't understand what he wants to convey to my consciousness. I began to think what it might mean. I asked Krishna to give me some sign about what Shri Ram wanted to tell me.

I began to seek out the signs of the Universe and paid attention to the news in «VKontakte», the picture from the 166th series of the TV series «Sita and Rama» with the words of Sita to Shurpanakha. Sita said, «You can't force anyone to love. In response to your love, no one is obliged to love you. If you loved Ram, you'd be happy just to see him happy. But when you are demanding that he be with you, it is not love, but only lust». I had looked at it and thought, maybe in that way was told me to let him go, because he was forced to accept the live with me, because he had some kind of life's disaster and Shiva told him that the threat of life is not gone and he can be protected only if he will with me. And Shri Ram was forced to take that step — to be with me.

I thought that we had created a protection system against asuras, in which Shri Ram took a great part, because he gave me the idea about this protection system against asuras. I had no idea about it at all. And he gave me the idea that it is not enough to create some devotees of Krishna from the asuras, as the Bible says, «So the last will be first». It is not enough to the last become first, it is necessary to ensure their protection.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

This thought was given to me by Shri Ram, and we carried out three actions, created this protection. I thought, well, we have done it, maybe now it is possible to release Shri Ram from this vow, maybe a postscript is means that he is forced to be with me, but maybe he does not want it very much and is forced to endure it.

I thought that no one has the right to compel love, that's really not good. Even if we are eternal couple, even if we once many lives were together and even in spiritual world were together. But if he long ago became asur and he has completely different desires, he just wants to enjoy this world and use it to his advantage, then why force him to be with me again, even if I am his Shakti, even if I am his soul mate, his matching pair, his stunning better half, even if I am the person who's right for him, even if I am his real woman? Maybe he doesn't want to. In the material world, it happened that we have completely different desires, completely different directions of movement. The main thing is to look not at each other, but in the same direction. But we look in different directions. We're on opposite sides. He is an asur, and I am the slayer of the asuras.

I thought maybe I should let him go. Maybe this is meant by the word «postscript»? Maybe he doesn't want to be with me and says, «Well, now let me go, because I have done so much for you, contributed so much to your activities, that now maybe you can finally let me go?» I thought, Yes, really, I don't want to be with someone who just has to be with me. This is completely wrong.

Then I went to the mirror and looked into my eyes, thinking that although he lives somewhere here as an ordinary person, but he is plugged onto me and can see through my eyes. I had thought that when I look at myself in the mirror, he sees it all through my eyes. And I looked into my eyes in the mirror and said to him, «Shri Ram, if you don't want to be with me, if you are forced to be with me, then I free you. Yes, Shiva told you to be with me, but if you don't want this, then go out, live as you want. You're free. I don't want anyone with me for the reason that he has to be with me as if he is at gunpoint. I don't need that. Please go away and live wherever and however you want. I don't want to force you to be with me».

But he reminded me through some awareness that he had taken a vow. He kind of said to me, «But I took a vow that I would do anything to help you get back into the spiritual world, and I have to keep that vow. I told you, „Here's my hand as hand of your friend. I will do everything for you“, and you accepted my help, you accepted my hand as hand of your friend. Please don't reject this». He told me that he had taken a vow that he would not consider his mission accomplished until we returned into the spiritual world to the Lotus feet of Sri Sri Radha and Krishna. He said he couldn't overlook his vow.

He said that he had taken this vow and would fulfill his pledge, no matter what. He told me, «I'm not going anywhere. I have taken this vow and will keep it. I will do anything to help you return into the spiritual world. Here's my hand as hand of your friend». And I said to him, «But I have many hands of a friend. I have made many hands of friend from your asuras. I have made many my helpers. I have sent many asuras to their future lives, and they will work very hard, they will very much serve Krishna. Due to this they will deserve to return into the spiritual world and there they everyone will plead Krishna for me and for you, Shri Ram. You don't have to keep that vow because I have helpers. I have a lot of these hands of friend, and they will all try their best, I did everything for this. So, I'm sorry, but I don't need your services, I don't really need your help. I'm letting you go. Walk away, don't look back. Don't force yourself, even by this vow. Go, you're free».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

But he kept insisting. He reminded me that he gave me his word as a gentleman on February 14, 2017, Valentine's Day. Then he told me through the words of Boris Akunin's book «Falcon and Swallow»: «I won't harm you! I give you my word as a gentleman. On the contrary, I am so grateful to you for your coming from nowhere to brighten up my loneliness. Trust me! Here is my hand. I will not abuse your trust. We are alone in this gloomy world, so let's stick together». I wasn't convinced anyway.

Then, as always, I decided to look tips of some Oracle. I pulled out one Metaphorical associative card for this situation. It was a picture of a man and a woman holding hands in a boat on the river. This card was when Shri Ram was with Lona, who was the eraser of the asuras. Lona had similar characteristics to those women whom we sent to their future lives, during the third action to the creation of the protection system against asuras, for protection of single women from attacks of the asuras. When he was with Lona, he said to me, «Farewell, we are parting forever».

I also asked Metaphorical associative cards what to think about it, and then I got this card. And now I got the same card. I looked at this card and I thought, «What if we're an eternal couple, but I am telling him to leave, and maybe he needs to be with me, because he's my eternal couple. Not only because it is necessary, but because it is the only position in which there is the fullness of life. There isn't anyone else, as in the picture drawn. Only this person, there's no one else». I looked at the picture and thought, «Yes, indeed, I am told that we are a couple, but I say to him: „If you do not love me and do not want to be with me, if you are with me under compulsion, please, go away“, but I was said that we are a couple. It's unclear situation».

Then I had desire to look at the desktop of my computer. On it every 30 seconds randomly replace each other screenshots from one folder in which I have more than 3000 screenshots from the TV series «Mahabharata» and «Mahakali». I thought, I wonder what my desktop, my bird the Chatterer will tell me? The bird the Chatterer differs mind and ingenuity. I open my desktop, and there's a picture from «Mahabharata» with the words, «We lived together and we will leave here together». And then the next picture with the words from some book: «And I'm not going anywhere. There will be no other such person for me. You're the only one I want, and that will never, ever change».

I had looked at this: the world communicates with me, and this Shri Ram communicates with me through this world! But I still told him I didn't believe him. I said to him, «Get out of there right now, Shri Ram, if you are with me under compulsion. I'm freeing you from everything. Please go away. You want to enjoy this world. Go enjoy it all you want. I have no desire to enjoy this world. You can see what you've done to me. I'm constantly implicates myself at risk, in different lives. I, as an inspector of the Universe Patrol, constantly put myself in danger. I've had so many lives when many used this to hurt me. I no longer want to be in this world. But you want to enjoy here. Please go away, I don't believe you».

And then he reminded me about the words of the mailing Dhirashanta Prabhu, in which was said, «Look at all conflicts as to a result of your own shortcomings. Please understand that those people who are now around you may turn out to be the people with whom you will live your whole life, and perhaps they will also be near you at the time of your death». Shri Ram gently put thoughts about this mailing into my mind. I thought, «He's telling me now that he's going to be with me for the rest of my life, and he's going to be with me when I will leave my body». That moved me deeply, and I thought, «Well, Shri Ram, so be it. This is adopted».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And as soon as I thought that if he really wants to be with me and if he is determined to carry out his responsibilities, then I agree, I got the idea that actually means the word «postscript». I remembered the words of husband Daruka to his wife when I was looking at the Metaphorical associative card with the girl in the white beret with two candies in front of her and a cupboard with sweets behind her. At that time I was translating the words of husband Daruka, and those words in online translators were translated with the following meaning: «Shri Ram, you see, a lot of men are waiting for me, and they are good, they want to be with me. Watch out, I'll divorce you, and then your teeth will be knocked out». Thus paradoxically online translator translated this phrase.

And I thought: Yes, in the mailing of Dhirashanta Prabhu was said that Shri Ram will be with me when I leave my body, but what will happen to him once I leave the body and when I will not be with him? It turns out that «when I'll divorce you, then your teeth will be knocked out», that is, now he is protected when he is with me, but when I will not be with him, because I will leave the body, and he will continue to live, he will be torn by his own asuras. That's what I thought. I thought he was talking about that. Shri Ram told me that he would be with me for the rest of my life, but when I left the body, what would happen to him? His teeth will be knocked out by asuras, because he had a hand in that fact that I killed many asuras. I killed a lot of asuras there. And Shri Ram was the generator of the idea about the protection system against asuras. He gave me this idea about the protection system against asuras. He gave all these ideas.

And I thought that when I will go, because I will leave the body, die, they'll tear him up. That's what «postscript» means. This means that it is necessary to protect him somehow, it is necessary to ensure his full security and safety during time when the letter will completely written, that is, when I will leave the body, when all the goals of life will be achieved and fulfilled and I will go to the next life and the letter will be written, will already signed: «Sincerely, Svetlana Vinodavani». It's done, the letter's finished. And what will happen after that? A postscript is when the letter is already signed, after the letter is completely done. I realized that the postscript means his protecting after I will leave the body. We just got to figure out how to do it.

229. He, like a bee, always looks at the lotus face of the Goddess of Prosperity

I thought: I do not know how to provide him protection during the time when I will not be with him, in this my physical body. And then I turned my prayer to Krishna. I said, «Krishna, I don't know what to do. I have no idea what to do». Krishna answered me on my desktop. I looked at my desktop, and there a screenshot came on which my Gurudev is in the same form as the furious Nrisimhadev.

And I had thought my Gurudev says that Nrisimhadev personally will defend my Shri Ram, that I shouldn't worry about it. I looked at this screenshot where my Gurudev is standing in the form of furious Nrisimhadev and I thought that Nrisimhadev is saying me, «I will protect your Shri Ram, don't worry». And then a new screenshot came, which had one word — «forever». I thought, «That's cool!» And then another screenshot came — with words «not for a single moment». I thought, «Shri Ram will not be a single moment without protection». I thought, «This is the right decision».

And then this Shri Ram gave me a thought about Fedka (rag, God's gift), whom Shri Ram plugged onto me on September 19, 2016 to ensure the stability of my interaction with Shri Ram. Shri Ram inserted this idea into my mind: «I had seen that Nrisimhadev

Himself would protect me. And what about this Fedka, whom I plugged onto you and who is constantly with you, who ensures your interaction with me? The asuras will tear him, because he's helping you and me. And thanks to the fact that he is plugged onto you and allows us to keep our invisible contact all the time, the asuras will tear him apart».

I thought that it is necessary to Nrisimhadev protected also Fedka (a rag, a gift of God). And then I made a picture symbolizing this Fedka (the belt, God's gift), and fixed on it the image of one Deity Nrisimhadev, who sits cross-legged and putting His hands on the Mace, protects Shri Ram and this Fedka. Nrisimhadev looks at the asuras and says to them, «Asuras, did you think well? You need to think again... If you make a mistake, then hot greetings, a hot kiss will immediately fly to you. You can run, but you can't hide».

I decided that when I tell all this in my series of my novel, I will put this picture and sing a merry song about the New year, which has the words «I am sending you my warm greetings, my hot kiss», hinting at my very hot kiss, which will fly to asuras when I will stand above them high in space as a huge Cobra. I will emit a powerful burning beam into them all and burn them all by my hot greetings, by my hot kiss. I opened the video with a comic new year's greeting, which I found in «VKontakte», where it is called «Позитивное новогоднее поздравление Л. И. Брежнева» («Positive new year's greeting Leonid Brezhnev»). I have prepared a series of pictures for this song to sing it to asuras, so that they always remember about my hot kiss.

Thus Shri Ram was provided with assurances that the hand of the Lord is in all his Affairs. As said, «They know that I am the Lord's left hand and I have come to reap what thine enemy has sown! For I shall not spare thee, neither shall I have pity on thee!» Thus Shri Ram was provided with assurances that Krishna would protect him even after I leave this my body, in order to the asuras would not dare even to look at Shri Ram, because Nrisimhadev said that for Shri Ram He will tear them to pieces. And when I have prepared everything, my daughter came up to me, gave me a flower, looked me in the eye and said, «Mother Sveta, I love you». She never told me, «Mother Sveta» («мама Света»). She always told me, «Mommy, dear, sweet, beloved mommy» («мамочка»), and now she said, «мама Света» («Mother Sveta»).

I immediately remembered that when I sent the teacher of Shri Ram to his future lives, I came for the children to karate class, and there the karate coach told me when I entered the sports hall: «Mother Sveta, you killed my ten minutes». Then I noticed it immediately. «Mother Sveta». He never spoke to me like that, it was the only time. And then I immediately thought that «Mother Sveta» means «mother of light forces». He said «мама Света» («Mother of Light»), which means that I am the mother of my children and my name is Светлана, Света (Svetlana, Sveta). But in Russian the words «мама Света» («Mother Sveta») sound like «мама света» («mother of light»), that is, «mother of what?» Mother of light, mother of light forces, that woman who is in light forces, in light army, in the troops of light, in the Heavenly Host. «Мама Света» («Mother Sveta») means «мама сил света» («mother of light forces»). And the number 10 is the number of the leader, of the teacher. I killed his 10 minutes, that is, I killed his teacher.

Then I understood from his words that we had succeeded. Teacher of Shri Ram, his 10 minutes, was sent by us to his future lives. And now my daughter said me «Mother Sveta». I've never heard her speak to me like that before. And I thought, that it is said by Shri Ram. «Mother Sveta» is specially pronounced by my daughter. it's like a sign, emphasizing this. It's like a code word in order to I realized that that it is said to me by him. He told me that he had seen everything, understood and that he loves me.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Thus he got the answer to his question about the postscript, and when I had fulfilled three actions to establish the protection system against asuras (to protect the devotees of Krishna, of couples and of single women), immediately after the recording of 252nd series with the description of third action, the first screenshot that was on my desktop was from the TV series «Mahabharata». There was Karna with shining armor on his chest that appeared on his body to protect him, and the words: «He will always be safe. Since then and forever». Looking at this screenshot, I thought that we did it and now this postscript came into force and works.

And when I was recording the 254th series, about this postscript, I had sang the same humorous song for asuras with a warning that they need always remember about my warm regards, about my hot kiss. Although in fact I sang it for the suras, for my whole team of light forces, with congratulations that we made the protection system against asuras, as planned before my birth in this my body, and that I'm with them and we will have many great victories.

We faces the last days of the year.
This year has been difficult for the brotherly peoples.
As you know, this year we had to survive the war.
But there are new frontiers ahead.
But there is a new life ahead, and in this body too.
There will be many great victories.
There will be dawn of a new world.
My dear young friends, I wish you all a happy New year!
Warriors of light, goodness and freedom,
I am sending you my warm greetings, my hot kiss!
It was not easy for us to follow the unknown path,
But we view the future with confidence
Because the New year will bring success and happiness!
There are new frontiers ahead.
There is a new life ahead, and in this body too.
There will be many great victories!
There will be dawn of a new world!
My dear young friends, I wish you all a happy New year!
Warriors of light, goodness and freedom,
I am sending you my warm greetings, my hot kiss!

And when I 254th series sang this song, immediately after it came out the screenshot with the picture of the deity Sri Sri Lakshmi Nrisimha and with mantra:

*sri nrisimha jay nrisimha jaya jai nrisimhadev prahladesa jaya padma
mukha padma bhringa*

«Praise Lord Nrisimha! Praise the Lord who is in the heart of Prahlada! He, like a bee, always looks at the lotus face of the Goddess of Prosperity» (Prayer of Lord Chaitanya, «Sri Caitanya-caritamrita»).

I looked at these words and thought, «Nrisimhadev assured me that He would always look after Shri Ram, because it says here that Nrisimhadev, like a bee, always looks at the lotus face of the Goddess of Prosperity. And the face in this case is Shri Ram. In Russian there is the words «первое лицо» («first person»), meaning the head of something, the main person. And the main word here is the word «лицо» («person»). «Первое лицо» («first person») = «первое» («main») + «лицо» («person»). And in this case, I saw a parallel between the words «лицо богини процветания» («face of the Goddess of Prosperity») and «первое лицо», «лицо» («first person», «face»). I saw what it said about the most important person for the Goddess of Prosperity. And «the face» («face» = «first person») in this case is Shri Ram. He is «first person»; he is the person who rightfully belongs to the Goddess of Prosperity, that is, to me. The main person for the wife is her husband. And my husband is Shri Ram. It is also said that a woman represents the goddess of prosperity in the family. This phrase about the face of the Goddess of Prosperity can be understood as the main face for the Goddess of Prosperity, the most important person in the world to her. And these words can be understood also as the main face who belongs to the Goddess of Prosperity, as the most important person who belongs to the Goddess of Prosperity. It means her husband. «Praise Lord Nrisimha! Praise the Lord who is in the heart of Prahlada! He, like a bee, always looks at the lotus face of the Goddess of Prosperity». And if I can be considered the little goddess of prosperity, then since my husband is Shri Ram, then words «the lotus face of the Goddess of Prosperity» can be deciphered as «the main person for me as for the little goddess of prosperity». And this is my husband, Shri Ram. In this case, words «Praise Lord Nrisimha! Praise the Lord who is in the heart of Prahlada! He, like a bee, always looks at the lotus face of the Goddess of Prosperity» can be understood as Nrisimhadev Himself told me and Shri Ram and asuras in this screenshot that Nrisimhadev will always look at my Shri Ram, that is, at my face, at the main person for me as for the little goddess of prosperity. Nrisimhadev will always look at the person who rightfully belongs to the goddess of prosperity, that is, to me, and will always protect him. Nrisimhadev assured us that He would always look after Shri Ram. And also He will always look after that Fedka (a rag, the gift of God). Thus Shri Ram received all assurances that the matter of the postscript is resolved.

Season 6. The great robbery

230. Pies for weight loss

By December 7, 2018, I translated the third part of my novel from Russian into English and went to buy a charm for my silver charm bracelet to celebrate this event. I bought a silver charm in the form of a snake because the third part told how I started this Mahabharata of mine, that is, the destruction of the asuras and sending them to their future lives, where they will serve Krishna and where they will deserve a return into the spiritual world, to the Lotus feet of Sri Sri Radha Krishna. After I bought this charm for my silver charm bracelet, I went to the store to buy pies. I bought a lot of pies, for myself, for my daughter and for my son. In my basket was a whole mountain of pies.

I'm standing at the checkout, behind me is a man, and he says to me, «When you come home, eat all these pies and immediately lose weight». I looked at him in bewilderment. The women in the queue were indignant. There are a lot of pies, and I'm not slim at all, and I got not little belly. I told him, «But I bought these pies not only myself», and he told me, «No, you bought these pies only for yourself. Come home, eat them all and you will lose weight right away».

I purposely stuck out my stomach and said to him, «Look at my stomach. I have a big belly. Are you kidding? How can I lose weight by eating these pies?» And he repeats, «You will arrive home, eat all pies and at once you will lose weight». He said that three times. I had thought that the conversation is very interesting, but I did not begin immediately decipher it, extracting the hidden meaning. I freshly translated another part of my novel, I just wanted to relax, and I did not want to think at all. I bought a charm for my charm bracelet, I bought pies and went to my lady friend for little friendly sit-down. I paid for the pies and went to my lady friend.

That day my lady friend was working and I went to her place of work. She works in a shop owned by a Hindu. When I arrived to her, at the same time there the owner of shop, a Hindu, arrived also. He sat down at a table and began to check something. My lady friend and I began to talk about something, and he barge in our conversation and began to talk an impersonal stuff, that he is from a brahminical family, that he knows how to live. He was saying that there is no need to think about some Krishna, because we all are Krishna. We are each a little God who is for now small because he does not know that he is big God. We must enjoy here and now because we are Krishna and Krishna is the enjoyer. There is no need to aspire to any spiritual world. And there is no need to serve anyone. Why do we need some devotional service to Krishna if you are Krishna, I am Krishna, he is Krishna, all are Krishna? We have to live here right now like Krishna and think, «How verygood that I am Krishna».

He was spouting such rubbish. The crazy impersonal nonsense was erupting from him, as from a trash can, for a long time. I was listening to him, and then I began to argue with him. I said Srila Prabhupada is right. Srila Prabhupada preached devotional service to Krishna among them, such impersonalists who think that we are Krishna, so we have to live here and enjoy like Krishna. They think that there is no need to go anywhere, into any spiritual world, because each of us is God. Why would God go somewhere and somehow limit himself, stick to some rules and not indulge his desires? They say that each of us is a God, and we, being a God, must unrestrainedly enjoy all that is around us. But Srila Prabhupada claimed that we are servants of God and should serve Him, and not chase for sensual pleasures.

I said to him, «Srila Prabhupada lived there among you and was preaching about devotional service to Krishna, the Supreme personality of Godhead. Srila Prabhupada was saying that we are all servants of God. He's a hero. He's right. You're hypocrites. You say you love animals but you pity the dogs and kill the cows. You love dogs so much that you kill cows that give milk, give so much good, and you feed dogs by food made from these killed cows. This dog never can kill the cow. A cow can butt a dog with its horns and kick with its legs. But you kills cows, and you feed the dogs by the fodder made from those killed cows. And you say you love animals? This is hypocrisy. And probably you love fried chicken. What kind of Krishna are you if you eat fried chicken, that is, a murdered living being? No, you are not Krishna. Srila Prabhupada is completely right».

I argued with him very much. My lady friend was very confused, because she works for him, and he is shop owner, and I argue with this shop owner. I also said in that conversation that my daughter once walked home from school, and at the schoolyard, straight near the school porch the dogs attacked her and the janitor with a broom drove off the dogs from my daughter. I said to shop owner, «Look what these dogs are doing. And we can do nothing, because no one's allowed kill dogs. Dogs are caught, spayed and neutered and taken to the place from where they were taken. And dogs are gathering into packs, are hunting and attacking people. And there is no service that cleanses the city from dogs and protects people from dogs, that even at the schoolyard dogs have the audacity to attack children.

Even the director of the school can not clear the school yard from dogs because of laws protecting dogs. And who will protect children from these dogs? We were lucky that the janitor with a broom was there and had drove dogs away from the daughter, protected her. You're wrong. You kill cows and feed dogs that attack children. You pity the dogs, but you kill the cows». So I said to the owner of the store. But when I came home, I began to remember these two conversations — with the man in the store at the cash register about pies and weight loss and with the owner of the store about dogs and cows. I began to wonder what that might mean with regard to my interaction with Shri Ram.

As for pies and weight loss, I realized that Shri Ram asks me to stop rechecking the English translation of my novel, when we will become together in real life. More than half of the text of my novel I translated using only online translators, and then I found a site «Reverso» with many examples of translations from books, movies, life, and I thought that when I translate the entire text of my novel, I will begin to recheck the translation, using the many options of translations offered at this site.

And, remembering the conversation with the man in the store at the cash register about pies, that when you come home and eat all the cakes, you will immediately lose weight, I thought that, perhaps, it's Shri Ram told me, «You will write your novel. You will translate text of your novel. I'll come to you in real life. We'll be together again, after many lives in separation. Please, when it happens do not need to recheck the English translation anymore. Please, throw off this decision, refuse your idea again to read and translate your novel. I do not want you to remember what we had when we interacted without personal acquaintance and contact with bodies, at the mental, energy plane of existence, away from each other, although already together».

That is, through the words of the man in the store at the cash register about fact that «I will come home, eat all the pies and immediately lose weight», Shri Ram said to me, «Please, I beg you: refuse idea to do the translation one more time, because you will again remember what I did wrong to you. You will again fall into depression. This will not serve our sensual delights, but we must enjoy. Whatever happened, happened. It's behind us. And everything will remain in the past. Whatever is, is, and life goes on. Don't look back on that time, let's enjoy». Thus I deciphered these words about the fact that I will immediately lose weight. After all, to lose weight is to throw off the excess. And it would be logical for him to insist that I do not continue ruin mood by re-reading this novel, because it describes how much bad he did to me when he thought that I would never know what he is doing to me, at the energy plane of existence, and therefore he was doing to me all that he does to all the other women.

Shri Ram did not want me to remember all this. He wanted me to enjoy life with him when he will come to me. That's what he said in those words, that «you will come home», that is, I will become with him, that «you will eat all the pies», that is, you will finish the novel to the end, with the description of our meeting, that «and immediately you will lose weight», that is, I will not remember and I will not be engaged in translation over again, I will leave the translation of the novel as it is, no matter how poor the quality of translation.

I thought: I really want the text of my novel in English to be correct, more acceptable, more readable, but if Shri Ram so begs me, he said three times through the man in the store at the cash register that you will immediately lose weight, then, so be it, I agree. I won't translate anymore when I get home and eat all the pies, so to speak. I will throw off this translation, I will throw off this novel and I will not come back there any more, I will not look what nasty he to me made as he sold me to others as he pressed me in order to I was with other men, Yes, at the energetical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, but what difference, it is a shame all the same. I said to him, «Shri Ram, so be it».

231. The conversation about dogs and cows

And then I began to remember the conversation with the owner of the store about the fact that they feel sorry for dogs, but they kill cows. Then I said that they kill cows, make the dog food from killed cows and feed the dogs with this feed. I saw a hidden meaning in my words about the fact that the janitor with a broom had helped my daughter when she was attacked by the dogs right on the school yard.

I saw that in these words I said to Shri Ram, «You are protecting those who attacked me and wanted to tear me many lives ago, when you were made asur. You protect them. Though you have to protect me. You are my eternal husband, but you protect them, those who attacked me». I said that I was protected then by some janitor with a broom. I was protected by that first person, about whom I told in the story about the recruiter. That first person assured me then that they will deal with the recruiter and I will not be disappointed, and after that he showed me the weak-willed rag left from the recruiter.

That first person at the time he protected me had a wife, I guess. Because what does the word «broom» indicate? He was protecting me not for his enjoy with me. He had a broomstick. He had a woman. But he protected me like a knight. I said to Shri Ram, «He protected me from the dogs who wanted to tear me up when you were made asur. But now you're protecting them, the ones who wanted to tear me up. Though I'm your eternal wife. You're wrong, Shri Ram. You say that we should enjoy here, that we should not look at the return into the spiritual world and that I should forget about what you have done to me».

He told me: «Let's enjoy. I am getting a lot of pious merits from women whom we force to have sex with someone or to masturbate. We siphon off their pious merits. I, of course, give some of these pious merits to asuras, who are in my asuric organization, in order to that they also live well, but I also take a lot for myself. We will live well, enjoy to the fullest at the expense of these pious merits taken from other women. Forget everything that happened. Let's enjoy». And I told him, «You're wrong. You pity these dogs, to whom you give these pious merits from those cows, but thus you kill cows». That is the dogs in this case are meant the asuras.

I told him, «You feel sorry for your asuras. In order for them to live well, you give them some of pious merits taken from some women. But you don't feel sorry for women. You're killing these women. Thus you are forcing these women to live according to the worse scenario of the life, and many women fall to the bottom of life and become in very bad situation, in very limited, worst version of themselves. And this version of themselves is so limited that there is no desire to look at this version. You're wrong. You kill women, taking away the pious merits which they had earned, doing some good deeds, austerities. But you take these pious merits from these women and put them at risk. You deprive them of their normal destiny, and when they are deprived of their pious merits, they have to work off only their negative sinful karma. With these pious merits they would work sinful karma off more gently, in a most sparing mode, more imperceptibly, not in such concentrated form. But you have taken away these pious merits from them, and now these sinful karmic reactions will bury these women».

I told him that Srila Prabhupada is right. How can you be protected if the asuras can intrude even into couples where the husband and wife are faithful to each other? There is no guarantee that there will be faithfulness and purity, even in a couple, even if they are faithful in their thoughts to each other, as the asuras invade everywhere. Srila Prabhupada is right. Voluntary sexual abstinence and mutual fidelity within marriage are the only means of protection. Failing this, there can be no question of any purity, when there are these asuras who know how to invade to conjugal sex. That's what I said to Shri Ram in this talk about dogs and cows when I talked to the shopkeeper.

At that time I had already begun to translate the second part of my novel from Russian into English, about the events that preceded the beginning of my Mahabharata, and there I was shown that at the end of the battle I would sacrifice a pumpkin to them. I thought, «I need to sacrifice still some pumpkin? I need to destroy still some great asur?» I was very confused. And when I thought, «Do I really have to do this? Is it true?», I was beginning to translate a letter of my Gurudev that said, «Srila Prabhupada, I am happy to serve you. I have no shadow of doubt, fear or illusion about my position as your servant. I'd do anything for you. If you had ordered me to go to hell to preach, I would have jumped on the first train rushing to hell, and on the way I would have happily sung the Holy names». This is when I asked a question in my letter about my interaction with Shri Ram, but in fact there through the usual words was a question about the beginning of my Mahabharata, although I did not know anything about it.

I wrote about myself, but after a while, when I was restoring the chronology of events, I realized what these words really meant. It was his blessing for the beginning of my Mahabharata. He answered me in his lecture, which I opened at the Internet by method of random choice, without looking, where he said these words: «I have no shadow of doubt, fear or illusion». And now, when I thought about the pumpkin at the end of the battle, I looked at these words, and then in «VKontakte» somewhere came out a photo in which my Gurudev shoots a bow.

And I thought, «Gurudev told me that I would sacrifice the pumpkin to them at the end of the battle». I thought, «Yes, indeed, have some great asur whom need to destroy and it should be done without a shadow of doubt, fear and illusion». And after that, I translated a piece of text about the word of gentleman which Shri Ram gave me on February 14, 2017, on Valentine's Day, through the words of Boris Akunin's book «Falcon and Swallow»: «I won't harm you! I give you my word as a gentleman. On the contrary, I am so grateful to you for your coming from nowhere to brighten up my loneliness. Trust me! Here is my hand. I will not abuse your trust. We are alone in this gloomy world, so let's stick together».

I thought, Yes, indeed, I would have to destroy some great asur, sacrifice a big pumpkin, and do it without a shadow of doubt, fear and illusion. Seeing all this, Shri Ram gave me his word that he will not tell anyone about it, until I throw a rope around the neck of this pumpkin, which I will once destroy. That's what I thought December 9, 2018. I had no idea what kind of pumpkin it would be and what I would do with it. But I already knew that there is some great pumpkin to sacrifice, that is, there is some great asur or many asuras with whom I will have done away for the benefit of society.

I thought about it and remembered a conversation with my lady friend. When I was talking her about the Hindus, I said one of my lady friends lived with a Hindu guru, a Shaivite, and when he was coming out to give darshan, all were bowing to him, and everybody, too, were bowing to her, because she was coming out with him and was standing with him. I also said that another my lady friend lived in Dubai with some Hindu and she was sitting there as a recluse at home within the walls, went everywhere only with him and did not go anywhere alone.

I remembered this conversation and thought, «Shri Ram wanted a faithful woman. He asked me through my lady friend if I could, like my lady friend, now stay at home within the walls and ride only with my husband. He asked if I could being faithful to him like to Nrisimhadev when I was dissolved in Deity Nrisimhadev, that when everyone were coming to darshan and were bowing to Nrisimhadev, then at the same time were bowing to me, because I was dissolved in Him».

Shri Ram said to me, «You were there for Him, always, no matter what. Can you be just as faithful with me the way you were with Nrisimhadev?» And I then answered him, «Yes, I am still being the same. I still sit at home within the walls, I don't go anywhere». I thought: he wanted a faithful woman, he asked me, «Can you sit at home within the walls and be only with your husband?», but at the same time he was giving me to others, to his asuras. He somehow energetically plugged them onto me, and it turns out that there were a lot of other men with me, whom I do not know at all. And I did not even know that all this was happening, because it is happening at the energy plane of existence.

I thought, «He was giving me to others so ruthlessly, he was selling me to strange men, and he wanted him to have a faithful woman? But that's a pretty big conflict of interest, right? How can you wish the faithful woman if you have no respect for women, if you so destroys, humiliates their dignity, if you treat them so badly? And how can you even wish that you will be given a good faithful woman? Generally, how could you want a faithful woman when you're like this?» And I thought I didn't leave him when he said to me, «You're free, I have another woman now, get out of my way!»

I didn't leave him. When he started giving me to everyone, I didn't leave him. When he started squeezing me out of his space, I didn't leave him. When he started selling me, I didn't leave him. I didn't leave him; I was with him the whole time. But he was using this and was saying, «Only a whore agrees to everything. Therefore we will make you the real whore though you are pious woman and live by rather high standards of life and though you respect yourself as the woman, but I will sell you to everybody. You won't even know you're a whore on the energy plane of existence. You're a stupid naive cow».

He was talking me like this, inaudible to me, he thought so. And I didn't leave him after all that. And he wanted a faithful woman. But he humiliated the woman who was absolutely devoted to him. He treated her so badly. I thought I was sorry I ever came to see him. I was very sorry that I came to him at all. And I thought: life is short. Even if I live another 40 years, it will still end sometime, and these 40 some earthly years is nothing compared to an eternity. I need to be patient. One day this will be over. If I can't leave him, I just have to be patient. This will eventually end.

I thought I shouldn't have been with him and I should have left him. I thought, that long ago between the lives some powerful personalities offered me another couple, proposed to break up with him, but I refused. It was my mistake. I should have said Yes. I should've to deprive him of my help. I should've to deprive him of the supplying with my pious merits. It was necessary, and then he would not have become so arrogant, so proud and so cruel. Then he would become nothing. Then he would have nothing to be proud of. Then he couldn't humiliate women. Then he couldn't have done anything. I shouldn't have said No to offer of those powerful personalities between the lives. Just because I didn't disown him and my pious merits were flowing to him, he became so arrogant, so cruel and so soulless.

I was wrong. It was necessary then to abandon him. Then he wouldn't become so scary monster. Yes, the guy may seem plush and huggable on the outside, but inside, he may be a monster. It would be good for him if I left him. But I didn't want to hurt him. I didn't want to betray him. I loved him. That's why I didn't leave him. But this love had worked to the detriment. Because of the fact that I remained with him, did not quit him and my pious merits were flowing to him, he became such a monster, who are not pitying anyone, even children. Because he didn't spare my children. He became so a soulless monster. And it's my fault, because I felt sorry for him, I didn't give him up. This is completely wrong.

He tried to persuade me to come to him. I learned about this from a conversation with my son's music teacher. Shri Ram was trying to persuade me to come to him. He didn't believe in my existence, but he was persuading me: «I wish you'd come to me. Come back to see me! Please come to me, I beg you. Please come back to me, darling». He didn't believe in my existence. What was he calling for me for? Why was he calling for me? In order to humiliate me and push me into this shit by saying I'm nobody? That wasn't the right thing to do. My Gurudev said right. We must punch them without a shadow of doubt, fear and illusion.

I decided that we shall have crushed them. I'll sacrifice some big pumpkin at the end of the battle. I will definitely do it. Because I'm a woman. He was asking me to come to him, he was persuading me. I had come to him. But what did he do to me? He wanted a faithful woman. This woman was faithful to him. She didn't dump him, between lives, when she was said, «Let's break your connection, let's give you another connection», or in this life, when he was driving her away, then began to plugged all other men onto her, and then began to sell her, but she did not leave him. I was faithful to him, I stayed with him. But he didn't understand. I thought I was wrong that I remained with him, that I did not interrupt our connection, otherwise he would not have become so cruel, cold, heartless and just inhuman. So I'll deal with them. Without a shadow of fear, doubt and illusion.

232. Maharishi

Just at that time when I saw that at the end of the battle we would sacrifice a pumpkin, that is, I would destroy some great asur, and when I decided that I would do it without a shadow of doubt, fear and illusion, and Shri Ram made a promise to me that he won't rat me out, I had a little verbal argument in «VKontakte» (VK).

There some follower of Maharishi wrote something like this: «Why are you talking only about Srila Prabhupada? Read Maharishi, he is super». I, the silliest goose, interrupted and asked him, «And in General, where are you going, what is your goal?» He writes, «We have one goal. It's Krishna». I say, «Well, fine, go to Krishna, for heaven's sake, but why force others to learn your favorite doctrine?» And he writes to me, «Why do you stuck with Srila Prabhupada? It's a sectarian vision. You have to read everything. Maybe our sacred doctrine is better?» I looked at it and wrote to him, «You have caused a great inferiority complex in me. Because of that I am feeling so defective, incomplete due to that I am not studying everything, that I am stuck with this Krishna consciousness, with Srila Prabhupada, and due to I do not want to look at anything else. This is lower-order manipulation of consciousness. Don't do that».

He wrote me something else about that a cock is valiant on his own dunghill, but he knows nothing about the existence of seas and oceans. I answered him, «You could ask me in the same way why I live only with my husband and do not consider other candidates. I had chosen Krishna consciousness many years ago, and why should I run back and forth like a flea? You are trying to make me feel inadequate, you are cultivating my inferiority complex that I am so defective, incomplete due to I am living with one husband and do not want to consider others and be with other men, although maybe there is someone better than my husband, with whom I live».

I told him, «It is not good. You are cultivating my inferiority complex, you trying to make me feel inadequate due to that I want to be with my husband, and not to be running after other men. This is my analogy. Look at that thus. You practically told me that». He asked me for forgiveness, wrote: «Sorry, I wrote to You not as to an enemy, but as to a Friend. I respect You. I respect Your choice, too. Sorry, I didn't mean to offend You. And what if we are better?» I said, «Thank you. Maybe you are the best, but I had chosen long ago». He asks me, «When had you chosen?» I answer, «In the last century, before perestroika». He says, «I Respect it. Please forgive me».

When this verbal argument had happened, I saw that through this I was allowed to see what was happening on some subtle planes of existence. I was shown that some advanced devotee of Krishna was trying to get my attention. Because Maharishi is Maha + Rishi. Maha = great, Rishi = sage, Maharishi = great sage. And that follower of Maharishi said that his goal is Krishna, that we have one goal and it is Krishna. That is, it turns out that on some higher planes of existence, on the level of our higher self, some man addressed me, and he goes to Krishna, that is, is a devotee of Krishna, and he is a great sage, he reached a high level of spiritual development.

And I realized that this advanced devotee of Krishna had raised claims to me on some higher plane of existence. He kind of said to me, «You're living alone, you're incomplete, without a husband, without completeness». Because I wrote to him that he caused me to have a large inferiority complex, I feel flawed, incomplete, as if I'm not considering everything. I was sort of told that at some subtle plane of existence some man who lives somewhere as an ordinary man, tried to attract my attention.

Marriages are made in Heaven. Yes, that's exactly what happens. This is a truth. Marriages are made actually in Heaven, but we just don't know about it. But I was shown that there is a man who lives here somewhere and who is very advanced, very good, who respects me very much, because he wrote to me there with big letters about he writes to me not as to an enemy, but as to a Friend. But he still told me that I am incomplete, I'm alone.

I had saw that this man, at level of higher self, said to me, «Why are you stuck with your Shri Ram? Even though you say he's your husband, but he's not with you. You're incomplete, single. We are waiting for you to be free and look at us. At least look to us». That follower of Maharishi offended that I don't want to learn the doctrine of Maharishi, what if it is better there? And thus way I was told that I was not looking at those candidates who are walking around on the ground with their feet and want to find a couple, a good couple with whom they can go to Krishna. Thus way I was told that I don't look at who sees me as their couple and want to be my husband.

I realized that there's a man who is the maharishi, that is, a good advanced devotee of Krishna. I realized this maharishi respects me very much, treats me as a friend, that he is as my friend and goes to Krishna, and he wants to be with me, and he resents, why I do not even look at him, neither at the higher levels, nor here, in physical reality. He says, «I am better than your Shri Ram. At least look at me. I could be perfect for you. Why don't you even look to me?» And I answer him, «I'm sorry, but I'm with this Shri Ram for a long time, since ancient times, from the spiritual world and even when we fell here into the material world. I'm sorry, but Shri Ram is my eternal husband, what can I do?»

Because of all these realizations such sad thoughts came to me... I thought, some good men out there are rushing to me, and they are offended that I don't even look at them, that I don't even consider them, even there, on those subtle levels, and that I get stuck with this Shri Ram. I felt so sad. I thought, «This Shri Ram does not respect me. He was so disrespectful to me. But this man writes to me as to a great friend, with great respect and reverence and says that maybe he is better». I thought I'm sorry that I came to this Shri Ram, to this trash who likes to be sucked on by women. I thought that I had denied being with those men who would be happy to be with me and for whom I would be greatest treasure. Shri Ram treated me like a whore and wanted to make me such, and I continue to be with him. And I gave up those men who would treat me like Shakti, as a great friend.

I thought that those men see me as a woman with whom they could go to Krishna and whom they would respect. But Shri Ram has no respect for women. I denied this good man up, whom I did not see, who I do not know, but who at subtle level told me that maybe he is better, that with him I will go to Krishna, that he will respect and appreciate me, but I stayed with this lascivious dirty male who likes to be sucked on by women, who loves this, who can not live without it. I thought, I refused such good man, did not even look at him, and came to this lecherous abomination who likes to be sucked on? I was wrong. I was very wrong about that. I made the fatal mistake of just coming to him.

I thought: how lucky those asuras to whom he showed me in their mental chat room in their thought asuric catalog when put me on sale. How very fortunate those asuras who were staring me there, were choosing and was thinking to fuck me or not, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, at the energetical connectivity. How indeed fortunate those asuras who bought this service. They found themselves in a very piquant, extremely rare situation. They had bought as a commodity woman who is Shakti of man who sold and exhibited this Shakti for sale, his own Shakti. Now they'll pay for it. I thought I was wrong, that I came to this lascivious slave of his appetites whom everyone sucked, but it's too late to fix it: I have already come to him. But they all will pay me. And then I remembered September 2 and 3, 2016.

233. The big person with a capital letter

I remembered that Shri Ram had some kind of life's crash back then that his business almost failed and his life nearly fell apart. He was shown that some woman would help him avoid this steep fall if he asked her. He was begging that woman with whom he had been that summer and whom then he put for sale (for the process of forgetting, erasing), but he received no help from her. Then on 2 and 3 September, he turned to me. Of course, he was address not directly, but mentally, not audible to the human ear. I did not react to his manipulation of my consciousness, although before that his manipulations of consciousness have always been successful in respect of all everyone, including me. But this time, for some reason, his manipulations of my mind had no effect on me, as if there was some barrier preventing his mental command cut into my sphere. After that he sent to me women, regimental ladies from his asuric organization, whom he used as contactless whores in his harem.

Those women had stood in front of me on my inner screen and they as if said, «You're just like us, and there are many of us». He thought that I would give in to his manipulations, that I will be glad to words of those women that «He brought you back to his harem of contactless whores. Finally, your dream's come true! Now you will be fucked by all the men from his asuric organization. So live and have fun, but help him». I was so pissed off at the sight of them on my internal screen that I told them that he belongs or to me or to nobody, that he is mine, everywhere and always, or they will go onto the dick but not onto his dick, and I said him, «Now, darling, you have a choice. It's them or me. Choose!» He was forced to choose me. He thought he will pretend to choose me for a while. And after that I succumbed to his manipulation of my consciousness. I wished him good luck, and he immediately pulled out of a nosedive, his things began to go very well.

All this happened very quickly, within half an hour. He escaped the last bullet, complete collapse of his own destiny, his finances, everything. He escaped bankruptcy, homelessness and then ignominious death somewhere under the bridge due to the iron sticks of addicts. Just then I went to the vegetable stall, I needed one carrot, I bought everything in the store, just forgot the carrots for the soup. I buy this carrot, and the owner of this vegetable stall says me: «You are a big person with a capital letter. Come next time, take a carrot, tell to give you all-all-all, and with a big discount».

And this time, when I was shown that it would be necessary to sacrifice a pumpkin at the end of the battle, without a shadow of doubt, fear and illusion, I remembered this episode and understood what it was all about. Because then, on September 3, 2016, when those events took place, I thought that through these words, Shri Ram told me that he refused everyone and that he treats me as a big person with a capital letter, that I am the most important person in his life, that I am very dear to him, that there are no other women and there will not be and that I am the only woman in the world for him, because we had some heavenly wedding.

It's been six months since that heavenly wedding. I thought that words about a big discount meant that he'd repudiate all those other women. I thought that words «a big person with a capital letter» are meant that I'm more precious to him than anything in the world. I thought that through words «Come next time, take a carrot, tell to give you all-all-all» he said, «I am all yours from this day until the end of my days». That's what I thought. He put such understanding of these words into my mind.

But this time, I saw an entirely different meaning. I saw that he said to me through the words «You are a big person with a capital letter»: «Now, come on, get out of here! You helped me. I don't need you anymore». I had saw that he put me up for sale «from a capital letter». Because in Russian the preposition «с» («with»), which is in the phrase «с большой буквы» («with a capital letter»), can have different meanings, one of which is «из», «отсюда» («from», «get out of here»). I had saw that he actually said, «I'm a big man, I have „a big letter“ between my legs, that is, I have a big dick between my legs. I'll sell you from my big letter, from my dick, that is, through my dick, to everyone. We will erase you completely; there'll be nothing left of you. We will take all your pious merits; you will become empty and fall far away from me. And condition of your ultimatum will be fulfilled: either you or they, because you will not be, only they will be. I'll enjoy them as much as I want. You will go away. This thorn, which sits here and breaks my enjoy, will gone». That's the meaning I had seen in the same words.

Then I remembered one place from the film «The Matrix Reloaded». I saw a piece from this movie in the video of Yaroslav Klimanov «The influence of food. Matrix 2» («Влияние пищи. Матрица 2»). I went into his video album to watch this video. I immediately was attracted by another video from his album, I looked it. It was a tiny episode from the film «Diamond hand» with the words of Papanov in a phone booth: «I am beginning to act, nice and clean, no hassle, no fuss, according to the again approved plan».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And then I had wanted to watch another video there. It was video of Tony Kuzmich «It's time to talk about important things».

It's time for us to talk about important, in the twilight, in the kitchen, at night.

It's time for us to write it on a paper napkin, mail it.

It's time for us to talk about we need, about the big, about love, about honor, to learn to forgive and listen, to learn to stick together.

We need to take seriously and to other people's sorrows, and to the wounds.

It's never too late to start.

It's never too early to grow up.

We can't go alone.

We're all responsible for each other.

We're rhymed like lines in one important big verse.

It will be a heavy burden.

It won't be easy for us.

But we are human.

And it means we can go straight through difficulties to the stars.

I looked at a series of these videos and thought: now we have a new stage of our plan, which was made before my birth in this my body. We are beginning to act no hassle, no fuss, implementing the next point of this plan, and it will concern something very big and important. We're going to do something that's going to be very hard for us to do, and it's not going to be easy for us to do, but we have to do it, because we're all human and we're rhymed like lines in one big, important verse. I was told that now we will have some new page in my novel that it will be very difficult for me to make, but it needs to be made. This will have to be done without a shadow of fear, doubt and illusion. And it will be connected with my new vision of that phrase about the big person with a capital letter.

When the owner of a vegetable stall said these words, I thought that Shri Ram says me, that he loves me and gives me all of him, but this time, when I got a completely different understanding of the same words, I realized that actually he told me that he would sell me to all other men at large discount, to quickly erase me. He wanted more men to come to buy the sex with me, in order to quickly pump out all my pious merits from me. He wanted I fell to the bottom of life, de-energized and devastated, and fell away from him because without pious merits I couldn't hold on any more. He decided that he would sell me with a big discount, cheaply. He wanted more asuras to fuck me, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, although they all live here as ordinary people, and very nice, well-educated, cultural, pleasant looking men. Although I told him I wanted only him.

When the owner of a vegetable stall told me «You are a big person with a capital letter», I told him that I came for just one carrot. That is, Shri Ram told me, «Go away, bitch, from me, from the capital letter, from my capital letter. Out of here, out, out!» And I told him, «I came to you, I need only you. You are my carrot, my love, because you're my eternal couple. I was born to give you a chance. You were miserable without me. You kept calling to me, again and again, in your past lives. You've been telling me out there somewhere in past lives, between lives, to come to you. I came to you. Here I came. My whole life is dedicated to that. I want only you». And he told me, «I'm this big letter. I'm a big man, a big asur, and now get far away from my capital letter, from my big dick which is between my legs, bitch».

I thought I didn't want to be in the material world anymore. No point my staying here. When you say, that you need only him, he replies, that he will deceive you, will through himself give to all the rest of the men, with on cheap, with big discount, to lot more men fucked you and faster emptied you.

I thought he is very cruel to me. I'm sorry that I came to him. He thought I was completely ignorant, that I didn't know what exactly he is telling me, because he can juggle words — he said one thing, but in his words may be many different meanings. We think about one meaning, but there are so many meanings, and even the opposite meanings, which we may not like it. He can deceive me by taking advantage of my credulity, openness, and ignorance. I thought that we should leave the material world, completely, and return into the spiritual world.

I thought: a big person with a capital letter... how it's funny! He is that big letter. His dick is that big letter. And I from his big letter, that is, through his dick, was supposed to be with all the other dicks on the cheap. That's what those words «a big person with a capital letter» means. I thought, «Krishna, take me in, please». Such was his gratitude to me for he stayed alive and rich as he was before. I gave him back everything he had. And that was his gratitude?

I was in great grief to learn that he decided to get rid of me when he said, «You are a big person with a capital letter». I thought that he treated me with great respect, saying: «You saved me from the collapse of life, thank you very much. You are a big person with a capital letter». But in fact, he decided from his capital letter, from his cock, through himself to sell me to everyone on the cheap. Alas, we are in the material world. That's his thanks.

234. The film «The Matrix Reloaded» by technology of the asuras

I went back to the video «The influence of food. Matrix 2» («Влияние пищи. Матрица 2») from the film «The Matrix Reloaded» and watched it again. In it, Neo came to a man known as The Frenchman (Merovingian), who was one of the oldest programs of the Matrix and had the appearance of an elegant and refined aesthete loving the French language. The Merovingian (called The Frenchman) is an old, powerful program that resides within the Matrix. He is a «trafficker of information», a leader of a powerfully organized crime syndicate. At the «Le Vrai» restaurant, the Merovingian met with Neo, Trinity, & Morpheus to discuss the situation of the Keymaker. And here they sit in the restaurant, The Frenchman (Merovingian) came with his wife Persephone, and The Frenchman decided to show Neo his power.

Prior to their conversation, The Frenchman (Merovingian) secretly ordered a cake to be delivered to a woman sitting across from their table. He explains that every cause has an effect and every effect has a cause. After one small bite, the codes within the cake caused the female patron to have an orgasm and she excused and left the table.

He sent a gift to a woman sitting with two men at the next table. The Frenchman says, «Look at this woman. My God, you just look at her... She's so obvious, so bourgeois, so boring, but she's trying to get the world to be just like she wants it to be. I sent her something for dessert». And then the waiter brings the woman a plate of cake. The Frenchman says: «This is an unusual dessert. I created this program. It begins very simply». And there is shown, that this woman bites off the first a piece of this cake. «...Each line of the program creating a new effect. Like poetry... — says The Frenchman. — First she blushes. She's getting hot. Heart beats faster. You see this, don't you? She has no idea what's happening to her».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Then Persephone, the wife of The Frenchman (Merovingian), intervened in his monologue: «Maybe it's because of the wine?» But The Frenchman ignores her question, «What is it? What is the reason?» And that woman, who was eating that cake, began to immerse into her sensations. She began feel a rush of blood to the female organs, and as if out of nowhere sexually excitement appeared and began to increase. She can't stop this. She sits in the restaurant, in front of everyone and feels an unbearable thirst to satisfy this inexplicable sexual desire. This happened simple at the level of the physical body, on the level of animal instincts. They lower her to the level a female animal during the period of fertilization.

With increasing of manifestations of external signs of sexual arousal in appearance of this woman, The Frenchman (Merovingian) continues his narrative: «But soon this loses its meaning. And soon, she forgets that there was some reason. She is excited by sensations... Consequences... Such is the nature of the Universe. We denies it, tries to fight, but all this is just a pretense and a lie. Behind our complacency lies the truth. We have absolutely no control over our lives. We have not yet learned to control our lives». And that woman can no longer tolerate a sudden sexual excitement. At her starts the sudden rush of blood to genitals, begins pulsation of the uterus, after which there is as if an explosion in her female organs, and she gets up and under the specious excuse goes into the toilet stall to masturbate. After that, The Frenchman (Merovingian) found an excuse to step out and joined her, and when he came back, his wife told him that he's got lipstick smudges on trousers.

In fact, it is shown that some genius of the virtual world, of the Matrix, composed some program that has its external manifestation in the form of this cake. And when a woman eats this cake, this program activates in her and pulls her to the lowest level, to level of primitive animal instincts, and in her women's centers begins this boiling, heightening of the sex drive: the unquenchable thirst for sexually satisfying that she can not tolerate it. And she goes to some secluded place to give herself sexually pleasure. The Frenchman (Merovingian) goes over there, and she does what he wants. Most likely, she gives him a blowjob, and then he fucks her as he wants and as much as he wants. This is how his desire is realized.

Watching this piece from the movie «The Matrix Reloaded», I thought that those who wrote a script did not know about the asuras. Because the asuras would make it everything in a more subtle way, by improved method. For an asur, to turn this chick on, not even necessary to spend money on this cake. Not even necessary to go to a restaurant. Not even necessary in any way to touch this chick: what if she's contagious? Because this woman can sit at her home. And not even necessary to send her some cake.

This asur can sit like an ordinary looking man at his home, or can walk somewhere, or even can sit in a cafe, in a restaurant with a completely different woman, nice to talk to her. But at the same time, at some mental, energetic level, he just presses on energy female centers of this chick, whom he wants to warm up. At a distance, being in a completely different place, not seeing her with the usual eyes of the physical body, without cakes, without costs. As the pickup says, why spend money on a female? With asuric technology, everything happens on the same principle: why spend money on a female? Why spend money on this cake when it is enough to just press at her women's centers and to activate in her the low-lying nature, primitive animal instincts. And at her the sex drive turns on: the craving for sexual gratification, an insurmountable orgasmic rush of lust. In fact, it is sexual violence against a woman. Although no one physically rapes and beats this woman and although she does everything herself, but in fact this woman was broken. She was forced to do it as the result of invisible influence on her through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. And the asur, who plugged onto this woman and forced her to do it, is a sexual abuser and must be punished according to laws of the Universe for this. But when you consider that during this immense pleasure hers pious merits come out from her and he actually robs her stock of piety, he is not only a sex offender but also a robber.

The Frenchman (Merovingian) who created this program sent that woman this cake. But with asuric technology, there is no need to send someone a cake. With asuric technology, it is enough to throw obscene pictures into the mind of this lady, or, conversely, something about love that soften this chick up, excites her sexual interest, sexual desire. It is enough to pull out of her subconscious, of her memory, of her own life, of her desires something that fuels this desire, and just press to her women's centers and to the button, which is responsible for sexual desire. It is enough just hold this button in her women's centers without releasing, and all. Being geographically far away from her, in a comfortable environment. At asuras it is much easier. With asuric technology, no cakes are needed. Though The Frenchman (Merovingian) is a genius of the virtual world, but he is some dim-witted fool. Why spend money on this cake? This lady will buy a cake for herself, with her own money.

And if such a lady was actually sitting in a restaurant in the company of those two men, as in the film «The Matrix Reloaded», then the asuras would have made a tricky maneuver. They would, of course, plug onto this woman. She's sitting there eating a cake. Suddenly asur plugged onto her, installed the energetical connectivity. She takes this cake, a spoon, just eats a cake, and suddenly she begins to feel as if through this cake and even through this spoon such sweetness spreading that it's impossible to stop to her. And she wants to savor this cake bits and pieces, drop by drop, not swallowing it and not even chewing, and enjoying of the feeling of this crumb of cake in her mouth.

She takes the piece of cake into her mouth, holding in the mouth and not swallowing, and even not chewing. She is sucking it slowly like a lollipop, prolonging the moment and extending pleasure. Because the asur had plugged onto this cake, and onto this spoon, and during such energy connection is so it happens that she seems to be eating a cake, but in fact she gives him a blowjob. And in this cake, which she has in her mouth and which she does not swallow, but which she rolls in her mouth and relishes with incredible immersion in the hitherto unknown extraordinary bliss, sucking every crumb of this cake, at the energy plane of existence there is the penis of this asur. And she gives him a blowjob. Although this asur sits somewhere far from her, at home or somewhere in a cafe or engaged in some business and she does not know him and may not be aware of what he is doing now, but she is not able to break away from that bliss.

This asur somehow at energetical level went into this cake and into her spoon, which she also can't let get out of her mouth. And he didn't spend a dime on her, didn't even send her a cake. This woman at that time can sit with different other men, and she's right in front of them doing it, and they even have no clue about it. No one ever knows about it. And she herself can not guess, although she will guess necessarily, because when she puts this piece of cake in her mouth, she immediately has a very unusual sensation. She immediately realizes that she does eat not just a cake, because she does eat this cake not like a cake, and she does not eat this cake at all. When the asuras is plugging onto woman, everything happens in a similar way.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

There may be a lot of people around her, and she does it right in front of them, right in front of the people she's sitting at the table with. They look at her, and she with them eating this dessert that they bought to her. And in front of everyone, she gives blowjob to some asur who just plugged onto her at the distance. She sits, savors this dessert, licks spoon, and rolls a piece of cake in her mouth back and forth, as if she really is the goddess of blowjob. She understands that it is not a cake and it is not a spoon.

She understands that something unusual is happening here. She doesn't know how it can happen, but she feels it. Because if it was just a cake, she'd be enjoying that cake, too, but the taste would be different. The taste would then be like only response of taste buds, as from food. But when a connection of the asur to her cake and her spoon is established she has a completely different feeling. There is no taste bud reaction; there is no food at all. There's some extraordinary sweetness, and you realize that there is no cake here. Yes, of course, she eats cake, but, sorry, she performs a completely different action. She feels in this cake and in this spoon a man, his penis, and she cannot tear herself away from this penis and voluptuously relishes it in her mouth. She feels in her mouth not a spoon or a cake, but someone's dick, although in reality she just sits and eats an ordinary cake and just holds a spoon with a piece of this cake in her mouth. All around see that she just eats delicious food. But she feels someone's cock in her mouth, and this cock is so sweet, like nothing in her life. With whom she does it, she does not care, because there such sweetness is pouring that it is impossible to stop. And she doing this all for enjoyment of a man who is an asur, who is sitting somewhere and to whom she gives this blowjob, although she not knowing how this is even possible, but she is feeling that it means something. She does this until this asur gets an orgasm.

Then she snapped out of it. Again, everything became as usual. And again can eat this cake, as if it is a cake, enjoying the taste of food. She immediately understands: «Aha, and now this is again cake». There is nothing like this in this cake at all, it's all over. And she feels such a grandiose relaxing, as if she had just had super cool sex with a super powerful orgasm, although nothing like that in real life was not at all. Her body's gone all limp, and she sits in a prostration and finally be coming around, to an ordinary environment, where she sits among ordinary people who looked at her, but did not even guess what was really happening to her. And she herself could not have guessed that some asur just fucked her in sex at a distance, got an orgasm and pulled out a lot of her pious merits, emptying her reserve of pious merits. She was simply used and robbed, depriving her of the opportunities, the good luck, the success and good living conditions that could be her, provided that her reserve of pious merits is preserved. But alas, her reserve of piety as a result of this brazen, presumptuous intrusion into scope of her vital interests to some share has been devastated and her opportunities flowed into the hands of the asur, into the hands of man, who not only robbed her thus, but even got the orgasm. And she does not even know who it is and to whom she gave her luck in exchange for this incredible adventure in the sucking on a spoon or a piece of cake with incredible pleasure.

She right in front of them had been fucked by some asur, who somewhere in physical reality reached orgasm, and as a result of this the waves of bliss surged to her. And she right in front of everyone is dissolving in the bliss and gradually is coming around, looking around and embarrassing, thinking, what if someone guessed why she was eating this cake so slowly, leisurely and stretching the pleasure, why she was keeping this spoon in her mouth and did not let go. Actually it's not she wasn't letting go of that spoon. Actually that spoon wasn't letting go of her, because the asur, who was geographically far from this woman, but was plugged onto her and through this spoon and this cake interacted with her, wanted to get pleasure and reach orgasm.

And she is sitting, cautiously looking over her shoulder, scanning the people around her to ascertain if anybody had noticed her condition during this action. Of course, she tried not to attract anyone's attention during sucking on the spoon and this cake in mouth, but then she really just wasn't up to it. There pleasure, sweetness, pouring out ostensibly of nowhere, exceeded and blocked her caution and prudence. And now, feeling that it was all over, somewhere far away from her, and coming out of this torpor which dragged her into the depths of immense bliss and relaxed entirely her, she pretends and tries to look just like everyone else.

The Frenchman (Merovingian) in the film «The Matrix Reloaded» had to go into some secluded place, to this lady did all this to him. But asur doesn't have to go anywhere to madam, neither into a toilet nor into some secluded place. To get lipstick marks on trousers?! In order to his wife expressed her dissatisfaction with him?! No, that's unreasonable!

The wife of this asur can sit next to him, next to this asur, and she will not even realize that someone by just licking the spoon, geographically being far away from them, now, right in front of her give the blowjob to this asur. Because no one else is around. There's no one who can give him this blowjob. This asur sits next to his wife. And wife doesn't realize that energetically he at that moment is plugged onto other woman who is no one for him, who is unfamiliar to him, who is far away from here. And that other woman right now, at this very time, when this asur is sitting next to his wife, is giving him the blowjob, at the energical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. His wife would never think of that. No one can guess about it, because all this happens at the energical connectivity, when this other woman somewhere is eating some kind of cake or something, anything.

And there's no risk of getting infections from that chick, and there's no risk of getting her knocked up, there's no risk of her impregnating. And his wife won't ask him why lipstick is on his trousers. Because lipstick will not on his trousers, because everything will happen when this woman will somewhere out there, far from this man, even among other people, and no one will guess that she is giving him a blowjob, because outwardly she just eats this cake. With asuric technology, everything is so simple! Why go to all this trouble anyway?! Why go to all these accusations, why does he have lipstick on his trousers? Why her go to the bathroom or some quiet spot to give him the blowjob or high-grade sexual intercourse? With asuric technology there's no flaws, nothing needs to do! Because the asuras do not do anything like that. They have their own technology.

This chick will go to somewhere in a secluded place and she will give him this blowjob at the distance. Or she will insert something into her twat, for example, finger, and asur will have received full satisfaction, as at normal sex. Or she will go with one of men, with whom she came there, to have sex with him and asur will plug onto them and through the body of that male will fuck her. And the wife of this asur (who was plugged onto them) will never have guessed, because he can be with his wife at that time. And why send that chick a cake, spend money on that cake? She'll buy that cake herself, the one she likes. Asur simply will plug onto woman, and all, this process will activate at her and she will start to satisfy him sexually, without even knowing about his existence and that such sexual interaction through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence is generally possible.

I watched this video from «The Matrix Reloaded» and thought: how well this technology is perfected by the asuras. This technology is very sophisticated, well fittest, without risk and without any accusations, because no one sees anything. And no need to spend money. No need to touch that chick. No need to go anywhere. The Frenchman (Merovingian) was to have to tell his wife he had to go out. But in the case of asuric technology, there is no need to go anywhere! Don't even have to get up from your seat. You can sit where you sit. The asur just needs to make an energetic connection to the woman, to plug onto her, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, and this woman will do everything herself, being far from this asur and not even suspecting that some man far from her has somehow entered into sexual contact with her and that such a phenomenon is possible, that he plugged onto her. This woman would never guess about it, because there is no one next to her and she just eats cake or ice cream or masturbates. This asur doesn't need to do anything, he just needs to plug onto this woman. As the Frenchman said, «Such is the nature of the Universe. We deny it, we try to fight it, but it's all just a sham and a lie. Behind our calmness lies the truth. We have absolutely no control over our lives. We didn't learn to control our lives».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Srila Prabhupada is right, I thought. He said, «What are we going to do? — Nothing!» At the dawn of my Krishna consciousness I was listening to a lecture. There Srila Prabhupada sat with his disciples, and they asked him what to do if you feel lust, if you have sexual desire. And during this conversation mataji went into room. Srila Prabhupada looked at her and said, «Look at her: she is a pretty mataji. What are we going to do?» The disciples began to put forward their versions, but Srila Prabhupada had said, «What are we going to do? — Nothing!»

From here a conclusion: if we suddenly had a sexual desire, what we will do? — Nothing! Srila Prabhupada says that if a strong desire comes to suck on someone's cock through our spoon or cake, then what are we going to do? Nothing! Srila Prabhupada says that if we want to satisfy ourselves sexually and we don't even know that really we are being forced to do that, what are we going to do? Nothing!

And because Srila Prabhupada said «We will not do anything», he upset asuras, he did a great job of harming asuras, did great quality damage to them. Srila Prabhupada enraged asuras, has got them on edge. The asuras are able to press on the energy centers of woman and manipulate her consciousness to make her have this rabies of the uterus, Panic Womb, this explosion in her female organs to make her like a female animal during estrus, the period of fertilization. The asuras are able to make her like a female who can't say, «What are we going to do? Nothing!», who doesn't even think what is allowed to do and what to do is prohibited.

When she eating this cake, which she bought, she suddenly begins to feel there the absolutely incredible presence. She feels there a man, his dick. And she can't control over her feelings, and she really opened up. Something is happening to her that she couldn't deal with. She will suck on this cake to such a state that the asur, who is somewhere far away from her, will get satisfaction, ejaculation and then let her go. Then she will look at this cake or this spoon, which she was licking so voluptuously: it's again an ordinary spoon, an ordinary cake. And she will finish eating this cake soon. And there would be nothing left of that cake, very quickly, though she had held a little piece of that cake in her mouth and hadn't swallowed it for a very long time. And she was so sorry to swallow this piece when it completely dissolved in her mouth, but, thank God, you can bite off another piece of this cake and savor it again in your mouth.

I thought Shri Ram is doing it. He plugs his asuras onto the women, through himself, so that asuras can enjoy women like this, without taking any responsibility for any of them. He through himself was plugging a lot of his asuras onto me. I thought: this material world is terrible place. We need to get out of here into the spiritual world. Material world is a horrible place where your eternal couple, your a real man, who have eternal status of your man, can become so who sells his Shakti to all in a row on the cheap, in order to more men fucked her and erased her rather. Material world is a horrible place where your eternal couple, your a real man, who have eternal status of your man, can do thus in order for his Shakti to cease to exist. He can do thus in order to have fun with other women, who're nothing to him, but with whom he is pleased to entertain, who will be so suck his dick, through the spoon or the cake, and he won't be held responsible for any of them. He won't even buy this cake; he won't spend even a penny on this cake, because that woman will buy this cake.

This material world is a terrible place. Mataji will come to the Sunday program of Hare Krishna, take delicious burfi offered to Krishna, and suddenly some of vile asuras to plug onto her, onto this burfi, and this mataji will savor this burfi and ineffable bliss will issue from this burfi when she simply will keep burfi in her mouth and will not want to swallow and even chew it. Because at the sexual interaction with the asuras there is such an inexplicable bliss. But in fact, it some asur will blatantly use her sexually because he likes when women give him a blowjob. How disgusting it is. As the Merovingian (The Frenchman) said, «That is the nature of the Universe. Behind our calmness lies the truth. We have absolutely no control over our lives. We didn't learn to control our lives». And it is very profitable for someone that we do not control our life and do not even learn this.

235. The great robbery, that is, a big withdrawal of the pious merits from woman's piety account

When it was brought to my consciousness that I has to sacrifice a pumpkin, that is, to destroy some big asur or a whole their group, and I began to meditate, what kind of pumpkin it would be, new layers of my interaction with Shri Ram began to open to my awareness. The first insight on the discovery of new layers was my awareness of the new meaning of the phrase «You are a big person with a capital letter. Come next time, take a carrot, tell to give you all-all-all, and with a big discount». These words Shri Ram told me through the owner of the vegetable stall, when I rescued Shri Ram from life collapse.

I realized that Shri Ram in words that I am a big person with a capital letter said that I should go away from his capital letter that sticks out between his legs, to all the other big letters that stick out between the legs of other males. In Russian, the preposition «с» («with») in the phrase «с большой буквы» («with a capital letter») can have the meaning «с», «из», «вон», «уход откуда-то» («from», «out», «go away from», «get away from somewhere»). And this time I saw the meaning of this phrase in this perspective. I had seen the meaning of the phrase «с большой буквы» («with a capital letter») as «уйти с какой-то большой буквы, с чего-то большого» («get away from some big letter, from something big»). And in this case, I had saw the association between this «big letter», that is, something big, and the penis, because men are very proud of their penis and because when the penis is staring, when dick get hard then penis is big. That is, there are particular associations between «capital letter» and «erect penis, hard cock». And the phrase «с большой буквы» («with a capital letter») in this case can be translated as «get away from my capital letter, from my erect penis, hard cock, and go to other big letters, to the erect penises, hard cockes of other men».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

He told me that he didn't need me anymore, that I'd kept his money, and now I have to go to the other «big letters». He said me, «Get the fuck out of here. Don't you ever fucking come in here again! Fuck off, bitch!» But when I told him that I need only him and that I will not go anywhere, he decided to put me on sale to the asuras. He decided through himself to plug other asuras onto me at the energy plane of existence, so that they fuck me through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, and I would not know about it, because everything happens at the energetical connectivity, without the presence of anyone in the physical reality. Shri Ram decided to sell me at a great discount, at very cheap prices, just to quickly pump out of me all my pious merits and quickly get rid of me.

I began to wonder when he might have sell me. I remembered that on September 3, 2016 I saved him from the life collapse that almost destroyed him. It was six months after our heavenly wedding, when I married Shri Ram at some subtle level. Nrisimhadev himself solemnized this marriage ceremony. I thought that on September 3, 2016 Shri Ram could plug onto me those who had bought sex with me through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energetical connectivity, because then it was six months from the wedding and I with Shri Ram celebrated this event by having sex, which in this case looked like a ordinary masturbation. But the asuras are able to plug onto people, and in this case, even if it looks like an ordinary masturbation, in fact it is having sex, only with the presence of a partner invisibly, at the energy plane of existence, although he lives somewhere as an ordinary person. I thought that on the evening of September 3, we celebrated our heavenly wedding by such sex, and then he could plug onto me those asuras who bought me in their asuric mental catalog. After six months of our wedding, he sold me to other men for cheap.

That realization made me so sad... I thought that I saved his life. I saved his business. I saved his health. He escaped the fate of hobo, of homeless. I kept his money. I had rescued at him everything. I didn't burn his asuric abilities, though it probably would have come to that. And look how he thanked me for his saving. He began to sell me to others to make me go away from life, die.

He so rewarded me for my devotion to him during many years, many lives. I did not leave him when he was made an asur and when some powerful personalities between my lives offered to break the eternal connection with him and offered to me a new eternal couple. I didn't leave him, I turned down their offer. And what reward he gave me for my such devotion and trust of him that I didn't abandon him? Not even being with him, I fueled him by my pious merits to he was growing up. He started selling me out in order to there was nothing left of me. I was very sad.

I thought it was no wonder he treated me like that. Because I don't respect myself. I continue to be with him and I continue to protect him and give him preemptive signs, even though he has done so much bad to me. He uses my help to do asuric vile affairs, but I despite this continue to protect him. I don't respect myself at all. To me constantly at the subtle level some different good men who want to be my husband are going, they want to draw my attention to themselves, I hear it. I refuse them all the time. Some great maharishi, a great advanced bhakta, who goes to Krishna, was knocking on my door and was saying, «Why don't you even look at us, and suddenly we are much better than your Shri Ram? I'm begging you, please, pay attention to me. I go to Krishna». But I said to him, «I'm sorry, but I have Shri Ram, to whom I am faithful so many lives and whom I did not leave».

I don't respect myself at all. A normal, self-respecting woman will not stay with someone who does not respect her and who treats her so disgustingly. No wonder he was acting so disgusting to me, I thought. Because you can do this only to those who do not respect themselves. And who respects themselves, does not allow others to treat themselves badly. But I was allowing. And there is no guarantee that will not be repeated such a nasty behavior. But there's nothing I can do about it. I thought he had no right to live and be. And those like him, too.

I thought that I, as his wife, as Genie, a wish-fulfilling, as corrector of Universal scale, am fulfilling his wishes. But what wishes did he make? I was fulfilling his desires, and he was taking advantage of this. And he was making wishes that hurt me, that were to the detriment of me. He was doing everything to make me a nobody. He was doing it at my expense, with my hands. He wanted to make me a nobody, and he wanted me to do it.

He was making wishes that weren't acceptable to me, but I despite this was fulfilling these desires, and he'd say, «And this bitch will take her place of bitch». I'm sorry I came to him, I thought. Why? And I was singing to him the words of the song «Dedication to the spiritual master» of the Duo «Sankirtana-Lila»: «I am happy to meet you, but I die at parting. Saying goodbye, I remain with you, and I commit my fate into your hands». I committed my fate into his hands. I devoted my life to him. What has he done with this life? He said, «She has no right to live». That's the thanks I get! And such the reward for my faithfulness and trust in him for many lives?

I thought that he did not need the faithfulness of a woman. He wanted a faithful woman for some reason. When we started interacting on some thought level, he asked me about guarantees: what are the guarantees that I would not abandon him. He wanted a woman who would always be faithful to him. He complained me that he had, so to speak, three heart operations in this life, three pretty painful divorces. He was dumped three times.

I thought: why did he complain about it? Although he damages women. And he wanted to be happy with a woman, although he didn't respect, didn't honor women? And I'm supposed to be with someone who has no right to be happy with a woman because he doesn't respect women and damages them? And I'm supposed to turn down good men, candidates for my hand, because of him? What kind of masochism? This is completely wrong. No normal woman would agree to this.

And he wants some sex?! After all, when I thought about what he wants now, when he knows everything about us, I had Metaphorical associative card with the words «Защита и благополучие» («Protection and welfare»). The word «благополучие» («welfare») in Russian can decompose to «благо» + «получение» («the good» + «the obtainment») = «благо» + «получать» («the good» + «to receive») = «получение блага» («getting the benefit, obtaining benefits»). But how the asuras can get the benefit out women? During sex, during female orgasm. I thought: he wants sex, right? And why should he have penis, if it do these abominations? I thought the penis is not needed at all to those like him. They have no right to have the penis and to be the male.

When I had such sorrowful experiences, he had added an idea into my mind that my living with him would not allow me to relax and go away from the desire to return to Krishna into the spiritual world. Like, I will be with him and will always keep in mind these memories what he did to me, and I will always see my goal — to break out of the material world and return into the spiritual world, to Krishna, to Krishnaloka. Shri Ram gave me this idea. I thought it might be a good idea to have a constant reminder, but it's doubtful. I can remember that without being with him.

I thought I had a big tragedy. Everyone in my team of the light forces, with whom we since ancient times implemented large operations to eliminate criminals of Universal scale and of malicious creatures, before I was born in this body and approaching Shri

Ram tried to dissuade me from this venture. They all told me not to go to this Shri Ram, but I said I would give him a chance. I was wrong. I should have listened to my team and not gone to this Shri Ram. Krishna said to give Shri Ram a chance; I went to him to give that chance. My team and I made a brilliant plan, I was born in this life and began to go on the points of this plan, which in this my life is unfolding and implemented.

Why I did all this, I thought. I should have let him go and let his life would go to ruin. In vain I did not leave him. Between lives I was offered to break eternal connection with him. I should have broken up, right there! I shouldn't have gone to him at all. But I came to him to give him a chance. Give what a chance? He has no right to any chance at all. I thought people like him should be squashed like nits.

He tried to persuade me to come to him. He somewhere in past lives, between lives, maybe even in this life, was saying, «Maybe I have my eternal soul mate, person I'm in an eternal committed relationship with, and maybe not. Please come to me if you exist». He was persuading me, he gave promises, oaths, said, «For you, I'd do anything, my love». I had come to him. What for? And what did I get? He became convinced that I came to him, that he has eternal soul mate, his Shakti, and then he began to take me down lower than dirt. What was he was summoning me for? What did he want when he was persuading me to come to him? No wonder he had, so to speak, three heart operations in this life. Surprisingly, that there were so few of heart operations.

I thought: I can't even curse him. I can't even wish him anything bad. I then was keeping fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva, so that Shiva to neutralize all the bad things that I wished Shri Ram. I was doing it in order to Shiva to cancel my bad wishes for Shri Ram, that Shiva removed this completely, so that it did not affect us in any way. I thought, «I can't even curse him? I can't even wish him anything bad? This is truly a depressing situation! I can't even wish him anything bad. What a pity! I am forbidden to kill him. I am forbidden wish him bad, harm him. I am forbidden to do bad things to him. All-seeing heaven, what a world is this! The world's an unjust place».

And then I thought, that I told him I wouldn't double-check the English translation of my novel when I was done. But I won't give him the satisfaction. I will double-check the English translation of my novel. I decided that I would check the English text. I had found a good site «Reverso», and when I do everything, then again slowly I will recheck everything to the English text was more or less normal, readable. Shri Ram asked me to give up this idea, he said: «Come home, eat all the pies and immediately lose weight, give up this idea to check the English text of the novel again». No, I'll do it, I'll check it anyway, because who are you at all? I thought, «I'll do it to spite you. You don't command respect. And I'm not going to listen to your orders». I thought he had no right to do that.

And when I was thinking all this, I got another major epiphany about another meaning of those words about a big person with a capital letter, about a carrot and a big discount. In the previous insight, it came to me that «with a big discount» means that he put me up for sale with a big discount, began to sell at a bargain price, in order to more asuras were be tempted with a lucrative proposition and quickly emptied me. But this time, when I was grieving, thinking that I should not have come to Shri Ram, I got another meaning of words about the big discount. I had an epiphany suddenly, and I had a very clear realization that «at a big discount» meant that Shri Ram wanted to take my pious merits. He wanted to make big confiscation of my pious merits. Because it was said in Russian: «с большой скидкой» («with a big discount»). And in Russian, the word «скидка» («discount») comes from the verb «скинуть» («to throw off»), which has different meaning, one of which is «to throw something off someone, shake off, brush, take it away, take it off, deprive a person of his wealth». And in this case, in the words «with a big discount» I saw such a meaning that Shri Ram wanted to deprive me of my wealth, and I realized that it was about my reserve of pious merits. Shri Ram wanted to pump out all my pious merits of me. He wanted to make a big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account to his account.

He suffered a great collapse, he lost a lot of his assets and savings, a lot of things went away from him, but I wished him good luck, and all his Affairs began to boom up. He escaped total collapse. But he decided that it would be better if he took out all my pious merits, made a big discount, that is, a big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account to his piety account. He decided that it would be better if he took all my pious merits and thus radically corrected his financial situation. He thought, «I will put an end to it all. I will take all her pious merits, and my Affairs going to grow fast, and everything will be restored, everything will be even better than it was». And he decided to make this big discount off, that is, he decided to take all my pious merits, so in my bag with my jewels, in my piety account would be nothing left. This thought plunged me into despair.

I at that time needed to go buy food for our cat. I went to the pet store, and there the saleswoman watched on TV some gangster series. I don't watch that kind of TV show. But while I was standing there waiting for her to weigh the cat food, I had to listen to what was said in the show. There some good woman was captured by some scumbag and he scoffed at her, forced her to fulfill all his perverse whims and fantasies, beat her. She was doing everything to stay alive. And there was such a moment that she said to him: «I'm a human, I did everything you wanted, let me go, please», and he answered her with a sneer: «Yes, I'm happy. You did everything I wanted. Ha-ha-ha... But I want more». And she says to him, «But I'm a human», and he says to her, «What kind of a human are you? You're not human, you're meat». I watched this piece of that show and went home.

I thought: I was shown what Shri Ram wanted to do to me, what would have happened to me if Krishna had not saved me. Because Shri Ram made that big discount, as he had called it. After all, in Russian the word «скидка» («discount») from the word «скинуть» («throw off»), which also means «to throw something off someone, take something from someone». A big discount at that case is big confiscation of pious merits, a big scooping out of woman all her pious merits, a big withdrawal of the pious merits from woman's piety account. Woman becomes completely empty, all her pious merits are taking away, and this leads to the fact that to her begins to treat not as a person, but as meat. She has some problems in life abruptly come, she loses everything — and housing, and family, and children, and health, and work, and friends, everything. And it is not known in what conditions she may be find herself, in what environment, with what people and how they will be treated to her, not to as a person, but as meat. It made me so sad....

236. Heart without a shred of pity

I thought he didn't feel sorry for me at all. Krishna had pitied me that I did not fall into this abyss. But Shri Ram did not spare me. He made a big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account, he emptied me out, took all my pious merits to restore his shattered financial position and even improve it. But what would become of me? I would come to a life where I was treated not as a person, but as meat. This was showed to me. I would fall to the bottom of life. I thought that's how he decided to get rid of me, give me to just anyone and devastate me. Why did he do this to me? Did I hurt him that badly that he didn't feel sorry for me at all?

I thought that he did not regret not only me. He didn't spare my children. He thought, that they still children and it's bad for them to eat too much. He decided that the conditions in which we live are too luxurious for us. He decided that the way we live now is an unaffordable luxury for us. I am alone with two children in the tiny flat, without protection and without support, without help. He thought it was too awesome for me and my kids. He thought it was too gorgeous for my kids to be with their mom, together, to live with mom. He thought they had no right to anything. Who are they? These kids are many over the place. I thought: how would we live without my pious merits, when there would be one failure? Something bad would probably happen to us. Maybe the dogs would have torn us or a brick would have fallen on head. Different situations in life happen. And this is his gratitude?

And he is such a handsome man... What an amazing man, if it was him, in the store with a card «Mine». So handsome, so interesting, such a nice man. All the asuras are so nice. People trust them on sight. And he's so pretty man, on the surface he is trustworthy, absolute respect. But he not regretted nor me, nor my children. I thought: no one spares my children. Their dad did not spare them, their relatives did not spare them, and no one spares my children. And this Shri Ram was not sorry when he activated force methods towards me, to crush me. He have not regretted us one bit. He didn't even think that I have children.

I thought: how would we live without my health, without luck, without prosperity, without normal work, normal earnings? Waving a mop for a penny would seem like a miracle, unheard of luck, if it happened. And he is such a fine-looking gentleman, such a handsome man, such an attractive, impressive man... What a mismatch between his appearance and his essence, vile and smelly essence. And I was protecting him? I was giving him benefit from observing the fast at Ekadashi? I thought, «No fucking way he will not get my pious merits! He will not receive from me a pious merits from my Ekadashi, — nothing!»

I remembered the conversation with the shop owner, Hindu, about dogs and cows. I said that they are strange, hypocrites, they are feeling sorry for dogs, but they are killing cows. I told him: «Cows give a lot of usefulness, a lot of milk, but you kill them and feed dogs with a forage made from the meat of these killed cows». I remembered this conversation and understood what it meant. Asuras are taking out of women of their pious merits, and thus killing them completely. In order to kill, do not need a knife. You just have to force a woman to somehow satisfy herself sexually, in solitude when masturbating or with some man at sex, pull out of her all pious merits, and she herself will fall to the bottom of life, she will not live. She will be without money, without opportunities, without a husband, without children, because without her pious merits she'll lose kids, the kids can't stay with her. She will be without health, without any luck, it will be a complete collapse of her life.

And that's what they do, these asuras. Because I said that they feel sorry for the dogs that are dangerous to humans and killing the milk cows. That is, they feel sorry for their asuras. They give them pious merits from women, and thus kill these women. And Shri Ram wanted to do it to me. He didn't spare my children. What a ruthless creature he is! Heartless monster. I thought that it was a pity that I was defending him, was giving him the pious merits of my observance of Ekadashi, was giving him my piety, so that he could buy himself some toys, that is, some women to play with them.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I was very wrong. What can I do to prevent my pious merits from going to him? How to turning this tap off? He enjoys those women, subordinate them at my expense. It's possible for him due to the fact that I'm paying for this of my pocket by my pious merits. I'm completely wrong. I am guilty of this. But I don't know how to block the flow of my pious merits to him.

I thought what he had done to me might come to mind only to the enemy, but not to a friend. A friend won't throw you to the bottom of life. Such can come only to mind of the enemy, whom crush is the sweetheart and most faithful deal. I thought I wanted to kill them all. I want to kill them all, every single one of them.

Then I thought he must right the wrong that was done to me. He did not regret my children. He did not regret me. He wanted to throw us to the bottom of life. Somehow Krishna protected us. And now Shri Ram has to reimburse us for that, he has to give us everything, to me and my children. He has to make good our present and future, to give my kids everything, the prosperous secure future.

He has neglected my children, their interests and their lives many times. He wanted to deprive them of everything, wanted to deprive them of their mother, and now he must do everything to my children got a better future. I thought nobody cared about my kids. Everyone just leaves them. And so I think I need to take care of them, because no one else cares about them. So I thought this Shri Ram will come to me, no matter what. Even if I'm that mad at him. I thought he should come to me. And he has to compensate to us all the damage he's done to us.

I thought: he will come to me, necessarily. And he must do everything for me and for my children. He will give every one of my kids a big spacious posh house, a good big business, and full protection on all sides. He will take good care of them that all these benefits will be enough to them to live very well and develop well, favorably, for all their long and happy life. I thought he should organize a good personal life for all my children. Shri Ram, being an asur, is able to see people everywhere, to get into their thoughts, to see all their desires, motives. He has to find for each of my children a good couple, for their living together in love and faithfulness all their lives, and in order to there was not a single thing to cast a dark shadow on their married life. He will do everything to provide for each of my children a happy matrimonial life, and that there were no pitfalls that everything was pure, honest, that my children were, are and will be happy. Because he has to do this.

This Shri Ram will find for my son a very good wife, and for my daughter a very good husband, a successful one, a successful one, one that can make her happy, who will love her and will live with her all her life and will try to make her happy. Because Shri Ram sees the thoughts of all, and can to do this. He will give each of my children a good business, so that they do not have to worked hard somewhere in some jobs. He will do everything so that my children have, have and will have many good friends, a lot of money, well-being, he will build them better life. I thought he has to do it, so he will come to me. Otherwise he will be killed by the lightning, painfully and forever.

Shri Ram wanted me to fall into an existence where I was not treated as a human being but as meat. And he did it, he had taken all my pious merits out me. Anything could happen to me if Krishna hadn't saved me. Srila Prabhupada is right: the material world is a dangerous place. You live, dream of good, cultivate positive thinking, and make efforts to improve your life. But someone suddenly needed your pious merits, they found a way to remove pious merits from you, and made a big withdrawal of the pious merits from your piety account, a big confiscation of your pious merits, and after that you were torn by some dogs or by drunks. Some bad situation has happened. And you could not do anything, because it all happened.

I thought that it is very scary to live in the material world, I feel alone in the whole Universe. I am alone in the Universe. It is so terrible to feel oneself alone in the whole Universe, without protection and help. I thought that Shri Ram wanted to leave my son without me, and my son loves me so much. On New Year, he told me: «Mom, I was washing dishes, saving money for a gift for the New Year, I wanted to buy an expensive toy, but I want you to live longer. Please take all this money, buy yourself medications in order to you can live with us longer».

Shri Ram wanted to leave my son without his beloved mother, for whom he did not regret the money earned by him on the desired toy? This did Shri Ram? Who is he anyway? He wasn't the least bit sorry for my kids. He wanted them to be somewhere without me, without defense. And that's what he wanted when he had taken all my pious merits out me. And I was really pained by I can't do anything to him. I can not kill him, can not curse him, and can not wish anything bad to him. I might want to do something about him, but I can't because it's forbidden. What a pity! Too bad!

He tried to convince me that none of this was true. A neighbor came to me and asked who wrote the song «Blue fog is like a deception». I said I didn't know. But she was insisting, like, they are figuring out crossword puzzle, need an answer about who wrote the song «Blue fog is like a deception». I was forced to find out at Yandex. She left, and I thought it was Shri Ram trying to convince me that it was all a deception, that he was not going to make big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account and did not do this. But I analyzed the events of that time and saw that he was deceiving me. It means, he's still lying to me.

I had thought about woman who is our neighbor, an alcoholic. She was deprived of parental rights and taken from her five children. I thought: maybe at her like this once, in a past life was made such a big confiscation of her pious merits that she now lives in the most terrible conditions, she constantly has no money, and she does not work anywhere, a crowd of drunks constantly. Although she is a good kind woman. She was helping me with cleaning the house for a small fee. And she was very happy a small fee for her services and thanked much every time. We talked a lot with her. She is a good woman, but that's how life is. Maybe once, in a past life someone made such a big withdrawal of the pious merits from her piety account, whereby now she lives so, and therefore the guardianship took away her children, and constantly crowds of drunks from them, and constantly the police is coming to them, and they are constantly running away, hiding from the police, live in different places.

I thought maybe she was the same. Maybe once someone emptied her piety account whereby now people think «Oh, she is degraded, broken-down slut», but maybe it just she was emptied and became so? It's sadly more than probable. And Shri Ram wanted to make me such broken-down, emptied? He wanted to make me a trash? He wanted people to think about me that I was a dirty slut and that's right that my children were taken away. He wanted low-life scum to bully me and told that I am not a man, but meat. I thought: the asuras has a well-tuned system. The technology is perfect, honed.

I thought if I could, I'd leave him, but I can't, and I have to raise the kids. And since he did it, he'll be responsible. He'll provide for me and my children, to my children very well grew and received all on maximum most good. No one pitied my children, and at least I have to pity them. If no one pitied them, I shall pity them. And so this Shri Ram will come to me and do everything for us because I want this. Yes, I was wrong that I came to him. It was necessary to endure this craving for him, like a toothache. But if I came to him and I can not tear myself away from him, I must endure it, because this will not happen again. I wrote this to myself at the very beginning of our interaction. I wrote this in a letter to a friend, but then I saw that I was talking to myself about this situation. I told myself back then that it would never happen again, so I have to endure it.

Just when I found out about the big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account, one last Monday of Shiva was approaching. I at that time kept the fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva, in order to my bad wishes to Shri Ram would not hurt us. And I had going to observe fast of the last Monday of Shiva, when I learned that he got all my pious merits, emptied my piety account, whereby I would fell to the bottom of life. I thought, «I will to observe this fast of Shiva`s Monday, even though I feel so horrible and don't want to do it».

I decided that I would still ask Shiva to remove all the curses, all the bad wishes that I had given Shri Ram, to remove all the bad influence on him, both and previous influence and forthcoming, so that he could live well in life, despite the fact that he had done so many abominations. He knew what happens to women when they lose all their pious merits. He saw what happens to them as a result of this, and he wanted to see me like that. I thought I didn't have to grant his wishes, he's nothing to me and I need protection. I am not immune from if someone else sometime in future lives wants to lose me all pious merits. I have to provide protection from such lovers of making this. I decided: I will definitely do it. But whom I will take to make this protection?

And I thought that those who liked to make big withdrawals of pious merits from piety account of women, did it one last time, more they will not do it, because I will make of them protection from such as they are. I'll take those who were lovers of pumping all pious merits out of women whereby she would became a nobody, a social leper, she would stay without housing, without income, without friends, without children to be treated not as a person but as meat. I'll take many lovers of pumping all pious merits out of women, and make them a shield against the likes of them. I will definitely do it. They will destroy such as they were, like this Shri Ram. They will pay for the fact that Shri Ram insulted his Shakti, taking all pious merits out her and decided to make her a nobody.

237. Christmas tree for New Year: Children need a holiday

Such was Shri Ram's gratitude to me for that I had saved him from life's disaster. He decided to empty my supply of pious merits, making a big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account. He decided that I and my children did not need these pious merits. He thought we were living too posh. He decided that the way we lived was an unaffordable luxury and that he need my pious merits more. He decided so for some reason. He had not thought about me, how I will live without my pious merits.

He had not thought about my children, how they will live without a normal life, even without mommy, because without pious merits is unlikely to be the children remained with the mother. He didn't think of anything. He thought only about how much he would enjoy his good fortune, feel a comfort, and savor the sweetness of his life. He thought that he would empty my supply of pious merits, leaving nothing there, and I become the trash of society, exhausted, weakened, defenseless, vulnerable, will fall off from him and fall to the bottom of life and the problem will be solved — he will remain with his money, with women whom he used as the contactless whores, he will enjoy.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that I needed protection. I need to create a protection for my future lives here on the planet Earth from such lovers of pumping all pious merits out of women. Need to make protection from such withdrawal of the pious merits out women. If asuras want to live well, they can perform some austerities; they can to abandon intoxication, not eating meat, fish, and eggs, not to engage in illicit sex, not to gambling, they can to commit good deeds to benefit sentient beings, to make donations to spiritual programs. Then they will have some pious karma.

They must learn to respect women, to help them. In this case a male get good karma. But isn't good to lead such a parasitic way of life, as these asuras lead, living at the expense of pious merits, which they are scooping out of women, thereby simply depriving women of any good opportunities, prospects, life. This is wrong. I thought they were making women a trash, vagabonds, and I have to create a defense.

I have decided that we will create protection using the lovers of pump all pious merits out of women. And when we will do it, they, like everyone else in the protection system against asuras, will be born one by one to provide greater coverage. I want to have in my future lives protection from such lovers of pump all pious merits out of women and to children, too, had protection. Because this isn't good, if woman becomes devastated, without her pious merits, especially when she has children.

It turns out, the kids get caught in danger. Because if a woman does not have the pious merits that allow this woman to be with her children, then, accordingly, they get separated. And what happens to the children without their mother's protection? So protection is needed. I decided that for this purpose I will take such lovers of pump all pious merits out of women. They will destroy those who will be as them now and as this Shri Ram. All this I thought about in mid-December 2018.

On December 18, my son had another music lesson, and I needed to go there for some reason, talk to his music teacher. I came there, she went out, started a conversation, during which she began to tell me that my son was complaining to her that we have no Christmas tree for the New Year. And I said to her, «Okay, so what's so wrong about that? We've been moving from place to place for years. Earlier we had a small artificial Christmas tree, we put it on New Year's Day, decorated it with something, but Christmas tree got a little dusty out, and I threw it away. Why is this Christmas tree necessary? New Year is good also without a Christmas tree. Why Christmas tree is necessary to us for?» And she says: «Children need a holiday». I said, «We're fine without the Christmas tree. Thanks, but we're all right». I was trying to clever way out of this situation, but she clung to me with both hands, took me right by the hands, looked me in the eyes with a very affectionate, penetrating look and said to me: «Promise me. Children need a holiday. Promise me you will buy a Christmas tree».

It was embarrassing to saying no her. I really like her; she is a good music teacher. I did not want to upset her, and I said that I would buy a Christmas tree. She was very happy. And I immediately remembered that my son is saving money for a toy for the New Year. He washes our dishes, and I give him money for his work. I thought that if he so very much wants that Christmas tree, let himself buys it. I thought that let instead of toys he will buy a Christmas tree. He puts aside the money for what he wants, and why that Christmas tree should I buy? And I said to the music teacher, «Okay, I agree, but then let him buy a Christmas tree instead of toys, if he needs it so much». That's what I told music teacher.

When I came home after this conversation, I thought: through words of this music teacher Shri Ram pulled out of me the promise that we will be together, because I could not refuse her. He told me through this conversation that I am necessary to him, and

I asked him why I am necessary to him for. I said, «Why do we need this Christmas tree? Many celebrations of the New Year we did not have a Christmas tree. We like our life just the way it is. Why do we need this Christmas tree?» I was asking Shri Ram why I am necessary to him. Like, we without him and so well lived for a long time and have long been accustomed to this way of life and we do not really need him.

I told him that I many lives was living without him and are used to being without him and even I feel well. But he insisted that the children needed a holiday, that I am necessary to him for something. And it turns out I gave him my consent through a music teacher. I said that well, the holiday will be, but I said that if he wants it, let instead of all the toys he will buy a Christmas tree and in that case a Christmas tree will be. Through these words to the music teacher, I told Shri Ram that if he wants to be with me, he has to give up all other women, in that case he can be with me, «let him buy a Christmas tree».

I thought: I am necessary to him? Why I am necessary to him? What kind of holiday does I am necessary to him for? Why, if he has so many of these toys about whom I hear in my speech, which is a projection on everything that happens at affairs of Shri Ram. I hear in my speech that they are constantly processing one woman, then another, then a third, there is an endless stream of women, whom they are heated, then push, whom take out something from. I hear it in my speech; I am monitoring all these words and think what it could mean in relation to his asuric activity. And I thought: if he's got all these toys in there, why I am necessary to him?

I thought: why I suddenly became necessary to him if he does not respect women at all, if women for him are like food? Food in terms of women's pious merits and female energy, at the expense of which the asuras can well live. Women are as nutrient growth medium. I did not understand why I suddenly became necessary to him although he had taken all my pious merits out me, although he believed that we have no right to live even in such miserable conditions in which we now live. He believed that we have no right at all to live. And why would he want that Christmas tree? Why I suddenly became necessary to him? He wanted me to become the dregs of society, and believed that I have no right even to this existence, what we have now buying clothes and shoes in the second-hand shop and taking what someone give to us?

Why would he want me, if he thought I had no right to even exist like this? What has changed in his life, because of what I suddenly became necessary to him? He thought I have no right to live like now. What holiday does he need? He has no right to any holiday. He had taken all pious merits out a woman who raises her children alone. He had scooped out all pious merits from a woman like that to empty her, to leave children without a mother, without protection, to make this woman a piece of garbage, to be treated not as a person, but as meat.

I thought he has no right to anything, no right to any holiday. And I at Ekadashi ate cakes to spite him, although I many was fasting at Ekadashi. But I was so angry with him that I ate cakes at this Ekadashi, because I didn't want to give him pious merits. I decided that no pious merits for Ekadashi will go to him. I thought that I was wrong, that I came to him at all. He wanted to kill me, not physically, but in life, in order to I fell to the bottom of life, in order to I were with those with whom now I am not in contact never. As a result of his actions, everyone could fuck me and treat me not as a person, as a woman, but as a pig, as meat. He wanted to do this to me? I thought it was a pity he exists.

238. Kettle that does not boil water

In this mood, I went to the mirror and, looking into my own eyes in the mirror, began to say all this to Shri Ram, knowing that he is plugged onto me and sees all through my eyes. I started telling him all this. I, looking at myself in the mirror, began to tell him that he has no right to any holiday. I told him that male like him have no right to anything and that such male have no right to be male at all, as a matter of principle, because a male is a protector.

I remembered the words of Sergei Vladimirovich Serebryakov: «What is the Dharma of a male? Dharma of a male is in the protection of woman. What is the father's Dharma? The father's Dharma is the protection of his children. How he needs to protect his daughter? He needs to help her choose a husband and create her personal life. What's the point in a kettle if it doesn't boil water? Such a kettle is completely useless. What is the point in a man if he does not protect a woman? He's useless. As candy. If candy has a beautiful wrapper, but when you open it, there is not a candy, but a fake, would you want to eat such a candy? Dharma means functionality, contents, value. Sugar should be sweet». The dharma of a male is to protect a woman. If he's not protecting a woman, he's useless. It's like a kettle that doesn't boil water. If the kettle doesn't boil water, it's rubbish, and need to throw such a kettle right into the garbage. So it is with a male. A male who does not protect a woman is not a male. He is hunk of junk. Need to toss him overboard.

And these asuras, being men, do not protect women, but, on the contrary, make women completely defenseless and throw off women to the bottom of life in order to they are treated not as people, not as women, but as meat. I told Shri Ram, looking into my eyes in the mirror, that he has no right to any holiday and that he's not supposed to have a penis. Why would he has a male body if he does not fulfill the purpose of the male body and uses it for violence against women? What does he need a male body for if he isn't acting like a male? A male is someone who protects a woman. If he doesn't protect a woman, he doesn't need a penis. And if he doesn't need a penis, then he should be born a woman.

Hearing these words, which I said to Shri Ram into the mirror, I realized that I received an answer to my question, what should be done with those lovers of pump all pious merits out of women. I had heard in my words to Shri Ram that these men, who are pumping all pious merits out of women, do not have the right to be men. They do not have the right to have a male body, the penis. From this I concluded that they should become women and get what they were doing to women. They should get it the hard way, from experience. That's what I thought when I was talking Shri Ram, looking in my eyes in the mirror. I thought that now they would get equivalent response at any trick, at any of their actions. They will get that they were doing to women. But now they will receive at themselves, will feel all this from experience.

I had remembered a book of Gadadhara Pandit «Secrets of Mahabharata», the first volume. At the very beginning of our interaction with Shri Ram, this book helped me a lot when I began to monitor my words, realizing that my words are a projection of what is happening at Shri Ram and in his asuric affairs. Then I was very puzzled by my own words about our cat. Because at some time I was talking our cat that she's beautiful, she has such beautiful ears, lovely tummy, but at some time when children were catching cat and a very strongly were squeezing I was talking that children did not need to touch her because she is the same living being as they are. Yes, it's not a big deal, but such different phrases at different times in relation to our cat were very puzzling me, and I was thinking what it could mean. Then I came to the aid of this book, from which I learned that souls have eternal sexual gender-based.

Gadadhara Pandit, on the basis of different shastras, said that souls in the spiritual world have their eternal sexual affiliation, and when they fall into the material world, they retain their eternal sexual affiliation. And there it was said that if a soul in the spiritual world is a male, then in the material world such a soul, such an original, initial man, can be incarnated both a man and a woman. Also there it was said that if some soul in the spiritual world is a woman, then in the material world this soul can be incarnated only a woman. Yes, it was at odds with all my knowledge, but when I began to interact with Shri Ram and did not can understand why such differences in the description of our cat, this paradoxical analysis from «Secrets of Mahabharata» shed light at this.

It all fits together. Through my own words about our cat, I was showing for Shri Ram, who of the women is a real, original woman, that is, a woman who in the spiritual world was a woman and who in the material world is born only a woman, but who of the women was born a woman in this incarnation, although in fact it is the original, initial man, who in the spiritual world is a man and who therefore here can be born a man and a woman. I realized then that my words to Shri Ram about our cat, that he do not need to touch her, that she is the same living being as he, meant that some woman, about whom Shri Ram thought, to bend her or not, is not really a real woman, but simply was born a woman in this incarnation and her energy is not the one that is needed to asuras.

From my words, I learned that real, initial women correctly generate energy, and this correct energy from a real, initial woman is valuable for the asuras, but those women who are actually the original, initial male, not so generate energy, and such energy for asuras is not so interesting, it does not give them what can give the energy of the original, eternal woman. Therefor I accepted those words of Gadadhara Pandit about the eternal sexual affiliation of the soul, seeing that the asuras need the energy of real, original, initial, eternal women, whom I spoke about in the projection on our cat, that she is beautiful.

And when I realized that those who like to pump all pious merits out of women will be born and live only women, because they have no right to be men, I again remembered this book. I took this book, «Secrets of Mahabharata», volume 1, and had reread those passages. There has been described the history of princess Amba. There said that in fact, Amba was the original woman and, moreover, the eternal wife of Bhishma. Bhishma fell because of Amba`s caprice from the heavenly planets to the Earth, and she, being his eternal wife, came to the Earth as Amba to help her eternal husband get rid of earthly existence as quickly as possible. And she was the cause of his death, because no one could kill him. But she tried very hard to bring him back to the heavenly planets to reunite with him, as they are eternal couple. And in order for her to do so, she received the blessing of Shiva, that in due time she would definitely receive a male body, which would be the cause of the death of Bhishma.

Amba was blessed by Shiva to personally destroy Bhishma, but even if she was blessed to personally kill Bhishma, being a man in a male body, she could not be born a man because she is the original, initial woman. And she was forced to switch bodies with the yaksha, male, to fulfill that blessing. But she, even being in his male body, did not come into contact with the male nature of this body and the male nature of this body was supported by yaksha, the owner of this body, man, at a distance. In «Secrets of Mahabharata» it is written: «It is so arranged by God that a man can sometimes be born in a woman's body, but in time he becomes a man again. A woman is never born a man, and it remains impossible for her, no matter how hard she tries». Here, of course, we are talking about the original, initial, real women, and not those who are simply born in a female body, but in fact are the original, initial men.

«The example of the Princess Amba can serve as the proof of the stated principle. She received the blessing of Lord Shiva for the male birth, but even that was not enough! Amba was born again a girl, and only later, when she got her chance, she received a male body to the use. But in any case the male gender of her newfound body was ensured at the distance by the male, owner of this body». Even Shiva's blessing was not enough to change her sex. Because she's an eternal woman. «The words of Lord Shiva always come true, but the law of inaccessibility of male birth for a woman is so fundamental and unshakable that even the power of Shiva could not challenge his divine establishment».

And then there was written that there is a clear governing law of the Universe about sexual affiliation of all embodied beings: «Men are born women either because of sin (mostly because of the excessive lust for the woman) or by their own choice. But women never become men. This directly concerns those of women who eternally by nature (swabhava) always remain women». And then there was a warning written for men: «Most often, the birth in a woman's body is a punishment for a man».

I decided that I had gave to lovers of pump all pious merits out of women the right punishment — they will be born women, because it is a punishment for men. Also in the «Secrets of Mahabharata» it was said that in all the above cases we are talking about men, who only for some time took the female form, due to some specific curse or blessing, or of their own volition, for example, if they wanted to participate in the divine games in the role of women. I thought that since those asuras who were pumping all pious merits out of women hardly want to participate in the divine games as shepherdess girls and they are unlikely to aspire to it at all, they will have to get a female body due to the curse.

And I thought they'd made many women trash to whom treats not as a person, but as meat, and they already have a lot of curses from these women. Moreover, they have curses not only from these women, but also from their children, left without their mothers defenseless before some strangers who could use them in their own selfish or perverse interests. I thought that, most likely, these asuras who were pumping all pious merits out of women already have a lot of curses both from these women, and from their children, maybe, and from their elderly parents, from friends, loved ones, relatives who remained without communication, without society, without support of these women.

And I decided, that so as the original a man can obtain the female birth in a result curse, then need to all curse, which those asuras already have, unite into one together and give them concrete momentum, a boost, in order to all curses simultaneously united and went to these asuras with the command that they will be born only in the female body. They will be only women, but not a man. They will no longer be male as long as they are in the material world.

I thought it is good that men could be born both men and women. That's fair. Because if men treat women unfairly and very badly, it is necessary that they experienced it firsthand in their future lives when they will be women. It is therefore very true that men can be born women. Thus, I more and more began to see the next action with a pumpkin, which we will sacrifice at the end of the battle. We will take those of the asuras who liked to pump all pious merits out of women. These asuras must receive their punishment. They will never be men again, because a man should protect a woman, but if he does not this, then the penis does not need to him. And since he doesn't need the penis, he has to be born a woman. And for a man, being born in a woman's body is a punishment.

And so I decided, that those lovers of pump all pious merits out of women would gain this punishment — they will be born only women. And a man can be born a woman because of a curse. But since these asuras amassed a lot of curses for the many confiscations of pious merits, we just will concentrate all their curses into one narrowly targeted vector, into a single point, we define the specific impulse, so they were born only women. Because they have no right to be men because they did not fulfill their Dharma of a man to protect a woman. They used their man parts to commit violence against a woman. Vector is defined. And vector was defined when I was talking to Shri Ram, looking into my eyes in the mirror. It was December 18, 2018. And I told about it in the 248th series of my novel on February 9, 2019, almost two months after this vector was determined.

Then, when this vector was determined, in December 2018, Shri Ram tried to deceive me, saying that the blue fog is like a deception. He tried to convince me that he had not pump all pious merits out of me. But I analyzed the events and clearly saw that he made this. Shri Ram continued to deceive me, even knowing everything about us, even seeing that through the signs of the Universe I will be shown everything, that Krishna as a Paramatma in the heart sees everything and if Krishna will want to open it, He will open it in such a way that it will be possible to understand it here, being in the physical body.

Shri Ram thought that no one would know about it, because everything happens invisibly to the eyes, on some energy level. And those asuras thought that they can do whatever the hell they want. They thought that they can pump all pious merits out of women, and they will get away with it. But Krishna, as Paramatma, sees everything in the heart. And these asuras have already amassed many curses. Enough of one curse to man was to be born a woman, but here they have a lot of curses, they omitted a lot of women to the lowest level of life, of existence, when a person is treated not as a person but as a meat.

And curses there not only from those women, but also from the children of these women, from their elderly parents, relatives, loved ones of these women, whom they lost when those fell into the middle of nowhere without their pious merits. And I decided that we just will concentrate all these curses at the same time, bring down on those asuras and give a boost that they were born only women. I decided that they had got a lot of curses, but by contrast, I will give them a blessing: they will become male again only when they return into the spiritual world, so that they always will strive for this, because only there they will become themselves. Here they will never be themselves. But we will bless them so that these curses will work to bring them back into the spiritual world as soon as possible. But not too soon.

They will be born women on the planet Earth until the devotees of Krishna leaves the planet and until Kali Yuga enslave all. As long as the devotees of Krishna are on this Earth, it is necessary that these asuras, lovers of pump all pious merits out of women, be born women and do their work, which we will determine for them. And it will be a very great blessing to them, because they will always strive to return into the spiritual world, where they can become who they really are, that is, male, and they return into the spiritual world, before this Kali Yuga enters the phase of its complete domination. I decided that they would be a good protection for me and for all women from those who like to pump all pious merits out of women.

239. «I'm going to give you a gift. Though others paid both for participation, and for a rag, a belt»

It was revealed to me that Shri Ram had taken all my pious merits out me, but Shri Ram tried to assure me that it was a deception. He did it through the words of my neighbor about the song with the words «Blue fog is like a hoax». I began to remember events of those days when big confiscation of my pious merits by him was, and to analyze. I remembered that when Shri Ram said me through the owner of the vegetable stall about a big person with a capital letter and about the big discount, September 3, 2016, it was six months of our heavenly wedding.

At that time I called the karate coach before I went to the store to buy a cake to celebrate that heavenly wedding. The karate coach told me that all his affairs are come apart at the edges and the seams, that the whole thing snuck up on him, he's upset, much trouble at him is in right now and he don't know what to do. I asked if there was any hope. He said that Yes, there is hope but two months are necessary for restoration if everything will be good. I wished him luck, bought some stuff, and went home.

I go, I see on a bulletin board the announcement about karate, right there I making a phone call him: «Here the announcement about your karate, it is written that there will be some Olympic games, you, probably, will go to the Olympic games, you will be there the champion». He says, «I don't think it's possible». I say, «No, you will be the champion at the Olympics». He says, «Well, you always come at just the right moment. Feminine energy strongly rushing from you», and I answered him: «I always come at the right moment». I remembered this and thought that through a conversation with the coach I said Shri Ram that he would be all right, that I wished him good luck and now all his affairs is going to grow, everything will restored, and he told me that I came into some moment and the female energy from me is gushing. Is it in gratitude for his rescue he said me that I am placed on the list for sale, at some moment, at which my feminine energy will gush very good from me and all will flow out of me completely.

After that, I went to the vegetable stall for a carrot, where he told me that I am a big person with a capital letter. That is, he told me that he was going to get rid of me completely, throw off me from his capital letter, throw off me from his dick. And I told him that I came for one carrot, I told him: «You're with me, that's all I need». Thus I told him he is my beloved, my eternal soul mate, where I would go from him if he is the only one I need. And he told me: «Well, since you do not want to unhook and leave, then the next time we have sex with you at an energy connection, you will take all of whom I will give you through myself, and you will throw off the maximum of your female energy, you will give us the maximum of your pious merits».

He did not take into account that I told him that he will rise highly, reach Olympus, that all his Affairs would be restored and even improved. He decided to speed this up, seize everything out of me to the maximum. I did Namaste in response to words of the owner of a vegetable stall, thus saying Shri Ram, «I will do the things that you wants me to do». And that same night, before I went to bed, he and I celebrated six months of our heavenly wedding. We had sex through my masturbation. He plugged onto me someone who bought sex with me, and I threw off maximum of my energy, maximum of my piety as he wanted. Because I said I'd do it when I bowed with Namaste to the owner of the vegetable stall. It was September 3.

And the next day, I burned an eye out of one of his members of his asuric organization. I listened to a lecture by Radha Damodara Prabhu on how Krishna's devotees were imprisoned, put in a psych lock-up and what was done to them before perestroika and the collapse of the Soviet Union. I listened to this lecture and remembered how I with one of my ex-husbands went on his Affairs to one medical institution, how there us invited once to an office of the chief physician and that there was. I remembered how I sat across the table from the doctor and at some point felt as if some terrible black tentacles at the energy plane of existence began to go probing around inside me. I then told him that he has no right to do it, and all this immediately stopped.

I remembered this and thought that the chief physician was from the asuric organization of Shri Ram. I immediately remembered the situation that was then. I mentally sat down opposite the doctor, as I sat then. And I from my eyes mentally emitted a powerful pillar of fire into the eyes of the physician. This pillar of fire was going into the eyes of that man at my mental screen, and after a while I felt that everything was done, he is a total scrap, and his expiration date is past. We have done away with him. It was the evening of September 4. Thus Shri Ram got the warning that he was very wrong that wanted to lower a good woman.

And then I found on the Internet at random lecture of my Gurudev in which he showed how Hanuman brought to Sita the ring of Ram. And through this my Gurudev made Shri Ram an offer. He offered Shri Ram to accept me as his wife. But Shri Ram was not going to accept this offer. He already robbed my piety account. I lost out all pious merits. He had already put me up for sale, and there many asuras watched at me in mental asuric catalog, and already there were buyers, and there was already a sale. And all summer he gave me to asuras from his asuric organization, when he had that good woman, whom he then also put up for sale. And he thought that he is not a fool to take as his wife this foolish dummy, whom everyone have smashed and out whom he threw off all that she had, who is devastated.

And then on 7 September was showed to him 53–58th series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev». Shri Ram had thought that such a life as we live is an unaffordable luxury for us, and he robbed me by devastating my supply of piety, in order to I lost everything, and even children. He didn't spare me. He believed that I was unworthy to live even in such conditions and not worthy of a good attitude. But in these series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» Shiva told Shri Ram that Shri Ram is not freed from the curse, from the collapse of life. Shiva told Shri Ram through these series: «Shri Ram, don't look, that you had taken all pious merits out her, and you have Affairs recovered, and you think that have you all well. No, you are not free from this curse».

Shri Ram thought that he made a great infusion of pious merits, and now everything's fine, but Shiva told him: «Yes, thanks to the fact that you had pumped all pious merits out of her, transferred her pious merits into your account of piety, the effect of the curse has decreased and things went very well. But don't be so naive. The curse did not disappear. The sword of Damocles is still hanging over you. Your crime is unforgivable». Because Shri Ram himself told me «be my wife, become my wife», we had some heavenly wedding, but he began to give me away to everyone, then put up for sale and began to sell, had pumped all my pious merits out of me.

Shiva told him his crime was unforgivable. Shiva told Shri Ram that Shri Ram had married me of his own free will and was obliged to give me the status of his wife, but he had not done his duty, and this is crime and for the crime he must be punished. Shri Ram was not pleased these Shiva`s words. He thought that because of he had taken all my pious merits out me, his business began to boom and everything will be good but Shiva told him that he had committed such a crime that is unforgivable and he must be punished, and that no infusion of pious merits will not help him, at any moment his life will be destroyed. And then Shri Ram agreed to take me again, although I am so much unworthy of the ordinary human attitude.

I thought, how dear to him comfortable living conditions, his ass in the warm, and not in the cold under the bridge. How dear to him money, comfort, cosiness and a high quality of service that he because of this comfort agreed to be again with me, despite the fact that he believed that I was not worthy of any good attitude. He did not want to sleep under the bridge in the cold, but he kicked me to there, taking all my pious merits out me and deciding to let them slaughter me like a sheep in a market. When he did this to me, he did not feel sorry for me, but when he was told that he would be cut like a sheep, when he will alone on the street, he was immediately frightened, said that he did not care that fact that many asuras fucked me, that he believed that I was not worthy, but what to do, he have to take me as his wife.

I had analyzed all those situations and realized that Shri Ram is lying to me. He told me that the blue mist is like a deception, that I had been deceived, misled, he had not taken all my pious merits out me. But I analyzed and realized that he had taken all my pious merits out me. I was in great grief when I found out and understood all this. And all this was after he had received assurances about the postscript that everything would be fine. Because of these woeful thoughts I didn't care that he was going to be all right. I thought he was lying to me, like it wasn't true, like it was all a lie, but it's true. I see that all this is true.

I analyzed the events. Yes, it all fits. I thought he is very violent. For what I helped him and said that he will rise very high, to Olympus, he decided to put me on sale with a scooping out all my pious merits, in order to I fell to the bottom of life, when all my reserve of piety would have been fully depleted. Further on the scenario would be followed by misfortunes, the continuous failures, deceptions, ruses, terrible contingencies, then life's disaster. Without pious merits, I would have to work off sinful karmic reactions in a rigid, concentrated form, without the alleviation of the situation with pious merits, because they would not exist. Shri Ram calmly began to do it.

I thought what does he want now? He said that children want a holiday, need to buy a Christmas tree, children need a holiday. I thought why should I? He has no right to any holidays at all. He deserved hell's worlds forever. I decided that I would no longer pass on to him the pious merits for that fact that I kept the fast at Ekadashi. I told him then, on September 3, «You're with me, that's all I need», but he said, «If you says so, then you will be with many other men, first at the energy plane of existence and then in the real life, when you fall to the bottom of life. There you will get to those who will fuck you mercilessly in real life and treat you not as a personality, a woman, but as meat».

I thought Srila Prabhupada is absolutely right. There is no love in this world. Love is patient in kind, love is not jealous, conceited or proud, love does not keep a record of wrongs, love never gives up. What love can be if we are an eternal couple with him, if I am his Shakti, but he did this to his Shakti? There never going to be any love in the material world. It's all smoke and mirrors! There is no love. We need to get out of the material world without looking back. I thought I had made no promise to this Shri Ram that I would be with him. That's the promise I made to music teacher when she said, «Promise me you'll buy a Christmas tree». I promised to buy a Christmas tree. But I promised not this Shri Ram that I would be with him. I promised music teacher I'd buy a Christmas tree. And I did buy a Christmas tree. But I didn't promise him anything.

I thought: I promised him nothing. I don't owe him anything. I don't have obligation to be with that Shri Ram. Even though I'm in minus, I don't want to be with him. I don't want to be with him, even if he's settled in so well and even if he devastated all my reserve of piety and even if all he has is mine by right. Because all he has and has not lost is thanks to my pious merits. And in General, he received all this only because many lives I being his eternal Shakti was giving him these pious merits. But he thought it is all his. And he decided to throw off all piety from next bitch, from next sheep, stupid naive loser girl and live well and quietly. He thought that it would be all right. I had thought that I had not promised anything to this Shri Ram and it is unlikely that he will come to me and not worth wait for him. I decided that I would still recheck the English text completely.

I told him: «I am happy to meet you, but I die at parting. Saying goodbye, I remain with you, and I commit my fate into your hands». This is the song «Dedication to the spiritual master» of duet Sankirtana-Lila. It was from this song in November 2016 that I learned that Shri Ram had some kind of battle at the subtle level in which he was to be killed, so I began to defend him. Through these words I said to him: «I have come to you. I'm so happy that I can be with you because you're my eternal husband. But if you die, I'll leave the body somehow, too. Because I die at parting. But saying goodbye, even leaving the body, I stay with you anyway, I'm not going anywhere, I'm still in touch with you, and I give my life to you».

I told him, «I am entrusting him my life», but he said, «Yes, you're entrusting me your life? Live while you can. You don't have much time left. I'm gonna taking all pious merits out you, and then you're gonna die real soon. You'll fall right to the bottom of life, will say goodbye to me, because you won't have godliness, you'll fall somewhere, some scumbags will mock you, and you'll die. You said „I am dying at parting“. How nice! I'll get rid of you. You're such a pain. I swear I'll kill you! Go away! You are now devastated. You are now useless to me. I had pumped all from you».

I thought how he being so cruel to me. And he is such a good looking man. But he turned out such a cruel, said: «Right now we will take all pious merits out you, and you will die at parting. You will say goodbye me, you won't with me. I don't need you without your pious merits. You can't hang on to me. Without your pious merits life itself will destroy you. Die, if that's what you want, and sooner». He didn't spare me. He did not think what would happen to my children without me. He didn't care at all. I thought, «He wants something? He any holidays wants?! He has no right to live and be».

Shiva told him that he had to accept me as his wife, because this curse had not gone from him and no pious merits would be enough to extinguish this, because this crime is unforgivable and Shri Ram is necessary to be punished for it. Shiva told him that as long as he is with me, he is protected. And then Shri Ram said that I am not his choice, I am his destiny. It was September 7, 2016.

And on 19 September, two weeks later, Shri Ram plugged Fedka onto me. This is the rag, the gift of God, as I call it. Among the asuras there are specialists whose function is to act as the buffer between the big asur and ordinary woman, to enable them to interact. Without this buffer, a woman may be exposed to the negative effects of a man's asuric energies, similar to a high-voltage electric shock. I was shacked violently when I was coming into contact with him; many times this immediately abruptly was thrown back me from him. There was a sharp negative reaction, and constantly there was not enough air. And Shri Ram had plugged onto me such expert who's I named Fedka, rag, gift of God.

When Shri Ram was talking me about this Fedka-rag through the words of the karate coach in telephone conversation, he said: «I'm going to give you a gift. Though others paid both for participation, and for a rag, a belt». That is, he was forced to connect Fedka to me for free, because I have nothing left. There was nothing he can to take from me. If he could take anything, then, of course, there would be no such words that «I'm going to give you a gift. Though others paid both for participation, and for a rag, a belt». That is, it turns out that Yes, indeed, he threw off to the maximum from me, there was nothing to take from me, because others were paying for a rag, that is, for he were connecting to them a man-buffer, an energy Converter, an interaction stabilizer, and also others were paying for participation, but to me he gave this Fedka-rag as a gift.

He thought I'd be very happy. In fact, it really confirms that he had taken all my pious merits out me, because after that there was simply nothing to take from me. And he was talking me the blue mist is like a hoax? He was assuring me that he didn't take all my pious merits out me. But if I had something that could be taken away in order to pay for the inclusion of such an expert, of such transducer, then he would definitely do it, because all the others were paying him for it. But since he was forced to plug this expert onto me for free, as a gift, means he had taken all my pious merits out.

240. To tear out sinful tongue at lovers of pump all pious merits out of women

I thought I need protection against such pumping all pious merits out of women in future lives. I thought that men have no right to be men if they treat women like this and do this to them, because the Dharma of a man is to protect a woman. The kettle is needed to boil water. If the kettle does not boil water, it is useless, it is thrown out. This also applies to men. He must protect the woman. If he does not protect a woman, if he uses his powers, his abilities, to deceive a woman and commit violence against her, to lower her to the bottom of life, it is not a man, he has no right to be a man. This I said to Shri Ram, talking to him, looking into my eyes in the mirror.

And then I remembered that be born women, in the female body is a punishment for men, and I decided that lovers of pump all pious merits out of women will bear such a punishment. They will be born only women and live only as women. Men can be born women as a result of a curse or blessing. I had thought that those who liked to pump all pious merits out of women, of course, has a lot of the curses, because they did not feel sorry for anyone — neither women nor children of these women. And I thought that need just take these curses, concentrate it into one, focus these curses targetedly, and send concentrated, as the needle into one spot, and set a goal in order to these ex-men would become women, would be born only women. And everything that they did to those women, now they will receive as own experience in their future lives. Because these asuras will be born women always.

I told about it in the 258th series of my novel. Before recording this series, in the evening, it was February 10, 2019, I sat down to listen to the mantras and during Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrishimham bhishanam bhadrām mṛityur mṛityum namamy aham» I remembered about asuras who were the lovers of pump all pious merits out of women. I started up rage, I very much had wanted to deal with them right away, but was restraining myself from desire to tear them all up immediately. Apparently, Shri Ram saw my condition and desire to kill them immediately and decided to delay me. He suddenly appeared on my internal screen. He had stood in front of me; I looked at him and then went out from there.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

But after that I thought, «Shri Ram, I'll do away with them anyway. I will take care of the purity of society and eradicate those who were pumping all pious merits out of women. Since I cannot eradicate you, Shri Ram, I will eradicate everyone who was doing such». And during sounding of this mantra at this mood I had tuned in them. I had stood above them high in space, opened my mouth wide and began to draw something out of them into me. Great flow had rushed of them... I guess it was a pious merits, which they seized from the women, maybe some their forces.

After recording the 258th series, on the evening of February 10, I remembered that at the very end of this series came out screenshots with the words: «I do not want to wait so long, Maharaja», then «Close mouth» and «Tear out sinful tongue». I realized that it is necessary to yank out their sinful language, that is, the energy tongue which the asuras have at the level of the male genitals and using which they can receive other people's pious merits, including pump all pious merits out of women. I realized that this should not be delayed. I decided that I will yank out their sinful tongue the next day, February 11, when I will wash the dishes.

And when I went to bed, I suddenly saw on my inner mental screen this sinful tongue of theirs. This was indeed as tongue, however at the energetical level. I had saw on the level of their genitals, some open mouth, and from it protruded some energy tongue, which was squirming. I looked at that wriggling tongue and decided to do something about it. I suddenly had a strong corrosive poisoning salt in my hand and have put salt to this sinful tongue, and tongue became covered in ulceration and wounds. I remembered the screenshot with the words «Close your mouth», looked at this open mouth, from which protruded this wriggling tongue, and thought: «Right now we will close their mouth». I took some kind of partition, which closes the Russian oven, when you put pies in oven, and I lowered this partition directly onto the tongue, pinning it down on tongue, hammered it into the bottom of tongue, blocking off this mouth. This open mouth became closed by this barrier.

I thought, «We did it right. Mouth is firmly closed by the partition». I remembered the screenshot «To tear out sinful tongue». I had thought that we will yank out this tongue tomorrow, but today I will work with this tongue. In short, I poured a strong corrosive poisoning salt on this tongue, and then suddenly I found in my hands a trident, like at Shiva. I took this trident and drove it into their tongue with all my strength, pinning it down so that tongue could not move. And after that I began to poke this trident their tongue everywhere, and from above I poured still something corrosive that to them to make life harder, and went to bed.

In the morning I woke up, looked at my internal screen. I found their tongue is completely immobilized. Before I closed their mouth by the partition, this tongue was slowly wiggling, but when I was poking it with my Trident and poured something corrosive into it, it became completely immobilized. Mouth was firmly closed by the partition. I thought it might be good to give tingling to this tongue, as by thorns. This is when you lost feeling in your arm, the hand or foot becomes numb, feels nothing, then you carefully move your legs, wiggle your toes, anything to get the blood flowing, and it begins to tingle like due to thorns, it's a very unpleasant feeling. I thought I have to make that happen to them, and imagined that their tongue is numb right now and begins to tingle.

And then I imagined that their tongue was completely stiff and they were experiencing an indescribable sensation... And then I imagined that their tongue began to ache as at frostbite. When a heavy frost and you have frostbite, your feet and hands are too cold, you don't feel them, and when you get warm, feet and hands start to thaw and tingly. I thought that it is very painful and unpleasant, and I gave them such throbbing, pain, tingly in their tongue. As if this tongue is very cold, frozen through and it was placed in hot water, and tongue begins to unfreeze, it terrible hurts, and it is impossible to fix it.

After that, after a while, I looked back at this, and from my fingers suddenly grew long sharp iron claws, like Freddy Krueger's. I dug these claws into their sinful tongue and tear this tongue apart, to the small shreds. At this I slowed down, deciding that to send them now in their future lives is not necessary, because I have not yet told what I'm going to do with them. But as there were screenshots that it is necessary to close them a mouth and yank out their sinful tongue and that we do not want to wait so long, I decided that I need to yank out their sinful tongue, let some time they will live without this tongue and with the closed mouth. I looked at the kitchen sink, I had a lot of dirty dishes, and I thought, «Right now I'm going to wash the dishes and I will tear out their sinful tongue».

And when I went to wash the dishes, I turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham» and during this mantra began to process them. At first I had stood inside each of them, there were a lot of them, and began to pull all out of them. It's like I'm standing inside them and I am pulling all out of them using a big stream, which rapidly rushing to me in the form of a spiral channel, and from above, and from below, and from all sides at the same time. After that, I formatted their chakras, and then took my sharp long iron claw, like Freddy Krueger's, and at the bottom, where is their lower root, at Muladhara chakra, I began to make slots by this claw. And when the cuts became many, there a large hole had broken and from there rapidly, under great pressure dark gray-green lava began to gush, as from the mouth of the volcano during its eruption.

Then I made them sing the Hare Krishna mantra. Several times I wanted to destroy them, but at that time thoughts appeared at me that today it is not necessary to do it, it is only necessary to yank out their sinful tongue. Three times I very wanted to destroy them, and three times at the same time I had these thoughts and also at the same time the plate accidentally was slipping out of my hands, what braking me, and I washed the dishes at the same time. I understood that need to now tolerate. And I decided to yank out sinful tongue at them.

I imagined that they have energetical tongue there. I had stood high above them, and big hand reach out to their genitals from me, and I yanked with this hand for that place where the root of the genitals was, and yanked out everything that was there. Then I turned on there a bright blue glow and the burning, and burned it all out, and there everything was charred, all burned. Where was that energetical tongue, formed a great hole. I had stood at the very top, where Sahasrara-chakra, and from the gaping hole at the level of male organs began to pull everything through Sahasrara-chakra somewhere up. And all everything flew out there.

I thought that they would not be men, with male nature, they would be born and live only women, so they do not need their male nature. They will be able to use their male nature only in the spirit world, only when they return there. So I thought I should lift out their male nature out of them completely, and it all went out of them through their Sahasrara chakra. I thought that their male nature should be there somewhere waiting for them to return into the spiritual world, and only then they will receive their male nature. Until this time they won't ever get their male nature.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Then I started by blue glow sterilize there, in the area of the big hole. I had imagined that everything there is becoming as sterile as in the operating room. And then I started to let the fire into there, and everything that was left there shrank into a tiny dot. I had thought that now need to close their mouth completely, that anything male should not be at all there. And I was squeezing what was left there, and it turned of a burning red tiny dot, a tiny burnt residue. There was a huge hole and a tiny dot, a burnt, barely visible, and I began to cauterize this dot by the Hare Krishna mantra.

I began to chant the Hare Krishna mantra and began to imagine that the Hare Krishna mantra would seal it all. I simultaneously from all sides began to compress this tiny dot by the mantra. I cauterized this tiny dot by the Hare Krishna mantra, and dot turned out to be imprinted inside the mantra. And there everything became sealed, forever. That is how I did it. I was told that they don't want to wait too long, that I have to do it rather, but now is too early to send them, that I have to tear out their sinful tongue and close their mouth, and I did it. And now it remained to discover what they would be like in their future lives, what they would do there, and send them there.

241. Miraculous transformation. The lovers of pump all pious merits out of women will become witches, specialized orderlies

I decided that those asuras who were pumping all pious merits out of women and thus violated their male Dharma, will be born and live only women. And now I closed their energetical mouth and yanked out their energetical sinful tongue, by which they were pumping pious merits from the women. Without energetical tongue they felt very bad, they suffered very much. They still were alive and have been in the male body, but they had not energetical tongue, and they are not used to being without this tongue, and it was very painful for them.

Shri Ram asked me to do away with them as soon as possible so that they would not suffer too long without their energy tongue. I did not have pity for them, because when they by their sinful energetical tongue were lowering women and were depriving them of everything, including children, they did not think how it hurts. I could have sent them to their future lives instantly, but I had to tell before that who they would be in their future lives, how they would live there, how they would protect women from lovers of pump all pious merits out of women, so I had to hold them in such a sad position, without their sinful tongue.

I have devoted the entire 260th series of my novel to the story of what they will be all their future lives in the material world before their return into the spiritual world. I have decided that they will be born women for a very long time, as long as their services are required. And their services will be required as long as Krishna's devotees are on planet Earth. I have decided that they will be able to return into the spiritual world when the devotees of Krishna will go massively from the planet Earth to the spiritual world before this Kali Yuga completely begins to subjugate everyone.

When I thought about what they would be like, how they would protect women from big scooping out all pious merits, I had remembered the story about how the Kauravas tried to undress Draupadi at the Royal assembly, whereupon the Mahabharata occurred. I opened the 156th series in the TV series «Mahabharata», began to look it and save screenshots. I had seen that through these screenshots I was told what those asuras would be like, these lovers of pump all pious merits out of women. In the 260th series of my novel, when I began already to tell all this, I opened these screenshots and began to comment on them.

From the first screenshot with the words «I have no husbands, no name, no family. I am as the fire that burns in the heart of the forest hermit» I had seen that they will have no husbands, no name, and no family. From this I realized that these lovers of pump all pious merits out of women who were leaving women without a husband, without a name, without a family, will become such. They will not have husbands, will not have a name, that is, some importance in society, they will not even have their family. This is not surprising, because they were depriving women of their pious merits, and if these women had children, then, accordingly, these women somehow were losing their children: or in accidents, or in the kidnapping, or in a sudden illness of the child, when no one can help, or when guardianship authorities took away children.

Something like this happened to those women from whom the asuras took away many pious merits at once, emptying reserve of piety, and something similar will happen to these asuras, who are still without their energy tongue and who will be women in future lives. They will be deprived of their parents in childhood. They won't have a family of their own. Since they were leaving children without their mothers, they themselves will be without mothers and without their families. They won't have a family of their own. They will be deprived of a family in childhood. What a pity... Every life they will lose their beloved mom, and to make this more painful, they will love her, and this will happen when they grow up a little, because they were doing thus to the children of those women of whom they were pumping all pious merits out. And accordingly, the same thing will happen to them.

They will be born at a family, but after a while something bad will happen, and they will lose that family, and they will have no name, no family. They will not have husbands. Well, this is understandable, because when the asuras pump out of a woman pious merits, and at once a lot, emptying stock of pious merits, the woman loses her husband, because a man can not to hold with a woman who hasn't pious merits. She must to work off her sinful karma at a tougher regime, and at the same time she, of course, loses everything, including her husband, she has nothing left, and these asuras, too, will have nothing.

The following screenshot was with the words «I'm pure. I'm like a flower blooming in a dirty place». And they will be the same. They will live in some dirty places. This does not mean that they will live at some dump, although someone of them will live at dump, this is also possible. Most likely, they sent many children to live at a dump, without mom, because mom remained without the pious merits and lost her home and children. Maybe a lot of these kids went to live at the dump, as homeless.

But in any case, a dirty place means not only dump, not only life of hobo. It can be some a den of iniquity, some wry places, pretty rough places, glamorous parties with well-heeled socialite. All these places are also favorite by the asuras, because the asuras love to catch their prey there. In these places for asuras there are many easy accessible prey. There all with each other get laid, and to build into that illicit sex at the energy plane of existence is a charming for the asuras, and for that they will have no punishment, because asuras have every right to built into illicit sex. They have no right to invade at the faithful married couples, but they have permission to their embedding into energy structure of illicit sex. In such places the asuras are spreading their influence. They there always have their eyes and ears, through whom they choose their victims.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And these asuras, who are yet sitting without their sinful energy tongues, will hang out at those dirty parties, but they will be pure as a flower that bloomed in a dirty place. Maybe they will pursue the modeling business, will be in some places where it is customary to pay with your body, but at the same time they will be as a lotus, blooming in dirty water, but not in contact with the mud of this place. And they'll be just the same. Although they will be forced to be in these dirty places, to hobnob with the filthy rich, but they will be far from it in their nature, because we had well punched through their Sahasrara-chakra. Their Sahasrara-chakra had become completely opened, and they will be pure.

In the following screenshot were words of Draupadi, «Today in this gathering I have shed as many tears as all the women of this world have shed». Every life they will shed as many tears as all the women of this world have shed. They had took all pious merits out of many women and because of that many women were doomed to a sad painful existence when they lost everything, and housing, and children, and the opportunity to live a normal life. They will shed tears in all their future lives, and all who touch their clothes, so to speak, will die a horrible death.

They'll be as witches. They will be as grass without roots. They will not have their home, where they would live quietly, peacefully, putting down roots. They will always be a bit of a drifter running back and forth round the world, like a rolling stone, in order to lovers of pump pious merits out of women come across them in their life journey. These women will be magnets for lovers of pump all pious merits out of women. And those lovers of pump all pious merits out of women who in future lives will be born here at planet Earth and who will think: «We'll drink all their piety and will very well live due to this», will not pass by these witches.

They really will be as witches, because if someone does something bad to them, then immediately at someone who did it, something terrible will happen — his house will burn down, or his business will immediately collapse, or something else. These women will cause damage to all their offenders. Therefore, they will hide this ability from everyone, so that no one would guess about it and would not blame them for all their troubles. They will have to hide this ability for their own safety — so that no one cut her into pieces and burned at the stake. And their lives will be miserable, desperate. It's hard but it has to be. I feel sorry for them, but it's their destiny. It was not necessary to force women to shed tears. Now karma will overtake them.

242. Duty to care for the purity of society

The following screenshot was with the words «You should leave this gathering once and for all». They will be such witches, that if someone will do to them something bad, he once and for all will leave this assembly and all his hopes would come tumbling down. They will be such witches who will destroy the oppressors of women. This will happen by itself, like at witches.

At the witch everything is happening by itself, naturally: someone offended a witch, she went to do her business, she does not even think about it, and suddenly the one who hurt her, something bad happens. And those who are not stupid can see a direct link between these incidents. But this direct link is very difficult to prove, because the witch is long gone and has long been engaged in her own affairs. And defy to prove that there's a direct link between what you did bad to this witch and what happened to you after. Nobody can prove. There is no such evidence in our earthly reality and will not be. And they'll have the same thing.

Anyone who does something bad to this witch will get reactions right away. And lovers of pump all pious merits out of women will leave this assembly once and for all, that is, they will leave their lives and this activity — the pumping out pious merits from women and merciless infliction something bad for women. She would say to such lovers of pump all pious merits out of women: «Don't be so greedy, my boy. You wanted to take a piece of pious merits from me, and that woman, and the other? You wanted to empty us? Don't be so greedy. You won't be so greedy anymore». She will not do anything. Everything will happen by itself, like at witches. At the witch everything is happening by itself, naturally. Don't need to curse or cast an evil spell for that. It will happen against their will. They will know this and will be very much in disguise, will be craftier, will to keep a secret, in order to no one would know that they are witches, otherwise she will be cut to pieces, no matter how much she is beautiful.

All of them will look beautiful. They will be attractive to the male. In order to men have always thrown themselves at them, it is necessary that they were beautiful, very attractive, and even seductive. Maybe many of them will have some noble manners. They will have everything to attract such men who believe that a woman is not a woman, but just some chick. And all who treat women as meat, as female specimen will be attracted to them and after interacting with such a witch will leave their lives and the activities that they are engaged in.

The following screenshot with the words «Today all in this assembly awaits calamity» showed, that all those sinners, whom these witches will attract to and who will do them something bad, will wait calamity. Everything at their offenders will collapse. Their business will collapse, some troubles will fall on them from all sides, cars will break down, they will get in an accident, such turn ugly will start at once, just hardcore. Because need to have some respect for women. And all these witches will attract those who need to be punished. They'll have a hard life. Every life. Because they will be as a magnet, as a dust collector, a garbage collector for all those who like to offend women. As wolves clean the forest, so they will cleanse society from any piece of shit, who will just flock to her. To them will stick all low-life scum whom needs to be erased. And to be erased, these scumbags, of course, will do something bad to these women. And scumbags are not necessarily street hooligans. Scumbags come in different rank, not just the little ones that roam the streets.

There are such scumbags who look very decent and have reached great heights, but inside, they are monsters. And these witches will destroy these scumbags, just entering their field of activity, going on their eyes. And these witches will constantly come to their attention. They will eradicate evil as wolves in the wood, as good predators, forest orderlies. As they say, do not hurt the witch. This witch in her life's path will meet next scum who wants to bend her. He will start doing her something bad. She will look at him and think: «Again the next asshole has problems. This goat soon will not. It was not necessary to offend me. I was crying so much». And this asshole immediately will get a reaction for each of her tears. They'll be crying a lot. And every shed tear immediately will hit the one who was cause of it. They'll be good orderlies, so to speak, of the forest, as wolves in the wood. They'll be good specialized orderlies.

Next was the screenshot with the words «I'm not a human subject, and death! Only death! I am the death of all sinners that are present in this meeting room». And each of these the specialized orderlies will bring death to those who believe that a woman is not a person, but meat. That doesn't mean she'll take a knife and kill them or will curse them. Just they will be such witches, that it is not allowed to touch them, because lay a hand on her and you're dead. A single tear will run down her sorrowful face, and either way, life of her offender is over. And her tears will constantly drip. These women, the specialized orderlies, will be like the protection system against asuras.

They will be such witches that it is need to stay away from this lady. Nothing can be said against her. It's better not to glare at her and don't hurt her. And everyone who needs to be punished somehow will want to paw her and stuff and will think: «She is the same dirty goat as everyone». As soon as he thinks about her that she is a goat, brainless dullard, dumb bitch, ratchet, at the same time the process of erasing of him will start. A tear will roll down her cheek, and he's a goner, the specialized orderly did her job. He goes in a car. The car spun out, then being smashed on impact. The machine flies in the air. The front windshield of a car is smashed to pieces. He get squeezed to death, it takes a couple of minutes to die. She will have nothing to do with this. No one will notice anything. But if anyone notices the direct relationship between his death and that fact he treated her badly before that, she'll say, «Are you kidding me? I wasn't there. It isn't my fault. I'm good woman». Really she is good woman. She's like a flower born in a dirty place.

The following screenshot with the words «My curse will be a great mercy for them» is about the curse that they will be born women and will live women, but it will turn into a great mercy for them. They will somehow understand that they are actually men, with male nature, although they were born a woman. They will be very feminine, very pretty, irresistible, sensual, alluring and attractive women. They will be the sort of women men like to impress. Men like chasing such dames. Such luscious lollipops can sugar any man's tea. But they will have weird dreams about that they were men, with male nature, and that this is their true nature. They will understand that these lucid dreams are not groundless, and they will seek to the spiritual world all the time. They will do something to reach the spiritual world. So this curse, that they will be born women, will for them great mercy of.

They will aspire into the spiritual world and eventually they will get there, because what you want, you achieve. But it will be only when the time comes — when their services will not be so much needed, because Kali Yuga will come into its full rights and all the devotees of Krishna will leave this planet Earth and go to the spiritual world. Only then these specialized orderlies will be able to return into the spiritual world. These dreaming and understanding that they are actually men, with male nature, will be a good incentive to return into the spiritual world, because for a man to be born women is a punishment. It will be a good punishment for them.

This was said by the following screenshot with the words «If I do not punish them now, then until the end of life, every moment they will experience the torments of hell. And there will be no end to their suffering». All these witches will be very nice, attractive women and will attract all those who need to be eradicated. And they will attract even big players who are treats to women very bad, but whom can not be removed. He'll just look at the witch with his disrespectful gaze and he will get into a ton of trouble. But if he will do something bad to her, then all will feeling sorry for him, because it will happen something terrible to him. These witches will be born all over the planet Earth, go everywhere on some business and attract all those men who do not consider women as women, and they will bring upon them troubles. Because otherwise those abusers of women will experience the torments of hell, but it is better if they do not get to hell, and quickly work off their karmic reactions: suddenly terrible misfortune had befallen on this man who was actually a big scum, and he's gone to the next life, already having worked off his karmic reactions.

And in order to it was not in vain, it is necessary to convey to mind of these men why this happening to them is. These men will understand that they were having done wrong and these perils and misfortune are reaction for their bad acts. Some awareness to these men will come, because just allow them work off karmic reactions and go away into the following lives to do abominations is wrong move. It is necessary that they understand that there is a law of karma «You reap what you sow»: if you made to someone bad then your car will blew up or something bad will happened. It is necessary that they really understood this, and then it will be correct. Thus these witches will perform a noble mission. They will save them from hell and they will give them an awareness of the law of karma.

The next screenshot is with the words «The duty of any woman — to take care of the purity of society». And thus they will fulfill the sacred duty — to care for the purity of society. They will attract to themselves all scum like a dust collector. They will attract scum of various ranks, living under different guise. There is scum of very high rank, who are invulnerable, and no one can reach them. But this scum will reach for these witches themselves. If it is necessary to destroy the higher-ups decently looking scum, they will be attracted by these women, specialized orderlies. This scum won't be able to avoid it in any way. To do this, these specialized orderlies will have to have access to the upper strata.

For this these women can be very educated, with good manners and a good upbringing in order to entering the high circles, to a chosen few, to the most sacred of the sacred, where need to destroy the contestant scum, whom no one can destroy. But if she has such a mission, the duty to take care of the purity of society, and fish begins to stink at the head, then this witch will get to the highest reaches. And just because she will get there, she will already clean society. Because if some scum is sitting there whom no one can eliminate, then just due to contact with this woman, with this witch this scum will be destroyed. And this witch wouldn't need to do anything; she'd just have to get in there, in those circles. And even if the mouse is quiet to wait, the eagle will still grab it with his claws. This scum, who should be wiped off the face of the earth, will notice this witch and will try to screw her, even if she'll there sit quietly and she'll try not to attract anyone's attention. But this scum will grab her with his claws, because this scum does not know that she is a witch, that if anyone touches her clothes, will die a horrible death. Thus, these witches will take care of the purity of society.

The following screenshots, which I commented in the 260th series of my novel “My Roman. I'm asur's wife”, were with the words «Today the sons of Pandu experienced great shame. Give us opportunity for redemption. Allow us avenge your humiliation». And these specialized orderlies, too, will experience a lot of shame in their future lives, because many women have had to endure a lot of shame because of them when these specialized orderlies were asuras, men and did their dirty work. The law of karma is there, and they will experience a great shame. And of course, they will be given many chances to atone, for many lives. And those who in future lives will pump all pious merits out of women will be attracted to these witches, to these specialized orderlies because this scum will need to destroy in the first place. These specialized orderlies will subjected to humiliation there, but they did not spare others when they were pumping all pious merits out of women, they were lowering and humiliating others, and now they will reap the rewards.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Next were the screenshots with the words «From now on, I will not braid my hair. I will not decorate my hair with the sign of a married woman». These screenshots said that these women will not braid their hair and will never take a husband, will not be married. The screenshot with the words «If you do not give us a chance to atone for our sins, then until the end of time we will be in hell» said that I help them very much, because for what they were pumping all pious merits out of women, they had to go to the hellish worlds, but they simply will be born women and will be the death to such men as they are now, and in General they will be the death to any filth and scum who does not respect women and considers them an expendable product, meat. These women will be the brutal death to those men who consider women as meat, because anyone who touches her clothes will die a horrible death.

243. «Give them even more». Supplement for lovers of pump all pious merits out of women

I saved these screenshots on December 19, 2018. When I gathered all of these screenshots and saw that through them I was showed what they will be, I was told to give them even more. At that time I was translating from Russian into English episode about Fedka, a rag, God's gift, and at that time there was a screenshot from my series of my novel with words «Give them even more». I thought: what give them more? We gave them a lot through these screenshots with Draupadi. But a screenshot appeared with words «They deserved punishment, Panchali».

I was very perplexed, not knowing what to give them more than what has already been given, because so many punishments have already been prescribed to them. And when I was translating the text into English, I saw that I copied the phrase «I began to behave deliberately shamelessly». I thought that they would behave somehow ostentatiously shamelessly, blushlessly to attract those who believe that a woman is meat. And then when I posted this post on Facebook, I accidentally poked to the word «feelings». I began to think: what should be done with feelings to give them more?

Shri Ram, seeing that I was thinking of what else to add, give them more, began to ask me for mercy for them. He begged me very much. Even at that time he was very sorry for them, and he begged me to have mercy on them. When I saw and realized that he was asking me to take pity on them, I thought: I am doing very, very well, I am a real star! If he asks to spare them, it means that I am well done and the punishment is severe. I had thought I'd given them the right punishment. He showed me no mercy, he had taken all my pious merits out me, but he pities them?

It's a clever trick. Shri Ram did not regret me and other women, he said, «She has no right to live at normal conditions. She doesn't need her own children, and her children don't need her». When he was taking all my pious merits out me, he didn't think about very bitter consequences for me, but when I had sentenced to the same thing the ones who were doing it, he asked me very much to have mercy on them. Shri Ram did not feel sorry for women one bit, and those lovers to pump all pious merits out of women also did not feel sorry for women one bit, but why we have to spare those who was so relentless, ruthless and merciless? I thought, «If you're looking for sympathy, don't expect any from me. You'll get no sympathy from me!»

I told Shri Ram, looking at myself in the mirror, that that fact he ask for mercy, meaning that the punishment would really be severe and cruel and it is right, because they did it to other women and did not feel sorry for anyone — neither children, nor these women and none of their surroundings, who loved them and whom they loved. Why should we spare them if they should receive the same punishment? What kind of weird pity is that? When they did this, they did not think that those women should be pitied, but when it comes to them, they say: «Please, have mercy on us, spare us...»

No, you did it, and you will to experience it now, because you did it yourself, it's a reaction to your crimes, that's all. I, looking at myself in the mirror, began to reprimand Shri Ram, why he is so cruel to women that he did not spare me or my children, he wanted to deprive me of my children, and he wanted to make us unhappy. And when I was talking him all this into the mirror that he wanted to deprive me of my children, and to deprive my children of me, their mother, then I realized what it means to give them even more and hit on the feelings.

From my words to Shri Ram into the mirror I realized about fate of those who liked to pump all pious merits out of women. In their future lives, when they will be specialized orderlies, witches, they will lost the kids, because for a woman the most terrible thing is when she is deprived of children. From this I realized that they will have children, despite the fact that they will not ever getting married, because it was said that they will not decorate their hair sign of a married woman and that they will have no husbands, no name, no family. But they will have children. But what for? Because I was told to give them even more and I noted the word «feelings». Due this, I realized that they will have children and they will be deprived of these children, because it is the most hurts the feelings of women.

It's a pity that it will be so, but they will have to drink the bitter cup of troubles and grieves, woman's burden. They will have complicated pregnancies, difficult pathologies of pregnancy and difficult labors. This will be in order to for them to experience the same thing as the women they humiliated, devastated, although women give life. Women go pregnant. And every time they will have difficult pregnancy, obstructed labour, in order to it would be especially hard for them. They will love their children. And they will lose these children. What a pity... They will breastfeed these children themselves, personally, necessarily. In short, they will experience all the hardship of female existence, to the maximum: and rough high risk pregnancies, and terrible morning sickness, from the beginning of pregnancy and to the delivery table, and preeclampsia, caused by hypertension, and prolonged obstructed labours, and problematic breastfeeding.

And all this will happen to give them even more and to hurt the feelings. For this it is necessary that they have these children and that they love these children, only then it will hurt the feelings. It won't be that she accidentally gets pregnant and children were a burden to her. No, they will love children. But in order to give them more, to hurt their feelings, they will lose these children, so that they will get any more painful, so that they feel the same as those women who were left without children, when these asuras pumped all pious merits out of women, because of what these women lost everything, including their favorite children. Well, now they will have to experience all this for many lives.

And when I decided that we will do all this to them, a new screenshot appeared. At this screenshot my Gurudev stretched out his hand, as if to say: «Enough. They've had enough». I said that Okay, I'll do that. And I wrote all this down in my diary on December 19, 2018, so as not to forget about all this and tell it when the time comes, in the new series of my novel.

I told about it in the 260th series of my novel “My Roman. I'm asur's wife”, February 12, 2019, almost two months after the time when I was thinking about it. And when

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I agreed with my Gurudev and decided that they had had enough of this punishment, Shri Ram, through the screenshot where Karna holds out the flower to Queen Kunti, said to me: «Thank you very much that you do not assign anything more to them», although they are such sinners that they can be assigned even more punishment. In fact, they would have been assigned to the hellish worlds, but they escaped that fate and will be specialized orderlies, will take care of the purity of society. And this is a very mild punishment for them.

244. «Tell to give you all-all-all». Woman as a perfect scapegoat

In the 260th series of my novel, February 12, 2019, I voiced who the former lovers of pump all pious merits out of women will become, but in General I defined this on December 19, 2018, two months before the recording of the 260th series. At that time, in December 2018, I determined to them future, and almost immediately I got a new understanding of the words of Shri Ram about a big man with a capital letter. This understanding plunged me into an even greater grief and despair, as a result of which I received an addition, what in their future lives will former lovers of pump all pious merits out of women actually do. And when I had already torn out their sinful tongue and sealed their mouths with some kind of energy barrier, they were feeling very bad, and Shri Ram asked me to quickly send them to their future lives, so that they do not suffer for so long now, without their energy tongues.

I could have sent them right away, of course, and I really wanted to do it, but I wanted to tell first about what they will be in their future lives, and what they will in essence to do there. That's why I recorded my videos of my novel in a very concentrated form. I wanted so that their torment here would end as soon as possible. And so I told in the 260th series what they would be in their future lives, and it remained to be discovered how they would fulfill their mission of maintaining purity in society, and for this it was necessary to talk about my new insight about another meaning of the words of Shri Ram about a big man with a capital letter. I have devoted 261st series of my novel "My Roman. I'm asur's wife" to this subject.

The next day (it was December 20, 2018) I saved these screenshots from the 156th series of «Mahabharata» with Draupadi and began to think what will be those asuras who were the lovers of pump all pious merits out of women. In that morning the first thing opened a screenshot on my desktop with the words «Again the dice? It was you who imposed the game that led to the battle», and then the next screenshot — «Now dice will show us what death you deserve». I looked at these words and thought that it will now open something else.

As regards «big discount» we figured it out. This means scoop out of woman pious merits. But it turned out that there was also words «Tell to give you all-all-all». I thought that words «Tell to give you all-all-all» indicates the number of asuras whom he wanted to plug onto me, who decided to buy sex with me at the energy plane of existence. But now I got another epiphany. I got a very sad epiphany when all day this post at Yandex was coming to my eyes that some man spent 17 years in prison instead his double, although was completely innocent. I realized that words «Tell to give you all-all-all» means that Shri Ram then gave me the order to take all-all-all that I will be given by those whom he will plug onto me next time, in order to I took their problems.

that words «Tell to give you all-all-all» indicates the number of asuras whom he wanted to plug onto me, who decided to buy sex with me at the energy plane of existence. But now I got another epiphany. I got a very sad epiphany when all day this post at Yandex was coming to my eyes that some man spent 17 years in prison instead his double, although was completely innocent. I realized that words «Tell to give you all-all-all» means that Shri Ram then gave me the order to take all-all-all that I will be given by those whom he will plug onto me next time, in order to I took their problems.

They had some problems there, Shri Ram told me to be in the role of such a double, to whom thrown out these problems and who collapses under the weight of these problems, and this asur, crystal-clear, who threw off his problems, went to good live, and these problems did unaffected him. That is, he had some problems. He could go to jail, or an incurable deadly disease appeared at someone from his family, or his business was collapsing, or some former owner came, presented the rights to housing and he was forced to lost this housing in which he lived at that time and which by law was his, but the problem came, something was not taken into account, some pitfalls surfaced, and he was told: «Sorry, Yes, you paid, but get out of here».

And he has thrown out the problem into the woman at such energical connectivity. He threw out these problems into her, and he went to live, crystal-clear, without these problems. And he took away her pious services, and she became a scapegoat. And she had to accept, work off his problems in her life, like the one who spent 17 years in prison for his double, even though he was innocent.

I understood the words «Tell to give you all-all-all» thus. I had saw that Shri Ram ordered me to take all the problems that someone there had, whom he was going to plug onto me, who bought this service from him, somehow paid him to get rid of these problems. And Shri Ram threw those problems into me. He said «all-all-all». He three times said me to take other people's problems, that is, he plugged three asuras onto me and threw the problems of those three asuras into me. At the same time, he scooped out of me all my pious merits.

I knew what action will be next. We will take those asuras who did this: «Tell to give you all-all-all». We will take those asuras who in this way liked to get rid of the problems. We will take those who were using as a scapegoat the double, in this case the woman, and even women with children. I thought: what did these asuras face? What kind of problems Shri Ram threw into me? That he ordered me to take all-all-all? And what I had got all-all-all?

He wanted not only to take all pious merits from me. He wanted to fill me up with other people's problems so I couldn't even lift my head out of that shit I would fall into. I decided that to these asuras who then so made, bought this service, I will throw off all my bad karma and all bad karma of Shri Ram. I will throw them all the curses that were, are and will be at me and Shri Ram, including during this Mahabharata. All this will go to those who bought this service and who threw their problems into me.

I thought that the asuras have this practice — asuras are throw off their problems, their bad sinful karma into women, into innocent women, and they do not even spare the children of these women. They not only suck all pious merits from women, what is very bad. They even throw into these women other people's problems, in order to women just became have been dead. I didn't know it. And then I thought: this is what Shiva said to this Shri Ram. He told him, «Your crime is unforgivable. And for the crime it is necessary to be punished».

Shiva said at that time: «Chandradev's crime is unforgivable, but for the welfare of Creation I grant him life. Although I cannot free him from the curse of Prajapati, I can put him on my head and protect him from the curse of Prajapati Daksha». That's what Shiva was talking about then to this Shri Ram. This Shri Ram had sucked all my pious merits out of me. He emptied my stock of pious merits. This is confirmed by the fact that when after that he was connecting Fedka (rag, God's gift) to me, he could not pick up anything from me.

He was forced to give me a present. Because it was necessary this Fedka to plug onto me. But without pay from woman he has never paste such specialists, such buffers between the ordinary woman and big asur. He always picked up the payment from the women for such a service in the form their pious merits. Because he then told to me: «I'm going to give you a gift. Though others paid both for participation, and for a rag, a belt». It means that he loves a woman, wants to be with her, but he doesn't do anything without pay, he says: «Nowadays without pay even a pimple does not appear». But in my case, he was forced to do it without pay. And for what reason? Because there was nothing more he could take away from me. Because I've got nothing left. And Shiva told him that his crime was unforgivable: he took everything from me and threw other people's problems into me, most likely, other people's deaths, because after this our three tulasi perished. Tulasi took these problems on themselves.

And then I really started having problems. And even I once fell very hard on the concrete floor with the full force of your weight, and it is very surprising that nothing broken. My body ached a lot and for two weeks I felt terribly pain, and after that Nrisimhadev during meditation somehow came and put his big hand on my heart, and the next day everything went away as if nothing had happened, although two weeks I was aching. This is when I'm on Christmas party in school during the dance at full speed slipped and fell flat on a concrete floor.

And other cases, too, were. Immediately after the celebration on September 3, 2016 of our heavenly wedding with Shri Ram, during which he plugged those asuras onto me and they threw their problems into me and had pumped out all my pious merits, a neighbor immediately came to me. She said that some distant relative of the original owner of this apartment we live in, which we bought from those who were after him, came. That distant relative kind of came to claim to our apartment. I then very much was frightened, ran to realtors who helped me to buy this apartment, to the housing department, to a passport office, I was told that everything is normal. But it was.

And then we were attacked by lice — and to me, and to my daughter, and to my son. We never had lice, but at that time we were all attacked by lice. And in their class no one had lice. And for two weeks, I was picking lice out of our heads. And I understood that Krishna has protected us in this way. Krishna made it so that these problems, which Shri Ram had thrown into me from himself and from some three asuras (because «all-all-all» — three times «all» was said, and three tulasi perished), were removed easy. I just was picking lice out of my head and from the heads of my children. Do you have any idea how Krishna can free His devotee from even mortal danger, from mortal problems? Just we got head lice. Just we were smearing our heads with a medicine to remove lice, were getting rid of the lice and the nits. And Krishna did it that way that it did not harm us in any way.

And three tulasi has left the body. Tulasi is a sacred plant, flower, commonly known as holy basil. Tulasi leaves are part in the worship of Vishnu. Tulasi is very dear to Krishna. I had good tulasi, lush, well grown, well bloomed, and I bought a special lamp for them, but they one by one perished, left the body. I was forced to plant new tulasi. Nothing just happens in life. The tulasi had protected us. They took a punch. This Shri Ram wanted pin three strangers deaths on me. He plugged onto me three asuras, whom was expected some painful death, and he was sure that I would die, that certainly three deaths will kill me. And Shiva then said him that this is crime, and it is unforgivable, and for this he must be punished.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

245. The decision for those who loved to throw into women other people's misfortunes

When I realized all this, I realized who will be the next category to be sent during our Mahabharata. These are the ones who liked to throw their problems into women. Krishna allowed me to work off this karmic reactions a gentler way, but other women, having received three other people's deaths, would have received death, real and would have gone to another body, to next life. And maybe they would have three lives in a row to work off these three people's death. And who knows what problems they threw at me. But Krishna protected me.

I thought: what to do with them? I thought, maybe, to include them in the action with those asuras who will be women, that is, with those who loved to pump all pious merits out of women? I thought maybe to combine them together to send into future lives in order to all they will be born women and will purify the society from all scum? I thought that this punishment is severe and would suit them. But when I thought about it, immediately on my computer appeared a screenshot with the words «No buts, Gandhari».

I looked at this screenshot and thought that I should not unite them, it is necessary to give a separate punishment for those asuras who loved to throw off their problems on others, on women, and who did not even spare women with children. They were sparing no one. What would happen to children if these three deaths were realized directly and not through the death of tulasi? They didn't care. And from the words «No buts, Gandhari» I realized that it is necessary to carry out some special action to them. I thought: what should I do with them? I didn't have any thoughts on the subject, I just knew I have to do it. And then I thought that they can run quickly, but they can't hide, Krishna will definitely float me the idea. I began to meditate on this: what does Krishna want to say to me?

Then I turned on the Nrisimha-kirtan. I listened to this kirtan and was remembering how this Shri Ram was initiated by my spiritual master. It was in November 2016, the day after he had some kind of battle on the subtle level with some big asur, who had never known defeat before. That big asur would kill Shri Ram, but Shri Ram had remained an integer and unharmed, because I was singing protective mantras and begged Krishna, Gurudev so Shri Ram was alive. The next day Shri Ram needed to fulfill his part of our agreement and accept initiation at my spiritual master.

That morning I was minding my own business and suddenly I saw on my inner screen how I was standing, to my right is Shri Ram, and somewhere ahead is my Gurudev. There was complete silence, but it was evident that between me and my spiritual master there was some invisible, soundless conversation. And then my Gurudev suddenly switched to Shri Ram, and I saw that between them went a powerful flow of energy, there everything buzzed and sparkled.

There were two streams — from my Gurudev to Shri Ram and from Shri Ram to Gurudev. And from Shri Ram to Gurudev was rushing a very large flow. And then, when it was all over, this Shri Ram grew up, he became so huge, above the heavens. I looked at him with my head up, and I couldn't even see where he is so tall. I then realized that it was an initiation. And when I was listening to Nrisimha-kirtan and remembering this, I had thought, my Gurudev took the karma of this Shri Ram, though Shri Ram is an asur and he a lot of lives was asur, and he did a lot of bad. Shri Ram in this life only during a few years of interaction with me did to me so many abominations. And he did cruel things to many women. And my Gurudev took all this bad karma of Shri Ram.

I remembered that when I started interacting with Shri Ram, I was seeing Shri Ram's prostate on my internal screen and was cleaning it with some invisible hands. And then, when my Gurudev took all the bad karma of this Shri Ram, my Gurudev was diagnosed with prostate cancer, he had an operation, and just when the operation had proceeded, at this very time I could not stand the drowsiness and went to sleep, although it was morning and I was already doing my business. I fell into a dream, and I dreamed that I was sitting on Gurudev's bed and we were talking about something, and then he leaned back on the pillows and said: «In the most difficult times, it is easiest to get the highest perfection of life — the love to God». I thought: my Gurudev took problems from this Shri Ram, with his prostate as well.

And I decided what to do with those asuras, who loved to throw off their problems to others, including women with children. I had thought that they should take away all the bad karma from the spiritual masters, the followers of Srila Prabhupada, from those who lead people to Krishna. May they take away all the bad karma that these spiritual masters took from their disciples, like my Gurudev took karma from Shri Ram. Yes, let these asuras, who loved to throw off their problems to others, will obtain bad karma in the same way as they were throwing off. And let it all go to them.

But this time a lot of bad karma will go to them. Oh so much... Because my Gurudev took much bad karma from only one Shri Ram, and he has many other disciples, and he took a bad karma from each disciple. And not only my Gurudev did it. Srila Prabhupada has many disciples, now spiritual masters. And I decided to relieve all the spiritual masters, the followers of Srila Prabhupada, from the bad karma they had gotten from their disciples. I decided that those asuras, who loved to throw their heavy problems into others, will take all this. And then they'll go straight to hell. I decided that it is necessary to tear out their sinful tongue and to dump on them bad karma which spiritual masters had gotten from the disciples.

I thought: «Asuras, receive my gift!!! You didn't spare me, you didn't spare my children. Krishna spared me». They bravely did it. They did not think that for the fact that they throw off their problems, they will come to an even bigger problem, such a problem that they can not cope with, which they can not throw off, and they will fly out into very far. They didn't think about it. They had wrong. I was very sad to realize that Shri Ram had done all this to me.

I thought, Alas, we are in the material world, such situations in life happen when your eternal couple, your eternal husband is pumping all your pious merits out of you, and he does not spare you at all and plus he is throwing into you deaths of other men. And only Krishna's help helped, because Krishna allowed us to work off this in such a gentler way — through treatment for head lice, for two weeks, and by allowing tulasi to take this blow. Three tulasi perished for no reason at all. I decided that I would tear out sinful tongue of the asuras, lovers of throwing their problems on others, so that they could not take the pious merits from others by this energy tongue, could not throw their problems on others. I decided that they will take the bad karma of disciples from the spiritual masters of ISKCON and then they go straight to hell, to work off it for a very long time.

When I decided all this on December 20, 2018, on my computer appeared a screenshot with my Gurudev who was putting up arms, in the gesture of hugging.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I had thought I had it right. And then on my computer a screenshot appeared where into the chest fly great flow of gold coins. I looked at this picture and I thought, well, now we've done everything that was required of us, everything that was in our plan that we made before I was born in this life of mine. And that's when I decided how those women who would be the specialized orderlies would act in their future lives. They were men, with male nature, and were pumping all pious merits out of women. And they'll be women and like witches.

But they won't really be any witches. The all will occur in the following way. When someone will do something bad to this witch, some invisible gateway, airlock will open inside her, and through this gateway all the sinful reactions, all the bad karma of the disciples, which was taken away by their spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada, will go to the one who offended this witch. Therefore, immediately her abuser will get in trouble. Or he on car will be in a terrible accident, or his business will collapse, or something awful will happen to him, and he will die atrocious death. Why? Because under such bad karma nobody will be able to keep. And at the same time, for those specialized orderlies it will be the service to Krishna. They will free the spiritual masters from such a heavy burden. It's very good service, so they will deserve liberation and return into the spiritual world, where they will become the men, with male nature, again.

That's the way they will carry out their mission of the specialized orderlies. They will redirect bad karma from spiritual masters to all that filth, to scum who does not respect women and considers them meat. And it will happen automatically, itself out. They were asuras and liked to pump all pious merits out of women and at the same time did not spare even small children of these women. They were men, with male nature, but all they will be women. They will be such walking dust collectors to whom all this scum will be pulled from everywhere.

And if someone will do something bad to her or even just will think bad about her, then at her on some invisible inner screen some kind of gateway, airlock automatically will have open, and through this airlock from spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada, all the bad karma of their disciples will be redirected to those offenders who should be eradicated. It will be the bad karma that spiritual masters got from their disciples. And then those offenders will die a horrible death. These women will be elusive avengers, specialized orderlies, walking time bombs, traps for fans of making scapegoats of the women. These women will be specialized orderlies, masters of the erasing of those who like to pull down women to a lower level of development. All the bad karma from the spiritual masters, which they got from disciples, by itself, will automatically go to those offenders through these specialized orderlies, and this will be fair, and right, and for the benefit of all.

246. Sad transformation: how did men become women. Women don't have cock

On February 13, 2019, at night after recording the 261st series of my novel, I had a dream in which I caught a poisonous snake and it bit me in the hand as much as twice. When snake bit me the second time, I started screaming in my sleep, «Someone get an ambulance, please! Ambulance! Hurry! Hurry!» Having woken up, I thought that we must hurry, it is necessary to send as soon as possible to future lives the former lovers of pumping all pious merits out of women. I remembered that in 261st series, at the end of the series, was a screenshot with Arjuna, who was standing in front of Draupadi on his knees and he begged her about something.

I thought that it Shri Ram asking me to send them as soon as possible, because I tore out their sinful tongue and sealed their energetical mouth, and apparently, without this sinful energy tongue, by which they were pumping all pious merits out of women, they're in a lot of pain. And I decided that I will have done away with them in the morning. But were no dirty dishes in the sink. I needed to go get some potatoes. I bought potatoes and thought that right now I will peel and grate the potatoes, then will fry hash browns and during this time we will soon send them to future lives.

I tuned in them. I remembered that I was told that at the end of the battle I would sacrifice a pumpkin to them. I thought what is this pumpkin by that had to be sacrificed, and I have to do it without a shadow of doubt, fear and illusion. I remembered that it is part of some plan that I with my team of light forces had drawn up somewhere between lives before I was born in this body of mine. I thought: we have to do it because it is part of our plan because I was told through words: «I begin to act nice and clean according to the again approved plan», and I was told that it is very important. We can't go alone. We're all responsible for each other. We are rhymed like lines in one important big verse.

I thought, this is very important, my work here in this physical body is also very important. Because we are all responsible for each other, and everyone does some work, and it must be done. I remembered that these asuras were pumping all pious merits out of women and did not spared young children of these women. I remembered what they would be like. Before that they were men, but many lives they will be women, they will have no husbands, no name, no kin, they would be like a flower blooming in a dirty place. I thought: what are they going to be like? Maybe they will be models on the catwalk in the fashion business, gifted lingerie models, famous or a mid-level, or some beautiful well-known socialites, rich society dames who shines in the beauty of their garments at glamorous parties, like a rich jewel In an Ethiop's ear. Maybe they will be just inconspicuous participants in those parties, maybe they will be great actresses, unsurpassed photographers or a brilliant journalist or their assistants, because they will running around the world.

They will be pretty, attractive women and will hang out in some the wry places, in nightclubs, in dens of iniquity where not the best contingent of our earthly population hang out. Their life will be dangerous and difficult, because they will always be drawn to some scum. Because they were asuras who were lowering women down, and were pumping all pious merits out of women, and now it's going to come to them because that will nothing more than karma catching up with them. Because those women, left without their pious merits because of the actions of these asuras, were forced to paying for their sinful karma without a shock absorber, which mitigating the blow of fate, in the form of pious merits. And since these lovers of pumping all pious merits out of women did it with women, they will destroy all sorts of scum.

Our mission is dangerous and difficult, and at first glance as if not visible. They will have such a mission. They will be specialized orderlies, like wolves, cleansing the forest of what is necessary to destroy. They'll be like witches. But they won't really be witches. Anyone who will do anything bad to her, if even will think bad about her, will immediately get big trouble, because do not think bad about women, because they will have such a role — they will do the clean-up operation, a big cleanup. Those who will think and do bad things to women will be eradicated with her help, although her active conscious participation in this will not be.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

These specialized orderlies will be born alternately to make to provide sufficient coverage in order to there is no pause. And these women will be the death of all sinners who will live when she will live. Because it is better not to offend her, harm her. Anyone who does anything wrong to her, will be destroyed immediately. His whole life will collapse, and he will be buried under the rubble of his ruined life. These specialized orderlies will take care of the purity of society, will punish those who should be punished, who have no right to live, because do not fulfill their Dharma.

A man's Dharma is to protect a woman. If a man looks at a woman as at expendable product, as at meat, does not protect her, but uses her, even using violence, then this man is completely useless, because he does not fulfill his male Dharma, and therefore he must be eradicated. And every one of these women, of the specialized orderlies will be the one that will eradicate these men. These men, through this woman, the specialized orderly, will receive heavy, bad sinful karma from spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada, which they took from their disciples. Inside her by itself automatically an invisible gateway, airlock will open, and through this airlock all that sinful karma will sweep to her abuser, and he will be erased.

Our mission is dangerous and difficult, and at first glance as if not visible. Why this mission is dangerous? Because with close attention can notice that someone something did wrong for her and immediately received a response, and cruel response. And if anyone notices it, she will be torn up like the witches used to be burned at the stake because someone's cow died, although it is not her fault. These women, the orderlies, will not be to blame. Blame will be those men who will want to humiliate her, insult and do something bad to her. These offenders will receive the troubles that will come through these women, the specialized orderlies. But these women will not be to blame. Because it is not necessary to offend women and consider them expendable product. These men, the abusers, will be to blame. They're the only ones to blame, and they've brought misfortune on themselves, but these women, the specialized orderlies will need to keep a secret this their ability so no one will know she's the one bringing death to scum.

Therefore, this mission is dangerous and difficult. And this mission will be almost invisible, because they will be ordinary women, although with such unusual abilities. And they will in this mission many lives and will deserve to return into the spiritual world. No one's ever going to marry these women, because if her husband does anything bad to her, she will immediately become a widow. She can not get married, because now at Kali Yuga men can not to control their emotions and they think they can get away with anything, and so if this husband about her even thinks badly, she immediately will become a widow, so these women will be unmarried.

I had thought I had a clear picture. I know what kind of pumpkin it is. These are the ones who were pumping all pious merits out of women and who did not even spare children of these women. I know who they're going to be. I know how this is going to happen. I've already ripped out the sinful tongue by which these asuras were taking away pious merits out of women. And I had a dream that, «Hurry! Calling ambulances!» And I started doing it. I started with Narasimha Maha Mantra «Ugram viram mahavishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham».

I looked at my internal screen and saw them all. I stood at the top, right above them, and many sharp metal knives were flying up from them, and all knives were stretched out from them by me as if I am a powerful magnet. After that, I formatted their chakras in a spontaneous dance of hands during the Narasimha Maha Mantra. And when I had formatted their chakras, I remembered that they are still men, with masculine nature, although without their energy tongue, and that they will be born women, and that men can be born women as a result of either a curse or a blessing, or a personal desire, but these asuras will be born women as a result of a curse.

And I imagined that there are personalities whom these asuras, men, with masculine nature, had humiliated, devastated, and pushed to the bottom of lives and these personalities had cursed them for it. These personalities are the women from whom these asuras had pumped out and took away all pious merits, and the children of these women, and the people who interacted with this woman, depended on her, loved her. I thought these men, who are still with masculine nature, had a lot of curses. I summoned upon them these curses and saw that these curses, like great black streams, rush from all sides into them, enter their top and sink into their belly, somewhere between Svadhithana and Manipura.

I thought we should give the right impetus to these curses, make a synergy effect and focused these curses targetedly so they act in the same direction. I remembered who these asuras would be, I had imagined they would be women in future lives, and I concentrated all those black streams that from all sides were flowing to inside of these asuras into one little black dot. I set a goal to this black dot in order to these ex-men would become women. And then this black dot that was inside of them, somehow flared up and flooded their entire space, from head to toe, everything inside them became black. And I realized that those curses had collapsed into one, focused, received a course of action and started to act, manifested itself.

And when this blackness from this little dot completely had filled them, I turned on my Gurudeva's kirtan. I had seen myself high up in space, and they were all down somewhere, and there a long tunnel stretched between us. I stood right at the top of this tunnel and during this kirtan I began to sing right to there, and the sounds of the Hare Krishna Maha mantra poured down this tunnel right into them. They also began to sing a mantra. And when a lot of was poured there, I looked at them from the side and saw that everything from above at them begins to melt from the Hare Krishna mantra. After that, I aimed my gaze at them downstairs. They were men, with masculine nature, but when I concentrated all their curses, curses had collapsed into one dot, I gave to it a huge boost, distinct functions and the blackness flooded them completely, after this I saw, that they already have become women. I had seen a vagina down there. And I forced their vagina to sing the Hare Krishna mantra.

It was very surprising for me, because before that I felt them as men, with masculine nature, but after the collapsing there was some kind of metamorphosis, and I began to perceive them only as women. And what's more, I actually saw vaginas there, and I made their vaginas sing Hare Krishna. I looked at this and thought what an important mission they would be on. I was filled with great gratitude to them when their vaginas sang Hare Krishna. Their mission, what they will be and what they will do, appeared in my mind's eye. I thought: what an important job they will do! They will free spiritual masters from the sinful reactions of their disciples, will unload them, make their work easier for them, and will throw these sinful reactions to those who are not worthy to continue living. They'll be the specialized orderlies. They will do a very important job.

247. This burden is not light: every day you are at gunpoint of fate

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I was filled with great gratitude and immense respect for them, for these women, whom now I perceived only as women. There was no masculine at all in them. I thought they will help the devotees of Krishna, will purify the space, and I filled them all with mantra. And then I thought that it's time to send them. I turned on again mantra «Ugram viram maha-vishnum» and had stood in the center of them. I had imagined that I am a star of very high density with a huge force of attraction and everything is attracted to me. And I began to pull everything from them like a magnet, trying to tear them away from their physical shell. I had such a big power of attraction that everything that they had, was tearing off from them and was flying into me. When I tore them away from their physical shell, they began to hang as in weightlessness.

And then I turned on the mantra Narasimha Kavacham and began to burn them by Narasimha Kavacham. I burned them by the mantra like by fire; they had turned into small hovering balls and huddled together as bunch of floating burning balls. And when at the end of the Narasimha Kavacham was «sampurnam sampurnam», they all flew away into a funnel-shaped vortex that formed overhead. And when they flew away into that funnel, and I stood there wondering if they had all gone there or not, maybe someone was left, but the funnel was closed, then I saw that my Shri Ram was approaching me from some blurred mist. Initially I wanted to leave, and then I had felt so sad, and I had wanted to cry on. I snuggled up to his chest and I began to cry on. I haven't had that in a long time. This time it happened to me. I had myself a good cry, and then I came out and I began to eat the hash browns that I've been cooking all this time.

In that way I had sent into future lives those asuras who liked to pump all pious merits out of women. Those asuras became a shield. They will serve an important purpose. They will unload many times the spiritual masters from all the sinful karmic reactions that they have taken from their disciples. And they will redirect these sinful karmic reactions to all the scum that has no right to live. And it will happen by itself, quite automatically, but it will happen. They will carry a very important mission. First, they will purify the space from all scum due taking the hit themselves, and second, they will help the devotees of Krishna to return into the spiritual world. And I thought:

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.

After all, everyone who went into Special Forces,

All have the special assignment and specialized training.

I thought: their appearance will be far from spiritual heights. They will behave in a deliberately shameless. They'll hanging out in dirty places. They'll be like a flower blooming in a dirty place. And they apparently will be quite far removed from the purity. But in fact, they will carry out a very important and very necessary mission: they will be a good predators, specialized orderlies and will help spiritual masters, perhaps without their understanding. But it will happen. And after they will perform this service for many, many lives, their sufferings will come to an end. They will return into the spiritual world, because with their ostentatiously shameless life they will deserve to return into the spiritual world, because they fulfilled a very important mission.

Therefore...

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.

After all, everyone who went into Special Forces,

All have the special assignment and specialized training.

This burden is not light:

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Every day you are at gunpoint of fate.
But you yourself chose Special Forces,
By agreeing to serve in this your body.

When they were men, asuras and were pumping all pious merits out of women, they did not think that this would happen to them and they did not give their consent to this. But what to do? You reap what you sow.

This burden is not light:
Every day you are at gunpoint of fate.

Every day they will be very well in disguise, in order to no one guessed they are the death of any scum. They will have to be very sophisticated and resourceful in this. Every day they will at gunpoint of fate. Every day all sorts of evil filth will fly to these women like moths are flying to a light of fire. They'll be like dust collectors, all the scum will fly to them. And even those who were born with extraordinary abilities can lose these abilities if they do evil.

Those who will pump all pious merits out of women will also be drawn to them. They will think, «This is a prize catch! I'll pump more pious merits out of her right now». And as soon as he thinks about it, even he will not have to do anything — whatever his abilities, he had sealed his fate. And if he does anything to her, he's dead man. Because some sort of invisible airlock will immediately be activated in her, and, regardless of his blessings or special abilities or the protection, he will be flooded of bad karma of disciples who want to go back to Krishna, and who could be terrible sinners at their past lives.

A lot of terrible karma immediately will pour to those and they will be under this bad karma completely buried and will go to hellish planets to work it off. And nothing will not help them and nothing to protect them, because this will be bad karma of those disciples... Take at least one Shri Ram, how many bad things he did. But he was initiated at the heart level, at the relationship level by my spiritual master, and my spiritual master took all his karma. And how many disciples there and it is not known what kind of karma they have and who they were in past lives. So he who likes skiing downhill must enjoy skiing uphill. Come on, let's go! I'm sorry, but you had that coming. There will be a lot of terrible karma... Anyone won't be able handle pressure of this sinful karma.

Krishna restrains the pressure of this sinful karma at the spiritual masters, but no one will restrain the pressure of this sinful karma towards ordinary people, especially towards scum, vile filth. Her abuser just will want to do something bad to her, and immediately all the sinful karma of the disciples from the spiritual masters will flow through her like a flood to her offender and bury him. No matter what he knows and thinks he's completely invulnerable. There are no invulnerables in the material world. Only if Krishna decides to protect. Rakhe Krishna mare ke, mare Krishna rakhe ke. When Krishna protects you no one can kill you but when Krishna wants to kill you no one can protect you. Therefore, nothing won't be able save her offender. And even the biggest ship can sink if there's a hole in the side of the ship.

And these women will be a very nice hole, very attractive, so...

Don't look down on people.

Their appearance is only a disguise.
After all, everyone who went into Special Forces,
All have special mission and special training.

They will look very attractive to that vile filth, but they will be their death. Because the biggest ship can sink if there's a hole in the side of the ship. It will be such a hole, a dark hole, into which it is better not to fall. But she will be very well in disguise, in order to no one guessed and did not tear her into small pieces due what she is. She won't be able to do anything about it, because she's so configured. They didn't have to act like that — pump all pious merits out of women and incur a lot of curses.

248. The upayas to save a life — 1

This action with those asuras who liked to pump all pious merits out from women I outlined in detail on December 19, 2018, two months before its implementation. And after determining this action, December 20–22, 2018, I had gotten an insight about the next action, that is, about those asuras who liked to throw off their troubles into others, particular into women. I found out about it, suddenly remembering and understanding from the other angle the words of Shri Ram, told me on September 3, 2016 through the owner of the vegetable stall «You are a big person with a capital letter. Come next time, take a carrot, tell to give you all-all-all, and with a big discount». I understood what his words «And tell to give you all-all-all» meant.

Shri Ram got all my pious merits out of me in order to he can live well due to my pious merits, and Shri Ram plugged someone from asuras onto me who had paid him in order to I took away all their troubles. Means of payment is not necessarily money in circulation. They had paid him with pious merits because the asuras know that we receive everything, including money, due to pious merits. And the more these pious merits, the more we have good luck, more opportunities, including money. And someone had paid to Shri Ram pious merits, to throw into me the problems. There, apparently, were very serious problems.

Having learned about it, I thought: what was waiting for those who had thrown their problems into me? They had something very serious, something very terrible. Maybe one of them had to lose his home? Because at that time my neighbor came and said that some relative of the original owner of our apartment came and said supposedly wants to settle here legally. I then strongly was frightened, ran to realtors, to the house management company, but I was told that everything is normal. But the sign itself was, that is, one of those three had to lose his home. And three tulasi died, though they were in very good condition and care for them was good. That is three inevitable deaths there were at those who plugged onto me and threw into me the problems.

And I thought what else was waiting for them? After all, Shri Ram told me to take everything from them. I thought: how so? Okay, I am not spared, although they were supposed to feel sorry for me, I'm a good woman, but they are not spared my children. Because of the fact that they threw into me some terrible problems: and deprivation of housing, and death, it is clear that my children would have been without me. What would happen to them without me, without housing, those asuras who threw their problems into me, did not care a bit. They didn't spare the children. Shri Ram wanted to fill me with other people's troubles so that I could not even raise my head from this shit, which I would have gotten into if Krishna had not protected me.

I thought, what a benevolent Shri Ram... I'm not so kind. I'm angry. There will be no mercy this time. I thought that to those who plugged then onto me and who had the audacity to throw into me, into the woman, the terrible problems, without having spared my children, I will give all my sinful bad karma. They didn't spare me, and I will not spare anyone. I will give them everything, all sinful karma of mine, and all sinful karma of Shri Ram, and my children, and my second husband, who suffered from the actions of Moscow asuras, and the sinful karma of entire my team of the forces of light.

Because then those asuras plugged onto me energetically and were with me as a man with a woman and now have to fulfill my desire, because a woman can be only with her husband, and the husband is obliged to fulfill the desires of his wife. And since those asuras were with me, even if it was sex on the energy connection, but for the asuras there is no difference, then they are obliged to fulfill my desire.

They are in trouble. Men who have sex with different women, very much at risk, because a woman may have some desire, and this man will need to fulfill her desire. Even if he doesn't know about it. As they say, beware of your own wishes, as they do come true. In this case, fear of the desires of the woman you had sex, because you are obliged to fulfill these desires. So those men who think that today he fucks one woman, tomorrow another, then a third, they are very much at risk, it's a fatal risk.

I have identified the next category in our Mahabharata. These will be those of the asuras who liked to throw off their big problems into women, not even sparing children of these women. I decided that these asuras would accept the bad karma that spiritual masters of ISKCON, followers of Srila Prabhupada, took from their disciples. All this bad sinful karma will go to those asuras who were throwing off the troubles and even deaths into poor unfortunate women whom it is necessary to protect especially if they have children.

When I understood the true meaning of the words of Shri Ram «And tell to give you all-all-all», I decided to remember the events of the days when he had did it. This happened on September 3, 2016, when I saved Shri Ram from his life collapse. At that time he decided to thank me, so to speak. That day was six months of our heavenly wedding, at which Shri Ram and I became husband and wife in some kind of illusion. On that day, September 3, I said to Shri Ram, «Choose! Either me or those women whom you uses as the contactless whores». He decided to choose me because otherwise he would have lost all his money, become a bum, a fatal loser. He was shown this. And he was forced to choose me. On the same day he decided to take all my pious merits out of me and to throw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's deaths. It happened on September 3.

September 4 was Sunday, I went to the Sunday program of Hare Krishna. Krishna immediately began to protect me. September 5 I was singing Mrityunjaya Mantra. Krishna showed me on my inner screen the woman Shri Ram was with that summer, and I was singing the Mrityunjaya Mantra all day. Yes, of course I was protecting this woman from my anger and from Shri Ram. Also I was defending him from the karmic reactions, due to the fact that he's scheduled her to be erased. But it also turns out that I was protecting myself, because he had already thrown all these problems, all these troubles into me and devastated me, taking all my stock of pious merits, and there had to begin a series of events that would lead to the complete collapse of my life, and then to my death. But I listened to the Mrityunjaya Mantra that protected me.

On September 7, Shiva told Shri Ram that his crime is unforgivable, and Shri Ram was forced to accept me because Shiva told him that if he did not, he would be crushed completely. He accepted me. On September 9, the day after that, the school had a parent-master meeting, and the headmistress of the school spoke at that parent-master meeting. She turned on a video about the fact that parents should take care of themselves, because if the parents were gone, the children will be without protection.

This never happened. I wondered what came over her. I was sitting in the front row, right in front of her, and she kept looking me in the eye and saying, «This is very, very serious. You take care. This is very, very serious. How will the children be without you?» It Shri Ram spoke to me through her. He already accepted me as his wife because Shiva had him cornered. And at that parent meeting through the headmistress of the school Shri Ram told me that that he had thrown into me from those men, was very seriously. Shri Ram said he was afraid of what would happen to him if I was gone. Shri Ram said me to need to take greater care of myself, defend myself.

How much he was taking great care of himself that even the headmistress looked me in the eye and said: «You must take care of yourself. This is the most important thing, because then how will the children be without you?» But how my children would be without me, he did not care. He thought only of himself. Shri Ram said to me through the headmistress, «How will I live if you are gone out? Then, as Shiva said, I'll die. So you look after yourself. I want to live well, I want to live, enjoy. I'm young, dashing, loaded now. I gained your pious merits, the business started to grow, everything is restored, and I want to enjoy life. Please take care of yourself somehow». It was September 9 at the parents' meeting.

And from 13 to 19 September the kids and I were getting rid of the lice. Suddenly, out of the blue, we had lice. Lice appeared before September 13, and on September 13 we went to the doctor to find out why the head itches, and the doctor found lice at us. Children were forbidden to go to school, we all days were smearing the head with a medicine to remove lice and delousing lice. Where did they come from? Neither at the son in the class, nor at the daughter of anyone lice were not found. I'm sitting at home, I don't go anywhere. And so many lice at once were, as invasion. From 13 to 19 September we combed lice out. Thus Krishna arranged me liberation from problems. These asuras had thrown their problems into me, and we were getting rid of these problems in this way — combing it out of our heads. Even thus Krishna can get you out of trouble.

At that time Pitru Paksha began, days of remembrance of ancestors. That year, Pitru Paksha was from 16 to 30 September. I observed Pitru Paksha, every day I read Hare Krishna mantra for myself and for my ancestors, and I read the Bhagavad Gita for them, because reading the Bhagavad Gita is equivalent to a very big Upaya, that is, it gives a lot of piety. It is said that reading even half of Bhagavad Gita will allow one to live for 10 million years on the higher planet of the material world, and by reading Bhagavad Gita one can receive the blessings of Supreme Lord Hari, Krishna. In the Gita Mahatmya it is said that can bathe in water every day to wash away the dirt, but if one takes a bath in the waters of the Bhagavad Gita, which is like the sacred waters of the Ganga, then all the dirt of material life will be washed away from him once and for all.

It is said that all sins committed unintentionally during the day will simply disappear if you listen to «Mahabharata», that anyone who constantly listens to «Mahabharata» will get rid of the consequences of all sins committed by the soul, body or verbally. And «Bhagavad Gita» is part of «Mahabharata». And during Pitru Paksha I was reading «Bhagavad Gita» every day to help my ancestors. I am sure that it also helped me a lot, protected me from the troubles and deaths that those asuras threw into me. I also was offering prasada to my ancestors. Prasad is vegetarian food offered to Krishna. I think it helped me a lot too, because when you help your ancestors, they give you their protection and their blessing. Apparently, what I was observing vows of Pitru Paksha, also helped me a lot. I also was observing the fast of Ekadashi. Ekadashi clears, free people from sinful reactions.

249. The upayas to save a life — 2

On September 19, this Shri Ram plugged Fedka unto me (Fedka is a rag, God's gift). That is Shri Ram plugged unto me some buffer, an asur with some abilities who are able stabilize the interaction of the big asur and woman. Shri Ram said me through words of coach karate: «I'm going to give you a gift. Though others paid both for participation, and for a rag, a belt». That is, other women with whom he was once and whose he connected with a buffer in the same way, were paying him and giving him their pious merits and for his participation in their life, that is for being with him, and for this buffer.

But Shri Ram could not from me take pious merits for his participation in my life, nor for this rag, belt, because he had already got all my pious merits out of me and I had nothing left. And there was nothing more he did can take away from me. For him it was, of course, very distressing that he could not seize any pious merits from woman. He probably was sure that women are needed to take away pious merits from them. Why else would women be needed except to seize their pious merits? For man's participation in the life of a woman she is obliged to pay him her pious merits. Because other were paying and for participation, and for a rag, belt.

There's something else that might have helped me and probably had helped me. Just then I stopped eating fish. I was a lacto-vegetarian for 16 years, and when I was pregnant with my daughter, after 16 years of strict vegetarianism, already at the very end of pregnancy I had wanted fish so much that I could not tolerate that and addicted to fish. For several years I partook of the fish. And I was eating fish just before September 2016, when Shri Ram had thrown into me someone else's problems and three other people's deaths. And just then I had wanted to say goodbye to the fish. I said, «The fish, farewell» — and I refused to eat fish. I'm sure saying goodbye to the fish gave me some protection, too. Why am I talking about fish and not meat? Because meat I have not eaten, but the fish ate. And I had needed to give up fish. Apparently, this gave me some balance, to others' evils and deaths not buried me under a.

When I realized in December 2018 that Shri Ram had thrown other people's problems and even deaths into me, I had a very strong aversion to him. I didn't want him anywhere near me. I was thinking, «What a handsome, really good-looking man»... All the asuras are pretty, especially of such rank as RA, that is, the asuras, who can get a lot of pious merits out of women. Such asuras are born pretty enough. I thought, «What a nice man, so interesting, so sleek-looking, well-mannered, cultured, very good-looking man, but he did this to me. He did this to me and he didn't spare my children. He threw other people's deaths into me to kill me. How would my children live without me? It was completely indifferently to him».

I thought I didn't want to be with him. I had a very strong aversion to him, and then he gave me the idea that all he has is mine. He made it clear to me that he would have lost everything, but his position was saved by my pious merits and that all he has now is mine by right. He kind of conveyed to my mind that I have every right to use what he has, because it's all mine. I thought, Yes, everything he has really belongs to me, everything there has been preserved and developed due my luck and he is afloat only thanks to me. I thought it was reasonable: really, I have every right to everything he has.

When I came to the realization that Shri Ram threw into me other people's misfortunes and deaths, the fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva lasted which I started in September in order to Shiva neutralized all the bad I wished Shri Ram. The last, 16th

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Monday of Shiva was on December 24, 2018. And on December 22–23, I was pondering, how they threw into me these deaths and spared neither me nor my children.

I was thinking that Shri Ram does not have the right to such luck. Really, what a lucky guy: the woman observes fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva in order to he was not killed by karmic reactions which he is obliged to get due to the fact that he humiliated this woman, offended her and mishandled her. But this woman is observing the fast of 16 Mondays of Shiva so these karmic reactions doesn't hit him. And she is doing this because he's her man. Because he said, «How will you live with someone who is so defective that no woman can be happy with him? How will you live with him if you're a woman too?» Because of his words I decided to observe the 16 Mondays of Shiva to remove this and all the bad I wished him. It was the last Monday of Shiva when I learned that Shri Ram had thrown other people's deaths into me. And I didn't want to fast, but I decided I will do it.

I was thinking of the man from my past lives who came to me when Shri Ram gave me up because he had Lona with him. Lona was erasing the asuras. She was making asuras the impotents and then sending them into an incorporeal existence. She was so good, so very nice that he told me then: «Goodbye, we part forever». And this man had gone then to me. And he told me that he wanted to save me from this Shri Ram. He wanted to save me. He did not care that Shri Ram had exhausted all my pious merits. He didn't care that Shri Ram had thrown other people's troubles into me. He just wanted to save me. But I turned him down because Shri Ram is my eternal husband and I came to give him a chance.

I remembered that some Maharishi, a good advanced devotee of Krishna who was going to Krishna, was also offended that I was not even looking at him. He said to me, «I am much better than your Shri Ram, well, at least look at me. You're alone. I also go to Krishna. Let's go to Krishna together. You'll be much better off with me than with this Shri Ram». He assured me that he will give me a better life, and others men too assured me. I thought that I had refused them all because of this Shri Ram, who had thrown other people's troubles into me and did not spare me.

I thought I am some kind of masochist, there's something wrong with me. I thought: so much I was nasty in his eyes and not worthy to be with him that he with a clear conscience threw his and other people's troubles into me and had took all my luck. So much I was hideous for him that he hated me so much. As far as I was in his view unworthy and nothing at all, that he can't imagine me in his life and was going to get rid of me even in this way, actually killing me, and along with my children. I thought that was his real attitude towards me. That is his true vision of me. And I came to him, to this Shri Ram, to one who could not see me next to himself and wanted to get rid of me even in such a radical way?!

Shri Ram hammered a lot of other people's problems and deaths into me, and he thought he would kill me, but I told him, «I wouldn't give you the pleasure!» I said goodbye to the fish. I haven't eaten meat in years, and now I've stopped eating fish also. I began to observe remembrance days of ancestors Pitru Paksha and Ekadashi, I began to read Bhagavad Gita, chant Hare Krishna mantra, and Krishna had protected me. Shri Ram threw three deaths into me, but Krishna had protected me. But Shri Ram hoped it would kill me. Three tulasi is gone. Alas, we are in the material world, such situations in life happen. Srila Prabhupada is absolutely right: there is no love in this world. Because I with Shri Ram are a timeless couple. We are such eternal couple, which was eternal couple in the spiritual world. We are such eternal couple, which was a couple here, after our fall to this material world, many lives. We continue to be an eternal couple.

And he did this to me when I came to him, as a result of he was calling me to him, he was persuading me, he was saying «I'd do anything for y'all». Yes, indeed, he kept his word. He had done everything. He threw all the troubles into me, and he took all my good out of me, and was selling me, and was giving me away to everyone, and was showing me to everyone, and was deceiving me, and wanted to hold their asuric initiation to me, but Krishna didn't let him do it. Shri Ram said, «I'd do anything for y'all». Indeed, for me he had had ready to everything. That's why Srila Prabhupada is right. He said that we should get out of this material world and return into the spiritual world. Don't waste your time at foolish things.

250. Sword Chandrahas

Shri Ram was forced to accept me as his wife because he had no choice. Shiva told him that he has to accept me, as he voluntarily took me as his wife in the spring of 2016, but then committed a crime that is unforgivable and for which it is necessary to be punished. Shri Ram got all my pious merits out of me and threw in into me other people's troubles and even three deaths, hoping that this way I will fall away from him. He expected that then his money would remain with him and everything would be done. His desire to throw me out of his life and my ultimatum to him that either me or them will be fulfilled.

By doing this, Shri Ram was wondering when at me will start a never-ending period of bad luck and then the imminent end of my life, to finally free from the need to be with me. But Shiva broke all plans of Shri Ram saying that the inevitability of getting the collapse of life and ignominiously end life did not disappeared and may at any time to return to him. Shiva told Shri Ram that he can be protected from this danger only if he will be with me. And Shri Ram was forced to accept me. He had no choice. Every time he went on the only way possible for him.

And at the time when he accepted me as his wife and has already connected me with Fedka, rag, I mean some asur who is the buffer between us, to stabilize our interaction, asuras put me as their lot-item on their asuric totalizator. Before that, I had an interaction with the leader of the Moscow asuric organization and with elder of asuras. I very angered them by my disobedience, obstinacy, intractability, and they said, «Now we will break this bitch. If it does not give in to us, we will put her on our asuric totalizator right now. We have strongest specialists in breaking of the female nature. She can't resist, that's for sure. We from her will make the last whore, such a female, whom one would not covet».

Asuras put me as their lot, item to their asuric totalizator and came to Shri Ram. They told him that they had already put me on their totalizator, that the bets had already been made, the participants in breaking of me had already been gathered; there was even a list of who would use me after I was broken. They told him to make a bet at that totalizator and get rich. Shri Ram did not give me away to them. And moreover, he went to battle with some asur with a red eye, whom had never had a defeat before. Shri Ram was sure that he would be killed there. Shri Ram knew that I would be broken and wreck there, because there were cool specialists, there, and in order to somehow protect me, he asked me to ask the goddess Lakshmi for blessing me to conjugal fidelity to Shri Ram as my husband.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I didn't understand what it meant at the time, but after a while, when I was translating this novel from Russian into English, I realized why he went to this battle. I thought he is such a noble, such a knight, that he protected me, that he treated me so well and treasured me so much that he did not give me away to this asuric totalizator. In fact, it was much more banal. I realized this, remembering the events of those days from a new perspective.

I remembered that right before that battle he was shown again a series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev», this time where Shiva gave the sword Chandrahas to Ravana. There were such words of Shiva: «I give you this weapon, this Chandrahas. Remember, never abuse it. If you will mistreat the sword, it will come back to me». Thus Shiva told Shri Ram that if he gave me to the asuric totalizator, I would return, so to speak, to Shiva, that is, I would not be with Shri Ram. But before that, Shiva told Shri Ram that he could protect Shri Ram by placing him on head, that is, if Shri Ram was with me.

Thus Shri Ram realized that if he would give me to asuras to their asuric totalizator, then it is removed his protection from a vital crash and this crash will crush him completely. He had saw that then his life would end very disgracefully, because he would be attacked by the collapse of life, the finances would all flow away from him, he would lose his house, become bankrupt and then he would have been beaten with iron sticks by drug addicts under the bridge, when he would be homeless. Because Shiva told him that he is protected only as long as he's with me. But at the same time, the asuras gave him an ultimatum that if he did not give me to them to their asuric totalizator, then he would be forced to take a mortal fight with asur with the red eye, whom would have killed him, because that red eye, asur, had no defeats before. And Shri Ram chose to go to this battle, because in that case death would be much easier and, so to speak, heroic.

On the subtle level, that asur with the red eye would kill Shri Ram, and then his physical body would cease to exist. And in this case he would not have to walk in the cold, somewhere in the entrances to warm up, look for leaky shoes in the garbage and eat from trash can. He thought it was better to die on the subtle energy level. That's why he chose not to give me to the asuras to their asuric totalizator. But I, silliest goose, thought he is a noble knight... And the fact that he was faced with such a choice at all to give me to them away or not, also suggests that he could easily give me away. And he had not done this, because Shiva told him that he should not have abused the weapon, otherwise then it will go back to Shiva and Shri Ram will disappear somewhere under the bridge. Since Shiva reminded him of that, then he could have given me away. But he went the way he was told.

He couldn't take a step to the left or a step to the right. It turns out that, indeed, he every time was in a situation in which he could choose only one option, clearly obvious to him. There were no other options. He went through these obviously options, like by the numbers, as if he really went through the points of the plan that was unfolding in our life. I remembered a movie where two men escaped. They are each other's hated, but were linked by one chain, and they somehow managed to escape. And, escaping from the chase, they were forced to take into account the wishes and characteristics of each other, just to survive, to break free. I thought, we with Shri Ram are tied, chained together. I had felt very sorry for him. I thought I wasn't his type. He squashes such women like me like bugs. But such his attitude to me is totally uncool, and I'm not cool with it. No one will tolerate it, especially for so long.

I thought that if all this is true, then the material world is a terrible, dangerous place where this can happen. And I said to Shri Ram, «I'm sorry, Shri Ram, that I came to you, that I am chained together to you. Maybe I came to you to break this chain and get us free of each other. Maybe I came to you in order to you could do what you want, without that chain, and in order to I could do what I want to do, without that chain. But while we are sitting on this chain, we have to somehow take into account the characteristics and wishes of each other». I felt very sorry for him. But since he and I are in the same chain, I must somehow be kinder to him, despite the fact that he has done so much evil to me. But I have to be kind to him, just because we're on the chain together.

I thought: he was used to being with those women who somewhere there lick him and from above, and from below, but I tell him that instead of toys let him buy a Christmas tree. I told him every time, «Points fly off first». I told him, «Get those women away, or I won't tolerate it». He wasn't used to it. He was used to freedom. He was used to that here in life, the woman knows nothing about his adventures at the energy plane of existence, and here I am, it turns out, somehow know. But he can't without sex at a distance, when him lick like a garbage can, but I told him: «Stop being a garbage can, you're mine and only mine. You are mine everywhere and always».

I thought: I feel sorry for him, very sorry. He's not used to this kind of pressure on himself and to limiting his freedom of his actions, especially where no woman never restricted him where he could do what he wanted, pretending here in the real world a good, loyal, a wonderful man, while he was doing abominations at the subtle level. I felt sorry for him.

251. Shackled together

But still, these sad thoughts about he had thrown into me someone else's troubles and three deaths to completely destroy me, very much upset me. Just then the end of the 16 Mondays of Shiva came. December 24, was supposed to be the final 16th Monday of Shiva. I very much didn't want to fast at this Monday. During these 16 Mondays of Shiva previously hidden pages of our relationship opened alternately, what he has done to me and how he treated me. Every Monday I continued to fast so that Shiva would free him from reactions and from my bad wishes to him. But when final Monday came, last line of this epic was manifested: about he had thrown into me other people's problems and three deaths to destroy me, in order to just enjoy with women whom he used as the contactless whores, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. But he did not spare me or my little children.

I didn't want to observe fast the last Monday of Shiva, but only because of the fact that he and I are chained together I decided that I will fast at the last Monday, though I much do not want to. But this dissonance that I have to be with him, although I much do not want it, and these sad feelings and the realization that man did not want to be with me so much that even wanted to destroy me physically, throwing into me deaths of other men and he did not spare anyone, was making me very sad. And at some point I couldn't stand it.

I felt bad due thinking that he threw a bunch of other people's shit into me and took out all my luck, hoping that it would destroy me, that at some point I could not resist. It was December 22, 2018. It happened by itself. I suddenly found myself on my mental inner screen inside Shri Ram, and fire went out of me to inside him. I burned something there a lot of down in the middle. I was seeing that there was something there, and I was burning it with my fire completely coolly, methodically, completely distant, but at the same time with great determination to destroy him, this scum, completely, so that this scum no longer exists.

I burned some blocs a little lower abdomen. Also I was piercing him total with a dazzling blue glow, and then I had stood at the bottom and wanted to continue. I wanted to burn all in him from the bottom up. I wanted to burn, burn and burn everything completely. I wanted to shock out him out of his body completely, but then I remembered a screenshot from «Mahabharata», where Krishna seemed to say, «Hold your horses, stop, please, slow down», and I had stopped and had gone out of there. Then I felt that I had burned something out of him and it was for him irretrievable, very serious loss.

The next morning, December 23, there were two unpleasant incidents with my children. Daughter slept on the sofa, and our cat slept on blanket, which was lying above the sofa. Blanket suddenly began to move from above down onto the sofa. The cat with the blanket fell on my daughter and claw of cat accidentally scratched her right next to the eye. We are lucky that the claw did not scratch the eye. The scratch was very big. I told her she was very lucky. That same morning my son went to the store next to the house to buy something. Near the store he slipped on the ice and he was attacked by a dog who was sitting next to the store, and bitten his leg. I told him that he was very lucky that there were no other dogs, otherwise they would have attacked too and tore him.

I thought that it happened because of what I did with Shri Ram, because I had burned two blocs in him at all. I thought that Krishna do not want me to attack this Shri Ram and do something bad to him. I thought that the reaction had gone to me through my children and kids turned out to be a lightning rod. I felt sorry for the damage I had done to him. I burned something in him. I thought that since I got that reaction then I done something really bad to him. But what to do? There had burned completely.

I was so sorry, I was begging his forgiveness. But it's his own fault. He brought me to such a state that I just could not control myself and I just was skidded. I thought that I came to him in vain and began to interfere with his pleasure with everyone. But he was asking me to come to him. He tried to persuade me to come to him. I thought that he probably was thinking that if I, his eternal true life partner, his Shakti, will to come to him, then the contactless whores are not going anywhere and he will continue this delight at the energy plane of existence with everyone. He thought that nothing will change, just his Shakti will be added to these whores, whores will be on energy connection, at the subtle, fine-material level, and his Shakti will be here, in real life, and he will enjoy to the fullest. I thought it was very offensive to me.

Then I thought that I so wasn't his type that he thought those women were better for him, and I'm just a whore whom is not a pity to destroy. I thought that he thought so. And I felt so sorry for what it was. Why did I come to him? Why I told him instead of toys to buy a Christmas tree and that goggles come off primarily? Why did I come to him? He was sitting and enjoying with these contactless whores. But I showed up and began to disperse all: «Move away from him! He's mine! You all go away!» I told him, «Are you mine or are you not mine? If I came to you, then you're mine man. But why are you being like this to me? Then why did you think you weren't my man if I came to you?!»

I thought I shouldn't have come to him. If I hadn't come to him, I wouldn't burn down anything out of him. All would have remained intact. He would remain a little chieftain in his swamp. I'm so stupid and presumptuous. I broke down and attacked him. Reactions came immediately. He was very lucky because I remembered Krishna's wish that I would not touch him and I came out of there, otherwise he would not have existed.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I was already down inside him, wanted to burn uncontrollably at him with my fire higher and higher, but braked, and the reaction came immediately, through my children. I thought: how much it hurt and offensively me that I am not what he wanted. I am so much not such a woman as he loves that he did everything to destroy me.

Just when all this was happening, I was translating into English the story about Splinter, the former mentor of the asuras, about his relationship with his then wife. And through this story Krishna told Shri Ram that his main duty is to protect me, that he must sacrifice and make changes in his life if he wants to be alive. I thought that he should leave all women whom he used as the contactless whores, leave all other women, because if I will smell scent of other women, then I can not to stop, I'll just see this case through and he dies. I thought he was taking a huge risk, because I had already started to do it, I had already burned something out of him that reaction had come to me through my children.

I thought how much he loved those whores, that he didn't want to leave them. I understand it: they're better than me. I'm nothing compared to them. And it can very upsetting to me. I'm gonna kill him in this mood, and there's nothing left of him. Yeah, I'm not allowed to do that, but if I will smell scent of other women, I might not be able to stand it and I will destroy him, even if it is prohibited. I'll just stand by and watch how I from the bottom up or the top down burn everything off in him, and then knock him out of his body, and that's it. He's in a lot of trouble, I thought. He loves these whores so much, but I'm not like them, and I'm very upset. And I start to boil over with rage just thinking that I'm not like that. That he wants these these whores but I'm not like them. He wants such women, to whom he was accustomed.

I thought that if he doesn't solve this issue, then I will solve it, I will solve cardinally. I told him that either they or I would leave. But in the same story about Splinter, Shiva told me not to leave Shri Ram. And in that case, I'll have to make them go away or him. But he cannot leave me, because then he will not be. Shiva told him that he has to make a change in his life, he has to sacrifice something, otherwise he would be destroyed, because I, being a woman and a sensor, will definitely smell those women, I'll have a breakdown and I'll just destroy him. And just for his well-being, for his protection, for his safety, he has to do it.

It turns out I've had rounded up him, like at wolf hunt. I felt very sorry for him. I told my daughter that she was lucky that her eye remained intact, and I told my son that he was very lucky that other dogs did not tear him, because dogs were not there, although they always sit there. And due that I realized that I did to Shri Ram something bad. I thought: why does he despise women? He brought me to such a state that I almost killed him, almost burned him completely. But somehow I was able to stop.

I thought he needs me in order to I was his shield, his defense, in order to keep him was alive, and it is not in his best interest to upset me. This is in his most important, vital interests. Also I thought that if his life depends on me and we are so tied up, then I need to somehow be kinder to him, somehow protect him, especially since Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow said to me: «Take the king! Keep him safe!» I thought: it is necessary to protect him. Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow gave me the king, but I had burned something vital importance in him, due that immediately had a reaction, so serious. I need to keep him safe.

On December 23, after the incident with the children, Shiva in the story of Splinter told Shri Ram through the words to Banasura that his main duty is to protect me, that he must sacrifice and make changes in his life if he wants to be alive. Just to be alive. Then Shiva told me through his words to Banasura's wife Vani that I always have to be with

Shri Rama and don't leave him in peace. When I translated the words «never leave him alone, one» («никогда не оставляй его одного»), I was throwing these words from one online translator to another, and for some reason every time the translation of these words from English into Russian looked like «don't leave him at rest» («никогда не оставляй его в покое»), although in the Russian text it was written «never leave him alone, one» («никогда не оставляй его одного»). But the word «alone», «one» («один») for some reason all the time translated «at rest» («в покое»).

I thought: it's no accident. What does it mean — don't leave him in peace (не оставлять его в покое)? I thought that peace, quiet (покой) in this case meant death. It was written in Russian, «don't leave him alone», and in the Russian language it is possible to conduct such a logical chain of meanings: repose (покой) > dead person (покойник) > death (смерть). And it turns out that Shiva said to me, «Never kill him. Always protect him, so that he will never be „in peace, quiet“ so he doesn't die». I thought: Yes, we are tied with one chain, are shackled together. He needs to be with me just to be alive, and Shiva told me to always be with him and never kill him. Life is strange, very strange. That's what happens in life.

252. They wanted to empty and lower me

I recorded the 264th series of my novel on February 14, 2019 in the afternoon. In it, in particular, I said that I am very sorry that I am not like those whores that Shri Ram loves. After recording this series, I was remembering all day those words. I thought, «What's this stuff? He by his behavior caused in me pejorative thoughts and regret that I'm not like his whores». I thought, what is this, anyway? A man who wants a faithful woman, makes this faithful woman a feeling of regret that she is not a whore. At the evening, when I was frying pancakes and listening to music, my mind was racing with these thoughts.

They so much infuriated me that when in my playlist suddenly turned on Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham», I suddenly on my inner screen saw all those asuras who were included in next action in my Mahabharata. They were standing under me as a big pile. These were those asuras who liked to throw off their problems and terrible troubles into others, into women, and not sparing young children. And I during this «ugram viram maha-vishnum» pulled something from them into myself, very much.

I thought that it was too early to finish with them, I don't all tell on this subject, but the rage was bottling up in me, was overwhelming me. I thought, «What the hell? A good normal woman has regret that she is not a slut. What's the deal?» I tried very hard to restrain myself, thought that right now, I'll turn off this mantra, and do something to calm down. But, no. I was being furious. I couldn't stop... I was angry. Furious! And at these thoughts during frying of pancakes I had looked at them and during sound of mantra «Ugram viram maha-vishnum» had let into them the raging fire, and then full-speed several times brought down on them my huge heavy hand, and then began to crush them by my powerful hand to make juice out of them went. After that I had stood high above them, they were as a little bunch beneath me.

I thought, «These are the ones who were throwing their terrible troubles into women and did not spare little children of these women. There will be no mercy for them. If they treat a good woman like that and even make her so sorry that she's not a slut, though she's a good one, though he wanted a woman like that, good, faithful, and he thought of such a woman. And more than that, I am his eternal Shakti. And he made his Shakti, soul mate regret that she isn't a slut. They'll pay for it right now!» I let into them the raging fire from above and very quickly burned from them everything. Everything at them had burned in this pile from right to left, as if the fire, devouring the forest, moves from one edge of the forest to another. Or when the spring set fire to dry grass, so that nothing prevents the new grass to grow. Thus this pile were burned from right to left, this fire went from one end of the pile to the other, burning everything in its path. And everything burned.

I looked over there, and there was a bare, scorched space, black, completely lifeless. I wanted to continue, to send them right away, but I thought that I had not told everything, it is necessary to finish and then I will send them. I thought that I need to tear out their sinful tongue and throw all the bad sinful karma into them from the spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada. I need to throw into these asuras bad sinful karma which the spiritual masters took from their disciples. It is necessary to unload the spiritual masters who help people to return into the spiritual world to Krishna. It is necessary to direct all this bad karma into these who was included in this action of our Mahabharata, and to send them to a funnel from below, to yamadutas. But now I need to wait, and I decided I'd do it the next time I told all about it.

I was very sorry that this Shri Ram caused me regret that I am not like his whores, and that he threw three deaths at me to kill me for sure. Three deaths of three men who were to die. And Shri Ram had thrown their deaths into me. And our three tulasi took these deaths upon themselves. We had two tulasi. They left their body, and I planted two more tulasi. And one of the new tulasi also left body when she grew a little. It turned out that three tulasi left body. And I realized he gave three deaths on me. I thought, «Yes, you are my Tiramisu, Shri Ram. Lift me to heaven. You are trying so hard to increase my desire to get out of this material world and return into the spiritual world. And you have to do everything for it, because you promised me that».

At that time, that game with metaphorical associative cards continued. And just when an incredible story unfolded about throwing off other people's troubles by asuras into women, the next card in this game was a picture, which was drawn naked girl standing in the rain among a crowd of well-dressed men. I looked at this girl: she stands completely naked, bloodied, with a thin raincoat thrown over her, barefoot. She is covered in blood, she's bleeding out, and there are many men around her, well-dressed, with umbrellas, in good shoes. These men turned our backs her, in order to not to help her, and they go away for business. They are all so nice, so well-groomed, all well-dressed, all are in trousers, in shoes, and no one wants to hold the umbrella upwards to her, no one took off shoes so she wouldn't stand barefoot. She is standing, and from her all turned away.

Just then I reached to the Chapter about those who loved to throw off their troubles into women. And in that game there was a question, what conclusion I do from this picture. I thought that the conclusion is that now this girl is unclothed, stand around in the rain in a pathetic raincoat, she is covered in blood, someone had beat her mercilessly, not the least bit spared, and no one wants to help her. She stands and thinks that she'll remember it forever, that when she was so bad and she was stripped, bloody, barefoot, in the rain, no one wanted to help her, nobody helped. And she wants to remember this moment.

She thinks that she must not forget her humiliation when the time comes and she comes to, will recover, will put on a beautiful dress, jewelry, will make a beautiful hairstyle, when she will be smiling and eating sweets and when these men will admire her. I thought it is my decision that when all this goes away, I will never forget what this Shri Ram has done to me. I decided not to succumb to superficial charm, which is not worth anything, because when he thought I am nobody, he wanted to make me lower than anyone.

And just when this picture appeared I started translating the first part of my novel from Russian into English. There I reached the place where it was described what the asuras were going to do with me on their asuric totalizator when they wanted to break me. There were such words in Russian — «They wanted to raze me to the ground and even lower», but in the selection of different meanings of the text and the using online translators have turned out such a translation, already from English to Russian — «They wanted to empty and lower me».

I looked at those words and thought: so truths are revealed. And even so. I didn't know what they wanted to do there, but I was told through these meanings of translation that they wanted to empty and lower me. They spared neither me nor my children. They didn't just want to activate at me a mode of incessant estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization. They were going to completely got all my pious merits out of me, all my feminine energy and lower me to the lowest level of development of consciousness. I thought maybe woman who is our neighbor, drunkie, is like that? Maybe she was just emptied and lowered, and as a result, she became slut and was deprived of five children.

I thought maybe that woman, my neighbor is like that? Maybe they wanted to make me like her? Although I am normal good woman, does not date men, although wishing it was a lot. And they wanted to make me like my neighbor, like woman who never sobers and to whom a lot of men is going? Because in translation of text was that they wanted to empty and put me down. Where would I end up, being devastated? To where did they want to lower me? I won't even think about it, I'm afraid to think about it, I thought. What would happen to my children? My neighbor was deprived of five children; she's a boozehound, just a little hussy.

I thought: better not to think what they could do to me. Enough of the fact that they were going to do this to me. I thought: they are those who devastate and lower. We'll spare nobody! They did not spare me, although I am good and did nothing bad to them. And I have done nothing wrong to this Shri Ram. I saved him. My children have done nothing wrong to them. But they didn't spare me. They wanted to empty and lower me, and my children. I thought they made a fatal mistake.

253. Not mutually beneficial exchange

I thought that Shri Ram got all my pious merits out of me, and threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's death. This reminded me of full direct blood transfusion, which is now prohibited. Thus the Nazis in the concentration camps were doing. They were using children as donors, were taking all their blood and were burning their corpses. It's a little different here. In that case pious merits are pumped out and into that place someone else's sinful karma are poured. It turns out as a direct blood transfusion: from an asur his troubles are poured out into a sacrifice, into a sheep, and from this sacrifice, from a woman who can have small children, from her all her pious merits are poured into the asur.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

What after that happens to this woman when her good blood, her pious merits had been pumped out from her and had been pumped in into her the bad blood of this asur? And if she has small children? I thought that they'll pay for what they've done. I thought that I had done the right thing that I have done away with those asuras who wanted to empty and lower me when they put me as their lot, on their asuric totalizer. I have done away with Borka, the most main Moscow asur, and the first in my Mahabharata. After Borka I have done away with Bhishma, elder of the asuras.

After them I have done away with those who wanted to break me. I have done away with Latvian Eustace Old Riga. I have done away with asur with some black terrible tentacles in the area of Svadhithana chakra. I have done away with Herr Fritz and his tantric powers. Above him I stood like Devi Kamakhya, like aroused Yoni in a state of orgasm who can not stop. That is what they wanted. Dreams come true. He wanted to make me a bitch who cannot stop, although I am a normal good woman. He got what he wanted, but not in the way he mean. Dreams come true. And he flew there, to new Yoni, from which he would emerge in his new birth.

Also I have done away with some big asur who already signed up in the list of those who wanted to use me on the energy connection after they would have devastated me and lowered. I had been told about him that the response should be cruel, with aggravating circumstances and with special cynicism. He also wanted to use me when I would no longer be able to stop. And he wanted to do it in front of my children, so I was told to do it brutally, with aggravating circumstances and with special cynicism.

No, he wouldn't come to me personally, no. In their plans was to force me to masturbate, and then to have sex with everyone in real life. And asuras were going to plug unto me, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. Usually such women lead to their home other people's men to fuck, not paying attention to their children. How children live with such a mother? The asuras wanted to do it with me. And that asur, about whom I was told that the response should be cruel, with aggravating circumstances and with special cynicism, wanted to do it through those men with me right in front of my children. They did not spare my children. So I brutally finished with him, with aggravating circumstances and with special cynicism. I correctly made.

And Shri Ram had assigned three deaths to me. Three tulasi had left body one after another, in good conditions, with fertilizers, with a good lamp. Shri Ram gave me such full direct blood transfusion, so to speak. He had pumped in into me like into a sheep, their bad, poisoned blood, their sinful reactions, and pumped out of me my good blood, my godly merits. And how would a sheep live after that? Could she live? How would she raise her little children to whom need to drink her milk if her good blood was drained from her and someone else's poisoned blood was pumped in instead? What kind of milk would she be able to give them if she would die? And Shri Ram did it to me.

I thought: he had taken away from me all my pious merits, and what shit did he purchased with funds from my jewels, my pious merits, my virtuous deeds? What shit did he buy? He did buy car, home, business, pleasure, opportunities? I was very offended. My pious merits, which were meant for me to approach Krishna, he traded on for shit, for transient pleasures, just to blow off.

I was sorry for him. He needs to be with me just to be alive, in order to he doesn't get punished for what he did to me, but I don't excite him. Those whores excite him. He doesn't need me. He needs to be with me just to live. I remembered marriages of convenience, especially in the Royal lineages, when princes married princesses of other States without ever seeing them in order to seal the Union of States. And how did they live afterwards? Is this life or something? Prince has a lot of favorite whores, and the Princess is sitting in His Highness's chamber and does not get out. But at glamorous royal family she sits next to him, like she's the Queen. But she is nobody really.

I thought that I am in that role now. He has a lot of mistresses there, and I'm just for show, in order to he can lechery and debauchery with these sweet women. If it is not true it is very well invented. I felt so sorry for him. Those whores turn him on, but he needs to be with me in order to just be alive, but I demand that there are no other women, just him and just me. He needs them. But he needs me only as his defense. I feel sorry for him! He loves go gallivanting with them so much, but I'm so cruel. I can not understand his situation and I can't turn a blind eye to he's that he does not want to be with me, but forced, and he no right be with them, but wants. What a pity! But he didn't spare me.

I remembered how in the 167th series of my novel I told about the parents of the so-called Duryodhana, the king of the kings of the asuras. Now I had saw parallels between them and between me and Shri Ram. There the father of the king of kings of asuras was forced to live with his wife, because it is decided by the elders. He could not give up on her, and he was avenging to her for this, selling her to everyone, with the energy connection, and without removing his impact from her women's centers in order to she always wanted sex and could not overcome this sexual pressure. He was forcing her to have sex with him and also masturbate to plug everyone unto her. He turned his wife into a whore.

And Shri Ram has to be with me, too. And he and I are chained together. This is the nature of the material world. I had felt sorry for him. I thought, «Yes, you and I are different, of course. Maybe you made the wrong decision. Maybe I too could have taken the wrong decision. We are from different worlds and can never trust each other completely. Let's live on, leave the past behind where it belongs». «He nodded. He didn't have to count on the best, he got more than he deserved». (This is from the book about Artemis Fowl.)

I thought that we are bound together. We're stuck with each other. We are chained together. I don't know what I'd do if I were him. In any case, he had once of divine nature. He was made an asur. And he lived a lot of lives as asur and never spares anyone. It would be surprising if he acted differently, even when his Shakti came to him, his woman whom he was calling, whom he was persuading to come, and for whom he was saying «Come, come, I'd do anything for y'all». It would be surprising if he changed his behavior for the sake of even this Shakti. Indeed, nothing has changed. We remember only the best. If Shakti is not in the category of the best, then should get rid of her, she must be emptied and lowered. This is such principle.

It was very hard for me to experience all this, but I was being helped by the words of my spiritual master: «My heart is with you! But you must endure your misfortune with dignity and patience. And you must change. Maybe, you will not get everything you want, but you have much, much more than the six billion people on this planet have. Much more! You have the freedom to choose your religion; you have sanity, food on the table every day, clean water to drink, Holy name, association with vaishnavas, service to Deities, the opportunity to visit Holy dhamas. Look around you at the world. See what most people have lost, and be grateful for all that you have received».

254. A gift to those who loved to throw off their troubles is bad karma from the evildoers and sinners

And now it's time to perform the next action in our Mahabharata. The category of asuras who have been included in this action has long been defined. It was the asuras who loved to get rid of their problems, big terrible troubles, throwing it into innocent women, not sparing young children of these women. The way to implement this action has already been determined. Firstly, I need to tear out their sinful tongue, that is, some kind of energy tongue, which the asuras have at the level of the genitals and by which they can siphon pious merits from women and inject into them sinful karma. And secondly, I need to throw into these asuras all sinful karma from spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada, which they took from their disciples. And the final destination or route of these asuras has already been identified. It's the hellish worlds, because with such sinful karma is the road only to there.

And that day came, on February 15, 2019. In the morning, when I got up, I saw on my internal screen from below a funnel-shaped vortex that was waiting for those asuras. I looked at this funnel and thought I shouldn't make her wait too long, so I decided to start washing dishes and then frying pancakes to send those asuras into this funnel.

I have turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham». I began to listen and sing it and had imagined these asuras who liked to throw off their bad sinful karma into women and whom I already well burned a day before, on February 14. I immediately found myself inside each of them, inside their energy body. I stood up inside each of them and began to sing this Narasimha Maha Mantra there, spreading the sounds of this mantra throughout their bodies. I began to suck in everything from them. I became like a whirlpool, like a funnel into which everything is drawn.

And when I stood in the center of each of them and sang this mantra, everything retracted in a spiral with a huge traction from all corners of their energy body into this funnel. I pulled into me like into a funnel a lot of, and then I went up, stood right in front of their eyes and from my eyes into their eyes let a furious bright fire and burned everything there. After that, I began to descend lower, burning by this violent fire alternately all their chakras, from top to bottom, completely. Their chakras have become all empty and black.

After that, I found myself inside them at the level of their genitals, but not from the outside, but as if from the inside, at the root of their penile, and began to suck everything out very powerfully from there. They must have loved it when they were licked from all sides and sucked out of them all, and I thought, «Dreams come true, now your dream will come true. Now we will do it to a higher standard». I had sucked on to this root of their dick like a leech, and a great flood began to rush from there into me. Everything that was in their dick and in the testicles, all their male power, and then all their life force was rushing into me. I had sucked all they had out of them, and they had nothing left.

After that, I got up aside above them, and a powerful stream began to rush with breakneck speed from this hole into me. I looked at the root of their dick and I thought they had some sinful tongue of theirs that I need to tear out. And I somehow abruptly yanked at this root and snatched out everything from there. I did it with the help of this traction, this flow that was flying into me from a hole in the root of their penile. In place of the root of their dick a huge gaping hole with red ragged edges and fluttering in the wind scraps on the edges formed. And from this red gaping hole, where there are genitals, even more powerful stream began to run into me. Thus I ripped out their sinful tongue. I did it not by hands, but just a traction, stream of energy. From there it was rushing and rushing into me until it all came out from them, and I saw that these asuras began to deflate, deflate and became like a sluggish used condom, an empty limp dangling rag.

They loved when women were doing them a blow job and were sucking all out of their dick. They dreamed about it. We made their dream come true. We did it for them to a very high standard. «Beware of your own wishes, as they do come true». Like in film «Bedazzled». The hero of this film also was getting the fulfillment of his wishes, each time in a sophisticated way. These asuras had a desire to get blow jobs at the highest level. But they did not know that as a result of their desire their sinful tongue would be torn out and then all their masculine force and vital energy would be sucked out.

They became weak-willed rags, and I thought that now it is time to throw into them bad karma from spiritual masters, that bad karma which spiritual masters took from the disciples. It is necessary to relieve the spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada, because they help the living beings to return into the spiritual world and they take a lot of bad karma. For example the bad karma that my spiritual master took from Shri Ram, my eternal husband, who turned out to be asur. Shri Ram did many abominations, and my spiritual master took all his bad karma.

I had thought that it is necessary to free spiritual masters from all the bad karma, which they took from their disciples. I mentally attuned to all these spiritual masters of ISKCON, followers of Srila Prabhupada, and pulled them to where those limp rags were gathered. These limp rags formed a pile. I had drawn all those spiritual masters in there, and located them spherically around that pile of those weak-willed rags, and from those spiritual masters into the center, into that pile, began to flow those bad, sinful reactions.

Then I lifted the spiritual masters up above this pile and imagined that they were standing over this pile and from them this bad karma gradually flows down from top into bottom and pours directly into the pile of empty rags under them. I saw how the level of this bad karma in spiritual masters gradually becomes lower, lower, and then reached the very bottom, just like in the vessels from below the liquid pours out, and from above there increases a clean space. I had waited when the last drop from below of spiritual masters fall into the pile. The spiritual masters all became radiant and began to sparkle with colored light.

And then I looked at that pile. It became like one great heavy drop of dark gray-blue color, just like a cloud, crowded moisture, ready to rain. And under this drop was the funnel-shaped vortex that had been waiting for them all morning. The funnel had waited so long for them. This funnel was wide and was ready to swallow that drop immediately, but I turned on mantra Narasimha Kavacham.

Before that all time sounded «ugram viram maha-vishnum», but then I turned on the Narasimha Kavacham performed by bhakta Marg on guitar and thought that need to sing Narasimha Kavacham entirely to at the very end in order to during «sampurnam sampurnam» they flew away into the funnel. And during Narasimha Kavacham the funnel began to grown up and its wide open bellmouth had connected with drop. A drop expanded oneself along the top of the funnel bell, began to spin with it and flew down into the funnel. I got the impression that the funnel stands in one place and at the same time spinning on its axis, and this drop gradually is sliding down and flowing down the walls into inside of the funnel.

At the end of it everything just had flowed away into the funnel, and from the drop nothing remained. This happened long before «sampurnam sampurnam». But I still waited for «iti shri-brahmanda-purane prahladoktam shri-narasimha-kavacam sampurnam» and made the funnel spin with maximum speed, thinking that if something was left, then with such a rotational speed of the funnel everything will fly away necessarily. And when «sampurnam» ended, I, like in zero gravity, crashed to the chair. This funnel immediately disappeared, nothing was there anymore. The dishes by this time were all washed. All I had to do was make pancakes, which I did.

I had thought that my spiritual master took bad karma from Shri Ram, and Shri Ram had been initiated after he had done everything this to me. Shri Ram got initiated after he all summer was giving me to the asuras from his asuric organization, at the energetic connectivity. He got initiated after he tried to get rid of me and manipulated my consciousness, and after he used me as their contactless whore, although I am his eternal Shakti, his eternal soulmate, and after he said, «You wanted go back to our harem and become whore. I have fulfilled your wish. Now enjoy, rejoice, but give me my money back».

And my Gurudev took this bad karma from Shri Ram, because the initiation was later, after that. My Gurudev did it after Shri Ram put up for sale me, his eternal Shakti, his eternal soulmate, and after Shri Ram was showing me to everyone in their asuric mental catalog in their mental chat and was saying, «Well, who will buy on the cheap? I offer large discounts and convenient terms of cooperation. I'm selling. Come and get it!» And Shri Ram had the buyers lined up. And my spiritual master took bad karma for this sin from Shri Ram. At the same time, Shri Ram took down all my pious merits from me to improve his financial situation.

And plus, he had thrown other men's troubles and even deaths of three other men into me, hoping that it would definitely kill me and I would not survive. My spiritual master took bad karma for all this from Shri Ram. And all this, along with all the bad karma from the rest of his disciples went to those asuras who turned into a big dark drop. And there were a lot of spiritual teachers there, and all bad karma from all went into those asuras, and those asuras become a heavy drop and went there down. How long they will be there is unknown, because there was very much bad karma from this Shri Ram, after all he sold his Shakti, his eternal soulmate, emptied her and threw other men's deaths into her.

And when the asuras came to him and said that they put me as their lot, item on their asuric totalizator, Shri Ram could give me to asuras, but Shiva said Shri Ram that he's not allowed to do that, because then he will lose protection, and his life will collapse and he will be a beggar, will be freezing at the street in leaky shoes, and then he will be killed there on the street. And Shri Ram decided that an easy quick death is better, so he didn't give me to asuras and went to that battle. But if Shiva hadn't told him, he could have given me to asuras. He could give his Shakti to asuric totalizator in order to asuras emptied her there and lowered into the state of an female estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization, who does not care with whom have sex, just so to be fucked.

And all that bad karma went into that drop. This is only from one Shri Ram and only in this life, and he also used force methods to me. So many times he tried to make me a human female at whom activating a mode of incessant estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization. How many other women he has broken, lowered, emptied in this life, and how many in his past lives. And spiritual masters take all karma from all lives. And these asuras, who were throwing their troubles into women, not sparing young children of these women, had got what they were doing with others. You reap what you sow. When those asuras were throwing their problems into women then they did not care what would happen to those women and their children. They were throwing their sinful karma on others, on innocent women, and now to them have thrown off all the bad karma from spiritual masters, which they took from many of their disciples.

Shri Ram is a villain and a sinner. And my spiritual master took all this bad karma of the villain and sinner, and all this bad karma went to those asuras who threw their troubles into innocent women. Those asuras took a lot of bad karma from many villains and sinners who once, at some point, came to the understanding that it is necessary to return to God, because there's payback for what you did in your other lives. This is karma. And once karma gives a reaction. And when that reaction comes, you think, «There's nothing good in this life», and you want to turn your gaze somewhere in order to get out of this shit. And those asuras who were throwing their sinful karma into the others now took a lot of bad karma from many villains and sinners.

255. «Pay other musicians, too. They deserved it»

We took care of those asuras who liked to withdraw from women pious merits and to throw into them the terrible troubles. But I was told to keep playing and to pay other musicians. And these other musicians, as well as what I will do with them, I determined in December 2018, although their turn came only to the end of February 2019.

As the first party of these musicians, whom I included into the penultimate action in our Mahabharata, I decided to include the entire Moscow asuric organization. When I translated from Russian into English a piece of the text of my novel about Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuras, I wrote there why I named him Borka. We had a big swanky cobweb over the TV at home at one time, and there was a big fat spider sitting there.

He was very handsome. I didn't kill him. I was friends with him. I named him Borka. I was looking on the cobweb and when the spider was crawling out from the corner of the cobweb, I was saying to him: «Hello, Borka! How are you?» And he seemed to answer me: «Everything's great. See how fat I am?» We with him constantly so bit. I liked him so much... He was so fat, so glossy, so sleek, pretty boy. But we had cockroaches. And cockroaches were bugging me so much that once I called the team to destroy cockroaches. I did not think about Borka. And in vain, because when we got rid of cockroaches, Borka was gone. I sit and look at this cobweb: it is empty, there's no spider. I says, «Borka, how are you?» Borka is not hears. There's no sign of him. Borka died.

I looked at this cobweb without Borka, she was so lonely, so bored without Borka. The cobweb wanted to go after Borka. And then I took a broom and removed this cobweb. That I told when I was translating the text of my novel from Russian into English. I had an interaction with the leader of the Moscow asuric organization. I didn't know what it was, but I knew I was having invisible communication with someone through different people. And when in the 15th series of my novel I had to tell about this leader of Moscow asuric organization, I wanted somehow to name him, and I named him Borka, because he reminded me of the spider Borka, who was sitting in the cobweb.

And this time, in December 2018, when I was translating all this from Russian into English, I looked at my text, and there it was written that first Borka disappeared, and then his cobweb. And I thought that we sent Borka to his future as the devotee of Radharani in Vrindavan, to the last life in the material world (in the 18th series of my novel). We have done away with him, and it was the very first action in my Mahabharata. But I told that when the spider Borka disappeared, I removed cobweb.

I thought that I skipped the cobweb, that is the Moscow asuric organization which was under Borka. But in the English translation, I said I removed the entire cobweb. So I decided that the list of those musicians whom I need to pay will include the entire Moscow asuric organization. Because I told that after Borka I removed all cobweb, and all cobweb in this case is all Moscow asuric organization together with its new spider, its new leader.

As the following musicians, who also I need to pay, I appointed asuras from the action about broken dreams, about whom I told in the 149th series of my novel. I thought that some of those asuras, whom I then broke dreams, resigned themselves to the fact that their dreams were broken, but some asuras could throw out these problems into women, in order to remain fine. Or some asuras decided to more get pious merits, to devastate some women, so that what I broke their dreams, was offset, so that they did not suffer so much due their dreams were broken.

And I decided that we won't touch those of them who made peace with this punishment. They have already received their punishment. But if someone from the asuras decided that I was unfair to them, cruel, that I had no right to break their dreams, that they deserve a good life, and if they decided to somehow fix the situation, improve their existence, then they will be include to the list of musicians to whom I need to pay.

I also decided that the part of these musicians will include the asuras who were going at Dating sites, about I told in the 147th series of my novel. There I told that Dating sites for the asuras are a gold mine, because there women come who are looking for a mate, and asuras sit on these sites, pretend to be reliable men. Or they through ordinary men on these sites looking for their victims, that is women, whom they are trying to involve into a constant regular pumping out from them feminine energy and pious merits. But no one going to take responsibility for woman, all want just to have fun and profit. These asuras meet with different women take turns, and when a woman during communication comes out the energy of pleasure, inspiration, admiration and she rejoices, asuras can use this energy, and if there was sex with her orgasm, asuras can pump out from her pious merits and gradually ravaging the stock of her piety, her luck, and throw into her, as into the dumpster, their sinful karma, their failures.

Dating sites are very convenient place for this. Just walk with a woman, arrange her joy that blows her mind or just communicate with her, but not marry her, because there is no such task. There is a task to hang out with foolish women and to pump out of them pious merits, female energy, and if necessary to throw out problems, sinful karma into them, as into the dumpster. Asuras are seeing women all as the expendable. I in 147th series held action for such asuras in my Mahabharata. I gave an ultimatum to those asuras who scours to Dating sites, but not going to take responsibility for any woman.

I told them that either they would getting married to one of the women from Dating sites, settle down, and would no longer scour on Dating sites, or I would send them to the next lives into «Hare Krishna Food for Life», to the most extreme and hotspots of our planet, where are the fighting, earthquakes, tsunamis and they will be seeing only the horror of the material world, because they will be not at someplace nice, but only where is bad. They will feel all the futility of being in the material world, all the futility of trying to squeeze out least a drop of happiness from material world. Happiness exists, but it is not here. Here happiness is temporary, so it is not happiness. How can that be happiness, if it ends and if it turns bitter, like venom?

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I then told the asuras that either they would settle down and stop scouring on Dating sites trying to involve women into a constant regular pumping out from them feminine energy and pious merits, or they would go to the next lives into «Hare Krishna Food for Life» into terrible and dangerous places where they will be seeing only suffering. Many of them agreed to go to «Hare Krishna Food for Life», and quite consciously, because they did not want to marry and were not going to settle down. These asuras were comfortable with just scour on Dating sites, have a good time pumping luck and pious merits from these silly naive women and dumping into them problems, sinful karma. It's a good way to comfortably, pleased exist. But there were those who agreed to stop and settle down. I thought that if among those who settled down, there are those who then broke down and decided that it is not for them, then, since they have to be punished, they will be among those musicians to whom I need to pay.

256. It is time to take a vacation

I decided that all these musicians to whom I need to pay will go to their next lives and will be doing a lot of good things there. I decided that, firstly, they will be destroying those craftsmen who change the ordinary human nature to the asuric one, like my eternal husband Shri Ram was made asur. He was recruited by some asur-recruiter with the help of some asuri-woman, who was a master in seduction off men. Asur-recruiter changed nature of Shri Ram, installed the asuric nature on him with the help of some craftsman, whom we safely sent to future lives (in the 66th series of my novel), along with the whole cohort of such craftsmen.

But such craftsmen will still be born on the planet Earth, because they are living somewhere there, in asuric worlds. And I thought that the asuras, included in the list of musicians to whom I need to pay, will be destroying those craftsmen who will be born here. These musicians will be protecting ordinary people from encroachments on their existence as humans, in order to there was no opportunity to turn ordinary humans into the asuras on our planet Earth, because our planet Earth is now a window to the spiritual world and we must somehow protect this planet Earth from the actions of the asuras.

I also decided that these musicians will be destroying those asuras who installs asuric programs to people, conducts asuric initiations, very vile, because Shri Ram wanted to conduct their asuric initiation on me, but Krishna protected me, as I told in the 50th series of my novel. Shri Ram was told that this is an offence according the Universal laws and he will end up in the hellish worlds, that is, it is very bad. And when I was in Moscow, Borka also tried to install their asuric programs on me, which are activating at woman a mode of incessant estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization. And all these musicians will be destroying those who are setting asuric programs and asuric initiations to people.

These musicians will be somehow feeling them, they will have really intuitive about this kind of stuff, flash of a feeling, some built-in constantly working radar tuned to such actions. If some craftsman-asur suddenly will appear on the planet Earth and begin to make some man an asur, then this radar of these musicians will immediately respond to this and will destroy those craftsmen. Their radar, the intuitive antennas will react to trying to install asuric programs and to conduct asuric initiations. These musicians-sensors will have the gift of sniffing out those asuras who installs asuric programs and those who turn people into asuras. And these musicians-sensors will be saying to them:

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

«The pioneers, go to rest! Stop working, it's time to rest!» And they will be sending all of them on vacation.

Also, these musicians will be destroying those asuras who like to throw off their problems into people, into women, not sparing even women with children. These musicians will have a powerful gut, incredible eye, they will be great sensors. If someone somewhere will try to throw his problems into some woman, so thus to avoid the punishment for something bad they do, then radars of these musicians-sensors immediately react and they will destroy these scoundrels. These musicians-sensors will have the gift of sniffing out those asuras who like to empty and lower women.

Asuras on their asuric totalizer wanted to empty and lower me. And that thus was not, these musicians will be destroying those asuras who like to empty and lower women. Also, these musicians-sensors will, so to speak, monitor the energy tongues of the asuras. If any of the asuras by his energetical tongue would be to do something bad, these musicians have their radar on it will be immediately reacting and will be uprooting this tongue, in order to those tongues that do something vile will simply not exist.

I also decided that these musicians-sensors will be destroying those asuras who will make attempts to tear a family apart. Asuras are able to manipulate consciousness, that people even say out loud something that is unacceptable for their husband or wife. The asuras are so experienced in this that they can break up any family, for example, like me and Shri Ram in some distant past life were separated to make me defenseless and helpless, in order to I accepted the help of the asur, who implemented all this.

If a woman is left without a man, you can do anything with her. It is possible to pit against her some people or dogs, in order to she had threat of physical violence so she did not know how to escape, shook with fear and would surely fall into the embraces of the asur whom appeared as if in time, like the hero, like the Savior in her eyes, although this asur organized and carried out this pressure to her, and all in order to force her to bend to his wishes and to use her in his interests. Similar way Shri Ram was torn away from me and was made an asur, in order to so that asur-recruiter can bully me and force me to agree to become with him.

And I decided that these musicians-sensors will also be tuned to such asuras, lovers of destroying other people's families, who manipulate the consciousness of the couple to destroy all their feelings for each other. Of course, the family is not based on feelings, but on a sense of duty, but in Kali Yuga this topic is bloated that love is a feeling, as long as the feeling is there, we are together, as soon as the feeling has passed, we must look for another with whom there will be a similar feeling. That state of affairs is very profitable for asuras, they use it to make people defenseless. And these musicians-sensors will be tuned to such asuras destroyers of families and destroy them.

I've determined what they will do. Of course, they will be destroying them, burning them all completely, then they will be tearing out sinful tongue, with which the asuras do all this, and then they will be delivering to them bad karma from spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada. They will be delivering to them bad karma which spiritual masters took from their disciples who want to return into the spiritual world. When a spiritual master accepts a disciple, he takes all his karma.

And these musicians-sensors, who were be included to the penultimate action of our Mahabharata, will be unloading spiritual masters, followers of Srila Prabhupada, who will live at that time and will be helping people to return into the spiritual world. These musicians-sensors will be unloading these spiritual masters from the bad karma of their disciples. Because Srila Prabhupada has opened a window here to return into the spiritual world, it is necessary that this window will function, be protected and fulfill its purpose, its mission, its function. For this it is necessary that the spiritual masters can somehow unloaded from the bad karma which they are getting from their disciples. And these musicians-sensors will be redirecting this bad karma into the categories of asuras indicated by me. Probably, those asuras under the weight of this karma will be immediately going to the hellish worlds.

257. The flight of the galaxies

In the 267th series of my novel, I identified those asuras who will be included in the next, already penultimate, action of our Mahabharata to the liberation the planet Earth from the asuras, who came as part of the landing of the asuras on Earth and who live among us as externally ordinary people, very nice, charming, intelligent, well-dressed, educated, cultural, successful, having support in society, but who due to their asuric extraordinary abilities do a lot of bad to ordinary people. In this same, 267th, series (at 30:40), I drew attention to the screenshot with the words «Why should we wait until tomorrow? Use it now!». Then I thought, maybe, make them immediately?

It was February 16, 2019, Saturday, Bhaimi Ekadashi. I thought that, indeed, everything is already determined; it remains only to carry out this action with the musicians, to whom I need to pay, especially because everything about them is already told in the 267th series. To stimulate, motivate myself to this action with the musicians, I bought a large coconut, because it was Ekadashi and Saturday of Shani, I kept a fast at raw vegetables and fruits, and a coconut was a good motivator on such a day for me. I decided that I would eat this coconut only after this action with these musicians, when I shall have payed them all and when I shall have sended them to their future lives. Coconut was a good incentive, I have not eaten coconuts for a long time and love them, and it worked out.

When I bought a coconut and walked out of the store, I set myself up for this action, in which I need to pay other musicians. I remembered how I was told about them through screenshots from «Mahabharata» with the words «Keep playing, Prince. Pay the other musicians. They deserve it». I tuned in to these so-called musicians. I remembered that among these musicians, to whom I need to pay, is the whole Moscow asuric organization together with their leader. Also among these musicians are those asuras to whom I had broken dreams, but who decided to somehow fix the situation, taking away pious merits from some women or throwing problems and troubles into those women. And also there included those asuras who had returned on Dating sites in order to pumping out pious merits from women and using them as garbage cans, into whom can throw off problems and troubles, that is, sinful reactions.

I remembered whom they will be destroying in their future lives. Of course, it will be those craftsmen from the asuras, who will be borning on our planet Earth and will be trying to turn someone into asuras. Our musicians will be telling them: «Pioneers, go on vacation! You worked a lot in your asuric worlds, on other planets. And now you had came here to work? Stop working! It's time you took a rest. Your sinful tongue worked much. Enough go on vacation! Let's go!»

Also, these musicians will be sending on vacation those asuras, who will be attempting to install asuric programs and conduct asuric initiations to people. Also, these musicians will be sending on vacation those asuras who like to throw their problems onto others, themselves remaining crystal-clear. Also these musicians will be destroying those asuras who like to devastate and tearing people down. And these musicians will be destroying those asuras who will be trying to destroy families, to manipulate consciousness of people in order that families remained destroyed and that people could be easily subdued.

I remembered what these musicians would do with these designated categories of asuras in their future lives. They, of course, will be destroying them, will somehow be snatching their sinful tongue and will be delivering to those asuras bad karma from spiritual masters that they have took from their disciples. This refers to the spiritual masters who are followers of Srila Prabhupada. These musicians will be unloading the spiritual masters who help people to go to the spiritual world, with the song «Hare Krishna Hare Krishna Krishna Krishna Hare Hare Hare Rama Hare Rama Rama Rama Hare Hare».

When I came home, I began to wash dishes and turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham» — «I bow to Lord Narasimha, who is like Lord Maha Vishnu in His bravery and courageousness. He burns like fire on all sides. He is ferocious and auspicious. He is the one who is the death of deaths». When I turned it on, they did appear not right away in front of me. I by this mantra tried to drag them out everywhere, and then I had stood inside each of them at the same time. They were a lot. I stood there and started to sing the «ugram viram maha-vishnum». Then I looked that the funnel was appeared underneath them and it began to pull something from them. I had thought that, probably, something bad at them was and this bad right now from them leaves, directly into this funnel.

After that, I turned on mantra the Sri Hanuman Chalisa. I really liked the Hanuman Chalisa, which I found at the group «Sita and Rama» in V Kontakte December 12, 2018. I liked video, a cartoon about Hanuman, and the musical part, the song itself, Bachchan — Hanuman Chalisa. I have downloaded it to my smartphone and listen to often. And this time, when I started this action with the musicians who need to be paid, after the Narasimha Maha Mantra, I had wanted to turn on the Hanuman Chalisa. I turned it on and said myself, «Give them hard!»

I had stood above them, and they were all under me. I grew up and became huge. They stood far below me between my spread legs, and something flowed out from me at them. It was very shamefully for me to stand like this, because I am a woman, and they are men and they were below me, between my legs. But there was nothing I could do, I just stood over them and watched as this golden shower poured down on them. As dogs are marking their territory, and I marked them all. I flooded them with this golden shower, which poured out of me from below to all of them during the Hanuman Chalisa.

When the golden shower had poured out of me on them, they all together flew into me, between my widely spaced legs. I was ashamed, but they were drawn into me there. I found that they ended up all in me. I remembered that in my novel a character was, whom I named the Shepherd, I do not love you, whom I drew into myself and dissolved in myself as in a jellyfish. But here they did not dissolve in me. I also remembered that I pulled in another asur into me and he is in me for three whole days was. But this time they were not be for so long inside me.

They stayed in me for a while, when the Hanuman Chalisa was sounding, and then began to swim out of me, but not from below, where they went in, but in General from my whole body. It reminded me of the picture as Universes overlook from the pores of Mahavishnu. This is when the material world gets into the unmanifest state in the so-called end of the world and immersed in the body of Mahavishnu, who lies on the waters of the Milk Ocean, and when the time comes the material nature again appear from the pores of Mahavishnu. All these Universes which are came into Him during the previous end of the world, come out as little balls, and a new round of development and the existence of the material world begin.

And all those asuras who were asuras and who came inside me after the golden shower began to come out of me, like universes from the pores on Mahavishnu`s body. They gathered around me from all sides. Then they came inside me again, but not through below, but through those places where they stood around me. They stayed in me for a while and had came out of me again. And the second time they came out of me, they ended up below again. They all had stood under me with their hands folded in Namaste, had looked up at me and had said, «Use us as you wish, give us orders, mistress».

I looked at them and I turned on kirtan Hare Krishna performed by my Gurudev. I went up high into space, and then the space part of this action with the musicians began. I was standing in space, and they began to whirl around me like satellites around the planet. And at the same time we all sang Hare Krishna with my Gurudev. After that, a powerful column of fire began to go from me upwards. All my satellites had grouped around me, like chickens around laying hen, and then a pillar of fire began to rush from overhand into each of them.

And we've been singing kirtan for a long time. I was singing Hare Krishna, a pillar of fire was going up from me, and from this pillar of fire, from above, a separate fire pillar of light was going into each of them. And so it went on for a long time, after which I began to emit a glow as from a star. I became like a star in space, and they were flying around me like satellites revolving around planet, and I was emitting radiance into all directions. They were spinning with me in this glow, and then also lit up like stars. And we were singing Hare Krishna together and were emitting light in space, each separately and together at the same time.

I was like a big mom-star, and they were like my babies-stars around me, and at some point, we all started to twist in a spiral together and we became like a galaxy. It's like I'm the big center of the galaxy, and they're all around me like stars, and I'm spinning in a spiral, and they're also circling around me in a spiral around the center of the galaxy. And then sudden each of them turned into a galaxy just like me. It looked like one big galaxy, made up of many other similar swirling galaxies which are swirling around the center of a big galaxy. And when we sang kirtan, this galaxy spun and rushed somewhere in space, in a vast boundless space, and we were flying a lot in the space.

And then I thought that I'm already very getting really tired of them, I want to rather get rid of them and rather to eat my coconut, which I bought specially for this event. I thought that I want to hold the latest action in our Mahabharata and finish this matter. And I again turned on mantra Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum». They ended up downstairs, beneath me. But none of them stopped being this star, this spinning galaxy. There were a lot of them, such spinning shining galaxies. I looked up and saw that this funnel into which they all fly, already there, already waiting for them and already wants them very much. I had seen that they wanted to fly there too. I had formatted their chakras at a spontaneous dance of hands, and then it was like I shot out of a bow by them into space. It's like they're flying somewhere. I thought, «They'll shoot well».

And then, when I turned on the Narasimha Kavacham and the last words «iti shri-brahmanda-purane prahladoktam shri-narasimha-kavacam sampurnam» began to sound, the funnel on top had connected with these galaxies spinning, light-emitting. These galaxies merged with the funnel, I sped up its rotation to the maximum and they all fled away into funnel. I immediately stopped. I was very tired of these asuras and of the sending them to their future. I wanted rather to execute the last action of our Mahabharata and finish completely. And the coconut was waiting for me. I thought I'd paid all the musicians and have the right get some rest.

258. Heavy is the head that wears the crown

And now our Mahabharata has reached the latter stage. I decided that into the last action of our Mahabharata will be included those asuras who had the temerity to look at me in their asuric mental catalog when my eternal husband Shri Ram put me, his Shakti, his real soul mate, there for sale on September 3, 2016. And of course, into this action were included those three asuras who accepted the offer of Shri Ram and bought sex, on the energy connection, with me, when he pumped out from me all my pious merits and threw into me their troubles, including three of their deaths.

I decided that those asuras would take all my bad karma, all the bad karma of my Shri Ram, of my children, of my second husband, who suffered from the actions of the Moscow asuras. Those asuras will take all bad karma of my entire team of light forces and of all those who helped me in my Mahabharata. I decided that all those asuras will take all this bad karma, because they have to fulfill my desire, due to they were with me as a man with a woman, had sex with me, at the energic connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. They thought I did will not even know about it. And my desire was for them to take all this bad karma from all those whom I decided to free from it, from me, from my Shri Ram. I had wanted so that those asuras took all this bad karma with all the curses, with all the troubles, with all Graha-Drishti, negative aspects of planets, with every bad thing that do not like me and Shri Ram, which can prevent us in our happy life.

I decided that every bad thing from us will be taken by those asuras who were with me as a man with a woman when Shri Ram put me up for sale. And they will take all this together with all the curses, and even those curses that can go because of my this Mahabharata, because of the resulting novel and the videos I recorded. I decided that if someone who will watch any of my videos or read my novel, will think, that I am evil and cruel, and will wish me bad, then those asuras take this every bad thing because I personally did not give consent and they did not ask me personally such consent.

I said that now they would have to fulfill this desire of mine, because the man who had sex with the woman must fulfill her desires, because for woman allowed have sex only with her husband, and the husband is obliged to fulfill the desires of his wife. He has such Dharma. If some man is so naive and does not know it, then he risks a lot, because a woman's desires can be any. And I suddenly found desire to they take all our bad karma, all the curses, all our Graha-Drishti, negative aspects of planets, all that is bad, that we with Shri Ram do not like. Where will they go after that? It is clear, they will go to the hellish worlds because Shri Ram is asur, and I am the slayer of the asuras and malicious creatures, and during this Mahabharata we destroyed very many asuras, rights of many people were been violated, someone got hurt, and this is the bad karma, and we need to get rid of this karma, thrown off it.

And since those asuras were with me as a man with a woman, had sex with me, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, then I decided that they will fulfill my desire and take it all. They will take all our heavy bad karma, and for this Mahabharata, and in General all our heavy bad karma. I thought: let them take it. It's the Great Singapore Sale. It's the maximize discounts. In Russian, the word «скидка» («discount») comes from the word «скинуть» («throw off»), one of the meanings of which is «get rid of», «take off», «throw off». And we will throw off the maximum of our heavy bad karma into them. I thought: «He who likes skiing downhill must enjoy skiing uphill. Heavy is the head that wears the crown».

Of course, I included into this action those asuras who looked at me in their thought asuric catalog in their mental asuric Internet, wondering whether to accept the offer of Shri Ram to buy the sex on the energy connection, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, with me. I decided to include them because they were seen me there. Asuras are putting into mental asuric catalog the mental videos, the mental photos of women, including bare, and descriptions of their sexual characteristics. Also they write there, how many pious merits and how much female energy can be siphoned off from woman at once and what level of these pious merits and female energy.

But I did not give my personal consent to the inclusion of me into that catalog and to the fact that some other men looked at me in different forms and read about my intimate details in that catalog. I did not give my personal consent to be treated as a horse in the market. And I would never have agreed to that. Only husband have the right to look at his wife in such form, and because this he is obliged to fulfill her desires. Therefore, I decided that those curious will also enter this action and take all our heavy bad karma with all the negative that we have, including the negative that can be or will be because of our this Mahabharata.

And there's a lot of heavy, bad, terrible karma, Ugra-Karma. Only from Shri Ram how many heavy bad karma... After all he is asur. And I, as the inspector of the Universe Patrol, during many lives was destroying different criminals of universal scale. And there many living beings were destroyed incidentally. You can't make an omelette without breaking eggs. And I had destroyed many asuras in this Mahabharata. And probably many people have said or will say that I am a cruel, sparing no one, and maybe someone sent bad wishes to me, or to Shri Ram, or someone one of us.

But I decided that those asuras who had the audacity to buy sex with me, at the energical connectivity, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, and those asuras who thought about it, will take all this. This is the material world. There are such situations. This is in order to they do not think that everything in the material world is honey pot for them. Epic fail, sir. But they thought otherwise. They thought the whole world is my catwalk. It's not your catwalk. This is the catwalk where you stand unclear what position and there all laughing at you, that's such this podium. I told about all this in the 268th series on February 16, 2019.

259. «Please, pay for me»

When I told all this, I thought: when will I do all this? I thought: I am so tired of all these actions to eliminate the asuras, but this is the last act in this Mahabharata, we must quickly fulfill it and finish this Mahabharata. But I was so tired and didn't want to do anything. Before going to bed, I took a book, as always. It was Maria Semenova's book

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

«Kudeyar. The Tower of Babel». I read this book and thought: when do I hold this action? I thought that I would like to end this soon, but at the same time I'm tired of it.

And in this book I came to the words «Justice was ruthless and fast — automatic gunfire at point-blank range!». I had looked at those words and thought: I have to finish with them quickly and ruthlessly. I thought: it is right, because the sooner we do, the better because we will finish this Mahabharata, I got so fed up. But I still didn't want to do them. I read a book and went to bed. In the morning I woke up and it dawned on me. I remembered one episode.

In January, 2–3 weeks before this action, I was riding a bus to do some errands. I had very little money in my purse, just for two bus trips, just there and back. There was no more cash, just bank cards. I got on the bus and drove. Some woman sits down to me and says: «Help, please, pay for me. I got out of the hospital». I looked at her and I actually felt sorry for her. I thought, Yes, indeed, the woman is on her way down from the hospital, she was released, and no money, and nobody came. I looked in my purse, there was money for two tickets and any change. A conductor comes up, I give her money for my ticket, she gives me a ticket, and then I give her more money and say, «This is for her». That woman took her ticket, said thank you, and went somewhere to ahead.

And when I woke up on the morning of February 17, I had an epiphany. I thought: what exactly did she tell me? She told me, «Please, pay for me». I thought that she got out of the hospital, it is unknown what was her problem, she's a loner, no one not met her from the hospital, nobody did not give money to a ticket for her, her life is a totally sucks, and she told me, «Please, pay for me». Yes, of course, on the one hand, it may sound like «please, pay the fare», but she said «please, pay for me». I thought she might have thrown her problems into me in order to I pay for what she should pay. She has some sinful reactions there, she has to pay for it with her experiences, negative situations in her life, but she told me, «Please, pay for me». And I said Yes because I felt sorry for her.

I gave the last money that I had in my purse. I had money for two tickets. Yes, the money were at my payment card also, but there was only a couple of quid in me purse, I gave the last cash. Because of this, I had to withdraw money from the card, so to speak, contingencies. It was minor expenditure, of course, but she didn't say «pay those few cents for bus ticket». That's not what she wanted. She wanted me in order to I pay for her bills of fate. She got out of the hospital, she has some problems, she is lonely, nobody came for her, nobody gave her money, she takes the bus from this hospital alone, and she says to me «please, pay for me». I thought: Yes, of course, it does seem a bit fanciful, far-fetched even, but it is quite possible that this woman decided to throw her problems to me.

I immediately remembered these asuras who had accepted the offer of Shri Ram and bought sex with me, at the energical connectivity. They also had thrown out their problems into me. They have thrown off some very serious problems and even their deaths. There were three of them, and each of them was threatened with death, and each of them threw his death into me when he plugged onto me. And here this woman in the bus goes and speaks «please, pay for me». She says the same thing: «I'll throw off my problems, and you pay my bills. I don't care how you live. I want to throw my sinful karma to you, get rid of these problems. Pay for me. Pay off my sinful bills, take my sinful reactions. Please».

I thought that if that's true, this woman didn't feel sorry for me at all. And this is how she thanked me? She was driving from the hospital, she had no money, she asked me pay for a ticket so she could get where she needed, and I gave her my last money that I had in my wallet. I had done good to her, I felt sorry for her, and she threw off her problems to me: «Pay for my problems. I don't want to pay these bills. I want you to pay my bills. I have bills of fate, which came to me in the form sufferings, disease, failure, serious problems, but I don't want to pay my bills. You will pay my bills of fate».

I looked at this. This is her gratitude I had got because I helped her? I thought, that she didn't ask me if I was willing to pay her fate's bills. She just asked me to pay for the ticket. I could refuse, say, «I'm sorry, why? Who are you?» But I felt sorry for her. But she threw her problems to me, and said, «Pay my bills of fate. I want to get rid of them and want to go without them. We need a celebration, and not sufferings due the sinful reactions. Please take my sinful reactions and my sufferings, and we will go to celebrate».

I had thought that she had didn't not spare me. She even had didn't think I had little kids. And this is the thanks I got? What the hell's that? For that such a brutality? And then I went berserk to this woman, and I immediately thought that we will not going to spare those asuras who are included in last action of my Mahabharata. I had a big rage... Krishna intentionally arranged this situation with the woman in order to make me angry. I began to feel the righteous fury, and I thought, «She was wrong. I helped her. I gave her my last money from the wallet, and how did she thank me?» I thought: these filthy creatures, those asuras who at that time plugged onto me through Shri Ram and threw their deaths into me, did the same as this woman.

I had a big rage to this woman and to them; I wanted to kill them all. But I started use Ho'oponopono applied to that woman. I thought that if she has nothing to do with this, then why punish her? But, if she did it deliberately, if she threw into me her troubles, saying, «Please, pay for me», it is necessary apply Ho'oponopono. I began to say the magic phrases Ho'oponopono «I'm sorry that I created all these situations. Please forgive me. Krishna, I thank You for removing all this from my subconscious. I thank You». I started apply Ho'oponopono so that Krishna would take away everything she threw into me and so that He would protect me.

260. Emasculated by desire

But what about those of the asuras, I have all doubts vanished. I thought that they threw out onto me their three deaths, and the terrible troubles in order to I die, and Shri Ram was already waiting when I will die and when he will remain with women whom he used as the contactless whores and the job will done beautifully. But they had been wrong. They had done like that woman did. They did not feel sorry for me or my young children who are still little. They had threw out their problems onto me and even their deaths, and it was their gratitude for that I helped them?

They took everything I had. This Shri Ram asked to give him all my pious merits, and I did it. I helped them. And such was their gratitude me? They decided to throw off their problems and deaths onto me and said «please, pay for me». They, it turns out, told me: «Now sinful reactions due my sinful actions in the past have come to me. Because of this, I am in big trouble, and premature death threatens me. Please, pay for me. Please, take all this. I want to be happy, cheerful, successful, and alive. I need a celebration of life, I don't want to pay these bills». I was furious. I wanted immediately brutally finish with them, smithereens them. But I thought, «No, I will buy a cake and will eat it after I kill them». I went to buy a cake, came home and decided: right now we will start to bang them.

I have turned on mantra Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham» — «I bow to Lord Narasimha, who is like Lord Maha Vishnu in his bravery and courageousness. He burns like fire on all sides. He is ferocious and auspicious. He is the one who is the death of deaths». I had imagined that there are some three asuras who threw out into me their deaths, their troubles. They did not spare me or my children, they said «please, pay for me», and such was their gratitude for what I helped them, as I had helped to the woman on the bus. I gave her my last money so she could come home from the hospital, and she said, «Please, pay for me».

She could have thrown her problems into me, but I have kids. And it is her reward for helping?! I had looked on my inner screen at those asuras who had done this to me, and at those who were thinking to do this to me, when they were regarding me in their thought asuric catalog. I had stood inside of them and during «ugram viram maha-vishnum» began to spinning inside them at breakneck speed, tearing everything there. It looked like if a metal disk with sharp edges was flying chaotically at breakneck speed inside of them and was cutting and tearing everything inside of them. I was spinning, was flying inside of them, was whittling everything there by my sharp iron edges and ripping out everything.

Then I saw that inside them whirlwind appeared below, and from them something began flowed into whirlwind under a lot of pressure. Then I began to shine a star inside them, piercing them with my dazzling radiance through. Then I went up high into space and fired a laser beam at them, which burns everything. Laser beam burned them for a long time. I had a very big rage at them. I was remembering that woman, how she said me: «Please, pay for me». I was remembering how I had given her my last money, in my purse remained only little coins, and she went somewhere forward, she just had to throw off her problems to someone, and my rage was rising even more. And then I began to evaporate them, those asuras, as if there a high temperature is created that everything evaporates and molecules fly out.

After that, I ended up back inside them and began to twist inside them some whirlwind. I connected this whirlwind, which was flying inside them, to the root of their male genitalia from the inside, and whirlwind was rotating around and turning creating torsion at the root of their male genitals. The perception was that, as if you tighten, tighten, tighten more and more, there is twisted into a tight knot and comes off, pulled out by the root. And so this whirlwind twisted, twisted, and at some point it reached such a degree of twisting that there, in the root of their male genitalia, all was torn off and a hole was formed, from which everything began to fly out into the whirlwind. Thus their sinful tongue was torn out. The hole was small. I shredded this hole with something metal to make it bigger, and it got bigger and ripped around the edges. And then I turned on the Narasimha Kavacham.

I had thought about me, about Shri Ram, my children, my second husband, about all my team of light forces and about all who helped me at my Mahabharata. I decided that it was time to us to be free of all our heavy karma. I decided that right now we will throw off to those asuras all our curses and all damnations for our Mahabharata, all the negative that prevents our happy life and that we do not like. I thought: now we will give all this to these asuras, whose sinful tongue already was torn out.

I had imagined all the personalities from whom it was necessary to transfuse this heavy karma. I had imagined us all on top, and the asuras at the bottom below us, and

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I said that all the bad of all us now will go to those asuras. They below had become like a whirlwind, like a spinning funnel, and this funnel with a wide open bellmouth had reached those who stood on top, from whom it was necessary to pump out heavy karma. This funnel had connected with who were above, and began to spin really fast and suck in all the heavy karma that was on top. After a while, I set a higher speed of rotation, and this whirlwind was pumping out all the heavy karma from everyone I collected together upstairs.

Then I had stood below, where were those asuras, and I was making sure from top everything came out, flow down. And then during «sampurnam sampurnam» all these asuras became as the big dark heavy swollen drops and sailed into the funnel from below, which appeared under them before «sampurnam sampurnam». This funnel closed, there became a flat space, and I thought that all of them went to the destination. No muss, no fuss. We delivered to them all the heavy karma, all the curses, all the bad that we had with Shri Ram, and all the bad that had all those whom I was going to free from heavy karma. These asuras had taken all this and flew down, and there they were already welcomed by the yamadutas, because with such heavy karma only to there. There was a lot of heavy karma.

It's sad, but what can you do? They had didn't spare me. And since they were with me as a man with a woman, even if this interaction was at the energical connectivity, then they were obliged to fulfill my desire. And my desire was such. I had helped them, but they didn't spare me. Such was their gratitude that they said me, «Pay for me, please, pay my sinful bills, take our sinful karma, our diseases, our impoverishment, our problems, and most importantly, take away our deaths». That's what they told me. And this is the thanks I had got? So I said, «No, no, my little ones. We will spare nobody!» And they flew away.

261. The game's up. Game over, boys and girls

I thought: it was the last act in our Mahabharata to clean up the asuric community. The game's up. Game over, boys and girls. It was a brilliant plan that was drawn up before I was born in this my body. The last milestone in this plan on destruction of asuras is passed. I thought, Shri Ram has done me a lot of harm, but I have to forgive him. I thought, «Maybe you made the wrong decision. Maybe I too could have taken the wrong decision. We are from different worlds and can never trust each other completely. Let's live on, leave the past behind where it belongs». «He nodded. He didn't have to count on the best, he got more than he deserved». (This is from the book about Artemis Fowl.)

I thought that we are connected, chained together. Shiva told him to be with me if he wanted to be alive. He told him to always be with me, to sacrifice something which he needed to sacrifice, and to amend his life, always protect me. Shiva said to me always to be with Shri Ram and never leave him alone — never to destroy him and always to protect him. And Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow said to me, «Who needs a king? Take the king. Keep him safe».

I thought that we're tied up. Why to fight, if we are chained together? Like it or not, but we must to be kind to each other, especially if he gave me his word as a gentleman. He told me, «I will not do you any harm. I give you my word as a gentleman. On the contrary, I am so grateful to you for your coming from nowhere to brighten up my loneliness. Trust me! Here is my hand. I will not abuse your trust. We are alone in this gloomy world, so let's stick together». He said me it two years before, on February 14, 2017, on Valentine's Day.

Also, Krishna himself told me in the summer of 2018: «You can go after him. Ram took a vow in our favor». And in the screenshot of the «Mahabharata» Bhishma said, «Believe in him. He'll keep his word». And then I discovered what a vow he had taken. He took a vow that he would do anything to help me return into the spiritual world. In the screenshot from «Mahabharata» I was told that the vine does not run from the tree. I was told to be with him. He said to me, «Here's my hand, it's the hand of your friend. I will do everything to help you return into the spiritual world. I'll do anything for you». That's what he told me. And I told him, «You're my Tiramisu. Take me up to heaven. You said you would do anything to bring me back to heaven with you, to Krishna, into the spiritual world. Friend, I'm counting on you, I'm hope for you». He took this vow.

And when before the latest act of our Mahabharata I was reading a book «Kuddeyar. The Tower of Babel», there were such words of John Ronald Reuel Tolkien: «Fairy tales should end well». I thought: Yes, indeed, fairy tales should end well. Therefore, I and Shri Ram will reunite and be to live together happily ever after. Because I was told that fairy tales should end well. Yeah, that's all, game over, boys and girls.

Season 7. Shiva's blessing

262. For the love of his woman

In the 270th series, which I recorded on February 18, 2019, I summed up the previous season of my videos. After I recorded 270th series, I started transcribe all the videos which I recorded that winter. When I transcribed the last, 270th series of this video block, I found in it information layers that were visible, but the meaning of which I did not understand. There I commented on screenshots from the TV series «Mahakali», the episode in which Andhaka pined for his mother, Parvati. Commenting on these screenshots, I tried to show the state and thoughts of Shri Ram which was at him when he was in the asuric worlds and was calling on me to him. There I said that Shri Ram did not know that he had his eternal Shakti, his eternal soul mate, eternal couple.

The fact is that not everyone has eternal soul mate, eternal couple. Eternal soul mate, eternal couple may be only at those who have this eternal soul mate, eternal couple in the spiritual world. Everyone else does not have and can not have eternal soul mate, eternal couple. They only have so-called karmic partners for a while: for one life, for a few lives or for a few months. But Shri Ram and I were a couple in the spiritual world before we came here to the material world.

In that comment on the screenshots of the episode with Andhaka, I told the story that here in the material world, Shri Ram and I were a couple for many lives, but then we were separated. He was transformed into an asur, and when he was in the asuric worlds, he did not know that he had his eternal mate. Everyone there told him that he does not have an eternal wife, but he felt a strange constant yearning. No relationship with women in the asuric worlds gave him satisfaction. When he was in the asuric worlds, he was calling on me to him.

Before record winter series of videos it was revealed to me that he tried to persuade me to come to him. But when I transcribed the 270th series into the text and carefully reviewed this series many times, it dawned on me that Shri Ram tried to persuade me to come to him there, into asuric worlds, but I didn't go there. He didn't understand why

I didn't go there to see him, and he thought that everyone was right when they said that he didn't have his soul mate, his Shakti. But he wanted his Shakti no matter what. He made some attempts to attract me there, to the asuric worlds, but this did not give the desired results.

And after a while, after many unsuccessful attempts he said to himself and mentally to me through space that if I could not come to him, he would go to me. This I saw in Andhaka's words: «If you can't stay here, then take me with you, mother!». That is, «If you can't come to me, then take me to where you are». When I was recording the 270th series in February 2019 and was commenting on screenshots with Andhaka's words, I thoroughly was describing his words, but I did not see this meaning then. But when after a while I began to transcribe this series from video to text, I saw in the same words this hidden meaning from me until that moment. I saw that it turned out that Shri Ram had said that if I did not come to him to there, into the asuric worlds, then he would go where I am.

I saw that, being in the asuric worlds, he was calling on me to him and was waiting for me to hear his call. He was waiting for me to come to him into the asuric worlds, take birth there and we will be happily reunited. But I did not come there, to him into the asuric worlds. He felt that he had his Shakti, and couldn't understand why I did not answer his call, why I did not come to him into the asuric worlds. He thought maybe I didn't want to meet him. He really wanted me to return to him. He really wanted we became a couple again, found integrity and fullness of existence. He made a lot of attempts to draw me to him, but I did not manifest myself in his life.

He was speaking to me, his Shakti, through space, «I crave your love so much! I really need your tenderness, your touch! I so much want to tell you about my feelings, to say that without you I am lonely. I want so much to see you, to hear your voice. I don't even want to look at this mortal world, I only need you. I really need your love». He tried to feel for me in space, throwing his mental messages into the abyss of the Universe, calling me, but I did not respond. He was asking me in his mind, «What is my fault? What have I done that I am deprived of the happiness of being with you, with my eternal Shakti? Is there in my fate really no happiness of being with you?»

He thought a lot about what his Shakti might be. He had formed a wonderful image of a beautiful woman, and he cherished this image in his heart. He thought that if I came to him, he would recognize me, he would feel me as his own. He looked at women, trying to find in them the image of his Shakti, but was convinced again and again that it was not me. He urged me a lot to come to him, was saying, addressing his Shakti somewhere into space, «I do not need a life where I do not know where my Shakti is». He did not understand why I did not respond and come to him into the asuric worlds, and the empty existence there without the feeling of his Shakti next to him became unbearable. Nothing seemed to matter. He felt that his life didn't make any sense.

And then he decided to go beyond the asuric worlds and go to other worlds, where his Shakti is born. He made this decision and sent a mental message to me, «I believed that when I called on you, you would come, but you are not here. You do not come to me. I want to live with you, my beloved, my Shakti. If you're not here with me, then why would I be here? If you don't come to me, then take me to your place, where you are born and live. If you don't want to be here where I live, in the asuric world, then take me to where you are. What planets, what worlds are you born on? Call on me to you! I'll come to you there. I'd do anything for you. I can't wait any longer. I will go to look for you in other worlds. I will go where you are». He stopped trying to call me to his asuric worlds and went to look for me in other worlds, to be born on other planets of the material world, in order to find me after all. This is what I learned by reviewing the 270th series and translating it into text.

It's shaken me to my core! I learned that this Shri Ram, it turns out, was not just trying to persuade me. I saw that he was completely desperate, realizing that I would not come to him there, and decided to go where I am. I realized that he had left the asuric worlds to search for me in the worlds where I am born and live. For me, it was a stunning discovery. I found out that someone had changed his life so drastically for me, made such a serious decision, and went looking for me over all the worlds of the material world. He left the asuric worlds in which he was growing up, was making his asuric career, and was somehow settled, and he went to the unknown, to find his Shakti, that is, me. This is what I learned when I transcribed the 270th series of my novel from video to text in the spring of 2019. What amazing this discovery it was! And with this realization, I posted the resulting text on the Internet, and then translated it from Russian to English. It took all of spring, all of summer, and all of September 2019. During this time, many new facts have opened up in my interaction with Shri Ram. I was collecting this material for the next block of videos, waiting to finish working with the winter series, which happened by the beginning of October.

On October 7, 2019, it was Vijaya Dashami. Since this is a very good day to do some initiatives, make wishes, start some projects, I decided to start recording my new videos on this day and tell about this discovery that shocked me to the core, and about everything that happened with me at that time. And on this day, I briefly told about it in the 271st series, which opened the new season of my novel «My Roman. I'm asur's wife».

263. Shiva's blessing

When I reviewed the 271st series many times, I found a lot of very interesting moments there, which very much intrigued me and sparked my curiosity. In particular, there I saw (at 07:39) that when Shri Ram lived in the asuric worlds, he felt that somewhere he had his Shakti, his true soul mate, his eternal couple. He was waiting for me to come to him there, but I did not come there, and he was experiencing the torments of hell there. He felt very bad there. I saw this in the screenshot that came out on the desktop of my laptop when I was talking about it. In that screenshot, there was a tear falling into the open palm. Looking at that tear, I saw that he was very miserable. He was calling on me to him, but I did not come. And when he was feeling absolutely desperate, he decided that if I don't come back to him, he'll go where I live. In 271st series I talked about the fact that he took such a drastic, a momentous decision, and went to seek his Shakti over all the worlds of the material world, really not even knowing whether she exists or not, but just feeling our bond.

And in the 271st series, when I was talking about this, my attention was drawn to the screenshot that appeared during these words (at 12:54). When I said that he came out of the asuric worlds and went to look for me, there was a screenshot in which Shiva stands with a blessing gesture and says, «So be it!». I reviewed this series several times and each time I was very confused: what does it mean? And then it dawned on me. I understood that Shri Ram had received Shiva's blessing before going to look for me. I came to this conclusion, thinking about the fact that I have about 4000 screenshots in my desktop folder, and among these screenshots there is only one screenshot in which Shiva stands with a blessing gesture and the words «So be it!». And these screenshots randomly change each other on my desktop every 30 seconds. And from these 4000 screenshots, this screenshot suddenly, as if accidentally appeared during the words that Shri Ram came out of the asuric worlds and went to look for me. It is obvious that this is no accident. I thought: is it that Shri Ram has received such a blessing in order to come to me?! Did Shiva bless him? All signs point to this.

I looked several times in the 271st series the moment at which the screenshot with the blessing of Shiva appeared. There before this screenshot was a screenshot with the words «This also applies to me», and I said then that it turns out that he left the asuric worlds to search for me over all the worlds where I am born and live. From the words «This also applies to me» it became quite clear to me that this is an indication of Shri Ram, that this is also about him. And then in the 271st series immediately I said, «For my sake someone has changed his life so dramatically and went to look for me over all the worlds of the material world». And just during these words «and went to look for me over all the worlds of the material world» began to come out a screenshot of the blessing of Shiva. Both of these screenshots were superimposed on each other for a few seconds: the first screenshot, with the words «This also applies to me», my words «For my sake someone has changed his life so dramatically» and the next screenshot, with the blessing of Shiva «So be it!» and my words «and went to look for me over all the worlds of the material world». In these few seconds, an allegedly random coincidence turned out. At one moment in time, several different moments coincided: for first, that he went to look for me over all the worlds of the material world, secondly, the blessing of Shiva «So be it!» and thirdly, the words «This also applies to me». I saw this as an indication that all this applies to Shri Ram. I realized that this was a very clear indication that when he went to look for me, he received Shiva's blessing to do so. I thought: it was a lot of lives ago. Neither Shri Ram knows it now, nor I do, but these live videos of mine show me this. My magical videos show what was an unimaginable number of lives ago. He has overcome so many obstacles for me. He risked everything for me.

Later in 271st series, I said, «He left the asuric worlds where he was growing up, was making his asuric career, and was somehow settled. And he went into the unknown, to find his Shakti, that is, me». And all the time I was saying all these words, there was a screenshot of Shiva with a blessing gesture and the words «So be it!». That is, Shri Ram received Shiva's blessing before going to look for me. But Shiva gives blessings easily only to women. A woman can hold a fast for 16 Mondays of Shiva, and as a result, Shiva can bless her that her desire will be fulfilled. It is much easier for women to get the grace of Shiva. And since Shri Ram received the blessing of Shiva, it means that Shri Ram was performing some severe austerities. Because he is a man, male, and he lived in the asuric worlds as an asur. So much he wanted this blessing! I thought it was likely that he took vows, made promises. When I was talking about all this in the 272nd series and looking for signs in the random screenshots at my desktop, at the 38th minute, a screenshot appeared with the words «But he refuses to eat», and I made the assumption that he could refuse to eat or have sex, since the asuras all that is related to food, in allegorical language, means sex, since in this case, from a woman to a man, her pious merits go and there is also some saturation. And when I said that he refused to have sex in order to get this blessing, a screenshot came out with the words «When you can't break a stick, you need to split it». I thought that this confirms my assumption, because In Russian, often the word «stick» means the penis and the sexual act.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Yes, most likely, he performed some severe austerities and received the blessing of Shiva, and Mahadev's blessings are not in vain. And that's why Krishna told me to give Shri Ram a chance, I thought. By that time, I had been an inspector of the Universe Patrol for a long time, the Slayer of the asuras, universal criminals and all sorts of creatures, and I had long wanted to leave the material world for the spiritual one. And I would have gone there. But Krishna said to me, «Don't leave this Shri Ram alone here in the material world. He went to look for you over all the worlds of the material world. If you leave the material world without him, you will doom him to a completely disconsolate, completely hopeless search. It's very dangerous, because there's no telling what kind of world he might end up in. Show him some mercy. Give him a chance». I was told that I should not go near him. I was told it was dangerous. I was shown what he had become. I shouldn't have come to him. He was an asur, and I was the Slayer of the asuras. We were on different sides of the barricade. I was customized for destroy people like him. I had the function of destroying them enabled on. I was forbidden to go to him, but he received Shiva's blessing, and Shiva's blessings are not in vain. Krishna decided to honor Shiva's blessing, even though I was told not to approach him. That's why I went to him. This Shiva's blessing was not in vain, as well as the severe austerities that Shri Ram performed, as well as the vows that he made, and as well as an awful fiery ordeal that he passed (as evidenced by various screenshots indicating this). That's why Krishna told me to give Shri Ram a chance. That's why I went to give him a chance. And that's why I'm writing this novel «My Roman. I'm asur's wife». Because he performed some kind of severe austerities many lifetimes ago, when he was in the asuric worlds. Because if Shri Ram had not performed that severe austerities then, he would not have received the blessing of Shiva, and then I wouldn't have come to him. I would have gone to the spiritual world and left him here alone, because I couldn't go near him. I was destroying criminals of Universal scale for many lives and have long wanted to leave the material world for the spiritual one. And I would have done it. And now Krishna is giving me the opportunity to fulfill my desire, but together with Shri Ram. Because thanks to Shiva's blessing, he found me and now has a chance to reunite with me.

264. Blessing to Shri Ram to reunite with his Shakti

I thought: but how can that be? Shri Ram performed severe austerities in order to be reunited with me, but when his efforts bore fruit and he came into contact with me in this life, he disowned me several times himself. He knew that I am the woman he was looking for. He received confirmation of this by reading through my eyes in my diary about the sleep with the word «definitely», in which he found me, his Shakti, in sleep territory. He saw us together in my life files when I gave him access there before March 3, 2016. And then he insisted all evening «be my wife, became my wife», and as a result, we had heavenly wedding from March 3 to March 4. Immediately after that, I started fasting at the 16 Mondays of Shiva to reunite with him in real life. The first Monday of Shiva was March 8, at Mahashivaratri, and the last Monday was June 21. But by June 20, the day before, he had another woman in real life. How did I know this? Because on June 20, my son was washing the floor of our flat, but he washed the floor only in the middle of room. He fundamentally did not wash the floor in the corners of room. I was greatly enraged, and I began to scream him, «Wash the floor everywhere!

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Wash everywhere!» In fact, I told Shri Ram that he should be my everywhere. Shri Ram was already with that woman, because if he didn't have other woman, why would I shout to my son «wash the floor everywhere»? I was screaming «мой везде» in Russian. This phrase in Russian has two different meanings. The first meaning is «Please, wash the floor everywhere, wash everywhere», and the second meaning is «You're mine. You're mine everywhere». Through the phrase «мой везде» I told my son to wash the floor everywhere. And at the same time, I used the same phrase to tell Shri Ram that he should be mine everywhere. That woman, the first take, the so-called duchess, was already with him. I told Shri Ram that he had no right to be anywhere with anyone, because we had a heavenly wedding. But he did not listen to my words and continued to be with her in real life. This clearly shows that by June 20, he was not mine, that is, he had some other woman. It was before my last Shiva's Monday. My demand infuriated him, and he sent me to ranks of contactless whores. He said, «You are too impertinent. You say me, „You are mine everywhere“. Who are you to give me commands? How dare you command me? We will cast you down to the lower echelons of cheap whores where you will exchange your title of my wife for title of a silly cunt. I will make you as the public urinal. You will be in the ranks of those who serve to everybody at my asuric organization by the mouth and the cunt. You are stupid slut, not «you are mine everywhere».

About a month after that, he decided to get rid of me completely, and to do this, he decided to use the 16 Mondays of Shiva. On July 25, he pressed on my consciousness in order to I would start fasting the next 16 Mondays of Shiva with a condition that if Shri Ram has some other woman somewhere, then Shiva would completely break my eternal bond with Shri Ram. And when I started fast at the first of these Mondays of Shiva, I began to get signs from everywhere through which Shiva was saying, «I don't want to. I won't do it. I refuse to participate in this». I couldn't understand what Shiva was refusing to participate in. I watched Vedic series, and as soon as I was turning on any film, Shiva was everywhere, and he was saying the same in different series of different films, «I don't want to participate in this. I won't do it. I refuse this». And when I fasted at the first Monday of Shiva, just a day later I accidentally felt a painful area at the top of my stomach. I did an ultrasound, it turned out to be gallstones, and I was forced to stop fasting. The second Monday of Shiva I did not fast, because I then fasted only on the water and I was told that I am forbidden to fast. Shri Ram wanted to get rid of me. He wanted to use my 16 Mondays of Shiva for this, because I voiced the condition that if he has at least some other woman, then Shiva will completely and forever separate us. Shri Ram compelled me to put this condition. But Shiva said, «I do not want to participate in it». Why? Because Shiva gave him some kind of blessing. Shiva did not want to take part in a complete break our bond because he gave a blessing to Shri Ram. He gave a blessing before Shri Ram went from the asuric worlds to look for me. Also Shiva gave me a blessing to be reunited with Shri Ram at the 16 Mondays of Shiva in the spring of 2016.

Shri Ram was too sad in the asuric worlds, and there he was calling on his Shakti to him, but then he despaired and decided to go looking for her over all the worlds of the material world. And before that he had performed severe austerities, made many promises, took a lot of vows to get the blessing of Shiva in order to this all happened. But when he did find me, for some reason he wanted to get rid of me, and many times. During our interaction, he had three women, because of whom he completely rejected me. He kept severe austerities to find me and reunite with me, since Shiva did not agree to separate us completely. If Shri Ram had asked for the blessing to find his Shakti, to meet her, then Shiva might not have been so strongly opposed a complete break our bond, because the blessing would have already been fulfilled: Shri Ram has already found his Shakti, has already met her. Many people makes a wish to find soul mate, to meet soul mate, but first, the meeting does not necessarily entail the development of relationships, so this desire is wrong. You can find your so-called soul mate anywhere, even on the street, even in the queue at the store, but you can just pass by. So it is with the meeting. You can meet your so-called soul mat at the checkout in the store, on the bus, at a party, and even there you can have a nice conversation with your soul mate, but there will be nothing more. And secondly, not everyone has soul mate. Only those who had an eternal couple in the spiritual world before falling here to the material world have true soul mate. And only they can have their soul mate. So the desire to meet soul mate is wrong. Shri Ram found me, he even plugged onto me and was in my thoughts, he saw my life files, he even came to me in real life, we somehow crossed paths on the streets of our city, but that would be the end of the story. Therefore, if Shri Ram had received the blessing to find and meet his Shakti, Shiva would not be categorically against a complete break our bond, since this blessing would have already been fulfilled. But Shiva was very strongly against. This indicates that Shri Ram was blessed to be reunited with his Shakti. But when this blessing began to bear fruit, he gave up his Shakti himself, more than once.

265. A blessing to protect the Dharma

I thought: what kind of blessing did Shri Ram ask Shiva when he was still in the asuric worlds and performed severe austerities to gain his mercy? I remembered that earlier, when I was playing a game with Metaphorical associative cards, I had already wondered what he wanted when he called on me to him, when he was in the asuric worlds, when he urged me to come there. What did he want then? At that time I got a card on which a boy and a girl are jumping merrily in a puddle. Now, looking at the same card, I saw there only the pleasure to senses and nothing more. The boy is having fun jumping. He is happy with this girl. They have wealth, since on the card drawn an oil puddle, and oil is wealth. The boy with the winner's cry holds his hand up: «We did it!» They are together and happy. That's what he wanted then. He wanted pleasure, mostly for himself. The girl is also happy, calm, and peaceful. Everything is good in this world of wealth. The life is wonderful. But in this entire picture, it is clear that mostly he wanted to receive the enjoyment for himself as a result the reunion with his Shakti, with his eternal couple. He thought that being reunited with his Shakti will bring him pleasure for his senses, would make him happy, because he is happy and contented on the card. That's what he wanted. And I thought: he kept severe austerities just to be happy, being in this material world. What little desire...

When I was reviewing the 272nd series, my attention was drawn to one moment when the picture with the blessing of Shiva and with his words «So be it!» coincided with the words «in order to protect the Dharma» in the screenshot on my desktop. It turned out that the words «So be it!» were on top, and under these words were the words «in order to protect the dharma». Looking at this coincidence, I thought that even if Shri Ram wanted to just enjoy, but Shiva gave him this blessing to protect the Dharma, that is, me. The husband's Dharma is to protect his wife. And Shiva gave this blessing to this Shri Ram to protect me. After all, I am Shri Ram's Shakti, his Dharma, so even if Shri Ram wanted to receive this blessing exclusively for the sensual delights,

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Shiva, it turns out, wanted to protect me. Because I was left alone without this Shri Ram and even became an inspector of the Universe Patrol. I became some cool special, the Slayer of the asuras. But I was alone, without my husband. And Shiva wanted to protect me, so he gave this blessing to this Shri Ram. Shiva took care of me. This is awesome and amazing! Can you believe that?

Yes, of course, Shri Ram performed severe austerities. At the same time, he refused to have sex. This was indicated by the screenshot in the 272nd series with the words «but she refuses to eat» and by the next, with the words «need to split stick» under the picture with the blessing of Shiva. This is a clear indication of the refusal of sex, because food is associated with sex among asuras, and in Russian language, the stick is also associated with the penis and with the sexual act. Shri Ram went to the asuric worlds and accepted the asuric nature precisely because of sex, in order to become irresistible in sex, having received the asuric nature, and some unimaginable sexual possibilities and characteristics. But sex there didn't make him happy. As they say, if you get all the money in the world, will you be happier? And sex there did not give him happiness, because for the sake of happiness he refused this sex. He gave up what he went to the asuras for, leaving me. He refused sex to become with me again. He was seduced by a woman-asuri in some far past life to become an asur. He left me to become an asur and get some exorbitant sexual opportunities, but it didn't make him any happier. And in order to become happy again, he gave up sex.

To get that blessing of Shiva, he performed severe austerity and made some vows. And apparently, he made a vow to always protect me. I realized this when I spoke about it in the 273rd series, and at this time a screenshot was appeared with Nrisimhadev covering and protecting by Himself a person, and then twice in a row was a screenshot with Arjuna who hold a bow Gandiva in his hands. This meant that Shri Ram had vowed to always be with me, to hold me in his hands, never to let me go, never to leave me, and always to protect me, like Nrisimhadev in the screenshot. Shri Ram even passed some kind of awful fiery ordeal. And Shiva gave him this blessing to protect me. It turns out that Krishna asked me to go to Shri Ram (although I was forbidden to do so) because Shiva wanted to protect me. It turns out that I showed respect the will of Shiva.

266. The insulting of the blessing of Shiva

I showed respect and honored the wish of Shiva and, despite the prohibition, went to Shri Ram. And as far as I understand, Shiva appreciated this, because when Shri Ram wanted to take advantage of my 16 Shiva`s Mondays to break with me completely and remove me completely from his space, Shiva made it so that I did not continue to fast these 16 Shiva`s Mondays. And when I was fasting the next 16 Mondays of Shiva, in the fall of 2018, it was gradually opening to me what Shri Ram had done to me. It was revealed to me that he sold me to the asuras, that he pumped all my pious merits out of me, and had threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's death, in order to destroy me. Shiva was like showing me then: «Look what he did to you. He drained you of all your pious merits. As a result, you would quickly lose everything you had. Then you will find yourself in the society of some scumbags. They will treat you not like a person, but like meat. And when you would leave your body you would go to animal life forms, would be born as an animal. You would jump like a monkey on the tree branches, because without pious merits you could not get a human birth. You could not be born a human. You would be born an animal». Shiva as if said me, «Look what he did to you». He promised so much. He promised to protect his Shakti, but what did he do? He opened his Shakti to everyone in order to they amuse by her, to throw all their problems, their deaths into her, and in order to they take all her luck away from her. This is the nature of the material world.

So it turns out that Shri Ram threw in the toilet the blessing of Shiva for which he was ready for everything and even refused sex and passed an awful fiery ordeal. He threw this blessing in the toilet. He used my trust in him and he used even Shiva, because he used 16 Mondays of Shiva to throw this blessing, like a used condom, in the trash. I thought: how does that even happen? When he was in the asuric worlds, he felt a bond with his Shakti. We were in different worlds, he didn't know exactly if he has his Shakti, but he felt this bond, because it didn't go away, because this bond is eternal. This bond is not like that of karmic partners, for a few months or lives. This bond is eternal, because we are an eternal couple; we were together in the spiritual world. In the asuric worlds he felt this bond, but when he found me, for some reason he didn't feel that bond. Why it happened?

Why he was with other women? In our very first summer, when he first plugged onto me and we had a heavenly wedding, he had a very good woman in real life, the so-called first take. It was the so-called duchess, aristocratic woman, self-respecting, worthy, who is much better than me and who can really give true happiness to a man. For her sake, he disowned me for the first time and used 16 Mondays of Shiva to throw the Shiva blessing given to him in the asuric worlds into the toilet like a used condom. The second woman, the second take, is Lona. She worked in some secret project of some asuras who were directing Lona to the asuras who had to be completely disabled and taken down. Lona had extraordinary sexual characteristics. And as a woman, she was very interesting and pleasant. She played big. She had an exceptional, very expensive specification, which she acquired somewhere in the vastness of the Universe many lives ago. Asuras could not avoid getting into her network. She was the perfect trap for asuras. Lona had a special specification; she was can grab into her network of any asur who hindered someone. This man, this asur, falling into zone of her influence, couldn't resist her charm and was falling in her tender and passionate embrace. They had wonderful fantastic sex. But she was the eraser of asuras. There is a film — «Eraser», in which the main role is played by Arnold Schwarzenegger. He's there acting as a protector, erasing people's past to protect their future. The situation with Lona was different. She was also an Eraser, but she was deleting the future. The result of Lona's appearance in the life of the asuras inevitably was their complete oblivion and throwing off to the very bottom of life. She pumped out of her victims all that they had, all their strengths, abilities, a masculine force, potency, manhood, skills. She was filling them with their destructive and spyware, like Trojans on the computer.

She was installing into them the Trojans and was carrying out sabotage activities. Lona was making him the impotent on all levels. Asuras have a lot based on sex, because they get through sex the energy that they need for some of their evil actions. If asur loses the opportunity to receive this energy from sex, then he as asur is a nobody, an empty place, he can't do anything else.

And during his wonderful amazing delectable sexual interaction with her, everything was taken out of him. He became completely empty, became the impotent both as a male and as a person. And then, when his life ended, he went into a disembodied existence. Lona is the second take. Shri Ram disowned me because of this second take, said «Goodbye, we are parting forever» and sent me on a transfer. After that some man from my past lives came to me, with whom I was together for many lives, who loved me. He said, «Be with me, I will not leave you, I will not hurt you, I love you and will love you, and this Shri Ram only deceives you and will deceive you always». But I refused this man because I came to give this Shri Ram a chance, because Shiva gave him a blessing and Krishna asked me to give him a chance.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

But there was also a third take, a third woman, because of whom Shri Ram again disowned me and about whom I was told this September. She was a pretty woman, much younger than me, with a beautiful tight body. She was sexy, alluring and voluptuous woman. She was with Shri Ram all this summer, 2019, while I was translating the text of my novel «My Roman. I'm asur's wife» from Russian to English. Although at the same time he was saying me through various songs that came across to me, and through various signs of the Universe that poured out on me from everywhere, that he loved me and that no one else could ever matter to him. He was saying me, «I don't want to see anyone but you. I don't want anything other than what I have with you. I wouldn't look at anybody else». But he gave me up for her. Yes, he did not say that he would give up on me, but he had great regrets that he had to be with me. He regretted that because of this he would not be able to bring her to his house and enjoy with her there, drive her in his car, and so on. My presence in his life did not allow him to fully enjoy with this woman. And he regretted this. Regret means rejection. He gave up his first wife in the same way. He was just sorry that they didn't have children, even though she was very good woman. He thought that maybe with another woman he would have children and life would be better. And it turns out that just from this thought he put her on the transfer, and some good man somewhere in the higher plane of existence, in the information space, in the energy-informational field, saw her, looked at her and said, «She's the woman for me», and then he somehow appeared in her life in real life, in physical reality, and she allegedly left Shri Ram. He was suffering much that she left him, but in fact he left her. And in our situation with Shri Ram, with the third take, was the same. He was not going to leave me. He was thinking he would keep a vow, but was very sorry that he had to be with me. He was thinking that if it were not for me, he would have had more pleasure. Vows did not allow him to enjoy as he wanted. He was very upset about this. And it turns out that he disowned me three times because of these three takes.

And it turns out that he insulted the blessing of Shiva. He insulted Shiva. Because he asked for this blessing so much. He refused sex there, and passed some awful ordeal of fiery, and took the vows that he will protect his Shakti and will Take care of her, always will keep her in his hands, but when this blessing began to be realized in physical reality, he disowned me three times, throwing this blessing, like a used condom, into a dirty garbage can. He had done this Because of women, because of sex, because of the pleasure of the senses, which he completely abandoned when he wanted to receive this blessing. Alas, we are in the material world, such situations in life happen.

He took advantage of my trust, even though he said, «I will not abuse your trust». But in the case of the third take, he took advantage of my trust. He pressed my consciousness in order to I fast 16 Mondays of Shiva in order to his affair with the third woman will be forgiven. He was not going to give up that woman. He wanted to get permission for his love affairs in advance. He had given me the word of gentleman that he would not abuse my trust, but he abused my trust. He wanted to take advantage of Shiva's 16 Mondays to insult the blessing of Shiva, the Shiva's gift to him. I couldn't help coming to Shri Ram. I was held hostage to this blessing. I was forbidden to come to him; I was told about it very clearly and shown everything. But due to the fact that Shri

Ram got the blessing of Shiva, I couldn't not go; otherwise it would be an insult to Shiva. Shiva gave him such a gift. He was blessed to reunite with his Shakti, and I had to go to him, even though it was forbidden. By this blessing Shri Ram compelled me come to him.

I thought that he had insulted this blessing of Shiva many times. He insulted his Shakti. He has insulted himself many times, because he made a vow and the word of gentleman that he would not abuse my trust, but he did this. When it was revealed to me this September that he had had another woman all this summer, even though he was assuring me that I was the only one he had, I was very upset. Then I was given a very hard choice what to do to him. It was a choice without a choice. I faced a cruel situation of no choice. I was forced to demand recognition of his incapacitation, if he ever somehow will be with another woman. This is absolute prohibition to him on the deals with pious merits on the level of the higher self. This is absolute prohibition to him on decisions of making about who to be with in real life and what to have the right to do on the level of the physical body. I also came to the decision to demand the compensation for moral damage in the form of all pious merits of other women, in the form of taking off those women of all their pious merits in my favor. And now, when I started recording these videos and saw there that Shri Ram received the blessing of Shiva before going to search for me over all the worlds of the material world, I thought that those forced decisions to declare him incapacitated and to compensate my moral damage were correct, because he deserved the hellish worlds. And after all this, he wants to enjoy. He insulted Shiva. He insulted his Shakti. He insulted his Dharma. He had committed so many insults that he deserved the hellish worlds. That's what he deserved. But he wants to enjoy with other women. No, his punishment in the form of recognition of incapacitation is completely adequate to his crime. He offended Shiva and blessing, which he received from Shiva. The decision about his incapacity is quite adequate, because he asked to be reunited with his Shakti. He got a chance to reunite with his Shakti. But there should be no other women. The recognition of his incapacity is absolutely right and fair in order that this may be realized. And also if some kind of woman wants to be with such man with a damaged credit history, then to take from her all her pious merits in the form of compensation for moral damage will also be correct, in order to the others know what to expect. Because at some point, we all need to pay for the sins of the past. Therefore, as a result of all this, the only way for Shri Ram is to go to the spiritual world, because there are only two paths for him in the material world. The first way is to be with me and go to the spiritual world. The second way is not to be with me, but also not to be with anyone. It's very sad story. Such a disconsolate state in the material world, when there is no hope for happiness and can not be, and the only way is to the spiritual world. We burned all his bridges and opened the way to the spiritual world. It is said that eternal couples return together to the spiritual world. Yes, it is. Because in this case, I see that Krishna has told me that I can go back to the spiritual world and Shri Ram will have to go back to the spiritual world. Because he will return to the spiritual world either with me, or by himself, from the utter hopelessness of being in this material world, because there's nothing here for him anymore.

The realization of all this made me very sad, once again. It is believed that for never was a story of more woe than this of Juliet and her Romeo. It's not true. They did not have time to experience any disappointments in each other. They didn't even live together. They didn't get any disappointments or resentments from each other, but I, even before I came into physical contact with this Shri Ram, had already received so many disappointments and insults from him. I thought: then what do I do? And Krishna, through one of the screenshots, said to me, «I have firm faith in you». Krishna said to me, «Svetlana Vinodavani, I know, you can do this, believe Me. Because a lot is expected of you. You have to complete your task. This is very important for us. So you can do it». In 271st series, there was a screenshot of Krishna saying, «And there is no oath, curse, or blessing that I can't destroy». Yes, I was a hostage to this blessing that Shri Ram received from Shiva. I had to go to him and to experience so many disappointments, and this blessing was actually a curse for me. Because what Shri Ram did to me is just a curse. There's no getting away from it. Krishna said, «And your bond with Shri Ram is also like a curse for you, because you are an eternal couple, but you are separated in this material world. He, being an asur, did many abominations, but you were protecting him, and your pious merits were transferring from you to him. Thanks to your pious merits, he could do a lot of bad things. And now you came to him and got everything that he did there to other women, you felt it all for yourself». It is good that Krishna protected me. But He showed what Shri Ram was doing there to other women. Krishna said that this eternal bond was a curse for me, and this blessing that Shri Ram received from Shiva was also a curse for me. But Krishna said that there is no such oath, no such curse or blessing that he cannot destroy. Krishna reassured me. He said, «I have a firm faith in you. Don't be afraid anymore. If this Shri Ram does wrong, not as he should, then I will destroy this curse and this blessing too, I will destroy everything, and he will never be with you. Because your bond will also be destroyed». Krishna can do all this because He is the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

267. Necklace of blessings

I learned about Shiva's blessing when I started recording these autumn videos. Six months before that, in the spring, after recording the previous winter videos, it was revealed to me that Shri Ram came out of the asuric worlds and went to look for me over all the worlds of the material world. I had no idea then that he had performed austerities and received the blessing of Shiva. That time I was transcribing my winter videos, and when I reviewed the 270th series, it was revealed to me that Shri Ram was summoning me for a long time. He completely despaired and decided to leave the asuric worlds and go to look for me over all the worlds of the material world. I was very impressed at the time that he went into the unknown to look for me, and I thought that this should definitely be covered in the new video block. Also, when I translated the text of the winter videos, a lot of events occurred in our interaction with Shri Ram, which I recorded in my diary, so that later, when the time comes, I could tell about all this. While working with the text of the winter videos, I had periodically the depression. I had a strong rejection of the whole situation, since there were very sad events described, and I wanted to escape from this all. But I continued to be in this, remembering Shiva's words in the story about Banasura and his wife Vani, in the TV series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev». At that time, I looked at these words one-sidedly, from one angle, but now, after recording the first autumn videos, I saw the same words of Shiva in a different light. There, Shiva said the following: «In the name of Parvati's blessing and in order to protect this blessing, you two must make important changes in your lives». I looked at these words of Shiva and thought: Shiva has blessed this Shri Ram to be reunited with me, and Shiva said that in the name of this blessing and in order to protect this blessing, we must make important changes in our lives. I thought: Shri Ram and I have such a great blessing! This is a very unusual and extraordinary phenomenon that is extremely rare. It is a miracle that Shiva has given us a blessing. We must respect that blessing, honor it, and make changes in our lives. Shiva blessed our union, our reunion. And I began to remember who else had blessed our union.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I had seen that this union has many blessings of different great personalities. First, it is the Shiva blessing that Shri Ram received before leaving the asuric worlds. Secondly, it is the blessing of Shiva on Mahashivaratri 2016, March 8, when I offered Shiva a ring with a ruby, and it as if by itself rolled in my direction.

Also it is the blessing of Nrisimhadev, because from 3 to 4 March 2016, this Shri Ram and I had a so-called heavenly wedding. We were in some big meeting in my meditation on my inner screen. We became a married couple and Nrisimhadev Himself connected Shri Ram and me, pronounced us man and wife and witnessed the bond of holy matrimony. I remembered how Nrisimhadev stood at that heavenly wedding over us and asked Shri Ram questions if he agreed to marry me, love me, protect, care about me, always be with me, and in joy and in sorrow... and Shri Ram said «yes». Even if it was an illusion, but Krishna is a God, Nrisimhadev is a God, and God can manifest Himself through anything, even in an illusion.

Also it is the blessing of my Gurudev. In his lecture, my Gurudev offered Shri Ram to take me as his wife, describing my virtues and bringing to his consciousness that in this life he would not be given anything else, that he has no choice. And he had to agree to this proposal of my Gurudev. As they say: you are not my choice, you are my destiny.

Also the blessing of one of my parents in my past lives, when many lives I took birth many times in the asuric worlds. I many lives was becoming the wife of their leader, and then destroying him. This happened 40 times, 40 incarnations. And in each of those births, I had parents there who had a high noble position in asuric society in order to I could become the wife of their Emperor. In the summer of 2018, I found out that this Shri Ram had been giving me to everyone from his asuric organization all summer 2016, at the energical connectivity. I sent them all to future lives as the deaf mutes, where they would preach Krishna consciousness among the deaf mutes. At that time I had a very big rejection of this Shri Ram. Then a great asur came to me on some subtle plane of existence. He was my father in one of my far past lives in the asuric worlds. This man acknowledged me as his child. He told Shri Ram that they recognized me as their own, that I belonged to their family. This man said that I am of a royal line that stretches back a thousand years. It is a great royal family of the asuras. He offered Shri Ram to take me as his wife and gave his blessing to this union.

I also thought that Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow had given her blessing to this union. When I was in Moscow I bought a toy for coloring, a piggy bank in the form of a lion. I painted with paints that toy lion. When the lion dried, I wanted to varnish it. I had bought art varnish in the art store. When I was driving home with art varnish, I was passing past the Danilovsky cemetery, where there is a chapel of Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow. I had wanted to go to Matrona and bow to her. Because at home was waiting for me that lion, which I had painted colors, I decided to ask Matrona for a blessing on this man, whom the lion symbolized. When it was my turn to enter the chapel, a nun came out of the chapel. She approached us and said that people often bring different gifts for Matrona, nuns sanctify gifts at Matrona and then give to those who wish. She stretched out the rosary in her hands. Some woman took the rosary. Then this nun had stood right in front of me and, looking me in the eye, began to hold in her arms a photo of Emperor Nicholas II, the last tsar of the Russian Empire. She was standing, looking me in the eyes, and was saying, «Who needs a tsar? Take the tsar!» But no one wanted to take the tsar, including me. I turned away from her so she wouldn't give me the eye, and I saw that everyone else also turned away from her. But she kept saying, «Who needs a tsar? Take the tsar!» And here I remembered that I after all came to Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow in order to receive the blessing about my future man whom the lion symbolized. I already bought this figure of a lion and even painted colors it and bought art varnish to cover it with a varnish. This lion symbolized this Shri Ram. I thought that lion is the king of beasts. Saint Matrona offers me to take the tsar. Lion is a king of beasts, a tsar. On photography, too, tsar, a man, in epaulets, handsome man, noble, Emperor of Russia. I immediately reached out and took this picture to myself. The weather was nice and quiet. But when I took the photo of Nicholas II in my hands, right at this moment it began to rain. And this nun, looking into my eyes, with some heartfelt feeling told me, «Keep him safe», and I put his photo to me in the bag. Thus the blessing of Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow was received. It turns out that my union with Shri Ram has so many blessings! I looked at Shiva's words in the series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev» from a completely different angle: «In the name of Parvati's blessing and in order to protect this blessing, you two must make important changes in your lives».

Although I had periodically the depression and rejection of Shri Ram when translating the text of the winter videos, Shiva's words constantly brought me back to him. I was remembering his words and thinking that I had no right to contradict Shiva, because he told me through words to Vani, to the wife of Banasur, that I should always be with Shri Ram and never leave him alone, that is, never kill him, never make him a dead man. These words of Shiva reconciled me to the need to be with Shri Ram, no matter what unsightly aspects of our interaction with him were revealed in the translation of this text.

268. Maybe there is no gloss, but from the heart

Yeah, I didn't want to be with Shri Ram, but I was remembering the words of Shiva. Shiva told him that he has to make a change in his life, he has to sacrifice something, otherwise he would be destroyed. Shiva told Shri Ram that his main duty is to protect me if he wants to be alive. I was told that I should always be with him and never leave him alone. Shiva said to me, «Never kill him. Always protect him, so that he will never be „in peace, quiet“ so he doesn't die». He needs to be with me just to be alive, and Shiva told me to always be with him and never kill him. From all this I understood that I should give Shri Ram a chance to be with me, because if he is not with me, then he will not be alive. And if I don't give him a chance to be with me and protect me, then I'm denying him the right to live. I thought I had no right to refuse to let him live, because Shiva told me through words to Vani, to Banasura's wife, that I must do everything to keep him alive, and therefore I must continue to be with him, despite my unwillingness to be with him, since he can only be alive by being with me. Therefore, even if I felt very sad emotions, I remembered these words of Shiva and thought that, no matter how Shri Ram behaved, Shiva said that he must be alive, and for this I must give him a chance to be with me. Because that's the only way he can be alive. And this realization gave me the support to continue our relationship. I thought: Yes, we are tied with one chain, are shackled together. He needs to be with me just to be alive, and Shiva told me to always be with him and never kill him. It turns out that Shiva gave this blessing, and then so many persons gave this blessing. And I was told to be with him, no matter what happened, not to deprive him of the right to life. I should to give him a chance, so that he was just alive. And every time I was remembering about it and thought: we must go forward and perform the austerity called «life». We must continue to live and be together.

And for him, this is really austerity, because he likes women who are not like me at all. He likes women of a different type. And even if so many persons have blessed our union, I still do not fit into the range of his preferences, his desires. And I felt very sorry for him. He needs to be with me just to be alive, but I'm not someone he likes to be with. He feels like a real man, a gentleman with other women, and not with me. I felt very sorry for him, but at the same time I thought that it was better for him to be with me, since he deserved severe punishment for his misdeeds. He pumped all pious merits from my stock of piety, so to speak, stole money from the account. He threw other people's deaths, troubles, and hard problems into me. In my Mahabharata were other asuras who pumped all pious merits out of women. We sent them to their future lives to be born only as women, in a female body. Many lives they will attract any scumbags to themselves. But Shri Ram very successfully avoided this fate, he continues to be a man, and even rich and successful. I thought it was better for him to be even with a woman like me, but to be a man. He should be just happy that he can be a man, male, and also rich and successful.

I thought: how can that be? He wanted to be with me, because I am his Shakti. But why, when I came to him, when he saw me and even plugged onto me, he did not think in the least that I could be his Shakti? He looked at other women, but not at me. And this is understandable, because I was in a difficult situation, one with two children, after a divorce, in rented apartment... He could not perceive me as his Shakti. I didn't fit into the range of his desires. How did this happen? Usually a man woos a woman, winning her favor, but in our case, I tried in every possible way to pique his curiosity, sparking interest, not succumbing to his efforts to crush me. I thought: this is completely wrong. Not a man runs after a woman, but a woman after a man, trying to attract his attention. But if it hadn't been for these tricks, he wouldn't have plugged onto me personally. He would have pressed me down and handed over me to one of his subordinates. They periodically at the energic connectivity would pump out my pious merits and throw sinful karma into me like into a garbage can. But I did everything in order to he personally plugged onto me. I had to do a lot of things to achieve this. He didn't like me. Although I'm his Shakti. We are an eternal couple, but he did not see in me his eternal beloved, the only one.

And when I was in such a depressed state from these thoughts that I was in his view not a woman, but some kind of sheep, he conveyed to my consciousness that he wanted to take care of me, to support me because he is my brother in God. I accepted his offer. I thought it is wonderful. I would be honored to accept the help of my brother in God, my Gurudev's disciple, especially if he is my eternal husband. I decided that I should give him the opportunity to take care of me. He can completely protect me from this society, from the need to try to comply with the demand imposed by society, pouring from the TV and from everywhere. I thought that if he would protect me and completely surround me with his care, I would forgive him everything. And when I thought that, he said that he would do anything to help me return to the spiritual world. I thought that even although he had done so many bad to me, but if he would help me return to the spiritual world, then I would forgive him.

I thought: how can that be? Shri Ram received Shiva's blessing and he did everything to achieve this goal, but when he met me, then the first words which he told me through this email were an order to me to do what he needed. And in that letter he thanked me for my anxiety. This was the email of some person immediately after a conversation with a karate coach on January 25, 2016, when Shri Ram communicated with me in an allegorical form through the coach and plugged onto me. The letter said: «Thank you for your concern. Perhaps you are right, mistakes are not desirable. If your professional opinion suggests this, then do it. If anything, we can phone». It's ordinary words in an ordinary email. But it was actually this Shri Ram gave me an order through these words. In these words, it is quite clear that he appointed me a worry. «Thank you for your concern». In Russian, this phrase sounds like this: «Благодарю за беспокойство» («Thank you for your concern»). The word «беспокойство» has different meanings, one of which is «a worry». He prescribed me a worry, like asuras prescribe to women a worry. They are causing sexual longing, the sex drive, the craving for sexual gratification at women and are pumping the pious merits out of women. And then he turned on force methods to break me down for sure. He wrote to me beforehand that he thanked me for having a worry, and he said «do it». He gave me an order: «Do what I want! You must obey!» How can that be? In the asuric worlds, he was asking to be reunited with his Shakti, but when he was able to physically approach her, he said her, «Thank you for your worry. I decided that now you will begin to worry a lot. I am going to make you a female in heat. I am going to activate at you a mode of incessant estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization. I will pass all my asuras through you. They will pass you around like a bottle of cheap booze. I decided that first you will masturbate, and then you will begin to have sex with different men. I will plug many asuras onto you at the energy plane of existence. You won't know about it. But they will fuck you on through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. They want to fuck you, on an energy connection. Let's get started, I will install the energical connectivity. I'm already turning on your anxiety. Do it! Do it, urgently, right now! Obey!» I told him through a letter to that person that I was writing to him all this in order to show him his luck, that is, his wife. A wife is luck. I told him then through the words in the email to that person, «I want to show you your luck. I am your luck, your wife». But he did not understand anything and wrote to this luck, to his wife that he prescribes her a worry and gives her the order: «Do it! obey!»

In the same summer of 2016, he had that good aristocratic woman, in real life, the so-called duchess, the first take. She was much better than me, and he wanted to throw me out of his life for her. He wanted to get rid of me. He told me through another email of that person, «You are a free person and have the right to do as you see fit. Everything here is on a voluntary basis, and maybe there is no gloss, but from the heart... Thank you for the emotion». But really through words «You are a free person» he said to me, «I don't need you anymore. Go move about somewhere else». He said to me, «Maybe there is no gloss, but from the heart». But really he said to me, «You don't have any gloss. In you there is no shine. Go away from here, from the heart. Go from me, from the heart. Go to hell!» He said to me, «Thank you for the emotion». But really he said to me, «You love me so much? But I don't need your love!» How can that be? He there, in the asuric worlds, wanted and longed for this love, he was saying «I so long for your love!» But now, when he got the opportunity to get closer to his Shakti, he said, «Maybe there is no gloss, but from the heart. In you there is no shine. Get away from me, from heart. You're not as charming as you think you are. You have nothing. I'm not interested in you. Get out of here! Get the hell away from me! Thank you for your emotion. I don't need your emotion. Your love is not necessary. I need pleasure, not your emotion». How can that be? He was saying, «I'm so hungry for your love», but suddenly he said, «Get out! I don't need your love». It's very sad...

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And when in the spring of 2019 I already translated all the winter episodes from video to text and reached the 270th series, I saw these new meanings in the screenshots with the history of Andhaka. I saw that when Shri Ram was in the asuric worlds, he longed for my love, because we are an eternal couple. And for the sake of this love, he decided to leave the asuric worlds and go to an unknown place to look for an unknown person, even without being sure that this unknown person exists. He was saying, «I'm so hungry for your love», but suddenly he said, «In you there is no gloss. In you there is no shine. Get away from me, from heart. Thank you for the emotion. I don't need your love. I longed for it once, but I'm not interested in it now». When I realized this this spring, I was overwhelmed by incredibly sad emotions. And then my Gurudev gave me a helping hand. Somewhere on the Internet, I found his words to one of his students who was dying of cancer. He said to her, «The ways of the Lord are inscrutable. This situation protects you, and Krishna wants you to become even closer to Him. As a rule, the most powerful lesson is the most bitter. Bitter medicine cures. Many people will now draw strength from your example. Everyone present understands that at some point they may find themselves in the same state, and they want to know how to deal with this situation. I am giving you a new task; this is my new guidance to you. You can become a good example for all of us. You can show that you can cope with such a difficult situation and not cry, not kill yourself and not suffer, but say that Yes, the guru told me that this is all in the hands of Krishna, this is His mercy, so I accept it, and being happy. For me, the most important thing will be if your faith deepens. In any case, you are on your way back home to Vrindavan. Always remember that you are in the hands of Radha and Krishna, and whatever happens, They are watching you. Surrender completely to Them, and They will take care of you».

When I read these words, I thought that these words were told to me in this situation with this Shri Ram. He was so eager for my love that he even came out of the asuric worlds and went to look for me over all the worlds of the material world, condemning himself to terrible risk, but when he found me, he said, «Thank you for the emotion, but in you there is no gloss. Go away from me, go away from the soul. Get out of my way». Words of Gurudev were as if spoken for me. I didn't understand how this situation could protect us, but I thought that I don't see how things really are, because here I live like an ordinary person, I live a small ordinary life, and from a global, higher angle I don't see, I don't have a full coverage of the situation. Perhaps, indeed, this situation somehow protects us. And I thought, «This situation is somehow protecting us». I made these words my motto, and when I was overcome with sadness at the realization that Shri Ram was so hungry for this love that he even left the asuric worlds and went to search for something unknown, but when he met this love, he said, «Go away! In you there is no gloss. I don't need your love», those words of my Gurudev were comforting me.

269. «The surrender of your land is necessary and vital. We must live by one law»

In the spring of 2019 in 270th series it was revealed to me that Shri Ram came out of asuric worlds and went to look for me over all the worlds of the material world. At that time I was working on the text of winter videos about the fact that Shri Ram was selling me, had pump all my pious merits out of me, and threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's death. I was constantly reminded that I should be with him no matter what happened, and we continued to be together. So passed the months of March and April. Akshaya Tritiya 2019 was approaching. I was reading Terry Goodkind's book «Blood of the Fold». This book reminded me that I should be with Shri Ram. There I was told about it in these words: «Remember this above all else: No matter what, you must remain loyal to Richard. You can talk to him, advise him, reason with him, but you must not fight him. Loyalty to Richard is the only thing keeping Jagang from your mind. Once a dream walker has your mind, you are lost to our side». These words told me that I must be with this Shri Ram, or some dream walker may come, that is, an ordinary man, as we, sleeping souls, who live here and think that what they see around them is the only possible reality, and who do not even allow themselves to think that the true reality is much wider and is beyond our understanding and our vision. In book «Blood of the Fold» I was told that my faithfulness to Shri Ram is the only thing that prevents this dream walker, that is, an ordinary man who just wasting his life, to get into my mind, that is, become with me. Book said that as soon as he took over my mind, I would be lost to our common cause, that is, I would live ordinary life, with earthly pleasures.

When I read these words about the dream walker, I thought that we do not need other men. We will not let other men in. We have our common cause: I am an inspector of the Universe Patrol, I have some kind of team of forces of light. I'm living here, doing something in my ordinary life, and this is a projection of what to do for those who I show signs to. For example, I take my slipper and kill a cockroach, saying, «Who's laughing now? Well, slimy little cockroach, we've got you at last!», and those who are in my team of forces of light, who are always in touch with me, see the overall picture from above and see what I point out to them to. I am a navigator, the inside man, and I mean very much to the common cause. And I thought, «No, we're not going to let other men in who might be very well in life, but they won't pass, because our case is the most important thing for us. I was told to be with this Shri Ram, and I will be with him». And I continued to be with him.

In this book, «Blood of the Fold», Richard wrote to Kahlan: «I explained to the representatives that you, the queen of Galea, were to marry me, and through your surrender and our union, it shows that this is a union forged in peace, with common goals and mutual respect, and not a matter of conquest. I must ask you to return at once to Aydindril and surrender Galea. I must deal with matters of various lands, and your knowledge and assistance would be invaluable». I read these words and thought: I am being told that this Shri Ram needs my invaluable help. He will need to conduct some negotiations, and the signs that I give him are very necessary to him. It is better for him that our interaction be closer. He does not want to lose this, and he needs me in order to see these signs and, according to these signs, do his business. I saw in Richard's words that Shri Ram was asking me to accept my fate and be reunited with him. He said to me through Richard's next words, «My queen, I would give my life for you, and want nothing more than to be your husband, but if my actions turn your heart against me, I would not force your hand in marriage. Understand, though, that the surrender of your land is necessary and vital. We must live by one law. I cannot afford to show special favors to any land, or we are lost before we begin». I looked at these words and thought: Yes, his actions can turn my heart away from him, and, in General, this constantly happens, and therefore he does not want to force me to marry him, but asks me to understand that surrender is very necessary, that we should live together and happily. And I thought that I would call the Chapter about my meeting with Shri Ram «The unconditional surrender».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And further in this book it was written: «He'll be here soon. He won't let anything hold him back. He'll be here in a couple of weeks at the most». I read these words about two weeks before Akshaya Tritiya, it was then on May 7. I looked at these words and thought: I am told about the need for surrender and that it will happen in about two weeks. I thought: how cool! It will happen on Akshaya Tritiya! Unfortunately, nothing like this happened on Akshaya Tritiya, but my water meter broke.

270. The legitimate demands at Akshaya Tritiya

I went to the Housing Management Office, paid for changing the water meter, but none of the workers of Housing Management Office did not want to change it, because I have the water meter located in an inconvenient place, under the sink in the kitchen, and none of them wanted to climb there for any money. I complained to my dad, I thought he would come and help me, but he started making a phone call me, calling me back and demanding that I go to the housing office, that I made any accusations, complaints that they should do all this, especially since I paid for it and I had a receipt for paying for the change of the meter. But none of the workers of Housing Management Office wanted to climb under my kitchen sink, it's really very inconvenient. And my dad was calling me and demanding that I go to the housing office, made claims to them and insisted on performing prepaid work. He called me all the time on May 6, right before Akshaya Tritiya. He even brought me to tears. He was shouting into the phone, «Why are you sitting there?! You'll just sit there alone, and no one will help you. Go demand!»

At the end of May 6, he started making a phone call me and saying, «Go to the mayor's office, to the city administration, go to the mayor himself! Our mayor is young. Demand! You have every right! The workers of Housing Management Office must do everything for you! You should not run after them, but they should run after you!» I thought: my dad for a reason makes a phone call me all day and makes me nervous. There is a reason for that. My team of forces of light gives me a sign: «You need to think, to guess that your dad is making a phone call you for a reason. It is we who act on him, and he cannot help calling you». I thought that my father could not help making phone calls: my team of forces of light tried to tell me through him that I should go and demand at the asuras. My father told me to write to the mayor, his assistants and the administration. I must demand that the workers of Housing Management Office will do everything. They should run after me, and not I should run after them. I realized that it was my team was talking about the asuras. I thought I was being told that this Shri Ram should come to me. I was told that in no more than two weeks he would come to me, that surrender is necessary, and that my knowledge and assistance will be invaluable, but he did not come. Like the way I was running for the workers of Housing Management Office, but no one wanted to put in new water meter. I thought: my team of forces of light told me that I have to make that not me runs after Shri Ram, but he runs after me. I must go to demand from the mayor, from the most main persons, from the administration, from the assistants of mayor, that the workers of Housing Management Office run after me and do as they should. I thought: I was told that the mayor is young. I destroyed the most main one at the asuras, and asuras put someone else in his place, and new main asur is a young person. He is young not by the age of the body, but by the level of spiritual development, that is, he has low life values and desires. He wants only to enjoy, and he has no true values of life, he just wants to have more power and influence over others. I thought: the most main asur here on Earth is young. He does not have true life values. He will mismanage the asuras. And the entire administration, all those who are under him, are like him. And I have to demand at them.

And when I realized that, I went to demand this. I tuned in to the most main asur who live here on Earth, who replaced the former chief asur here, the king of the asuras's kings. I thought that he was young in spiritual development and I should demand that Shri Ram run after me and do everything right, because he is my husband and must come to me. I tuned in to their most main asur. I imagined that along his body from the bottom up there is some kind of zipper that is fastened. I unzipped this zipper and started pumping everything out of him. I decided that I would not kill him, because I was not told to kill, I was told to demand. I also introduced his assistants, as my father said me about the mayor, the administration, and assistants of mayor. I imagined that here on Earth there is some chief asur, he has assistants and some administration. I unzipped this zipper from top to bottom at all of them and began to pump everything out of them. And after that I stood over them all like a big snake and became as a big magnet. And being such a magnet, I was pumping out some their weapons and everything they had there. I thought I would not kill them, but I will get all I could out of them, for Shri Ram must perform his duties. I thought: let Shri Ram run after me.

I remembered the story from the 118th the series of «Devon Ke Dev Mahadev», when Shiva became the bodyguard of asur Vindhymali on the asuric planets, and Sati was waiting for him on Kailash, but Shiva could not return there, as he had to perform his duties as a bodyguard. Sati found a way to get to Shiva, and asked for Vindhymali a house for herself and for Shiva in asuric worlds. She assumed her warlike and terrifying form of Adi Shakti and threatened the asuras that she would destroy the whole world and absorb all the asuras. I remembered Sati in the form of Adi Shakti and in the same spirit I began to pump everything out of these asuras, demanding that Shri Ram must fulfill his obligations to me, let him run after me and not me after him. As my dad used to say to me, «Why are you running after these locksmiths? Demand, and they will run after you». And I had pumped a lot out of their mayor, the most main asur here, and out of his assistants. I saw the largest asur from a height and pierced him with a Golden stream, then formatted his chakras, and then opened his Sahasrara chakra, and from him from below, as from a firework, a powerful Golden column of light rushed up.

I thought that was the end of it. I deflated everything out of them. I took all their powers, weapons, pious merits that they had taken from others. But it turned out that this is not enough. My son's teacher started calling me. She called me and said that in early September I paid for a card for the school turnstile, but for some reason I was not given card. The son got used to pass through this turnstile without this card and went to school all school year without this card. And suddenly on May 7, on Akshaya Tertiya, when I had pumped a lot of out of the asuras and had already calmed down, his teacher remembered about that card, called and began to tell me that I paid for the card in early September, but did not receive the card, and that I should now demand that I be given it. I told her that the school year had already passed, there were two weeks left, that we can dispense with this card, but she continued to insist, «You must demand the card. You paid». I tried to explain to her that I didn't care, but she kept up. And then I had an epiphany.

I thought that this is my team of the forces of light said to me, «Svetlana Vinodavani, You sure this was all over? No! Akshaya Tertiya begins. Arrange a real jolt for the asuras». My team of the forces of light first affected to my dad, and then they affected to the teacher. I have compared all this and thought: I am told that it is too early to calm down; we must continue the execution of the asuras. They say to me, «You are on the job, on duty. You are in your line of work. You forgot about it, but we know about it. We see, we know: we need to demand, we need to punish them. You paid for everything». And I remembered: indeed, in September, I paid for the card. In September 2016, this Shri Ram had pumped all my pious merits out of me. He took all my pious merits out of me in order to improve his financial situation. He had a financial crisis, his whole life was rapidly collapsing, and he almost became a complete bankrupt and homeless. He needed a big infusion of pious merits to plug the financial hole and make his business grow. And he made a big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account to his own. I thought: it was in September. I paid. I gave him all my pious merits. And I am told that I must demand to be given a card. I thought: I paid him with my pious merits, because he is my husband, but he does not fulfill his duties. He must fulfill his duties. The teacher told me that I should demand that he perform his duties. My father told me that, too. I saw it, but I had my doubts. And then I opened my desktop, and there was a screenshot with the words: «No excuses!» And then the next screenshot — «Time to strike!»

I looked at this and thought: like it or not, I'll have to strike. And I began to strike. I was pumping all of their strength, all of the pious merits taken from asuras from others. I was drawing everything out of asuras powerfully and demanded, «I paid for the card. Where is my card? I paid for the water meter change. Where is my new water meter? I paid for everything. I paid with my pious merits. Shri Ram is mine! He must come and do everything right! I demand it! I will destroy all the asuras! I'll get everything out of you!» This is how we had celebrated Akshaya Tritiya in 2019.

271. The birth of Ganesh

Akshaya Tritiya during which I demanded Shri Ram from the asuras, ended, and after that the May came to an end. June 2019 began. I was translating the text of the winter videos from Russian to English, and by June 10, when I was translating, my attention was drawn to the words in the text that there is something else. Apparently, Shri Ram wondered why I was stalling and why I did not give him a sign for our rapprochement in real life. And he was given an answer when I was translating the text through the words «there is something else» which caught my attention. That way he was told that there something else needs to be done. I did not know what else to do, but just then I watched the 1st episode of the new Vedic TV series «Shrimad Bhagavatam». There was such a story. After Parvati's marriage, her lady friends, Jaya and Vijaya, visited her at Kailash. Parvati and her lady friends went to take a bath in the lake in a secluded cave. Parvati gave orders to Nandi, Shiva's personal servant, to guard the entrance to the cave and not let anyone in. But when Shiva came there and asked Nandi to let him pass, Nandi could not prevent him and he let him pass. Parvati was angry with Nandi that he had not obeyed her order and that her bathing with her lady friends had been disturbed by the appearance of Shiva. Parvati scolded Nandi and told him that from now on she could not trust him and did not want to see him near her chambers. But her lady friends told her that it was not Nandi's fault and that everyone who lives on Kailash is a devotee of Shiva and it is their duty to obey him. They told her that none of them would dare to stop Mahadev just because it was her order, because Kailash was his abode. Her lady friends told her that she needed someone on Kailash who would only be her devotee, who would obey only her orders. And then Parvati thought that she needed a son who would obey only her. As a result, she created

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Ganesh, who in a similar situation, also guarding the entrance to this cave, did not let Shiva in. As a result, Ganesh lose his head and then received the head of an elephant.

When I looked at this story, I realized what was said in the words «there is something else». I thought: this Shri Ram is telling me, «We will be reunited, we will live in my luxurious house which has remained my house thanks to your pious merits and which is now rightfully belongs to you. We will live there together». And I watched this episode and said to him, «There you have all the people are as if your dogs; they are all obedient to your will. You will put pressure on the mind of any of them, and they will do everything you need. But who will represent my interests there? Who will protect me there and stand guard? Who will be only mine there, completely mine, so that your influences on this personality do not act in any way?» I thought that if all this is true and if, as Shri Ram says, we will live together there and have a good life, then I need my person there, at Shri Ram's house. It was June 10, and I've been thinking about it all day. And then this Shri Ram revealed to me those persons of his who serve him there in this posh house.

It happened like this. I was reciting the Hare Krishna mantra and suddenly I saw this Shri Ram on my inner screen, and from him some threads were going in different directions to some other personalities. From me to Shri Ram, a fire began to flow from above, like burning lava in a volcano. And this lava divided into different channels and went along those threads from Shri Ram to those personalities. It looked as if he was standing in the center, and around him are those who serve him there, and I let streams of my red-hot fiery lava flow through all of them. And when this lava had scanned everyone, this lava itself somehow chose one of these people who was connected with him. The lava stopped going in all the other persons and went no longer through Shri Ram, but from me directly into this person. This powerful stream of red-hot fiery lava went directly from me to this single person and filled the entirely. After that, I mentally emitted a light blue ray, a stream of energy, into this person from above, and everything inside was spinning and shining brightly. And then it all flared up and turned into a bright glowing star and was shining brightly for a long time. I thought that Shri Ram gave me all the people who serve him there, so that I would choose someone who would be only mine, I somehow chose and made this person only mine. I realized that this was a woman, and I periodically visited her on my internal screen and looked at her. She was constantly glowing like a star, and I was singing the Narasimha Maha Mantra inside her. It was June 10.

272. «I will never fall in love with another woman»

On the same day, Shri Ram said something to me through the lyrics of Roma Lieutenant's song «This is not a girl, this is a disaster». In this song were these words:

Girls like romance, grand gestures, pretty things, compliments, flowers and jewelry.

But this girl is not interested that.

These cheap tricks have no effect on her.

She isn't an empty piece of clay we can mold to our whims.

It would be easier to cross out and forget her.

This is not a girl, this is a disaster.

I will not have anything to do with someone like her, never!

She's a weird girl, but I can't help falling in love with her.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I fall more in love with her every day that passes.
I will never fall in love with another woman.
Maybe something is wrong with me.
Maybe I'm just a wimp, if only with her I feel alive.
I feel I can't live without her.
I know she doesn't even bother about me.
She's a weird girl, but I can't help falling in love with her.
I fall more in love with her every day that passes.
I will never fall in love with another woman.

In the words of this song, Shri Ram said to me, «Well, what else do you need? I promise you that I will never fall in love with another woman. You are the queen of my heart. Let's we be reunited. We will be together and will live in our nice house happily. You already have your own person in this house, only yours. You will move in with me and we will live together». But in fact, at that time, he already had another woman, a third take. When he said to me, «I will never fall in love with another woman», he hoped that this way he would assure me that there would never be another woman, that he would never fall in love with anyone else. He thought that this way he would do two things at once. Firstly, I will well behave, become more amenable. Secondly, it would not affect the presence of that other woman, who was the third take, since she was already by that time. But the song was about the future, about the fact that he would never fall in love with another woman in future.

These words had a different meaning. Other woman already was with him. She was completely satisfying him and he no longer needed other women. That's what was actually said in those words «I will never fall in love with another woman». But I was just being a stupid naive cow at the time; I took these words at face value. I thought there were no other women and there won't be. How naive I was...

Just a few days after that, on June 16, we went to see my dad. My eldest daughter, who is more than 30 years old, went with us. That day, in the evening, there was a big scandal. My dad blamed my eldest daughter's ex-husband, saying he was blame for my mom's death. My eldest daughter's ex-husband was the last person to speak to my mother on the phone before she died while she was in hospital. And my dad said that since my mom died after that phone call, it was my eldest daughter's ex-husband's fault. Of course, it wasn't his fault. He is a very good, well-mannered, tactful, cultured young man. He had a great respect for my mother, and never allowed anything in his speech to offend or excite her in any way. After that phone call in the evening, my mother went to bed and died in her sleep. No one there was to blame, and my dad was unfair to him. My daughter could not stand it, and a scandal broke, as a result of which shameful facts of the life of my parents have emerged. It turned out that when my mom reached old age, my dad told her that she was already old and not suitable for sex. He told her that since they had two rooms, she would live in one room and he would live in the other room, that he would bring some young woman who was fit for sex there and would have sex with her. That's how my dad told my mom. She had been faithful to him all her life, he was her only man, and he had said that to her when she was old.

Even then, I was shown the attitude of Shri Ram towards me. I didn't understand it, but this was already open to me. He told me through the words of the song that he would never fall in love with another woman again. In fact, he already had another woman, and he thought that she was suitable for sex, she is young, much younger than me, pretty, inviting to kisses, completely satisfying him in sex. And he thought that since he had made many vows to be with me, help me return to the spiritual world and to always protect me, then I would live in this room, that is, he would live with me, and he would have sex with her somewhere in the other room. I didn't know this at the time, but it was revealed to me through the scandal that mother is old and not suitable for sex and okay, she will live in this room, and he will live in another room with some young woman with whom he can have sex. Dad's plan did not eventuate. No one went to live with him in the room next to mom's room, and they continued to live together as if a stable couple. Even then I was shown that Shri Ram thought of me, although he sang to me quite other words.

That same evening, my eldest daughter went home, and I had a conversation with the son of my classmate, who lived in the apartment next to us. His name is Romka, like this Shri Ram, whom I also call Romka, because that's what my ex-husband jokingly called himself — Romka Petrutse. And I jokingly started calling this Shri Ram as Romka Petrutse. That evening I saw this Romka, the son of my classmate, and asked how he was living. He replied that he had studied at a military Institute and was now serving. I asked him where he serves. He said that he is in the intelligence service, and he named one of the neighboring countries where he was in the intelligence service. I praised his mother, saying that his mother was good. She is been great. She did a great job, raised him such a good, respected person that even he was taken into the intelligence service, entrusted with an important task, he is a responsible person. After this conversation, I thought that through this Romka I had communication with Shri Ram. I thought that I asked him how and where he is now, and he told me that he is in a service in intelligence. From these words, I realized that Shri Ram was in the asuric worlds and that he went as part of the asuric landing force to other planets, that is, to other countries, as that Romka went to serve in intelligence in another country. And Shri Ram went as part of the asuras' landing party from the asuric worlds to other countries, to other planets where non-asuras live.

And I said then to that Romka that his mother is been great. In fact, with these words I told Shri Ram that his mother, that is, his Shakti, that is, I am well done, because he got into this service in intelligence because I did not disown him when I was offered to break our eternal bond. When I was reviewing the 274th series, I saw that when a long time ago between lives that offer was made to me, it turns out I hesitated. I saw this in my words about the fact that if someone gets into a similar situation, then they should not cling to it, as I clung then (from 1:09:20). Yes, when I said these words, I meant that they should not cling to this eternal bond, as I clung to it. Before that, I was sure that I clung to my eternal bond with Shri Ram, that I did not want to leave him, but in the 275th series (06:45), I said these words: «I thought I was unfaithful... I gave wrong advice». There I wanted to say that I was wrong when at the end of the 274th series I said that those who fall into a similar situation should not hesitate and should to give their consent to breaking their eternal bond. In the 275th series I wanted to say that at the end of the 274th series, I gave the wrong advice. I wanted to say them not to cling to an eternal bond. But the Freudian slip turned out. I said that I was unfaithful. In 275th series, I wanted to say, «I thought I gave to these couples the wrong advice to agree to a complete break their eternal bond», but I had a Freudian slip, and I said, «I thought I was unfaithful». Instead of «I gave the wrong advice», I accidentally said, «I was unfaithful». In Russian, the word «неверный» means both wrong and unfaithful. And instead of the word «неверный» in the meaning of «wrong», I inadvertently said the word «unfaithful». I wanted to say in Russian, «Я неверный дала совет» (“I gave the wrong advice”), but said «Я неверная» («I am the unfaithful»). Instead of the word «неверный» («wrong»), I said the word «неверная» («unfaithful»). And from this I realized that when between lives some powerful personalities offered me to break my eternal bond with Shri Ram, I had doubts and was ready to accept their offer, I clung to this offer, but eventually I did not agree. It turns out that I was clinging not to our eternal bond, as I thought before, but to their offer to break it. But despite this, I eventually stayed with this Shri Ram, did not let those powerful personalities break our bond. Although I very hesitated. They showed me what he had become, and explained what it meant, and said that we would never be together. I very hesitated at the time, because in the 275th series I said that I was unfaithful, and in the 274th series I said that others in a similar situation should not cling, as I clung then. That is, it turns out that I then between lives showed myself as unfaithful. This is evident from the fact that I clung to this opportunity and thought to give my consent. And in a conversation with Romka, I told Shri Ram that his mother is been great, that is, I am been great. Why did I tell him that? Because even though I clung to that offer and was even ready to accept it, thus showing my infidelity, but still I did not give my consent, and thanks to this Shri Ram was able to perform asceticism and receive the blessing of Shiva. He was able to get out of asuric worlds and join the intelligence service to search for me in all the worlds of the material world. That's what I actually said to Shri Ram through my words to Romka that his mother is been great.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

273. A session of immersion into bliss for the asuras

At the end of June, I gave asuras a session of immersion into bliss. Once I remembered how I had it in Moscow, when the so-called Borka, a former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, plugged onto me and tried to pump my feminine energy and pious merits out of me on a regular basis. I was remembering how he was taking out of me my pious merits, how he had was arranging for me the immersion into these incomprehensible orgasms without anyone's presence and without any action to do so, without the slightest touch in some strange ways. I was remembering how I was completely spontaneously and independently of my will plunging into this bliss and could not get out of there and even move, it was so incredible sensations. I thought our bodies couldn't handle this power of bliss. I thought that our human sex and the orgasms that people experience are so flat and trite, so primitive compared to those sensations... Suddenly, for no reason, this condition was turning on, as if an orgasm, but this was lasting a very long time and not letting go. It is as if you are plunging into some abyss of pleasure, as if you are being pulled into a stream of pleasure, a whirlpool of beatitude, and you feel that it is really like an orgasm, but this orgasm does not pass. It's bliss of incredible power. The asuras at that time are siphoning pious merits from the woman, because she can not control herself and everything that she has comes out of her. And the asuras then in Moscow took many pious merits out of me during these uncontrolled orgasms without the slightest touch, in some strange ways, without the personal presence of anyone and without any actions or even thoughts about it.

This condition can catch up anywhere, and even among people, and then the only thing that can be done is to endure with all your might this bliss that has come to you from nowhere and is felt like a real orgasm. Then it remains only to endure this in order to no one will guess what is happening to you, because anyway no one will understand why you suddenly moaned or began to writhe, not having the opportunity to interrupt this and not reacting to those around you. People might think you're in a lot of pain or you're crazy. They will never guess, and you will not be able to tell them about it or just give some sign that in fact you just found yourself in the sphere of action of some orgasm that suddenly appeared by itself in your body and which only increases and increases, grabbing you and tenaciously holding you on a plateau of incredible intensity of bliss and not letting you out of its depths. And here the main thing is to keep yourself as much as possible, so that no one noticed your condition and did not want to start actively helping you. In this state, the main thing for you is not to attract anyone's attention, since you have a feeling of being in an irresistible real orgasm that lasts not a couple of seconds or even a couple of minutes, but half an hour, an hour, or even much more. And the longer this bliss lasts, the more you are drawn into greater depths of bliss. You control everything with your mind, understand everything, but all your feelings seem to have sunk somewhere inside you, and you are as if among people, but at the same time deep inside yourself in some funnel of incredible enjoyment, that inaccessible to people and is beyond their experience. You are like a turtle that has drawn in all its limbs and is frozen in this position.

I remembered this and decided to arrange such hocus-pocus for asuras. I imagined some asuras on my inner screen and remembered my immersion into that bliss, and I connected them to that bliss. And they were experiencing this bliss. I pushed on some points in their energy body that could be called erogenous, but which are not really erogenous, but are responsible for the sensation of orgasm in the body. I remembered that I had a feeling as if someone from the outside was pressing on some point that is responsible for orgasm, and just holding it and not letting go. The person plunges into a state of orgasm. This button just is hold on, and this orgasm can't stop, and it lasts and lasts. And I did the same to the asuras. I pressed some of their buttons so that they could not control themselves, so that they experienced such bliss as they had never experienced in their lives. I gave them a storm of overwhelming bliss. And I saw that everything they had was coming out of them. All their pious merits, abilities, opportunities, powers rushed of them into me when they were experiencing this bliss. It was beyond their control. I saw that it came out of them what they would never give anyone, in any torture. But as they were experiencing this bliss, they could not help but let it out. And they let out of themselves all that they had there, all their very own that they would never have parted with. But when they were experiencing this bliss, they had to part with it all.

When I was doing this, I was hissing at them in order to they tell Shri Ram to come to me, otherwise I would kill them all. I was blackmailing them all and was giving them orders that they attack Shri Ram and terrorize him, that he would as soon as possible come to me and do everything that he should do as my husband, take care of me and be with me. At about the same time, I listened to a lecture by Bhakti Vigyana Gosvami, «Narasimha katha», in which he spoke about the great asur Hiranyakashipu, who was torn by Nrisimhadev. Hiranyakashipu performed a very severe austerity and decided to free the whole world from the rule of the law of karma. He conquered all three worlds, and when he ruled, it was an amazing world. All those who did evil enjoyed, and all those who did good suffered. Those who sowed did not receive the harvest, and those who did not sow received the harvest. And the worse a person was, the better his life was. Asuras who was leading a sinful way of life shouldn't have to work off their sinful reactions. They lived an easy and luxurious life. But the righteous who observed austerities did not receive the fruits of their austerities. Somehow this was done by Hiranyakashipu. He reversed the law of cause and effect. He did something that, in General, people have been trying to do in this world for centuries. They try to somehow avoid bad consequences of their actions and want to unrestrainedly enjoy.

And I saw that the asuras have this art now too, they do this. Asuras take away from others the pious merits and enjoy the good that happens into their lives because of these pious merits, which are not really theirs. The fruits of good deeds are not received by the people who performed good deeds, but by the asuras who simply took these pious merits out of these people. One who doesn't work, does get to eat. And I, having plunged many asuras into this indescribable bliss, pulled everything out of them. This is how the asuras draw from women the pious merits, good fortune and feminine energy, because when woman is feeling this bliss, her feminine energy and pious merits comes out of her, and she can't control this. And at that time, you can get out of her everything that she would never give to anyone, all her strategic reserves of piety. That way I pulled out of the asuras all the things that they would never give to anyone for anything. I pulled out of the asuras all strategic reserves of their pious merits, abilities, and powers that had been pumped out somewhere. These asuras would not have parted with this wealth for anything, but they could not keep it, because there the bliss was indescribable. Just a little more, and all the fuses in their bodies would be cut off, and they would no longer be able to control themselves at all in this life, they would look like crazy, although they would not actually be crazy. It's just that a person can't control himself, he is immersed in this bliss and can't get out of it. He is aware of everything, but can't do anything, because he is immersed in this bliss and can't swim out of it.

And when I told about it in the 276th series, I thus threatened those asuras who consider themselves invulnerable and completely protected. I was threatening asuras that I would press such a button in their energy body that is responsible for the sensation of orgasm, and they would sink into this bliss and fly away to its depths, and I would not let my finger goes off this button. I just will push on this button, will block it in one position like this button was stuck, and then they will become as if crazy. They will not be able to do anything in the outside world. They will not be able to get out of the depths of this bliss and they will be placed in such conditions that they put others into. But no one will help them, because that button will be stuck tightly. No medicine and no techniques will help them. No strong and skillful asuras will rescue them from this pool of pleasure, and they themselves will not want to get out of there. They will lose everything they had and knew. All their dreams will be shattered. That way I threatened the asuras so that they would not too be so smug and would not looking for such trouble.

274. A Freudian slip in the story about Bhishma and Amba

In the 274th series I gave advice to the separated couples so that they would not cling in a similar situation, as I clung then. In the 275th series I accidentally said that I was unfaithful. Thanks to this after the 275th series it dawned on me that, it turns out, I did not cling to Shri Ram, but to the offer to break our eternal bond. Until 275th series, I thought that I had refused the offer, showing my marital fidelity. I was proud and admired that a great deal. I thought that at that time I was ready to give my consent to break our eternal connection, but refused this offer. I was thinking: «Well, I'm brilliant! I am great! I'm awesome! I resisted and did not let break our eternal connection, although I hesitated so much. I am a role model. I showed fidelity. I'm steadfast, faithful and devoted wife». But I was proud of this not for long. Very soon this infinite arrogance was brought down from me. It was revealed to me, what was actually spoken in the 274th series, when I said that others in such a situation should not cling, as I was clinging then.

In 275th series, I told a story from Gadadhara Pandit's book «the Secrets of the Mahabharata» about Bhishma and Amba. In this book it is said that Bhishma and Amba are the eternal, the primordial couple. When they were on the higher, paradise planets, they were also a couple, but at some point an unexpected situation happened. Bhishma with Amba lived in the higher planets. There they had other names. Amba had name Varangini and Bhishma had name Dyu Vasa. Varangini being a celestial being and had a lady friend who lived on Earth, on the middle planet of the material world. The life expectancy on the higher planets is much longer than on the middle ones, and Varangini, in order to increase life expectancy of her earthly friend, begged her husband to steal the sacred cow that belonged to the sage Vasishtha. This cow was fulfilling wishes. Varangini (who in her next birth will get name Amba) once heard that if an ordinary mortal person drank the milk of this unusual cow every day, this person could live ten thousand years. Amba (Varangini) wished to perform a good deed. She wanted to prolong the short human life of her earthly lady friend. To achieve this, she begged her husband (who in the next life will get the name Bhishma) to steal this cow from the sage. She wanted to give this cow to her beloved earth lady friend. Instigated by wife, husband could not refuse and stole this cow, and the sage cursed them for it. This is the story I revealed in my 275th series. There I said this: «I thought I was unfaithful... I gave wrong advice». I wanted to say that at the end of 274th series, I gave the wrong advice to those eternal couples who, once separated, would have received an offer to break their eternal bond. I was offered this once between lives, saying that Shri Ram and I could never be together again. At the end of 274th series, I told similar couples to accept this offer to break their eternal bond. I said that if the husband in this couple became an asur, then he commits many abominations, but these abominations are paid off by the pious merits that flow from the wife in this couple to her husband, and then she can get a bad karmic reactions because her husband did a lot of bad things at the expense of her pious merits. I said that because of this, when I came to Shri Ram, I had to experience all the bad that he did to other women, using my pious merits, and that he deserved the hellish worlds. After all, I am his Shakti, his primordial eternal wife. His Dharma, his Holy duty is to protect me, but he opened me up to everyone. He took all my pious merits out of me, and threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's death. He was giving me up, was selling me and wanted to put to me asuric initiation to make me female who cannot control herself and constantly hungry for sex. He used direct forceful methods to me. The punishment for this is the hellish worlds. And at the end of the 274th series, I said that if someone gets into a similar situation and they are given such an offer to break eternal bond, then they should agree to this offer. I thought that I refused this offer, although hesitated a lot, and that I showed marital fidelity and chastity. I thought so. But it was open to me that everything was a little different.

In 275th series, I wanted to say, «I thought I gave to these couples the wrong advice to agree to a complete break their eternal bond», but I had a Freudian slip, and I said, «I thought I was unfaithful». Instead of «I gave the wrong advice», I accidentally said, «I was unfaithful». In Russian, the word «неверный» means both wrong and unfaithful. And instead of the word «неверный» in the meaning of «wrong», I inadvertently said the word «unfaithful». I wanted to say in Russian, «Я неверный дала совет» (“I gave the wrong advice”), but said «Я неверная» («I am the unfaithful»). Instead of the word «неверный» («wrong»), I said the word «неверная» («unfaithful»). Through this impulsive mistake of mine, I was shown that in fact, in the situation between lives when I was offered to break my eternal bond with Shri Ram, I did not show any marital fidelity. Through this inadvertent error of mine, I was shown that I was unfaithful. And then in the 275th series, I said about Amba that she was cursed that she would be alone, without a husband. And about Bhishma, I said, «And he made a vow that he would be childless». In fact, there I wanted to say that he wouldn't make a husband and that he would observe a vow of celibacy, but I suddenly uttered other. I said, «He will be childless». It was a Freudian slip. When in 275th series I said «childless», I immediately thought I had said the wrong thing, and corrected this: «He won't make a husband». This word «childless», which seemed to come out of me accidentally when I was talking about Bhishma, was spinning in my head and got to the point where I remembered that I had said many times about Shri Ram, that he was childless. He had problems in his first marriage because he didn't get children, and so he thought that maybe with another woman he would have children, and due to these thoughts he drew another man into her life, and she left him for that man, although she did not intend to do it at all and did not want to. I don't know where I got it from, but I had a very clear feeling that this was the case. And when I was remembering this Freudian slip in my 275th series that Bhishma had made a vow that he would be childless, I was remembering Shri Ram's first wife, whom he had given up on because they didn't have children. And I thought that this story about Amba and Bhishma told me and Shri Ram what actually made him an asur, as a result of which we were separated from each other.

I read this story again in the first part of the book «Secrets of the Mahabharata» by Gadadhara Pandit. From the words that Amba was cursed, that she would be alone, without a husband, I saw that, it turns out, Shri Ram and I have some kind of curse: he is childless, and I am alone, without a husband. I realized that once in a far past life, before he was made an asur and before we were separated, with the inability to get close to each other, there was something because of which we were cursed when we were together as a couple. Something like happened with Bhishma and Amba when they were on the heavenly planets. She wanted to help her friend, increase her life span by giving her this heavenly cow whose divine milk prolongs life. But it was not their cow, but the cow of the sage. The sage cursed them, after which they fell to Earth. Amba fell in love with some other man, although her eternal husband was Bhishma. But that's how the curse affected her. Because the curse said she would be alone, without a husband. And this curse affected her so much that she fell in love with another man. But Bhishma took her away from the wedding ceremony where she wanted to marry that man. And as a result, she was left alone. She didn't marry anyone at all. And she went to ask everyone for justice, she was demanding to protect her honor and dignity, and even went as far as Parashurama. He gave her a blessing that Bhishma would accept her, but they were only able to reunite after one of her births, when she was born as a Shikhandini and caused Bhishma's death. Only after that they ascended to the heavenly planets, reunited there and again became a couple.

275. The curse that separated us for eternity

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that Shri Ram and I had something similar, because of which we too were cursed that he would become childless, and I would be alone, without a husband. And so this curse somehow affected him and me, that he went with some woman-asuri who seduced him, as a result of that he agreed to become an asur. After that life, I was looking for him between lives, but there was no response from him. That time some powerful personalities came to me. They showed me that he become an asur, and said that we could not be together, although we are an eternal couple. They offered me to break my eternal bond with him, they had such power. They said to me, «You will no longer depend on him, your craving for him will disappear, and your pious merits will not go away from you to him, thanks to which he there, being asur, do all sorts of abominations. Let's break this eternal bond of yours. Yes, he will be without you, without his Shakti, but it is his choice».

They offered me another eternal couple, because my svarupa, that is eternal position, is to being a wife and other positions are unnatural to me. They gave me other couple, but I refused. They told me that we could never be together again. I said that I would not betray my beloved husband and would not accept another instead him. And only now, when I was reviewing the 275th series of my novel, I understood why this happened. I refused to accept another husband and break the eternal bond with Shri Ram, because of the curse we received. I declined that offer because of the curse I received that I would be alone, without a husband. For this reason, I could not be with him. This curse would never have allowed me to be with him. This curse would never have allowed me to be with my husband. These powerful personalities suggested that I break my eternal bond with Shri Ram. They offered me other eternal husband, but I refused, although I hesitated very much and clung to their offer, as it turned out.

Prior to this awareness, I thought that then I showed faithfulness and chastity, not agreeing to this offer, and therefore I got to the higher heavenly planets, but it turns out that I did not show faithfulness and chastity. That curse acted on me in such a way that I could not agree to accept some other man, some other husband. Because I had a curse that I would be alone, without a husband. How could I agree to accept another husband if I had the curse of being without a husband? So it turns out that it wasn't me who showed such faithfulness, such fortitude, and such chastity. In this way a curse affected me. How sad this discovery was for me! I thought I was so good, but it turns out I'm not good at all.

I thought that this is why I am not in the range of preference of this Shri Ram, although he is my eternal husband, and this is why he isn't interested in me and likes other women. I thought that although we are an eternal couple, but I came to him in this life in a form that he does not particularly like, and this happened precisely because this curse worked that way. The curse affected me in this way in order to he and I could not be together, in order to I continued to be alone, in order to he always wanted other women, and in order to this curse continued to work.

But in this curse I had saw not only minuses, but also pluses, and there were many pluses. The first advantage was that I refused to break eternal bond with him and accept another husband. Because the curse didn't let me do it. I had nothing to do with it. I probably would have agreed, but I couldn't do it because of the curse. So a Freudian slip that I was wrong was correct. I was both faithful and unfaithful at the same time. I was unfaithful because I would have agreed to break that eternal bond. But at the same time I was faithful, because because of the effect of this curse, I showed chastity and did not renounce Shri Ram. The curse prevented do that. Because the curse required me to be alone, without a husband. I saw another plus in this curse. In my Mahabharata there was such an interesting character as the so-called Herr Fritz, chief of the German asuras, who was the tantric and aghori. He was completely sure that he was invulnerable, that no one could destroy him, because he had received a very tricky blessing, like the one that Hiranyakashipu received: that he could not be killed day or night, in the air or on the ground, or this way or that. And that sly German had a similar blessing with tricky, contradictory conditions. But in me, all these contradictory conditions merged together. I thought that maybe the so-called Herr Fritz had such blessing that he could be destroyed only by a woman who is faithful and unfaithful at the same time, who has a husband but does not have husband, who has several husbands at once at the same time, but at the same time she is alone. I thought that these contradictory conditions were met in one person. I am faithful because I have shown faithfulness by refusing those powerful personalities to break my eternal bond with this Shri Ram, but at the same time I am unfaithful, because if it were not for the effect of this curse on me, I would have accepted their offer. Two contradictory conditions have taken refuge in one person. I'm with my husband and without him. I have this Shri Ram, he is my husband, we had some kind of heavenly wedding, but he is not with me. He is not with me, although we interact with him at a distance, while at the same time living as ordinary people. He has known me for six years, but we have not communicated, as ordinary people do, although there were some meetings when I passed him. I thought it was because of this curse.

I thought: how is this? On the one hand, we have a curse that he will be childless, and I will be alone, without a husband, and on the other hand, he received the blessing of Shiva for our reunion. Shiva gave him this blessing. But how could Shiva give a blessing for the couple's reunion if the wife has a curse that she should be alone, without a husband? Yes, of course, Shri Ram practiced austerity, but Shiva had the right not to give this blessing. Shri Ram practiced severe austerities in the asuric worlds. He wanted to enjoy. He thought that with his Shakti he would be happy and that happiness would come to him with her. Lives in the asuric worlds, a succession of women there did not satisfy him. And he even gave up sex in order to receive this blessing and be reunited with his Shakti. But Shiva gave him the blessing in order to protect the Dharma, that is, to protect me. How did Shiva give this blessing to protect me if I was cursed to live alone, without a husband? Why did Shiva give this blessing if there is such a curse? But Shiva gave him this blessing, and Shri Ram went from the asuric worlds to the asuric landing party on different worlds of the material world, and my guiding star led him to where I am. I came here because Srila Prabhupada opened a window to the spiritual world, and I have long wanted to go to the spiritual world, because because of this curse of being alone without a husband, I suffered a lot. I have the status of a wife, because I have my eternal couple, but I was in a completely unnatural position for myself. I was alone without a husband. If this may be acceptable for ordinary women, for those who do not have a couple in the spiritual world, then for one who is primordial wife in the primordial eternal couple, this is a completely uncomfortable situation. And Shiva must have wanted to take care of me. But how could he give this blessing if there is such a curse?

I remembered a screenshot from TV series «the Mahabharata» where Krishna said, «And there is no oath, curse, or blessing that I can't destroy!» I thought that the blessing of Shiva and our eternal bond are the curse for me, because this eternal bond is, but at the same time, he is not with me, and because of this blessing, he approached me, but it made me hurt. He took all my pious merits out of me, and threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's death. He was giving me up, was selling me and wanted to put to me asuric initiation to make me female who cannot control herself and constantly hungry for sex. He used direct forceful methods to me. I thought this was a curse for me which Krishna could break: Krishna can break my eternal bond with Shri Ram, so that it doesn't weigh on me. But it turned out that in fact there is a curse that I should be alone, without a husband, and he should be childless. I thought that the curse of Bhishma and Amba ended, so in my case with Shri Ram this is also possible. After all, when Amba surrendered to Lord Parashurama, begging for His help, He assured her, «Don't worry; I will arrange everything so that Bhishma will undoubtedly accept you». This blessing came true, but not immediately. It came true relatively quickly, or rather, after the death of Bhishma and after one life of Amba, when her name was Shikhandini. When she was finally freed from the sinful desire to avenge in form of death to her primordial husband, who was born as Bhishma, she received the true fruit of Parashurama's blessing and re-united in a loving union with her eternal husband in heaven. And I thought: Shiva gave a blessing to Shri Ram for our reunion, but is this possible? We have such a curse. How can the blessing of Shiva be fulfilled in our case?

276. The trap of the material world

I learned from a story in «the Secrets of the Mahabharata» that Shri Ram and I were cursed. In «the Secrets of the Mahabharata» was a story about Amba and Bhishma, but when I began to describe it, I realized that this also applies to me and Shri Ram. I found out that I had persuaded Shri Ram to steal from some sage some magic cow who was giving some extraordinary milk. And I did it in favor of my earth friend, who had a short life span, and I wanted to help her. The road to hell is paved with good intentions. Because to do this, you had to steal cow that was someone else's. Cow belonged to some wise man; cow was helping him a lot. He was a rager that he lost his favorite cow, and he cursed us. When I found out about this, I thought that no psychologist, no psychotherapist and others like them would help me. Neither astrologers, nor healers, nor witches, nor palmists would help me with this problem. They would dig into my childhood, look for flaws in the behavior of my parents, who are not to blame for the fact that Shri Ram and I once, many lives ago, stole some cow from some sage, and we received a curse, from which everything started. What does it have to do with my parents, who became my parents in this life? But psychologists, psychotherapists, and others like them would look for a reason into this. Of course, maybe it would help me, but not fundamentally, because the root of the problem is not in this life at all, but a very, very long time ago, even before Shri Ram was made an asur, and this was many lives ago. Psychologists would never have thought that any problems in life with husbands or anything else were just because of a curse was many lives ago, and everything else is just a side effect. Psychologists and others like them could help in some way, but this curse would not go away.

I remembered a female psychologist who helped me recover from my last divorce, in Moscow, when I was depressed. I thought: how good that she didn't delve in my childhood experiences, didn't look for flaws in my parents' behavior. She just listened to me for a while, and then she gave me a box of sand. She said me to put some toys out of the box with «Kinder Surprise» toys into a box with sand called «My world». I took those toys that I wanted, and put them in the sandbox. After that I looked at the toys that I put into my world, and determined which of the toys characterizes someone in my life. Thus I identified all the toys. Looking at these toys, I began to describe them, and this description of toys revealed a lot to me about the people whom these toys characterized. Looking at them, I told a lot of interesting things about those personalities that were in my life.

That game had reconciled me with many things in my life. I am so grateful to her that she did not dig into my parents' problems in this life, which have nothing to do with that curse from distant past lives.

Alas, we are in the material world, such situations in life happen. Shri Ram and I, being an eternal couple, were punished by eternal separation. And while you are in the material world, the danger of such situations does not go away. And the root of some standard, constantly recurring situations can not be found in this life and it is impossible to correct, being limited by categories and frames of one this life. Psychotherapy will also not be able to help figuring out who plays what role in the family or in some relationship. There are so many promises, that psychotherapy will help you find out what the cause of the problem is, understand the nature of your feelings, live in harmony in the family, change the traumatic relationships between generations, experience real love in reality, determine the cause of suffering and find a way out of them, become yourself and live happy life. But do you even know who you are? I also thought that what I see around me is the real state of things. But my magic videos began to reveal to me the secrets of my own distant past, to reveal to me the pages of my past lives. No psychotherapy will show what my magic videos showed me.

Someone is trying to find the root of the problem by using past-life regressions. It is widely believed that with the help of past-life regressions we can heal the fear of death, the loss and grief, heal physical symptoms, get in the harmonious mood, and regain joy and happiness. But if you have not corrected the mistakes of your past lives, if you have not removed the curse, then, of course, to some extent you can adapt to this life and to heal some physical symptoms, but the root of problem will not be torn out, and the problem will still be. Even if we went to those psychologists who believe in reincarnation and are able to do past-life regressions, it is still unlikely that they would get to the life when the curse was made, because it was a very, very long time ago. All the steps taken have proved fruitless. Yes, of course, this kind of help is good too, but it's like a medicated patch on a deep abscess. It rots deep in the tissues of the body, and the patch was simply glued on top so that abscess could not be seen, but this problem did not go away. And even this is a disservice, when medicated patch is stacked on top of abscess and a person thinks that everything healed, because nothing can be seen, but in fact there is still rot inside and at some point this abscess could kill. Because karma will come out anyway. If they want to avoid karma in this place, it will come out in another place.

I thought that neither psychologists nor psychotherapists could have helped us. They could not help him or me. They could dig into the intricacies of karma, but how could they really help us? Many of them do not even perceive such a phenomenon as reincarnation, and dig only in this one life, in the childhood of this one and only life. But how many of these lives have we had? The root of the problem may not be in this life, but in past lives, at many lives back. No psychotherapist would have thought of such a thing. And if someone had told psychotherapist about past lives, he would have found something to say to lead everything into the more familiar narrow limits of this one life, some few years of this body.

I used to think I was the one who came to save Shri Ram. I wanted to go from the material world to the spiritual world, and I came to give him a chance to go with me. And I thought I was his savior. I came to save him from a completely disconsolate search for me in all the worlds of the material world, when he left the asuric worlds to look for me. I thought I saved him. But it turns out that he saved me. I simply refused to accept the offer of those powerful personalities, when between lives they offered to break my eternal bond with Shri Ram and gave me another husband. I only refused their offer, thus showing faithfulness and chastity. In fact, I was just under the influence of this curse, because if I had agreed, then they would have given me another husband, but I was not supposed to have a husband according to this curse. So this curse prevented me from giving up this Shri Ram and accepting another husband. This curse forced me not to agree to that offer. Because this is the only way this curse could be implemented, because in this case we would continue to be an eternal couple, but we would be at a great distance from each other and could not get closer to each other. In this case I would have had a husband, but I would have been alone, without him. And I before thought that I was so good that I refused their offer. Nothing like that! This was necessary to implement the curse, so I refused.

And Shri Ram began to perform austerities while in the asuric worlds. It was his decision. He refused sex, went through a fiery ordeal, made a lot of vows to get the blessing of Shiva, and thanks to this it became possible that I began to give him a chance for our reunion and began to reveal how it all was. He saw with his own eyes how he was made an asur. He saw this when I highlighted for asuras one asur-recruiter who in past lives wanted to possess me, because of which he began to tear Shri Ram from me away. As a result of the actions of that asur-recruiter, Shri Ram was turned into an asur. And Shri Ram saw it with his own eyes when I had highlighted for asuras the recruiter and when asuras had pulled from him all his life files for all past lives. And in these life files for all past lives, Shri Ram himself, with his own eyes saw how he was turned into an asur. He saw it through the eyes and thoughts of that recruiter. Because Shri Ram saw life files for all past lives of that asur-recruiter. And so much has been revealed just because Shri Ram did this austerity and received this blessing; otherwise it would not have happened. And it turns out that I'm not his lifeguard, but he's my lifeguard. And it's not his fault; it's my fault, because he stole that magic cow, giving in to my persuasions.

I felt so sad. I can't blame him now. It's my fault. Psychologists would not solve this problem in any way, even if they applied the method of past-life regression, immersion in past lives. Even if they found the root of this problem. Because in the material world there is always a danger of getting into something bad again. Because of that curse, he was forced to become an asur, but somehow we approached to each other, so what? He paid his Shakti many great insults because of which Shiva told him that this was a crime, and this crime was inexcusable, and for this crime he should be punished. And how many times I almost killed him! So many times I have been on the verge of destroying my own eternal husband, my eternal couple, and a new round of sorrowful living in the material world with such sinful actions would begin. The trap of the material world. And so in the material world always. Therefore, the only correct way out is simply to leave the material world and to return to the spiritual world.

277. There is no reason to lose extra pounds

In my videos, I poured out my feelings and thoughts that came over me when it was revealed to me that Shri Ram and I were separated as a result of a curse. Before that, in my videos, I described what happened in the summer of 2019. I have already told about the events that I had in June, and reached the events of July. In the 279th series, I continued to describe the events of July 2019. That July I started with regrets that I got very fat. Of course, I am not a body, but a soul, but still, when I was looking at my image in the mirror and putting on clothes that became too small for me, I was very upset. I thought maybe I should go on a diet and lose my extra weight. But then I decided I wasn't going to go on a diet. I thought that these realizations in my novel put me in a very sad mood and I have to delight myself with delicious food. I thought that, first of all, Shri Ram told me that he would not leave me and that he would be with me, and secondly, Shri Ram saw me when I was much slimmer and more beautiful, but still, I was not good enough for him not to look at other women. I was slim and pretty and wore clothes that now became too small for me, but he still decided to destroy me. He took all my pious merits out of me, and threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's death. And I thought that if he didn't feel sorry for me at that time when I was much cuter and slimmer, then why should I deny myself sweet and delicious food that lifts my mood? Why should I do this? There is no reason! There is no difference whether I'm slim or fat, because I've seen his attitude to me. There is no reason to lose those extra pounds at all.

And when I thought about it, it occurred to me that the asuras are usually handsome men. They look as very lovely, handsome, witty and charming men. They can appear friendly and credible. When they are born among us, they have pleasant visage. And I thought: all these asuras are handsome. Noble pirates... They look as cultural, inspiring, confidence men. I thought: asuras, you are so handsome, but what do you think about women? You did not regret me when I was very pretty. Because of that I had to be too stressed. I began to eat lots and have become too fat. And I thought: they will pay me for this!

I wanted so much to burn out their filthy eyes by which they look so filthy at women, and I immediately imagined a big group of asuras on my inner screen and began to burn out their eyes, thinking that they think about women in the same way as this my Shri Ram. He did not feel sorry for me, although I looked much nicer. I was slim and much more attractive then, but he didn't feel sorry for me, not a bit. I thought these asuras are just like he. I thought: I will burn out their filthy eyes, by which they use to look at women like this, thinking that women are not people, but objects and that they can be destroyed. I from my eyes mentally emitted a powerful pillar of fire into them.

And then I remembered how I once went to a shop at the Akademicheskaya metro station in Moscow. It was a small shop, and there was an ordinary saleswoman, an average woman, like everyone else. And while I was choosing what to buy, some guy came in and started insulting her. He began to tell her, without being shy of anyone: «You're ugly and old. Stare at your own tits, you fat pig. Your pendulous and floppy tits are hanging from you, flapping every which way». She had normal tits, like everyone else, but he had insulted her like that. And this stream of obscenities flowed and flowed from his mouth. She stood and was silent. I felt sorry for this woman: she just stands there, works. What a shop owner gives her is a pittance. And this rude man came in and told her so vile. I said to him, «Do not humiliate woman so much. Something at you can become hanging and drooping». And I thought, «Krishna, make it his penis becomes a limp and floppy so that he has nothing to be proud of. Let his dick just won't work anymore. Let his cock just won't stand up anymore».

And then, when I was burning these asuras on my inner screen, I remembered about this case and thought that these handsome asuras are proud of their sexual abilities and do not respect women, like that guy in the store. They are all handsome, but they look at women with such disdain, and I decided: asuras, right now I'll get you for this!

I thought: these asuras are proud of their beauty, their abilities and sexual victories, but I will make it so that they will have nothing to be proud of. I mentally went right into their penis and began to suck everything from there into me. I began to suck all their vital energy, all their masculine force, everything what they had in penis, in their balls, and in their belly, where Svadhithana-chakra. I sucked it all out of them like a vacuum cleaner, by a continuous stream. Out of them, everything was rushing into me as if into a black hole in space, into wormhole. I thought: asuras will pay for the fact that they treat women like this. I was much prettier, but Shri Ram did not spare me, he treated me like some kind of a doormat, although I am a normal pretty nice woman. And I sucked everything out of those asuras, and then I put napalm in there and burned everything there. Because I really don't like my image in the mirror: I'm too fat. And I grew fat because of Shri Ram: he did not spare me. I thought about these asuras: there will be nothing more to be proud of. They can't do anything else. Yes, that's how cruel I am. Women can be cruel when they are wronged. Shri Ram offended me. I can't hurt him in any way, because he's my eternal husband. But the asuras must pay me for this, and so I take my payment for such affront to my person.

I thought it is useless to try to look beautiful. He had a lot of good women, and I couldn't keep up with them. I'm neither more than the pygmy compared to them, I'm no one at all, but he didn't feel sorry even for them. He also destroyed them when the period of pleasure ended. He didn't feel sorry for anyone, so why think about getting prettier if he didn't feel sorry for women who were much better than me? This is completely illogical. He put them at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from them. For example, the woman he was with all summer 2016, the first take, the so-called duchess, as I called her. When he had a financial collapse, his love for her passed away and he saw that he as a beggar was completely uninteresting to her. He saw that she would try to get rid of him delicately somehow, when he would live at her expense, becoming a fatal loser. And he decided that he would erase her. And he started selling her at the energy plane of existence. He decided that he all summer spent a lot of money on her, took her to restaurants, gave her expensive gifts, and spent a lot of time on her. He spent a lot of money on her. And after that he had wanted to compensate somehow this money which were spent for her, and decided: «Now I will put her on sale. Asuras will look at this good specimen of human female at our mental catalog, and there will be many willing who will pay for sex with her, which will be through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. She will masturbate. I will plug onto her the asuras who bought her. They'll fuck her during her masturbation, and she won't even know it. Women are so stupid. They know nothing about us, about the asuras. They do not even guess that there are some asuras who can plug onto women at the energy plane of existence. They do not even guess that these asuras can fuck her, even when she just masturbates, in solitude, in the silence of her house. And this woman is the same naive stupid fool. She will masturbate, and during her female masturbation I will establish a connection between other men and her. These men will enjoy her during her female masturbation and during her female orgasm they will do the withdrawal of the pious merits from her piety account. And gradually they will erase her. At least it'll make up for what I spent on her. Let she earn back what I spent on her. I spent so much money on her! I was offering her expensive gifts and was inviting her to expensive restaurants. We went to upscale restaurants, private concert venues, and posh hotels. I was buying her dear flowers. I had to expend a lot of time, efforts and money. Let these asuras, fools, buy sexual favors and at distance fuck her, at the energetical connectivity. I'll try in order to she wanted to satisfy herself sexually. I will press to the women energetical centers in her subtle body. I will do manipulation of her mind. I will make her think that for health she needs sex. She is unlikely to go to other men, but I will make her masturbate. I will plug those fools-asuras onto her. I will place her to asuric mental catalogue. I will include into the file with her description the mental pictures when she was naked in front of the mirror. I will put there pictures, how I saw her naked, how I had sex with her, how she reacted during sex and what she was like during sex. Many asuras will want to taste sex with such a specimen of human female at sex. How is it so funny! She has high standards of self-respect as a woman, but I'll sell her like a whore in a brothel. She thinks very highly of herself, but many asuras will fuck her like a slut. And she won't even guess about it because this will be connectivity through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. This is similar to how create a network connection to connect the system to an access point. Asuras will want to fuck her and they will pay me by pious merits which they pumped out somewhere. I spent way too much time and money to her. She has to pay for the damages. I can't get back those hours of my life, but she will give me a refund. She will masturbate, and I will receive pious merits from those asuras who will fuck her during her female masturbation in solitude, in the silence of her house. And thanks to these pious merits, I will receive many opportunities in life and I will have a lot of luck, I will be very successful. I need to know that it wasn't all for nothing». He was pressing her mind, through distance, being far from her, at the energy plane of existence. He manipulated her mind, inspiring her with the idea that she needs sexual release, orgasm to be healthy. She masturbated under his mental pressure, completely unaware that these thoughts about sex for health are not her thoughts. She masturbated, completely unaware that these thoughts are the mental order to her from the wonderful man with whom she spent such a happy summer. He was no longer with her, sex was not necessary to her, as well as masturbation, but he did not let go of her mind and pressed, on a mental level. Through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence he was giving the mental order to her mind so that she would masturbate. And she began to masturbate, for health. And at this time he was plugging asuras onto her, and they were fucking her through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and were pumping out of her the pious merits. He wanted to erase her completely, because she just didn't want to waste her life on a man who was a fatal loser. I thought that he did not spare even such a woman, put her at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from her. Asuras erase women, forcing them to somehow satisfy themselves sexually that the woman had an orgasm. And when she has orgasm, asuras can pump out pious merits of her. They can pump out pious merits long, gradually, but can pump out all pious merits at once. And they can pump out pious merits of woman gradually and erase her, and when this woman remains without pious merits then she will go to the worst scenario in her life. Asuras are doing a withdrawal of the pious merits from piety account of women. This is similar to how fraudsters empty out the bank accounts of honest citizens. The fraudsters transfer the funds into the new bank account into their control. Similarly, fraudsters-asuras transfer funds from woman's piety account to their piety accounts. Gradually asuras will erase her. They will take all her pious merits. They will completely empty her stock of piety. When they would have sucked out most of the so-called duchess pious merits for these masturbations of hers, she would have lost everything. She would have fared much worse than I do now. Her piety account will become empty; she will be without pious merits. Problems, failures will begin in her life. No one can help her. All her friends and relatives will turn their backs on her. Everyone that she care about will turn from her. The troubles will fall on her from everywhere, and she will not be able to fix anything, because all this will happen to her due to the fact that she will not have pious merits, her stock of piety will be devastated and she will have to work off her sinful karma within very stricter conditions, without the mitigation by pious merits. And this will be the darkest of times for her. Many bad will happen to her, but the so-called duchess would not have known that the terrible situations in her life, which like a snowball would be falling at her from everywhere, would be the result of the activities of wonderful man, who was with her one summer. She would not have known that he is cause of her endless misfortunes, that it was he who devastated her reserve of piety and deprived her of all favorable opportunities and good living conditions. And when he had put her at the process of the erasure, at the process of forgetting, he didn't care what will happen to her. I thought that he did not regret such women, he erased them, so it is pointless to try to look beautiful. It makes no sense.

278. Destruction in the course of performing one's own duty is better than engaging in another's duties, to follow another's path is dangerous

When I was translating the story about this woman from Russian to English, how he put her at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from her, I wanted to know what would have happened to her if she had stayed with him. What would have happened to her if she had behaved better and he hadn't put her on erasure and if he even started living with her. And the answers came to me when I was translating the story about her. When I was inserting words for translation on the «Reverso» website, I was getting a list of different translation variants, and from these variants I saw a picture of what possible scenario would be waiting for her if she lived with him. It was revealed to me that at the beginning of their life together, she would have got into some kind of accident, and she would have had big health problems. And after a while, she would start urinary incontinence during sex. And after sex, she would always have postcoital cystitis and all sorts of unpleasant symptoms that happen with thrush. At first she would be embarrassed that she had urinary incontinence during sex, and then she would struggle with cystitis and yeast infection after each sexual act with him, she would try to be treated, but nothing would help her, because no woman could be happy with him. Something bad had to happen. Her sexual desire would not be lost, and everything would be fine in sex, except for urinary incontinence, but after each coitus she would have cystitis and this would be so sore and burning that she would gradually begin to reduce their sex life to nothing. Sex in their lives would have ended completely. And since he would need sex, he would get rid of her and find other woman, and she would be left alone. This is her possible scenario I was shown. This does not mean that she will have such a scenario with every man. This is the possible scenario only with him, because such a unique combination, such a combination has developed. With other man, she would have a different picture, a different scenario. Every time a completely new scenario. But with him her scenario would be like that. I thought: how sad it is! She, being an aristocratic woman, would have suffered such physical suffering if she had been with him. And she would be alone. I thought: the so-called duchess would be erased; he would have erased her anyway. He would have gotten rid of her, because without sex, he would have been completely uninterested in her, and would have put her at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from her. He would erase her, such a gorgeous woman.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that all his relationships with women brought him only misfortune as a result. With the so-called duchess on the physical level, everything would have gone wrong. She would have been very upset about it, it would be very annoying him, and it would have ended, he would put her at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from her. He would begin to sell her at the energy plane of existence. The scenario of his married life with his second wife would be approximately the same. I was shown this when I was translating history about her. At some point in their married life, she would become hated for him in sex. Even the thought of having sex with him led her into indescribable horror. She would be tormented by bouts of nausea after every sexual act with him. She would be afraid of sex with him and would try to avoid it in every possible way, finding any reasons. Even his touch would have disgusted her. But she would continue to live with him, because somehow she had to live. But he as a male would have been repulsive to her. The so-called duchess would not have this, she would simply have a physical problem in the form of postcoital cystitis, urinary incontinence during sex, and yeast infection after each sexual act. His second wife would have no problems with the body, but the very thought of having sex with him would cause her panic, as he as a male would become disgusting to her. And Krishna made it so that she met another man with whom she felt good.

His married life with his first wife was wonderful, but he disavowed her himself, because they had no children. He thought that with another woman he would have children, and due to these thoughts he drew another man into her life, and she left him for that man, although she did not intend to do it at all and did not want to. But she was forced to do it, because on a mental plane of existence, he had already given up on her, he already wanted as quickly as possible to look for other woman, hoping that another woman will give birth to his children. His third wife was the victim of her over-active libido. She could not control her body and her raging libido. And she slept with everyone. He cheated on her, too. I told about it using the example of a dog that lived with us in the previous place. That dog barked at everyone. That dog sat in the apartment, and if someone slammed a door somewhere far away, even on the tenth floor, it barked like a mad. That dog barked at everything, couldn't help but react. And his third wife was the same. She barked, so to speak, at all the men who appeared in the area of her vision. She as if barked at them with her female organ. It seemed that she slept with everyone on the planet. And that dog did not like it when people went by cutting corners, when they went not on the sidewalk, but cut diagonally across the grass. Dog was attacking these people and even bit them. And from these words, I realized that this Shri Ram was cheating on his third wife. Some women wanted to be with him, and he was letting them that, but his third wife did not like it very much. They'd been cheating on each other. Their marriage ended.

Lona, the second take, would make him the impotent. He would become impotent both as a male, and as a person, and as social and financial unit. He would have lost his home, his business, his ability to think logically, to draw correct conclusions, and then he would have lost his body, and would have gone into disembodied existence as a ghost, a spirit, without the pious merits for buy the opportunity being born a man. About his possible life with the third take, with the woman with whom he was this summer of 2019, it was also revealed to me after, through a conversation with my lady friend, from her words about her Riga lady friend who came to visit her. Just when it was revealed to me that all this summer this Shri Ram had another woman, a third take, friend from Riga came to my lady friend. And it so happened that from my lady friend's words about that Riga lady friend, I learned what the third take was and what life would have been like for Shri Ram with her. That Riga lady friend came with her husband. Riga lady friend had a good husband. He had a big business in Riga, they had a big luxury house on the Riga seaside, a luxury apartment in Riga, he had a lot of connections, and he was an important man. But some time ago, he had a stroke, not very strong, because he brought her from Riga by car. And this Riga lady friend, did not hesitate of her husband, sitting next to him, said that when he will have the repeated stroke, she would give him to nursing home or hospice. She interested the financial situation of the man who befriends my lady friend for five years. This Riga lady friend asked how this man lives, what his apartment is, what his pension is, how rich he is. As soon as she realized that he was poor as a church mouse, she immediately forgot about him, as if he did not exist at all. My lady friend lamented that her Riga lady friend was so self-serving and ruthless. Her husband was a good man; he loved her all his life. He lived with her all life, did everything for her, and took care of her. She had never worked, lived with him an easy and luxurious life, but she, not embarrassed, said right in front of him that after his second stroke she would take him to a nursing home or hospice. This is what Shri Ram would get with a third take, a third woman. She was a gorgeous woman, really good in bed, but he would have had a stroke, because even though he is an asur, but his body is human, material body. And she would have found other man, and he would have been left alone, broken by a stroke and useless to anyone.

I thought: this Shri Ram is a handsome man, because asuras are usually very handsome, attractive men. They all look very good. But with every woman, he would have had some kind of tragedy at the end. I remembered the words from the Bhagavad Gita (Chapter 3, verse 35): «It is far better to perform one's prescribed duties, even though faultily, than another's duties perfectly. Destruction in the course of performing one's own duty is better than engaging in another's duties, to follow another's path is dangerous». I thought I wasn't as pretty, not as posh as those women, but I'm his Shakti. And it is better for him to perform his own duties: to be with me, even if I am not like them, than to perform others' duties perfectly: than to be with others, because this way is dangerous. And even though I felt sorry for him, I thought: it's a fate. I'm not his choice, I'm his destiny.

He would have something wrong with every woman. And after all, these women are interesting, and when they started a relationship with him, most likely, they thought about good things. As they say at positive thinking: think about the good, and everything will be fine. As soon as you allow yourself to think well about what surrounds you, you will magically find yourself where you have been striving for a long time, and you will really like it there. But it was with him that these women could not have anything good, in spite of any superpositive thinking. And all because he left his Shakti, me. Yes, he did it under the influence of a curse that I should be alone, without a husband, but he left me, even though I am his Shakti, the eternal couple, and he is my eternal husband. He must protect me. And because of this, all his relationships with all women led to tragedies, no matter how positive their thoughts, intentions, and desires were. Everything would lead to tragedies, no matter how interesting, beautiful, or successful those women might be. For his second wife, he would become unpleasant, although he was always pleasant, but suddenly, at some point in their family life, he would become disgusting to her like a man. For the so-called duchess, the first take, he would not disgusting, everything was good, and she would want sex with him and could and all would work as it should, but during and after sex she would have started so great physical trouble that she had to finish with their sex life, and he would have her erased. The third wife cheated on him with other men, and he cheated on her. Lona would have made him the impotent, homeless, and then sent him into the life as ghost. Therefore, you can be a million times positive person, but if some person are destined to fail, then no positive thoughts and wishes will do anything until person understand the reason and correct it.

Psychotherapists and psychologists would not help those women or him. They wouldn't get to the real reason. They, of course, would have searched the reason in childhood, would have found out why this happens — because parents behaved badly, offended him or her in some way, set the wrong example or something else. But what does it have to do with parents, poor, unhappy spiritual souls who like all of us are trapped in the material world? They are as much victims as everyone else. Why put all the blame on them? All sorts of different psychics and others like them would not help either, since he once, in past lives, abandoned his own Shakti, and no attempts by psychics, the wise women and witches would bear fruit, since no cleansing, no removal of witchcraft would ensure the removal of punishment from him for abandoning his Shakti, and would not allow him to have happiness with other women when his Shakti is without him, alone. They could help others who don't have an eternal couple, who can have only partners for a while, for a lifetime, for two, three, ten lives or so. But Shri Ram and I are the eternal couple. We were a couple in the spiritual world before we fell into the material world. And no psychics or witches could have made it possible for him to have happiness with other women when his own Shakti, his eternal mate, is without him, and for the reason that he had abandoned her, even if it had been the result of the curse. But he did it. And so no one could help him or those women who wanted to find happiness with him. It's just unreal. So neither he nor the women with him could be happy.

279. To make a fool do what you want, you don't need a knife. Just tell a fool about happiness, and your job's done

Then I remembered something that happened to me back in Moscow. I suddenly remembered something that no one would have noticed. When I lived with my previous husband, suddenly I as if forgot how to cook. Before that, I was fine with cooking, but at some point all food began to burn and become too salty. Everything began to fall out of my hands. I began to have hit my elbows on the doors in. This, of course, is a trifle, but this July I began to think that this is not a trifle, but the result of the fact that Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, robbed me then. He plugged once onto me and through my then-husband was present invisibly in our marital sex, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. I remembered the moment when it happened, because there is a difference in ordinary and non-standard behavior during sex that goes beyond the capabilities of a certain man. I realized that Borka then pulled out of me a lot of my pious merits, as a result suddenly I as if forgot how to cook, things began to fall out of my hands by itself, I began to have hit my elbows on the doors and my then husband suddenly went to another woman. After all, this depends primarily on the amount of pious merits.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And then I thought that Shri Ram had also robbed me. I remembered that this Shri Ram wanted to press me at the very beginning of our invisible interaction, even when I did not know anything about this and when he himself personally did not plug onto me, but already wanted to pump my feminine energy and pious merits out of me on a regular basis. At first he thought that I would have sex with a man who lived in nearby apartment. Shri Ram through distance, at the energy plane of existence tried to press me to sleep with a neighbor, but I did not succumb to it, and then he decided to take advantage of one situation. I wanted to sue my second husband so that he returns my property to me. I asked someone I knew for help at finding a lawyer, and she came to me with one man. This man very insistently offered me to do everything without a trial. He said that I need to hire the thugs. They would beat my second husband, would break his arms and legs, and no lawyers would be needed. He tried very hard to persuade me to do this, but I refused. I decided to use legal methods, but I didn't sue, because my second husband returned my property to me.

But when they were leaving after a conversation, he was saying something, and I insert my word in his long tirade and then said to him, «I'm Sorry I interrupted you». I remembered this and thought: it was Shri Ram who wanted to take advantage of my blunder to get access to me, but I interrupted his plans. I said him this through my words to the man who offered to hire the thugs to beat my second husband. I said that I apologize for disturb his monologue and interrupting him. It was attack of Shri Ram on me. He wanted to steal my pious merits. He wanted to make this happen on a regular basis. I did not have sex with anyone and was not going to do it, and he wanted to get permission to press me with his own methods, taking advantage of my unrighteous act. And he very much was pressing me through that man in order to I agreed to hire the thugs to beat my second husband. Shri Ram was looking at me through the eyes of that man and counting on me to give the permission to hire the thugs.

When I realized this, I really felt quite distressed. I thought: he wanted to steal from me the remaining pious merits, although Borka had already robbed me in Moscow and I was left alone with my children, without housing. Shri Ram did not feel sorry for me, although I was renting an apartment, alone raising my children, and was in a difficult situation. I thought: what cruelty... not to feel sorry for a single woman raising two small children who go to kindergarten. I didn't have my own home and rented an apartment. Shri Ram tried very hard for me to make the mistake. He wanted me to agree to hire the thugs in order to they broken arms and legs of my second husband. And for this unrighteous deed, Shri Ram was going to bend me, taking advantage of my unrighteous move. This would give him permission to attack me. Then he would have brought down all his methods on me and would have pressed me. But I interrupted his plans. I said to the man, «I'm Sorry I interrupted you». Yes, I said this to the man, asking for forgiveness for inserting my word in his long monologue. But in fact, with these words, I apologized to Shri Ram, as if I said to him, «I apologize, that I didn't give you the opportunity to get permission to pumping of my pious merits out of me. I apologize, that I didn't give permission to that person for such an unrighteous, dirty work, thanks to which you could get permission to do to me whatever you want».

But after a while, he was able to bend me. This happened when I registered on a Dating site. Shri Ram thought that he would drive me some man with whom I would have sex in real life. He wanted to plug onto this sex at the energy plane of existence and he wanted through the body of the man with whom I would go to bed, to fuck me. He wanted to do it to me, but I did not give in to it, and at some point he was able to encourage me to satisfy myself in masturbation. Of course, he would like me to have sex in real life with someone, because then everything would feel better than in masturbation, because through the penis of that man, he would feel everything as it really is, but I did not give in. And I even on masturbation no longer succumbed. But even at that one time, he took quite a lot of pious merits out of me. Of course, he took a lot for him, in order to his affairs developed well, and he allocated a share of pious merits to asuras from his asuric organization, to improve their business. Everyone has their own problems, and all problems are solved when pious merits come, everything is covered by pious merits. Everything must be paid for in this world, and all favorable conditions in life are paid for by pious merits. And Shri Ram, having stolen a lot of my pious merits, developed both his affairs and the affairs of his asuras.

He stole a portion of pious merit from me, which resulted in reduction of my pious merits, and this caused a sharp deterioration in my situation. That time I rented an apartment. The apartment was large, clean, bright, in a good location, next to the kindergarten, three schools, and a lot of shops. A good large kitchen, no cockroaches, convenient transport. The owner of the apartment was very good, kind and accommodating. I was specifically looking for an apartment so that there were no problems with the owner of the apartment, so that I was comfortable with him and that I did not worry about anything, and I was lucky then. But after this Shri Ram bent me to masturbation and was able to steal a portion of my pious merits, the owner of the apartment went to England for a long time, and instead, his mother-in-law became managing everything. She was snapping at me about the stupidest things. I was sorry to change the apartment, because everything there suited, and I had to endure her attacks. But when it came time to enroll children to school, Krishna arranged for me to buy an apartment. The apartment was much worse than the one we rented. I bought a teeny-tiny apartment with a lot of cockroaches. When Shri Ram saw me through someone's eyes and found out that I had bought an apartment here, he was very surprised. He took a lot of pious merit out of me, and my situation should have worsened, and it did get worse, but at the same time Krishna arranged it so cunningly that it got worse, but at the same time it got better, because this is no longer a rented apartment, but my own. It was a blow for Shri Ram. He had not expected such a trick from Krishna. He thought that withdrawing the pious merits from my piety account would make my situation much worse, and it turned out that the conditions had indeed deteriorated, but I bought an apartment. Shri Ram didn't feel sorry for me. He did not regret lonely woman with two small children. He was sure that my life was going to get very bad, because I was renting an apartment, but he stole a lot of pious merits from me.

I was very upset, remembering that time and thinking about that indifference to the fate of a defenseless woman in a difficult situation. I thought I was robbed, and completely invisibly. No one approached on the street, nobody threatened me with a knife, and no one said, «Your money or your life?» Asuras simply made it so that the woman received sexual satisfaction, as a result of which her pious merits were stolen from her. It's really cool way of breaking into the safe. No one even knows about this. Everyone thinks sex is good. And there is an opinion that it is necessary to sexually satisfy yourself and that sex is useful for health. But it is not specified for whose health sex is useful. In fact, sex is useful for the health of the asuras, who are able to plug onto people and pump out pious merits out of them. A good robbery's a fast and inconspicuous robbery. In fact, sex is useful not only for health of asuras, but also for everything else, since everything in this life we get at the expense of pious merits. Through pious merit, we gain good health, a long life expectancy, good luck in life, money, a good birth in a good family, good parents, a nice appearance, and a happy childhood. They say that a happy childhood is available to everyone. This is a lie. A happy childhood is available only to those who have enough pious merits to purchase this happy childhood. The Beatles used to sing that «Money can't buy love». This is also a lie. In the material world, everything is bought and sold, including love, however, not for the money that we have in our wallet or Bank account, but for the pious merits. We can buy even love, if we have a sufficient amount of pious merits in our piety account. And the more expensive love you want to buy, the more pious merits you will have to give to buy this love. Therefore, when they say that sex, orgasm is good for health, in fact, there is a lot of ambiguity. First, for whose health is sex good? If during your sex or masturbation, your pious merits were stolen from you, completely unnoticed by you, then it is clear that this is not for your health at all, because health will be bought not for you, but for someone else at the expense of these pious merits. Well, secondly, sex, orgasm is good not only for health, but for everything else, too. This slogan, very useful for asuras who are able to plug onto people and extract pious merits from them, most likely, was embedded by asuras into our society.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

As they say, to make a fool do what you want, you don't need a knife. You just need to tell him about happiness, and your job's done! The tale of happiness, and he's yours. You do whatever you want to him.

280. Fatal fault

I remembered that in the winter of 2014, I refused Shri Ram through that man, when he wanted to get me to agree to break my second husband's arms and legs. Shri Ram needed my consent to this lawlessness, so that he would have the full right to conduct lawlessness towards me, pumping my pious merits out of me completely unhindered and more not expecting any consent. Yoga believes that in addition to our physical body there is a subtle body composed of nadis (channels) and chakras (energy centres). He would have pressed the right button in my energy centers. As a result of this the irresistible urge for sex would turn on at me, because permission for lawlessness would have already been given. But I told him, «Sorry, to interrupt you». He had the plan to see my wrong move and to get access to me, but I interrupted this plan. He was hoping that I would do the wrong move and it would untie his hands. I didn't the wrong move at the time, but he did bend me once after that, and drained me of a portion of pious merit. Without pious merit, I would have lost everything I had. He was sure that I would fall to the bottom of my life. I thought: he is spiteful, heartless, perverted monster. He treated me as a woman who does not deserve at least some good attitude. I was a single woman raising two small children, without a home. He showed me no mercy. I thought: if he comes to me and we live together, how will I treat him, knowing all this? Most likely, I will treat him as moneybag whom Krishna gave me so that I can live well. I must to live with a man who wanted to destroy me and who treated me so badly that he didn't feel sorry for me in such a vulnerable state. How can I forgive this? And how can I be with such a person? He wanted to erase me and he didn't even feel sorry for my children. He wanted to take advantage of my wrong move to erase me, pumping my pious merits from my piety account. Without my pious merits, which he planed to deflate from me, I would lose even what I had, although I had nothing but small children.

I remembered the woman he was with in the summer of 2016, the so-called duchess, the first take. She was a very good woman, much better than I was, but later he put her at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from her. He took advantage of her slip. She got caught because she started a relationship with him. She didn't know he had wife. Yes, there was no one in his life in real life, but I was his wife. She met him in the summer of 2016, and that same spring, he told me «Be my wife, become my wife» and we had some kind of heavenly wedding. Outwardly, he looked like a completely free man, but in fact, he was married. But that woman didn't know that. She did not know that this wonderful man, who does not have any woman in real life, actually already has a wife and even had some kind of heavenly wedding, in some illusion. That woman saw that the man is not married, lives alone, does not sleep with any women, positions himself as a free man, and she went into a relationship with him. She couldn't have known all this, but she broke the law. She had violated other people's borders, although she had no such intention or desire. And thereby she has given him free rein. She gave him permission to erase herself because she went into a relationship with a married man. And then, when his being in love has burned away as a result of the financial crisis, he put her at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from her. He began to sell her, bending her consciousness to the consent that the sexual release is necessary for health. Their relationship ended, but he pressed her mind, completely imperceptibly to her, in order to she began to masturbate. He performed a manipulation of her consciousness and began to sell sessions with her masturbation to asuras at the energical connectivity. He would have erased her gradually, taking advantage of the fact that she got caught because she started a relationship with him, although he looked completely free man.

Erasing is a pumping of pious merits out of woman. He planned to siphon pious merits from her by selling sex with her to asuras during her masturbation. When she masturbated, he connected asuras to her. He installed the energical connectivity at her to asuras. They were fucking her through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. She didn't know about it. She thought it was just masturbation. But in fact, he made her a whore, as he sold sexual pleasures with her to many asuras. She had no idea about this, but for the asuras there is no difference what kind of sex. Asuras feel everything as in reality at the energical connectivity. And when she was receiving an orgasm during her masturbation, asuras were pumping out her pious merits. And gradually, over and over again during such masturbations of hers, asuras would siphon from her the pious merits. Her financial situation must have deteriorated as a result of the emptying of her stock of piety. She would lose everything that she had. She would become sick, beggar, without work, without money, without respect, without good housing, without support and help. That's what awaited her as a result of masturbation, during which he would connect asuras to her and they would pump out her pious merits during her orgasm.

All-seeing heaven, what a world is this! The world is cruel, people are blind. Material nature will always find a loophole to shake us off our pedestal into a space where we are criminals and must be punished. The world can be cruel, no matter who you are. There are no guarantees, even if you want to behave decently and not violate other people's borders. But she violated the borders of others, not wanting it at all. After all, outwardly he was free man, but in fact it was not so. But she didn't see this, and she trespassed by giving him permission to erase her. What a pity! She thus untied his hands so that he would have the right to empty her, to withdraw her jewels from her piety account to the accounts of some asuras whom she did not know and with whom she would never share her good fortune.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

At that time, I was invited to a game with the Metaphorical associative cards, and there came out a card that shows a woman in a hat holding an apple stub in her hand, and inside an apple stub you can see a lighthouse with a house. I looked at this apple stub and thought: this is my Shri Ram. How many women had he been with, but he wasn't happy in spite of all his wealth and a lot of women. He had far too many women in his lives. He's like this apple stub that I'm holding in my hands. And there is a beacon inside this apple stub that constantly transmits his callsigns to me, to his Shakti. It was at this time that I began to translate the story from Russian to English, how I created the protection system against asuras to protect married couples «We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard». There we took the asuras, who liked to invade marital sex of married couples at the invisible energy plane of existence. Those asuras at the invisible energy plane of existence were invading the conjugal sex and through the body of the husband fuck his wife and Rob them, siphoning off their pious merits, thereby worsening their lives. I carried out an action to transform them into weapons that would destroy such asuras as they were themselves, thus protecting married couples. There I saw at some stage of that action that those former asuras, each of them, were given their own Shakti, which he never had. Why didn't they have their Shakti? Because only a man who has his eternal mate in the spiritual world can have his own Shakti. Everyone else has only partners for a while. Those former asuras did not have such a couple in the spiritual world, they were singles. But in the process of carrying out this action to create the protection system against asuras to protect married couples «We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard», by some miracle, they received their Shakti, whom they did not have before. And I saw it all on my internal screen.

It looked as if at some stage these asuras suddenly lifted their heads up and a ray of light went up from them to somewhere in space, and there, in space, flames flashed, and from each flame went down the ray of light. These rays of light, which went from bottom to top and from top to bottom, merged together and created a luminous column. And there on top of that pillar of light was a woman. It turned out that the bottom was men and the top women and from men from below came the ray of light upwards, and from women at the top came a beam of light from top to bottom. And these rays of light created one common pillar of light for both each couple of man and woman. And so it was for each of those former asuras. And then I saw that the woman who was at the top of this shining pillar of light began to descend slowly along this pillar of light and found herself in the middle of this shining pillar, and she sat there. There are many pictures of goddesses sitting on a Lotus on the Internet. And there was something similar. And when the woman had sat down like this, some fiery prominences went up from the man from below, like flames. And these fiery flames from the man surrounded the woman on all sides. She sat, surrounded on all sides by a Golden glow, as in a cocoon. It was as if the man wrapped up by his Golden radiance his woman.

And when I was translating all this from Russian to English, I was very offended, because we are an eternal couple, but he treated me so badly. These men, who were asuras, covered their woman with their fiery Golden prominences with such tenderness from all sides. I saw how these former asuras each treated the woman who had become his eternal couple, his Shakti, whom he had covered so carefully by himself and who was completely protected there. And when this merger was completed, I saw all these men suddenly turn to me and say, «We are ready. We want to go, right now». That is, each of them received their own Shakti, they had this merger, and they already wanted to go to their own Shakti. And they were so assertive, saying, «Let's go, right now!» These men went each to their own Shakti to protect her and were so determined in this,

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

but this Shri Ram gave me to others, sold me to others, siphoned all my pious merits out of me in order to I would lose even the miserable living conditions I was in then. I was the single mother with two children in a rented apartment. He showed me no mercy. I was so hurt... I thought that those men who got their Shakti were so eager for her, so eager to protect her, but he made me as a trash can that everyone spits into. In his eyes, I was one of the many sheep whom he makes such garbage cans into which the asuras throw their sinful karma. Shri Ram even threw three other people's deaths into me. I was sorry that I had not renounce him when, long ago, between lives, I had been offered to break off eternal bond between me and him. Actually, I wanted to accept this offer but I was prevented from doing so by the curse. But when I was translating all this from Russian to English I didn't know about this curse, and I was so hurt that I didn't accept the offer of those powerful personalities... He made me a public urinal for everyone. This is what he did to his own Shakti. I remembered how they had taken care of their Shakti, whom he had never had, but whom he received, how they were eager to protect her, and what Shri Ram had done to me. I was very offended by this dissonance.

281. To be with him for our common cause

Reviewing the 280th series of my novel «My Roman. I'm asur's wife», I thought it was good that I have this curse to be alone, without a husband. I received this curse in one of the past lives for the fact that I even before Shri Ram was made an asur, begged him to do something bad, because of which we were cursed and became far from each other, although we are an eternal couple. Already knowing this, I thought that this curse is even beneficial to me. Because why should I be with someone who is so cruel that he doesn't feel sorry for a single woman with two small children who is in a difficult situation, without help, and lives in rented apartments? He did not spare me. He wanted to pump my feminine energy and pious merits out of me on a regular basis. I thought: this curse is good for us in this case. I thought I didn't want to be with him, and it's a good thing that this curse is there and not lifted. Shri Ram, when I learned that we had received a curse, wondered why it still exists, why I did not make any attempts to remove this curse. He was told that this was necessary so that we could implement our strategy. This is why it was necessary. I thought: Yes, this is really necessary for something, because to be with so ruthless man is wrong. I thought that it is not necessary to remove this curse, let it be. But Shri Ram was telling me that he had to be with me to be alive, thus Shiva told him. He asked me to give him a chance to be alive. But I thought that when he took all my pious merits from me, knowing that as a result of this my life would simply collapse and bury me under its rubble, he did not particularly feel sorry for me and did not think about how I would live, but now he begs that he should be alive. He reminded me of the blessing of Shiva, and I thought: Yes, indeed, Shiva wanted to take care of me. Shiva took care of me, and it's not good to offend Shiva.

But then I thought again that this curse is beneficial for me. I remembered that I am some big specialist in the Universe, I am even some kind of an inspector of the Universe Patrol and in different worlds I destroy asuras and Universal malicious creatures. And I don't want to change this activity of mine for some kind of life with some Shri Ram, who is my eternal couple, but who is at the same time so cruel, completely heartless. And I thought again that it was a good thing that the curse was still. Because I like what I do, and because for Shri Ram, the just punishment is to live in this material world alone, completely without any hope of personal happiness. I thought it would be a very fair punishment for what he had done to me. This will be a good impetus for him to way to Krishna, towards the spiritual world, because if this curse is not lifted, I will be engaged in my favorite activities, smashing the asuras and every Universal malicious creatures, and Shri Ram will never be with any woman because I have already did this.

But then I thought that I'm still drawn to him. I still want to be with him. And I thought: so I will not spare any of the asuras, I will destroy all of them for what this Shri Ram did to me, because of which I even think that this curse is beneficial to me, and even think, why should I try to get rid of this curse somehow? Why should I? It doesn't make any sense. I thought this curse was good for me, for my activity. It turns out that each minus has its own plus. And this curse is a plus for me, because it made me a cool destroyer of Universal malicious creatures. I thought: I will not regret any asuras; I will destroy all of them.

And when I thought that it was a good thing that this curse was working, that we were far from each other, that we could not be reunited, I remembered the words from Terry Goodkind's book «Blood of the Fold»: «Remember this above all else: No matter what, you must remain loyal to Richard. You can talk to him, advise him, reason with him, but you must not fight him. Loyalty to Richard is the only thing keeping Jagang from your mind. Once a dream walker has your mind, you are lost to our side». I remembered these words: «Once a dream walker has your mind, you are lost to our side. You will be lost to our common cause». I thought: I am told that I must be with this Shri Ram, otherwise I will be lost to our common cause, and for me our common cause is very important. It is more important to me than living with this Shri Ram. And even this curse is good for me, because in this way I can be useful to our common cause. But I was told that I must be with this Shri Ram, otherwise I would be lost to our common cause. I thought: the common cause is very important to me. I remembered Shri Ram saying to me through the words of this book: «My queen, I would give my life for you, and want nothing more than to be your husband, but if my actions turn your heart against me, I would not force your hand in marriage. Understand, though, that the surrender of your land is necessary and vital. We must live by one law. I cannot afford to show special favors to any land, or we are lost before we begin». And because of this, I decided that since I was told that for the sake of our common cause, I should be with this Shri Ram, then, of course, we should somehow remove this curse that prevents us from being reunited.

I thought that for the sake of our common cause, I should be with this Shri Ram, and therefore I should give my permission for this curse, which has proved to be a blessing to me in this common cause of mine, to be lifted. I didn't know how to do this, but I remembered a screenshot from the Mahabharata where Krishna said, «And there is no oath, curse, or blessing that I can't destroy!». I thought that even if I do not know how to remove this curse, then Krishna knows it. He said that He could do it. I thought that here, from below, when I live in the body, the whole picture is not visible to me, but there, from there, from above, from the higher planes of existence, everything is visible, and so if I was told that I should be with Shri Ram, then I should be with him, so that I would not be lost to our common cause, and I need to do everything to do it.

Season 8. Hunting for space pirates

282. «When you find out what I'm hunting for, you will make every effort to prevent me»

And I thought: Yes, the common cause is waiting for us; I was shown in July that it is necessary to perform three actions. In July, before I started recording these autumn episodes and didn't know about Shiva's blessing and our curse, I was translating the story of how I created the protection system against asuras to protect married couples «We with Mukhtar serve at the Border Guard». At that time I with the children watched the movie «Once Upon a Time». And there it came to the eighth episode of the fifth season. My children and I were watching this episode, and suddenly one dialogue caught my attention. There, Emma Swan told Captain Hook, «I'll tell you everything, but not before I finish what I started». Hook asked her, «Why?» She told him, «When you find out what I'm hunting for, you will make every effort to prevent me». When I heard these words, I clearly saw that it was a sign. It is as if this Shri Ram mentally, not audibly for me, asked me something and I told him that I would tell him everything, but not before I had finished what I had started. And he seemed to ask me, «Why?» And I told him, «When you find out what I'm hunting for, you will make every effort to prevent me».

When I heard these words, I saw that I am hunting to something. It turns out that I am hunting someone and if Shri Ram finds out whom I am hunting, he will make every effort to stop me. I was very intrigued and at the same time very pleased. Shri Ram was also very intrigued. He, living somewhere, began to ask me questions about who I am hunting for. I didn't hear these questions, but I answered almost immediately. My son came up to me and started asking about a man in the film, and I explained to my son that this man took an assignment and now has to execute order. And when I said this, I realized that I had told this Shri Ram through my son that I took the assignment and that I have to complete the order. Shri Ram, living here as an ordinary person, but being an asur and being plugged into me, sees all my thoughts and everything that happens to me. He saw my joy that I am hunting for someone, even though I did not know it, because the filters of this body do not pass this information into the area of consciousness, since Shri Ram is plugged into me and if this information passes, then he will see it. He asked me inaudibly about what I was hunting, and I told him it was an assignment.

When I heard my son say that in the movie, a man hired someone, took an assignment and therefore does it all, I remembered the book about Artemis Fowl «The Lost Colony» by Colfer Eoin, and there was one bully, Billy Kong. «He is a dangerous opponent. He has a well-trained team. They are hired as bodyguards for people whose lives are at risk. Kong was infamous in underworld circles. The man had no morals, and would happily perform any task, however distasteful, for the right price. Kong only had one rule: never quit until the job is done». I thought: these words are about me. Somewhere in some circles, not here on Earth, but somewhere out there in the vast Universe I am known as ruthless destroyer of different malicious creatures. I take assignments on the Slaying of the asuras and Universe malicious creatures and not shun any means to achieve the goal. And this is my credo: victory at any cost. And of course, with excellent fees. I get payment in the form of the pious merits, because in the material world, pious merit is the Universal currency. The pious merits can be spent on a happy childhood, on a good birth in a good family, on wealth, on luck in life, on a long life expectancy, on good health, on love. And we can save up the pious merits, so that even the asuras can not steal. This can be compared to money on a card and a Deposit in a Bank. The thieves can easily withdraw money from your card, but it is much more difficult to steal money from a Deposit that can not be closed just like that and from which money can only be taken personally, with verification of your identity. And so with pious merits. Those pious merits that we spend on a happy life in the material world, it is easy to steal from us, taking advantage of our mistake, the fact that we somewhere did something bad from the point of view of Universal laws. But if we accumulate our pious merits for spiritual purposes, for getting out of the material world into the spiritual world, then the asuras can not steal these pious merits. And I realized that when I take assignments to eliminate Universal scum and when I get paid for it with great pious merits, I do not put the main part of these pious merits on the card, for spending on ensuring a happy life in incarnations when I am born, but I save these pious merits on some universal Deposit that is not available for hackers like asuras, who are able to plug onto people and withdraw pious merits out of piety account.

I saw that I am such a great specialist who takes up any job with joy, no matter how dirty it may be, if this job is well paid with pious merits, because the more pious merits, the more piety, and this gives possible to follow the spiritual path, to perceive spiritual truths that, if there is not enough piety, just pass by the ears and the value of which is diminished in the eyes of such losers, poor people in terms of piety, who burn their luck to receive the transient fleeting joys of life. And it turns out that I am the kind of specialist who takes assignments to eliminate universal filth, if I am well paid, if this gives me many pious merits. I do not burn these pious merits. I'm not interested in spending my wealth to have a luxurious life when I am born and live in a physical body. I save these pious merits so that no one will steal them, in order to be able to follow the path to the spiritual world. I thought Billy Kong had one rule: never back down until the job is done. Kong only had one rule: never quit until the job is done. I realized that I had taken an assignment. I'm hunting someone. This is an assignment, and I will definitely make it, because I have one rule: never back down until the job is done. I wanted to know what this assignment was, who I was hunting and what it would be, and I started looking for signs about it.

283. Hunting for pirates

I was very intrigued by whom I was hunting, and Shri Ram was on edge, wanted to somehow find out about it. He asked me, in his mind, various questions, intending to see the answers, but I did not give him the answers. At that time I read the book of Terry Goodkind «The Law of Nines». I tried to look everywhere: maybe they would show me some sign because I was wondering what kind of assignment it was. I was told that if Shri Ram finds out about it, then will make every effort to prevent this. I tried everywhere to see at least some hint, and in this book «The Law of Nines» I noticed one place. There, the girl Jax told Alex that she came from another world, from another planet, to help him and that they need to work together, «When I went back the last time I told people about some of the things I saw here, some of the technology I saw. They reacted much the same way as you. They didn't believe me, didn't believe that I had succeeded in coming to this world. Many of them thought I was making it up to cover failure. It made me realize just how hard it had to be for you. I suspect that were the situation reversed and were it you who had come to my world instead, I wouldn't have believed you, either. For now let's both try to be a little more understanding of the gulf between us. We need to help each other if we're to survive what is coming». Through these words of the girl Jax, I told this Shri Ram that we should work together. And further in this book were the following words of Jax: «Dangerous people have been coming here, to this world, for some time now. While I know some of what's going on, I'm in the dark about much of it. I don't think, though, that they're coming here for a holiday. Many innocent people have already died. This is a matter of survival for us. A matter of life and death». In these words, I saw that the asuras have also been coming to our world for many times, they are well entrenched here and know how to squeeze people's treasures, that is, pious merits, out of them. And for many, their attention turns into a matter of life and death.

Later in the book, Jax told Alex, «But that's my world, not yours. You enjoy peace here in your world. You have your own life. We believe that it's each person's right to choose to live their own life as they see fit. You have no obligation to help us. But if that's your choice then please tell me now. I don't have any time to waste». This, apparently, Shri Ram wanted to know what my assignment was, who I was hunting, and I explained to him through this book, «I can't trust you to open it until you take responsibility for the fact that you will not tell anyone. You can not give such a word and do not do it, but if you decide to stay away, not to be privy to all these subtleties, then please say it now. I can't waste time».

Later in the book, Jax said to Alex, «You can choose to ignore my warning. You can choose not to believe that prophecy from my world applies to you. You can choose to do nothing and see what will happen, to stay out of it and just worry about keeping yourself safe. You are free to run and hide, if you so wish. But when they come after you, and I believe they will, you will have to face it alone. I can't wait for you. I won't. You have to make a choice, not because I say so, but because of the things that are happening. No matter what you choose to do, nothing is ever going to be the same — not for you, not for me. I will respect whatever choice you make, but I will not come back for you again. You will be on your own». Through these words, I told Shri Ram that if he did not want to support me, I would accept it, but I would never come to him again and he would be left alone, without his Shakti. In short, I blackmailed him through the words of this book.

Then I said to Shri Ram in the words of this book, «If you choose to come with me, then you must understand that we're fighting people who don't belong in this world, and those people are killers. Make no mistake, if you choose to come with me, then you are choosing to fight them. The man you killed tonight will likely not be the last». Shri Ram asked me through Alex's words in this book, «And if I choose to come with you, what then?» And I replied to Shri Ram with the words of Jax to Alex, «If you come with me you might have to face dangers I can't begin to guess. In my world I would know what to expect, but in this world I don't. We will have no help. Whatever comes we will be facing it alone. We very well might die. I can promise you only one thing. If you come with me I will protect you with my life. This is not the time to get into it, but know that I will lay down my life before yours is lost. I could really use your help to try to figure this out, but I have to know that if you come with me you won't be a liability. A lot of people, a lot of lives, are depending on me. I won't risk my life lugging along dead weight. I need to know that if you come with me I can count on you». From these words, I saw that I had some important things to do together in some worlds, that it was very dangerous, and that if he chose to be with me, then he would have to go there and participate in our common cause, and on this Earth, too. I told Shri Ram that if he would support me and if he doesn't give up me, I would tell him the secret and would not hesitate to give my life for him, that is, I would be with him. I kind of told him that if he wanted to know the details of this assignment, he had to make a choice whether he would be with me or not. Because if he is not with me, then I will not be able to waste time on him and I will go about my business, because, it turns out, I am very necessary and very important, and the well-being of many people depends on me, because I know how to do something there.

In the words of this book, I said to Shri Ram, «This may not be a choice you want to make, but it is the choice you face. We have spent too long here already. Are you coming with me or not? Decide». Further in the book was written:

«Alex gazed into her eyes, feeling as if he could see into her soul. He had always had the vague feeling that he never really knew who he was. It had always seemed like he had been waiting for something. It seemed now like he had been waiting his whole life for this moment.

“I knew from the first instant I saw you tonight — when I saw that you had come back — that I'm in this with you. Something is going on, something I don't understand, but something deadly. This involves me. Somehow we've been thrown together from worlds apart. I can't turn away. I won't. I'm in this.”

A small smile softened her expression. She reached out and gently grasped his arm, giving it a squeeze as if in sympathy for all the trouble that had found him, trouble she couldn't shelter him from.

Her voice turned intimate and gentle. “Let's go, then”».

Thus I and Shri Ram had a dialogue in which I told him that if he wants to know the details of this assignment, he must make a decision whose side he's on. I told him that if he decides and will be unconditionally with me, then I'll be able to open this. And I realized that he made this decision, because I was blackmailing him, that I, of course, will accept any decision he makes, but I will not come back for him again and he will be left alone. And it seems that he made a decision, as a result of which it was revealed that those I was hunting were some kind of pirates, because later in the book was written, «Do you know who is after us?» — Alex asked. «Yes, — she said. — Pirates».

I wondered what kind of pirates they were, but I didn't know. And then Shri Ram began to make various promises to me. He told me through one of the screenshots that change each other every 30 seconds on the desktop of my computer: «I am here, and I'm not leaving. For me, another such person will not exist. You are the only one I want, and that never, hear, will never change». Then was another screenshot, from «The Mahabharata». There Arjuna and Subhadra are standing hand in hand between the waters of the Yamuna river that have receded in different directions, and look at Krishna standing on a rock far ahead. On that screenshot were the words: «Here is my hand, this is your friend's hand. I'll do anything for you». In this way, he reminded me that he had promised me that he would do everything to return to the spiritual world with me. He began to remind me of his various promises, to convey to my mind that he would not betray me, that I could rely on him, that I could tell him this secret. But I still doubted, and then I got a screenshot with the words: «Don't you ever doubt that for a second» — that I can open up to him.

I had different assumptions about who I was hunting, what kind of pirates. I was scared, and he asked me if it was possible to cancel this assignment, but I told him that no. This was told to him again via my magic screenshots. I did not hear his question, he asked it somewhere in his mind, but on the higher plane of being we hear everything, even though it does not reach the area of our consciousness. And to his mental question, which I could not hear, I answered him, not even knowing that he had asked any question at all and what it was about. Although outwardly it looked just like a series of screenshots on my computer's desktop at the time I was thinking about this assignment. From this series of screenshots, I realized that at the level of my higher self, on some higher spheres of existence, through these screenshots, I gave an answer to Shri Ram's question, which I did not hear here. And after analyzing these screenshots, I realized that I was answering some of his questions, and I also realized what exactly I was answering and what I was saying. First there was a screenshot with the words «His speech can defeat any opponent with raised swords». From it, I saw that Shri Ram is worried about me, and I answer him so that he is not afraid that we will fulfill any assignment, we will cope with this assignment. Then there was a screenshot with the words «When an arrow flies, it can't be returned to the quiver». With these words, I told Shri Ram that I had already taken this assignment and would not back down, that I had taken this assignment, and I can fulfill it. After that, I realized that he accepted this, and then it was revealed to me whom we would take first.

I wondered what kind of pirates they were, and I thought that there are many asuras like Shri Ram and me, such eternal couples who were separated. I thought I would take such asuras like my Shri Ram. I thought maybe it was all fiction. I thought that maybe all this is fiction. Maybe I made it all up. But I thought: and well, I made it all up. And if I invented all this, then I can invent anything. I can make up my mind that I can free all those who supposedly are somewhere, who, like my Shri Ram, became asuras, as a result of which their eternal couple turned out to be broken, torn into different worlds of the material world. They are drawn to each other, but they can not get to each other, and they have to be with someone, and the performance of someone else's duty is an extremely dangerous path bringing suffering because if this is an eternal couple and he will be with others, then he will never be happy, and all this will lead to tragedies in one way or another.

I thought: we should free all of them. I thought that the asuras must have a lot of them. I thought, this is what they say about pirates. Because now we are reaching the world level, not even at level of the planet Earth, but on the level of the Universe, different worlds of the material world, where there are asuras. I thought: Yes, somewhere in the asuric worlds there are asuras who have somewhere their eternal couple, with whom they can not reunite in any way. And such asuras there are not only in the asuric worlds, but also as part of the landing of asuras on all the worlds of the material world, on different planets. And I thought, these are the ones whom I will take. These will be pirates, who are as part of the asuras landing party. And I need to release those of them who have become asuras and become detached from their eternal couple. I thought that the asuras may have both men and women with installed asuric nature. Shri Ram wanted to impose asuric initiation to me. He wanted to establish asuric nature at me. And I decided that I would take such men and women who have their eternal couple, with whom they are separated. I decided that I would take them all and tear them out of the asuras, they would cease to be asuras, and I would reunite them with their eternal couple. They will be together again. I thought that the Bhagavad Gita (Chapter 3, verse 35) said, «It is far better to perform one's prescribed duties, even though faultily, than another's duties perfectly. Destruction in the course of performing one's own duty is better than engaging in another's duties, to follow another's path is dangerous». I thought that it is necessary to do that they do perform not another's duty, but only their own duty, with own eternal couple.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that we should do something to them so that they will return together to the spiritual world, because while you are in the material world, there is always a risk of stumbling, committing some unrighteous deed, just getting caught without even knowing about it. For example, like the woman, the so-called duchess, with whom Shri Ram was in the summer of 2016. She didn't know that he was not a lonely man. He was even a married man, because we had a heavenly wedding. She did not know this, because in real life he was single, unmarried, without a stamp in his passport, no woman was at his house, and he was not outwardly with anyone, he looked like a completely free man and behaved accordingly. And she, seeing that he was a free man, gave herself permission to embark on more intimate relationship with him, thought that, perhaps, something will turn out. She didn't know he was busy, and he looked as a single man. She fell into a trap. Thanks to this, he then put her at the process of the erasure, the gradual pumping of pious merits from her. He did not spare such a good woman, the ideal woman for him, chaste woman and he put up her for sale so that other men fuck her during her masturbation, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence. This woman was a very good woman, and Shri Ram would have erased her. And she would never have guessed that the horrible troubles fell on her because of that handsome, successful adorable man with whom she was during just one summer and who was very good, wonderful man. It would never have occurred to her that this very amiable gentleman had pumped pious merits out of her, put her for sale at the asuric catalog and sold her to asuras. She would never have guessed that this handsome, reasonable, good, caring, honest man sold her to other men she did not know. She would never have guessed that this very nice man who was going to be her wonderful husband forced her to masturbate manipulating to her mind at a distance to plugging other men onto her during her masturbation and pump out her pious merits. She was thinking that she found a man she can trust. But she would never have guessed that this kind, gentle, sweet-hearted and most generous man she ever met was selling her to other men in order to they paid him. What cruelty, callousness and ruthlessness! The asuras can cut off more and more pious merits from the woman's stock of piety and can completely empty her piety stock so that nothing remains of this woman so that she fell to the bottom of life, began to live according to the worst scenario of her life. It's called completely erasing of woman by asuras. Asuras are doing a withdrawal of the pious merits from piety account of woman. This is similar to how fraudsters empty out the bank accounts of honest citizens. The fraudsters transfer the funds into the new bank account into their control. Similarly, fraudsters-asuras transfer funds from this woman's piety account to their piety accounts. This Shri Ram wanted to erase her with sending her to the worst scenario in her life. She got caught up. She had a relationship, sex with him and throwing some expectations on him, although he was not a lonely man and although he was even married man, although in real life alone. As long as you are in the material world, there is always a risk of such mistakes.

So I thought that we should do something so that when these couples will be reunited, they will return to the spiritual world together. Otherwise, everything is meaningless: at any time, you can fall into trap. To be in the material world without getting caught is like something from science fiction. So just reuniting is the wrong decision. The right decision is to return together to the spiritual world, because eternal couples return to the spiritual world together. In the book «Secrets of the Mahabharata» by Gadadhara Pandit, it is said about divine couples who remain faithful to each other and maintain the integrity of the family for a number of births in a variety of bodies. In fact, in such spiritual families, the husband and wife not only remain together until they are freed from the captivity of the material world, but they also maintain similar relationships after that. This is one of the evidences that prove that the gender of members of spiritually advanced families remains eternally unchanged. So I decided that we would reunite them and they would go straight to Krishna into the spiritual world.

284. «Your friend serves you as a beacon on the path of Dharma»

Yes, I already found out what assignment I took. I already knew that I would take those of the asuras in different worlds who have an eternal couple, but have become separated from it because they have transform into the asuras. I learned that I need to release such people from their asuric existence, so that they can no longer be asuras, and reunite them with their eternal couple. But I didn't know what I would do to them. I tried to see clues everywhere, and the first clue was a screenshot from the Mahabharata with the words «Your friend serves you as a beacon on the path of Dharma». I looked at this screenshot, tried to decipher it, but I couldn't see clearly the obvious meaning then. I wanted to be explained more. And this was explained to me in VKontakte. There I met Gopal Krishna Gosvami's words that one should now serve not Krishna, but Krishna's devotees. I tried to link a screenshot about a friend who serves as a beacon on the path of Dharma, and the words of Gopal Krishna Gosvami that now we should serve not Krishna, but devotees of Krishna. I tried to find places for these details in the General puzzle, the General picture, and I thought: maybe they will tell me something else? And I was told, through the words of my Gurudev, also in VKontakte: «We, as devotees, are always surrounded by Hari, gurus and vaishnavas. They are the ones who help us. As the Beatles sang, „I can overcome everything with the help of my friends“. This is the beauty of Krishna consciousness». And from everywhere I got words about friendship. But I didn't realize. It's probably obvious to anyone with a brain, but I didn't realize. I have magic videos, magic screenshots, and magic signs of the Universe, and you know, these random things that happen aren't random at all. Why plain and obvious meaning not has sunk to me when they'd been telling me plainly? The next clue, the next detail in this puzzle was my Gurudev's words, also in VKontakte: «Krishna Consciousness is friendship. Once I was asked to go to another organization, but I thought: if I leave, there will be no friends like Govinda Maharaj, Niranjana Swami, Sri Prahlad in another organization. My friends won't be there, but how can I be without them? Because Krishna consciousness is primarily friendship. The temple without a friendly relationship is just a box. We can worship Deities at home, read Prabhupada books individually, but ISKCON is a friendly relationship, it is a home where there are friends with whom I can serve, discuss, and stay together. The temple is not a narrow framework of administration, it is a relationship. If there is a relationship, then there is money. If there is no relationship, then we have what we have. Therefore, one should have friends in Krishna consciousness and build relationships». And then there was a screenshot on my desktop with the words of Krishna «But I am your closest friend». And from these details of this mosaic, I realized what I need to do to them, what they will be. They will be friends.

I decided that I would rip out from asuras all those asuras who have an eternal couple and give them a chance. They will be friends. They will be open to friendship with good devotees of Krishna, with good people. I remembered that either Dvorkin or some other structures have instruction on how to identify devotees of Krishna, and it says that one of the signs of devotee of Krishna is that he has no friends. I thought it wasn't true. I love Krishna, and I have very good friends. There is a popular belief that the older a person gets, the more difficult it is for them to make friends. But this is not about me. I came here when I was 47 years old. Before that, I lived in Moscow for 18 years and now I came here. And I found a good lady friend here, to whom I can tell anything, even about this Shri Ram. Also on the Internet, I have a good lady friend with whom I have been friends for many years. They are devotees of Krishna, they love Krishna.

I thought that these asuras, separated from their eternal mate, would be such good friends as my lady friend who is open to everyone who is willing to communicate. She is very sincere and gives close friendships. She has such relationships with many people. I have such a friend here in real life. And I decided that the asuras whom I was going to do now, when they reunited with their eternal mate, would be like this lady friend of mine.

I decided that they would certainly be devotees of Krishna, because otherwise it would not make sense. It is so stupidly to be reunited in order to just waste away life to pleasure, even if it is an eternal couple. It is completely meaningless, because at any moment you can do something wrong and be separated from your couple, and you do not know what will happen then. This Shri Ram did not recognize me and took a lot of sinful reactions using force in order to coerce his own Shakti have sex with other men. He must protect me, but what did he do? For this, he has long deserved the hellish worlds. So that none of these couples will have such a thing, we will make them devotees of Krishna, so that they will serve Krishna, Krishna's devotees, and return to the spiritual world together, as eternal couples.

I decided that all these reunited couples would be good friends for the devotees of Krishna and for good people, and would serve as a beacon for them on the path of Dharma. They will be open to friendship, open to good people for close friendship. And they will be a beacon on the path of Dharma. That is, they will support their friends on their way to the spiritual world, to Krishna. Not judging, not kicking back from communicating with them if they did something wrong, even left. Everything happens in life. We are in the material world. Don't be under an illusion. We can't be so naïve as to think nothing can happen to us. This is a dangerous place, where there is always a risk of slip up. One false step and you go under. Asuras can to pump a lot of pious merits out of a person, and a person will fall, he can no longer touch pure spiritual knowledge, because he does not have enough pious merits for this. He suddenly wanted to have sex or masturbate. Maybe someone told that sex is good for health. But for whose health is it good? It is beneficial for asuras, for their health and wealth, because asuras pumped pious merits out of person who have sex, and at the expense of pious merits, health comes, money, good living conditions, everything. The person began to have sex, asuras pumped pious merits out of this person, and this person no longer has enough piety to maintain on a spiritual platform and departs from it.

And these friends, who will be a beacon on the path of Dharma, will not blame their friends for this. They were asuras and know that asuras can press on a person, on person's complexes and energy centers. Asuras can influence person's desires that were once relevant, but are now asleep. They know that these desires can be pulled out of a subconscious, and a person will begin to satisfy his old-timed desires and his sexual instincts that are no longer relevant to him. And in doing so, sexual energy is released, and person loses pious merits. These friends, the beacons on the path of Dharma, will understand all this. Because they were the ones who were doing it all.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And they will be a beacon on the path of Dharma for their friends. And none of those friends-beacons would be judging their friends for anything. These friends-beacons on the path of Dharma will say, «Alas, we are in the material world, such situations in life happen. Just hang in there, be patient. You have to go to Krishna, because you see, the material world is such a place... Here even this happens». They will say, «In this material world these things happen. And even this». They will support, so that a person does not fall into self-pity, despair, or self-delusion, never gave up in spite of all adversities.

They will be a beacon on the path of Dharma for their friends. They will have many friends, because they will have such a mission — they will be friends. They will not play the role of friends, they really will be friends, very good friends, sincere, whom you can tell anything without fear that as a result people will abandon you and your life will be over. These beacons-friends will give their love to their friends and will not offend them. They will not say, «You are a despicable creature. Get out, filthy beast! Get out of here, you viper's breed!» Communication with them will give people true happiness.

How lucky they will be, these asuras who will become such friends, serving as a beacon on the path of Dharma, I thought. They will be friends for both small, inconspicuous people, devotees of Krishna, and for the big ones. They'll just be friends. A friend doesn't care you are rich or poor, happy or unhappy. Friend is always a friend. They will show respect, trust, and love in their relationships with their friends. I thought that in Kali Yuga such a phenomenon is very rare. How will they become like this? But I thought that since I took this assignment and since my rule is not to stop until I make assignment, it means that they will become so. I thought that all the same, I'm making it all up, and since I'll make it all up, I can make it up as if that's how it will be.

I thought about my lady friend here, in real life. Now we don't see often. Before we used to live close to each other and often visited each other, several times a week. When my interaction with this Shri Ram started, I told her everything openly. At first, she was saying that it is the incorporeal, ghost who wants to suck my energy, but then she realized that it was useless to tell me this, and just was asking, «Well, how are you with this?» I say, «Nothing's changed». She says, «Yes? Let's tell fortunes». And we're just talking friend to friend. And these friends-beacons will be such that they can be trusted with any secrets, most shameful secrets, any falls, any of the most absurd situations that can only happen in life.

And these friends-beacons will have the ability to be likability and to win people over, to endear them to and make them our allies. Asuras are able to endear people, they are good-looking people, usually well-educated, well-mannered, they know how to behave with dignity and charm, and they are usually cultured, intelligent, and well-read. They inspire confidence. But they use this trust not for the good. And these asuras, who were included in this action at the restoring the eternal couples who were separated, will be friends who serve as a beacon on the path of Dharma, and they will win different good people over and make them our allies. And these people will begin to feel good about Krishna consciousness, just by associating with these beacons on the path of Dharma. Because when these friends-beacons were asuras, they had the ability to win everyone over, and they will take this ability into their future lives when they will be reunited with their eternal couple and very many lives will be together. And they will give warmth and friendship to Krishna devotees and just good people. And for people to meet these friends-beacons will be the greatest luck, because such as they will be are a rarity. Those people will think about these friends-beacons: «How lucky I am to meet such wonderful people! They are so good, so sincere; it is so pleasant to communicate with them. Somehow I feel that I can tell such a person what I could not tell anyone. I would never say this even to a psychotherapist and psychologist, but I can tell them. Who are they and why can I tell them this and not be afraid that they will tell everybody my secrets and use it against me?»

I thought it was a good idea. I will burn all asuric nature in the asuras who entered this action. They will cease to be asuras and fly to their future lives, where they will be reunited with their eternal mate. They will be good friends for the devotees of Krishna and for good people, and will serve as a beacon on the path of Dharma, on the way back to the spiritual world.

285. Space Pirates: RA from different planets

This idea of reuniting eternal couples came to me at the very end of July 2019. July ended, August began. About a week after this action was decided, I felt that this was not enough. I thought: it's well that I will take these asuras who have their eternal couple, but are separated from it. I will tear them out of the asuras, I will reunite them, they will somehow help the devotees of Krishna, but still this is not enough. I had a desire to do as much damage as possible to the asuras and to provide as much benefit as possible to the devotees of Krishna. So I decided that there would be something else. And when I thought that one action is not enough, this Shri Ram said to me through the words of Captain Hook to Emma Swan in the 15th episode of the 5th season of the film «Once Upon a Time», «I'm glad that you came for me. Maybe I'm worth something». And I kind of answered him with Emma's words, «And when we're done, will you come back with me?» And he as if said me, «Yes. If it's important for him that I live, I'll have to live up to his expectations». I looked at these words and thought: it was Shri Ram who said that if it is important for Nrisimhadev that Shri Ram should live, then Shri Ram would have to live up to Nrisimhadev's expectations. I looked at these words and thought: we need to do something more grandiose, something bigger. But we had concern about it, and then I got a whole series of encouraging screenshots. The first was a screenshot with the words «I and the entire Pandavas's army will protect you». We were told that the entire Pandavas's army, the entire army of forces of light, would protect us during we will perform these actions. Then there was a screenshot with Nrisimhadev and the lyrics of the song:

My dear young friends, I wish you all a happy New Year!

Warriors of light, goodness and freedom,

I am sending you my warm greetings, my hot kiss!

I was told here, «New actions are waiting you, everything will be fine, don't worry, Svetlana Vinodavani, you don't need to think about it: we have already prepared new actions, and this will open for you now. You will be satisfied». I thought: what kind of actions will this be? And then this began to open up to me.

On August 14, in the evening I chanted my japa, and this evening brought up a lot of bad memories. I remembered a conversation with a man through whom this Shri Ram said to me, «We are from different planets», and I said to him, «Definitely». I told that man that Yes, indeed, we are completely different, but in fact, in this conversation, this Shri Ram through that man told me then, «Now we're going different ways. I don't even want to look at you, so get out of my way!» This conversation was in the early summer of 2016. At that time, he already had a good woman in real life, the so-called duchess, the first take. I was nothing, compared to her. He really liked that woman. He looked at her, at me, compared us, and the comparison was clearly not in my favor. And he said to me through that man, «We are from different planets. You are out of my league. This woman is more suitable for me. I and she are people of one round. I'm better than you, and you should know that already. You are no match for me. I won't even stand next to people like you. I crushes people like you like bugs». That's what he told me when that man told me that we are from different planets.

And I said, «Definitely». I told that man that I agree with him completely, definitely. But actually I reminded Shri Ram of how we met in the sleep territory and how I said «definitely» to him there, in the dream. He was looking for his Shakti, his eternal soul mate, for whom he went as part of the asuras landing party to other planets, to other worlds, leaving his familiar asuric worlds. In the spring of 2014, he hired the asur, who is a great specialist who knows how to find the desired person in sleep territory according to the image of this person. Shri Ram paid this specialist a lot of Universal currency, pious merits, in order to find me, in order to find out if I live on this planet on which he is now located. He thought that now he was born on this planet, among the earthlings, grew up, became an adult, performs his functions to pump out of the earthlings of pious merits as part of the asuras landing, but maybe all in vain, maybe his Shakti is not here? He thought that if I am not here, then he must to be born on other planets, at the inhabitants of those planets where the asuras are born in order to withdraw out of the inhabitants of those planets the life fuel, Universal gold, that is, pious merits. He thought that he should be born there among them, look for me and so go around one planet after another, where the asuras invisibly conduct their activities. He thought that he will need to be born on each planet and look for his Shakti there. He thought: «Now I was born on the planet Earth, but maybe my Shakti is not here. Maybe I should be born on another planet as part of our landing party and look for her there». For this reason Shri Ram paid that specialist a lot of pious merits, and that specialist found me here on planet Earth, in the sleep territory, and I had a meeting with Shri Ram there. There I answered one of his questions with the word «definitely». And when this man said to me, «We are from different planets», and I said to him, «Definitely», in fact, it was Shri Ram who said to me, «You are not my type. You are so far from the image of those women with whom I like to deal. You're nobody. We're from different planets. Get away from me! You stuck to me like glue!» That's what he told me. But I told him, «You were looking for me. You found me out on the sleep territory, I told you there „definitely“. You remember that dream. I am your eternal Shakti. You gave a lot of pious merits to that specialist in order to find me. You found me. What different planets are you talking about? Are you a fool?» That's what I told him in that conversation.

When I chant the mantra on August 14, 2019, I remembered this conversation, and I felt so bitter about it... I thought: this isn't good. This conversation weighs heavily on my mind, and it does not go away. I can't forget it. I thought that my heart is heavy because I can do nothing. It spoils my mood. I thought that if I could not punish Shri Ram for this, then let the asuras pay me for it. My eternal husband told me that we are from different planets, even though he found me, even in the dream territory, and made sure that it was me. He received confirmation that the woman that the specialist found in the dream territory in the image of Shakti Shri Ram was me. Immediately after that dream, I described this in my diary, and Shri Ram read this entry later, when he was already plugged onto me. I wrote down the word «definitely» and the whole dream in my diary. He saw that he found his Shakti, but suddenly he tells me that we are from different planets. He as if said to me, «If a mouse sees an eagle in the sky and starts jumping up into the sky, can it fly? You're like a mouse, and I'm like an eagle in the sky.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

No matter how you jump, you will never reach me. We're from different planets. You're a nothing». I thought: the asuras will pay for this, and this will be the next action, because we need to cause more damage to the asuras.

And when I thought about it, I decided to see what my desktop computer screen with my magic screenshots would show me. I immediately opened my desktop and looked at the screenshots at it. I got screenshots with the words «Tomorrow on the battlefield I will use irresistible celestial weapons», «And soon they will turn into flowers», «You know that no armor can save it. His fate will already be sealed! His days are coming to an end», «I was pulling out the wheels stuck in the mud, and I have not forgotten how to do it», «I shoot without a miss even in the dark of the night», and then came out a screenshot with the words «It was given to me by Surya, the Sun God». I looked at this screenshot and thought: now I know who will enter the second action. Surya is the Sun God. In Egypt, the Sun God is called RA. And the RA at the asuras is an asur at a high level of the asuric hierarchy. He has an entire organization under him, a network of asuras, and coordinates work of this network of asuras on a mental, the energy plane of existence. He is the most main person in this asuric organization. And since that friend said that we are from different planets, I decided that our second action will include RA from different planets. I thought: these are the pirates I was told about back then. These pirates are asuras who are part of the asuras landing force on different planets, so Shri Ram said to me then through that friend: «We are from different planets». Pirates are those who rob someone. Asuras, like pirates, come to other planets, are born there among the population of those planets and live there like everyone else, but they rob the inhabitants of those planets. They force the inhabitants of those planets to do bad things because of which the asuras get opportunities to withdraw pious merit from them. Everything in our life comes at the expense of pious merits. Our true treasure is pious merits. Pious merits are the treasure, the main asset out of which we are able to buy everything in life and which we take with us into our next lives so that we can live well there. The asuras plunder the inhabitants of those planets where they are born as part of their pirate landing party, withdrawal of the pious merits out them, thereby contributing to the degradation of those inhabitants, because the lower the overall level of piety on the planet, the more degraded the society.

I thought: I know who will be included to our next action. I'll take all these pirates, now I'll take a very powerful asuras of them — RA. I will take all the RA's who are part of the asuras' landing force in all the worlds, on different planets. They're so mighty! They are able to carry out manipulations of consciousness, crush anyone, keep a lot of asuras under them and coordinate their activities. I thought it was the right decision to decapitate the Hydra, especially on such a global scale. I thought I was told in the screenshot that I be able can shoot no misses even in the dark of night. That is, I will have to shoot them without looking, when they are somewhere in General in different worlds, not only here, but on some other planets. Also in another screenshot, I was told that I would use an irresistible celestial weapon. I thought: I will have to take this shot at all the worlds and destroy them all there.

When I thought that this would happen and that I will definitely do it, I got a screenshot with the words «There will be leave no stone unturned!». And then I remembered that the friend through whom Shri Ram had told me that we were from different planets had a dog, an English Greyhound named Saifa. And I decided: I will call this action «Saifa», like name of that dog of that friend who said then «We are with you from different planets». Because «Saifa» means a big wave, maximum destruction. This is such a striking and grappling technique in karate. I immediately went online and searched for the meaning of the word «Saifa». There was written the following: «Saifa is a destructive blow. Break into pieces and destroy. The maximum wave. Lion's fist. The lion opens its mouth. The tiger claws. Powerful and sharp circular blows. Striking without looking at the opponent. stroke of the whip. Performing the lash of a whip when looking the other way». I thought: what a great action! And then information began to be revealed to me on another action, right there, during my chanting of japa on the evening of August 14, 2019.

When I realized what the second action was going to be, when I titled it and found the meaning of the word «Saifa» on the Internet, I continued chanting japa, and I got new sad memories of another conversation with Shri Ram, which happened again through the same friend, when he said that it was three times better on the street. This is when Shri Ram had Lona, the Eraser of asuras, in November 2017. Through this conversation, Shri Ram said to me, «It's three times better on the street. Yes, you are my eternal couple, but Lona is three times better. You are my home, she is not my home, she is like on the street for me, but she is much better than you». She gave him an indescribable pleasure; he yielded to temptation and told me that she was three times better. He seemed to say to me, that no matter how much the frog puffs out its cheeks, it is powerless against the bull. No matter how much I try, I would never keep up with this Lona. She had some super-sophisticated, very rare specialization that she had got many lifetimes ago in the vastness of the Universe for a lot of money, that is, for pious merits. She got that kind of qualification somewhere, and I would never surpass her. And he told me it was three times better on the street.

I felt so bitter about it, and I thought that these two resentments weighs heavily on my heart and do not pass — for his words that we are from different planets, and for the fact that at the street is three times better. I thought I should get weight off my shoulders. I decided that this would be the second and third actions. The second action is RA from different planets for the fact that we are from different planets, and the third action is for the fact that at the street is three times better.

286. Secret implantation as a perfect means of the covert space invasion of asuras

It was already clear to me that there were two more actions coming, but I didn't know who would be included in the third one. I was very intrigued. Shri Ram, too. Shri Ram told me that we are from different planets and that it is three times better on the street. I thought: asuras will pay for it with their life, and it would make me feel better. That night I remembered a funny song and sang it all evening.

They say that we are highway robbers and how does the earth endure us?

I am fortune teller. Give me fortune-telling cards.

I will predict the fate of the king. I will read the king's cards.

The king will have a long road tomorrow.

He has a lot of money, and I love money.

The king's card is off the table,

And his entire squad is also off the table.

Their game is up.

Nobody will know anything.

The fortune-telling cards tell the truth.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Oh, fun, fun! Fun! Fun!
Tomorrow we will rob the king!

I was very impressed with the thoughts about what kind of actions it would be. I realized that this will be very cool and serious; it will be pirates, that is, asuras, who went to different worlds to rob the inhabitants of different planets. I was agitated and couldn't sleep. I wanted to find some new song. I searched in VKontakte for a song that matched my mood and found it. I spent most of the night doing my own thing and listening to this song on my headphones. I didn't understand why I was listening to this song. I just wanted to listen to it. I listened to this song and sang along in my mind:

Our radio operator does not sleep at this night.
He goes crazy because of Morse code.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Only the iceberg above us is shaken by the Moon.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Lonely spirits of the depths,
We received in full.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Our stars faded, and now the deep dark.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.

I was listening to this song half the night and was remembering that before I destroyed Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, with whom my Mahabharata began, I sang the same song. I remembered this and thought: there are good words here — «lonely spirits of the deep, you received in full». I thought: the lonely spirits of the depths will get what they deserve in full. The asuras must pay in full for all that this Shri Ram has done to me.

I listened to this song half the night, and then I went to bed. I got up in the morning, went about my business, and kept thinking about these pirates. I wanted to see what my soothsayer, my desktop with my magic screenshots, would tell me. The first was a screenshot with Krishna saying, «And frankly, it's going to be something terrible». Then, «You don't have to think about it», and then, «You can go after him. Ram took the vow in our interests». And then there was a screenshot of Krishna holding His hand on Arjuna's shoulder as if Krishna vouches for him. I looked at this series of screenshots, wondering what all this was about, and went to take a bath. I was taking a shower, and my mind reeled with thoughts about these screenshots. I kept thinking what it might mean. I realized that Krishna had shown me that this Shri Ram was very interested in finding out what these actions would be, who would be included in these actions, and what I would do to them, but he was told that it would be something terrible. After that, he was told that he should not think about it, and I was shown that this Shri Ram took a vow in our interests, that he will not say anything to anyone. And I realized that Krishna had vouched for him. When I realized this, I started singing that song about the king again, but not the whole song, but just one verse of it. I stand in the shower, wash my hair and sing:

The king's card is off the table,
And his entire squad is also off the table.
Their game is up.
Nobody will know anything.
The cards tell the truth.

And it suddenly dawned on me what kind of third action it would be. We will take those asuras that help the asuras to, so to speak, land on different planets in different worlds as part of the landing. They, so to speak, sew their asuras into the inhabitants of those planets, and then these inhabitants give birth to these asuras. This I understood from the words «Nobody will know anything». I was singing a song in Russian. And the words in Russian were («Дело будет шито-крыто») («Nobody will know anything»). I thought that in Russian the word «шито» = «вшито куда-то» («sewn into somewhere»), and the word «крыто» = «к-рыта» = «к-рита» = «к Рита» = «к Рите» («to Rita»). Rita is a woman's name. «Шито-крыто» = «пришито к Рите» = «sewn to a woman» = «sewn into a woman» = «implanted into woman». This is when the asuras somehow sewn their babies into our women. The asuras have specialists who can do this. They know how to transfer from the asuric worlds those asuras who sign a contract to serve as part of the asuras landing force on different planets. But the asuras do not arrive there on flying saucers; they do not capture worlds as it is shown in movies. This is not the case with the asuras. For the asuras, this is a service in intelligence. They come and are born among us, and no one knows that they are an alien, an alien from other planets. Yes, we are all aliens from different planets, but we are born here just to live, and the asuras are born here purposefully, as part of a landing party on different worlds. Asur is born like us and lives like us, so that everyone thinks that he is the same as everyone else. In fact, he's not like that at all. This is an intelligence service. They act like saboteurs. There are no flying saucers, no little green men in the case of the asuras. It may be that some other creatures arrive on flying saucers, but in the case of the asuras, this is quite different. This is an intelligence service. They are born like us, by our ordinary women, like ordinary children. And they go to kindergarten, to school, to institutes and live among us as we do, but they have a different nature, because the asuras can somehow sewn their babies into our women («шито-крыто» = «вшито в женщину», that is, «sewn into a woman», «implanted into woman»). They are able to somehow sew into a woman their asuras who are in line for incarnation at the asuras landing on other planets. This is how the asuras make their invasion to different planets. They don't arrive as space invaders on spaceships. They are infiltrating and assimilating among us. Asuras be born among us and after, when their program turns on at some period of their life, they take their place in asuric network and start some kind of activity for which they came to us, were born, because everything is calculated in advance, why they are needed there.

And I realized: this is going to be terrible... these actions are really terrible. These will be great asuras. Asuras sew in the asuras into women, and I will destroy those who do all this, in all these worlds, in all asuric landings at different planets, different worlds of the material world. It turns out that I have such an order! I have the assignment of destroying those asuras in the landing of asuras in different worlds, who are sewing in the asuras into women.

I felt very sad. I remembered how Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuras, was sewing these asuric babies into me and how Shri Ram was sewing them into me. I remembered orgasms without the slightest touch in some strange ways, without the presence of anyone, without any body movements at all, just a kind of numbness and a sense of unearthly bliss, after which Borka checked whether they were sewn into me. I remembered how Shri Ram somehow cut them out of me, on some energy plane of existence, because I wasn't going to give birth to them. Asur are sewing into woman on some energetic plane of existence into female organs, and after that, when a woman undergoes usual fertilization with an ordinary man, this asur sewn into her gets the opportunity, so to speak, to develop his cover story, like a saboteur in the enemy territory. He gets this physical shell, the zygote. He is becoming the early human embryo. Then he is implanting into a womb and evolving as an autonomous organism towards its full development into a human foetus. DNA testing will show that his parents are the ordinary people who gave him life. But actually asur captured this zygote. This asur was transferred from some asuric worlds. He was sewn into woman. He was implanted into this woman. This asur is born after this woman has ordinary sex with an ordinary man, although the implanting of this asur happened long before on some energy plane of existence, without the slightest touch in some strange ways, without the personal presence of the asur who did it all. The woman does not know anything. She had something like some kind of energy sex, which is not sex at all, because there was no sex in principle, but there was a feeling similar to at sex, and the feeling was absolutely gorgeous. And this implanting asur can be in a woman in such an unmanifested state for many years, waiting for him to get this zygote and begin to develop and when he will begin to develop his cover story in the service in intelligence. He can sit like this for years. But it is not profitable for asuras. If a woman fails to conceive normally, or she does not want to give birth, or something goes wrong, for example, there is no suitable man or something else, and then the asuras can embroider this sewn-in asur from this woman and sew him into another woman. It's a very complicated scheme that brings to mind about surrogacy.

I realized: I will take those asuras who sews into women the asuras from asuric worlds, so that these women give birth to children, who look like ordinary children, but who are actually asuras, changelings. Such a covert invisible space invasion of the asuras. No one will guess that this way you can conduct an invasion and then imperceptibly rob the people, completely imperceptibly affecting them at the energy plane of existence and siphoning off their pious merits, which are actually treasures. In order to receive these pious merits, the people perform virtuous acts, ascetic feats, and fast, help others, dig wells. They plant trees around roads, feed the needy. They donate to good causes, curb their feelings, pacify their flesh, make pilgrimages to Holy places, follow their duty, but the asuras, like pirates, rob these people and instead them received the fruits of pious deeds. They are just stealing someone else's pious merits, like hackers stealing money from someone else's accounts. And to do this, they are introduced into the environment of inhabitants of different planets using the technology of invisible implantation of asuras into women.

I thought the king's card is off the table and his entire squad is also off the table. Their game is up. I was given such an order that I need to destroy the king, that is, the main asuras who contributes to the invisible invasion of the asuras at different planets of the material world. They are performing asuric secret procedure, that is, the sewing of the asuras into women. Also I need to destroy the all his squad, all those who are involved in the implantation the asuric babies into women for giving birth to asuras at different planets of the material world.

287. One hundred percent undercover: the invisible space invasion of the asuras on different planets through their birth there

Yes, the asuras are very resourceful. They came up with a scheme for invading different planets. They sew their asuras into women, into female organs, in some kind of energy state. Thus they are making their invasion to different planets among inhabitants of different planets — so that they are not noticeable, so that everyone thinks that they are the same as all the inhabitants. For example, we are Earthmen here, because we live at planet Earth. And the asuras on Earth make their invasion in the same way. Asuras assimilates among us, as on other planets, in other worlds. They don't fly to us in flying saucers, they don't come to us as conquerors. They are simply born among us, just as we are. But in order to be born, they go through some kind of procedure, when the asur is moved here, to the planet Earth, at some energy ray from some asuric worlds. This asur somehow energetically, in an unmanifest state, is placed in some kind of energy capsule, as if in suspended animation. This energy capsule is placed into a woman's ovaries. And this asur can be for a long time in this energy capsule inside her ovaries, because he is placed in suspended animation, in an unmanifested state. Asur can be for years in a woman's ovaries, without showing his presence in any way. And when this woman undergoes conventional fertilization, as we all have, this asur in an energy capsule, who came to us unnoticed from the asuric worlds at some energy ray, gets the opportunity to start his work as a part of invisible space invasion of the asuras.

During ovulation, the egg exits the follicle in the ovaries and goes into the Fallopian tube. Sperm swim through the vagina into Fallopian tube, where spermatozoa attack this fertilizable egg, but it opens its doors only to one spermatozoon. This spermatozoon is already pre-determined, because all this happens according to karma. And when the egg merges with the spermatozoon, forming a zygote, into inside this zygote comes that soul, which should become the child of a couple who had the sexual act, as a result of which this zygote was formed. But in the case when the asur in the ovaries of a woman waits for moment when a zygote will formed at this woman, everything goes according to a different scenario. Somehow, at this moment, this asur is hatching from his energy capsule and throwing out the soul that came to this couple, out of this zygote.

This asur acts like a newly hatched cuckoo. The adult cuckoo puts its eggs in someone else's nests, and when the newly little cuckoo hatches, it throws eggs and even chicks out of this nest, getting rid of competitors. The little cuckoo hatches not at home, not near his mother under her wing, but in someone else's nest, where his own mother threw him. The same is true in the case of an embryo implantation operation, at a sophisticated scheme of the asuras for their invasion and assimilation among the inhabitants of different planets. Asuras sew into the ovaries of woman some kind of energy capsule with asur in the unmanifested state. And when such a woman has an ordinary fertilization and a zygote is formed, that is, a kind of nest in which her child, who came to her by karma, should grow, the energy capsule is opening. Asur awakens from suspended animation, leaves the energy capsule and throws child, soul, which should have been born at this couple, out of zygote of this child, out of its nest. This asur throws out child out of zygote, just as the newly hatched cuckoo pushes its competitors out of the nest into which it was placed by the mother cuckoo. And this child does not come to his parents, because his place is occupied. The zygote, to which he had every right and which was supposed to be his personal nest, becomes occupied by some asur. And thus this asur gets a fully functioning spy cover.

Similarly, when a spy network is introduced on the territory of a foreign country, the participants of this network create a cover story, in order to live among the humans undetected. As in books and movies, these embedded agents memorize the backstory, an ostentatious life for a spy, where they lived, who they were friends with, and what school they went to. And many of these agents really live there like everyone else, pretending to be their own, but in fact they are preparing for their espionage activities. The asuras have the same thing. When a woman is fertilized and a zygote is formed, this asur occupies this zygote and begins to create his own cover story. But he is helped by craftsmen who are able to sew into women the asuras who are transferred to us from the asuric worlds through some energy ray in some energy state.

How do these craftsmen sew them into women? Somehow they do it. It's like this woman has sex, but there's no sex, because there's no man around. And the woman doesn't do anything. But she feels like ordinary sex is happening. It seems like sex and at the same time not sex, but energy sexual interaction, as a result of which a woman has a disclosure of female organs. And when this disclosure happens, this craftsman-asur sews into ovaries an asur transferred from the asuric worlds. He sews this asur inside an energy capsule somehow into her ovaries in some kind of energy state, in order to this asur waits there for it to hatch and throw out of the formed zygote the soul that came to this couple. And this woman, into whom this asur was sewn in an energy capsule, does not even realize that, it turns out, some asur was implanted into her. This woman does not know that this asur will take the place of her expected child. She does not know that her expected child would not be born at them, since the zygote intended for her child will be captured by the asur who will go in there and pretend that this is his place. And this asur is born and lives as all. And no one will think that this is not their child who would come to them, but some kind of the changeling, asur.

And I decided that all such craftsmen who know how to fulfill the embryo implantation at the souls transfer techniques I will delete from the list of asuras and send them to future lives to serve Krishna. In the song about the king that I sang when I washed my hair in the shower, and from which I learned about them, there were words that the king's card is off the table. From here, I realized that I will take those who do all this, implants. But there are also words that his entire squad is also off the table. Their game is up. That is, I realized that I have such a task, such an order — to destroy not only those asuras who implants asuras into the inhabitants of different planets, but also his entire squad. I thought: most likely, these are the ones who help carry out this operation the embryo implantation, or maybe these are the ones who are implanted and should have settled in this zygote and grown up as the child of this couple? This hatching asur occupies someone else's zygote, and real owner of this zygote are thrown out. This asur is born to those parents like a newly hatched cuckoo, although they think that this is their child. In principle, it is so from a physical point of view. He is born at them as their child. The chromosomes of this so-called newly hatched cuckoo are the chromosomes of these parents. The zygote after all created from their egg and sperm, but the soul there is completely different. But from a physical point of view no one sees what kind of soul is there.

But this phrase «The king's card is off the table and his entire squad is also off the table. Their game is up» was very confusing to me. Because I understood that it was necessary to destroy all those who were implanted and was waiting or had already had for the moment to capture someone else's zygote, in order to begin to develop their cover story, so that the Invisible space invasion of the asuras would be successful. I was also told about this by screenshots from the Mahabharata with the words: «Neither fertilizer nor pruning the branches of a rotten tree will make its fruit either sweet or useful. But when a tree produces only bitter fruit, it must be uprooted and be replaced by with a tree that will bear sweet fruit». I knew that I would have to include in the third action those asuras who were implanted, sewn into women.

And when it all came to me, I thought: that's what I was hunting for when I said to Shri Ram through the words of the eighth episode of the fifth season of the movie «Once Upon a Time»: «I will tell everything, but not before I finish what I started». «Why?» — «When you find out what I'm hunting for, you will make every effort to prevent me». I will destroy many asuras, and cool RA, big, so to speak, kings who conduct subversive activities on different planets in different worlds. And also I will destroy those who sew in of asuric babies into women, doing an embryo implantation operation, at a sophisticated scheme of the asuras for their invasion and assimilation among the inhabitants of different planets. I will destroy those who provide in General the possibility of this intervention, this landing, this service in intelligence. And it turns out that it's my assignment. I thought: Yes, indeed, this is a serious assignment. But I thought that if I took this assignment, it means that I will fulfill it, because I observe only one rule — not to retreat until the work is done.

288. A hornets' nest

It was August 2019. I have already been shown that we have to perform three actions, and I realized who will enter these actions, but what awaits those asuras who will go on the second and third actions, I did not know at the time. I waited for it to be revealed to me. In the 20th of August, it was revealed to me who the asuras who entered the second action would become. I received the new friend Request in VKontakte from a girl who was a devotee of Krishna. I am wary of these requests, because I know that the asuras have such tactics. They themselves or through someone send the friend Requests to different persons, and when person accepts this request, this person thus give the agreement to the asuras for the indistinguishable and unspoken question of the allowing them to begin to influence this person in any way for success in asuric pirating activities, siphoning off his pious merits and using this person in the interests of the asuras, at a distance, at the energy plane of existence. I give rarely the agreement to a new friend Request. But then I went to the page of this girl. She had many posts with quotes from Srila Prabhupada. I thought that Srila Prabhupada's quotes would be useful in my news feed, so I added her to my friends list.

And somehow I look: on her wall there were posts about Srila Prabhupada, and then suddenly posts began to appear with attacks on ISKCON's spiritual masters, saying that they are doing everything wrong and, in general, they are not spiritual masters. I was putting up with it for a while, and then I see: she wrote badly about my Gurudev. Like, there are always a lot of girls around him, he does not drive them away from himself, and he has an unhealthy attraction to little girls. I could not stand it and answered her post. I wrote that my eldest daughter, when she was still a Junior high school girl, was also constantly near my Gurudev, and even once she sat next to him on his vyasasana all through his Vyasa Puja in St. Petersburg in 1996. And he always was singling her out from all the girls, and she was always there for him. Everyone even called her mahaprasad. I was always there, and there were no shameful tendencies at all. I was very indignant at her words, and I wrote all this to her in response to her attack on my Gurudev. But there was a whole group of attackers. They all attacked me and started pouring mud on my Gurudev. I thought: what the hell is going on? It's a hornet's nest. I thought Srila Prabhupada was there, but there were insults and accusations.

I tried to stand up for my Gurudev. But they began to write that he arranges kirtans at punk festivals. Like, he is considered a spiritual master, but he dances on Woodstock with drug addicts and punks. Like, a spiritual master is pure and sets an example of purity, but he does not hesitate to be in the crowd of those dirty degenerates and arranges devilish dances with the self-destructive drug addicts and rockers. And they were talking this rubbish about my Gurudev. I began to write to them, saying that instead of accusing people who are trying to reveal at least something bright in the minds of people who are mired in ignorance and sin, do something good yourself. I began to write to them that it would be good to direct their efforts in the right direction, so that they open people's eyes to the fact that the world around them is heading to hell and that people go the direct path into animal life forms. I wrote to them that if they have such a need to denounce someone, then let them shift their focus to exposing how the media, advertising, and corporations are setting people up for an increasing immersion into animal lifestyles, are manipulating them by imposing artificial needs and increasingly unbridled, shameless behavior. I wrote to them that we should live together, help each other, and not pour mud on those who bring the light of knowledge to people and give them the hand of a friend. But they did not calm down.

At the end, a girl from that group started shouting that she had lost her best years to this shitty Krishna consciousness. Well, just like a wife shouting to her husband that he stole her best years of life, that she spent all her youth on him. And that girl, too, also began to shout there, that she put her life on them and with what was left? I tried to explain to her that when you go to College, you choose a specialty and study there, but if after a few years of study, suddenly you want to switch to another specialty in another Institute, will you really yell about the old Institute that the old Institute is bad and stole the best years of your life? Are you going to stand at all the intersections and shout that you spent so much of your precious time on this faculty and that you thrown a lot of money at it? Would she start screaming that everything was in vain, that all the same she moved to another institute? I tried to explain to that girl that she came there herself, was there herself, she needed it for something. Maybe it gave her some help, some support, so that she could continue to live and achieve some kind of success. I tried to tell her that if the previous Institute was not necessary for her, it does not mean that it is shitty and the teachers in it are all stupid and not teachers at all, but charlatans with purchased diplomas, and put a D-minus instead of an a-plus. I tried to explain something to them, but they couldn't understand. And then I thought that I could not convince them in any way, this is a useless activity. If they're so yapping jackals, then let them YAP, but I can't do anything there.

I thought I thought that I could not fight these frenzied attackers on spiritual masters. I can't fight these attackers. Whatever I say, they don't want to hear it. They don't take it in advance. Nothing affects them. And I thought that those RA, big asuras on different planets, who can break anyone, who were included in our second action, would have coped with these attackers in an elementary way. And these yapping jackals would be good prey for these big RA, who on different planets of the material world as part of the asuras' landing force came to coordinate the asuras' pirate activities there and who can crush anyone. I thought: we must throw those asuras, RA, against these frantic attackers. I thought it was a good idea. These rabid assailants don't want to hear anything. They just want to pour the mud the good people; they are not interested in anything else. Maybe asuras took pious merits out of them, and now they can not perceive spiritual values, they do not have enough piety for this, so they became such, lost the opportunity to see the good that is given to them. I thought maybe they were just victims. Their consciousness was crushed. Their complexes and low-lying desires were activated. They were forced to do the wrong thing. Their piety was scooped from them, and now they can't see the good that comes to them. And that's why they squeak from below, like mice that wants roaring like a lion, because they can't see what's up there.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that we should set those asuras, RA from different planets, against such aggressive mice that wants roaring like a lion. They, the big asuras, RA, will definitely be able to cope with those mice. These mice that wants roaring like a lion are too many. I thought that I don't have the strength to fight this phenomenon, but something must be done about it. And I thought: if I can do something as an inspector of the Universe Patrol, if I have any opportunities, then I will take advantage of it. I decided that I want to create an army of those who can put such aggressive growling mice in place so that these aggressive mice stop pouring dirt on those who help people return to the spiritual world. Those attackers will come to their senses, ask forgiveness in public, say that they were wrong, and will become the same as my Gurudev. They will become sincere fearless preachers of Krishna consciousness, who are aiming at real affairs, so that as many people as possible become drawn into Krishna consciousness, love it and return to the spiritual world. And it will be good.

There must be someone who will stop this stream of filth and make all those spreading these lies do good deeds for Krishna consciousness. And I thought that just these asuras, RA from different planets, who are masters in this, are suitable for this role. They are perfect for this. And I decided that I would make them in order to all those denigrators would be reoriented from attacking the devotees of Krishna into peacefully cooperating with them. All those denigrators would attack those who are contributing to the degradation of the population. RA from different planets will do this.

289. The mission is to tear out all the thorns from this garden

I already understood what these RA from different planets will do. These RA are great asuras. They are at the forefront of the asuras landing on different planets. They lead the asuric organizations on different planets, in different worlds, including ours. The asuras come to different planets, settle there and pump the pious merits out of the inhabitants of those planets, because pious merits are the treasures that space pirates chase after. Pirates are always after treasure! But space pirates are not chasing after gold, because this gold can also be bought when you have pious merits. But if you don't have any pious merits, you can't reach that gold. But if there are pious merits, then there will be gold, and good health, and love, and a happy childhood, success, strength, power, and anything. The pious merits are a true treasure for space pirates, that is, for the asuras.

And these space pirates, asuras, these RA, are able to crush the consciousness of anyone. They are able to manipulate the mind and can force anyone to do what they need. This happens completely unnoticed for the person. A man thinks that he thinks it. He thinks he wants it. He thinks that his decision is his, that he decided everything. Nothing like that! In fact, these are not his thoughts at all, not his desires, not his decisions. These thoughts were thrown into his mind. The asuras had pressed on his mind, and said inaudibly to him, «Trust me! Do it! Do it!» And a person with such a crushed consciousness thinks that these thoughts are what he thinks. And he does what is necessary to the asuras, who forced him to do so. And I decided that these big asuras, RA from different planets, will continue their activities. They will continue to influence others, manipulate consciousness. They will take with them all their skills and abilities to influence others, but they will do so in order to help the devotees of Krishna. All of them will be transferred to us to here on Earth for many lifetimes. But before that, they will stop being asuras and become devotees of Krishna, I decided.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Their fate was already clear to me. They will break any attackers on Krishna consciousness. At the same time, they will not break anyone's legs and arms, of course. They will use their remarkable abilities and incredible powers that are not visible to anyone, and they will make these attackers apologize and completely change their attitude to ISKCON, to Krishna consciousness, to Srila Prabhupada, to the spiritual masters of Krishna consciousness. They will make these attackers move their desire to attack at someone into acting on expose of the vices of this world. This is a good thing. Rather than yapping at those who do something good to people, it is better to yap at those who contribute to the degradation of people. And these RA from different planets will reformat all attackers. These RA will snatch from all the attackers the sinful tongue, which sling mud on those who help lost souls return to the spiritual world. These RA will snatch from all the attackers the sinful tongue not physically, of course. They won't physically touch anyone. Because they have their own unbelievable capacities, which the asuras have. They are able to make manipulations of consciousness and to crush any consciousness, to force any person to that it is necessary for them. And if someone wants to humiliate and sling mud on the devotees of Krishna, then this naive fool will attract the attention of our former RA from different planets. This RA from different planets will accept this challenge and use his superpowers. To do this, he will not need to deal with the attackers personally. And even, he will not need to enter a verbal altercation with them. Although if he wants to amuse himself, then welcome. He knows how to do everything. He has all the ability to do it, and if he took up the case, no one can block his way. He used to be asur, the big RA. And if he is RA, then he made any great achievements, he has passed a lot of things. He has such a hardening, such training, that he will never stop halfway. And this former RA, accepting the attacker's challenge, will tell him mentally, «Stop talking nonsense!» If he wants to, then he will tell him in person, or in correspondence, or somewhere else. I don't know how they will act. I think each RA has his own advances, favorite means of manipulating.

If those attackers begin to sling mud him, trying to stop him, then this will not hurt him, because he was a big RA, under whom there was a huge organization of asuras, and everyone was obedient to his will. And he always will feel such greatness in himself, because he was running the whole thing. He was the overall commander. When he was RA, he ruled all the bigwigs of the planets where he was, but here he is attacked by a small mosquito. Here he is attacked by the mouse that wants to roar like a lion. This mouse squeak is nothing to him. And he will mentally send these mouses an order: «Stop talking nonsense! Execute my command!» And they will not be able to reflect this in any way. Because if this ex-RA from different planets gave an order and hold some kind of manipulation of consciousness, this will definitely work. Then those attackers will be crushed and say, «There is no reason to argue. We'll be good from now on». And all the prickles that pricked and tried to hurt will stop being prickles and say, «Yes, I said bad things about Krishna devotees, about spiritual masters, but now I take it all back. I was wrong. It won't happen again, I swear. Anyway, if I said something wrong, it's not really what I wanted to say. That's not what I wanted to say».

And the RA from different planets, who broke this thorn, will mentally say to those thorns, «You said a lot of bad things, you, of course, repented, but look, as soon as we need your help, be ready to use your abilities in our interests». And all those prickles, of course, will obey the order of this former RA, take the oath of allegiance to the devotees of Krishna, say that they were wrong, ask for forgiveness, and will peacefully coexist with the devotees of Krishna. It's like how Singaporeans live peacefully. Singaporeans are a unique nation. Ethnic Chinese, Indians, Malays, and Europeans all coexist on the same territory not just peacefully, but with full acceptance and support for each other. And those former thorns will be reoriented by these RA from different planets and will coexist with the devotees of Krishna not just peacefully, but with full acceptance and support of each other.

As for the family and social status of these RA from different planets, I decided that of course they will be devotees of Krishna; they will have family, because women need protection and because if a man is not a renounced person, a monk, then he must be married. He must fulfill his role as a protector, because the Dharma of a man is to protect a woman. And so each of them will be happily married every life. With money, material provision, they will also be fine, because in order to muzzle all those prickles, they must have all the opportunities for communication, in order to see those attackers. They will be well enough socialized and successful to have a broad overview. To use their unique abilities, they must see their goal. And in order to see your goal, so as not to miss it, you need to have a wide overview.

I decided that I would definitely hold this second action. Because I'm as a little mouse, I can't do anything with those attackers, I can't shut them up in any way. But I can create an army of those who can do it. Because Krishna said that it is necessary to unite our efforts. And we need that those who attack to act in our favor.

290. Live on earth without a wife is a sin!

And then I began to reveal who those asuras who were included in our third action would become. I already knew which asuras would be included in the third action, but I didn't know what they would be. But I was already told, at this stage, through a screenshot from the Mahabharata, to give them even more. This screenshot came out at a time when I was thinking about whom these asuras would become, and when I opened my desktop with my magic screenshots. The first screenshot was with the words «Give them even more». I thought: I don't know what I'm going to give them, what they're going to be, but I have already been told to give them even more. I thought: well, the humorists up there... I have not yet been told what to give them, but I have already been told that we need to give them even more. I thought that I would become a death star that would burn all such asuras who performed the implantation of asuric babies into women on different planets. I will burn not only those who did it, but also his entire squad, because I was told about them that the king's card is off the table and his entire squad is also off the table. Their game is up. It is necessary to take more asuras into this action, entire squad, along with all those who somehow participated in that operation of stitching asuras into women. I will burn all their artel, which was performing implanting the asuric babies into women at a beyond technology of the asuras for their invasion and assimilation among the inhabitants of different planets. And the woman does not even realize that, it turns out, she has in her womb not the child who came to her, but some asur who threw her child out of its legitimate physical shell at the stage of zygote. I understood that it is necessary to include in this action not only the kings who are the most important in this case, but also all their henchmen, that is, his entire squad, and even those asuras-changelings, whom they implanted.

I thought: what will they be? A metaphorical associative card gave me a hint about this. At the time, I was playing another game with metaphorical association cards. And when I was thinking about what the asuras in the third action would be, I got another card in this game. It shows a girl sitting on a chair, rolling an apple on a plate, dressed in some kind of eskimo outfit with colorful embroidery on the chest, in boots, with a red scarf wrapped around her head, with two long braids and the smoking tube in mouth. When I looked at this card, I remembered the performance about Hanuma, which I watched many times on TV during my youth. I don't know why, but this girl with the smoking tube in her mouth reminded me of Hanuma from that performance. I remembered Hanuma and in the game with metaphoric associative cards began to say about her. I remembered a song that this Hanuma`s sings, and I sang it all day. There were such words in this song:

Ever since the creation of light, there is no better matchmaker in the world than I am!
I'm at work day-and-night, helping the human race.

Just as there can be no table without a host, just as there can be no river without water, just as there can be no market without persimmons, the wedding cannot be without Hanuma.

It is a sin to drink alone.

It is a sin to be single.

Live on earth without a wife is a sin!

Whether you are young or old, I will pick up any product suitable for the price.

You will tell me thanks!

Whether you are a prince or a merchant, a bachelor or a widower, be you at least more than a hundred years old, I will find a good wife for all single men!

It is a sin to drink alone.

It is a sin to be single.

Live on earth without a wife is a sin!

I sang this song all day, and then it dawned on me that this song is about these asuras from the third action. I saw that I was in this song said that I'm a genius matchmaker, can find a good wife to anyone man and that to be alone is a sin, to drink alone is a sin, to live on earth without a wife is the sin. I looked at these words of Hanuma, which I had been singing all day, and thought: that's right. It's the appropriate response. Those asuras were sewing their asuric babies in some kind of energy capsule into the woman. They didn't take any responsibility for this woman. Their business was only the implantation the asuric babies. How woman would have lived after that, having given birth, in fact, not to her child, but to some asur, no one cared anymore. The main thing is that the asuric baby was sewn into her. And no one cared about how she would live to this child-asur when he was growing up. When his asuric program will be turned on, it will be her problems. No one took any responsibility for her, no one helped her. She herself had to endure his asuric character and inclinations.

No one cared how she would live with this child. This child is seems to be her child, but it at the same time actually came as part of the asuras landing party on this planet and is actually an asur. She is giving birth to a child not by the man with whom she lives. And it is not clear what kind of personal proclivities will manifest at this child during its growth, because this child was conceived in fact by asur and is the member of the imperceptible invasion of asuras to this planet. The asuras sewed this baby into her and then abandoned her. Not anyone cares how she will live. This will be her problem. And it is unknown what kind of child is there, what programs, abilities, perhaps not the most pleasant, character traits this child has. This asur was implanted into her. She raises it as her own child, although this child squeezed her child out of zygote. And, having pushed out this child, the asuric baby took the place of real child, just as a little cuckoo, thrown into someone else's nest, pushes out of it the chicks for which this nest was intended. Woman is giving birth and raises a little cuckoo thrown into her nest, into a zygote that was intended for her real child. And it turns out that she is raising a foundling, the changeling. And those who implanted this foundling into her do not take any responsibility for anything. If something happens to her, then how she will raise this foundling, who is an asur, no one of the asuras cares. I thought that the asuras were implanting their changelings into the woman and did not take any responsibility for her, and now they will be sewn to the woman, and now they will take full responsibility for her. I thought that is the appropriate response.

291. «My Guru Maharaj has created an army of sannyases, and I will create an army of grihasthas»

From the words that it is a sin to drink alone, that it is a sin to be alone, that it is a sin to live on earth without a wife, I realized that these asuras were performing their secret procedure of the sewing of the asuras into women, and now they will live on Earth, because we have on Earth now open a window into the spiritual world. These asuras will cease to be asuras, and they will be born on Earth, and they will all be married. This will be their mission. They will take a wife, one wife every life.

Whether you are young or old, I will pick up for you any product suitable for the price.

You will tell me thanks!

These asuras will thank me because they will be very happily married every life. Each of them will have only one woman for their life. One wife for life. And he would live with her all his life. And when the time comes for the end of her life, after a short time, he, too, will end his existence, to be born again and take a wife for life, but now another woman. And every life he will take as his wife a woman who is a devotee of Krishna and who wants to return to the spiritual world. These asuras were performing their secret procedure, that is, the sewing of the asuras into women. They performed contactless artificial fertilization of women of different planets, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and the implantation the asuric babies into women for giving birth to asuras at different planets of the material world. They were sewing the asuric babies into female organs of women, that is, implanting the asuric babies into women. They were performing this at the energy plane of existence. We'll take all the asuras, who conducted the operation to sewing the asuras into women. Now each of those asuras will be sewn to woman like patches are sewn to a pocket of the trousers. Every life he will marry to woman, a devotee of Lord Krishna, who wants to return to the spiritual world. He would be her husband, and he would take full responsibility for her. He will do everything for her so that during this one life with him she will return to the spiritual world in a favorable way.

They were performing the operation to sewing asuras into women of different planets, in order to these women gave birth to those asuras as their children. Now they will be sewn to a woman for a lifetime. They will do everything to protect her from the influence of the material world, to help this mataji return to the spiritual world during this one life, when she will live with him. They will be the springboards for mataji. They will be devotees of Krishna, will observe all the four regulative principles given by Srila Prabhupada: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling. They will chant Hare Krishna and make a lot of money because it will be necessary to create for this mataji full protection, a springboard for her to return to the spiritual world. He will ensure that she does not come into contact with this world, is not forced to go to work, do something there, report to someone there, and fit to what someone will say somewhere there. He will make a lot of money so that she will not deal the outside world if she does not want to. But she will want to return to the spiritual world, and therefore all these contacts with the dirt of the material world will not be interesting or necessary for her. She will want to return to the spiritual world, and he will create a completely protected space for his wife to her return into the spiritual world. And he will treat his wife like a goddess. Because in fact, after this life with him, she will go to the spiritual world, and in this case, she is really a goddess for him.

They will be a springboard for those mataji. She will sit on him and he will carry her to the spiritual world, and after successfully completing his mission, he will go to be reborn to take on the next mataji who wants to return to the spiritual world. And in this way life after life he will be such the means of transport. They were performing their secret procedure, that is, the sewing of the asuras into women. They were sewing the asuric babies into female organs of women, that is, implanting the asuric babies into women. They were performing this at the energy plane of existence. There they took no responsibility for her, and here they will take full responsibility. They will act without wanting to enjoy the results. It's vairagya, actions without attachment to its fruits. And of course, all of them will thank me, because to help some soul return to the spiritual world is great mercy. They will receive a lot of blessings.

When I realized what they would be, I remembered Srila Prabhupada's words. He said, «My Guru Maharaj has created an army of sannyases, and I will create an army of grihasthas». And I thought that I will help Srila Prabhupada with this. I, using my official powers of an inspector of the Universe Patrol, will contribute to the creation of this army of grihasthas. I thought that if I am completely worthless in my real life, then I can imagine myself an inspector of the Universe Patrol who have unlimited powers and incredible powers, and who can to create an army of grihasthas, family people who live not for the enjoyment of their senses, but to serve Krishna. Srila Prabhupada said that he wants to create an army of grihasthas. I thought, «Srila Prabhupada, I will help you as much as I can». I will unleash a powerful blow of a murderous fire at those asuras who were sewing their asuras into women instead of their real children, and make those asuras an army of grihasthas, who will be real grihasthas, an example for everyone. They will marry a single mataji every life who wants to return to Krishna, to the spiritual world. I decided to make a lot of them. The king's card is off the table, and his entire squad is also off the table. Their game is up. It is necessary to take more asuras in this action, entire squad, along with all those who somehow participated in that operation of stitching asuras into women. They were sewing asuras into women, and now they will be sewn to women like patches are sewn to a pocket of the trousers. Because Srila Prabhupada said that he would create an army of grihasthas. He did not say how he would create this army. Therefore, this army can be created even in this way. And they will be real men. When they were as part of the landing of asuras on different planets, they did not take any responsibility for any woman they sewed asuras into, but now every life they will take 100 per cent responsibility for the woman to whom he will be sewn, who will be his wife. He will bring her back to the spiritual world in the most favorable way. Because he took 100 per cent responsibility for her. This will be a real man. Now, they say, there are no real men, but they will become real men. Those asuras who were performing the operation to sewing asuras into women of different planets, in order to these women gave birth to those asuras as their children, did not take into account the desires of those women. Those asuras believed that they had the right to decide someone's fate, and now we will decide their fate. We will make of them an army of grihasthas, such an army of grihasthas as Srila Prabhupada wanted to create. We'll take all the asuras, who conducted the operation to sewing the asuras into women. We will take them together with all their squad, with all those who were in their artel and who somehow participated in this sewing into, and also we will take all the asuras who being in energical capsules, were sewn into women for birth at them. We will take all of them and make them real men.

I thought: what a capacious name for this action — «The reusable space shuttles». There they were doing operation of stitching asuras into women, and here they will be sewn to a woman, in every life to a single one woman. And when I decided all this, I wanted to see what the metaphorical association cards would tell me about it. I was given a card with a man and a woman drawn on it. The man is located at the bottom, turned to the ground, and the woman above him, turned to the sky. I looked at this card and thought: that's the truth, that's how it is. He, a man, will fully provide the material basis, will work, earn money, and do everything for this woman. She will be aimed at the spiritual world, and she will return there. I looked at this card and thought: how amazing the metaphorical association cards work, everything is explained so clearly and simply. It's A wonderful tool for getting signs of the Universe, explanations of all sorts of different situations, even this one.

292. Russian rolling pins are harder than American ones

When I understood what the asuras at the third action would be like, I remembered that I had been told to give them even more. This was said to me before I understood what they would become. And I thought: what can I give them more? I felt a little sorry for them, but in confirmation that this should be done, I got a screenshot with the words: «They deserved punishment, Panchali». And I decided that since they deserved to be punished, we would do it. Still, I didn't have a clue what else to give them. And then I had read Srila Prabhupada's Vyasa Puja Offering in the news feed on VKontakte. There my Gurudev said, «This morning, while reading the Fourth Canto of Srimad Bhagavatam, I came across a comment through which you seemed to speak directly to me: „Having received spiritual initiation and listened to the instructions of the spiritual master, the disciple should drop all doubts and think about how to fulfill these instructions without being distracted by anything else. The instructions of the spiritual master should become the goal and meaning of the disciple's life. He should not think about whether he will return home to God, his first duty is to follow the instructions of his guru. Therefore, the disciple must constantly meditate onto the instructions of the spiritual master, and then his meditation will be perfect. The disciple should not only think about the instructions of the spiritual master, but also look for ways and means by which he can fulfill them, thus worshipping the words of his guru“». And I began to think about what to give those asuras more. I began to meditate on it and wait for what kind of hint I will get about it.

And then I wanted to listen to my Gurudev's lecture. I've wanted to listen to this lecture for a long time, but there was no time for this. But that time I turned lecture on and started to listen it. This is a lecture called «Don't waste your time. Odessa. Indradyumna Swami». There Gurudev said that some man worked at the World Trade Center in New York on the 103rd floor. But on the day when two airplanes hit the Twin Towers of World Trade Center, he was not in his office. At this time, he went for a walk with his mistress, instead of work at the office. He was having fun with his mistress far beyond the city limits. When those Twin Towers of the World Trade Center collapsed, he didn't even know it. But at that time his wife called him. She was shouting anxiously into the phone to ask him if he was all right. Because she knew that he had to be at his workplace, but the airplanes had already hit the Twin Towers, and the World Trade Center had collapsed, and a lot of people had died, and she was very worried about him. But he calmly told her into the phone that he was fine. She asked him where he was, and he said that right now he was in his workplace, in the Twin Towers. And my Gurudev said in that lecture that when that man came home, he was faced with great difficulties, because when he told his wife that he was in the office, his office no longer existed. When he got home, his wife was waiting for him at the door with a rolling pin in her hands and saying that he was lucky that he did not die. My Gurudev said that Russian rolling pins are harder than American ones and you have to be careful if you is married to a Russian woman.

When I heard this story, I felt funny, but I thought: this clue came to me in the lecture of my Gurudev. I remembered Gurudeva's words to Srila Prabhupada: «This morning, while reading the Fourth Canto of Srimad Bhagavatam, I came across a comment through which you seemed to speak directly to me». I thought: I have the same. I was just listening to a lecture and came across a comment that seemed to tell me directly what to give more to those asuras. We need to do that they will never look to other women and that they will do their job honestly. If you married a woman, then transport her into the spiritual world. One unnecessary step and the game is over. No trial, no jury, straight to execution. I thought that the right decision is to give them this. And I thought that we should do something to them to develop a stable conditioned reflex at them. If he will want to look at other woman, then he immediately will had a kind of electric shock, and that it was immediately clear why he was being punished. He will look at some other woman, he will want her, and at that moment he will as if be shocked by electric current, and he will immediately say, «It is forbidden». Several times he will be hit like that, and he will understand everything. He will understand why it is so, and will be afraid. He will be afraid to even look at the side, at other women. Because we do them in order to they will transport every life only one mataji — who wants to return to the spiritual world. And he will return her to the spiritual world. And there should be no wrong steps. And for this it is necessary to develop a conditioned reflex at them.

I remembered: I had something like that when the law of karma was revealed to me, in the years of my youth, when nobody knew about the law of karma. I was working in a place after the Institute, and a young guy came up to me one day and asked me, «Do you know the musical notes? I want to learn how to play a musical instrument, but I don't know the musical notes. Please, help me». He must have heard me singing and decided to address me. I didn't want to explain anything to him, so I said I didn't know the musical notes. Immediately, as soon as he went away, I went outside on some business and, not noticing an open manhole in the ground, fell down an open manhole with one foot. I was in a lot of pain, I scraped my leg, but it didn't break and I was still alive. And at that moment, I immediately realized the law of karma in action. I could have shown that young guy the musical notes in five minutes, but I didn't want to, I refused, although he came to me with the pure intention, with the hope that he would be helped. I realized my mistake, found him and explained everything to him. And this time I remembered this case and thought that these asuras in the third action should get vaccination. I need to explain to them that if he looks at another woman, then he will be hit very painfully right away, in order to he is afraid to even think about it.

I thought I should assign them something very harsh, very painful, only for him, for the man, but so that his wife would not be affected in any way. I thought that it should be like a strokes of the lash for him for any step to the side, so that he did not even have the idea to somehow cheat, do something wrong. I thought: it is necessary to think of such a punishment for him that it would be clear, very painful, and harsh. It is necessary that this blow immediately hit him, as an electric current strikes the mouse in the learning maze, so that the mouse remembers the wrong moves and the next time does not repeat them. And I got the idea that a good shock for him would be balanoposthitis or something like that to his genitals, so that he can understand what exactly is he punished for. If he will want another woman, then he will immediately receive a strong blow to his genitals. It will hurt him so much that he will howl from the pain. It will not affect her; she will not be affected in any way. It will hurt only him. And I decided: this is right, this is good. It will be operation «You are breaking my balls».

I thought that Srila Prabhupada said that he wanted to create an army of grihasthas, and that we could create such an army of grihasthas. I decided: we will create such an army of grihasthas. We will take more asuras for the third action and make them real men. They will never look at other women. Because we will give them even more. We'll perform operation «You are breaking my balls». We will prescribe them such a hard, sharp, very painful, quite obvious blow in order to develop a conditioned reflex, like at Pavlov's dog, like at laboratory rats, that know where to run through the maze. If laboratory rat will get an electric shock somewhere in the maze, laboratory rat will not run to there. Rat's not stupid; rat doesn't want to get an electric shock again. And we will do the same for them, so that they can be only inside the narrow corridor designated for them and do everything honestly, so that this mataji doesn't worry. Because it is necessary that she returned to the spiritual world, and did not think that he was spending time with anyone. No, he will be a real honest family man. And he every life will marry mataji, a devotee of Krishna, and protect her in every way from the vicissitudes, from everything that prevents or does not help her return to the spiritual world. He will be a real man, a real grihastha, caring but not forcing, protecting her, treating his wife as a goddess, because she will go to the spiritual world after this life. He will be a springboard for these matajas. For many lifetimes these men will be attached to some very good mataji going to Krishna, for each life to some one such mataji. And they will return their wives to the spiritual world in a favorable way.

Srila Prabhupada said that he wanted to create an army of grihasthas. Srila Prabhupada said, and this is an order for us. We are building an army of the grihastha-ashram. They will be the real grihasthas. And there will be a lot of them, because I was told that the king's card is off the table, and his entire squad is also off the table. We will take a lot of them, create a huge army of such grihasthas. And each of them will be sewn to some good mataji every life. He will tell her, «You are with me, that's all I need». He won't need anything else. He will perform his task like a soldier at battle station. He would always protect her, never abuse her trust, and be happy to have her with him. And he will be like Tiramisu, «lift me up to heaven», as I told this Shri Ram. He will raise her all the way to the spiritual world. He will do everything to bring her back to the spiritual world during a single life with him. Because he needs send a lot of women back into the spiritual world. The bigger the better. And he will not consider his mission accomplished until this mataji, his wife, is released and returned to the spiritual world to the Lotus feet of Radha and Krishna. And after that he will leave his body and go to new birth, to new mataji, because I was told that to be alone is a sin, to drink alone is a sin, to live on earth without a wife is a sin.

Season 9. Shiva without Shakti is just corpse

293. Third take. The beautiful tight body

These three actions came to me in August 2019. At the very beginning of September, I had a very ordinary dream, completely unremarkable. But it opened a new chapter in my novel. In that dream, I saw a man with a little girl sitting on his lap. In my dream, I identified this man as this Shri Ram. When I woke up, I went to the mirror and asked him who the little girl was. A hint of this came to me a few days later, on Radhashtami, on September 6. That day I had a lot of work, I was not going to go anywhere, and I was working. Then my lady friend called me and tried to persuade me to come to her. She said that she really wanted to celebrate Radhashtami with me. I said I had a lot of work to do and I couldn't go to her. Right while talking when I was saying that, a chair broke under me. I fell on the floor. I took a good hit the floor. I couldn't work on that three-legged chair anymore. We had another chair here, but it was small and not fit for work. I also had three spare chairs that I kept in the flat of my girlfriend. Before I had four good computer chairs, which I bought for previous, rented apartments, but when we moved to our apartment, I took only one chair with me and left the rest chairs for storage at my lady friend. I remembered those chairs and said to her, «Do you still have my chairs?» She says, «Yes». I say, «Then I'm coming to you».

My decision changed within ten seconds. The decision was made immediately, because there was a lot of work, I promised to do everything during this day, and I immediately drove to my lady friend for a chair. I went to see her and we began to celebrate Radhashtami. We were talking about another friend of mine who got married and went with her husband to live in New York. And this friend of mine that I came to see said that she sees that I will definitely go to America. In fact, in this way Shri Ram told me that I would definitely go to him and live with him.

At that time, we had read coffee grounds to see the future. There were coffee grounds left in my cup. There was a very interesting picture, about which my lady friend said that this is a dragon with three heads, and I saw there an erect penis. My friend and I laughed about it, and she said that one her lady friend advises her to start sleep with the man who has been going to her for about five years. She told her that there are many things that woman can give a man — body, time, even heart. She told her that need give that man sex. She told her that she has a lady friend who found a rich man and is very happy. Yes, he is married, but it suits her, she does not need to get married, they say, everything is only for sex. She lives in her own pleasure, he fully sponsor her, provides for the full, she lives in luxury. She understands that this is only for sex, that this is for a few years, that she is just a professional mistress and lives off the donations of rich man in order to enjoy life. My lady friend asked me what I thought about this, and I said, «Krishna, save us from this, protect us, make sure that we never have this». It was September 6, 2019, on Friday, on Radhashtami.

After that, Shri Ram began to press my consciousness so that I would keep fast the 16 Mondays of Shiva with such an intention that if I will observe the fast all these 16 Mondays, then Shri Ram would be forgiven for everything. I didn't want to fast, but he pressed on my consciousness. And on September 9, I fasted at the first Monday of Shiva. I didn't know what Shri Ram should be forgiven for, but right after the first Monday, this started to open up to me. Just a day later, on September 11, my sister called me and said a very unpleasant story. She said that our aunt accidentally overheard a conversation my dad had in WhatsApp. Somehow, when my dad was talking in WhatsApp, he connected my aunt to the conversation. My aunt understood everything at once and sat silently and listened to that conversation. Then she immediately called my sister and reported what she had heard.

So, this is how it was: to my nephew came one girl with whom he had once been. She came to him from another city. When she came to him, she was pregnant with another man's child. My nephew let her into his home, they began to live together. She gave birth to a child, and then they quarreled. My dad took pity on her and allowed her with the child to live in his house. My aunt accidentally overheard their conversation in WhatsApp, from which she learned that my dad is already sleeping with that woman and having sex with her. My aunt immediately called my sister and told her all this. My sister called me. When I found out about this, I immediately called my lady friend and began to complain to her, and she says to me, «You and your sister need to demand recognition of your dad's incapacitation. Call an ambulance, tell them that he is weird and behaves inappropriately. Declare him incapacitated, and this woman will leave him alone immediately». This was on Wednesday, September 11.

And the next day, September 12, Thursday, my lady friend calls me again and says, «I'm so worried about you, you told me this story yesterday, I didn't sleep half the night, I thought about this situation, about your dad and that woman. You have to demand recognition of your dad's incapacitation, so that this woman give him up. First she lived with your nephew, and then with your dad. What does she want from your dad? He is an old man, he is 80 years old, and she is young. She wants to use him in her selfish interests. You must demand recognition of his incapacitation, and no women will be with him». After that she began to tell that one of her long-time lady friends, who have been living in Riga for many years, had just come to visit her. This Riga lady friend arrived with her husband in a car. Riga lady friend has a good husband. He has a big business in Riga, they have a big luxury house on the Riga seaside, a luxury apartment in Riga, he has a lot of connections, and he is an important man. But some time ago, he had a stroke, not very strong, because he brought her from Riga by car. And this Riga lady friend, did not hesitate of her husband, sitting next to him, said that when he will have the repeated stroke, she would give him to nursing home or hospice. She interested the financial situation of the man who befriends my lady friend for five years. This Riga lady friend asked how this man lives, what his apartment is, what his pension is, how rich he is. As soon as she realized that he was poor as a church mouse, she immediately forgot about him, as if he did not exist at all. My lady friend lamented that her Riga lady friend was so self-serving and ruthless. Her husband is a good man; he loves her all his life. He lives with her all life, does everything for her, and takes care of her. She had never worked, lived with him an easy and luxurious life, but she, not embarrassed, said right in front of him that after his second stroke she would take him to a nursing home or hospice. That Riga lady friend said, «I'm still pretty woman. I'm still young; I have a beautiful tight body. I'm not shy about undressing in front of a man. My body is still beautiful and tight, I have a terrific body». She has a beautiful tight body, even though she is over 60 years old. I didn't understand at the time. Everything was told to me very clear, but I did not understand direct allusion. Then I was given another hint.

On the same day, September 12, on Thursday evening, my daughter's class teacher came to us. The school principal combined my daughter's class with another class, and their new class teacher visited the students' homes to see how they live. She looked at how we live, asked different questions, and asked why my daughter does not eat meat. She didn't like that my daughter doesn't eat standard meals in the school cafeteria, but buys what she wants, and she noticed that my daughter avoids meat dishes. She thought I forbade her to eat meat. I explained to her that my daughter, from birth, does not like meat and refuses to eat meat. I explained to the teacher that before when my daughter visited kindergarten, I could not influence my daughter's choice of what to eat and what not to eat. My daughter was in kindergarten from morning to evening all weekdays and could eat what she wanted, but she, of her own free will, refused to eat meat. I tried to explain that my daughter been a vegan since she was born, that she don't like meat, but the teacher said that it was necessary for the child to eat meat, that without meat the body does not receive any vitamins, proteins, nutrients. She was very insistent. Then she began to find fault with the fact that my son is fat, and then began to ask what they would become when they grow up. My daughter said that she will be an artist, will draw pictures. My daughter learns to paint at expensive master classes in painting. There my daughter paints oil paintings on canvas. The daughter draws beautiful good paintings that can be put up for sale. Her paintings hang on our walls. We showed these pictures on the walls, and photos of how she drew them. The teacher was very impressed, calmed down and went to the homes of other students, to see how they live.

I remembered stories that I read on the Internet, how representatives of the guardianship goes the houses of people and then take children from families, and I began to tell the children that they should behave well, so that the teachers would not have any suspicious questions. My son said that the questions were simple, ordinary, but I said that the questions were not simple at all. I remembered that just before that I had a conversation with woman who is our neighbor. Guardianship authorities took five children from her, and she complained that the children were taken from her, and in addition to this she is obliged to pay child support. She was very tearful about it, said that guardianship authorities can find fault with anything. I remembered this conversation and told the children to behave so that there was no reason for carping. I began to say that in different countries, and even in our country, children are taken from families and placed to foster families, and that this is business, because the state pays large benefits to foster families. Foster families take these children and live off these benefits. And at the same time, parents who have their children taken away must pay alimony, and how to live then, because no money for anything. And I said that these children are not loved in foster care, because children are taken only for the sake of receiving benefits. The state pays large allowances to foster families who live off these allowances.

And in this way, even though I didn't know anything about it, I said to this Shri Ram, «Do you really think this is nonsense? It's nothing to be trifled with. Because if something is wrong, they can take the children away, that is, they can take you from me, and no one will love you there. There you are needed for some selfish purposes, it's just business. But at the same time parents pays maintenance, and how to live then, if need to pay these alimony? Then there won't be enough for anything». In this way I said to this Shri Ram, «If you are with someone, not with me, then you will be taken from me. You will be with other women, but they will not love you, because you are nobody to them. They will not love you. There is no love. There is only self-interest. And at the same time pious merits will be taken from me. My pious merits transfer to you automatically, because we are an eternal couple. You will not be with me, but my pious merits will transfer to you, and then how will I live — both without you and without my pious merits?» This is what I said with these words to Shri Ram, because these words were then addressed to him, although I did not know about it then.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

After that, I began to look at all these events of the first half of September as pieces of a puzzle, and these pieces of the puzzle began to take their places in the overall picture. The first piece of the puzzle is a dream about a man with a little girl on his lap. The second piece of the puzzle is image of a phallus in a mug with the coffee grounds. The third piece is a lady friend's story about a woman who engaged in an extramarital relationship with a married man, that is, story about a mistress. Fourth piece of the puzzle is a phone call of my sister about our father and the nephew's ex-girlfriend. The fifth piece of the puzzle is a story of my lady friend about her Riga lady friend with a beautiful tight body. Sixth piece is the visit of a teacher to us. The seventh piece of the puzzle is a conversation with a neighbor woman. All these piece of the puzzles began to move closer to each other, and I realized what I was told there. I realized that this Shri Ram has some kind of woman only for sex. This was pointed out to me by a piece of the puzzle with an image of a phallus in a mug with the coffee grounds and a piece of the puzzle with the woman who got some rich married sugar daddy in her clutches and who is living in luxury. That is, then this Shri Ram as if told me that he had this woman, but she was only for sex, and for nothing else. In this way he answered my question in the mirror about the dream in which a man held a little girl on his lap. He assured me that she was nothing to him, because he would live with me. This followed from words of my lady friend about the fact that I would definitely go to America, that is, to him, and will live with him. Shri Ram as if told me that we'll be together, we'll live well, and she's just for sex. That's what he told me. And when my son told me that the teacher's questions were simple, then in fact it was the answer of Shri Ram who told me that that woman was with him only for sex, that it's no big deal and that she meant nothing to him. And I as if explained to him that this wasn't nothing at all, because of this he could lose me, but my pious merits would still continue to flow to him, and how would I live then — without him and without my pious merits? I asked him, «Then how will I live, in what conditions, if my pious merits flow to you, but you are not with me? I am alone, without help, without support, and you are there with someone who does not love you, who is with you only for sex and for some money, and my pious merits flow to you in order to you can be with them». I was very sad at this awareness. But most of all, I was saddened by my aunt's words from a conversation she overheard in WhatsApp about dad and the nephew's ex-girlfriend that they have sex for a long time, since I realized that Shri Ram has had this connection with that woman for a long time. I felt very sad...

294. The expensive putter

When I had an epiphany that this Shri Ram had a woman and that she had been with him for a long time, I began to think, when did she come into his lives? I remembered that in the beginning of summer, in early June, we went to the beach and when we were sunbathing on the beach, in front of me along the seashore a man passed who reminded me of Shri Ram. And he held the hand of a little girl. At that time, I was very puzzled as to why I was shown a man who corresponded to the image of Shri Ram, but with a little girl. Because all the information that was revealed to me about Shri Ram indicated that he was childless, and this little girl was very confusing to me. And now, in September, it was revealed to me about other woman at him. I remembered my dream before the Radhashtami, in which a man held a little girl on his lap. I remembered the man on the beach, walking with the little girl. And then I realized: this woman, who was used by him just for sex, was with him already at the beginning of June, when I was shown the man with the little girl on the beach. I was given a sign about this already at that time, but then I did not understand anything. That man walked right past us as we lay on the beach, and as he walked past us, he looked at me for a long time.

I thought: really this woman was with him at that time? But this can't be, because he's been telling me all summer through various signs that he loves me, that I'm the only one he has, that I'm the most precious thing he has, and stuff like that. Had he been lying to me so blatantly all summer? And then I remembered a recent Metaphorical associative card. I was playing a game with Metaphorical associative cards at that time, and just then I got a card that shows a man and a woman standing opposite each other and looking into each other's eyes. The woman holds a stack of books, and the man hold a putter firmly with both hands. I didn't understand what this card was about, but the leading of this game told me to describe everything that I see on this card and what I think about it, even the craziest ideas. One of the crazy ideas was that this putter is a woman whom this man holds and whom he does not want to let go of his hands. And I thought: in this game I was shown everything. He's holding a putter, that is, other woman... He is holding her firmly, with both hands. And he doesn't let go her. He looks into the eyes of the woman with the books. He does not look at this putter, at other woman, but holds her in his hands and does not let go her. She's very precious to him.

Then I remembered Lieutenant Roma's song «It's not a girl». This song came to me on June 10, and then I realized that this Shri Ram is telling me with the words of this song that he will never fall in love with another woman. Because in this song were such words:

This is not a girl, this is a disaster.

I will not have anything to do with someone like her, never!

She's a weird girl, but I'm fall for by her.

I will never fall in love with another woman.

I thought: Yes, indeed, just before June 10, I with the children went to the beach, when the man with the little girl walked along the seashore. That man reminded me so much of Shri Ram. And then, at the beginning of September, I had a dream in which a man holds a little girl on his lap. I thought: this little girl means a woman with a low-lying, down-to-earth consciousness. She is calculating, cold-hearted materialistic. Her life values on the scale of values are located somewhere at the bottom, It's the usual low-lying life values. She is a model of animal inclinations, exquisite animality. For this reason a little girl symbolized her. I was very upset. I didn't want to be with him. I thought: why is this misunderstanding, this Shri Ram, still alive? He took a vow to be with me, to always protect me, to return with me to the spiritual world, to do everything for me, but all summer he was with some other woman with a mundane, materialistic consciousness, who was only for sex. He was with her this summer when he sang to me about love, that he would never fall in love with another woman. That's why he sang that he would never fall in love with another woman. Because he already had her. That is, until June 10, he already had this woman. Yes, of course, he did not fall in love with her; he just used her for sex, so he sang that he would never fall in love with another woman. He already had her. This woman was enough for him. He wasn't going to look for any other ones, so he was singing to me that he would never fall in love with another woman. He already had the full set: me because of the vow he took, and that woman for sex. He no longer needed other women. That's why he sang that he would never fall in love with another woman.

I was very upset about this, and I thought: why is this misunderstanding, this Shri Ram, still alive and thriving and uses my pious merits? Yes, he is mine, and my pious merits transfers to him. I thought: that's not fair. He takes advantage of my pious merits and enjoys pleasurable life, but I live in such deplorable conditions. It's regrettable picture. He's settled in well. He is enjoying the benefits of civilization at my expense, even though everyone thinks he's so cool. But nothing like that! Everything comes to him due to pious merits, and pious merits mostly come to him from me, because we are an eternal couple. It turns out that my opportunities, which I may have, go to him, but these opportunities go to him for what? Because we are a couple and he has to provide everything for me. My pious merits flow to him in order to he takes care of me and creates a protected space for me. But this protected space transfers to him and is used so that he can have fun with other women. He's been lying to me all summer that he won't fall in love with anyone else, but he had sex with that woman who is as if a girl, that is, with a the low-lying, down-to-earth consciousness.

I thought: he was already explained through me what this would lead to: he would be taken away from me, he would be with other women who need only their pleasure and a life of luxury, but they do not need him. They do not need him although he is such a sugar daddy with such good opportunities. But I will remain alone; my pious merits will flow to him, providing him a joyful life and the smugness. What will happen to me? How will I live, alone, without help, without support, without those benefits of life I deserve? I thought: what a depressing situation, I feel very, very sorry for myself.

I thought that for some reason everyone is writing how to become happy, what is a happy woman, and that everything is simple for a happy woman. I thought: I'm happy because I'm not shy about saying I'm an unhappy woman, and because I'm not going to pretend to be a happy woman. And that makes me happy. For some reason, everyone wants to be happy, but in Kali Yuga this is impossible, especially for a woman. What naivety to want to be happy in Kali Yuga, to think about happiness in the material world and read all this nonsense, what a happy woman should be. This is all nonsense.

I thought I should destroy him. This misunderstanding, this Shri Ram, still lives. And I'm so sorry that he lives. I should have destroyed him so that he would to died, so that he would have felt all the pain that he was causing me. I am not what he wanted, and he is constantly drawn to other women, with a low level of desires. Their desires are unecological and not at all pure. Their desires are clearly predatory in order to get comfortable in this life. For some reason, he likes women like that. Probably because they are pretty and they have everything provided for attract sugar daddies, and I just do not fit into those frames.

I was shown that when he saw what I found out about that woman, he pulled away from her, but it still didn't calm me down. I thought: be interesting to see how long he lasts. I'm not his choice, I'm his fate. And this fate does not make him very happy. Why did I come to him, then, if he was not disposed to be with me, and if he liked other women? I am not one of those who excite him, who strikes his imagination, and create a rush of blood to his dick. But why did I come to him and why did all the events lead to the fact that he was bound by circumstances and obliged to continue to be with me? Although he is attracted to very different women. He is attracted to women who are women. Those women want and do not hesitate to use a man, brazenly, mercilessly, cynically, although outwardly, maybe it is not shown. But he likes them. He's drawn to those women who think they are worthy. And am I not worthy? But he has to be with me, and Shiva constantly reminds him that he needs to be with me if he wants to be alive. Probably, it is very insulting to him: he wants to be with those women who like sugar daddies, but he was told that his fate is me. Such a disappointment...

295. White/white: «Even if you are in doubt, there is logic and common sense in events»

I didn't want to be with him, but I was told that I should stay with him, and I continued to be with him. Krishna showed me that Shri Ram had again taken a vow in our interest. But I thought: he had already made so many vows, and every time he broke his vow. But then Shri Ram said me, «We are a team. Please, don't leave me». I looked at this: we are a team, but I still I am very sad and nothing gladdens me, even if we are a team. In this mood, I wanted to ask The Twins Uralian Oracle what they would say to me. All the signs and all my screenshots kept telling me to stay with him, but I didn't want to, so I asked for advice The Twins Uralian Oracle. They told me, «White/white. Even if you are in doubt, there is logic and common sense in events. Soon the uncertainty will be over, and you will see clearly what is what. The new relationship will be clean, all actions will be reasonable. It will be much easier for you than it is now. You are on the right way! Nothing bad will happen, don't worry about a thing, you can relax. It's going to be a little boring, but it's safe. Keywords: cleanliness, common sense, correctness, norm, safety. And here you are destined: satisfaction, calm, optimism».

I looked at these words and thought: what are these words even talking about? These words say that everything is true, that all this is necessary for something, there is logic in it, some common sense. I didn't see any common sense, but after a while I was shown that there really was logic in those events. But then I didn't see it. I thought he didn't feel sorry for me. He felt sorry only for his dick, which he has thanks to the fact that he is still alive, because I protect him. But he is attracted to the splendor of this the low-lying nature of females, the refined animality. He likes to feel his greatness, importance, his superior to females. He looks down on them with such condescension. They are so understandable, so predictable, and so normal. With them, everything is understandable and familiar. With them, everything vibrates well, everything flows where it should and everything works well. It looks like he's suited to just such women. With them he is in his element. With them he is king. But my pious merits flow to him, providing him with this self-satisfaction and the opportunity to admit these women into his space. They can be with him because he can be on those levels thanks to my pious merits. But what about me? My well-deserved good, my well-deserved position, is beyond my reach, because it all flows to him, because he is mine. But why, if he is mine, he is not drawn to me? Why then does he not protect our union, if we are an eternal couple? Why does he always want other women? Something doesn't make sense about all this, I thought. If he is mine, if my pious merits transfer to him because I am connected to him, why is this connection not available to him? After all, if this connection was available to him, he would not look anywhere. After all, if we are a couple, then this connection should involve both me and him. But for some reason, he is always drawn to something completely different. This flow between us doesn't affect him. Why?

What am I wrong about? Maybe I'm wrong that I consider us a couple? But why then do I say that without him I am alone and that my pious merits flow to him, providing his entertainment with other women? Why should my pious merits flow to him? Who is he? And why am I alone without him, if there are all sorts of different options around? Why am I alone without him? I thought it said we are a couple, but this current inside that couple doesn't draw entirely him in. It is as if he is outside of this current. And his receptors, his radars look in all directions, constantly being in active search, and not inside the current of this couple. How is this possible? What is the error? Maybe we are not a couple? But if we are a couple, then he must feel a pull for this couple of his, that is, for me. But he is constantly attracted to other women. Why is he drawn by other women instead of to me? What is the error? I'm not like he wanted I was.

And he is told that I am his destiny. He went out looking for me. He, it turns out, for my sake fulfilled severe austerities and received the blessing of Shiva. He went there I know not where, in order to look for whom I do not know who. He went as part of the asuras landing on different planets, to be born and live there among the inhabitants of these planets and look for me, his eternal couple. Well, he found me. But I was not the kind of woman he likes. He's not interested in me. I'm not his type. But for some, I was dearer than everyone else, even without all my pious merits that flowed from me to Shri Ram. I was dear to someone, as a value in itself. But I came to this Shri Ram, who likes other women. I'm not like they. It's like I'm not exactly a woman, even though I'm a woman. But he is attracted to women with the instincts of females. They are just the epicenters of attraction for him. I don't want to be like they. He is attracted to women with the well-developed instincts of the female, but there is someone, some man, who, though not mine, treasures me, even without most of my pious merits, without these monkey tricks. This is the man from my past lives who came to me when Shri Ram disowned me because of Lona, the asuras' eraser. For him, I am a valuable treasure, a treasure that is second to none, even without my pious merits, even if I am constantly connected with this Shri Ram.

I was miserable, but all the signs told me to continue being with Shri Ram, and Krishna said that I could follow him, that he had taken some vow in our interests. But I was so shameful from thinking that all summer I was with a man, even though he had some other woman. It turns out that I didn't necessary to him, but I did not know this. I was so sorry that he couldn't experience it personally himself. But I couldn't do anything to him, because it was forbidden. And then I thought: «Krishna, make him hurt so much in order to he will howl from the pain, so that he will feel all the pain that I feel. I can't do anything to him, but he has humiliated me». I'm feeling some nonwoman, and I have the same state as in that song: our souls cry in silence. I thought, «Krishna, do so painful for him, so that he will feel himself in this role of the subhuman. Krishna, do so that tears flowed from his eyes and he could not stop the flow of tears. Krishna, do so that he is in unbearable pain, as I am now. Krishna, fulfill my desire».

And when I was chanting the mantra, I asked Nrisimhadev to intercede for me, and I felt that Nrisimhadev was like saying that I would not be disappointed. And I suddenly found myself inside the energy body of this Shri Ram. I found myself inside him and began to emit some kind of destroying rays from myself, like a death star. I stood inside Shri Ram and into all directions emitted directly from inside of him the destroying death rays that went to the asuras. And then I became a super-heavy center, like a wormhole in space, into which everything is attracted. I became an ultra-high-density body and began to draw everything into myself from the asuras that were everywhere around this Shri Ram. I was standing inside Shri Ram and piercing the asuras with my death rays somewhere far away, drawing everything out of them into me and thinking that they would see that all this was coming to them from Shri Ram, that it was his fault. I thought: let them attack him and tear him up. If I can't rip him, let them tear him lot to pieces. I did this several times. I specifically was chanting the mantra, was entering mentally into inside of him and became such a star, emitting from Shri Ram the destroying rays. I was piercing by this rays the asuras and mentally was talking them, «Look who is to blame: it`s he. It's his fault that you're all in this position».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Then I got a screenshot with the words «Brother Bhima, put the tree in its place», and then with the word «forever». I was told, «Yes, of course, you are very angry with him, but still you need somehow calm yourself down and get back to your place, to this Shri Ram». The need to be with him was depressing me very much, and I thought that I would definitely fulfill three our prepared actions for the fact that Shri Ram had so neglected me and so humiliated me. I thought: «Asuras will be horrified by what I will do to asuras in three our prepared actions. This Shri Ram has so humiliated and insulted me, but I have to continue to be with him, no matter what». I thought that for each of their tricks, for any of their actions they will receive an equivalent response. They will pay for everything.

I thought: he didn't pass any examination. Other woman was sent to him three times, and each time he fallen for her. Although he gave me all sorts of different promises. Shri Ram saw my mood and started telling me that the putter is no longer in his hands, that he has let her go, that we are together and there is no one else. I thought: Yes, he let go of this putter, but I am ashamed. Fedka (a rag, God's gift) was plugged onto me by Shri Ram to ensure our stable interaction. Fedka was seeing all this. I was very ashamed in front of him, because he sees everything. He sees all my humiliations, what a sucker I am. I believe this Shri Ram, but he so brazenly deceives me.

Shri Ram was wrong. He was calling me to him when he was in the asuric worlds. He practiced severe austerities and received the blessing of Shiva, and only because of this I came to him. But he didn't appreciate it. He didn't appreciate that Shiva had given him a blessing, and that I had come to him. He was always looking for something. Why did he then ask for that blessing? Why did he practice severe austerities? Why did he make vows? Why did he refuse sex? Why did he go as part of the asuras' landing party to other planets to be born among the inhabitants of those planets? Why did he become a big RA who can coordinate a lot of the asuras under him to pump out pious merits from the inhabitants of those planets? What's all this for? Just so he can go back to doing what he gave up? Chewing the chewed? How sad, I thought...

296. Shiva without Shakti is Shava (Corpse)

In a dejected state, thinking that I was nothing and that he's not interested in me, although I had come to him, I asked Nrisimhadev to tear this Shri Ram apart. And when I very strongly asked Nrisimhadev to stand up for me and to punish Shri Ram, I got a number of screenshots. First there was a screenshot with the words that when the sun rises, the moon and stars disappear from the sky. Through this screenshot, Nrisimhadev told Shri Ram that his eternal couple had come to him and that he should remove all the others, all the others should disappear from the sky. Then there was a screenshot with my Gurudev, depicting an angry Nrisimhadev, and then a screenshot from the TV series «Mahakali» with the words of Shiva: «Shiva without Shakti is Shava (Corpse)». Through this screenshot, Nrisimhadev said that Shiva without Shakti is a corpse, that is, that Shakti of Shri Ram is me and that Shri Ram should be with me and no one else, but if this Shri Ram intends to be with other women (which means that he is not with me), then he will immediately become a corpse. Nrisimhadev told Shri Ram that if he was not with me, then Nrisimhadev would make him a corpse. Nrisimhadev said that He would tear him up in an instant. Nrisimhadev said through another screenshot that a tree can part with its foliage, but cannot live without its roots. Since I am the Shakti of this Shri Ram, I am his root. He can part with all the others like a tree with the leaves, but he can't live without me, any more than a tree can live without its roots. This was told to him by Nrisimhadev Himself when I tearfully asked Him to deal with Shri Ram, to stand up for me, to protect me, my dignity. Nrisimhadev said to this Shri Ram, «You have to give up all the leaves that you are so interested in, because Svetlana Vinodavani is your roots, and you will not live without her, you will immediately become a corpse». And through a series of screenshots, Nrisimhadev said to this Shri Ram, «Where the Dharma is, there is victory. Your Dharma is to protect your own Shakti. If you are with your dharma, with your Svetlana Vinodavani, then you will have victory. And no objections! Otherwise, I'll tear you up and nothing will be left of you. And keep your mouth shut!» Nrisimhadev told this Shri Ram to keep his dick on a leash and not to let it out on other people's pastures. He said to him, «Keep your tongue, which you have where you have dick, on a leash and do not dare to let it out, or I will make a corpse out of you and your tongue with dick will not become yours».

Shri Ram looked at this and said through a screenshot from the Mahabharata, «I am unarmed. I already got rid of that woman. She's not with me anymore. I have corrected myself. I will no longer walk on other people's pastures». But Nrisimhadev in spite of this said to him, «Look, Shri Ram, one unnecessary step and the game is over. I will rip you to shreds immediately. Nothing will remain of you. Do not dare to look at other women. If you direct your heart and eyes to other women, then you will lose your body along with your heart and eyes, and you will not have eyes through which you could look. You are a great asur, RA. You have some big asuric organization under you and you coordinate its activities. You have extraordinary abilities. You can plug into any person, say through him and see all his thoughts and even his life files. You able do all this, but you can lose it all, because I am Nrisimhadev. I will tear you to shreds. You will not have a body and eyes and you will not be able to look at those other women, so don't even look at them».

Then this Shri Ram was forced to put up with it and he said, «I accept my fate». His heart was aching due to the prohibition of look at other women and be with them. He was thinking: «Those women are so hot, sweet as honey. Those women really like sex. Svetlana Vinodavani is not like that. She is my real Shakti, but she is not like that. It's such a pity to lose all those sweet, gorgeous, sexy sensual women who like such sugar daddies like me so much». His heart was bleeding, and then my Gurudev said to Shri Ram as his disciple, «My heart is with you! Don't cry, Shri Ram. You, of course, suffer very much that Nrisimhadev is so evil and merciless. Nrisimhadev said that He would tear out your eyes, and your dick, and everything else, and that you would become a corpse if you looked at other women. You are suffering very much because of this. But my heart is with you! Yes, of course, Nrisimhadev is very angry at you because you hurt His beloved Svetlana Vinodavani. But you must bear your misfortune with dignity and patience, and you must change. You may not get in life everything you want. You won't get those sluts that you like so much and who like such sugar daddies like you. Yes, you will not get them, because Nrisimhadev is very angry. Nrisimhadev said that if you look to other women, you will immediately become a corpse and you will not have the body and eyes through which you could look.

You may not get in life everything you want. You won't get those whores. But you have much more than the six billion people who inhabit this planet have. You have a lot more good than others. Much more! You have your own Shakti! Not all men have their own Shakti. Only those who have an eternal couple, who in the spiritual world have eternal couple, have their own Shakti. This is a great rarity. And even those who actually have eternal couple, here in the material world can be separated from it and suffer because of this. You have much more than all the others who do not have their Shakti at all, because in the spiritual world they are alone and they cannot have their Shakti. You have much more than those who have their eternal couple, but who are separated from it. You have an eternal mate, an eternal couple, and your Shakti is here with you. You found her. You have much more good than everyone else have. You have the freedom to choose your religion. You have the sanity that you have, until Nrisimhadev takes the sanity away from you. Nrisimhadev can take your sanity away at any time. You have food on the table every day. At the end of the summer of 2016, Nrisimhadev almost made you homeless man. Then, having become homeless, you would look for food not on your own table, but in garbage cans. You have clean water. You can drink tap water, from a filter, and not from a puddle. If Nrisimhadev had made you the homeless man, you would not have had clean water. You have the Holy name of Krishna, because Svetlana Vinodavani sings the Holy name of Krishna, you are connected to her and therefore you always hear the Holy name of Krishna. Even if you turn off this audio track with the Holy name, Svetlana Vinodavani is able to penetrate your consciousness, and you hear the Holy name all the time. You have communication with vaishnavas because you are connected to Svetlana Vinodavani, and she communicates with vaishnavas, so you have contact with them through her. You have Deities worship; you serve the Deities together with Svetlana Vinodavani. You have much more good than others. You're so lucky! Look at the world around you and see what most people have lost, and be grateful for all that you have received». So said my Gurudev to Shri Ram, when he was crying, suffering, that Nrisimhadev told him that without his Shakti he would immediately become a corpse.

I was told that I should be with Shri Ram and that he understood the seriousness of Nrisimhadev's words. I continued to be with him, but continued to attack the asuras. On my inner screen, I was entering the energy body of Shri Ram and was becoming a star, shining brightly in all directions. I was piercing the asuras with my bright radiance coming directly from Shri Ram, and I was thinking that I would deliberately emit my firing rays directly from Shri Ram into the asuras, in order to all the asuras would hate him, so that he would afraid to even look to other women. I wanted all the asuras to gang up on him for humiliating me so much. I was imagining a lot of asuras in different worlds and was piercing them with my radiance, and then I was pulling out of them everything they had. And then I was lighting sparklers right inside them and was burning everything in them from the bottom up. And then I was imagining that I was standing inside Shri Ram and becoming like a spheres led night lamp with many glowing optical filaments-fibers. I was stretching out my luminous filaments-fibers to all those asuras in different worlds, and the asuras became shining points at the ends of these filaments-fibers stretching from me, from inside of Shri Ram. And all these asuras shone, being associated with me. Then I turned on the rotating spiral inside them, like a DNA molecule, and I was sucking in everything that those asuras had. I wanted all the asuras to know that this is coming from within this Shri Ram. I wanted them all to hate him fiercely for this. I was a death star that was localized right inside him, and I shone out of him into the asuras in different directions. He humiliated me so much... He didn't respect me at all.

I recalled how before that I talked with my sister about the adventures of our dad with the former cohabitant of his grandson. In a conversation I said that at our last trip to my dad he did not offer me a penny to the trip and did not ask what we want. Usually, whenever we went to see him, he asked me what we wanted, and always bought something delicious. But this time, when we went to see him, he didn't ask it to me, and he didn't buy anything at all. And always, when we went from him to home, he gave us money for the trip, but this time did not give anything. I told my sister that it looked like daddy had already started sponsoring the former cohabitant of his own grandson, since the money he usually spent on us had gone to her, and for us there is no money left. I thought it was a projection on Shri Ram, and that it meant that this Shri Ram had fun all summer with that woman, and he just didn't have the energy or the desire for me. He spent everything for her, but for me there was nothing left, and I didn't know it. I was with him all summer, although he didn't need it. I was very ashamed. I thought that he would pay for this, and I was burning the asuras by my radiance, wishing that they were burning with a strong desire to tear him into small pieces, so that nothing was left of him, because he was with some slut, and because all his money was pouring into her, but not into me. In this case, money means his masculine energy, which a man gives a woman in sex. He had sex with her all summer, but he didn't want me at all. Sex was at the energetical connectivity, without contact with bodies, at a distance, without the slightest touch, but for the asuras there is no difference. At the energetical connectivity asuras feel everything as for real, as in ordinary sex. I thought that he needed sex, and I was doing it, I was with him at the energetical connectivity. I had sex with him at the energetical connectivity, through my masturbation. He was pouring all his masculine energy into that woman, but for me his masculine energy did not remain. But I did not know about it. I was very ashamed of this, and I thought that now I would every time arouse a strong desire at the asuras to bring down all anger to him. I will shine like this death star right from inside of this Shri Ram into all of them, and they will all know out of where this death star is doing its work — right from inside of him. I was very ashamed that I «went» to him, and that he did not offer me anything and did not give me money, so to speak, for the trip, although he always did. He had nothing to give, because he was pouring all his male energy into that woman with whom he had been all summer. All the money went past, into someone else's pocket. All his male energy flowed into that woman, and he didn't want me. I thought: what a pity that I did all this at all. He had a great time with her that he didn't even want be with me. I thought: now he will face the consequences of his actions.

I asked Nrisimhadev to tear him up if he would look at other women. I asked Nrisimhadev to enjoy and take pleasure tearing this Shri Ram apart if he will look at some other woman with lust and with a desire to be with her. I said, «Nrisimhadev, avenge me. If this Shri Ram will look at other women and want to be with them, tear him up, enjoy this, stick your sharp claws into him and tear him with these claws, burn him, avenge me, that nothing is left of him. I can't do it, because I don't have the right to do it. Do it for me, because I am very humiliated, offended, and I'm ashamed of it. He humiliated me even in this».

And when I thought so, I remembered the fasting of 16 Mondays of Shiva that I started observing after Radhashtami, on September 9. I thought, that I starters then fasting the 16 Mondays of Shiva and it's not a coincidence. Apparently, he decided to advance get a forgiveness for his future amorous adventures. I thought it was his devious plan. He wanted to get the forgiveness for his intentions having sex with other women in future. That is, I will be such a nominal wife, I will sit in his house and think that I am his wife, that he loves me, but at this time he will have fun and sex with others. And that's why he made me decide to fast these 16 Mondays of Shiva. He wanted to be forgiven for his future adventures with other women.

I thought his attitude toward me hadn't changed. He was treating me like a fool, and he continues to treat me like that. I thought it didn't suit me at all that he was just making fun of me, that he was making me a laughingstock. I thought, that I'm not finding the fun in that fact that the man you came, who is yours, thinks you are a stupid chicken, so brazenly deceives you and takes advantage of your absolute stupidity. I thought: let Nrisimhadev tear him up cruelly, painfully and mercilessly for such an impudent deception and for his thinking that I am a fool, even though I am his real woman, his Shakti. He decided to use my 16 Mondays of Shiva to get a loophole. He decided to use my fast, my austerities in order to get a loophole to have sex with other women. He wanted to enjoy with others, and to me to create the appearance that he is with me and to have it all forgiven, and at the expense of my 16 Mondays of Shiva.

But Krishna revealed to me exactly why this Shri Ram wanted me to fast during these 16 Mondays. And Shiva asked me then, «Do you really want to fast these 16 Mondays so that this Shri Ram of yours can be with other women with impunity?» I said, «No, I'm against it. And if this Shri Ram will even look at any other woman with the thought, intention, desire to be with her, let Nrisimhadev kill him, immediately». And I canceled these 16 Mondays of Shiva.

297. Choice without choice: recognition of his incapacitation

Then I talked a lot on the phone with my lady friend about my dad. My lady friend kept saying that if my dad is like this, if he fell for the former cohabitant of his own grandson and all his money is spent on her, then need to recognize him as incapacitated, then no woman will want to be with him. My lady friend kept saying that. I said, «It is not good to recognize dad as incapacitated», but she replied, «Then you'll have to forget him». Then my dad said that as long as he was alive, he would do what he saw fit. He said that we should not meddle in his affairs. And my lady friend said that if he behaves like this, then there are only two options: either forget him forever, or recognize him as incapacitated, so that no slut sticks to him. And just then I was thinking about Shri Ram, that he made me a laughingstock and took advantage of my 16 Mondays of Shiva to get the opportunity to be with other women with impunity, although he wanted to be with me. I then said that I don't need such a fucking asshole and no other woman needs such a fucking cockroach. A normal woman would never want to be sneaky deceived.

I said that since I am his Shakti, I have the right to demand what I want, and I said to Krishna, «Krishna, he has done such a treacherous thing to me; he has humiliated me so much, he has abused my trust. He wanted to use my 16 Mondays of Shiva in his own selfish interests. He wanted at my expense get right to be with other women with impunity, even though he knows very well how I feel about it. Krishna, if he even just will look at another woman with will to have sex with her or simply be with her, that alone will be enough to recognize him incapacitated». I realized that through my lady friend, I was being asked to make a choice: either I should forget this Shri Ram, that is, break our eternal bond, or recognize him as incapacitated. I made a decision that I would not forget him. Especially since Shiva kept telling me to be with Shri Ram. That is, it is forbidden to forget him. But the choice was very tough: either forget him, or recognize him as incapacitated. And I said that in that case, let him become incapacitated.

I said that he is nobody's man, but mine. He belongs either to me or to nobody. He is just for me. He thought Shakti was commitment-free sex. No. Shakti is primarily a responsibility. And if he does not understand this, then he has no right to be truly functioned as a man with active legal capacity and must be recognized as incapacitated. The recognition of his incapacitation does not mean that he is sitting in a wheelchair with broken limbs. No. This means that he does not have the right to make decisions about whether to do something or not, to be with someone or not. I said that if he doesn't understand, then he doesn't have the right to be capable. I am his Shakti, and I am against him being with other women who are nothing to him. In fact for him other women are other people's wives. To be with them is a sin for him. I'm against it. And if he does this, he will become incapacitated for the duration of his stay in the material world. Play time's over. I have been very patient but everything has its limits. I decided that I forbid him to have relationships and be with other women, because his Shakti is me. All other women are nothing to him, that is, a taboo, the prohibition. If he breaks this prohibition, he will immediately become recognized as incapacitated, for the duration of his stay in the material world. And he will rush to the spiritual world, because in the material world he will be completely out of the game. Literally everything will be forbidden to him. Because this is the demand of his Shakti, that is, my demand. I made this decision because there was no other choice. And I demanded that the Higher powers recognize him as incapacitated for the duration of his stay in the material world, if he looks somewhere on the side, to be with other women.

298. «They have lost trust, Maharaj»

I was faced with a very difficult choice: either to forget Shri Ram, that is, to agree that our eternal relationship will be cut, or to demand recognition of his incapacitation, if he ever breaks his word again and wants to be with other women. But it was shown to me that in fact I have no choice. Yes, formally, the choice was: either to forget him or to recognize him as incapacitated. This followed from my lady friend's words about my dad. The true meaning of her words was conveyed to my mind after she repeatedly repeated the words about the need to make this choice. I thought: have I been offered to break off eternal bond between me and him forever? I need to make this decision right now. But at the same time, I was constantly reminded of Shiva's words that I should always be with Shri Ram, never leave him alone and do everything so that he is alive. I thought: what a mockery? I was given a very hard choice, which must be done, and at the same time I was said that there is no choice. After all, of the two options: forget him or recognize his incapacitation — the option to forget him can not be accepted. And there is only one way: to recognize him as incapacitated. This option was very upsetting to me. I didn't want to accept it, but for confirmation that it should be done, I got a screenshot with the words «They lost trust, Maharaj». I didn't know what it was about. Then I got the following screenshot. It was screenshot with two identical dice, each of which had three points: 3:3. I looked at these two dice with the triples and thought: I am shown three takes, three repeats. And then I realized. I was being told that Shri Ram lost trust because there were three takes.

The first take is woman with whom Shri Ram was in the summer of 2016 and because of whom he abandoned me, saying, «We remember only the best». I called her duchess. Because of her, he decided to throw me out of his space for the first time, which led him to a financial crisis that almost made him the bankrupt and a homeless person. He abandoned me for her, although before that we had some kind of heavenly wedding, at which Nrisimhadev himself, in some illusion, had declared me and Shri Ram joined by the holy bonds of matrimony. Shri Ram asked me to become his wife, and it happened at that heavenly wedding, but even so, after that, he was with this woman, the so-called duchess, all summer. And because of her, he did everything to get rid of me, and even wanted to destroy me. He pumped out me all my pious merits and had thrown three other people's deaths into me.

The second take is Lona, the eraser of the asuras. She appeared after Shri Ram, with his own eyes, saw how he was made an asur and why it happened, and after he saw how we lived together then, many lifetimes ago. He saw this in the vital files which the asuras had shaken out of the recruiter who did everything to make Shri Ram become an asur. And even after that, Shri Ram had a second take, a second woman, Lona.

The third take is woman, who was with him this summer. This summer he was saying to me that he would never fall in love with other woman. But in fact, he had other woman. This was a woman with a young beautiful tight body who does not hesitate to undress in front of man, as my lady friend said when talking about her Riga friend. This woman with a young beautiful tight body was sexy, hot thing. She was certainly his type. She was an interesting, sophisticated person, though with a mundane consciousness, with low desires. She wanted to ensnare a sugar daddy and to enjoy a luxurious life. She had everything provided to get this, to catch sugar daddies.

There were three takes, that is, three other women, though he made me promises, vows, the word of a gentleman. And on third take, Shri Ram fraudulently wanted to get permission to be with other women with impunity. He was clearly aware that this should not be done, that I was strongly against other women, but he was with this woman with a young beautiful tight body, that is, with a third take, and tried to influence me to get immunity. As a result, I was faced with a choice without a choice: either forget him, that is, completely break our eternal bond, or to demand recognition of his incapacitation. But at the same time I was forbidden to forget him. And the only move remained. That's the recognition of his incapacitation. And despite all my torment, hesitation, these screenshots about he lost the trust, since he had three takes, insisted on my firm decision. These screenshots told me I had to make up my mind. And I did it. I decided that Yes, this is correct: any time when he tries to enjoy with another woman, I, as his Shakti, who ensures his well-being, demand that he be recognized incapacitated.

I directed my mind's eye somewhere into the vastness of the Universe, where such cases are reviewed, and said, «I, Svetlana Vinodavani, being the Shakti of this Shri Ram, demand recognition of his incapacitation for the entire time of his stay at the material world for the fact that he, giving me vows, accepting obligations and being my eternal husband, knowing this, was with other women, and for the fact that he used my pious merits to be with other women. He used my pious merits, not in order to be with me and take care of me, but in order to take care of other women who are nothing for him».

I sent my demanding cry somewhere into the vastness of the Universe. I sent there my enquiry that I, being his Shakti, who provides for his well-being, who supplies him with pious merits, using my right of decision as a Shakti, am demanding to recognize him as incapacitated for the entire time of his stay in the material world, if he ever in any way will be with some other woman. I said that I didn't intend to pay for his enjoy with other women, and that I wouldn't let him be with other women. And I demanded that at any his attempt to be with other women, he was immediately automatically recognized incapacitated in everything. I said that if he has lost trust, then I must ensure purity, and I have every right to do so, and this is my duty. Looking at that screenshot with the words «They have lost trust, Maharaj», I said that he has lost trust and therefore I have the right to exercise my right as his Shakti. I said that I had the right to decide his fate if he has lost trust.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Shri Ram tried in every way to influence me to give this up. He was trying to soften me up. He wanted to mollify me, so that I'll give up the idea of recognition of his incapacitation. But I told him that it was not necessary to humiliate me like that. I'm his Shakti. I am the most important person for him, but he offended me so much. I told him, «Don't look at the stones when you're walking along the road. I am your road. I am your eternal wife. When you're with me, you should only be with me. No other women. Don't even look at the others».

I then complained to Nrisimhadev. And through the screenshots from «the Mahabharata», Nrisimhadev told me that I, being Shakti of Shri Ram, have the right to stop Shri Ram if he acts incorrectly. Because I am his Shakti, I am the most important person in his life. I means for him much more than anyone. I am for him person that's more precious than other women whom he constantly looks at through the eyes of his subordinates, asuras, and through the eyes of different people. I'm the most important person to him, and that's why I have the right to stop him. Because I'm not his choice, I'm his fate. Therefore, I, as his fate, have the right to stop him if he does not understand that he must stop himself. He is a great asur, RA. He constantly sees before his inner eye a lot of women. If he can not stop and necessarily falls to enjoy by them, then I, as his Shakti, have the right and duty to stop him, so that this no longer happens, so that he no longer be with them. And I demanded recognition of his incapacitation in order to he no longer have the right to choose, because he is not responsible for his actions, for his decisions, because he has lost trust. If he has lost trust, then he should not be given the right to make any decisions. This is logical.

He exists only because of me. Because pious merits go from a woman to her man, in order to he can act in the external environment, bring home the means for life, provide her comfort and take care of her. And all this comes to him through her pious merits. But now no one knows about it. Everyone thinks that if a guy is cool, it's because he's so cool. But in fact, behind every great man is a great woman. And when a man and a woman comes together and forms couple, such a symbiosis is formed, although invisible, because the eyes do not see how pious merits from a woman go to her man. This process is not visible to the eye, and people are deprived of knowledge about it, so many men are now outraged when a woman wants to live off him. They believe that woman should be self-sustaining, provide for herself. But the truth is that if woman is with a man, then he gets opportunities in life thanks to her pious merits. Her pious merits go to him only so that he provides her with a protected space so that she can sit on his like on a throne and so that she can live off her man, having been freed from the need to go to work, to conform to the other people's standards, to communicate with other men and to make subtle sexual connections with them. And if he is dissatisfied with the fact that a woman wants to lives at his expense, and if he somehow forces her to earn money, then he turns out to be a thief. He uses the pious merits that flow to him from her, not for her, but for himself. He's just a parasite on the body of civilization. He is gold digger, even though he looks like he works and does something for the family. And in addition, he is corrupting her sending her to earn a living and pushing her to other men. He lives with a woman and uses her pious merits. He gets opportunities for life thanks to her piety and at the same time believes that she does nothing and must provide for herself. And he does not consider himself obliged to repay her for her pious merits given to him, at the expense of which, in fact, he lives. What a tricky, attractive trap of the material world for men — to think that you are doing everything, when in fact you are using the piety of a woman and do not even consider yourself obliged to reward her by doing your duty towards her. This is level of cockroach that thinks that all the plates are his, although he did not do anything to get funds for the food that is on the plate, and did not prepare this food, but he is sure that this plate is his, just because he sits into this plate. Alas, this level of cockroach is inherent in many men now.

Yes, when a man and a woman comes together and forms couple, a symbiosis forms, when each of them gets a benefit for themselves. A man receives the pious merits of a woman so that he can successfully act in the outside world, and a woman receives a protected space for herself. This symbiosis is formed when a man and a woman comes together and forms couple. Such a symbiosis forms in the life of men and women who are not an eternal couple. They do not have an eternal couple, because in the spiritual world they are single. Such a symbiosis forms at them for the time of their life together in the material world. And this symbiosis is not eternal. This symbiosis ends when a woman passes to other man, and then her pious merits begin to flow to this other man, and such a symbiosis is formed with him. But Shri Ram and I are an eternal couple. It's different with us. My pious merits go not into those men with whom I can be, but to my eternal husband, even if he is not with me. And this happens by itself, automatically, only because he is my eternal husband, because there is an eternal connection between us. And even if this eternal couple torn apart and is scattered across different worlds, pious merits flow from a woman to her eternal husband through this eternal connection. But how does she live there without her pious merits, which should be directed to her improve her life, to her security? Her pious merits go to him in order to he can be with some other women. But how she lives?

299. Blocking of a card in the shop of opportunity at the Universe

And I decided that I didn't want my pious merits go to providing good living conditions for other women. Why should other women receive the fruits of my austerities instead of me? Just because the fruits of my austerities are going to him, and he is not with me, but with them. I keep fasts, practice austerities, but other women use the fruits of my austerities. They indulges themselves in luxury at the expense of my privations because he is with them. But this is completely wrong. And so I said that I no longer wanted to share my pious merits with anyone. There is no confidence in Shri Ram anymore. He does not understand that when he is with other women, my pious merits pays for their luxurious existence in the material world. He is constantly looking at some stones somewhere, at other women, and my pious merits, which I have received as a result of observing austerities, is being used for chic life of other women who's used to get whatever they want.

I said, «No, that's not going to happen. I will nip it in the bud». To do this, I am given a choice: either forget Shri Ram, or recognize him as incapacitated. But I cannot stop the flow of my pious merits by breaking our eternal bond, by forgetting him. I am told not to give up on him. But I will no longer allow the fruits of my austerities to be used to improve the lives of other women. And it turns out that I can stop this only by demanding that he be recognized incapacitated, if at least somehow he will be with some other woman. Because I am his Shakti and my pious merits he should use to make a better life for me, for taking care of me, and not for other women who are nobody to him. This is a strange situation that husband takes his wife's money and spends it on mistresses. Why should a husband take his wife's money and buy rings, flowers, and sweets not for her, but for some mistress? Why does he build for his wife's money a house not for her, but for some kept woman? No normal wife would agree to that. She will definitely stop this. She will put a locking, a ban on using her funds not on her, so that he could not buy anything without her confirming transaction, could not pay for anything. She will put a condition on the use of her money, so that without her confirmation he could not conduct any transaction, so that he can not spend her funds to other women.

That's what it means to recognize him incapacitated. The money is hers, because she is Shakti. She is sponsor of her husband at the level of flow of capital, that is, flow of pious merits. The money to his bank card is flowing in from his wife's account. If the wife recognizes her husband as incapacitated in higher realms of existence, then she puts a ban on the uncontrolled, unhindered use by the husband the funds at this bank card. If he wants to use this card to pay for the purchase of rings, apartments, restaurants, flowers and everything else for other women, then he will not be able to pay for these purchases. Immediately the card lock will turn on. The recognition of incapacitation works this way. But if he wants to buy something for his wife, the card will work fine, because it's actually her money. She is Shakti, she is the power, she is the donator of all these pious merits, at the expense of which he does all this. If the husband goes to the store, wants to buy a bouquet of flowers or something for his wife, this card works. But if he wants to use the same card to pay for the purchase of something for other woman, then this card will immediately be lock. Because there is a condition on top: he is incapacitated in such cases. in such cases he has no right to make decisions, and the wife refuses to direct her pious merits to other women. The recognition of incapacitation works this way.

And I, as his Shakti, said: I refuse to share fruits of my austerities with other women, I forbid it. I turns on the locking, the freezing of assets. If he wants to share fruits of my austerities, that is, my pious merits with other women to be with them, if he suddenly just wants to be with them (and this already means that my pious merits will somehow transfer to them, into their bank account of piety), I immediately turn on a locking, the freezing of assets. He immediately will become incapacitated, and he wouldn't buy anything, wouldn't do anything using this card with my pious merits.

I said to this Shri Ram, «If you pull a cow by the tail, a cow can hit you with a hoof. You pulled this cow by the tail for too long, and now a cow has the right to hit you with a hoof». Shri Ram tried in every way to bend me, to make me feel sorry for him, so that I would take pity on him and reverse my decision. But I told him, «I don't believe your words anymore. I'm sorry, but you won't bend me. I will not cancel my decision, because I refuse to share fruits of my austerities with other women. I will not allow fruits of my austerities to transfer to other women, through you, because of that fact that you are not with me, but with them. I refuse to share my pious merits with other women. It won't happen again. Because you will not have other women. Because if you are with any other woman, you will immediately be recognized as incapacitated and you won't be able to buy anything because of your bank card will be blocked. You will come to shop of opportunities at the Universe to buy your pleasure with another woman. You will show at the checkout your bank card with pious merits. And at the read device will be written: «Failed banking transaction. Card blocking for this transaction». And the cashier will say, «I'm sorry, but you have no money for these enjoyment». And you have no cash in the pockets, because you are my eternal husband and all your money are fruits of my austerities. All your money is my pious merits, because I am your Shakti, who gives you strength, pious merits, the opportunity to live well and do something».

Yes, he is my eternal husband, but somehow he constantly, walking along the road, looks to some stones. And I don't like it very much, and I want to stop it, completely, forever. I told him I didn't need any weapons to kill him. I just need to demand from a Higher power, somewhere in The Universe, that he be recognized as incapacitated, if he somehow at least somewhere wants to be with some other woman. I just need to demand that he was immediately, at this moment, recognized incompetent and had no right to make any decision. I don't have to kill him to kill him. I just have to recognize him incapacitated, and then all these women won't be with him. Women like to be well settled in the material world. But if he can't do anything for them, if he doesn't even have the right to decide whether to be with them or not, then they won't be with him.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

This is like a sales transaction with an owner who is actually incapacitated. If someone does not know that the apartment belongs to an incapacitated person (that is, a person who does not have the right to sell it), and buys it, then this transaction can be invalidated. And buyers can then be left with nothing. And no one will ever buy this apartment again. Because everyone will know that previous buyers who bought this apartment and paid their money were thrown out of this apartment and left with nothing. And no one else will buy this apartment or even come close to it. Because no one wants to invest their money in order to then be left with nothing. Because people are not stupid to buy an apartment from someone who has no right to sell it. So I told Shri Ram that I didn't need any weapons to kill him. I just need to declare him incapacitated if he wants to be with other women.

I told him he will to pay for his guile. He wanted to use my 16 Mondays of Shiva, my fasting, my austerities for his own selfish purposes — to get immunity, amnesty, parliamentary immunity, permission to be with other women, and spend my pious merits, my austerities on them, unhindered and with impunity. I told him that there is no way he can limit my actions, but I can limit his actions because I am his Shakti. And as his Shakti, I have the right to do this, and even have to, because every woman should take care of the purity of society. And if he is no longer trusted, then I must take care of the purity by the ways that I have at my disposal. And I had to choose this method.

In fact, I made this choice not in this life, but before it. This step was in my plan, which was drawn up by me and my team of light forces, with which I work, even before this my life, before my birth in this my body, somewhere else between lives. This step was laid down in this plan even then, since everything had come to this. And if this is embedded in this plan, then it really needs to be done. Because from those realms of existence situation is more visible. Here, living, being embodied in the body, we see a very truncated picture. We see only the outer manifestation. But we do not see the true interrelationship, cause and effect. How all this actually happens, we do not see. But we can see it all from those realms of existence. And there, before I was born in this body, I decided that I should recognize him as incapacitated if he was walking along the road, looking at the stones.

I said to Shri Ram, «You are forbidden to violate the boundaries of Bharata. You have no right to break your boundaries. You are given your Shakti, so be with her, but you are forbidden to look at the side, to other women». Yes, of course, this can be seen as violence against the individual. But everything is adequate, and I, as his Shakti, have the right to use such violence — in order to ensure the purity of society, because there is no confidence in him. If he did this to me, it means that he did the same to other women in this life and in the past lives. This is his standard move. Because if this step is embedded in my plan, which I created before I was born in this body of mine, then he behaved like this for many lifetimes. He was constantly looking at the stones as he walked along the road, thus offending the women who were with him at that time. This is very offensive for a woman. That's why I added this step in my plan which I created sometime between lives, and that's why I, as his Shakti, have the right to stop this kind of favorite behavior of his, and I do it. I threw my demand to the Universe: «I demand it! This is my demand as his Shakti. I have the right to demand this, and I demand the execution of it!» I told him that it is far better to perform one's natural prescribed duty, though tinged with faults, than to perform another's prescribed duty, though perfectly. In fact, it is preferable to die in the discharge of one's duty, than to follow the path of another, which is fraught with danger.

300. A beggar-investor who throws tons of money out the window

I realized that Shri Ram had behaved like this for many lives. Walking along the road, he always looked at the stones on the road. I remembered how my dad told my mom that she became an old and not fit for sex and that she would live in her room, and he would live in the next room with some young woman, fit for sex. I realized that this was Shri Ram's attitude towards me. And, most likely, this Shri Ram had this pattern of behavior. He behaved this way with women for many lives, so in this life of mine it was manifested. I thought that even if I came to him not such a way as came, but as a young, pretty, sexy, hot woman, it would be the same. I would become old, he would leave me, because he has such an imprint, such habitual behavior from past lives. Therefore, in this life it all happened so. It would be useless to come to him as he like. He would still leave me.

He would have left me anyway. He would say, «You will live in this room because you are my wife, but don't you dare go into this room. Here I will have orgies with whoever I want whenever I want». This is what this Shri Ram would do. He has done this for many lives. It's very sad... He was talking me that he really needs me. He was talking me that I'm the closest person in the world to him. He was talking me that I'm his most precious thing in this world, but in fact he told me, «You're a dummy, naive foolish, sit here, since I can't kick you out. Be here, in this room, the stupidly doll. That's because you're incapable of anything else. I in another room will have orgies all the time with whom I want and when I want. You won't even know about it». That's what he told me. I was very sorry. I was very sad.

I thought: how can I be with him? How can you be with a man about whom you are told that you should be with him, but you know that he thinks about you that you are old, and you know that he needs some women with a young beautiful tight sexy body? How can you be this man if you are told not to leave him? I thought it was wrong to be with a man who thinks that way about you and treats you that way and you know it. But he needs to be with me just to be alive and because I am his Shakti. Because he received some kind of blessing from Shiva to reunite with his Shakti, but his Shakti turned out to be me. But I am not as interesting as those women with a young beautiful tight sexual body who want to enjoy and who have everything for the pleasure and for the luring such sugar daddies. These women from previous lives have such goal as enticement of sugar daddies, and therefore they are already born with all the necessary set for this. In the shop of opportunities in Universe, they, as always, spend their pious merits only on those characteristics of the body and fate that are pleasant to sugar daddies. A beautiful sexual body, pleasant manners, refinement and elegance, femininity, striving for a luxurious lifestyle. All this is provided for them even before they are born in a new life, in a new body.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that Shri Ram could be with these women because of my pious merits, because I am his Shakti. And I, as his Shakti, have the right to block this stream of pious merits and his possibility of making decisions. I thought it is the right decision, even though it seems cruel. It seems brutal, but it is like some rich man saying about his wife, «If she likes to spend my money on the handsome gigolo, I won't scold her, I love her so much. I will not divorce her, even if she throws my money away for some pretty gigolo who always needed money and has found an ingenious way to get it. I will temporarily freeze of her assets and block her bank cards and will not give her cash, and no gigolo will approach her. They're not going to want her without my money. And the problem will solve». It doesn't restrict her freedom, all the money is at her disposal, she just can't throw money away to the gigolos. And he does not throw her out on the street without money, he continues to take care of her and love her. It is efficient and environmentally friendly way.

But Shri Ram really did not like my decision, and he said to me, «I did not expect this from you». I found out about it due to a screenshot with these words on my magic desktop. He kind of said to me, «I didn't expect this from you. You are my Shakti, and you decided to recognize me as incapacitated for the fact that I decided to have sex with another woman... Are you out of your mind? Forget about it. It's such a small thing. Let's not quarrel over such a small matter. Little things like this happen with men of my age. How can you be so petty?» And then I found on the Internet a lot of pictures showing this situation from the point of view of the investor.

Using these pictures, I told him that I am his investor, because I, as a woman, somehow accumulate some power, some energy and pass on my pious merits to him. Due to all this, he exists and acts. Shakti is translated as «power». And from Shakti, from woman, the pious merits, power, energy, opportunities goes to her man. Shakti acts as an investor. An investor invests in a project. He wants this project to develop well and pay dividends. The investor is waiting for the project to start working and pay these dividends, because the investor lives off the profits that the projects bring. The investor wants to invest in profitable projects. He does not want to throw money out of the window. He wants to make a profit. But in some projects contractors take this money and use it for other purposes. Instead of building a large apartment building, they build themselves cottages, buy cars, go to resorts, but there is not enough money to build a house and it falls apart, although the investor invested a lot of money. I said to Shri Ram, «I am putting so much of my pious merits, strength, energy into you, I am protecting you, but you are allowing the misuse of funds. You throw our money to some young beautiful tight sexual bodies, but our common cause falls apart. What's the deal?»

I came across a good picture on this topic on the Internet. It shows a tramp in rags, carrying a bag around his neck with a lot of large bills and throwing these tons of money to the wind. And I told Shri Ram that in our case, the investor is like this tramp in rags. He looks like a beggar, he wears rags, but he throws a lot of money on some project that does not bring him any benefit and does not meet the expectations. Money goes to other people's pockets, to other people's luxury, to other people's entertainment, but the investor is the slow witted fool and does not pay attention to this and continues to invest money in this project, although he wears rags and live in slums. But he regularly supplies this project with large funds. I thought that this example illustrates our situation well and is more understandable to Shri Ram. I told him that a normal investor, of course, would shut this down, so that the money did not flow to other people's pockets. That's not good if the investor is such a beggar, but throws money away. Someone uses his money, and his business does not move and does not develop, and he wears rags and lives in slums.

I thought I was like that. But why am I like this? Because all my pious merits transfer to this Shri Ram. I'm giving money away, and getting nothing in return. I'm giving my pious merits away, and getting nothing in return. I am throwing money out of the window. I am throwing my pious merits out of the window. But he's dissatisfied and says, «I did not expect this from you... I did not expect that you would not like this». But a normal investor would do everything in order not to lose his money.

I remembered again that metaphorical association card where a man looks into a woman's eyes and holds a putter in his hands. When I was playing a game with these metaphorical cards and I got this card with a putter, I, not knowing anything about the third take, described this picture in these words: «Maybe he is holding some other woman in his hands? I don't want this. But the putter is in his hands, and he holds on to it with both hands and doesn't let go. She is so important to him. And she is dear to him». I remembered putter at the metaphorical card in which a man holding a putter is painted. I remembered that I had written about this putter that she was so important and dear to him («она ему так важна и дорога»). In Russian, the word «дорогая» has several meanings. One of the meanings is «dear». Another meaning is «expensive». I wrote in Russian «эта клюшка так дорога ему» («putter is dear to him» or «putter is expensive to him»). And one of the meanings of this is «a putter is expensive for him». He spends a lot of my pious merits on it to be with her, just to enjoy with her. It takes a lot of pious merits for him to do this. She is very expensive to him. I thought: Shri Ram has everything under control. He has such a good, expensive putter in his hands, and I pay for it all by my pious merits.

And I thought that recognizing Shri Ram as incapacitated is the right decision and I shouldn't feel sorry for him. He didn't feel sorry for me. He wanted to get, so to speak, the integrity, immunity at the expense of my fast at 16 Mondays of Shiva. But no, he will get not this, but a recognition of his incapacitation. This is the right decision, because my money is constantly flowing from me to him. I am that beggar who throws tons of money out the window. I am that beggar to whom Shri Ram said that he did not expect that beggar would be tired of this rotten business.

I thought that he's successful and enjoy life taking advantage of my pious merits, and he had the insolence to tell me that I am not good for anything. I thought that my lady friend had said the right thing about my dad: either recognize him as incapacitated, so that he could not bring anyone to himself, or forget him. But I can't forget Shri Ram. Therefore, she is correct: he must be recognized as incapacitated, so that no one needs him. It will be rightly.

But he said he didn't expect it from me. It's strange logic. He did not expect this beggar-investor who is throwing wealth away to see that he is doing something wrong and stop doing it. Shri Ram as if said to this beggar, «Don't you like walking around in rags and living in slums?! Are you tired of throwing these tons of money out the window and not getting anything for this?! Are you dumb or what? Think about it. Someone needs your money more. You're used to walking around in rags. Well, throw that money away! Let those who really need your money use this money. Beggar, you are completely wrong. I didn't expect this from you. Why did you suddenly decide to buy a nice house for the money that is yours? Why would you want to wear good clothes, to eat a good meal, to live a normal life? A beggar, you are completely wrong. I didn't expect this from you. I expected that you will always throw out your money, and I will always take your money and live thanks to your money in luxury and wealth. You are completely wrong, beggar. You must continue to be a beggar, a fool, a dullard. You must continue to do this rotten business and never stop this». He told this beggar to always throw his money away because someone needs this money more. He said that since this beggar is used to being a beggar, let him continue to be a beggar. This is what Shri Ram said to me when he saw that I had made the decision to declare him incapacitated.

301. Washing machine without water

I told Shri Ram that it is not right that I remain without what's rightfully mine. This is my pious merits, I earned my pious merits myself, but at the expense of this pious merits he is so cool, successful man and for this reason he can be with those women who like be with successful men. It's not right. I explained it to him. I told him that it is wrong when an investor invests money in order to lose it, because investors usually invest money to get even more money and live very well at the expense of this. But if you invest money and then lose it, then this is not the right choice. But Shri Ram told me that he did not expect me to stop this draining of my wealth down the toilet. He thought that I would always be a stupid chicken. He did not expect that I would suddenly see that my pious merits direct to payment for his amorous adventures with other women who are much better than me, because I transfer all my pious merits to his account and therefore can not buy in the store of opportunities in the Universe such a high standard of life and gorgeous body, as at those women who spend their pious merits only on themselves and who buy for themselves a luxurious body with a luxurious, attractive lifestyle. But all my pious merits that could go to acquisition of pleasant appearance for me and a high level of attractiveness go to him — so that he can be with those women who do not spend their pious merits on no one. He told me that he didn't expect me to not like this situation. He thought I would always like to throw my pious merits down the toilet.

I demanded recognition of his incapacitation for the entire duration of his stay in the material world, if he ever will be with any other woman. A person who lacks the ability to understand the meaning of his actions and manage them is recognized as an incapacitated. Shri Ram gave me so many promises, vows, and every time he broke his promises. And just because of this can already recognize him as incapacitated. And I, as his Shakti, have the right to do so.

When I was faced with the choice of recognizing him as incapacitated or forgetting him, that is, breaking our eternal bond, I was inclined to choose the decision to forget him. I thought: why should I be with him if he wants to be with others? I thought better let him go wherever he wants. It is better to forget him completely, that is, to break this eternal connection. I thought that even if all my pious merits transferred to him, it didn't matter: I would earn new pious merits. Apparently, I used to doing this. Why force him to be with me if he doesn't want to? Because of his vow that he would do anything to help me return to the spiritual world, to return there together? But at the same time I will as if sit in some room, since I am not suitable for sex, and he in the next room will have sex with other women, and at my expense, at the expense of my pious merits. I thought: I do not want it. I don't agree to that. In that case, it's better let him go wherever he wants. It is better then to completely break all connection with him, and then my pious merits will no longer flow to him. Krishna showed me that He can break this eternal bond. I'll earn a lot of pious merits. Why should I keep him with me? Why should I hold on to him if he wants to be with other women? It's better let him go wherever he wants.

But Shiva told me not to leave him. Again, there were many signs to be with him, no matter what happened. But something did happen. I found out that he had been deceiving me all summer, was with some other woman and was thinking how to deceive me so that I thought that he was only with me and that he didn't want anyone else. I found out about his thoughts that he thinks I'm not fit for sex because I'm old. And I was told to be with him even after I found out about it, after I found out that he doesn't need me. But how can I be with him if I know about it? The right thing is to forget him. But I can't do that. And there is nothing left but to make him a nobody — so that no one comes to him in his next room. Because I don't want him to be with anyone. And I do not agree that my pious merits are spending not for me. My pious merits should be spent on taking care of me, and not of other women. I do not agree that my pious merits would be spent on him being with some other women. I thought: then we need to make sure that he becomes nobody and has no right to bring anyone anywhere.

He wanted to press me to spare him and reverse this decision. He made every appeal to my compassion, and wanted me to feel sorry for him. I thought maybe turn off his dick somehow, so that he would not be drawn to any adventures. I thought, I can do this. I deprived have many of the asuras of their masculine power and abilities. I can deprive him of masculine power and abilities, too, if I have to. That would be good. Then he wouldn't be drawn to other women. Then he would sit still with me and not think about other women at all, not for a single second. He would not have masculine strength and masculine desire, and then lascivious thoughts would not excite him, and he would not need other women. Maybe should do it so his dick doesn't bother him anymore. Yes, I could turn off his dick that makes him want to be with other women, I thought. But I felt sorry for him. I thought, okay, let him be happy that I'm not turning off his damn thing.

What a dreadful materials world, I thought. Material world gives a choice without a choice. Material world says, «Please choose: either forget him completely, or recognize him incapacitated». It's very sad situation. The material world puts us on our knees, says that you will still do as I tell you. But Shri Ram still tried to influence me to in order to I feel sorry for him and reverse this decision. At that time I wanted to listen to my music, and in the playlist I got to Srila Prabhupada's lecture «The Lotus feet of Krishna are the best protection». In this lecture was a story about how Arjuna killed Karna. Krishna told Arjuna to take advantage of the situation, even if it was completely wrong and unethical, contrary to the rules of combat. But Arjuna had to do it, and he did it. He killed Karna when Karna was defenseless, when Karna was standing on the ground, pulling the wheel of the chariot out of the mud and was without bow.

In this lecture it was said that many things may look unethical from a moral point of view, but if Krishna, God, said to do it, then it is the highest morality.

We can see only the external manifestation, But Krishna knows better. And although this Shri Ram tried to get me to feel sorry for him, poor, unhappy, and cancel the requirement to recognize him as incapacitated, but I listened to a lecture by Srila Prabhupada and said, «You will not get this, Shri Ram». But at the same time, I thought I can a little regret him. I can put a condition that if he is only with me, then he is capable, has the right to decide and act, but if he wants to be with other woman, immediately he is found incompetent and can't do anything, will not be given authority to act. But if he then frees himself from this desire, from this obsession, and again becomes only with me, then again he will have the right to decide and act.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that this Shri Ram had given this concession to my mind. I looked at this concession and thought: I don't seem to feel any tricks there, although, knowing Shri Ram, it would be strange to believe him and think that there can be no trick. But I thought: okay, so be it, I will make such a concession. If he is only with me, then he enjoys full capacity to act and can make decisions within the established boundaries, and if he opens up to other women, then immediately becomes incapacitated. That is, he is capable only when he is with me completely, and all the rest of the time he has no right to anything. I thought it is the right thing to do. I give him the federal budget, and I have the right to demand increased control over the targeted expenditure of the funds of federal budget. I thought it is like a switch which closes a water supply and a power of the washing machine in the absence of the owners, so that no other person could turn on the washing machine and use it. The washing machine is there, but if the owners are not home, the tap on the pipe supplying water to this washing machine, off and water can't go into it. And the power is off. The washing machine is there, but it can't work. The washing machine can work only when the owners are at home and everything is turned on.

I thought it was the right thing to do. I earn pious merits. I fast, I do charitable work, I infringe on myself in everything, I observe some strict regulative principles, and I sacrificed for the good of all. I receive pious merits, but my pious merits transfers from me to Shri Ram, because he is my eternal husband. Thanks to this he can be wasteful. He is so gorgeous, lucky, successful, smart man at my expense, due to my pious merits. He can have magnificent and wasteful lifestyle, throw money around, shine in the world, and live an easy and luxurious life.

302. Empty pot without honey

And then I remembered that when I had a divorce from my previous husband and I need to leave his apartment, I began to sing a Winnie-the-Pooh's song all the time. I was singing this song all the time:

The end of my suffering and disappointment, and immediately the good weather comes, when you or him or someone else (but not me) will be presented with a pot without honey for birthday!

I knew that nothing happens without a reason, and if I want to sing this song, it means something. At the time, I thought that this way I was being shown that I was getting rid of my husband, that I needed to get rid of him. But now, seeing what my interaction with Shri Ram has come to, seeing events from another angle, understanding the meaning of pious merits and its role and movement in our lives, I realized why I sang that Winnie-the-Pooh's song back then. I saw that the song marked the end of the preparatory stage in my plan, which I and my team of forces of light created before I was born in this body of mine. This Winnie-the-Pooh's song indicated the transition to the main phase of this plan, it showed that the way ahead to my interaction with this Shri Ram is open. All the preparatory stages were completed, and it was possible to enter the main phase of the plan, as a result of which I had to come to an exemption from the need and obligation to always transfer my pious merits to Shri Ram. That Winnie-the-Pooh's song showed that I got the opportunity to start fulfilling this extremely important point in my plan. That's why I sang it then. Shri Ram has used my pious merits for so many lifetimes to do abominations and pay for his pleasure, and I could not prevent it in any way. But in my plan there was this stage, such as the getting an exemption from this. And that's why I was singing this song.

Realizing this, I went and bought a charm with a pot of honey for silver bracelet. This pot of honey at bracelet reminds me that then I was singing this song for a reason. The period ended when I could not stop the unobstructed transfer of my pious merits from me to him. My pious merits were flowing away from me to him unhindered. I was buying to him enviable life, but I was getting nothing. I was ending up with nothing, but at the same time was paying for the entertainment of Shri Ram, for his colorful lifestyle, living large, for his profligacy.

The end of my suffering and disappointment, and immediately the good weather comes, when you or him or someone else (but not me) will be presented with a pot without honey for birthday!

I bought a charm with a pot of honey for silver bracelet. This charm for bracelet is the personification of the fact that I was singing this song at that time, because my plan has moved into a new phase. I had to free myself from having to pay for the adventures of Shri Ram by my pious merits. I had to free myself from having to pay for all the abominations that he did. We are an eternal couple, we were scattered on different worlds, but despite this, the connection between us remained, I was always in touch with him, I saw what he was doing there, being an asur. He was paying for everything by my pious merits. And I couldn't do anything about it, I couldn't influence it in any way. I could not do anything to prevent my pious merits from flowing to him. But when I sang this song, I entered the phase at my plan when I began to free myself from the necessity of paying for all his abominations by my pious services. Because when I sang this song, everything went according to the script and came to the point that I demanded that he be declared incapacitated if he will be with other women. In this case, if he is with me, then my pious services go to him and he will have the right to do everything as it should, in order to take care of me, of our return to the spiritual world. But if he will be with other women, then immediately this flow of my pious merits will be blocked and he will not have the right to anything. And my pious merits will not transfer for payment of all the abominations he is used to doing, and for his enjoyment of other women. That's why I used to sing that song.

I remembered putter at the metaphorical card in which a man holding a putter is painted. I remembered that I had written about this putter that she was so important and dear to him («она ему так важна и дорога»). In Russian, the word «дорогая» has several meanings. One of the meanings is «dear». Another meaning is «expensive». I wrote in Russian «эта клюшка так дорога ему» («putter is dear to him» or «putter is expensive to him»). And one of the meanings of this is «a putter is expensive for him». I thought she was an expensive prostitute. She must have served him well. Apparently, she had already served countless men. And I remembered that just before that I had a dream. Another Ekadashi was coming, and I had a dream in which this Shri Ram (that is, a man whom I clearly identified as Shri Ram in my dream) had the audacity to tell me that I was fat and that I needed to pull myself together, and I told him in my dream that I didn't care. When I woke up, I realized what this sleep was about. He needed the money to pay for the services of this expensive prostitute, that is, this putter, who was so important to him and so expensive. Because she cost him so much. Many pious merits were directed to payment of his enjoyment with her. He needed an inflow of fresh pious merits, of universal gold. And he's right before Ekadashi in the dream as if said me, «Observe the fast of Ekadashi and afterwards give me the benefit which you will receive due to the fasting. I have to pay for my pleasures with this expensive prostitute.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

She is very expensive. I urgently need an inflow of universal gold, of pious merits, the only true currency accepted everywhere in the Universal. Observe the fasting of Ekadashi and give me all the good that you will have received. I have to pay for this expensive putter». He as if said to me in a dream, «You're fat. You need to get rid of the extra fat, the extra pious merits. Be content with your miserable standard of living. You can do without your pious merits, you are used to squalid living conditions. You can live in a tiny apartment with cockroaches. But she is not like that, she does not tolerate bad living conditions. She likes luxury. You can do without these pious merits. She needs your pious merits more, and I need pleasure witch she gives to me. She is as goddess of sex. I was lucky with her. I have not met such sensual whores for a long time. Observe the fasting of this Ekadashi and give me your pious merits, and as soon as possible».

I thought: how sad it is that he needed funds to pay for the services of this expensive prostitute and he said to me, «You are fat. You have accumulated a certain amount of pious merits. What do you need these pious merits for? You can live well without your pious merits. You're used to living in a tiny apartment with cockroaches. You don't need good living conditions. You are used to poor living conditions. For some reason you don't give me your pious merits, but I need to pay for sex with this expensive putter, that is, with this expensive prostitute. She is used to living in luxury, she wants enjoy luxury life. She needs your pious merits more than you. You got fat; you have accumulated a lot of pious merits. You are just greedy. You do not fulfill your duties — you do not give me all your pious merits. Observe the fast of this Ekadashi, I need a lot of money, that is, a lot of pious merits. The putter is very expensive. She's so cool, I have with her the really great sex. She gifts me pleasure. And you are an old woman, good for nothing. You are only suitable for pay for my entertainment». And he tried to bend me in my sleep so that I would give my pious merits to him, so that I would keep strict fast of Ekadashi in order to he would be with that expensive putter. He as if said to me in those words in my dream that I had grown fat, «Observe strict fast of this Ekadashi and give me the pious merits. I will pay for my pleasure with this expensive putter. She knows how to please men. You are only suitable for pay for my whims. Observe strict fast! I am waiting for your pious merits from Ekadashi, because this putter is very expensive».

I thought that this should be stopped, real tough, and decisively. I thought he didn't respect me at all. But it was not my fault. I did not refuse to comply with my duties, my conjugal duty, and he periodically received what he wanted. But it wasn't enough for him. He wanted the services of expensive whores, and he wasn't going to give them up. And he paid for their services by my pious merits, by my fasting, thus depriving me of those favorable opportunities and conditions of life to which I had every right and which should have been mine. I observe the fast of Ekadasi, and the fast of Ekadasi give a lot of pious merits. In each Ekadashi it is written how much pious merits a person receives for observing this fast, for example, fasting on the day of this Ekadashi gives as much pious merits as comes from donating a thousand cows, from digging a hundred wells in arid places, from building many free hospitals for the poor, from feeding many brahmanas. And he took these pious services and directed them not to my benefit, but to the payment of expensive whores. Although he promised not to hurt me. He promised to do everything for me.

303. Two conjoined cherry trees

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I remembered the movie «The Family Man». There, the main character was told by his friend, «You're playing a dangerous game. A good wife is a very severe creditor. If you invest elsewhere, she will close your account. Forever». In the film, it was said about sex, but in this case, it all refers to pious merits and the opportunity to do something at all and decide. Because the wife is a very severe creditor. Pious merits transfers from the wife to her husband in order to he can to take care of her. And if you invest in another place, she will close this account completely, and pious merits from her will not go to you at all, and you will lose the right to decide and do something at all. And no expensive whore will come to you. No one will come to you.

He was saying to me, «Be my wife, become my wife». He said it in the presence of Nrisimhadeva. Yes, it was in an illusion, and Shri Ram thought it was nothing, but Nrisimhadev is a God, He can manifest himself anywhere, including through any illusion. And Nrisimhadev manifested himself in that illusion, and Shri Ram in his presence said to me, «Be my wife, become my wife», and said that he would do everything right. Then he gave me his word as a gentleman. He said to me, «I won't harm you! I give you my word as a gentleman. On the contrary, I am so grateful to you for your coming from nowhere to brighten up my loneliness. Trust me! Here is my hand. I will not abuse your trust. We are alone in this gloomy world, so let's stick together». He also said to me, «Here's my hand, it's the hand of your friend. I will do everything to help you return into the spiritual world». He told me that he would not consider his mission accomplished until we were liberated, that is, returning to the spiritual world, to the Lotus feet of Sri Sri Radha and Krishna. He told me that he would never fall in love with another woman. But somehow it happened that although he promised not to harm me, he hurt me. My pious merits was directing not to us, not to providing of my well existence, my comfort and coziness. My pious merits was directing not for my opportunities for life, my luck, my good life and opportunity to return to the spiritual world. My pious merits was directing to his expensive whores. And he had the audacity to demand it of me. He promised to do everything for me, but he robbed me in order to pay whores for their more prosperous pleasant life at the expense of my austerities. My pious merits transferred through him to other women, and instead of my life being improved, their life was being improved, at the expense of my pious services, in order to he was with them. But I was being left with nothing. My pious merits were directing not to improve my life, but to improve the life of other women, whom I do not even know and who were with this Shri Ram.

I thought that this should be stopped and that is why I came to this Shri Ram. I didn't forget him. I did not break our eternal bond, because I was told that this should not be done. But since I can't do it, there is only the option of declaring him incapacitated, since he violated everything he promised, everything he guaranteed. He abused my trust, though he gave me his word as a gentleman that he would not abuse my trust. But he abused my trust. And now need to recognize him as incapacitated, and then he will be an empty pot without honey.

Here is the empty pot. He is a simple thing. He is not going anywhere.

And therefore an empty pot is much higher valued!

I thought: need to deprive him of the gain for other women so that he becomes unprofitable for other women. Then he will only be mine. We need deprive him of the gain for other women, so that he becomes an empty pot for them, without honey. I thought that I used to get an empty pot without honey, and others used him, such a sweet daddy, such a sweet pot with honey. But when he will become incapacitated for them, he will become an empty pot without honey, from whom they can take nothing. And I thought, that's why I was singing that Winnie-the-Pooh's song back then.

Here is the empty pot. He is a simple thing. He is not going anywhere.

And therefore an empty pot is much higher valued!

The end of my suffering and disappointment, and immediately the good weather comes, when you or him or someone else (but not me) will be presented with a pot without honey for birthday!

I thought I'm brilliant. I had this plan drawn up before I was born in this body, somewhere between lives. And then I had planned to free myself from the transfer of my pious merits to payment of crazy adventures of Shri Ram, to the payment of all other women by him, and to his abominations, which he could perform, taking advantage of the fact that my pious merits go to him. At the same time, I was left with nothing, although I deserved these pious merits myself with my fasts, good deeds, but the results were received by him, and was he directing my pious merits to the wrong thing at all. That's why I sang that the end of my suffering and disappointments. The end of my disappointment that someone's debauchery and all kinds of abominations paid for by my good deeds. The end of my misery that I don't get the good I deserve. Now this will not happen.

And that's why in my dream before Ekadashi, when he told me that I was too fat and need to me to share the gold with him, I told him that I didn't care. Because, it turns out, I just had to wait for him to add the final, crucial portion to the list of proof of his guilt. I needed a full evidence base, so that I could justifiably demand, with evidence, with facts, in order to he be declared incapacitation, because just then he was pushing my mind, so that I would observe 16 Mondays of Shiva, in order to he would be allowed to be with other women with impunity. And this was the last drop in the bowl with the facts of his abuse of my trust and causing me harm, and at my expense. This plan to relieve me of the obligation to pay for his crazy adventures came to fruition. And that's why I told him in my dream that I didn't care. I told him, «I don't care at all, because now you press me, after that I will find out all this, and I will demand to recognize you as incapacitated for the entire time of your stay in the material world, if you are not with me, if you are somehow somewhere with other woman. But if you're with me, okay, so be it, be with me. But in any case, you also have a choice without a choice. The material world is harsh and cruel».

We think we could live pretty well here. It's like someone trying to get comfortable living in a public toilet. A lot of people go to the public toilet, urinate and defecate there, but he thinks: «I'll find a good corner here. I will be happy and enjoy some of the good life». But here people spoil the air for him, and the shit floats around, and the stoppages in the sewer are constant. And he is constantly trying to protect his belongings, because he lives there. This is we in the material world. We are trying to get comfortable life in the public toilet. I said to Shri Ram, «I will not give you this. Either you are going to the spiritual world with me, or you are going to the spiritual world anyway, because otherwise you will be alone, nobody will be with you. It will be very bad for you, and you will have only one way left — to go to the spiritual world, and you will definitely come there».

Those 16 Mondays of Shiva were the last straw for the prosecution to demand that he be declared incapacitated for the duration of his stay in the material world. I just waited. I didn't know anything about it. But somewhere there on the level of the higher self, I just waited, so in my dream when he told me that I was too fat and it was time to share the gold with him, I told him that I didn't care. I told him that I didn't care, because he would have slipped up anyway. And he would have ended up being an empty pot without honey for all of them, but not for me. That's what the Winnie-the-Pooh's song was about. I came to him, stuck my neck out for him, put myself in danger, and have done all that needs that he would never be with anyone else but me again. I did everything to make him mine and only mine forever.

When I realized this, I thought: who is he? Who is he that for the sake of him, whom I do not know, I did all this? I did everything, even though I didn't know any of this in my normal life here in the physical body, with the eyes of this little mouse. Here, while in the physical body, I did not know this, but from there, from above, from the higher planes of being, all this is visible. And it turns out that I did everything there so that this man, whom I do not know, would become mine forever, so that he would definitely return to the spiritual world. And I did everything, and even that. I thought: who is he for whom I did all this? I remembered the words from a song by Boris Grebenshchikov:

And in the sky above me the same star.

There was no other star and it won't.

I thought: he will never have other women. Because I do not renounce him. I was told to be with him and not leave him alone, that is, to do everything to keep him alive. And hence the choice without a choice: demand recognition of his incapacitation, that is, he's either mine man or no one's man. He will never have other women. I remembered my previous husband. He was a fan of one football team, and he always said: «The main thing is to win. Victory at any cost». I thought: he's absolutely right. I fully support this principle: victory at any cost. I went to a lot of football games with him, and the fans behaved very obscene. They tried in every possible way to provoke, somehow bring the opposing team out of balance. And he said, «The main thing is to win, at any cost. No matter how. The main thing is to win». And I thought, this is my principle. Victory at any cost. Even in this way. Because he's either mine man or no one's man. He will never have other women. And he has only one way. It's his returning to the spiritual world, because I go there. If he is with me, then he goes there with me. And if he is not with me, then he will have a completely hopeless, completely inconsolable life, and he remains only to get out of this material world, so as not to sit in this cesspool. Victory at any cost. And this is not a punishment for him, but a mercy, because otherwise I would not have come to him, I would have simply left the material world and return to the spiritual world, and he would be left here alone, without my support. A completely hopeless existence awaited him. I just spared him.

I thought: what a brilliant combination. How did I or someone of our team of forces of light come up with this idea? Such a smart move. And then I remembered how my second husband and I were once in the village Banava, at the home of a friend of ours, a senior devotee, Prabhu Sasha. There were two cherry trees growing in the yard, fused by roots, growing from the same trunk. When we were there, there was a thunderstorm, and lightning struck the trunk of one of these cherry trees. This cherry tree had burned. These cherry trees stood so: one completely burned and was black, and the other was alive. And Prabhu Sasha said aloud to the alive cherry tree, «Be patient a little, soon you will be free and go after your friend». I remembered this and thought: Shri Ram and I are like those two cherries. Either we go back to the spiritual world together, or one of us will go there first, but in any case... «be patient a little bit, and you will go there too».

Victory at any cost. For me, this principle was a little ephemeral, and I did not always agree with it, but when it all happened to me and when I saw that in order to implement it, I put my life and a lot of things put, I thought: Yes, victory at any cost. In this case this principle is true.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

304. Stand at the mirror for five minutes

I bought a charm with a pot of honey for silver bracelet on September 17, 2019, and the next day, on September 18, an event happened. Then I was thinking that he had been deceiving me all summer, saying that I was his only one, but in fact he had been with another woman. I realized that he had always deceived women in his past lives. If I had forgotten him, that is, cut off our eternal relationship, then he would continue to deceive good decent women. I realized that for the good of everyone it is necessary to stop him. On the evening of September 18 I was thinking this way and was sending to the expanses of the Universe my demand to recognize him as incapacitated if he opens to other women. Suddenly I saw him in front of me on my internal screen. Suddenly a bright golden-white ray burst out of me at the energy plane of existence and burned something at him closer to Svadhithana chakra. And then this ray began to sink lower and burn through everything in its path, reaching his Muladhara chakra. I cut through by ray everything there, like by a laser. And then I went down even lower, stood at the bottom, under him, and I with this ray went into inside him. This happened as if by itself. I just watched to this, although I carried out this. It looked as if you take a sharp very hot knife, was drifting down knife into the butter, and butter immediately melts and everything is cut through.

I entered this ray from below into him and launched this ray upward throughout him. And he as if open up, became like the open chamomile without walls and without a roof, just open petals. I mentally sat down on this chamomile and began to chant the Hare Krishna mantra there. I was chanting a mantra on his open chamomile and thought that he must be stopped, otherwise he will never stop himself and will always deceive good women by pretending to be good and faithful man, but in fact plunging them into such wrong relationships. I thought he was wrong and I need to stop him for the good of everyone. He should not have the opportunity and the right to continue doing this. He should become incapacitated if he looks at someone and makes an attempt to somehow spread the tentacles of his desires to them. This should not be, I thought. I chanted the mantra like this, sitting on his open chamomile, and I thought that since this choice and the inevitability of this only possible choice came to me, then this must be done.

It was already evening. The children went to bed. I suddenly remembered that the other day I was singing a song from the movie «Ah, vaudeville, vaudeville». Back in early September, when the secret about the third take was just beginning to be revealed, one day I sang this song for half a day. And then, just when everything was revealed to me and I had already made a decision about his incapacity, I suddenly remembered it. I remembered sitting and singing for half a day, not knowing anything yet:

Hard to argue with the logic of life.

But no matter what anyone says, before you marry a young woman, open your passport and look there.

You will understand everything; you will see everything there.

You will understand and see for yourself.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Though beat against the wall days and nights, but you will not return the days that passed away.

Before you give flowers and all the rest, look into the eyes of the bride.

You will understand everything; you will see everything there.

You will understand and see for yourself.

In order to hide from the coming disaster, there is a reliable and simple way.

Before you propose to a young woman, need to stand at the mirror for five minutes.

You will understand everything, you will see everything there.

You will understand and see for yourself.

I remembered the words of this song that «before you marry a young woman, open your passport and look there» and «before you propose to a young woman, need to stand at the mirror for five minutes», and I thought that this woman with beautiful tight body, with whom he was all this summer, is young. I went to the mirror, looked at myself appraisingly and thought: Yes, I can't compete with a young woman in any way. My body is soon 52 years old. I remembered the words of the song «before you marry a young woman, open your passport and look there», and I thought: did he already want to marry her? Is she so good that he already thought of marrying her, wooing her, giving her flowers, and so on?!

At first I was very upset, and then very angry. I took the prayer beads and started chanting a mantra on the prayer beads while looking at my reflection in the mirror. After that I started looking into my eyes in the mirror, knowing that this Shri Ram is plugged into me and through my eyes sees me and also sees all my thoughts. And I, looking into my eyes in the mirror, immediately imagined him on my inner screen somewhere in front of me. That is, as if I stand at the mirror, chant a mantra here in real life, see this Shri Ram on the mental screen and at the same time in the physical reality I look into my own eyes in the reflection in the mirror and mentally say to him, «I know you are now looking at me, at my reflection from my eyes. Look what I'm going to do to you».

I mentally saw all his chakras, and all chakras became empty, like empty holes. Then I went down to where the male organ was, and I started draining everything out of that male organ that he had there at all. I was pulling everything out of his entire body, both from above and below, and it was moving along his energy pipe to the male organ, coming out of there and everything was going into me. I thought that probably this young woman was sucking him well, but I will do it for him at the highest level. I will suck everything out of him that he has. She couldn't have done that. This idea that she was young and that he was already thinking of marrying her made me so mad that I sucked so much out of his male organ that he had almost nothing left.

And after that, I started burning everything inside his testicles. I imagined these testicles of his on some mental plane and imagined that a fire had started inside his testicles and everything was burning and had burn completely there. And then I looked at all his chakras again. Chakras were empty, and I sucked everything out of his chakras through his male genitals. Then I lit all his chakras like sparklers. Chakras were like sparkling spinning fireworks, shining in all directions. Then I remembered that Shiva had told me that I should be with Shri Ram and never leave him alone, that is, never kill him, never make him a dead man. I thought I am forbidden to kill him, even though I wanted to. I thought, Yes, I don't have the right to kill him, I shouldn't, but I have the right to do everything else. I thought that no one gave me a ban on everything else, and that I can do anything with him, the main thing is not to kill. This was the first circle of the mantra. All this I did on my mental screen, and all the time I was simultaneously looking into my eyes in the mirror and quietly chanting aloud the mantra on the prayer beads.

I started chanting the second circle of mantra. I was looking into my eyes in the mirror and mentally said to Shri Ram, «Now I will burn everything at you». But he gave me the idea that last December, when I wanted to burn something at him and, indeed, burned something, the reaction went to my children. After that, a cat fell on my daughter from the top of the sofa and scratched her right near the eye with a claw, and my son was bitten by a dog on the street. And all this happened on the morning of the day after I burned two important blocks in him. And now, when I wanted to burn everything in him, he reminded me of it. That slowed me down. But I looked in the mirror at my body. I imagined how beautiful that woman is, what a beautiful body she has. My body was not as beautiful and tight. I thought that she had a healthy young beautiful tight sexy body, which he liked to look at. I specifically stood and critically examined my body in the mirror, and I got depressed. I thought my body is not as beautiful as that of that woman and I couldn't compete with her. I thought he liked her body very much and he enjoyed with her. I wanted to curse and destroy him completely. I looked into my eyes in the mirror and thought: what can I do in this situation?

And then I saw that all his chakras became a through-and-through. Chakras have become not just empty, chakras have become just end-to-end. And I saw that an enormous hurricane-like wind was blowing through his chakras. I saw that all his chakras are like holes in his body, and a hurricane is blowing through them, a violent wind is rushing, and Shri Ram can do nothing about it. And then I remembered that this day on my desktop there was a screenshot with the words «Rip out their sinful tongue». And I thought: it would be nice to completely rip out this sinful tongue that does not give him peace, constantly bothers him, itching that he so wants to do something with this tongue, to slip it into inside someone. But Shri Ram reminded me that when I was sending a group of asuras, tore out their sinful tongue and left them like this, they felt very bad at the time and he then asked me to send them quickly and not keep them without this sinful tongue. And this time he reminded me of it and begged me to take pity on him.

I thought, okay, I'm not going to rip out his sinful tongue, but what can I do? And then a huge Trident appeared in my hands, and I began to pierce this sinful tongue in different places with this Trident. I was piercing that tongue of his, and I was seen that it had all covered with sores. And then I made very high temperature in this tongue of his, and all his tongue had all covered with blisters. I took this Trident and began to pierce the blisters on this sinful tongue of his. And then I stuck this Trident right into the root of his male genitals and poked there, and then I found some kind of pain point, very painful, and stuck this Trident into this point, so that it was unbearably painful for him. This was the second circle of mantra. All this time I was standing in front of the mirror, chanting a mantra, without taking my eyes off, looking into my own eyes and thinking: «Right now I will destroy you».

After that, I began to chant the third circle of mantra, looking into my eyes in the mirror. I was looking at myself in the mirror and was thinking that my body is not as young and beautiful as that of the woman with whom he had been all summer and with whom he wanted to be, and a powerful dark stream rushed from me into his eyes. I was thinking about how Parvati shouted to Banasura, when he had insulted the Shiva and I had the same frame of mind. I was thinking about Shri Ram: «I will make you realize your insignificance! I will punish you for your insolence! I'll destroy everything you have! I'll destroy you!»

I had a strong, unbearable desire to destroy him completely. I gave him a mental shake and saw that he came off of his body and was hanging somewhere at the level of the solar plexus. And I already saw this funnel from above, into which I usually throw them all. I wanted so much to throw him there... Everything would have been done in one second, and he would have been there, but then I remembered the words of the Oracle of the Archangel Michael, which caught my eye just that evening. The Oracle said that I could trust this man. I remembered that words — «You can trust this person» — and thought: can I trust this person? It slowed me down. I had a very strong, unbearable desire to knock him out of body. He hung detached from the body, and at any moment I could throw him out of body, but I was remembering those words about I could trust this man, and I was enduring with all my strength. I tried to ignore him and to take my inner gaze away from him.

I remembered Parvati's words to Bhairava: «You treated me like an ordinary person and treated me with disrespect. You insulted me. I can't fight you, but I can make you live on earth for all eternity as an ordinary person». I thought I couldn't kill him, but I could make him an ordinary person. I don't have to throw him out of his body. I can burn all his asuric nature, and he will become an ordinary man, just like everyone else. He will not be able to plug into anyone. He will not be able to see anyone's thoughts. He will not be able to influence anyone. He will not be able to see the clues and thanks to these clues to steer his business. He will be the same as everyone else, on equal terms. He will be an ordinary, mediocre, little man. I thought that in this case, if he was with me, if he came to me personally, he would be able to see some signs going through me, through my whole life, but he would only be able to see those signs when he is near me. But when he goes somewhere, on some business, he will not be able to see anything, because he will not be able to see from my eyes, will not be able to hear my thoughts, and will not be able to see what I see, hear and think when he is not near me. He won't be able to plug into me. I thought Yes, I could do it, but I felt sorry for him.

I finished chanting the mantra and went to bed. In the morning, I woke up and the first screenshot on my magic desktop showed my Gurudev holding out a ring of Rama to Sita on his hand. I thought: Krishna reminds me that my Gurudev offered me to this Shri Ram as a wife, through his lecture on the Internet, and I can't ignore it, offend it. Then I got a screenshot with the words «You can go for him. Ram took the vow in our interests». Then there was a screenshot of Arjuna protecting Draupadi on her swayamvara, and the words: «Here's my hand, it's the hand of your friend. I will do everything to help you return into the spiritual world». And I thought I have to calm myself down and continue to be with Shri Ram, because Krishna says I have to be with him. But I was very sad.

I thought: what fate was waiting for him with that young woman with beautiful tight body? I remembered that in that song were the words «before you marry a young woman, open your passport and look there». I thought that his passport must contain three very sad divorces, so to speak, three heart surgeries. And I thought: what would await him with this woman with beautiful tight body? I thought that in the song were the words: «Before you give flowers and all the rest, look into the eyes of the bride», and also «In order to hide from the coming disaster, there is a reliable and simple way. Before you propose to a young woman, need to stand at the mirror for five minutes».

I remembered that just when I was singing this song, immediately after that, my friend called me, and she told me about her Riga friend, that she, right with her husband, sitting next, was already looking for another man. Her Riga friend said that when her current husband had a second stroke, she would put him in a home for the elderly. And

I thought: he was shown his future with that woman with beautiful tight body back then. Because in that song were the words «to hide from impending disaster» and «look into the eyes of the bride». That is, then he was told through this song: «We will now show you what future awaits you with her. We will show you what trouble will come to you with her». And then my lady friend called and told me all this. It was his future. I didn't understand it then, but when I already knew all this and remembered this song, I remembered all these events, compared them, analyzed them, listened several times to the conversation recorded on my smartphone with my lady friend and saw in it the future that was waiting for Shri Ram with that young woman with beautiful tight body.

The future can be learned, it turns out, even in this way. This is not the only possible future, but the future that this individual will have if he is with this specific person, because with other person he will have a different future. And I thought that he would have had a massive stroke. She would begin to get irritated with him. She would have looked for a replacement for him and treated him disdainfully. And then he would have had a repeated massive stroke or brain hemorrhage, and then she would dump him or somehow accelerated his death taking all his wealth. And this is what was waiting for him. My lady friend told me about it on the phone when I sang this song, «Look into the eyes of the bride».

I remembered the reading coffee grounds at Radhashtami, September 6, at my friend's house, when I came to her because a chair broke under me. That time in coffee grounds was clearly visible phallus, about which my lady friend said that it is a dragon with three heads. I thought: I was already shown three heads, three takes, that is, three women. And even then, through this picture, it was shown to him that the final result would still be the same: even though the dragon has three heads, but it has only one body. Although there are three women and they are different, the result is the same. The result is his tragedy.

305. A saw that is dearer than life

I thought that I saved him so many times... When in the summer of 2016 his business was falling apart and he almost became a complete bankrupt and homeless, I saved him. He decided that this is not enough that I saved him from the collapse of life, and he made a big withdrawal of the pious merits from my piety account and threw into me someone else's sinful karma and three other people's deaths. He stayed alive and rich thanks to me, and all that he has is mine by right. And now at my expense he wanted to pay for his pleasures with this young woman with beautiful tight body, who doesn't have any complexes and who doesn't embarrassed undress (this is what Riga lady friend said about her, and from these words I learned what kind of woman, who was the third take). And I'm on the outskirts, not to prevent him to enjoy. I thought he had no right to live. It would be nice if Nrisimhadev tore him apart, completely. That would be the right thing. What pleasure was he thinking of?! He is alive because of me and continues to be alive only because I need him. He is no longer needed for anything. And he wanted to enjoy and deceive me. He should be swatted, painfully and cruelly, and this will be right, I thought. He is just an ungrateful wretch, not able to accountable for the promises he made. He is just a parasite on the body of the Earth, bringing no benefit to anyone, only sucking juices from everywhere. To crush such parasite would be right, so that only a wet spot would remain, and nothing more. He is a parasite who wants to live at the expense of others and who does not want to be responsible for anything. Killing him is the right thing.

When I was thinking all this, my son came up to me and began to ask me where the saw was. He needed a saw for something. We have a saw. My dad used a saw several times to fix something. But I don't use a saw. A saw is so scary; the teeth of a saw are very sharp. I had hidden a saw away so no one could get to it. But my son kept asking me all evening, «Where is the saw? Where's the saw?» I said, «You don't need a saw». But he said, «No, I need the saw, I need it». I told him later, «Really the saw to you means more than life? The saw is dangerous to handle. I'm sorry, but I won't let you take the saw. Do you need a saw so badly that even it is more worth than life?»

When I heard my words to my son, I thought that this was a projection on Shri Ram and that I was saying to him, «Is that woman with beautiful tight body more means to you than life?» So much he wanted to be with her. I thought: that saw is so dear to him; compared to her I'm nobody. I was afraid he doesn't like me at all. I began to fear that he did not want to be with me at all and refused to do so, even if he will lose his life as a result. I was very sorry that I was not what he wanted.

I thought he was the first person I spared. I guess I've never left anyone alive and, accordingly, I didn't spared for anyone, but he remains alive after my attack on him, and I feel sorry for him. Of course, the heart wants what it wants. And, likewise, the dick wants what it wants, but once we have to learn to be accountable for our words and actions. And we must understand that if we gave our word, then we must keep our word, and tricks and deception will still be revealed at some point. Usually his tricks and deception were always hidden and unpunished, and he was used to leading such a double life, but in this case he won't get away with it. Yes, it is hard for him, he must change his habits and stereotypes, I thought. He must be responsible for his words, on all planes of existence, and even where no one has ever controlled him, on these subtle energy planes. None of the women he lived with hadn't stuck her nose into these subtle energy planes, and no one had even guessed that he had something there. I don't know any of this either, and I don't see it, but this is shown me in some way. And what he did, what I was shown, is very depressing and very offensive to me. Never before had any of the women he lived with discovered his lewd amusements at the energy plane of existence. I don't see it either. These asuras are able to see and do something there, at the energy plane of existence, but I am an ordinary person. I don't see it all. He was used to dealing with women who didn't see anything, didn't know anything, and didn't even guess. Those women are just foolish cows. They look only at the outer shell, the outer manifestation. They see that the man is good, faithful, does not go anywhere, all the time with her and everything is fine, but in fact he has complete debauchery at the energy plane of existence. And since he is an asur, everything is all the same for him happens this on the subtle spheres or in material reality. And there is no fidelity there. But these women look at the fact that he is sitting next to them and does not run after other skirts, and think that he is such a faithful, such a good family man.

But suddenly it's all revealed in some way. A woman finds out that, it turns out, he had sex with many women on the energy plane of existence during this time. And how to be, if this woman is told to continue to be with this man, who looks like a good and faithful. He lied all summer, «You are my only one». And indeed, it turns out that this room in physical reality is one, but how many other rooms there are on the energy plane of existence, no one knows. He can do anything with anyone in those rooms on the energy plane of existence. He is used to having these rooms on the energy plane. He is used that no one knows that these rooms even exist. It is very sad for him to understand that even if a woman does not see it, this all the same to her someday will be open. One day, the lie will fall apart and there will be light in the darkness. She will see everything that was there. She won't see it, this will be just explained to her. I mean myself. She will be explained all, through some signs of the Universe, or someone will say to her directly. Maybe she won't understand right away, but then this situation will be explained to her from different sides, and after some time all parts of the puzzle come together in one picture, and she realizes that here, in physical reality, he is faithful man, but there, in those rooms on the energy plan of existence, he has some harem. Of course, the realization that his tricks will not pass and he need to control himself, although he is not used to it at all, is very painful for him. For many lives, when he was an asur, he got used to the fact that here, in physical reality, in the external manifestation, he is good man, but on the energy planes of existence he has, so to speak, rooms in which he can has sex with anyone and whenever, and no one sees this. And how can he be without these rooms now, when he are so much attached to this?

Then I remembered an episode that happened when we first arrived here. At one time, I listened to various psychological webinars. I was recording webinars, and then was listening to at a convenient time for me. And one day I went to visit my dad, on a bus, and to make the most of time on the road, I turned on one of the webinars. There was one exercise suggested to do. It was necessary to tune in, dive deep into yourself and look at your future with your mind's eye. The host of the webinar was setting different time intervals to participants: to tune in and see their future in a year, three years, five years, and some other years. I listened to the webinar not online, but in the recording, and I could stop the recording and give myself as much time as I wanted to really tune in and really get into that mood. I saw several time intervals there, and even something actually came true. And then at some time interval, which was voiced by the presenter, I plunged into a deep state of rest and saw myself and a man on some of my inner screen.

We stood together as a couple. I was standing to his left. When I saw myself with a man together, as couple, I was very surprised, and I asked myself. I asked me who was on my inner screen. I asked the woman on my inner screen who was actually I in my future. I asked myself, «How did you meet each other? How it happened?» It was very surprising for me, because I work at home, on the computer, almost do not go anywhere. I was not going to be to Dating sites, I did not have any friends, and it was completely unclear to me how, at my lifestyle, it is possible that I met someone somewhere. And here on my internal screen such a couple stands, really a couple. And this question popped out of me: «How did you meet? How it happened?» But I, who stood there on my inner screen, was embarrassed and kind of nodded my head to this man, and he said, «Naturally». That is, he said that everything happened on its own. And I immediately came out of there. That was the end of the exercise.

And now I remembered this exercise and thought: if all this is true, then this Shri Ram and I can become together, because the previous time intervals had coincided with reality. And now, remembering that exercise, I thought: when I did that exercise, I was so inspired, so enthusiastic. I asked myself with such exaltation there, in my future, how you met. But now so much time has passed. I have experienced all this that I have already had with Shri Ram. This Shri Ram has shown me his true attitude to me so many times, and this enthusiasm, this delight looks so ridiculous. And I thought that's probably why I didn't want to answer there. Because there's nothing joyous about standing next to a man and knowing that he doesn't like you very much and that he's replaced you so many times with others and said they're better, but he was told that he must to be with you, otherwise he will dead. I thought: what a humiliation... I'm so sorry.

306. «You are forbidden to violate the boundaries of Bharata»

Time went on. These depressing thoughts never left me. I fell into an deep sadness at the realization that he had been with someone else woman all summer, even though he was saying that I am his only one, that he don't have anyone else and that he don't want anyone else. He wanted to use my fast, my 16 Mondays of Shiva, to continue be with her with impunity. And I thought: it's a pity that I saved him from Lona. Lona would have cured him of that itch in his dick forever. She would have cured him very well. He would have nothing left there, no itch, no desire, and no power. She would have made him the impotent, but for some reason I saved him from Lona. Why did I do this? How stupid I am! Because of the third take, because of a young woman with beautiful tight body, he dared to tell me that I am old and that I am not good for anything. He thought I won't be able to guess it anyway. But in all fairness, it is necessary to destroy his cock completely, I thought. Lona could do it, but, unfortunately, I saved him from her. What a duffer I am! I thought he owed me everything. He gives me absolutely no respect, even though I've saved him so many times, including his cock. I shouldn't have saved him.

He was sure that my previous 16 Mondays of Shiva (during which it was revealed to me that he took all my pious merits out me, and threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's deaths) had removed from him this curse that led to tragedy all his relationships with women. He thought that since I had observed those 16 Mondays of Shiva then, he will have everything fine with women now. And he even thought of marrying that young woman with beautiful tight body, which would result in his stroke. This would have resulted her complete neglect of him, indifference and contempt to him and his bitter disappointment and regret. I thought: how clever he is... He likes to solve his problems at someone else's expense, he thinks that he can outwit everyone, how clever he is. But he has insulted me. He has given such an insult to his Shakti. And he thought to be happy with other people's women when his Shakti is unhappy, and through his fault and his conscious choice and decision. I thought: was he thinking of being happy with someone, making me even more miserable than I already was? Did he really want to be happy by making me even more nothing, more miserable? What sheer stupidity, arrogance and an uncontrollable thirst for pleasure, I thought. No, that must come to an end. This should be finished, so that he does not have this illusion at all, in any way, never with anyone. Yes, of course, he begged for an indulgence, that if he is with me and no one else, then he has full capacity to act. Yes, he's a lucky man, I thought. It could have been worse. Let him to appreciate his good fortune.

He was told by a screenshot from the Mahabharata, «You are forbidden to violate the boundaries of Bharata». He was told that he was forbidden to look anywhere, so to speak, into other rooms. And in General, it is forbidden to have other rooms. He was grieving very much. In fact, he was very sad, because my son was asking, «Where is the saw? Give me a saw», but I was saying to him, «Is a saw more worth to you than life?» She was so worth for Shri Ram, even more worth than life. But he was told through one of Srila Prabhupada's letters: «You are worried about rules and restrictions, but without rules and restrictions, the frustration will be even greater. This may seem difficult at first, but if you are sincerely striving to achieve the highest goal of life, you can be sure that by making the effort, you will become happier and happier. The miseries of the material world are shrinking and becoming less than the footprint of a calf's hoof». Srila Prabhupada wrote this to a mataji, but it was through this letter, which came to my attention just when my son was weeping about this saw and Shri Ram was weeping about that young woman with beautiful tight body, that he received an answer.

He was told, «Yes, you are very worried that you are forbidden to violate the boundaries of Bharata, but if there are no rules and this prohibition to cross the borders of Bharata, then there will be much more frustration. Because this is your Shakti. All other women are other people's wives to you, and it is sinful for you to be with them. And every interaction you have with them is bound to lead to some kind of tragedy that will hit you very hard. It will be like a heart operation for you. You've lived so many lives and endured so many heart surgeries... Isn't that enough for you?» He was told, «Yes, of course, this prohibition is very severe for you, especially since you do not have a habit to observe prohibitions. You could always do whatever you wanted, with complete impunity, and the woman with whom you lived, did not know anything about it. Prohibition is severe. And there's nothing to be done about it. If there is no prohibition, if everything is as it was before, then there will be only misfortune for you. But if you somehow get used to these frameworks and accept it, then you'll make you feel better. The miseries of the material world will shrink and becoming less than the footprint of a calf's hoof».

Thus they tried to calm him down, when he was very worried about how he would be without his accustomed lifestyle, when in real life he looks so faithful, so good, an exemplary family man, and at the energy plans of existence he has debauchery, and the woman who lives with him does not know anything about it, since she does not see these energy realms of existence. She thinks he's faithful, but in fact at energy plane of existence he has a brothel, a whole chicken coop with constantly changing hens. And there's not even a love triangle, but a harem with constantly changing concubines. But in every life, there comes a day of reckoning. If the woman with whom he lives is faithful, if she is more or less pious, then for such an attitude to her, he is sure to pay the price. Time to pay for sins will come. It will be a very cruel reckoning. Each time he will be crash and will be trampled. His heart will be broken to pieces every time. How bitter to be alone at the moment of reckoning... But he didn't think about it. He thought that if he will be faithful in real life, but there, at the energy planes of existence, he will have continuous orgies, then no one would see anything, no one would know anything, and karmic payback won't affect him.

Why didn't he think, why does this heart operation happen at him every time, with every woman? And this he wanted to do to me, even though he knew that I am his Shakti, even though he knew that he was calling on me to him. Yes, he didn't know that he asked Shiva for a blessing to reunite with me. He didn't know he performed some kind of severe penances and austerities to receive this blessing. He did not know that he had received this blessing. But ignorance is no excuse. Each time he insulted this blessing given to him by Shiva. Shiva had brought us closer together, but every time he insulted his Shakti so much, with whom he once wanted to be reunited, for whom he performed austerities and received a blessing. And he thought that he would be happy if he will insult her. His arrogance is surpassed only by his naivete.

307. The movie «Big Eyes»

Then somewhere in the texts I saw a mention about the movie «Big Eyes». I remembered that I had watched this movie when Shri Ram was plugged into me. Even then, through this film, he was shown what would happen to him. But he didn't understand. I also did not understand anything at the time, but this time I found this film and watched it. This film tells the story of a woman artist who drew people with big eyes. She got married, and her husband began to pass her paintings off as his own. She could draw, and he could promote paintings, and thanks to his enterprise, her paintings became widely known. But no one knew that she painted these pictures. He forbade her to say that these are her paintings, and he enjoyed the glory and wealth flowing to him due to her paintings. He became very dismissive of her, and when he began to threaten her and her daughter, she ran away from him and went to Hawaii. But even there, she continued to draw pictures for him, as he made a condition that he would give her a divorce if she draw him a hundred more pictures. He enjoyed luxurious lives at the expense of her paintings and led a dissolute lifestyle.

In Hawaii she met the Jehovah's Witnesses and began to read the Bible. She had read that God said, «Do not lie, tell the truth, and don't let a thief steal again». She decided to tell the world the truth about these paintings and took part in a radio show. There, when asked by the radio host if it was true that her husband was the world's best-selling artist, she said that it was a lie, that he was not an artist, that he was appropriating authorship for ten years, and that she was the only artist in their family. This case was publicized, and her husband told the world that she had slandered him and damaged his reputation. There was a court. He had told the court that only he was the creator of all his creations and that no one would believe her crazy story. Then the judge gave them a task in one hour to draw a picture with big eyes.

They were both given the same set of art supplies, and during that hour she drew another picture with big eyes, but he only made excuses about why he couldn't draw right now. Everyone saw that, indeed, the pictures with big eyes were drawn by her, and she won the case. The verdict was adopted in her favor on all charges. She won a libel case, as well as concerning moral injury and case on reputational damage. He did not draw any more paintings, because he could not draw. He died in poverty and obscurity. She found personal happiness, remarried and opened her gallery. And at the end of the film, it was said that she still draws every day.

In this film, I saw myself. I paint pictures, I earn pious merits, and I am the only artist in my family with Shri Ram. But I'm nobody, because my pious merits flow to him because he is my eternal husband. He lives in luxury at expense of my pious merits. He leads a dissolute life at my expense. I had seen in this movie that even before this life of mine, before I was born in this body of mine, I made the decision to stop this. There, between lives, I made a decision to publicly tell the truth about it and do everything to prevent the thief from stealing again. All this my life is devoted to this, and these three other women, because of whose Shri Ram refused me, when he was realizing that I am his Shakti, his eternal wife, were necessary for this «Supreme Court», in order to I could present to that Universal Court solid evidence of guilt of his. All this was necessary so that I could demand an end to the unimpeded transfer of my pious merits to him.

However, in the film, she divorced him, but I did not disown Shri Ram. And there's a reason for that, too. I decided not to part with my eternal husband and return with him to the spiritual world. If I had done the same thing as the heroine of this film, I would have chosen the option of forgetting him, that is, breaking the eternal bond with him and completely depriving him of my pious merits. But I gave him the opportunity to use my pious merits, but on the condition that he will only with me, that he will take care of me and will decide to return together to the spiritual world. And in fact, this «court» (with presenting the facts about three other women and demand recognition of his incapacitation, if he will be somehow with some other women) needed only for this — in order to he become either mine man or no one's man and in order to he return to the spiritual world in any choice. He will go to the spiritual world either with me or without me. If he will be without me then he will be nothing, no one's man. He will be stripped of everything and he will have only one way — into the spiritual world, because of the complete hopelessness and the inability to somehow improve his situation in the material world.

308. A dead tsar

When I watched this movie «Big Eyes», I had caught a cold. I lay in bed with a temperature, cough and the runny nose and thought: somewhere he is, but he is not with me, he does not help me in any way, does not give me pills, and does not give me food. He does not care about me, does not worry if I am all right. I remembered how back in Moscow, when I was coloring a toy piggybank in the form a lion and covering with varnish for it, I went to Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow, in her chapel, at the Danilovsky cemetery. I remembered a woman-nun coming out of the chapel, was standing right in front of me, holding a photo of the last Russian Emperor, Nicholas II, and saying, «Who needs a tsar? Take the tsar!» I remembered that at first I thought: «Why do I need him? He's dead». And then I looked at the others in the queue to Saint Matrona. No one wanted to take him, all turned their eyes away so as not to take him. But the woman-nun kept saying, «Who needs a tsar? Take the tsar!» And then I took him, because I thought that the lion is the king of beasts, and I was coloring a lion, which symbolized my man, to whom I was going, and now I was offered a tsar, noble man, in epaulettes. I thought that Saint Matrona was giving him to me, and I took the photography. At that moment it began to rain, and the woman-nun said to me, «Keep him safe!»

And now, having going through a lot together with this Shri Ram, I thought: this is my Shri Ram, I came to him, and he is my eternal husband. He is this tsar. He is the one that no one needs, because then at the chapel of Saint Matrona all women turned away and no one wanted to take this tsar. I thought: this is my Shri Ram, and no one needs him, because I saw it from that situation. Everyone needs only his millions, but no one needs him. I remembered what I had thought about him, about that photograph: «Why do I need him? He's dead». I thought: he's been dead for a long time. The dead can't sympathize or pity. And they can't love. And why did I take him if he was long dead? The dead cannot become alive. And why protect him if he's dead?

I thought, I'm a sucker. But Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow gave him to me, because this was near her chapel, it was a gift from her. But how did she give him to me, if he is dead? It was The only time when I asked Saint Matrona for a man, just that time, and it was the only time she gave me something, and even the tsar. And I thought: but how can that be? So many events coincided at that moment. The photography of the tsar at that time, when I was going to cover the lion by varnish and when I stood first in line. I didn't want the photo of the tsar, since he's dead, but I took, because he is the tsar and the man, and before that I colored the lion, thinking that it is a symbol of my man, and the lion is the king of beasts. Everything coincided in one moment.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought: I am so sorry! No one needs him. But he needs everyone. Because he's dead. Why protect and keep him safe if he is dead? It is illogically. But I took him. I didn't need him so dead, but Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow gave him to me, and very insistently. No one wanted to take him. But I took him. And what did I get? These years with him have lowered my self-esteem very much. My self-esteem is down the toilet now. My ego has fallen to the ground. The way he treated me is very sad for me. No respect, however small, no pity. Attitude like to a soulless thing that doesn't care whether it stands or is burned. A shameless perfidy against woman. He was saying that he could not live without me. All this summer he spoke this, and all this time he was with another, with some young woman with beautiful tight body and good sexual characteristics, who does not hesitate to undress and show her body to men, even to the another woman's man.

He didn't need her, and she didn't need him, but he thought that maybe he could marry her and enjoy with her. He didn't need her. He's dead. He needed pleasure. And he was saying one thing to me and was doing another. And he, taking advantage of my trust, wanted to get amnesty and forgiveness for this, with the help of my 16 Mondays of Shiva, with the help of my fast. I thought: I am so sorry! What a bad attitude towards me, even after all that we already had. I thought: he's incorrigible. Cannot be allowed such a walking dead man ruin others, deceive them insidiously. This must be nipped in the bud. I thought, maybe that's why I took him, even though he's dead and even though he's done so much wrong to me. Maybe I took him to stop this vile behavior of his, his vile attitude to people, to women?

I thought I was sorry I took him, but Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow gave him to me and told me that I must to keep him safe. I thought: I am not a good guard. Because I'm a woman. Although I am a very patient woman and I don't see what he is doing there, but I can't tolerate this his attitude towards me. And after a while, I am shown how he treated me, and I understand, I see that for a long time he completely deliberately deceived me, did everything so that I continued to be such a naive, stupid fool and in order to he could continue to do all this. I thought I could just kill him, but I must to protect him.

I thought that I wanted him to end this disgusting activity completely, forever. I thought that I want him to feel pain, for that pain that he caused me. Even without being with me in real life. How much misery he has brought me! He's dead. He doesn't know how to bring joy. What a pity! But his name is Shri Ram, that is, the one who brings joy. But a dead man can't bring joy. It's very sad story. He's dead. Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow gave him to me for some reason. I asked for my man, and Saint Matrona gave him to me. Yes, he's not like that. He's dead. I'm so sorry... But I can't do anything about that. He was given to me. I took him and said that I would keep him safe. I must protect him.

I said to him, «When will you come to me? When are you will protect me? If you can do that at all. I'm sorry I came and forced you to be with me. But maybe that's what you wanted. Probably, I wanted this, too. But I have been given to you, and you have been given to me. Let's not offence each other. Please. Your hopes were not fulfilled. My hopes were not fulfilled, too. But we have to live somehow. Let's at least not hurt each other. We've already hurt each other a lot. Let's not continue do this. Please».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I told him, «Please, spare me. You know what I am. I know I'm not what you wanted. In sex, you wanted something different, and in life, too. That's not what you wanted, but you got this. Alas. But it is very offensive to me if I am not respected and if you have something with other women. This is very humiliating for me. I feel very uncomfortable. Please, have a heart, show mercy. I beg of you, spare my. Don't hurt me by saying that you don't want to be with me and that others are better. No one needs you. Nobody wants you. This is a fact. This is a statement of fact. Because that time all the women turned away from that tsar, and no one wanted to take him. This indicates that no one needs you at all».

I said to him, «I understand that you want great explosive sex, but I'm not like that. Alas. Deal with it, just as I am trying to accept the fact that you are so callous and ruthless, lying and treacherous. You can put up with this, can't you? I know it wasn't part of your wish list, but you and I somehow ended up together, connected to each other. Show me some respect. Try to do it. Please. Even if all your behavior suggests that you treat me like I am just nothing. But maybe you can overcome this. Can you find something in me what you can respect me for? I'm so sad. You did everything to make me not want to live, but I have to live. You're just dead. Therefore, you sow only death around you. But I have to live. I'm valuable. At least for my children. I have value. Maybe I'm very valuable to someone else? Maybe you will find something that you can appreciate me for and don't want to hurt me in any way. You could do this?»

I told him, «Do you remember your conversation with Prabhu Sasha in March 2016, when you asked me to connect you with him? That time I tuned in to him and extended a thought ray from you to Prabhu Sasha. You went to him using this thought ray, and I heard your mental conversation. Then Prabhu Sasha said that he had underestimated me very much. That's what he said about me. You underestimate me, too. You are not afraid to upset me, to do something that is unacceptable to me. You're looking for loopholes, in order to the reaction for your actions does not hit you. But you're not afraid to hurt me. You don't feel sorry for me. You feel sorry only for yourself. Alas. Maybe we can interact with people like you only from a position of strength? Maybe they just don't understand the value of relationships and the lost trust. Maybe that's the only way to deal with them. Maybe the only way in this case is the recognition of his incapacitation so that he has no right to anything with others».

I said to this Shri Ram, «They don't need you. They need what you have. And if I make so that when you are with them you don't have the right to own something and to do something, then you will become nothing to them. Maybe that's the only measure which works in the case with dead people like you. Maybe that's the only measure which works in the case with man who is not even afraid to offend person who is next to him. Maybe that's the only measure which works in the case with man who doesn't feel obligated to keep his word and who thinks that somewhere the grass is greener».

I said to him, «I think that if this move appeared it means that there was no other way in your case. Admonitions, requests, the pleas, tears are absolutely useless. Nothing affects you. You are influenced only by force, the deprivation of all rights. If this move has come, it means that this is the only possible option in your case. What a lost cause». That's what I said to Shri Ram.

Then I came across these words of Srila Prabhupada, «What kind of nonsense is divorce? There is no such thing as divorce in Vedic civilization. You must accept the one God has given you as a husband or wife. People of Vedic civilization could not even think of divorce, they did not have such a thought. A wife may disagree with her husband. This is natural. Sometimes we may disagree with other people. However, divorce is out of the question». I looked at these words and thought that Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow gave him to me. She said through that woman-nun, «Take the tsar! Keep him safe!» I took him. I thought: I must somehow accept that this king, though a king, is a dead man. No one needs him at all. I don't really need a dead man like that either. But he was given to me. I was told to keep him safe. I must somehow protect him.

Then I remembered my Gurudev's words to one of his disciples. I took his words seriously as if he had personally said them to me in this personal situation of mine. These were the words: «The ways of the Lord are inscrutable. This situation protects you, and Krishna wants you to become even closer to Him. As a rule, the most powerful lesson is the most bitter. Bitter medicine cures. Many people will now draw strength from your example. Everyone present understands that at some point they may find themselves in the same state, and they want to know how to deal with this situation. I am giving you a new task, this is my new instruction to you — that you can become a good example for all of us, that you can show that you can cope with such a difficult situation and not cry, not kill yourself or suffer and that you can say that Yes, the guru told me that this is all in the hands of Krishna, this is His mercy, so I accept it, — and be happy. For me, the most important thing will be if your faith deepens. In any case, you are on your way back home to Vrindavan. Always remember that you are in the hands of Radha and Krishna, and whatever happens, They are watching you. Give yourself completely to Them, and They will take care of you».

When I read these words, I thought: I have a bad situation. This Shri Ram is mine, I was given him, many times I was told to be with him, no matter what happened, not to leave him, but he is a dead man, even though he is a king. I was taking these words as spoken to me personally, and these words were comforting me.

309. The demand compensation for moral damage

Shri Ram gave up on me three times, well aware that I am his Shakti. The third time he was going to live with me, but in his heart he thought, how nice it would be to live with that young woman with beautiful tight body, to drive her in his car, to live with her in his house, to have sex with her on his big bed. He wanted to enjoy life with that young woman, but my presence would prevent his dreams from coming true. The situation here was identical to situation with his first wife. When he lived with his first wife, he made no the conscious decision to leave her. He lived with her and going to live with her all his life, but he thought that maybe it would be better with someone else woman. Because of these thoughts of his, it turned out that in fact he disowned her. Because of this some general appeared in her life, who took her away. We had a similar situation. And I would have been removed from him, too, in some way. Maybe he would have been waiting for me to leave my body, and Krishna would have arranged some kind of situation to separate us, in order to make place for that young woman. And just from those thoughts, it turns out, he in fact disowned me, even though he was going to live with me. But because of the idea that it would be nice to live with that woman, he actually gave up on me.

He gave up his Shakti, knowing that she is his Shakti. He gave her a lot of vows, oaths, the word of a gentleman, and broke all his promises. Yes, this is clearly indication that this person is not responsible for his words and actions. Such persons are recognized as incapacitated persons. Incapacitated persons are those who are not responsible for their words and actions. If someone bought an apartment from incapacitated person without checking whether this person has the right to make a deal, then such a deal shall be deemed null and void in law. And if some cheeky woman wants to have fun with him, then, after a while, I will be shown what was there. I will feel humiliated, insulted in my best feelings, offended to the core. I will send such a hurricane on them that that cheeky woman will return to me everything she took from him. Thus I thought then, after watching the movie «Big Eyes».

I was told that there can be no question of divorce, that we must continue to live, not to cry, not to kill ourselves, not to suffer, but to accept this situation and continue to live. And then I had read an online article written by some man. He wrote the following:

«Humanity is tired of sex. Humanity doesn't need sex as much as the market imposes. Anfisa Chekhov, Sigmund Freud, Sharon Stone! We are already bored with your basic instinct! Let us live normal!

This is probably the most terrible secret of modern civilization. Few people have the courage to say publicly: „Enough naked meat! I don't want to beat the dust on my own or even someone else's bed every day! And I don't want do it every other day. I'm no longer interested in looking at women, because there is nothing to take off out of these women! Why do these bastards who sit in a TV, an Internet, and in mass media like to tickle my balls so much?! I have many other interests and desires! Policeman, why are you just standing? Do something to these people obsessed with sex! You can see that they violate my right to privacy!“

As soon as someone says something like that, they will immediately be accused of homosexuality at best, and impotence at worst. And impotents are the most discriminated caste, worse than negroes and terrorists. Therefore, everyone is silent. I am the first to talk about it. Do you know how scary it is?! Now I'll close my eyes and continue.

I'm all right. I don't have any problems with male health, and with sexual orientation, and even with the family. I'm not a maniac or a prude. I love my wife. I love her both as the mother of my children and as a woman. I know how to look at a good female figure and wish its owner a worthy groom, especially if the figure is not the only thing that a girl can offer. I can even look at another girl passing by and think about something like that, but only think, because my wife is strict. If something's wrong, she immediately causes moral damage».

I had read this letter, and the words played over and over and over in my head: «Because my wife is strict: if something goes wrong, she immediately causes moral damage». Also I periodically viewed a screenshot from the movie «Big Eyes» with an episode when the protagonist of the film won the trial, defended her right, authorship of her paintings and the TV reporter said: «The verdict on all charges is in her favor. She won a libel case, as well as concerning moral injury and case on reputational damage». Those words from the article and the words of the reporter in the movie «Big Eyes» about moral damage played over and over and over in my head. And this got to the point that I thought that it is not enough to demand recognition of his incapacitation if he looks to other women. I must also demand compensation for my moral damage. Because in the article about instinct and in the words of the reporter, it was said about moral damage. I thought that to take compensation for moral damages is right. Such way of protecting civil rights, as compensation for moral damage, consists in assigning the offender the obligation to pay the victim monetary compensation for physical or moral suffering that he experiences in connection with the violation of his rights. And I, as Shakti, have all the rights.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought that if there is some woman who does not respect my feelings and my rights, if she does not respect that he has his Shakti, and if she will be with him in some way, then after a while I will find out about it. I'm stay in touch with him the whole time. And even when we were in different worlds, our connection existed, and I knew everything that was happening to him. And even if I live here in a physical body and I don't see this, it still somehow reaches me after a while, it is explained to me. I thought that after a while I would find out about it, feel humiliated, and those cheeky woman would return everything that she took from him, and I would demand such compensation for moral damage, so that she would compensate me for my mental anguish for such a disrespectful attitude to his Shakti and her humiliation.

I thought that I would demanded such compensation for moral damage that those cheeky woman would immediately fall down to animal forms of life for a long time, and on this Shri Ram on the higher planes of existence would be such a stain as the yellow star at the Jews during the Second World War. And there it will be seen from afar that he is not responsible for his actions, that it is strictly forbidden to be with him and that if someone violates this warning, then will incur punishment: his Shakti will not tolerate such disrespectful attitude to her and will hit back, taking a very large compensation for moral damage. And after that, no one will ever come close to him. Everyone will be afraid of the moral damage from this Shakti, who is vindictive, jealous and in whose hands all rights, including all of his rights. This Shakti is very sensitive. She has her own radars everywhere. It is impossible to hide anything from this Shakti. She sees everything with the help of her radars. She will not spare anyone for her humiliation and for her tears. She will take maximum compensation for moral damage. She will take away all pious merits from those cheeky women. They will have nothing left. And at the highest realms of existence this Shri Ram in terms of decisions, responsibility and flow of godliness will be in blacklist, with very much damaged credit history. Shri Ram will be with Shakti, who does not tolerate his love affairs and takes away maximum compensation for moral damage. Because she needs to forgive him. But if to forgive in another way does not work, but she must forgive, then she will take away compensation for moral damage from those cheeky women. Only then she will feel relieved and forgive him.

310. Timely guarantees against infidelity

I thought: Shri Ram ended up in our nets. But it was his own fault. He threw his Shakti three times. He sold her, he gave her away, he threw other people's deaths into her, and he took all her pious merits out her. He wanted to make her an asuri, a promiscuous whore, just the next one in line for everyone when he wanted to impose their asuric initiation on her. He wanted to install a program on her that would make her a promiscuous whore for bad guys of all stripes. I thought: Shri Ram got caught really bad. I won't forgive him. Never. He was making me promises and vows and was calling for me to come. And here, in this life, he made many vows, a gentleman's word, but broke all promises. Three times he dumped me. He can't accountable for his own actions and words at all. This is a sufficient basis for recognition him incapacitated.

I thought: he's mine. He's only mine. As I said on September 2, 2016: «He's mine man or no anybody's man. He belongs to me or to nobody». And eventually it came true. He is nobody's man, but mine. He is just for me. And if he is with other women, they will pay me for it, because he does not have the right to make decisions, make deals somewhere with someone. This is a fair and appropriate condition. Plus to this the demand of compensation for moral damage for my humiliation and my tears. In this case I can forgive him.

I thought, «Shri Ram, everyone will shun you like a plague. You'll have to accept it. You'll have to embrace your destiny and resign with that fact that I'm not what you wished. You will have to accept your fate and be with me, because you will never have other women. They will run away from you in a panic, fearing offend me, who is such a vindictive, evil Shakti. I am cruel and merciless. After all, I have to forgive you, but I forgive in this way». And I said to Shri Ram, «Shri Ram, I'm waiting for you. You're all mine. Forever».

I thought: Shri Ram ended up in our nets. Because his wife is strict. When anything goes wrong, she immediately causes moral damage. And she deliberately arranged it, took everything into account in her plan, organized this, and prepared this in advance so that he would mess up three times. She organized this in order to provide a good reliable evidence base, so that it would be possible to demand recognition of his incapacitation. She has done everything, just to do it.

He said to me, «I won't harm you! I give you my word as a gentleman. On the contrary, I am so grateful to you for your coming from nowhere to brighten up my loneliness. Trust me! Here is my hand. I will not abuse your trust. We are alone in this gloomy world, so let's stick together». But he abused my trust. The result was his very sad credit history. Once he deceived his Shakti, that is, me. He refused his Shakti, abandoned her. Then he abandoned her a second time and then said a third time: «You are old for me. I want to enjoy a young woman with beautiful tight body». Thus, he too, refused her, because of these thoughts. This is a very sad credit story — three times consciously abandons his own Shakti. He received the blessing of Shiva to reunite with his own Shakti. He practiced severe austerities for this. But he left her so many times for the sake of other women. And the consequences of a bad credit history are no deals, refusal to get a new loan, lack of opportunity to become a guarantor, a ban on traveling abroad and to some other objects to get pleasure. The borders are completely closed. His Shakti is very resentful and vengeful. If some cheeky woman offends this Shakti while having fun with husband of this Shakti, then this Shakti immediately obtain compensation for moral damage from this cheeky woman. This Shakti does not spare such cheeky women because normal women will never approach the man is already taken. Only cheeky females allow themselves to do this. Why pity such females?

«Why did you seduce another woman's husband? Now you must to pay compensation for moral damage. Nothing comes without a price. The bill comes due». One such woman will pay me compensation for moral damage, and on the higher planes of being there will be a stain on him that will be visible from afar and which will inform all other women: «Stay away from him, he has Shakti. She really does not like when he is with other women. Do not approach him, or you will be left without pious merits. You will fall down into animal forms of life, for a long time, because you will not have enough pious merits to receive a human birth». In this case, if some women want to consider his candidacy, they will look his credit history in the highest realms of existence, in some other plane of reality and say, «I don't want to deal with him. He left his own Shakti so many times for the sake of ordinary women. These female individuals are many all around, but Shakti is the only one. He is so lucky! He has Shakti, but he left her three times in order to be with these multiple women-partners. It's very sad credit history. We don't need that». In the highest realms of existence, on some other plane of reality normal women will see his credit history and will immediately rejected him and never approach him. Because before you approach to each other here, in physical reality, you first need it all fits together there, at the level of the higher self, in the information space. They'll look at him there and say, «No, we don't need that». And here, in physical reality, there will be no options, no opportunities for rapprochement, because there, at the top, is not given permission for this.

He thinks, «What's the deal? No woman gives me sex. No one wants to be with me». But you need to check your credit history at the highest realms of existence, on some other plane of reality. There you have recognition of incapacity, there you have a ban, a refusal, and you have no right to anything. But I thought that just as there are banks that give credit to people with a bad credit history, so there may be cheeky women that give sex even to such men. They say, «Other women didn't give you anything? I'll give to you! Do you have Shakti? I don't care. She don't have to be so greedy, she have to share with other». There are cheeky women who behave like this. And that cheeky woman can come and say him, «Relax with me. Why are you all time with your wife? Sometimes you need to distract yourself. A cheating strengthens a marriage. Why are you obsessed with Shakti of yours? Did you give word of a gentleman, vows, and promises to her? But I'm not trying to wear her shoes. I lay no claim to her place. No, no, you and I are casual lovers. Why don't we just relax and get to know each other?» He can be tempted like any man. He can to go with her to have fun, and she can to think: «His Shakti is a stupid chicken. Well, let her cackle in her chicken coop, but we are well enjoying without her».

But she doesn't know that this Shakti has her own radars everywhere. Even if this Shakti is sitting in her chicken coop looking like a completely stupid chicken. This does not mean anything, because don't look down on people. Their appearance is only a disguise. After all, everyone who went to serve into Special Forces, have the special task and specialized training. This Shakti has her own radars everywhere, and after a while she will receive an alarm signal. And she had taken measures in advance, knowing that this was possible, because he broke up with her three times because of different female individuals. She had already demanded that Higher powers recognize him as incapacitated if he will be with other women. And she had already demanded in advance to recover in her favor from these female individuals all their pious merits in the form of compensation for her moral damage, because her tears are very expensive.

She demanded this a long time ago. She did all this in a timely manner, in advance, because timely coding prevents a recurrence of the disease. And she has already demanded reimbursement from that cheeky woman in the form of all her pious merits. And it is good if this cheeky woman will fall down only to the animal forms of life, since she can go even lower, remaining completely without pious merits. It is regrettable. But she had to think. She was with him and as if was saying me, «Don't be so greedy, you must share». She did not think that she would have to pay for it, but the time for retribution had come. You have to pay for everything. And you will have to pay by all your reserve of piety, because Shakti's tears are very expensive, because she is a real Shakti, an eternal wife. She is his eternal Shakti, with whom he was a couple in the spiritual world, and her tears are very expensive, more expensive than anything. And here this cheeky woman was such a pretty, in human form of life, went to school, was tapping the fingers with expensive manicure on keyboard of laptop, knew how to speak, had hands, was throwing money on clothes at expensive boutiques, has gone with discontented, demanding guise: «Every woman is born to be happy, and I am Worth It! The whole world is at my feet!» But because of she stole someone's husband, a man who has his real Shakti, she lost all her reserve of piety and fell into animal forms of life.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And now she doesn't have hands, she can't to tap on keyboard of a laptop, but she has monkey paws or frogs' legs. And she doesn't have to go to school anymore.

And even one such case will be enough to make everyone run away from him as from a leper. And no one else, even the most cheeky, the most risky and totally out of control woman will ever approach him. She will say, «No, please, not this». And it will be fair, because need to keep our word. If you make an oath you always have to keep it. I thought it was right, because I was told that I should be with him, never leave him alone, that is, to do everything to stays him alive. But I have to be with him a hundred percent. And for this purpose it is necessary that everything was reliably.

I remembered The Twins Uralian Oracle's answer to my question, what should I do. When I found out about the third take and didn't want to be with Shri Ram I turned to The Twins Uralian Oracle for advice. Then they told me: «White/white. Even if you are in doubt, there is logic and common sense in events. Soon the uncertainty will be over, and you will see clearly what is what. The new relationship will be clean, all actions will be reasonable. It will be much easier for you than it is now. You are on the right way! Nothing bad will happen, don't worry about a thing, you can relax. It's going to be a little boring, but it's safe. Keywords: cleanliness, common sense, correctness, norm, safety. And here you are destined: satisfaction, calm, optimism».

I looked at these words and thought: «What are these words even talking about? These words say that everything is true, that all this is necessary for something; there is logic in it, some common sense». Then I didn't see any common sense there, but now I have been shown that there is really logic in those events. These events cleared the way for our reunion, since this reunion is possible only if the relationship is pure, because it is an eternal couple. I remembered the words in Gadadhara Pandit's book «The secrets of the Mahabharata» about divine couples who remain the faithful to each other and keep the family integrity throughout a series of births in a variety of bodies. This book says that in fact, in such spiritual families, the husband and wife not only remain together until they are freed from the captivity of the material world, but they also maintain this relationships after that. I saw that these events were needed in order to that he ceased to be beneficial for other women. These events were needed in order to he ceased to be profitable for them, so that for them he would become an empty pot without honey. And even these events were needed in order to he becomes dangerous to them. He will become for other women not just an empty pot without honey, but the danger of falling for a long time into the animal life forms, having lost all their pious merits. These events were necessary so that my pious merits would not pay for his profligate, sinful way of life. These events were needed so that no one else would ever be with him except me. These events were necessary in order to the reunion of our eternal couple to really become possible, for the blessing of Shiva to be realized and for us to return to the spiritual world: either together or separately. Everything was done so that Shri Ram would have the only way. This way is to return to the spiritual world, either with me or alone. We did everything to make his stay without me in the material world very sad and inconsolable, so that there was no illusion of a desire for happiness in the material world. We did everything in order to he has a fervent desire to return to the spiritual world. And at the same time, I gave him the opportunity to do it with me, because eternal spiritual couples usually return to the spiritual world together. The Twins Uralian Oracle was right. Logic and common sense exists in those events.

311. Offended to the core

When all this was happening, I had to go to school on business, and there I went to the head teacher of the school. This was in early October. We communicated well, but I was still hurt her. I was answering some of her words and said that I do not believe her and that she can say one thing and do another, to which she said to me, «You offended me to my very core». I told her that I had felt threatened by her words and resort to defensive posture and that I was protecting my children. Then everything settled down, the conversation continued, and even at the end of the conversation, she thanked me for good conversation.

When I got home, I thought that it was Shri Ram who reproached me, that I had offended him very much. He wanted to bend me. He wanted me to feel sorry for him. And I really felt bad for him. I really offended him, because I demanded recognition of his incapacitation, if he will be anywhere somehow with some other woman. And I even demanded compensation for moral damage in the form of all pious merits of those women who will want to be with him, trampling on my rights and my desires by it. And he was trying to instill me the thought that I have no right to decide for him and violate his rights. But I had remembered that he didn't feel sorry for me and my children. He made his decision for us. He was hurting us and was forcing us. He convinced that he had every right to do so. And now, when I did the same thing that he did then, he resented this. He said that I had offended him so much, insulted him to his core. But it just comes back to him. The law of karma: as you sow, so shall you reap. As in physics: the force of action is equal to the force of reaction. Everything is adequate.

Then he thought that he had the right to make me be the way he decided that I would. And now I decided that I have the right to compel him. I thought that if some women, because of their stupidity and arrogance want to be with him, I will ruthlessly empty them, so that others run away from him as from fire, in order to he wouldn't be able to do his nasty things.

I thought that even if I was forcing him and forcibly restraining him, then so be it. If I came up with this in my plan, it means that it is right, it is fair, and it must be done, otherwise he will never be stopped. And this will be his liberation from an endless cycle of rebirths, since he will have no other way but to return to the spiritual world. He will to go away with me or will be single and because of despairing and hopelessness of existence in the material world in any case will go to the spiritual world, because there don't stand any chance here.

If this step exists in my plan, it means that it is very important, I thought. Otherwise, why would this phase have appeared? If I got this step in my plan, then it must be done. I need to don't hesitate, but need to do it decisively, that's what I thought at the time. So I said to Shri Ram, «Shri Ram, your efforts are in vain. Your tricks to impact on my mind won't work. And your crocodile tears won't affect me. I will empty everyone you will be with and will drain them dry. Everyone else will be afraid to even think of approaching you, and that will be the right thing to do».

I thought that in the fall of 2013, when we arrived here and when I went to fitness, he was looking at me through the eyes of a woman in the shower in fitness, after training. The fitness club has a shower, booths without doors. The woman in the shower opposite me was brazenly looking at me. I was thinking, maybe she's a lesbian or something, and what does she need? It was only later, when I was already recording my videos, that I realized that it was that Shri Ram through eyes of that woman was looking me as at a cow in the market. After that, he wanted to lay me under a man, who was pickup artist. I thought: at that time he didn't hesitate for a second when he looked at me through the eyes of that woman in the shower in fitness and when he wanted to force me lay down under that man who was pickup artist. And then on a Dating site, he wanted to force me lay down under a lawyer, then under a painter, and under everyone else. And he then tried to instill in me an inferiority complex through a woman from this Dating site, telling me that I was in minus and should be with anybody. Shri Ram did not think at the time that he was committing violence, that he was forcing a woman against her will to do something that she did not need. But now, when I force him, he says to me, «You have offended me so much»...

He did not hesitate for a second when he was plugging asuras from his asuric organization onto me, when at the energy plane of existence he cast me off for their pleasure. And when he used force methods, he also had no doubts. And in the summer of 2016, he offered me the so-called asuric initiation, but in fact he was going to completely change my nature, install some of their programs on me, like the asuras are able to install their programs on women, transforming them into depraved human females, who can not restrain their nature, because they have such a program. And he wanted to do this to me — so that I messed up with all the guys, with anyone, anywhere, and not think at the fact that I have children growing up. In this condition I could bring bad guys to my apartment in order to have sex, despite the presence of children, and go anywhere, leaving children unattended. With such a way of life I could get all kinds of infections. You don't know what kind of diseases I could get from those bad guys. I could infect my children. He wanted to install this debauchery nature on me. When he was about to do it, he didn't think of me. He believed that he had the right to decide how I would live.

And then he threw other people's troubles and three deaths into me and took all my pious merits out me. He believed that he had the right to do so. And now he tells me that I offended him by deciding the matter of his incapacity and claiming compensation for my moral damage in case of infringement of my rights, since I am his Shakti and I am against him being anywhere at least somehow with some other woman. Somehow, he is very surprised that I demand and believe that I have the right to do so. He wanted to turn me into a dirty whore, a prostitute, who can't help herself, who as car without the brakes. He didn't think about me, or my children, or anyone. He thought he had the right. And now he says, «You have offended me». When he was deciding my fate, he believed that he had the right to do so, and when I had decided his fate, he said that I had offended him. But I only offended him once, but how many times so fatally did he offend me. He played with fire, and now he must deal with the consequences. He had a choice at every turn, and now he is living the consequences.

I said: I will do what resurfaces during the implementation of this plan of mine. If this is in my plan, then this must be done, and his reproaches, grudges, the tricks will not affect me. I always have something to remember, how he decided my fate and the fate of my children, without even asking, how do I feel about it. When he decides someone's fate, he considers it normal, and when someone decides his fate, he is outraged and says that this is violence, that he was offended. It's double standards, I said.

When the head teacher told me that I had offended her, and I replied that I felt threatened and put myself in a protective position and that I was protecting my children, I told Shri Ram that his Affairs with other women were dangerous for him and by keeping them away from him, I protects him from disappointments and blows of fate. I told Shri Ram that other women are nothing to him, they are foreign wives to him and it is a sin for him to be with them, so all relationships with other women will necessarily lead to a painful result for him, because I am his Shakti. I kind of told him that by taking them away from him, I protect him. That's what I told him through those words to the head teacher. Yes, of course, it is violence, but it is a justly, justifiable violence, and it is violence for his own benefit. This is good for him. And I said to him, «I'm Sorry, Shri Ram, but I'll do it for your benefit, even if it's violence. It's like a surgeon's scalpel, cutting off a foreign element from you, leading to suppuration and fatal consequences for you».

He said that I offended him. He said that through the words of the head teacher. But when he wanted to do me that asuric initiation, to make me a dirty whore unable to stop herself, he did not think that this was violence against me, that it was unacceptable for me, that it should not be done. He decided that I would be like that. He decided that. He didn't ask me if I wanted to be like that, if I would even agree to it. Moreover, he saw my behavior and knew that I wanted to be only with him and that I refused others, that I am faithful by nature. But he decided to make a faithful woman a prostitute, a whore who has no brakes at all and who has constantly sex hunger, like cats and dogs in the period of fertilization, when they can not resist the call of nature. He wanted to make me like that. He wanted turn on the sex hunger in me, so that the craving for sex was always on at me and never turned off, and that I careened from one guy to the next. He decided that I would be like that. And now he is offended that I did not consider his interests, stepped over him. No, not at all. Because he deserved punishment in hellish worlds for his crimes, but he would only lose the society of other women. What a lenient punishment, I thought.

Shiva said that his crime was inexcusable and that he should be punished. But he's outraging that the punishment I gave him is too harsh. Like, I don't respect him, I don't spare him, I don't consider his interests, and I don't ask his consent, his thoughts on this matter. How brazenly, wayward I acted... But I thought that one incident with the asuric initiation was enough to ignore his interests and do anything to him. Because he wanted to activate at me a mode of incessant estrus, like at a female animal during the period of fertilization. He wanted to make me female who can't control her sexual urges, who can't stops and who always want sex, who is not paying attention to the fact that she has kids and that she should live more or less normally.

I said to Shri Ram, «I was saved from your asuric initiation by Krishna. I didn't know what you wanted to do to me, but Krishna told you through me that this is a criminal offence. It's a criminal offence according to laws of Universal. Krishna told you that it should not be done in any way». Then Shri Ram refused to perform this asuric initiation to me, but he wanted to do it to me, he wanted to make me so promiscuous... I thought: «You reap what you sow. It was necessary to think then, whether you have the right to make of a good, faithful by nature woman such a prostitute and whore. Now you will answer for everything you did». He was so offended at me. I take away his favorite candy, his love affairs with other women. «Yes, I will do it», I told this Shri Ram. — «The way you treated me, I'll treat you. An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth».

312. Merciless mirroring

From the fact that he was so offended and said through the head teacher of the school that I offended him so much, I realized that this is actually an effective measure, that this is what we need. Otherwise, why would he be so offended if it was a little thing? So, I really laid out the right move in my plan, I thought. This is the right decision. I'm glad! Although I don't understand it here, when I am living in this material body, but there, at the highest realms of existence, on some other plane of reality, I understand everything, and there I have provided for it all. I thought: why is he disappointed?! After all, I will apply the punitive damages not to him, but to those women who will dare to approach him. I apply sanctions to other women. Why does he feel sorry for them? They're nothing to him. Strange, he didn't feel sorry for me, but he feels sorry for other people's women. Every time he feels sorry for other people's women. He was sorry woman Lona. He was begging, «Spare her, spare her», when I was depriving her of her favorite job. He also felt very sorry that woman-asuri, for whom he agreed to become an asur. He so much asked me to spare her. For some reason, he always spared other women, but did not spare me, his Shakti, his real woman. I said to him, «I'm sorry, but what you are complaining about? What aren't you pleased? I apply the punitive damages not to you, but to other women. You have everything in order. If you are with me, then you are enjoys full capacity to act. You have the right to make decisions, do your business, and do something. Everything is in your hands. You are not limited in any way, except for a relationship with other women». But he's upset.

It turns out that he planned to deceive me and be with others. Because if he had not planned and, in general, refused the idea of being with others, then why would he be offended? Then there would be nothing to be offended about. I thought: he asked his Shakti to come to him, he followed his Shakti somewhere into some other worlds, even asked for the blessing of Shiva and performed severe austerities to find his Shakti and be reunited with her. Why did he do all this? Did he do this in order to be with other women? It doesn't make sense. He did not spare his Shakti, but spared all the others and asked for them to be spared.

I thought that if he can't held accountable for what he say and what he do, if he can't keep his word, if he can't do it, then I will provide it for him. And he will keep his word. Because he gave his word. If he can't keep his word himself, I'll make sure that he does so. He will be forced to keep his word.

I felt so sorry for him. I thought that if he didn't want to be with me, then he wouldn't be with the others either. Before this he could be with other women, though each time it all ended in some kind of tragedy, but now this will not happen. There will be nothing. If some woman will be with him, then I will find out about it sometime and I will demand compensation from her for the moral damage that she caused me that he is not with me, but with her. And she will fall to the animal life forms. She will not have the opportunity be born a human being. She will be born in an animal life form. And after a while, none of the women will want to be with him. Alas. But I'll do it, I thought. If he doesn't want to be with me, he'll be alone. But he must be punished. He wanted to deceive the material nature, they say, he will be only with me. But in fact, he was not going to give up pleasures with other women. But this is not a punishment. Shiva told him that he had committed a crime and that he should be punished and that the crime is unforgivable. But if he is with me and at the same time with other women, it is not a punishment at all.

I decided that I will to ensure him punishment. He will not have any pleasures with other women, since he will have such a glowing spot, visible from afar at the highest realms of existence, on some other plane of reality. This glowing spot will alert women that it is dangerous for them to be with him because as a result of get close to him they will lose all their pious merits, paying by pious merits to me as compensation for moral damage, and then they fall to animal forms of life. He will be untouchable, an outcast in the world, banished from everyone. Women will avoid him, even if he will look attractive, but on the higher planes of existence he will have a mark glowing in all directions and warning women that interacting with him is very, very dangerous for them. And no one will approach him. This, of course, is very offensive to him. Like I don't trust him. But he proved that he can't be trusted. And by doing this, I help and protect him, because he is really tired of the constant tragedies that all his relationships with women have come to. All these, so to say, heart surgeries had tired him long ago, and he was tired of it. And by protecting him from those women, I'm helping him, even if in such a violent way. But he always decides for others what they will be, who they will be, what they will do, I thought.

I thought that on dating sites he did not hesitate to decide who they would be with. Every big city has an asuric organization, and it is headed by the most main asur, RA. And he sees everything through the eyes of his subordinates and through the eyes of everyone through whom he wants to. And he decides who to bring together with whom, who to put under whom, in order to pump more pious merits out of them.

I thought: he doesn't hesitate to decide for others who to set up with whom, and also whom to put under whom, and who to have to make what. But when I did the same to him, for some reason he suddenly took offense and said: «I want enjoy life!» But what enjoying life do you want? You deserve the hell worlds, but you want enjoying life. In the hell worlds, no one would have given you this enjoying life. You don't ask the permission of the people. You decide who they will be with, on dating sites and in other different places. People don't see this, but asuras are able to plug into other persons and influence them. Just a person feels desire, an interest in someone, and this person thinks that it is he who thinks it. This person thinks that these thoughts are his. In fact, asuras put this idea in his head and pressed his consciousness, a little bit, but he does not feel it. He does not feel that this is pressure from the outside, but he suddenly has a desire, and he thinks: «She is such a sweet woman, I want to meet her». Asuras also presses on the mind of this woman, and she thinks: «He is interesting man, I need to meet him». Then this man and this woman meet. And there asuras presses consciousness of this man and this woman, and they are already in bed, although maybe they would not have done it without this pressure from outside.

It's good if these people live in a place where a big asur, RA, decides fate of these people on a Dating site, using the signs of the Universe that go through such transmitters of signs like me. Because I'm broadcasting the right signs. These signs show which people need to hook up with whom and which people do not fit together. There is a stream of signs going through me, and Shri Ram, as big RA, the chief here in the local asuric organization, sees what sign indicates what event. He sees what sign is a projection of what event in his life. He sees through these signs, whom is better to bring together, who is need to put under whom, so that it is environmentally and that they really fit together. But such transmitters of signs are not everywhere. And basically, the asuras are guided by their criteria for bringing people together, and they put persons they want under whom they want, regardless of the interests of these people, not taking into account their compatibility and not asking for their consent to this. And after this, the asuras have the audacity to be offended by the fact that someone dared to decide their fate and infringe on their interests. When they infringed on other people's interests, they did not think that they infringed on other people's interests, and when their interests are infringed, they are very offended. Then they did not ask someone else's permission, and now we do not ask their permission. Shri Ram is like that, I thought.

I thought: I am just mirroring him. Everything is mirrored, congruent, and identical. What is he offended by? He takes offense at his reflection in the mirror. He's wrong. Now he can at least to some extent feel what it's like when your fate is decided by someone without asking you about it. Karma has caught up, that's all. And I'm just a performer of karma's will. It's a sin to take offense at me. I'm the same victim who was forced to do it. I'm sorry, but he was wrong, very wrong, I thought.

I thought, Yes, I did him a lot of bad things. I demanded recognition of his incapacitation if he will be with anyone, and demanded that all pious merits be withdrawn from the women who would be with him, as compensation for moral damage. Yes, I did a lot of bad to him, but he did me a lot more harm. Even despite I myself had put myself at risk for it and forced him to do it. But he did all this himself. He withdrawal of the pious merits out of me, and threw into me other people's misfortunes and other people's death. I thought that if he will not come to me, leaving me in this state, I would be very sorry for him. Because then I would feel very sorry for myself for wasting my precious time on him. I already feel sorry for him. He knows that I continued to remain in the material world only because of him. I didn't want to be in this material world for a long time, but I kept staying because of him, because he stayed here. He is an asur, and he is my eternal couple. Because of him, I kept being here.

I thought that if he didn't come to me, then my hands would be free, and nothing in the material world would hold me back. And I thought, I just have to endure and live. He has a small choice: to be with me or to be alone, since he will never be with others again. But on the other hand, I thought, he wanted to be with me and for this he went to look for me and even received the blessing of Shiva. Both my demand and desire are justified. I don't want him to have other women. This is a normal desire. Why, then, does it upset him so much? Why, when he went to looking for me, did he not want others, but when he found me, did he suddenly want others? So much I am not what he wanted? I thought, what a pity, but he deserved the hell worlds, but with me he will only have a life without other women. Well, if without me, then will have a life without women at all. But would the hell worlds give him pleasure with women? No. The hell worlds don't provide it. So he is in any case in gain, I thought.

This happened in early October 2019. After that, it was time to record my new videos, in which I was going to tell all this, and I started recording on Vijaya Dashami, on October 7, it was the 271st series.

Season 10. Quantum leap: the rapid evolution from space pirates to the guides of souls

313. A reliable staging ground for a nama-hatta

In the new videos, it was revealed to me that Shri Ram received the blessing of Shiva before going to search for me in all the worlds of the material world, as well as that he became an asur and that we became separated as a result of the curse we received. In the new videos, I talked about what I had with Shri Ram in the spring and summer of 2019. I told that we are going to hold three actions for the striking out asuras from the list of asuras. The first action included those of the asuras who have their eternal couple, but are separated from it and do not have the opportunity to reunite. I spoke about them in the 281st series of my novel «My Roman. I'm asur's wife».

There I said that I would burn out at the asuras in this action all their asuric nature, they would cease to be asuras and fly to their future lives, where they would be reunited with their eternal couple. I decided that they would be good friends for the devotees of Krishna and for good people, and that they would serve as a beacon on the path of

Dharma, on the path of return to the spiritual world. But when I covered this in 281st series on October 20, I thought it wasn't enough. Just being friends isn't enough. I wanted to use them a lot bigger. Of course, being the friends is very good, especially if one of the signs of Hare Krishna followers is that they has no friends. And these couples will be friends for many, like my close lady friend. She is a friend to many, a very close friend. And when I told about all this in the 281st series of my novel and thought that this is not enough, I remembered that at the very beginning of the 281st series, I was given a screenshot from the «Mahabharata» with the words «Give them even more». I thought just making them the friends isn't enough. After all, they were asuras; they were pirates in the landing party of asuras to different planets, to different worlds. They have many different extraordinary exceptional skills and abilities. They have to serve Krishna consciousness, Krishna devotees much more. And I began to think: what can I give them more?

When I was thinking about it, my lady friend called me. She said that she missed me very much, and she began to invite me to visit her. I said that I had no time, that I have a lot of work, and that the trip to her will take almost all day. Then she started calling me to Govardhana Puja the next Sunday, at the Sunday program. She tried to persuade me to go to Govardhana Puja, and I agreed, although I had a lot to do planned ahead. She also complained that she went to nama-hatta and again appealed to mataji, who provides home for this nama-hatta, about the fact that there is a sofa in the room where the program takes place. My lady friend has already asked her many times that it would be better to remove the sofa, especially since there are plenty of rooms in the house and the whole house belongs to that mataji, but that mataji didn't remove the sofa to other rooms. Well, she has a right to it, the house is hers. And this is her gesture of goodwill that she allows arranging nama-hatta in her house, but my lady friend was very upset that so much space in that room is filled by the sofa. And she told me about it for a long time on the phone. The conversation ended, and then I realized that it was even more to give those asuras in the first action.

I decided that they will be not just friends. They will not only give their friendship and serve as a beacon on the path of Dharma. They will offer their home for the nama-hattas and different programs of Krishna's devotees in ISKCON. I thought that as a result of the first action, we will reunite the separated eternal couples in which someone in this couple became the asur. They will be reunited, they will be married couples, and it would be good to use their housing and their comprehensive assistance as a staging ground for various programs of Krishna devotees. I thought that sometimes spiritual masters, traveling preachers visit Krishna devotees in different cities. It is necessary to provide the space, have rent-free premises for the duration of their preaching. Different creative clubs of devotees also need space for them to perform. Why to hire someone's premises at their own expense, pay money if we reunite so many couples who will have good housing? Let them provide their accommodation, completely free of charge, for all this — for nama-hattas, for the arrival of spiritual masters, for concerts, performances, creative evenings of devotees, for various seminars, for lectures on «Shrimad Bhagavatam», for friendly gatherings.

I thought it would be good. The establishment of nama-hattas and providing your own house for various programs of devotees of Krishna is not an easy task. And they will do it all. They will take into account all the details for the convenience of the devotees. Many factors would have to be taken into account. They have to have a big, good house for this mission. The house should be their own, comfortable, beautiful, bright, spacious, warm, cozy, with own a plot of land. Of course, can also arrange nama-hattas in apartments, but it's better in a own house. They should have their own home. It is necessary to keep house perfectly clean all the time, because there will always be a lot of people there. Need to cook a lot of delicious prasada for everyone. They need to be open to people and initiatives. Need to have a lot of money to provide all this. They must be hospitable, good, very friendly hosts. Their home should be a well-guarded territory, so that the devotees can safely conduct kirtan there. Need to have a large altar room and everything is needed to think out for these programs, so that a lot of people can fit there and that everyone is comfortable. It is necessary to have karatalas, mridangas, musical instruments for kirtan. And if someone wants to arrange a concert or performance in Krishna consciousness, it is necessary that these hosts are always open to this. They will be friends who understand people, and for creative people is needed to somehow show themselves, their creativity, especially when it is in Krishna consciousness. Creative people want to serve Krishna with their creativity, and it is necessary that someone provide the space and all the opportunities for this. And these couples will be happy to give such opportunities.

To achieving this need real money, good dishes for prasada, all the amenities for guests. There should be separate rooms for guests, separate for matajas, separate for prabhu, with all the amenities and all the necessities, in case someone needs to spend the night, if they had to stay late. Need people to be calm, in order to they not have to go out in the dark and in order to people do not give up these programs because of this. And even they will be happy to go to these programs, even in order to just to be there, in the comfortable settings, a friendly atmosphere, an excellent cuisine and a good attitude to them.

They will have nice deities, service to deities, tulasi. So many things need to be taken into account to make everyone feel good. A number of key issues need to be taken into account. This is a very difficult and at the same time nectar service. I thought this valuable service, life's mission is very appropriate to these eternal couples. I decided that they would be gracious hosts, hospitable, friendly, generous and tolerant. They will provide all this and do it. The husband will earn much, fully provide material well-being, resources for this mission. He will do everything to make the family happy and to this mission of theirs has developed well. Since this mission requires a the provision of housing, good big house and a lot of money, they will be born into very good families, in order to get a large inheritance and good ways of making money and getting funds, material resources. And the wife will be very tasty cook and love cooking. She will adhere to high strict standards of cleanliness when cooking prasada. Of course, she will keep the kitchen clean, will not taste food before offering it to the Deities, and cooked foods will at the highest level, just divinely delicious. The husband will be most happy to eat prasada cooked by his wife.

They will be a really good close couple, because, first, they are an eternal couple, and secondly, they have been separated for so many lives and suddenly got the opportunity and really reunited and therefore will cherish each other. And the wife will be very well protected by her husband. They will be very happy together; their family will be in harmony and love. I decided that they would give the devotees of Krishna good close association, spiritual communication. They would do everything so that people could communicate. They will be happy to bring any joy to the devotees of Krishna.

I decided that gurus, various traveling preachers of Krishna consciousness, would often visit them, and these couples will give them a proper welcome. They will always have a lot of guests, a lot of communication. They will provide a foothold for the devotees of Krishna. And all this will be in ISKCON, because I want to serve Srila

Prabhupada, because Srila Prabhupada is our Savior. If it wasn't for Srila Prabhupada, maybe I wouldn't have been able to come to this Shri Ram and give him a chance to reunite and return to the spiritual world. It was Srila Prabhupada who gave us a window into the spiritual world, an opportunity to return to the spiritual world, even to those as me and this Shri Ram, because he is an asur and I am the Slayer of the asuras. So I want to thank Srila Prabhupada, and so all these couples who are reunited as a result of our first action will be only in Krishna consciousness, only in ISKCON, only in the way Srila Prabhupada wanted. Srila Prabhupada wanted the grihasthas, the family people, to conduct such programs so that everything is according to Krishna consciousness, as he gives, and I want them to become so, and they will be so.

They will help a lot of people, and everyone will bless them. They will gain a lot of blessings, and thanks to these blessings, thanks to this activity, they will then return together, as a couple, to the spiritual world. A benediction is a powerful thing. Shri Ram received the blessing of Shiva, and thanks to this blessing, I came to him. If it were not for this blessing, I would not have come to him; I would have gone from the material world to the spiritual world alone, without him, leaving him here alone, without his eternal mate and without the inflow of her pious merits to him, which is very dangerous for someone who has such an eternal couple. He would have been in a very distressing state, but thanks to the blessing of Shiva that he received, I was able to come to him and give him a chance to return to the spiritual world with me. So the blessing is a serious and very powerful thing. And all these couples who entered our first action will gather up a lot of blessings through their activities, and before this Kali Yuga enters the phase of its complete domination and this window to the spiritual world begins to close, they will safely go to the spiritual world, and this will happen thanks to the blessings they have collected.

314. There are friends, and for them friends don't have days off

At the end of 282nd series I said that I knew who would be included in our first action. I said that I knew what they would be and that now I can implement it. And then I set the date of this action. I decided that I would send them to Ekadashi next Thursday, October 24. But when I finished recording this video, I immediately got a screenshot where Krishna, in great excitement, seemed to show me that I was making an irreparable mistake. And then there was a screenshot that said they would never be together. I didn't understand where I made a mistake, what I was wrong about, why they would never be together. And then I had an epiphany that Shri Ram and I were separated because of a curse, and that these eternal couples in our first action also had some kind of curses that caused them to be separated. I realized what the mistake was: if we send them without removing their curses, even if they stop being asuras, they will still not be able to reunite with their eternal mate, since curses will not allow them to do so. I realized that before sending, it is necessary to lift that curses, otherwise everything will be useless. I realized that I was in a hurry, setting the date of the first action, because first we need to lift the curses from them, and then think about holding the action.

I thought: there are a lot of these asuras in our first action, and everyone has some kind of curse, and we need to free them from these curses, but how to do it? I remembered that Krishna said that there is no oath, curse, or blessing that He cannot break. I thought: Krishna can do this, He is God, the Supreme Personality of Godhead.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I was thinking about it, and that afternoon my lady friend called me. She again began to invite me to the Sunday program of the Hare Krishna on Govardhana Puja. I had already given her my consent the day before, but she seemed to feel that even though I had given my consent the day before, I was unlikely to go. I haven't been to the Hare Krishna programs for a long time, because I was very busy with this novel «My Roman. I'm asur's wife», doing video recording, written text, then putting text on the Internet, and then translating from Russian to English. I was very focused on this, and I didn't have the energy or time for anything else, including Hare Krishna programs. And before Govardhana Puja, my lady friend became more active and began to invite me there.

After this phone call, she came to visit me and again continue urge me to go to Govardhana Puja to the devotees of Krishna. Then the children came from school, and she switched to the children and began to detail them how good it would be at the Sunday program, what a delicious prasad there is. She persuaded the children, and they were all attacking me together. In the end, she started complaining that her leg was hurting, but she came to me to persuade me to go to Govardhana Puja. I felt a terrible guilt.

I thought: really, she tried so hard, that it is necessary to fulfill her desire. So I decided that this Sunday I would go to Govardhana Puja with my children, even though I didn't intend to. I thought: those asuras whose I will do in the first action will be like that. They will serve as a beacon on the path of Dharma. My lady friend did everything just to get me to go to Govardhana Puja, at the path of Dharma. She said to me, «Come, we will go around Govardhan, we will make wishes, and wishes will come true». She knows that I like to make wishes, and she found an approach to both me and the children, using whatever leverage to make me follow the path of Dharma. And I thought that those who will be included in our first action will be the same. They will find an approach to everyone, how to help a person follow the path of Dharma.

When she went to home, I remembered that she told me that we would go around Govardhan, make wishes, wishes will come true, and it is favorable. I thought: it's not for nothing that she told me this. I thought this: these asuras who will be included in this action, most likely, have some curses, because of which they can not be reunited with their eternal couple, but my lady friend told me that we will go to Govardhana Puja, we will go around Govardhan, we will make wishes and these wishes will come true. I thought: I am being told what I need to do so that I can conduct our first action: first I need to go to this Govardhana Puja, go around this Govardhana hill and ask Krishna to release those couples from their curses so that they can be reunited. This will be the first step in this action.

I thought that as long as they have these curses, they can't be reunited. I thought that they will can be reunited, when we will lift these curses. But who can lift the curse? Of course, Krishna. Krishna said that there is no oath, curse, or blessing that He cannot destroy. And my lady friend told me that if you go around Govardhana hill and ask realization of wishes, your wishes will come true. I thought: it's not for nothing that she came to me, it's not for nothing that she was so insistent. It was Krishna who told me through her that we must first release all those who will be included in our first action from their curses, and this can be done if we ask Krishna, and Krishna will have mercy during Govardhana Puja. Especially since the Sunday program coincides with Lakshmi Puja, when women in India ask goddess Lakshmi for blessings to be as faithful to husband as Lakshmi is faithful to her Narayana. I thought: this is a very powerful day. The Sunday program will coincide with Lakshmi Puja, and Govardhana Puja will also be held. So I decided that I will go to Govardhana Puja and I will beg Krishna to release all such separated eternal couples from their curses that prevent them from being reunited.

I thought: I will walk around Govardhana hill and ask Krishna to lift these curses and destroy completely, so that those couples can be reunited. And only after that I will unleash my blazing fire into these asuras, burn everything asuric in them, somehow reformat them and send them to reunite with their eternal couples. I thought: besides, month Karttika is now coming, it's a very favorable time. We need to take advantage of this month Karttika. This is the month of Radharani. If you ask Krishna and Radharani during this month, everything will come true. Especially if on this day Lakshmi Puja and Govardhana Puja. I thought I would take advantage of this day.

I thought: how lucky these asuras are! They have some kind of curse that has separated them from their eternal couple and keeps them from being reunited, but someone just will go to the Hare Krishna program, just will walk around the cake offered to Krishna and symbolizing Govardhan hill in India, someone just will ask Krishna, Radharani and this hill to lift this curse, and this curse will be lifted. What the mercy for those asuras! What a gorgeous gift!

Shri Ram suggested that I also ask Krishna for the mercy for him and me. He asked me to ask Krishna to lift our curse, because of which we can't be together. I thought: why should I do this if he's not so much interested in me and he likes other women? Why should we be reunited? But he tried to persuade me so much, through my lady friend, that he had celebrate many times the New Year alone and wants us to be together. I thought, of course, this is a good idea and I'll probably do it.

And when my lady friend arrived at her home, she sent me a video with a song in WhatsApp. She called me all evening and asked if I had listened to this song. I was working; I didn't want to be distracted by some video with some song. I was speaking her all evening that I will listen to this song, but she didn't stop, so I had to turn on the WhatsApp and listen to this song. The song was about friendship.

If a friend doesn't laugh, you turn on the sun for him.

You turn on the stars for him. It's simple.

You fix the error, turning into a smile all sad things and tears.

It's simple.

Sunday, Saturday. Friendship is not a job.

There are friends, and for them friends don't have days off.

As soon as I listened to this song, she immediately stopped calling me, although she had been phoning all evening. I listened to this song and thought: I wonder what they want to say to me by this song? It's not for nothing that my lady friend spent the entire evening trying to persuade me to listen to this song. I thought:

Sunday, Saturday. Friendship is not a job.

There are friends, and for them friends don't have days off.

I thought: I should go to Govardhana Puja after all, it will be Sunday, and the song says that friends don't have days off for friends. So we have to work this weekend for these asuras, who will be reunited with their eternal couple and will be the friends of the devotees of Krishna. I thought: Govardhana Puja will be on Sunday, but there are no days off for friends, we must do a good job for these friends this weekend.

315. Every endeavor is covered by some sort of fault, just as fire is covered by smoke

And although I knew that these couples would get a great gift, that is, a reunion after many lives in separation, the need to do this action brought me upsetting thoughts. Yes, I knew that to unite the separated persons is a very pious act, and that for such a boon a lot of pious merit would be added to my piety account, but I was very upset. I remembered the words of book about Artemis Fowl «The Lost Colony» by Colfer Eoin. There was a gangster whose was given such a characteristic: «Kong was infamous in underworld circles. The man had no morals, and would happily perform any task, however distasteful, for the right price. Kong only had one rule: never quit until the job is done». I thought: that's what I am. And now I have discovered another meaning of the words «he had no morals, and would happily perform any task, however distasteful, for the right price». I saw that for the first action I will get a good payment, because if you help to reunite those who were separated, this is a very pious act, but if these are eternal couples who were separated with the inability to be together again, especially if there are many of them, then this is a very pious act. That is, honorarium for this action will be a high. I will receive many pious merits. But I thought that even if it is a very pious act, there is a lot of dirt, and I was very depressed about it.

I thought that those whom I would tear out of the asuras and whom I would reunite with their true eternal mate would end this life as a result. And there may be children among them. Because we are spiritual souls, and those who were separated from their eternal couple without the possibility of being reunited can be not only in the adult state, but also in childhood, and even in the intra-uterine state, not yet born, but already having the opportunity to physically incarnate and waiting in the tummy of their next mother the birth. I was very sad that they will also be forced to leave their body, even though they are children and even though many of them are not yet born. I thought this referred to the fact that he was infamous in underworld circles. He had no morals, and would happily perform any task, however distasteful, for the right price. He only had one rule: never quit until the job is done. I thought this looked like me. Because this action will include not only those who have reached adulthood, but also those who are just starting their life. I thought that although they had lived many times before, and although for them to be reunited with their eternal couple would be the best gift, from the point of view of the body they are innocent children who still have lives left to lead. Yes, there are no innocents in the material world. And the fact that someone is a child does not mean that they are innocent. He has lived many lives and could do a lot of things, but from the perspective of bodily concept, he is very young, so cute, such an innocent-looking... And so sorry that he has not had time to live, that he has not have time to make attempts to derive some pleasure in his life, and been forced to end his existence. Especially if you think that he is this physical body. Then it looks like a blatant injustice. A person has just been born, has not yet had time to have sex, or give life to the children, or travel, or see the world, or achieve any success, but a cruel fate prematurely deprives him of this, early killing him forever. A sad concept, completely inconsolable.

And although I knew that they are souls and many lives dreamed of being reunited with their eternal couple, I still felt sad at the thought that even though they would get a great gift, a reunion with their eternal couple, but they would leave their body, and if they are still small children, then how will their mums live after this? And if someone of them is still in the fetal state, what will happen to their mothers? If this is the early stage of pregnancy, this will look like silent abortion, missed miscarriage. And if this will happen at the late stages of pregnancy and the fetus have ceased to exist, then what will happen to the pregnant woman? She can also die if the child in her tummy dies. I thought: if among the asuras in the first action there are those who were not yet born in this life, but who have eternal couple, what would they choose? They have a lot of lives were suffering and really wanted to reunite. They can choose to reunion with eternal couple and lose this one life which just starting or they can choose to continue living and lose the chance to be reunited with eternal couple. What would they choose realizing that this life is like a quick flash in an endless series of lives? Would they cling to this life if they knew everything? Would they cling to this one life in order to doom themselves to endless suffering during many more lives to come without eternal couple? Would any of them be so stupid? I thought: is it fair that because of he is at this stage of life, as the fetus in mother`s tummy, it is necessary to deprive him of the gift he has desired during many lifetimes, that is, a reunion with his eternal couple? He had dreamed of this during many lives, and now he might miss this exceptional opportunity just because he had not yet reached adulthood. But this is not fair, I thought. Such a gift can to get only those who among these asuras have become adults, and all the others should continue to be in a deplorable state, and all only because they were not lucky enough to grow to adulthood before the time of this action.

I thought it was unfair and I should take everyone, but I was afraid that someone of their parents, in their grief at the irreparable loss, might cast curses on me. But I thought that if someone will do it, this is wrong. They should not curse, they need pray for those who were able to reunite with their eternal couple. After all, this was their desire in many lives. Shri Ram even received Shiva's blessing to reunite with his eternal wife and for this purpose performed severe austerity, passed some fiery test. He did a lot of things to get this blessing. But here they have the opportunity to get this without any austerities, to reunite with their eternal couple and go to the spiritual world together, so that there is no longer a risk of becoming separated again and suffering again, because of some curse.

And for this reason, in 283rd series I talked about it, attempting to inform up to consciousness of the asuras that they need not to curse and that need to bless. Since I publicly announced this action in my videos, I assumed that when I held this action, the asuras would see that someone had left body and realize that they all entered this action and went to reunite with their eternal couple. But I was afraid that someone close to them, knowing that this happened as a result of my efforts, might wish me something bad. And I tried to explain to them in the 283rd video that they should try to restrain feelings and think that these asuras who left their bodies as a result of this action are not bodies, but eternal souls. They had been separated from their eternal mate for so many lives, and they suffered greatly because of it. And to miss the opportunity to reunite for them is the biggest loss. I tried to convey to the understanding of the asuras that they need look not from the position of the body, but from the perspective of a series of lives during which these souls suffered without their eternal couples and dreamed of reunion. I also told the asuras that they should be very attentive to pregnant women at this time and help such a woman whose unborn child was included in this action and left physical shell. I told the asuras about this possibility in order to they can help these women not to lose their lives.

I thought: how sad it is to be in the material world when you do something good, but something bad happens in the process, because if you look at this action from a bodily platform, it looks disgusting. You do something good, but many people may think that this is not good at all, but even evil. I thought that it is correct is said in the Bhagavad Gita (18.48): «Every endeavor is covered by some sort of fault, just as fire is covered by smoke. Therefore one should not give up the work which is born of his nature, O son of Kunti, even if such work is full of fault». This action is a great gift for separated eternal couples, but it can also bring grief to the relatives of those asuras who will go to the reunion. I'm kind of a hero, volunteering to help them, who volunteered to ask Krishna to help them, so that Krishna will lift curses and allow them to be reunited with their real mate, but at the same time I look like a cruel, merciless, soulless monster. Yes, this world is cruel: even if the fire is clean, there is a lot of acrid smoke around it, which can cause tears.

In the 284th video, I continued to explain to the asuras that those who will participate in our first action have two options: to leave this life to reunite with their eternal half, or to continue living and lose any opportunity to connect with her. I continued to explain that they will choose the option to reunite, even if they have to be torn out of the life they are currently living. I said in this series that these asuras have suffered greatly for many lifetimes, being separated from their eternal mate. They waited every day for their eternal mate to come there to them, to the asuric worlds. If one of the asuri, women converted to the asuric nature, had an eternal husband, she thought every day, «Where are you? You're mine. Why aren't you with me? You're supposed to be with me. You're supposed to protect me. Why aren't you with me?» If one of the men was separated from his Shakti and was converted to asur, then he also called up her every day, «Why don't you want to come to me? Don't you want to meet me? But you're mine. I don't have anyone else like you and never will. You're the only one like that. Why, if you are my only one, don't you want to come to me, don't you want to meet me? Please come back to me. What have I done to lose the happiness of being with you? I am constantly offered different women here in the asuric world, but each time it brings only problems and troubles».

Of course, everyone has problems, because this is the material world. In the material world couldn't be without problems. But in the case of the eternal couple, the problems are much bigger, because a stay at foreign shores necessarily leads to some kind of tragedy. And I explained to the relatives of those asuras that no someone's love is can ease their suffering, because in this life their relatives are these, but in another life there will be others. And if he has an eternal couple, but he is separated from her, then for him everyone else is like a world without God. And they don't really need this life if they don't have their eternal soul mate. I told the relatives of those asuras in our first action that relatives are variables for these asuras, and that their eternal couple is a constant, and that without this constant they can't be happy with any temporary variables. No temporary variables will not be able to fill the void in the heart of the soul who is separated from its constant because the constant is the core. If there is no this core, then no else details will be able to give it support and peace of mind.

I told the relatives of these asuras that his eternal mate is higher for him than any other person in this world, higher than all his relatives in any life, and even higher than mom and dad, because in every life mom and dad are new, but their eternal half is constant and only one, because it is an eternal couple. They are like a puzzle of two parts. If there is no detail, then there is no puzzle. Because without Shakti, Shiva is a corpse. Without their eternal mate, these asuras are kind of alive, they kind of live, do something, but in fact there is no life in them, they just exist on autopilot.

I explained to the relatives of these asuras in our first action that I help them, since this is their true desire. They want their eternal couple to take them, with them, and I just contribute to the fulfillment of this desire. They have this desire, but they have long since lost confidence that it can ever be fulfilled. And I do the impossible — I fulfill their desire. In this way, I tried to reassure those of the asuras whose relatives would be included in this action. I tried to make it clear that it was not my fault that they would leave their lives prematurely. I help them in fulfilling a desire which could not come true. I wanted that when the time will come for this action and when those asuras will leave their lives, their relatives do not begin to blame me. I appealed to their prudence and said that if they really loved them, they would bless them and wish them happiness with their eternal mate. They would bless them to return together to the spiritual world, so that they would never again have the risk of being separated.

I told the relatives of those who are women in our first action. I said that if a woman who has her eternal mate becomes separated from her eternal husband, then she has to be with one temporary husband, then another, but, in fact, they are nobody to her. This temporary husband has no rights over her, and she is not obliged to fulfill his wishes. She, by her original nature, fulfills the wishes of her eternal husband only. And, being without him, with some temporary husband, she can refuse to listen to the temporary husband and fulfill his wishes. Men usually do not like this female obstinacy. Saying all this in the 284th series I was trying to show the relatives of these asuri that they should try to somehow calm their grief from the loss and understand that it is for benefit of these women.

But I still had a fear that someone would still blame me, and to calm me down and give me the determination to carry out this action anyway, Krishna himself told me through a screenshot that tanks aren't afraid of dirt. Krishna told me that I had to do my job without looking back. Krishna said that even if any asuras did not understand that I do a good deed, Krishna would protect me. Krishna assured me that everything would be all right and that I could safely proceed with this action. This is what He told me in 284th video, October 22, 2019, on Tuesday.

316. The lifting the curses that were put many lives ago

The first step in carrying out this action I made a day after that. It was October 24, Thursday. This day was Rama Ekadashi, and it was the month of Kartika, the month of Damodara, when it is very good to offer wicks to Damodara. I decided to hold a yagya on this blessed day, to offer wicks to Damodara on behalf of all those asuras who were included in our first action. And I did it right during the recording of the next, 288th video of my novel. Right during the recording of this video, I made wicks of toothpicks and cotton wool together with tulasi wood, soaked them with ghee and offered them to Damodara. First I offered wicks on behalf of me and Shri Ram, for our reunion, and then on behalf of all those asuras who were included in this action. I asked Damodara-Krishna to lift curses from me and Shri Ram and help us reunite. Also I asked lift curses from all those eternal couples who were separated because someone from this couple became an asur. When I offered wicks, I asked Krishna-Damodara to lift curses which prevent these eternal couples from being reunited. I asked Krishna-Damodara to help them reunite and also offered a wick for the success of our entire first action. When I offered these wicks on behalf of all of us, I thought I was doing it in the month of Karttika at Rama Ekadashi, which frees from all sins. And I prayed that this Rama Ekadashi would release both Shri Ram and me from our sins and curses that separated us. Also I prayed that this Rama Ekadashi would release those eternal couples from their sins and their curses that separated them.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

The second step in carrying out this action was taken on the following Sunday, October 27, at the Hare Krishna Sunday program. I went there at the request of my lady friend and in accordance with the instructions given to me in the words of a cheerful song sent to me by her. That song told me:

Sunday, Saturday. Friendship is not a job.

There are friends, and for them friends don't have days off.

And because of that, I went to this Sunday program. On this day, devotees celebrated Govardhana Puja. I sang kirtan there with everyone, and then went around Govardhana hill, that is, around a large cake offered to the Deities and symbolizing the real Govardhana hill in India. When I was going around this Govardhan, I was earnestly asking Govardhan, Krishna, Radharani, Srila Prabhupada, Nrsimhadeva, and the Gaura-Nitai Deity to free me and Shri Ram and all those eternal couples from those curses which have separated us and which prevents us from being reunited. Before that, the lecture said that Govardhan hill fulfills all desires, especially in month Karttika. And when I was going around this Govardhan, I was keeping these words in my mind and with all concentration was asking to lift all those curses from us with Shri Ram and from all these eternal couples. After this program, I tried everywhere to spot at least some signs that would show me whether this is done and whether I can already start performing the action. And when I told about this in the 291st series, I also looked for signs in the screenshots, hoping that screenshots would show me that my request fulfilled and that I can already do my job. But there were no signs of this.

I was very perplexed and did not understand what should be done to lift these curses from all of us. After all, until these curses are lifted, until I make sure of this, it is not allowed send them to their future lives, since they will not be able to reunite, but the task is to reunite these eternal couples. And I was very confused, not knowing what else to do. Moreover, after this action, the second action with RA from different planets was planned and then the third action with the reusable space shuttles to the spiritual world. The absence of signs that the curses are lifted and that the first action could already be carried out, made me very confused and upset, because I felt completely helpless. It was necessary to lift the powerful curses which only Krishna can lift, but I also need to carry out my steps. I implement my steps, but I do not see the result, since there are no signs of progress.

I was thinking: what is missing that these curses were lifted from our eternal couples, including me with Shri Ram? And then the next day, on the evening of Monday, October 28, I decided to ask the online Oracle Archangel Michael about it. There was this response: «Bless those you hold a grudge against. This is the way to heal yourself and the situation». From these words I understood that we must bless those whom we have offended and who, having received such an insult, in anger and despair did cast curses on us. From this I realized that both Shri Ram and I, and all those eternal couples, must somehow ask for forgiveness and bless all those whom we have offended and because of whom we have become separated. I thought: how can I bless them? I remembered that there is a widespread wish the happiness for everyone, but it seemed too petty to me. «I wish everyone happiness». What happiness? Everyone sees this happiness in their own way. Someone's happiness is an apartment, someone's happiness is an individual of the opposite sex, and sometimes of it's their own sex, someone's happiness is a lot of money, and someone's happiness is good health. But this is so small thing. This does not solve any problems, because we still continue to be in the material world.

I thought: how can we bless those whom we offended many, many lives ago and so seriously that we received curses because of it? And then I received an answer in the news feed in VKontakte, right on the same day, October 28, Monday. There, in one post, the following was written: «In the early years in New York, a slightly eccentric guy was coming to the temple. But one day he disappeared. Prabhupada asked where bhakta Steve had gone and was told that he had committed suicide. Prabhupada became very sad and began to pray much focused and began to beg, „Dear Krishna, please, wherever this guy is, let him be born immediately into a vaishnava`s family“».

I thought it is the right blessing. We must pray for those who have been wronged by us and bless them so that they may be born into a family of vaishnava's, devotees of Krishna, here on Earth, and get a very good opportunity to return to the spiritual world. This is the best blessing, not some kind of happiness, which is today, but which will be stolen tomorrow, and again tears, again curses... And immediately after I read this story, I began to record the 292nd series and told all those asuras who entered our first action that they should do it. It was the third step in the implementation of this action.

After saying this to the asuras during 292nd series on Monday evening, I relaxed, went to bed, and all Tuesday just went about my business. I had a feeling as if I was waiting for a signal. I was completely calm. Tuesday passed in complete calm, and in the evening I suddenly felt as if some gateway had opened, as if something had happened somewhere and the door had opened. I realized that due to my words at 292nd series the asuras understood that it was their turn to make move now, and they made it. They had done everything to forgive those they had offended, ask their forgiveness, and bless them to be born as soon as possible in a family of Krishna devotees on Earth and to get a very good opportunity to return to the spiritual world. I had a very clear feeling that my job was to wait for actions of them and now it happened. To get confirmation of my feeling, I decided to ask for advice to Tarot cards. I asked Tarot cards if I should offer a wick to Damodara-Krishna in favour of all those offended. The answer was «Yes», because I got the Ace of Coins Tarot. This is a very good Tarot card. This card makes the whole result of divination favorable. This card means excellent growth prospects and the ability to achieve the goal.

Then I made the wicks again and offered it to Damodara-Krishna in favour of all those whom we have all wronged and who have cursed us. At the same time, I asked Krishna to make that all those who have been offended and who cursed all of us are as soon as possible born here on planet Earth in good families of good devotees of Krishna and get a very good opportunity to become devotees of Krishna and return to the spiritual world. With this request to Krishna, I offered Him a wick with melted butter, with piece of tulasi wood. This was the fourth step in the first action.

When I did this, I felt that these curses could now be lifted. So I took a piece of paper and wrote the word «curse» in the capital letters on it, thinking that this word is that curse which was cast upon me and Shri Ram. Then I set fire to piece of paper with the word «curse» and put it on a plate. I watched this piece of paper with this word burn, and I thought that everything is material. And that curse that was once said by someone I don't remember for a long time, because it was so many lifetimes ago, that curse is also present at this piece of paper, right in this word. After all, everything is material. This curse was on us for so many lifetimes, and this curse is present in this piece of paper, this curse is present in this one word. I was watching the letters burn, this word disappear in the fire, and I was thinking that this curse was burning right now, right in front of me on this plate on my table. And then I did the same to the curses of all those eternal couples. I wrote the word «curses» in the capital letters on another piece of paper and set it on fire, too. I was watching this leaf burn, how these letters disappear and turn to ash, and I thought that now, right at this moment, all those curses that separated all those eternal couples are being burned. And this was the fifth step in the first action.

Having done it, I felt that now I had done everything. I really felt like the gateway for the first action opened. I immediately began to record the 293rd series in which I told about it. It was on the evening of October 29, Tuesday. And when I said all this in this series, I was getting a steady stream of signs saying that now we can hold this action, that the way ahead is open.

I thought that now I can to deal directly with the matter, with them. I thought that, most likely, I would stand over them like a huge snake in space and let out a raging fire at the same time into all of them, which would burn all the asuric nature in them, and then send them to be reunited with their eternal couple. And now I felt quite clearly that it is about to happen, that nothing would prevent it now. I remembered the words of bhajan «Manasa Deha Geha» by Bhaktivinoda Thakur, on the basis of which I composed a song in Russian, which I called «Radha-Natha». In it I was very confused by one verse:

You can kill me or protect me.
I want, loving You, to serve only You.
If You want me to be born again,
Let me be born at Your servant.
I am ready to be born a worm, just to be devoted to You.
I have no desire to be born as a Brahma averse to You.

Then I was very confused by the words that I was ready to be born a worm. But now I saw a slightly different meaning in these words. I remembered the animated film about Mowgli. There monkeys teased the boa constrictor Kaa and called him an earthworm. I thought that I, as an inspector of the Universe Patrol, often stand up as a huge snake in space above the asuras, who are like small dots somewhere below me. And I thought that those words about I ready to be born a worm just to be devoted to You already apply to me. I am that worm, only a celestial worm, a huge cobra that burns the entire bad thing with its fire. And now this burning flame of mine got a green light.

317. The long-awaited embrace

As soon as I made the first step in the first action, that is, offered wicks at the Rama Ekadashi, I began to look everywhere for signs to find out when it is possible to start this action. There were no signs until the last step, when I felt that the asuras had done their part, that is, blessed the wronged ones who had cursed them, and when I also blessed them and then burned those curses, along with the pieces of paper. Signs went only after that, in the 293rd series. And then that, I realized that I should hold this action the next day, October 30.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

On this day I bought a lot of potatoes, as were no dirty dishes in the sink, but I needed some time to hold the action. I decided that I would peel the potatoes, grate, and then roast the hash browns; this will take a lot of time, sufficient for this action. When I started to peel the potatoes, I turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra «Ugram viram maha-vishnum». I imagined that somewhere there are some sort of weird supernatural beings as asuras, and they lives in the asuric world, and on various other planets, and here on Earth, and there are many of them. When I sang the «Ugram viram maha-vishnum», I mentally looked at my inner screen and had seen them. They were on my internal screen somewhere below, and there were a lot of them. I mentally emitted a powerful pillar of fire into at them and burned everything there, very quickly. Then I had stood in each of them, simultaneously inside all of them, I was singing this mantra, and their energy pipe began to melt and slide down by large chunks. It reminded me of how the snow melts in spring. It melts, melts, and then is slides down by big chunks. And so it was to their energy pipe. From above, their pipe began to slowly melt, and then slide down in chunks, in layers, lower and lower. And in place of the layers that fell down, there was a completely transparent space. And gradually such chunks-layers slid down the entire pipe, and pipe has become a clean and transparent.

Then I turned on the kirtan of Bhakti Tirthi Swami «Jai jai radhe jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan-dham». I was singing this kirtan, was looking at them and saw that their pure transparent pipe began to open from above and had completely opened. Their pipe had formed a wide open bellmouth, pointing upwards. And from above, in space, I saw Krishna's devotees. Some time during previous actions, I saw Bhakti Tirtha Swami was appearing, but after I created a protection system against asuras for Krishna devotees, he said to me, «Thank you very much, I will go do other projects». And he did not appear in any of our actions anymore, although I felt his presence in almost all the actions before, and there somehow connecting was forming between he with the asuras. I don't know what he was doing to them. And this time, when I turned on this kirtan «Jai jai radhe jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan-dham», I thought: what if he does appear? But it was not he who appeared, but many other devotees of Krishna, a whole team. Bhakti Tirtha Swami left the body long ago, but he did not go anywhere. He until was incarnated. As far as I understand, he is somewhere between lives, and he has a large team of Krishna devotees, and they are doing something there to support the brainchild of Srila Prabhupada. And this team of his, which is doing all this, somehow appeared somewhere above and let down a column of light into these asuras, standing at the bottom on my inner screen with completely hollow transparent pipes with wide open bell-shaped mouth. And the light from above from space from the devotees was connected with these wide-open pipes, and during all the kirtan I saw this connection.

And then I turned on mantra, kirtan of my Gurudev, with a palpable longing for Krishna. And during this kirtan I saw that the real soul mates of the asuras who were standing at the bottom appeared from above. And each of those standing at the bottom was connecting with his soul mate standing at the top, by a luminous stream, and the unified streams formed. And then those who were at the top went down in their flow and embraced those who were at the bottom. I felt sad. I thought, I'm doing this, but I don't have it. I see this at my inner screen, at some subtle plane of existence, but I don't have this. I can see it all and feel it happening to them. In short, they met their real soul mates, were reunited, and during my Gurudev's kirtan they had their long-awaited meeting, a wonderful embrace.

All this kirtan I kept them in this state, when they had gentle hug, for about 15 minutes, in order to form link between this kirtan, the Hare Krishna mantra, and their unity. I wanted to make a binding of their unity to the Hare Krishna mantra, like the technique of anchoring in NLP, that is, linking an emotion and state (reaction) to a certain action or event (trigger). In the same way, I bound the union of these couples, their long-awaited meeting and gentle hug with the sound of my Gurudeva's kirtan, the Hare Krishna mantra. NLP is a good thing, and in this action, I used this NLP technique to anchor these couples to Hare Krishna, so that they would be good devotees of Krishna, so that they would have this sense of reunion superimposed on the Hare Krishna mantra.

Then I thought that they got enough, and that now we can send them. I saw again those who were asuras, they were a large General mass at the bottom, and I turned on the mantra Narasimha Kavacham performed by bhakta Marga. And during Narasimha Kavacham, I was burning them by fire, then pulling everything out of them, then was cleaning something with a wire brush, then was reformatting their chakras, then shining as a star inside them. Then I froze everything they had, then I turned all this to dust, then I burned them again. In short, I did what I wanted to them, turned on my fantasy to the full.

At this time, a funnel-shaped vortex had already appeared at the top, waiting for them, and a lot of something was rushing into that funnel. I realized that their abilities which will be useful to them flying to their future lives. Usually at previous actions, abilities flew after them, but at this time the abilities flew before them. First, there flew their ability, and then I turned on «Ugram viram maha-vishnum» and then continued to burn them. I turned on the rapid vortex right inside of their General mass. This whirlwind had drew them into itself, into the very center, and by its gravitational pull drew out of them all that they had useful, and all this was carried up by this vortex into that funnel. And then I turned on the Narasimha Kavacham of bhakti Marga again, and during the last verse «iti shri-brahmanda-purane prahladoktam shri-narasimha-kavacam sampurnam» I wanted to spin this vortex like a spinning top, so that they would be carried away into the funnel by this vortex, but this vortex did not spin.

This funnel at the top somehow had connected with them and slowly, smoothly drew them into itself. But I wasn't sure, so I turned on the last verse of the Narasimha Kavacham again and tried to activate the funnel-shaped vortex again. I did it a little bit, something went up into there. Then I looked: the funnel closed and there was no one there. I was not very clear whether they had flew away there or not, and I thought that maybe I would receive some sign for clarity, and the first picture that appeared when I turned on the computer was an ad in VKontakte of some webinar with large letters at the entire screen: «LIBERATION». I did not read what this webinar was about, I just wanted to see some sign, whether we succeeded, and in this way I was given this sign. I realized that Yes, we made this work. I immediately began to watch a movie «Sita and Rama». Just then, a new series of this film was put at VKontakte. I was eating hash browns and watching a new episode of «Sita and Rama». I felt so sad and I thought: we have done this, now there are two more actions left, and the order will be fulfilled.

318. An informative tarot card reading: the fiery scepter in his hand

The second action was planned next. This action was as response to words of this Shri Ram to me: «We are from different planets». For these words of his, I decided to take all the RA, the great asuras who head the asuric organizations on different planets. He told me that we are from different planets, and as response to this we will take RA from different planets, those who are at the forefront of the asuras landing on different planets, different worlds, where they are invisibly to everyone being born like everyone else there, live and use the inhabitants of those planets as a nutrient medium, as suppliers of vital fuel, that is, pious merits. At the same time, no one even knows about it, since no enemy intervention is visible, because the asuras are born there by the women of those planets and live like everyone else there. Asuras at the energy plane of existence force the inhabitants of those planets to violate laws of the universe and, using this, asuras does withdrawal of the pious merits out of them. And the pious merits is a universal currency, it is a vital fuel for that we can get good birth in a good family and get happy childhood, love, friendship, respect, good education, wealth, good looks, good fortune in life, greater life expectancy, power, good health and everything, even spiritual advancement, as this needs a lot of piety. The asuras like to be well settled in life, using stolen pious services, and they actually rob the inhabitants of those planets, taking the pious merits out of them, using them as cash cows and contributing to their degradation and the General degradation at the planet. After all, the level of development of civilization also depends on the pious reserve of the whole population.

The asuras act as such noble pirates, because thanks to the pious services they have stolen from others, they look as very decent, nice people who have a high enough standard of living that inspires others with respect for them and even a reverence. But in fact, they are pirates, although they look noble, because what difference does it make how you will be robbed: by putting a knife to you or imperceptibly taking away precious reserves from your piety account? In both cases, they rob you and you will start from scratch, or even from the minuses. Therefore, although they look noble, they are pirates, ruthless, merciless, clearly understanding what they are doing and what happens after such a robbery with victims.

Yes, I thought the second action is very important. We will take a very powerful segment at the asuras, pull out the biggest ones from their community, the RA, those who run all this, who coordinate the pirate activities of the asuras on different planets. RA are those asuras who have reached great heights on the asuric hierarchy, who can hold a large asuric organization under them and coordinate it on some mental level. We will take all these big RA from different planets, they many times will be born on the planet Earth and will somehow reorient the attackers to the devotees of Krishna.

Those included in our second action are great powerful asuras who are able to manipulate the mind of people, influence others, forcing them to do what the asuras need. NLP compared to the abilities of these great asuras, RA, is just a toy, on a purely mechanical level. But the abilities of these RA in our understanding are incredible, mystical, since they influence imperceptibly, at any distance, prompting, imposing on their victims the desires, decisions, when it seems to this victim that this is her desire, her decision, since it came to the victim's mind, as if by itself, as if it is desired by her. And I decided that these RA from different planets will take with them into their future lives these incredible abilities to influence others. They will use these abilities to reorient the ardent assailants against the devotees of Krishna, and these persecutors of Krishna consciousness will become those who will cooperate with the devotees of Krishna, who will fully accept and support them, who will work for them, because we will throw these big RA's from different planets against these assailants.

Yes, I knew that the second action is fast approaching and we will hold it very soon, but I had some dissatisfaction. It seemed to me that we have given not enough to these big RA from different planets, for them this is too simple a task, because these asuras, RA, are able to influence people and for them to cope with these attackers on Krishna consciousness is an easy task, and then what will they do? What will they do? And we need them to be useful. Yes, of course, their work will be important, they will stop all attackers on the devotees of Krishna, using all means, including insensibly by everyone, because with such abilities, this does not require personal presence and personal communication, it is enough to influence to others at the energy plane of existence, at any distance. But this is not enough, I thought. We need to give them something else.

And when, after the first action, I continued to record the rest of the videos and tell about the events of the summer and autumn of 2019, in the 296th series, I noticed a screenshot with the words «If a clay pot got poison, pot must be broken». I thought that if into some pot gets poison, it is necessary that these asuras break this pot. I didn't know what kind of pot we were talking about, and then I turned my attention in the same 296th series to a screenshot with the words «King of Madra, don't spare the horses». I thought I shouldn't feel sorry for them. And then there was another screenshot with the words «Give them even more». And after recording the 296th series, I all day and all evening was thinking about what to give them even more. I didn't know what to give them more, but the idea of giving them even more was bringing me joy. I was waiting for a sign. I thought: maybe there will be a hint for me in VKontakte, or someone will call and say something, as usually happens, but no one called, there was nothing like this in VKontakte, there was nothing on TV on this topic, and then I wanted to ask tarot cards. I took the Tarot cards, asked them to give me some sign what even more I could give the great asuras RA from different planets, and I got this tarot card reading: The Seven of Wands Tarot card, the Knight of Wands Tarot card, and the Five of Wands Tarot card.

I had read about the first card at the tarot card reading, about The Seven of Wands Tarot card: a man holds a wand as if to defend himself. He stands on the edge of the pit, from which six more wands rise. It seems that six wands are held by enemies who are ready to attack him. But the pit is deep, and they can't get out of it. Anyway, they can't hurt him. The danger, in principle, is there, and it is quite real, says this card. However, in this particular case, you are not in danger, so act boldly. To fight an opponent, you must rely on your internal reserves as well as your physical strength. The success of the case will depend on your determination and courage. If you make any transactions, then know that you will face fierce competition. The Seven of Wands Tarot card is in most cases a card of successful actions or development. And often this card points to such actions or areas of human activity that are unconventional from the point of view of modern social conditioning. (I noticed this point.) Therefore, often such activities are not approved by the people around us. However, this card is really positive and indicates that these actions are most likely worth taking, and most likely, by doing so, you will achieve success. The Seven of Wands Tarot card means that you have been attacked, that you are opposed by competitors, envious or other opponents, and that they are stronger than you or they are many. However, this card shows that your chances of winning are good because you are in a better position. Real, physical attacks are rarely describes here; most often, this is someone's interference in your personal Affairs, an attempt to deprive you of something or prevent you from achieving something. Your views and beliefs are harshly criticized; you may have to engage in heated debates. Although you may find something useful in these debates, they are not conducted for the sake of finding the truth, but to annoy you and silence you. So in this situation, you are required to be firm in your beliefs rather than ready for dialogue and rather than willing to learn from others. A conflict is brewing, but in this situation, you will take an advantageous position. For you, there is a period of confrontation, problems and opposition. Perhaps now you feel that you are under pressure. In order to overcome difficulties, obstacles and competition, you will have to gather all your will-power, skill and determination. You have an advantage, even if you don't notice it yet. The Seven of Wands Tarot card warns of major conflicts. There will be competition and struggle, but if you are on sound footing, you can crush the enemy. Even if it seems that the attacking forces are superior, you have an advantage. You will stop competition and will emerge victorious.

I read the following about the second card of the tarot card reading, the Knight of Wands Tarot card: on this card we see a young knight on a horse. He looks impressive in his shiny armor and helmet with feather. This is a person who is ready for action; he knows that he will have to withstand fierce competition, and is ready for it. He is ready to take risks for the sake of a noble cause, defends his beliefs, and fights for ideals. The enthusiasm that he shows infects others, and they begin to help him, which, of course, stimulates the work of the entire team. (I thought that just as these RA were leaders and commanded asuras, so they will continue to lead a team of people. They will never be a loner, they will rule many.) The Knight of Wands Tarot card describes an unpredictable person, who is changing his position, point of view or direction quickly, without warning, throwing others. (I thought we would use this to our advantage, so that those they will fight against could not calculate their moves and could not catch them for anything, so unpredictable and elusive they will be.) It is possible that he will take a short trip or will change his place of residence. (Yes, I thought that in order to do their job, they will constantly travel around the globe. I didn't see anything else in this card, but in any case, it's a knight on a horse, holding a rod in hand, with green leaves on rod. And he's handsome, he has a helmet with a feather, a beautiful Cape with salamanders, big iron boots, a powerful horse, he is a cool knight.)

About the third card of the tarot card reading, the Five of Wands Tarot card, I had read the following: at this card, rival, and possibly warlike forces are released. You are probably involved in a quarrel or dispute with a neighbor or have started a lawsuit. You may have encountered many obstacles. However, a willingness to be firm and stand up for yourself can lead to positive results. It was or will be difficult. You have struggled or will struggle with the person, the circumstances, or perhaps with yourself. The Five of Wands Tarot card means the task that you have to solve; of course, it will require you to strain, but not overstretch. This can be a qualitatively new, unusual task, or an unusual volume, or the scale of the work, or a complex combination that requires dexterity and ingenuity. This card means a problem or puzzle that you will have to figure out, but it will help you move significantly forward on the path of knowledge. As an example, we can cite the heated debate and spirited discussions that teenagers have with each other and with adults, polishing their minds and gradually developing their own ideas instead of the previous ones imposed by other people. There may be some problems with the law. The spirit of competition and opposition to the forces that restrict freedom. Card of the difficulties, however, in most cases such challenges can be overcome. Success will be the result of your persistent attempts to overcome troubles and obstacles. You may well win this battle, and the highest probability of the outcome will be shown by a subsequent card pointing to the future.

These three Tarot cards were very informative. All three cards are the Wands Tarot cards, and Wands are the scepter of power, they are those who command all, and they are also a symbol of victory. And also all three cards spoke of some kind of struggle, some kind of confrontation.

319. The Chariot Tarot card: powerful human rights defenders

The fourth card I took out, because at the third card was said that need to get another card that would point to the future. The fourth card was The Chariot Tarot card.

You have some hard work ahead of you. It may be resolved quickly, but the Chariot is a powerful card, and the labor you are undertaking will probably trend towards long and difficult. You will quite possibly experience rough roads, long uphill slopes, dead ends, and painful setbacks. A good outcome is assured. This hard road will instill in you a strength of purpose, the ability to overcome through organization and endurance, and the confidence possessed only by those who have done what they thought they could not. Harnessed correctly, few forces can stand against an individual like that.

I liked The Chariot Tarot card very much, very pretty. The winner, riding on a chariot. In the description of The Chariot Tarot card, I had read the following: the previous life, the previous segment of the path is completed. This Tarot card says, «What's next?» The chariot is waiting, and it's time to hit the road again. The driver is a strong, purposeful person. His chest is protected by a carapace; his hands, in hard gloves, hold the reins tightly. This is a person who has gained the necessary experience. He enters on the path of yoga, intending to take his proper place in society, and this he succeeds in, because he is the strong-willed man with very strong opinions.

This is the right way. This can be the path of spiritual growth, the path of knowledge, the right way of life, or the right way of running a business. In any case, by following this way, you will be on your way to success in your field. A very good and strong card in any area. «I finally found my way. Now the main thing for me is to find firmness, determination, great strength, courage, resilience and understanding to go through it to the end. I know that it is likely to be difficult, but I have the will to go through it to the end».

This card symbolizes success or victory, obtained through hard work or diligence. You will be able to cope with any obstacles that hinder your progress. You will succeed. Your strategy should be to move forward decisively and set a clear goal. You will overcome all the difficulties and come out of this situation as a winner. In General, no matter what situation you asked about, it will be resolved in your favor. Your willpower and a well-defined goal will help you be on top.

The Chariot Tarot card can mean traveling, buying a car, or using a new type of transport for you. The Chariot Tarot card offers you to take advantage of all that you have learned to overcome everything and everyone that hinders in achieving the goal. By reconciling the contradictions in yourself to the point where you can manage them, you are able to defeat real enemies. (Then I saw that they would defeat any enemies and reconcile anyone with anyone and anything.)

As the battle chariot destroys enemy forces, so The Chariot Tarot card symbolizes victory over all who are against you. You are able to recognize your true enemies and use their weaknesses and your strength against them. All your enemies are defeated, all your intentions have come true, and nothing stands in the way of success.

I looked at this tarot card and thought: the driver-charioteer at this tarot card is cool and awesome... and he also holds a rod as a sacred symbol of authority. All the cards in the tarot card reading show that those who are in our second action will be steer. The charioteer rides his chariot and controls everything. And when I looked at these four tarot cards, I thought: they will fight something, and even something non-traditional, because there was a mention of some non-traditional phenomena that ordinary people who are committed to traditional values do not approve of. I saw that they would fight something that was hurting society.

And as I thought about it, I remembered that just before that, I had received several offers in email from CitizenGO to sign petitions. CitizenGO is a community of people with an active citizenship who jointly defend and promote the values of human life, family, and freedom. They stand for the preservation of traditional family values and say that now all over the world are trying to impose the concept of sex education on different States, to approve the rights of homosexuals, and gender philosophy. Everywhere sexual promiscuity and depravity of people, destruction of traditional family and life values, inculcation of such behavior that is clearly contrary to the Dharma. Therefore people get big sinful karmic reactions. Because of that they go into the lower forms of life, which is very bad. And even it comes to the point that normal people with normal sexual orientation and committed to traditional life and family values are afraid to express their position, their disagreement with the dominance of homosexuality and total depravity.

I remembered a recent petition of this organization that said that a woman could face a prison sentence just for telling the truth about the differences between men and women. She just said that men are born with a penis, and women with a vagina, and therefore they initially have different roles, this is normal. She just said her opinion, and this is a normal and correct opinion: if a man is born with a male sexual organ, and a woman with a female one, then that's the way the nature works. A 16-year-old boy had gender reassignment surgery, and she called it castration, a form of child abuse and the mutilation. She rightly said. When a male is made not a male, it is castration. Castration is inhuman and should be completely prohibited by law. When a boy's penis is cut off, this is mutilation. She said it as it is, and for this they threaten to put her in prison, even though she is a mother of five children.

And when I thought what even more to give to the RA from different planet, and pondered about the tarot card reading, I thought that will well, if these RA from different planets will become human rights activists who will advocate for the preservation of the traditional family and life values, fidelity, family duty and normal traditional attitude to people. If you were born a man, you're a man and should do your male duty. Man should take care of his wife and children. Man should protect woman. If you were born a woman, you're a woman, a mother and a wife. You mustn't fall into the gender trap for those who want to go into the animal forms of life. They think that you can choose you're male or female and that you can change gender. This isn't right. You were born already. This body was given to you. The Lord gave this body to you, rejoice: you have it.

I thought that the victims are mostly women who disagree with these views on transgender rights. Even women with small children are victims. This woman has five young children, and they want to put her in prison for what she expressed her opinion. She is fighting for her children to live in a normal society, where it is not considered that if you are a boy, then you can become a girl. She is fighting for her children to live in a normal society in which is not vaccinated with the idea that homosexuals are not bad, but very good. The Bible says it's not good. As the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah were burned for their wickedness.

And I thought that these asuras, who is RA from different planets, will be human rights activists. Why do women put themselves at risk? Let men do it. It is necessary to use these RA from different planets against those who are trying to promote licentiousness and permissiveness. RA from different planets are great asuras who are at the forefront of the asuras landing on different planets and worlds of the material world and who are so powerful that they can crush anyone. I thought that we should turn these RA from different planets against all the ardent distributors of debauchery who are trying to destroy traditional values. I thought it was a good solution. I decided: this is what we will give them even more.

They will be great, cool human rights activists. They will live on planet Earth, travel around the globe and carry out human rights activities. They will be in different human rights organizations, they will steer a lot of things. I thought that the organization CitizenGO protects Christian traditional values, this is, of course, good, but what about the Vedic traditions? The Vedic traditions also need to be protected. And I thought that these human rights activists, whom we will make from RA from different planets, will also protect the traditional Vedic values accepted among the devotees of Krishna. These human rights defenders will fight against those who want to bend the world under themselves, under a completely wrong concept that is unnatural. And I decided that it's better not women, but men, to put themselves at risk, especially such large ones as the former asuras, who were at the forefront of the asuras landing on different planets. They will manage very large projects, and they will use all their abilities and experience gained in past lives to fight for the preservation of traditional family and life values.

I decided that they would have family because in order for them to fight for traditional family and life values, it is necessary that they have family. Therefore, they will have a wife, one every life, they will be faithful family men, and they will have children, because they will fight to ensure that children are not taken away from the family for all sorts of incomprehensible reasons. They will fight with juvenile justice as well. So they will have a very good family every life, a lot of lives. They will be so lucky! Having decided this, I felt completely satisfied and decided that now the road to the implementation of the second action is open, we can do it.

I thought that in the 296th series there was a screenshot with the words «I will punish them tomorrow morning», and decided to hold this action the next day. When I said in 297th series that this idea came to me due to the Tarot card, I noticed that during these words of mine, the deck was turned to me by a picture of the tarot card The Sun. I thought it is a sign. The sun is RA, the Sun God in Egypt, as well as those great asuras RA from different planets. And this moment in the 297th series coincided with a screenshot with Karna and a shield on his chest in the form of a Golden shining sun. And then came a screenshot with the words of Shiva about the sword Chandrahas: «No one can stand his blow. With it, you will become invincible». Due to this, I saw that they will be a reliable shield for traditional family values and no one can stand their blow. Neither the juvenile justice system, nor homosexuals and their ilk will be able to withstand the blow when these RA from different planets will come and become human rights defenders. And this is the right decision, because it is necessary that at least someone could really fight back, and there is no one better for this role than them. They're the best. This is their business, their mission.

320. Saifa. The maximum destruction. The big wave

I thought about those RA from different planets, that they get adequate punishment. They were violating the rights of the inhabitants of those planets where they landed as noble pirates, and now they will protect the rights of the citizens of our planet Earth. They will defend the traditional correct values, the normal family way of life. They will fight to ensure that children are not taken away from families, that families are in the priority, that no one invades the family, does not try to command there and does not specify how this family should live. They will fight against attitudes and ideologies that instills to the people that you need to try everything, that you can be a homosexual and change your gender, and that if you say that you do not agree with this, then you can be punished according to some completely wrong laws, in order to people are afraid to speak out against these nasty phenomena. They will fight against promoting homosexuality, against the juvenile justice system, against the gender policy and all that.

When I talked about it in 297th series I said that in 296th series, I was shown that they should be done the next day. The next day was November 3, 2019, Sunday. On this day, I slept for a long time, till noon. When I woke up, I turned on my favorite playlist and began to work. And when I got a good mood, I started reformatting chakras of those asuras. I looked at my inner screen and saw many asuras, RA from different planets. I saw that even though they live on different planets, but now they are all standing in my mind's eye on a plane-circle and there are a lot of them. My consciousness covered all of them and spread even further to cover even more asuras. I was listening to music on my headphones, and at some point my hands wanted to start a spontaneous dance. I like to listen to music while working, and I occasionally let my hands to spontaneous dance. And this time, while working and listening to music, I let go of my hands in a free dance and began to reformat those RA from different planets who were already on my inner screen.

I imagined that my hands are dancing, and that during this I am using these hands to format chakras of energy body of each of those asuras. I thought that my hands were dancing here, but in fact it is a projection on the energy body of those asuras. I am here alone, and there are many of them, and I am working to their energy body in each of them at the same time, reformatting their chakras. Although I do not know any of them, and although they live very far from me, and although they all live not even on the same planet, but on different planets, nevertheless, I simultaneously in all of them just in the dance of my hands somehow at a distance, through the space in the Universe, am reconstructing energy body of those asuras, restructure it.

I was doing all this and I thought: how lucky they are! They fell into the hands of such a cool a Universe level corrector. I'm a Universe level corrector. Someone give me broken cars, that is, some inhabitants of different planets who need to be repaired, patched up, who need to raise the energy level and adjust something so that everything works as it should. I have everything for this: skills, the abilities, a lot of different tools, and spare parts for repair. I can fix any broken car, fix it. I am a great Universe level corrector, and some personalities somewhere in the Universe give me big orders and pay for it with pious merits. And I thought: my services are expensive. I just use my hands, sitting at home and listening to music, making dance movements of my hands in the air in front of me, and at the same time somewhere someone's energy bodies are reformatted, and I do not even know who they are and on what planets and in what worlds they are. And I, sitting here, listening to music that I like, and releasing my hands in a spontaneous dance, restructures entire energy body of those living beings. And I am paid for this by a lot pious services that I am saving up somewhere, on some Deposit at Universe level, and from this something goes to Shri Ram.

And I thought: how fortunate are these asuras, RA from different planets! Somewhere, someone gives assignments to me, asks to correct someone's energy body, they even persuade me to do this, line up, wait humbly when I have the mood that matches the assignment, and they pay the price that I will set, only I would do it, but these asuras are lucky to get to me for free and without a queue, just because they were so noble pirates on different planets in the composition of the landing force of the asuras. How lucky they were that they were given to me! I thought: I will reformat them now so that they will immediately go to the spiritual world, before that, of course, they will serve a lot. I formatted their chakras and thought that they would be cool successful human rights activists, they would stand up for traditional family values, and they would zealously defend them. How lucky they were! They came to me, who here is just a tiny cog in the great wheel of evolution, but who somewhere in the vastness of the Universe is a Universe level corrector.

I've formatted them like this several times. Then in my playlist it came to the song «Half a mile to the bottom»:

Our radio operator does not sleep at this night.
He goes crazy because of Morse code.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Only the iceberg above us is shaken by the Moon.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Lonely spirits of the depths,
We received in full.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Our stars faded, and now the deep dark.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.

I turned on this song on auto-repeat, was singing it, and then I thought: right now I'll do that the lonely spirits of the depths get what they deserves in full. I thought: right now, these asuras will pay me for what this Shri Ram did to me so badly, told me that we are from different planets. I thought: right now I will take all these great RA, great asuras, from different planets and make them great cool human rights activists who are not afraid of anything and stand up for traditional normal family values. I began to wash the dishes and make dinner. I had bought potatoes and the whole evening first was washing dishes, then peeling potatoes, then cutting, rubbing potatoes, and then cooking and frying potatoes.

I turned on Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham» and began to listen to it when I was washing the dishes. I saw on my inner screen all those asuras on some a horizontal plane as on a circle in outer space. They looked like a small group, though I knew there were a lot of them. I stood somewhere very high above them and emitted the furiously fire into them, a lot of fire. I burned everything in them and then began to sing this mantra inside each of them. I imagined that I am at the same time in each of them and sing the mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham». Their energy pipe became charred and hollow, black and empty.

Then I thought that they are great asuras, RA, and each of them holds a large asuric organization under them, they rule many asuras. Each of them is like a large spider that sits in the center of the web, and from it the threads of the spider's web go in all directions, and these are different asuras who are in his organization, in his subordination. And then, from each of these RA, I had fired this furious fire into those who were under them. This raging flame was going out of me from top into those asuras under me and was going to bottom inside each of them. This raging flame filled him, and then poured right out of him in different directions into everyone who was under him in his asuric organization. The fire was raging in every one of those RA, as well as in every one with whom he was associated, and was burning out everything in them. They became charred and empty inside, everything there was burned, in all the asuras of all the asuric organizations at different planets. And it turned out that I destroyed, burned all those who were under those asuras, RA.

After that, when I saw that using all these big RA, I burned all subordinates of them, I turned on the farewell kirtan of Bhakti Tirtha Swami «jai jai radhe jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan-dham». This kirtan sounded inside those big RA from different planets, and I made all of them sing this kirtan along with Bhakti Tirtha Swami. And during this time, from somewhere in space, an energy beam rushed to them, as if the sound of this kirtan was pouring into them from there as a wave of energy from space, and they were being reformatted. Then I remembered that before I started doing this, there was a screenshot with the words «This unusual chariot is protected by Hanuman himself». I turned on mantra «Hanuman Chalisa» and saw that a large blue column of light was formed and they began to hover inside this glow, floating there as if in weightlessness, and float there in the sounds of this mantra.

Then I turned on Shri Krishna pranama and made them sing it. They sang it and then began to shine in that blue shining column of light, where they hovered like little gold-and-green stars. It was a wonderful picture: a blue column of light and they were floating in it like shining beautiful stars. And then at some stage they as if said me that they were ready for anything now. And they said, «Now we understand why you are willing to do anything for Krishna». They felt something when they swam like nice sparkling stars in this glow, which is why they told me that now they understand why I am willing to do anything for Krishna, and that now they are also ready to do anything.

And then I turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham» again. They became like a small pile below, and I stood above them again somewhere high in space and again emitted a powerful pillar of fire into them. And again I burned everything in them, cleaned everything again, reformatted all their chakras again, and then I saw that all of them had broken away from their bodies and were floating in space like a bunch of waiting balls. And then I turned on the Narasimha Kavacham performed by the bhakta Marg and lit a phosphorescent white-and-blue glow inside them, which, like phosphorus, burns everything, and it was sparkling inside them and was piercing them with its milky gold light. It was burning everything in them, sinking deeper and deeper inside them, reaching to the very core.

After that, I reformatted their chakras again. At that time I had already washed all dishes, peeled the potatoes, and was already frying the potatoes. And when was the last couplet of Narasimha Kavacham «iti shri-brahmanda-purane prahladoktam shri-narasimha-kavacam sampurnam», during this «sampurnam sampurnam» I began to quickly spin the huge vortex. I tried very hard to spin this vortex. The funnel at the top already appeared. The funnel had reached out its wide open bellmouth to the vortex which was connected with it. There a revolving channel formed, and all of them during this «sampurnam sampurnam» on this channel flew up large parties by a large rapid stream. Then this funnel from above was closed. I immediately turned everything off, turned on the song «What if you did not exist?» (Joe Dassin — Et Si Tu N'existais Pas) and began to fry pancakes. That was the end of it.

I thought that we had held the second action and now we will hold the third action, because, as I understood, I have a rule not to retreat until the work is done. I was given an assignment. I accepted it. And now I am fulfilling this assignment. And we have a third action ahead of us, which I called «The reusable space shuttles». And this operation was called «Saifa, the maximum destruction, the big wave». And indeed, there was a big wave, because these big asuras RA were many and from each of them went a big wave of raging fire, burning everything in its path and burned all those who were under those RA, under their command. There were many of them on different planets, and there everything had burnt. There nothing left after me left.

321. The sun can not only warm you, but also can burn you to the ground

After the second action to sending RA from different planets, I remembered the tarot card The Sun, to which I saw, when I spoke about the tarot card reading, thanks to which I came up with the idea to transform those RA from different planets into the human rights defenders. I thought that this card also appeared not coincidentally and it also gives information about the future of those RA from different planets. I knew that this card had negative meanings, but I decided that I have the right not to be in the narrow confines of the canonical descriptions and have the right to present my interpretation of this card. I have the right to choose what meanings of this tarot card to use in my mission, and even I have the right to invent my own meanings, because my heart is more in Metaphorical associative cards, when not someone does give you the decided meanings of tarot card, but you can look at the picture and think about your associations and give the card some unique meaning, sense and explanation. I decided that I would to hold my opinions and freedom of expression, and I thought that I have the good associations of this card, since I liked this picture very much.

And in accordance with my own associations with tarot card The Sun, I saw that all those RA from different planets in their future lives, when they will great human rights activists, will be winners. They will fight the imposition of completely wrong stereotypes on us. They will fight the dominance of lust, depravity, cruelty, violence, permissiveness, and they will always be ahead, they will always be winners. I looked at the good meanings of this tarot card and chose the following descriptions.

In the Rider-Waite-Smith tarot deck, the Central character of the card is a one-year-old child. He has white skin and blond hair, and is completely naked. All this emphasizes innocence and purity of this child. (That is, they will fight for innocence, chastity and purity in society.) At the same time, this as if reminds you that under the sun you can not only tan, but also being burned alive. (And they will use different ways to achieve success in their struggle, because they were great asuras RA and did not disdain any means to pump pious merits out of the inhabitants of different planets, where asuras came as noble pirates to, so that at the expense of these pious merits to have a life of luxury. At that time, they did not shun any means, and I decided that in their future lives, they will also not shun any ways, when they will be the human rights defenders, when they will protect innocence, chastity and purity. This does not mean that they will kill someone, cut, torture. They will use their abilities that they had when they were asuras. They will use their abilities to manipulate the mind, to influence people, to use some ploys. And since you can not only get a tan under the sun, but also being burned alive, those who enforce very bad concepts on society will burn when these human rights defenders are born and join the fight.)

A child holds a red flag in the hands. This color is the color of blood; it symbolizes victory, power, and leadership. This is not just a flag, it is a banner that the horseman proudly carries and shows to everyone. (They will always win.) The white horse was not chosen by chance. This animal was always expensive. It was guarded and cherished. Such a color of horse was held in high esteem by all military leaders. (And given the fact that the Knight of Wands and The Chariot were in the tarot card reading, this means that they will be very cool.) Horse carries the horseman at free will, because horse does not have a saddle and bridle. (When we sent them, they told me they were ready for anything. They said, «Now we understand why you are willing to do everything for Krishna». And they will do their work of their own free will.)

In the background of this tarot card, you can see a stone wall. It is the epitome of protection, inviolability, and reliability. It's like a border between the horseman and the rest of the world. (In that description of tarot card I saw that these human rights defenders will fight against the endless propaganda of cruelty, irresponsibility, violence and vulgarity that is poured on us from literally everywhere. The world is being degraded, and these processes are only accelerating. And these human rights defenders will fight all these phenomena.) Sunflowers grow along the wall. These flowers have long been the personification of the sun, the fiery power of the sun. (They will be a reliable protection in order to that these ideas of violence and depravity are not introduced into our society.) But the main part of this tarot card is the sun. The sun takes up most of this tarot card. At the sun shows a human face. It is the epitome of optimism and vitality. The sun has eight rays of wavy and straight shape. This is a call not to forget that the sun not only warms, but also burns all. (And all those who were great asuras RA and who went into their future lives and will be great human rights defenders will burn all those who try to increase the degradation of our society.)

Also in those descriptions of that card, I found that this card in the tarot card reading indicates that a person will receive a gift of fate. And when I was reviewing the 298th series I noticed a screenshot from «the Mahabharata» with the word «the postscript». There I saw that at the end of their activities, when, so to speak, the letter will be finished, that is, their services will no longer be needed, because the window to the spiritual world will do its job and Kali Yuga will come into its full rights and will begin to press everyone, then all these human rights defenders will go to the spiritual world to Krishna. I saw it due of this screenshot, because there Krishna is standing in front on a hill and because water of the Yamuna river is like the walls around. Through their activities, they will return to the spiritual world, because they will protect the devotees of Krishna from all kinds of violent assailants, and in General the entire society from the onslaught of debauchery and degradation.

322. Old lions of the asuras

When I was thinking about it, I had read somewhere at the Internet that men over forty love young women. And then I remembered the third take. I thought I had three actions planned. The first action is the reunion of eternal couples who were separated. We've already done it. The second action is as response to the first take, who was the woman who was with this Shri Ram and because of whom he said to me: «We are from different planets». So we took many of the great asuras RA from different planets. This action covered the first take. The work on response to the first take has been finalized. We're even. As the song says:

Lonely spirits of the depths,
We received in full.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

At the first action, the lonely spirits of the deeps paid in full. We're even. The next action will be as response to the second take, who was Lona, because of whom this Shri Ram told me that at the street is three times better. This will be the third action in a row. But it will actually cover the second take, that is, Lona. The second take will be covered by an action called «The reusable space shuttles». And what about the third take?! I thought: it's not right. The third take, a young, beautiful tight body that Shri Ram even wanted to be forgiven for, is not paid for.

I thought: what about the third take, the third woman? There is a third take, but the lonely spirits of the depths did not pay in full for the third take, and no action is provided for this. This is wrong, I thought, because the lonely spirits of the deeps must pay in full. For everything, especially for the third take. I thought: men over forty love young ones. All men like young girls because they're so irresistible. Shri Ram had such a young woman, but the lonely spirits of the deeps did not pay in full for this. And I thought that we should also hold some kind of action as response to the third take.

When he got that young woman with a beautiful tight body, he thought that since I protect him, give him pious merits, strength, signs for his good life and for his asuric activity, then I am suitable for the role of a weapon by which he can win, but for his enjoyment, that woman with a young beautiful tight body is more suitable. He thought I am old. As my dad told my mom that she was old and unfit for sex, and that because of this she would live in one room, and he would have fun in the other room with whoever he wanted. And Shri Ram thought the same of me.

He decided that since he had made a vow to be with me, then he would live with me, but at the same time will have fun with that madame with a beautiful tight body. He decided that it was necessary to make me think that he is only with me and no one else, and that he loves me very much. He was sure that if he's mislead me, then I'd believe it and all will be well: I'll think that he's with me, that he is faithful to me that he is a decent man, a good family man, but he will have a good time with that lady.

I thought that the lonely spirits of the depths have paid in full for the first take, the first woman. It was an action with RA from different planets. So that the lonely spirits of the depths can pay in full for the second take, an action «The reusable space shuttles» is assigned. But what about the third take? The lone spirits of the deeps did not pay in full for the third take, and no action is provided for this. I thought this was a big omission that needed to be corrected. I thought we should do another action as payment for the third take. I thought it is the right decision, because to forgive the first time is wisdom, to forgive the second time is generosity, and to forgive the third time is stupidity. Do not take for it in full is also great stupidity. But Shri Ram, seeing these thoughts of mine, begged my forgiveness and begged me not to hold another action. I did a survey for my team of forces of light, with whom I have been working for many lives, and at the end of the 299th series presented it, waiting for their opinion on this matter. I thought that there is still a month of Karttika, a month of Radharani, there is still more than a week left until the end of Karttika, and we have only one action left and there is still time for another action.

Through the screenshots on my desktop during this survey, I realized that a majority of my team voted for one more action. And in this regard, I decided that I will add another action and rename all the actions. I decided to assign the very first action, the reunion of eternal couples, as a preliminary one, and name the rest actions according to the numbering of takes that they cover. I decided that then we have a pre-action for eternal pairs and three actions as responses to the three takes. The first action is our response to the first take; this is an operation to send great asuras, RA, from different planets. The second action is our response to the second double, this is operation «The reusable space shuttles», when we will take all those asuras who contributed to the introduction, assimilation of asuras among the population of different planets. The third action is our response to the third take.

I thought: who will we take in this action and what will they be? I thought that when Shri Ram was with the third woman, with the third take, he thought that I am already old for him. This was indicated by the words of my father to my mother that she was old and unsuited to sex. And I thought: who will go at our third action because of the third take, the third woman, because of whom he as if told me that I was already old? And when I was wondering who it would be, I noticed a screenshot from «the Mahabharata» with the words «When an old lion growls, all you hear is a wheezing». I looked at this screenshot and thought: Shri Ram as if told me that I am too old to give him the pleasure that he used to get and that he craves. I'm old. That's what he thought of me. Although we are an eternal couple, although I am his one true soulmate, he told me that I am old for him, that he needs some other, young ones. I looked at this screenshot and thought: we need to make an adequate retaliatory strike. We will take the old lions of the asuras, their elders at this third action. Did he tell me I am old? So we will take all the elders from them and send them into future lives to serve Krishna, ISKCON, Srila Prabhupada, for many, many lifetimes.

I thought: this is a great solution. But I didn't know what they were going to be. But I was already shown (in the 300th series at 16:38) that they would return to the spiritual world. This was shown to me at the screenshot with the untied lace on the open palm. And although I didn't know yet what they would be, I already knew that it would be the elders of the asuras, their leading men, authorities, because when an old lion growls, all you hear is a wheezing. I tried to look everywhere, to listen to some signs, what they would be. I was asking questions Tarot cards and oracles, but there were no responses. And then I was told that now I will not be allowed to find out, that is, I will find out in due time. I relaxed and thought that now I will perform the second action, «The reusable space shuttles», and I will wait for it to be revealed to me what these old lions will be who will pay for what Shri Ram told me that I am already old.

I thought I'd call this operation «The old lions». We will take all the elders of the asuras at all their asuric worlds and at all the planets where they operate as noble pirates, and there will be many of them, and it will be a Grand action. I thought: how lucky they are! They will return to the spiritual world! My magic videos opened me that. Who would say that? It is not written anywhere that asuras can return to the spiritual world. But Lord Chaitanya is very merciful. Thanks to the coming of Lord Chaitanya to us, Krishna sent me as an inspector of the Universe Patrol to these asuras. I put myself at risk, took a punch. Asuras had saw a sacrifice in me and did a lot of bad things to me, as a result of which now even the asuras will receive a return to the spiritual world. How lucky they were! And they will help many souls to return to the spiritual world! What incredible luck!

323. Not gene transfer techniques, not chromosomes transfer techniques, but souls transfer techniques. Capture of someone else's zygote

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I focused on the third action, «The reusable space shuttles». I thought: now to the future lives will go those asuras who contributed to the invisible invasion of the asuras at different planets of the material world. They were performing their secret procedure, that is, the sewing of the asuras into women. They performed contactless artificial fertilization of women of different planets, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and the implantation the asuric babies into women for giving birth to asuras at different planets of the material world. They were sewing the asuric babies into female organs of women, that is, implanting the asuric babies into women. They were performing this at the energy plane of existence. They were implanting into women of different planets those asuras who went as the part of landing party of the asuras at different planets, in order, like noble pirates, to rob the inhabitants of those planets, performing withdrawal of the pious merits out the inhabitants of those planets. I thought: asuras did this procedure of contactless artificial fertilization and the implantation asuric babies to me, too. When I was still living in Moscow, three asuric babies were sewn into me.

At that time, I and my second husband were a lawfully married couple, and I was once noticed by the then leader of the Moscow asuric organization. I called him Borka, by the nickname of the big fat spider that lived at us. Borka wanted to press me and to pump my feminine energy and pious merits out of me on a regular basis, but for some unknown reason, he suddenly decided to use me as a womb for contactless artificial fertilization through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and for implantation asuric babies into me and giving birth to them. I was not going to give birth of children to that husband, since I mostly earned money and, being a reasonable person, I understood that having a little child, I would be left without money. Therefore, it is unclear why Borka decided to sew asuric babies into me. But he decided so.

Usually, when asuras sew their asuric babies into a woman, this happens through non-contact sexual interaction with some absolutely incredible sensations and a supergrandious orgasm that lasts a very long time, an hour, and even more. This asuras need to, to have women opened her female organs on full. Due to that asuras can sewn into female organs at the energy plane of existence some energy capsule transferred from asuric worlds with an asur, who enlisted in the asuras`s groups of assault at different planets. To sew this energy capsule into female organs, asuras need these organs to be completely open and for a long time, so a woman has this incredibly powerful, deep and unbelievable long orgasm, which does not pass in any way and keeps her on a plateau of bliss, and without the personal presence of the man, asur, who put her to this state, since all interaction takes place at the energy plane of existence, without his personal presence and without any stimulation of her genitals. Although the woman feels like in sex. Just suddenly, for no reason at all, she feels the sensations as when sex, although no one is with her. The sensations are incredible, beyond belief. In ordinary sex, this never happens. It feels like something unearthly, magical, and amazing. And accordingly, she is brought to the state of orgasm, but kept at this level, so that all her female organs are fully opened and asuras can sew into her an energy capsule with an asur transferred through some energy ray. This is actually contactless artificial fertilization through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and implantation asuric babies into woman.

And when Borka was doing this to me, it was an implantation of asuric babies into me. He implantation into me three asuric babies. Why he did this to me is unclear, but this period was quite long. It was period of such suddenly fallings into a feeling as if there is sex, but there is no one and no contact with the body in any way, but there is a feeling of immense pleasure that draws into the vortex of bliss and it's keeping you. This period was for a long time, and then stopped. And after that, Borka need to find out if those energy capsules with these asuric babies were implanted into my ovaries. To do this, he began to cause my husband to have discontent with me and the rage strokes. My husband start to attack me, and these asuric babies at one point could not stand it, were afraid for me and showed themselves. Borka had to make sure how many asuric babies were implanted and what they are. And at one such moment of danger for me, they showed themselves, because I kind of screamed, and it was as if three different children screamed through me in turn, and there was a clear sense of what gender the child has, with what intonation they speaks, and each time they shouted: «Mother». The first cry was a girl's cry, the second cry was a boy's cry, and the third cry was a girl's cry again. Thus Borka has ascertained that all three asuric babies were successfully implanted into me and that they were two girls and one boy.

This procedure is similar to in vitro fertilization, IVF, embryo implantation. However, in this procedure, when the asuras sew their asuric babies into a woman, these asuric babies are in some kind of energy capsule and it is this energy capsule with this asuric baby that is sewn into her ovary. And this energy capsule can be inside her ovaries for a long time, it can be there for years. These asuric babies could be in me indefinitely, but Borka needed them to be born and live among us like all of us, people. But since I was not going to give birth children to my then husband for economic reasons, Borka had to force me to divorce my then husband and to refer me to some other man so that ordinary fertilization could occur. And Borka began to press my consciousness, of course, imperceptibly by me and without his personal presence and direct interaction, since he was just plugged onto me energetically and I did not even know about it. He somehow invisibly and intangibly was affecting my mind, forcing me to give up that husband and to begin to look for another. Borka needed these asuric babies to be born, and for this it was necessary that I had sex with someone. And since I wasn't going to just have sex, he forced us to divorce so I could become wife of someone else.

Borka succeeded, although it took him a lot of time and effort. And after that, I found another husband with whom I could have children. Three asuric babies in energy capsules were in my ovaries. The period of super awesome sexual interactions, in some strange ways without the slightest touch, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, ended because asuric babies was already implanted into me. Borka just waited when I will have sex with someone in order to there was fertilization. Three energy capsules with three asuric babies were sewn into my ovaries. These three asuric babies were conceived by me and Borka, who was a former leader of the Moscow asuric organization. These asuric babies were in my ovaries in some kind of energy state, and they were there for a long time, because the implanting occurred when I was married to my second husband, and the fertilization occurred when I was already married to my third husband, and some years passed between these events. But the asuric babies waited for moment of fertilization. And this day came.

When the ordinary fertilization occurred, as a result of normal, physical sex, then the first energy capsule was activated. My ova came out of the follicle in the ovary and began to move along the fallopian tube towards the uterus, and the sperm swam through the vagina to it. There, in the fallopian tube, the ova opened its protective shell to one of chosen spermatozoa accordance with karma, and this one spermatozoa penetrated inside ova. After penetration the sperm into the egg, a zygote was formed, that is, a fertilized egg, a single-celled stage of embryo development. And at that moment, the soul that was supposed to come to me and my husband accordance with our karma entered the zygote. The place of activity for it has already been issued. The zygote was already formed, and the new soul had a place to be to wait for birth. But just at this moment, when that soul entered the zygote, the energy capsule opened, that asuric baby hatched out of it and immediately entered inside the zygote, after the soul that came to me and that my husband. In one zygote, there were two different souls: the first was the soul that was supposed to be our child, and the second was the soul that at the moment of zygote formation hatched from the opened energy capsule activated in my ovaries by the process of physical fertilization. And the second soul, asuric baby, according to its program began to push out of this zygote the soul that entered there first.

When the energy capsule was activated by the process of physical conception, opened, and released the asuric baby, this asuric baby entered the already formed zygote, intended for the child who was to be born to us with that husband, and this asuric baby squeezed our child out of zygote that was supposed to be home to our child. And, having pushed out our child, the asuric baby took place of our child, just as a newly hatched cuckoo, thrown into someone else's nest, pushes out of it the chicks for which this nest was intended.

Everything happened as always during this procedure when asuras are sewing asuras into women, as if implanting. There was a merger of the spermatozoon with the female ova, a zygote was formed, and that soul which was to be born entered the zygote. It was that soul that was to become the child of a couple who had this ordinary sexual intercourse. The zygote has just formed. The sperm with its 23 chromosomes merged with the female ova with its 23 chromosomes, and a new body with a full standard chromosomal complement of 46 chromosomes turned out. This zygote is already a new body, a new physical shell, a house for the soul that was waiting for its birth at this couple. This zygote is the kshetra, the field of activity of this soul. This is place of this soul, its nest. And when this nest, this zygote, is formed and its rightful owner, the soul, enters it, intending to receive birth after a while, it is thrown out of its rightful place, out of its nest, out of its zygote, and it remains with nothing, although it should have been born to this couple. And this soul is thrown out by the asuric baby who has been waiting for this moment for a long time, being in an energy unmanifested state inside the energy capsule in the ovaries of the mother of this child. This is the procedure sewing asuras into women, their implanting into women. It happens imperceptibly, at the stage of the formation of the zygote. Thus asuras invades our society and then born among us. They live among us as ordinary-looking people, since they are born in the human body. And so they do at different planets, being born among the population of those planets and living among them, imperceptibly, assimilating among society and developing their cover story, like a saboteur develops spy's biography, embedding to the territory of the enemy for espionage and subversive.

And this asuric baby, this newly hatched cuckoo, occupies someone else's zygote, although from some angle for this woman, this asuric baby is not quite a little cuckoo, because this asuric baby was conceived by her, however, with some asur, when was sex without the slightest touch in some strange ways, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence, and she did not know this asur. But even if there was some wonderful super awesome sexual interaction through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and if there was some unusual orgasms, without anyone's physical presence, without the slightest touch, in some strange way, it's essentially the rape of this woman. Because the woman did not give the genuine and fully informed consent to this. Asur just somehow at the energy plane of existence pressed some button in women's energy centers of this woman, and at her turned on the process of opening by, against her will, in order to everything opened up at her and in order to asuras could implant into her this asuric baby in the energy capsule. She was coerced against her will. Really, it's rape. And although it was not at the physical plane of existence, but at the energy plane of existence, but the gist is the same. She was simply raped, even if she experienced some indescribable delightful sensations during this. But this bliss that most people never even know exists was needed so that everything in her female organs would open up, so that it would be possible to sew that asuric baby into her. It's such an invisible intervention, enemy invasion.

And it turns out that the asuric baby who was implanted into her as a result of such a sex with some asur without the slightest touch in some strange ways, as a result of such an energy rape, throws out of the zygote the child who came to this couple, to these people who was having the most ordinary normal sex. And the child that came to this couple and had to settle in this zygote and then implanted to the mucous membrane of the uterine as the embryo, and then be born to them, goes to look for other parents. After all, his place, his legal home, was taken away, and now he must look for a new place, a new legal home. This child was supposed to be born to these parents, but this child was kicked out of its legal zygote, and now its parents will have other baby, the one who kicked him out of zygote. The asuric baby acted as an invader.

324. Invisible space invasion of the asuras

This is how the asuras make their invasion to different planets. They don't arrive as space invaders on spaceships. They are infiltrating and assimilating among us at the stage of zygote formation. They live among us like us. And they act imperceptibly for us, plugging onto us through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence and affecting our consciousness and our energy body. And we do what they want, because we think that these are our thoughts and our desires. We think it's us who think it. We think we are the ones who decide. But in reality, we are just cattle for them. We for the asuras are only a breeding ground out of which they pump out pious merits. They manipulate our minds in their interests. And this happens completely imperceptibly, since they come as invaders at the stage of zygote formation and affect us imperceptibly, through distance, without contact of physical bodies, at the energy plane of existence.

And this asuric baby, having thrown out the real child, grows there, then is born, and parents think that this is their child. But this asuric baby is nobody to them. The woman was simply pressured to open her female organs in order to asuras have opportunity to sew an energy capsule with the asuric baby into her ovaries, and an asuric baby was implanted into her. She's as if a mother of this asuric baby. The father who gave his seed is as if the father of this asuric baby, since he passes his chromosomes to there, because in the zygote half of his chromosomes. The physical body of the born child has genes of this father. According to the physical characteristics of the born body, these parents are the real parents, since the zygote is created by merging their egg and sperm, and genetic testing will show that this child is absolutely theirs. But in fact, their child, that is, the soul that should have been born to them, was thrown out long ago and went to look for other parents. Yes, the chromosomal makeup of the body of the born child will be the chromosomal makeup from these parents, but in fact the personality who is inside this body will be quite different.

For example, a daughter was born. Yes, these parents gave birth a girl, but this is a different girl. She is not the girl who could come to this couple, but the girl who came to this woman and that asur, with whom before this, maybe even a few years before, she unusual orgasms, without anyone's physical presence, without the slightest touch, in some strange way. And a completely different personality is born, although the body of the child who was born is the body of the child of this couple, who had an ordinary sexual act and ordinary fertilization. But in fact, this is a personality who came to this woman as a result of her energy rape at the energy plane of existence by some asur who can do it.

And this is what Borka, the former leader of the Moscow asuric organization, did to me. He sewed three of their asuric babies into me; he as if did an embryo implantation operation at me. But I didn't give birth to the third baby. Third asuric baby stayed there, in its energy capsule. And this asuric baby was there for many years. And only when this Shri Ram personally plugged into me, he cut out of me this asuric baby, who for so long waiting for a favorable moment. Shri Ram cut out this asuric baby of me, because in this life I was not going to give birth to children anymore. If this asuric baby is in the ovaries, and I do not intend to give birth to it, then it should be born to another woman. And Shri Ram cut out the energy capsule of third asuric baby with this baby out of me.

I saw it with my inner vision, as if this Shri Ram had become small at the energy plane of existence, had entered my ovaries and somehow cut out something from inside. He took it out and took it to somewhere. After that, he said that there should be blood. But there was no blood, and he was somewhat perplexed, because a woman always bleeds after this and her stomach hurts very much, as after a real operation at female organs, like after an egg donation. Although a woman may think that this is just too painful menstruation. In fact, asuric baby was cut out of her energetically. And then this asuric baby is sewn into another woman, because this baby needs to be born to someone. And this asuric baby is waiting for the usual fertilization already at that new woman, the formation of a zygote and throws child of that new woman out of its legitimate physical shell. And the asuric baby takes the place of child of that new woman at the stage of zygote formation. In fact, asuric baby expels from the zygote the master of this zygote and settles there. The asuric baby takes a place in physical shell of child of that new woman and begins to grow as her child.

Here is such a sophisticated scheme of the asuras for their invasion and assimilation among the inhabitants of different planets. It's the beyond technology. They do work not gene transfer techniques, not chromosomes transfer techniques, but souls transfer techniques. They are using technology at which a soul is thrown out of a zygote containing a complete set of chromosomes; and another soul is put to place of lawful soul in this zygote. The asuras do possess preternatural technologies. But in any case, this is violence.

This is violence against a woman who is forced to keep in her ovaries some asuric baby in some kind of energetical form. It is also violence against the soul who came to this couple as a result of an ordinary physical fertilization. This child was thrown out of his nest, out of his proper place and went to look for other parents in order to be born. This search may take a long time. It is also violence against this woman, because she has sex with the man she sees in front of her, but gives birth to a child by the man she does not even know and whom she has never seen, who was not with her at all, because everything happened there at the energical connectivity, in some energical way.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

She is giving birth to a child not by the man with whom she lives. And it is not clear what kind of personal proclivities will manifest at this child during its growth, because this child was conceived in fact by asur and is the member of the imperceptible invasion of asuras to this planet. Also, this is violence against her in the sense that if her man breaks up with her, then no one will take responsibility for her. Asur conceived this baby. Asuras sewed this baby into her and then abandoned her. Not anyone cares how she will live. This will be her problem. And it is unknown what kind of child is there, with what programs, with what abilities, with what, perhaps not the most pleasant, character traits. This is clear violence against this woman.

This is also violence against the man with whom this woman lives and with whom this fertilization was happened, because this couple was supposed to have a completely different child. They had to have a child who was attracted to this particular couple. But other child had entered into the zygote. Not their child remained in the zygote, but completely different. In the zygote was remained the child who was implanted into this woman as a result of this energy rape. There is violence against everyone. It's very bad. And if the asuras implanted into a woman the child who was not conceived at her? If this child was extracted from some other woman and then sewed into her? The woman into whom the someone else's child was sewn doesn't even know about it. This child was conceived by another woman with some asur, an energy way, without his personal presence, as a result of energy rape. After that this child was implanted into another woman. This child is nobody to this new woman, but she gave birth this child instead of the child who was actually to be born to her. That is, completely different personality comes as her child to her. Moreover, this personality is nobody to her. This new woman is used only as an incubator, a surrogate mother and then as the woman who raises this personality. But she thinks this is her child. The body of this child, of course, is the body in which her child could be. But this personality who is in this body is other personality. In this case, there is a monstrous violence against this woman and her husband. In this case, no room for personal liberty, no room for free will. In this case, there is the great disrespect for the desires of those people and using them merely as incubators and caretakers of these babies. The completely disrespecting for human life, a gross invasion of privacy and the declaring that asuras has the right to decide fate of other. Y'all understand how that's bad, right?

325. The reusable space shuttles to the spiritual world

I was thinking about it and I thought that our action «The reusable space shuttles» is good. We will take everyone who were performing this operation of stitching asuras into women and who was somehow involved in this. We'll take all of them from different planets. They had the audacity to decide fate of others, and now we will decide their fate.

I thought: those who will go during our second action to future lives, were contributing to the imperceptible introduction of the army of asuras into society on different planets, and now we will make them an army of grihasthas, family people. Srila Prabhupada wanted to create such an army, and it would be fair to make this army out of asuras at the second action. Srila Prabhupada said, «My Guru Maharaj has created an army of sannyases, and I will create an army of grihasthas». I decided that those asuras who were performing the operation to sewing asuras into women of different planets, in order to these women gave birth to those asuras as their children, did not take into account the desires of those women. Those asuras believed that they had the right to decide someone's fate, and now we will decide their fate. We will make of them an army of grihasthas, such an army of grihasthas as Srila Prabhupada wanted to create. We'll take all the asuras, who conducted the operation to sewing the asuras into women. We will take them together with all their squad, with all those who were in their artel and who somehow participated in this sewing into, and also we will take all the asuras who being in energical capsules, were sewn into women for birth at them. We will take all of them and make them real men.

I thought: it's a good assignment! Asuras are imperceptibly born at the inhabitants of different planets using this procedure. Among them are born also large asuras RA, who coordinate the actions of all the other asuras, pumping out of the inhabitants of those planets pious merits, thus acting as space pirates. If we destroy all RA at all those planets, there will be no one to coordinate the actions of the asuras at those planets. And if we destroy those who are able to perform this procedure of sewing asuras into women, along with those asuras who are still being in energical capsules inside women, it turns out that the asuras who will remain at those planets will not be able to do what they did before. After all, the great asuras RA coordinated all piratical activities to pump out pious merits from the population of different planets. These great asuras RA are able to somehow see everything through all their asuras and through other personalities, control everything and exercise their influence, like a spider in a web can hear the vibrations of all the threads of its web and immediately react. But if these big RA will not be and if there are no those who know how to infiltrate them into society, the asuras will suffer great damage.

I thought: the asuras at our second action were doing operation of stitching asuras into women. They were sewing asuras into women, and now they will be sewn to women like patches are sewn to a pocket of the trousers. These asuras will be as reusable space shuttles, reusable transport spaceships that pass like shuttles between earth orbit and Earth, delivering useful loads to orbit. The shuttle is launched into space using launch vehicles, performs in-orbit operations like a spacecraft, and returns to Earth like an airplane. And all these asuras at our second action, when they become the army of grihasthas, will be in the role of as reusable space shuttles. When they were asuras and performed the operation of stitching asuras into women, they sewed asuras transferred from asuric worlds into women of different planets. Asur, transferred from asuric worlds, was in an unmanifest state inside some kind of energical capsule. They were sewing this energical capsule inside the female organs. And now they will be as these energical capsules for mataji who wish to return to the spiritual world. These fighters of our army of grihasthas will be born, they will be sewn to some good mataji, that is, their destinies will connect, and he will carry her on himself, like a shuttle carries a useful load.

They will carry only useful loads, that is, they will carry only those women who want to return to the spiritual world, who will go to the spiritual world. They won't be interested in any other cargo, and they won't even look at it. They will create a protected space for their useful load, that is, for the mataji who wants to return to the spiritual world. This reusable space shuttle will live with her all her life, will help her in every way, do everything to make her return to the spiritual world in a favorable way. Not forcing her, but creating all the conditions for her return to the spiritual world in a very favorable way, protecting her from everything. And when she returns to the spiritual world, he will go to new born again, because his existence without a useful load is meaningless, because he exists only to send useful loads into orbit, into the spiritual world. And when she returns to the spiritual world, very soon after that, he will leave his body in some favorable way and be born again, and everything will begin anew, but with a new useful load. And so from life to life.

Our reusable space shuttles will carry only useful cargo, because returning to the spiritual world is very important. Once a devotee said to Srila Prabhupada, «Prabhupada, I would like to return here life after life and distribute your books». This sounds very nice, the devotee was eager to follow the instructions of the spiritual master, but Prabhupada didn't take it well: «What? No, this is Kali Yuga, you must practice Krishna consciousness very sincerely and not seek to return here. You must try to go home to God». And these matajas, useful loads, will sincerely strive to return to the spiritual world, and these reusable space shuttles will grant all possible facilities for this.

326. The first and only element for whole life

I wanted to imagine what it would be like. I remembered the movie «The Fifth Element», watched it all over again, did screenshots from it, and I drew the following picture using these screenshots.

Here, on planet Earth, some woman lives who want to return to the spiritual world. She sees that the material world is a place not for a gentleman, especially not for a lady, especially in Kali Yuga, because at Kali Yuga it is very dangerous to be a woman. And she says, «Krishna, I really want to go to You, to the spiritual world. Take me to You». She says, «Krishna, how will I get back to You? I am so weak... Maya is strong. I can't do this without Your help. Help me, please. Krishna, I am afraid of this world. How can I jump to You? I am afraid of falling and hurting myself. Help me, Krishna. You can help me. Send me help. Please». She says, «Krishna, I need Your help so much. The material world is a dangerous place. Especially for women. There is danger lurks in every shadow. Danger surrounds us at every turn. I want return to You, Krishna. Save me».

This is the right mood. The material world is a dangerous place, and Kali Yuga exacerbates this danger, because it is also a dangerous time. And this mataji says to Krishna, «Krishna, I surrender to You. Help me return to You, to the spiritual world. I believe You. I know You will help me». She appeals to Krishna: «Krishna, I've made up my mind. I am determined. Now I'm coming to You, to the spiritual world. Catch me! I commit my fate into Your hands». And she as if jumped to Krishna. She as if flies and says: «Krishna, I know that You can't leave me hanging out here by myself in my leap of faith to You, to the spiritual world. Anyway, I'm on the road to You. Catch me, Krishna! I'm Yours».

At this time, our reusable space shuttle, who in his past lives was an asur and who was sewing asuras into the women of different planets, has already been born, lives and waits for his useful load who will come into his life. Everyone says to him: «There are millions of women around! Why are you alone? You are so successful, so capable...» And he will be very well settled in life, because he will be born to good, successful enough parents to inherit all wealth, connections, and opportunities, in order to provide a protected space for his useful load, so that she, as in a protected capsule, flew to the spiritual world.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And everyone says to him: «You are so cool, but your life is passing you by. There are millions of women around, enjoy life, any woman will be yours, just beckon her. Seize the moment, enjoy. Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we can die. Get pleasure from your life and let everything be “Prime”! Live as you pleased, forget the passing time and make the most of each moment. You're a little out of the loop. You're behind the times. We must try everything. We guarantee the world's full of women just waiting for you». But he says, «I don't need millions of women. I need one woman. One perfect woman». And this is correct, because he is designed to carry only useful loads, only one load in one lifetime. His program prohibits taking on board useless loads. He has the right to take on board only the useful loads.

And for that he will have the function of protection from steps to the side. He will get a good unconditioned reflex, in order to he never cheat on wife and even afraid to think about it. If he will want to be with another woman, with a useless load, he will immediately get some very painful blow at the genital area, so that he immediately understands why such a punishment is for him, and he will be afraid to even think about other women.

And so our reusable space shuttle lives. He is a worthy man with well-settled life. He is a capable, successful man, but he is not wasting his life to useless cargos. He waits to meet with his useful load, when he will be sewn to this one perfect woman. He is waiting for this meeting:

I know the meet is destined.
There is only one love in the world.
I've been looking for her all my life.
And no matter how difficult the way is,
I'll find her someday
And I will rejoice at heart, «Hallelujah!»
Love is answer to everything,
And without love, there is no happiness.
I thank her for every moment.
She calls for, and I go for her,
No matter where, in heaven, in hell,
I say again, «Hallelujah!»

And, of course, the mataji to whom he is to be sewn has already destined for him. She has already said, «Krishna, I am coming to You». She's already flying to Krishna. She is already on her way to Krishna. And he lives in anticipation of fulfilling the purpose of this life of his. Everything has already been decided in advance: what mataji will be as his useful load for this life, the meeting is already having conceived in advance. Then, somehow, this theirs miraculously meet happens. He meets her at his way, and this reusable space shuttle, carrying useful loads to the spiritual world, says her:

— Madame, where are you going?

She answers him:

— I want to the spiritual world, to Krishna, of course.

— So you are at the right address. I deliver the most crucial cargos to the spiritual world. So, are we going?

She says:

— Is that true?! Do you know the way to the spiritual world?! Can you help me?!

— Madame, you can be sure. Bhagavad Gita is my favorite book. Srila Prabhupada showed me the way.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Indeed, he will read all the books of Srila Prabhupada, chant 16 circles of the Hare Krishna mantra every day, listen to Srila Prabhupada's lectures all the time, and know all this philosophy well. And he will have very good relations with Krishna's devotees.

And she says him:

— But I need to Goloka Vrindavana. I want only to there.

He says:

— Madam, I listen to Srila Prabhupada's lectures every day. You are perfectly safe with me. I have a nice, safe reliable car, it's full of gas. I'm the best driver.

She says:

— I need to go to Krishnaloka. I don't agree to anything less.

He says:

— It's no more difficult than driving a taxi.

Well, that's right; he will be customized for this. He was created specifically for this purpose, as such a space shuttle, a reusable spacecraft that carries useful loads on itself, delivering them to orbit, to the spiritual world.

He tells her:

— Madam, I'll drive you in the best possible way. You will not be disappointed. I'm highest level specialist at this. I drive fast, but carefully. I am a master of my craft. You are in safe hands with me. I'll take care of everything. Your comfort and safety is the most important thing for me. I will take into account all your wishes. Reliably, purely, comfortably, that's my credo. Your trust — my responsibility.

And after this miraculously meet, he thinks: «I had gotten a passenger, one of those who can't be denied». And it's correctly. This passenger he cannot refuse, because this is the useful load for which he was born, which he was waiting for, although he did not know about it. In the same way, we live and do not know for why we actually live, but everyone has some task in this life. And this shuttle's task is to take a useful load on Board and take it to the spiritual world. And he finally met this passenger. He thinks of her: «She is perfect... This woman is the most precious treasure that mankind has. She's perfect. She's the most beautiful». For him, she is the most beautiful, because she is his useful load that he has been waiting for so long. And he thinks of her: «She's worth giving everything for. I won't lose her».

And he tells her:

— Madam, I have everything to your return to the spiritual world in this life. I'm all yours. I've been preparing for this all my life. Give me a chance.

He tells her:

— I will not disappoint you. I'll do anything for you. Trust me. Here is my hand, in token of my pledge to you. I will get you to the spiritual world already this life. With me, you will be calm, comfortable and very cozy.

She thinks, «Lord, You have heard my prayers! You sent me this wonderful man. I thank You! I believed You would help me. Thank You! I will return to You, to the spiritual world! Krishna, I will definitely accept Your help».

Their relationship is developing, and he tells her:

— I need you so much.

That's right, because he is needed only to transport useful loads. He don't needed for anything else. And this useful load came to him. This cargo is vital for him, because otherwise his life is empty and completely meaningless. And so he got this load and says to her:

I've been looking for you everywhere.

You came to me from a dream.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I couldn't believe the miracle,
But spring is in my soul now.
I've been looking for you for a long time.
I've been in love with you for a long time.
You are a fairy tale in my life.
A fairy tale in my life.
A dream comes true.
I live for you.

And he really lives whole life only for her, because he is needed to transport her to the spiritual world. And every life he will be there for the useful cargo whom he will carry to the spiritual world. Those are the moments worth living for. Without this, his existence is completely hopeless, dead-end, dull, without colors, without sounds, everything is so empty and bleak. And in order to feel the fullness of life, that he is needed, for something, he must be with her, live for her.

And he tells her:

— I really need you. Because I love you.

And here will be the most interesting. He would really love her, with all his heart. In his heart, love for her will blossom like a flower. He never, in any life, when he was an asur, loved anyone. But he will drive her to the spiritual world, and he will love her with all his heart. It will be included in his specialization that he does not just carry this load on himself, but he really loves this woman. This is a living woman, a living person, and he is a man, and he will love her. Every day of his life, he will have such love... He has never had such love for anyone. He will feel that with the arrival of this woman in his life, the world has gained meaning for him, the only and unique. This will give his whole entire life meaning.

I remembered the book «Genome» by Sergey Lukyanenko. There tells about the fictional world of genetically modified people. There is such a character as the girl-spec Kim. She had two different main specializations. It's fighter-spec and hetaera-spec. And at the book was said that a fighter should kill without hesitation, without doubt, anyone who fits the definition of an enemy, and a hetaera should love. It is to love truly, selflessly, faithfully and purely, giving yourself to the end, and at the same time, instantly to go away, forget love, as soon as her services are no longer necessary. The hetaera-spec must achieve reciprocity; this is her specialization, the meaning of all existence. She doesn't need sex. More precisely, not only and not sex. She wants to be loved. She loves wholeheartedly, with all her heart.

And I thought these reusable space shuttles would have this specification. This shuttle will love with all his heart this mataji whom he will transporting to the spiritual world, and as soon as this is all over, as soon as his task is completed and she goes there, his life will come to an end, a full reboot will, and he will go to the next life. He dies again, is born again, and waits for the next useful load. He waits a new mataji, whom he will transport to the spiritual world. He meets her, because she has already been sewn to him in advance and they will only have to meet, and he will definitely fall in love with her with all his heart, because it is included in his specification. They will have true love every life!

And he tells her:

— I need you very much, because I love you.

And then she tells him:

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

— Driver, go on, then! To Krishna, to the spiritual world, to Goloka Vrindavana! You have to take me to the spiritual world right now. At full speed! Only forward! Just drive me, driver!

And he tells her:

— Yes, ma'am. Everything for you! I will drive you to the spiritual world safe and sound. I am grateful for your decision. Let's go!

Their relationship is developing, and she tells him:

— I'll never forget your help.

Because he immediately surrounded her with his care, completely protected her from of this world, surrounded her with his love. He made sure that her life was calm and that her way to Krishna was calm and easy.

And she tells him:

— I will ask Krishna to return you to the spiritual world when the time comes. I was so lucky to meet you... You are a gift of God for me.

And he tells her:

— I will love you and be with you on your way to Krishna, to the spiritual world. You're the closest person in the world to me. You're what I'm most thankful for in the whole world. I promise everything will be fine. I need you. I want to give you everything I have.

And he will be such an elite bodyguard.

And he tells her:

— I promise that you will return to Krishna into the spiritual world in this life. I will do everything for this. I will protect you from everything. I am ready to perform any feat for the sake of it.

And then everything is as it should be. Wedding ceremony, everything is beautiful. It's all arranged, a happy married life, good life, the harmony of a couple. They get passports where it is written that they are married. Pious merits are directed for the successful completion of this mission — her return to the spiritual world. A grihastha ashram, sex only in marriage, only for conceiving children, never without her permission.

They have a nice big house, there is no outside influence, and it is protected. And he settles everything, since he is a master of everything. He was a cool asur, was landing on different worlds in the unit of landing of asuras, and asuras wouldn't have let worthless coward into there. And since he was once the asur, it means that he is a cool specialist, and he will take with him all his abilities to adapt to life, to settle everything, in order to surround this mataji with care and provide her with a fully protected place. And if anything happened, he will settle everything, because he is a former employee of the elite unit of the asuras army, of the asuras` s landing on different planets, he is an expert in all sorts of tricks and ploys. And he will take with him all his skills into his future lives for the successful performance of mission as the reusable space shuttle.

They have a good protected space, a large comfortable house, and there are always some devotees of Krishna will be there, because since he will create comfort, comfort and all conditions for her, it is unlikely that he will always sit next to her, he will have to do business to earn a lot of money. In order for her to develop towards the spiritual world, of course, there must be devotees of Krishna with her, and also in order to ensure that his mission is successful in any case, so that she is always surrounded by Krishna`s devotees, who will do everything right and will help her.

And of course, with them will be the blessings of Shiva and Shakti, that is, the blessings of all devotees. Spiritual masters will come to home to these married couples, and they will go to the Holy places, help the devotees in some way, and they will gather a lot of blessings.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

They will love each other all their lives, and at the end, when the time comes for her to return to the spiritual world, he will tell her:

— I'm so grateful you for this wonderful life with you. Now it's time for you to return to the spiritual world. The time has come. Just go ahead and don't be afraid. Krishna is calling you to the spiritual world.

And she would answer him:

— I love you. It is good that Krishna sent you to me. You gave me the spiritual world. You are my best friend.

And of course, in a manner that is most favourable, she will go to Krishna, into the spiritual world. And he, as a reusable space shuttle, will end this life after a while, he will have a full reboot, and everything will start again. And so many lives of love, reciprocity, good relations with devotees of Krishna, pilgrimages to Holy places... He will gather so many blessings during these lives that Krishna will definitely take him to the spiritual world when the time comes. And these matajas, whom he will send there, will also ask for it. In short, the spiritual world is ensured to him.

And, as Hanuma said, «You will say thank me». All these asuras who were sewing asuras into women, so many lives will say thank you to me, but they will not know who they are saying thank you to. But it is enough for them to say thank you to Krishna.

327. Useful technical characteristics of our reusable space shuttles

The description of these reusable space shuttles reminded me of a freight transport company. We kind of organize with the use of these asuras such a company for the transportation of useful loads, that is, matajas who want to return to the spiritual world. And these asuras in our second action will be like vehicles for transportation. From this angle, I thought that they would ensure the complete safety of the cargo. He would guard her like the apple of his eye. And there will be individual transportation of goods, that is, he takes only one useful load for all life and carries it to the spiritual world. He carries her, of course, quickly, carefully, reliably. He carries quickly because there is no reason to delay. His task is to send her there in one lifetime, because Srila Prabhupada said, «This is Kali Yuga, you must practice Krishna consciousness very sincerely and not seek to return here. You must try to go home to God». He takes her, carries her, and returns her into the spiritual world in a favorable way in one lifetime. He will take her carefully to spiritual world. He will not put pressure on her or force her to do anything, but will surround her with care and protect her. And he will carry his cargo safely, because he will focus only on her and will be a reliable family man, a real grihastha. He will perform full accompaniment of the cargo, that is, he will fully provide all her needs, everything she wants, so that no desires remain.

I thought that time goes on, and these reusable space shuttles will be incarnated for many lives, and each time with the development of Kali Yuga every next life everything will be a little different, and therefore it is necessary that they constantly have an update of the system, an upgrade of their equipment. Therefore, I decided to give them a lot of very useful technical characteristics, one of which I designated excellent technical condition. They will have a very good body. They will be real men with a strong, good, healthy body. They will be successful men with a good financial situation, with very successful and worthy parents who will do everything for him and graduate him the best possible start in life, give him all the opportunities and open every door to him. His parents will give him the keys that will unlock to him all doors towards successful career in order to him be very well-endowed — so that he can provide everything for his mataji, his useful load. His parents will instill in him good habits, lofty values, and the highest respect for women. He will have an all-inclusive system. Everything that is needed will be included to ensure that this mataji is delivered to the spiritual world in just one lifetime, in a favorable way.

As the next their technical characteristic I assigned an impressive load capacity. He will be able to take any mataji on Board — ordinary women, and calm women, and unbearable women, that is, he will have a very large degree of endurance, patience, so that any mataji can be sewn to him. Because there are a lot of different types of matajas. And these reusable space shuttles will be able to take any mataji on Board, with any looks, with any body type and character. None of that stuff matters much. The important thing is that she wants to return to the spiritual world. Even if she is boring, monotonous, irritable or capricious, exacting, she will still be the best and most beautiful for him, and he will be happy and satisfied with her, and so will she.

As the next their technical characteristic I assigned the versatility, multipurpose of the design. After all, it is necessary that they can find the optimal solution in any situation for creating a good basis, for the implementation of their mission. For that is need a lot of money, a lot of useful linkages, a big good house, pilgrimages to Holy places, the blessings of spiritual masters, good communication with Krishna devotees. All this is necessary, and for that it is better to be well settled in life. After all, if you do not have money, then you will not go to any pilgrimages, retreats, or festivals. The digitization program of society and introduce total control are being implemented. You need to be very well settled in this world, so that you are not excluded from the system, so that you are not caught, so that you are not deleted from the electronic database as an unreliable citizen who is no longer a citizen. This should be provided so that they can adapt to any situation and be in good standing.

As the next technical characteristic I assigned their extensive technical capabilities, their equipment with the most modern, constantly updated equipment. Time passes and things change. The ways of making money and setting into a wonderful life, the realities of life are also changing, and these reusable space shuttles will have chic awesome powers of adaptability to different conditions. They will have the constantly updated software. They will have high degree of flexibility to respond to present and future. They will have a high adaptability to changing conditions. They will have the enterprising, activity, adventurousness, cool income-generating skills, and a high degree of flexibility. They will have the sensitivity, the ability to notice changes in society and to adjust to rapidly changing environments. They will have resourcefulness, the ability to read other people, see and feel their motives, feelings and thoughts, and predict their actions. They will have a strategic vision for making strategic decisions. They will have the ability to analyze the situation and information for productive interaction, for adequate assessment of the situation, and proper dialogue.

They will be very experienced, sophisticated, knowledgeable at all material matters. They will be very well settled in the material world. They will have many useful acquaintances with the right people, network of contacts. They will know people in high places. They will be masters at finding loopholes, workarounds, and optimal routes and at finding better opportunities. Maybe they will attain a brilliantly education, acquiring amongst other things intimate knowledge of the world's major languages. An educated and trained individual is in a better position to respond and adapt to the changing needs of society and the developments taking place around him. And they will be like that. Of course, they must have a good learnability, the ability to quickly find the necessary information and use it to their advantage. Of course, they will also have good heredity, from their parents in each of their lives. And I also decided that if they have any abilities that they received during their lives when they were asuras, to settle well everywhere, then they will take these abilities with them in their future lives when they will be such vehicles for useful load. This is necessary so that their useful load has a fully protected space, so that she can calmly go to the spiritual world and be sure to return there in a favorable way. These reusable space shuttles will be able to do everything and will be able to adapt to any situation.

I gave them the next technical characteristic, it's a responsible approach. When they were asuras and performed the procedure of sewing asuras into women of different planets, they did not take any responsibility for those women. They were not interested in how these women would live, how they would raise these babies who would be born by them and who are not really their children, who were supposed to come to them, but asuras, who just like hatched little cuckoos threw out the child who came to them, and instead him sat in zygote of this child and began to grow there, and then was born and began to sap strength of the mother. But in their future lives, these asuras, who did not take responsibility for any woman, will take full responsibility for their useful load.

When I imagined all this, I was very satisfied with their future, and I thought that I should make more these reusable space shuttles. I decided that I should make an offer to all asuras to take part in this action. I thought that maybe some asuras realized the futility of being in the material world, want to escape to the spiritual world and see a brilliant opportunity for this, namely, to become such reusable space shuttles carrying useful loads, shuttles carrying matajas who want to return to the spiritual world. And in the 291st series (at 29:53), I told the asuras that I was expanding this action and inviting everyone to join it. I thought it would be an army of real grihasthas, real men, they would be very cool and maybe many of the asuras want to be like that.

I decided to include in this action all those asuras who will express this desire. They will be real men, examples for everyone. And maybe many men will look at them and want to become the same, real men. They will have love for their wife, this mataji, every day of their lives. And he would treat her like a goddess. They will respect each other. She will go to the spiritual world. He will not know this, but he will be customized for it, he will have this point in the program: «This mataji is going to the spiritual world. At the end of this life, she will go to the spiritual world», and there will be respect. And by being sewn to her, he himself will develop well in Krishna consciousness. After all, in order for him to return her to the spiritual world, he himself must be in this. And how many blessings he will gather, including of these matajas whom he will carry into the spiritual world. And so these reusable space shuttles will also get a return to the spiritual world, when all the useful loads have already been sent to the spiritual world and only the non-useful loads will remain, when the time comes for Kali Yuga to enter into its full rights.

I thought: maybe some asuras would like to join this army of grihasthas. And I thought that Krishna could fulfill their desire. I thought that if some asuras thinks that such a great opportunity should not be lost and that it is necessary to take advantage of it, then we should give them this opportunity. Of course, asuras may think that they can do lots of things. They can perform the manipulation of consciousness, that is, they can influence on the minds of other people at a distance, invisibly and insensibly. They can scoop out the pious merits from others and have a good life thanks to that. They can toss their sinful reactions into others and not to work off these karmic reactions. And many asuras may think that they are protected by this and can endlessly enjoy being in the material world, but this is not the case. This is the material world, and even one who was born with extraordinary abilities can lose them if he does evil, and what will become of him?

I remembered Lona, who was the eraser of the Asuras. Those Asuras who fell into her hands were so happy, but she pumped everything out them, and after a while they became the impotents as male, as individuals, and as financial units. They lost everything and after this life went into a disembodied, ghostly existence, as spirits, having in their supply only their sinful karma, only a minus. And I also remembered that I sent a large group of asuras to the hellish worlds for fact that they were taking good pious women as wives and at the energy plane of existence were plugging a lot of other asuras onto her during their marital sex, pumping all pious merits out of her. They thought that by emptying the piety account of this woman's and then throwing her into the lowest place of life, they would live very well, but they were sent by me to the hellish worlds. Their plans were not destined to come true, despite all their incredible powers and abilities.

I also remembered that I took a large group of asuras who used women as the trash cans to throw off their sinful bad karma, their terrible troubles and deaths. And those asuras were forced to take all the sinful karma that the spiritual masters took from their disciples. Just as those asuras threw their bad sinful karma into women, so we had thrown a lot of sinful karma into these asuras, and they had went to the hellish worlds. They thought they would avoid their negative reactions by throwing it into others, but they got even more. And their tricks did not save them from meeting with the yamadutas.

And I also remembered that we took a large group of asuras, who were performing the big withdrawals of the pious merits from piety account of women, throwing them to the bottom of life, making them victims, dregs of society dirt, and wretched souls who are abused in life. And we have concentrated all the curses that should have gone to these asuras for such a crime, and poured into these asuras, and they became the women with a plight for the rest of their stay in the material world. Those asuras were men, with penis. They had a privileged position in society. They did not feel sorry for women, and as a result, they became women that no one would feel sorry for.

All these asuras had very extraordinary abilities. After all, to plug several asuras into marital sex and pump out the pious merits of a woman, you must have very extraordinary abilities. We, the ordinary people, can't do this at all, we don't even know about it. But even such abilities can be lost if you do evil. I told the asuras that they should take advantage of such an excellent offer, because this offer will be the last time and there will be no more such offers.

I told the asuras that those who protect the Dharma receive the protection of the Supreme. I told them that anyone who protects a woman who goes to the spiritual world will receive protection of Krishna. And I told those asuras that if Shri Ram will want to look for the pleasure, then I can become such a useful load whom one of them will carry to the spiritual world. I have made it a condition for all these asuras that in their future lives they will have to fulfill the four regulative principles given to us by Srila Prabhupada: no illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat-eating, no gambling, and they will also have to chant 16 circles of the Hare Krishna Mahamantra every day, regularly read Srila Prabhupada's books, listen to his lectures, and maintain good relations with the devotees of Krishna. I told the asuras that they should agree to these terms, since it is in their interests, and that they should join to our second action as volunteers.

328. Operation «You are breaking my balls»

On November 7, 2019, I was wondering when the asuras would pay me for the fact that Shri Ram had offended me so much by saying that it is three times better at the street, that is, that Lona, the eraser of asuras, is much better than me. Of course, she is better than me. She had everything provided for catching large asuras that like sweet. And she had plenty of sweets. She was the hottest woman. I couldn't compete with that trap for the asuras. But she would have erased Shri Ram, and nothing would leave of him, not even enough for vultures. After Lona's work with him, no one would have remembered him. I saved him from being completely erased, but he hurt me so much then. And when on November 7 I was thinking about when we will hold our second action, I, as usual, asked the online Oracle about it.

The Oracle told me this: «Forgiveness. Get rid of anger and resentment and feel free and healed. There's no need for you to forgive mistakes. You have to forgive a person in order to find peace yourself. You have a lot of negative emotions, the card calls to clear your soul. The angels understand that these feelings may be justified, but they ask you to look at how high a price you are paying by accumulating all this anger. Let go of all the pain, resentment, and anger of the past. When you forgive yourself and others, your karma is cleared of the burden of past mistakes».

I looked at this Oracle's advice and thought: it's time to forgive Shri Ram for what he told me then because of Lona, the eraser of asuras, that at the street is three times better. After that, I accidentally spilled green paint and soiled my right hand, the whole palm. Thus I realized that Yes, indeed, we got the green light for this action. I was mentally prepared for this. The next day, November 8, 2019, was Utthana Ekadashi. I thought that this is a very auspicious day for spiritual growth and gaining piety, especially since it is the month of Damodara, Karttika. And this is the month of Srimati Radharani. This is a wonderful combination... I thought that these reusable space shuttles will carry a matajies, a useful load, to the spiritual world, and this day is the most favorable for this action. On the morning of November 8, I began to do my business, put on my headphones, turned on my favorite playlist, let my hands go into a spontaneous dance during some song, and began formatting chakras of these asuras.

I looked at my inner screen and saw many asuras. My hands danced to the music, and I imagined that in sync with these movements of my hands I would reformat in each of these asuras their chakras and adjust the energy structure of their energy body. I thought that even if I am here on the planet Earth, I can energetically reformat the chakras of some asuras who are not here at all at this time, and who are even on other planets, and even on different planets, but I can do something with their energy bodies simultaneously in all of them at the energy plane of existence just by the movements of my hands here, in real life, through the worlds. My hands act as pointers, projecting my actions at the energy plane of existence right inside them, although I am alone and I am here, but there are many of them and they are all far away from me and all on different planets. It's some sort of remote control, a global structural adjustment of their energy body.

When I remotely formatted their chakras like this, I remembered that we have to perform an operation called «You are breaking my balls». I thought: now is the time to perform this operation. I remembered that in summer I was told to give them even more, but I didn't know what to give them more, and that time I wanted to listen to my Gurudev's lecture «Don't waste your time». There he told that some man who worked in one of Twin Towers of the World Trade Center in New York once went for a walk with his mistress, instead of work at the office, and at this time two airplanes hit the Twin Towers. The Twin Towers were deliberately targeted and brought down. The wife of this man was very worried, but he was having fun with his mistress and did not know anything. And when the Twin Towers had already collapsed, his wife called him and asked in fear and anxiety where he was, and he told her that he was sitting at work, as always. But his office no longer existed. The World Trade Center towers were destroyed by terrorist attacks. And when he came home, he was faced with great difficulties. A wife with a rolling pin was waiting for him. In the lecture, my Gurudev said that Russian rolling pins are harder than American ones. Due to that I realized what exactly should be given to them even more. It is necessary to set such function to them that they never to cheat on wife and that they are even afraid to think about it. It is necessary to created in them an unconditioned reflex. Just like at Pavlov's dogs or at a rat in a labyrinth. It's like scientist electric shocking a rat when it messes up in a maze. I realized that I needed to do something similar. If he begins to wish some other woman, then at him something so very painful will turn on and he will immediately be afraid. They should have an unconditioned reflex: other woman is great danger. It hurt a whole lot.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I remembered that we should do something to them so that he would be with this mataji and not even think about the others because he should carry only a useful load. He's not allowed to carry useless goods. I thought that I should make it so that if he will want another woman, then his male parts will be in horrible, agonizing discomfort. And he will have a feeling of «You are breaking my balls». And I started setting this function «You are breaking my balls» at them. Before that, my hands were dancing, formatting chakras of these asuras, but then I stopped my right hand, put my index finger vertically and imagined that my finger was at the very bottom of them. And I imagined that a fountain of fire burst from my finger into each of them, like a firework, and began to fill them completely from bottom to top.

And then I imagined their genitals and threw iron thorns inside it. I scattered a lot of small sharp prickles inside their genitals, and I thought that these small sharp prickles would be activated whenever he will has sexual arousal to other woman and whenever he will wish to be with other woman. These thorns immediately dug into the tissues of their genitals everywhere, and then I began to stick these thorns deeper in order to they feel hurt. And then I began to tear the very tip of their penis and had tore it into small pieces. I thought I had to make it hurt them and make it cruelty, so I tried my best. And then I actually was twisting their balls. I imagined that I took one their testicle with one hand and another testicle took with the other hand, and I mentally began to twist their testicles with all my strength in different directions. I was squeezing their testicles and twisting it like wringing the laundry.

I remembered Mirzakarim Norbekov. He said that one night he was walking down the street and some hooligans approached a woman and began to molesting her. He had imagined that he had an third hand at the energy plane of existence. He mentally extended this third hand and imagined that this third hand took testicles of the hooligans and squeezed it. He just mentally squeezed their testicles, and those bullies immediately fell behind from that woman and ran away somewhere. I remembered this and thought: we will do exactly the same. I squeezed testicles of these asuras, and then twisted it and thought: Mirzakarim Norbekov well done, well thought up about the third hand. I twisted, yanked and squeezed their testicles in different ways, and then «The Hanuman-chalisa» turned on in my playlist, and I began to drive a large glowing rod into tip of their penis. I drove this rod into their penis for the entire length of the rod. Razor-sharp spines started to enter out from the rod and starting to cut into the tissue of their penis. I imagined that it all remained there inside it.

And then I mentally placed my index finger vertically under their crotch, that is, under the place between the scrotum and the anus. And I mentally kept my finger there and imagined that a large, horrid looking abscess spouting would form in that place. I remembered that some time after my meeting with my second husband, he had a huge abscess in that place. It was a nasty furuncle. It was longer than my index finger and wider than the thickness of my thumb. I've never seen such huge boils before. Because of this very painful big furuncle, he could not get up, sit down, or lie down; there he had an unbearable pain. This boil slowly grew, became more painful. And when that abscess was be right at its peak, I squeezed out it. He was in a lot of pain.

I thought of that furuncle, mentally placed my finger vertically under their crotch, just where my second husband had that furuncle, and imagined that if this shuttle will has a desire for some other woman, the same painful and huge furuncle will immediately begin to grow there at him, that it will be impossible for him to get up, sit down, turn around, or lie down. I thought that this is very suitable for this function «You are breaking my balls», since boils begin to hurt immediately, but are growing for a long time, and this is such a place that it is painful to even touch.

Then I thought that I might need a shuttle like this myself, one of them. I thought that I should make sure that he would never look at others — that I would feel safe. I'm selfish, and mostly I did everything for myself. I thought, what if this Shri Ram decides that the grass is greener somewhere, that there are better women somewhere, if he meets someone else and want to go be with someone else? There, of course, he will get a big giant letdown, bad luck, because we have already demanded recognition of his incapacitation in this case, and even demanded compensation for moral damage in the form of all pious merits of those madams. I thought that if this happens, I should take precautions, protect myself: what if I need such a shuttle? I thought that then I would like these reusable space shuttles to never look at others in order to I can be able to live in peace and return to the spiritual world. And that's why I tried to set them a very good function «You are breaking my balls».

I imagined that I had inserted my two fingers at the beginning and end of their penis. I kind of plugged both sides of their penis and started to inflate it, as if air with a large pressure, turbocharging, was coming out of my fingers and inflating their penis. And when their penis got very swollen, I imagined that red, very painful pimples were popping up on its surface. These pimples began to inflate, then began to burst and turn into festering sores and boils, and I began to pour salt onto them. I put a lot of salt onto these irritating abscesses, and I tried very hard to make sure that these reusable space shuttles wouldn't has never been with other women, no way.

I remembered a moment in the series recorded before, the 305th. There was a screenshot at the very end of the series that said: «And I thought: this is a sign for me. Everything turned out successfully. We have done away with this giant, and he said to me as friend, "Here's my hand, it's the hand of your friend. I will do everything to help you return into the spiritual world"». I remembered this screenshot and thought: it says: «This is a sign for me. Everything really turned out». I had thought I'd in fact done it all. They have already given me a sign about this from the future — that they already see it in the future: it's already done. And I thought that if this is already done there, in the future, it means that I will succeed and I just need to do it somehow. And after that, I put some things in order and went to the store. I bought a persimmon, grapes, came home and decided: right now I will send this group of asuras into their future lives. And I began to wash the dishes.

329. Real men

The first thing I turned on the mantra Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram mahavishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham» and let fire from space into them. I imagined myself high up in space, and them somewhere far below as a small speck. And I fired from space a furious fire into them. Then blue-gray streams shot up from them. I as if was standing high above them, they were somewhere far below like a small speck, I mentally was letting out a powerful fire into them, and from there at the same time these gray-blue energy flows were rushing to me.

Then I turned on my Gurudev's kirtan. I decided that I should continue to carry out the operation «You are breaking my balls», and I continued to torment them. I was inflating their male genitals, was squeezing, sharply inflating and sharply compressing it, so that they were in a lot of pain. Then I found the pressure point, pain button in their phallus, somewhere near of the tip, and also I found somewhere at root of their phallus the point that is responsible for pleasure. I was pressing the pressure point and immediately was pressing the pleasure point, in rhythm of the kirtan. I was pressing these buttons alternately and together. I thought that we should create in them a stable unconditioned reflex «You are breaking my balls» that this pleasure is associated with pain. I was pressing their point of pleasure, and the pleasure that came out naturally due to this was superimposing onto the pain that filled them completely when the pain button was pressed. And at them was creating the pre-conscious reflex, a subconscious protection marker that this pleasure is dangerous for them, as it is inextricably linked to the terrible pain.

Then I imagined that their phallus inside became as empty pipe, and I became small and stood right there inside that empty pipe and began to sing kirtan right there as in a hollow tube, as in an empty underpass. I imagined there a lot of sharp metal thorns there again, and began to alloy thorns with the tissue of this phallus in rhythm with kirtan. I began to make an alloy like two different metals are fused together, so that their molecules merge with each other. And thus I fused together the tissue of their phallus with these spines. I thought that it was necessary that this alloy should always be there. It is necessary that, with any sexual arousal to any other woman, these thorns dig into his phallus and that he is very painful. After that I burned everything there completely, and then I drove the metal rod into their phallus. Razor-sharp spines started to enter out from the rod and starting to cut into their phallus. And I created a very high temperature in spines. In short, I gave them a good inoculation against wish of an illicit pleasure. I tried to do them operation «You are breaking my balls» very well.

After that, I thought that they would love their wife, their useful load. He will not just to carry her. He would love her with all his heart. There will be a lot of love. He would love her all his life. I thought that for this purpose we should turn on the farewell kirtan of Bhakti Tirtha Swami «jai jai radhe jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan-dham». I made them sing this kirtan. From somewhere in space, a wave went to them, as if the sound of this mantra poured into them from there in a pulsating wave. And then I turned on another smooth, melodic kirtan about Radharani, and they were singing this kirtan with me. I thought they would love their mataji, their useful load, treat her as a representative of Radha, as a little Radha here on Earth. I thought that maybe one of them would help me. And I thought I wanted him to love me and treat me like a little Radha, so I turned on this kirtan and made them sing all this kirtan with me.

And then I turned on the melodious Sri Krishna-pranama and was singing with them and thought that if I had to use their services, I wanted them to treat me with the same love and tenderness as in this bhajan. And at the end of the singing of this Sri Krishna-pranama, they all stretched out their hands and started reaching up, and it was clear that they were ready, they could be sent. I immediately turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham». Then I started a powerful fire again inside them and burned everything there. Then I got inside them and started to sing this mantra, and their entire energical pipe at top began to crumble down layers. As at the thaw the melting snow falls in chunks, in the same way their energical pipe began to slide down in large chunks, and their entire pipe had become transparent, and then covered by light blue transparent gloss.

After that, I opened the heart chakra to them, just by a mental glance, and then I opened their chakra that is located under it, Manipura, which is responsible for the manifestation of will, coordination in society, socialization, and active actions in socium. Then I steered up and opened all their upper chakras from top to bottom, and then I looked at them with my inner gaze, and all their chakras opened at once and shone with a beautiful light. The picture was gorgeous. I saw that they all stand as statuesque male figures and all their chakras at the same time are burning, rotating beautifully and sparkling with different lights. I looked at them and thought: these are real men. Suddenly the tears began to flow and sobs shook my, and I thought: I don't have this. And this made me really sad. But I thought: I must go on.

I turned on the Narasimha Kavacham. They became a bunch of balls floating as in weightlessness, and they looked at me with a kind of expectation. A funnel had already appeared from above, and from somewhere below, directly from under them, a large stream of some gray-blue jets rushed, and then directly from them some scarlet-red jets rushed up into that funnel. And then all of a sudden a stream reached out from them to me and wrapped itself around me, and a connection has formed between us. I look at this and think: what is it? How many times have I sent them, but not once has this happened. It was as if a hand had reached out from the mass and was holding me. I couldn't do anything about it. And when it came to the last couplet of Narasimha Kavacham, «iti shri-brahmanda-purane prahladoktam shri-narasimha-kavacam sampurnam», I spun the quickly vortex in the place where they were all. This vortex was spinning like a top. I connected it with this funnel, and they all quickly flew away.

But I kept feeling that connection. I thought maybe someone was holding on to me and didn't want to leave. I turned on the last couplet of the Narasimha Kavacham again, imagined this vortex again, but this connection did not disappear. Then I took a huge pair of scissors and began to cut that connection. And then I saw that from this funnel, a sort of piston descends from the top down and moves to the place where all of them were. I had an Association with chewing gum that is pressed into a surface, everything that is there is glued to the chewing gum, then the chewing gum along with everything that is stuck is removed, and the surface remains clean. Here it was the same. This piston gently pressed into the place where they were all, and then slowly went up into the funnel. I thought that if someone had lingered here before, this piston would take them with it. And I saw that the piston was moving higher and higher, and this connection was stretching between me and him. I began to cut this connection with all my strength, the piston went into the funnel from above, and it closed. That was the end of it.

I had grilled potatoes, began to eat it, and remembered the hand that had held me and wouldn't let go. I thought I'd made them real men. They saw that when I saw that they had become real men, I thought I didn't have that. They saw that I even had tears in my eyes at the time. I thought that they, like real men, showed their attitude to a woman and somehow supported me with their hand. And I thought that if this Shri Ram will want to try his luck somewhere with someone, then I already have insurance for this case. Someone there held out a friend's hand to me, held me and didn't want to let go.

When I sat down to eat potatoes, I went on the website VKontakte to watch the new series of «Sita and Rama». And as soon as the website opened, at the very top was someone's post with the words: «Congratulations! We did it! We won! Everything is perfect». I thought: this is a sign for me. Just as I had a sign from the future through a screenshot at the end of the 305th series with the words: «And I thought: this is a sign for me. Everything turned out successfully. We have done away with this giant, and he said to me as friend, "Here's my hand, it's the hand of your friend. I will do everything to help you return into the spiritual world"».

I thought: I was told that we had succeeded. We did all right. Every life this reusable space shuttle will take his a useful load on board, will help her in some favorable way to return to the spiritual world, and everything will be successful. I thought: I secured myself insurance.

330. Distorting mirror

On November 4, 2019, I got the idea to hold a third action, and then it was decided that we will take the old lions of the asuras, their elders, authorities at different planets and in their asuric worlds. But what we would do to them, and what they would become, was not revealed to me. And even I was told that I should not try to figure it out. And I just gave up. The preliminary action for reuniting separated eternal couples was already completed. We already held the first action «Saifa, the maximum destruction, the big wave» and the second action «The reusable space shuttles» as retribution to asuras because of the first and the second woman of Shri Ram. But I did not know what those old lions in the third action would become. I was a little worried that the Kartika month was ending. This year it ran from October 14 to November 12. We held the second action on November 8. It was only four days until the end of the Kartika, and I was told not to think about what those old lions would become. And the next day after the second action, on November 9, I went to unwind and go shopping.

I went to a store, picked up a lot of things to try on, and went to the fitting room. I began to try on all things in turn. Whatever I try on, I looked terrible in any outfit: I am a fat cow and nothing else. I'm ugly, I'm just a scarecrow. I was suffering so much in this fitting room... I was looking at my ugly reflection in this mirror and thinking: «What happened to me? I need to go on a diet. I don't like my reflection in the mirror». I was very disappointed when I came out of this store. I go and think: Yes, Shri Ram was completely right when he was leaving me for other women, especially the third woman. She was beautiful as Aphrodite, born from sea foam, simply lovely sight. She was like

Venus, the goddess of beauty and Love. She has a firm young body, does not hesitate to undress, is proud of herself and likes men. I thought: Yes, indeed, I am ugly, I can not compete with this beauty in any way, and Shri Ram was completely right when he went off with her, because, as they say, men get turned on by what they see.

I was going from this store and suffering. I didn't get anything there, although there was a large selection. And even there, after the fitting, I went to the consultant girl and asked her if other buyers had complained that the mirrors were wrong: in any clothes you look in the mirror as fat and ugly. She said that nothing like that happened, and looked me up and down with an appraising look. I had felt even fatter. And even though I was in a very bad mood, after that I still went to another store, because it was marked in the list for shopping.

There I also chose a lot of things, I go to the fitting room, put it on, look at myself in the mirror, and in the mirror there is a beautiful slender girl. And not so fat, and not at all ugly, and not even a scarecrow. I look at myself in the mirror there and think: «I am delightful woman... Shri Ram is wrong about me. He's a fool. He doesn't appreciate women's beauty». I put on my other clothes and look in the mirror: I'm not fat at all! I am a dream woman! I bought a lot of things there, and even a flashy warm purple coat. I don't like the color purple very much, I like the red color more, but I looked at that coat and thought: I want try it on. I looked at myself in this lovely coat: I'm slim in it. I bought it there and became happy with myself. I go home and think: it's strange, the stores are different, the clothes are about the same, but in one store I'm fat and ugly as the scarecrow, and in another store I'm very attractive and slender, pretty as a picture.

And I thought: it's not me hideous, but the stores are like that, it depends not on me, it depends on the store. They say, what's the point of blaming the mirror if you don't like what you see? But in this case, the mirror is to blame because the face is the same, the clothes are also approximately the same, but the reflection in the mirror is different. In the first store, I was as a scarecrow in any clothes I tried on. I immediately was taking this the clothes off with disgust and was thinking, «No, that's disgusting!» But in another store, I looked all right in any clothes, even I looked beautiful. And I thought: it's not my fault. This is all fault of a distorting mirror.

331. The disengaging from me the man who was sewn on to me

I go from the second store with purchased warm coat and clothes and I think: this Shri Ram, who is my eternal husband, is like the first store: in any clothes I am just some old heifer in his eyes, and he is attracted by other women who in his eyes are beauties in any clothes. But I'm ugly in his eyes, in his mirror, in his fitting room. Shri Ram is like the first store. And no matter how much I try to look prettier, I still would be not what kind of woman he likes. Because in his mirror, in his fitting room, in his store, I in any kind clothes am unattractive. Although he is my eternal husband.

And I thought: but some man from my past lives came to me and then I was shown that he is still alone and very upset that I am with Shri Ram, and not with him. And he even fought for me to be with him and not with this Shri Ram. He said to me, «Shri Ram has always deceived you, and continues to deceive you, and will always deceive you. Don't be with him. Please be with me, I have loved you for so many lives. I've always loved you. I'll always love you, no matter what happens. You are the dearest creature in the world to me. Please, I beg you very much, choose me». But I chose this Shri Ram because I had to give him a chance. I give him a chance and see what he does.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And I thought: for that man, I was like in the second store, in any clothes a beauty. And I thought about the action just held, with reusable space shuttles. There, too, someone took a great interest in me and hugged me so well and didn't want to let me go. I thought, maybe they just don't see me now, what a fat cow I am, but Shri Ram sees me, so he knows that I am such ugly, and that's why he is constantly drawn to those who are not ugly. And those men didn't see me, they somehow feel something, but here, in this physical body of mine, they didn't see me. And they see me not as I am now, but as a kind of pretty girl. And I thought: which one of them is right and what I'm really? Shri Ram sees me a fat ugly, like in the first store. That man from my past lives sees me a pretty woman, like in the other store. Which image of women is the real me?

I thought: where I'm really? In that store where I look hideous in any clothes, or in another store where I'm a real beauty? And I thought, maybe that man from my past lives sees me so beautiful not because I'm like this, but because he's kind of sewn on to me. Like those reusable space shuttles. Every life they will be sewn on to some good woman, Mataji, who is a useful load, and she will always be the most beautiful for him. I thought: maybe that man was just sewn on to me and that's why he always sees me as beautiful, no matter how hideous I am.

I thought: if this is the case, then we should disconnect him from me so that he can see an objective picture. Maybe then he will not be drawn to me, and he will not feel so lonely and will not suffer so much because he lost me? Maybe then he will find his real happiness. Maybe that's why he's so lonely that a connection has been established between us and he is ligated to me. Maybe he looks at me with such an admiring look because he just is sewed on to me as a patch is sewed on to jeans, and that's why I seem beautiful to him in everything I wear? On the one hand, this is good. But on the other hand, if I will be with Shri Ram, what will happen to this man? Then he will want only me and see beautiful only in me, but in others he will not see it. But this is wrong, so I decided to release him.

And I thought, Yes, we're having a Kartika month now. This is a very favorable month when wicks are offered for Damodara. And this is the month of Srimati Radharani. Srimati Radharani fulfills all desires if you refer to Her with all your heart. And I thought: I should ask Srimati Radharani and offer a wick on behalf of this man. I came home from the store, sat down at the table, made wicks of toothpicks and cotton wool with pieces of tulasi. I soaked wicks with melted butter ghee, and offered the wick to Damodara-Krishna on behalf of that man. After that I offered the wick on behalf of Shri Ram, because that man had to go through a lot of very stress because of him. I offered the wick on behalf of Shri Ram, in order to Krishna would forgive him. Then I offered the wick for myself, as I am the culprit of everything. And then I remembered about those asuras who will go at our third action because of the third woman, — about the old lions, the elders of the asuras. I thought that I should also offer the wick to Damodara-Krishna on behalf of them, because I offered wicks for Damodara on behalf of all those whom we sent into their future, only these old lions have not yet been included among them. And I offered the wick to Damodara-Krishna on behalf of them, too.

And after that, I thought that if that man from my past lives was sewn to me, then I should cut him off me. I took a blank piece of paper and wrote the word «connection» in capital letters on it. I thought that this word is denoting the connection I had with the man who was sewn to me. I thought it would be a good idea to just burn this connection along with this piece of paper with the word «connection» written on it. I set this piece of paper on fire, put it on plate, and was watching how this piece of paper burn and this word disappear.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And then I thought that if those old lions also have something bad that prevents them from becoming good, then we will also burn all these curses, all these barriers. I took a blank piece of paper and wrote the word «curses» in capital letters on it, thinking it was the curses of all those old lions, and I burned all their curses in the same way, along with this piece of paper and along with this word. I thought that maybe Krishna would then reveal me what they would be in their future lives, when they would serve Krishna for many lives and then return to the spiritual world.

That's what my shopping in just two stores led to. In one store I was hideous in any clothes, and in another store I was a beauty in any outfit. And because of this, I thought that I should unplug from me the man who sees me in any clothes a beautiful woman, because he is simply sewn onto me and therefore can not see me not a beauty.

332. Purpose of the wonderful knife

On the evening of November 9, I offered wicks for Damodara on behalf of these old lions of the asuras because I was afraid that I might not send them during the month of Kartika, since I could not discover who they would be in their future lives. This month of Kartika was supposed to end on November 12, with only four days of this blessed time remaining. And on the evening of November 9, after the shopping, I offered wicks for Damodara on behalf of old lions of the asuras in the hope that if we do not have time to send them during these four days, then at least I will offer wicks to Damodara on behalf of them and they will receive the good. As soon as I offered wicks for Damodara on behalf of them in the 307th series and finished recording this series, a screenshot came out on my desktop, with the words «The Emperor is ready to play big». I looked at this screenshot and thought: I'm really good, I did the right thing by offering wicks on behalf of them, now I will be shown what they will be, and we will finish this. And then there was a screenshot with Gandhari holding in her hands eye ribbon and looking at it. I looked at this picture and thought that they show to me here, that now my eyes will be cleared and I will clearly see who those old lions of the asuras will become. I relaxed and just waited for it to be revealed to me.

Before going to bed, as usual, I lying in bed read a book. At the time, I took at the library three of Philip Pullman's books — «Northern lights», «The Subtle Knife», and «The Amber Spyglass». I had already read the first two books of this trilogy and was finishing the third book, «The Amber Spyglass». And just in this time I was reading Chapter 23 «No Way Out». I got to that part yet where Lyra and Will had entered the world of the dead, and that night I was reading about their travels at the world of the dead. I got to the stuff that Lyra is talking to her friend Roger, who is in the world of the dead, and she said the following:

«But now I think I know. And finding you again is just a sort of proof. What I got to do, Roger, what my destiny is, is I got to help all the ghosts out of the land of the dead forever. Me and Will — we got to rescue you all. I'm sure it's that. It must be. And because Lord Asriel, because of something my father said... 'Death is going to die,' he said. I dunno what'll happen, though».

And then there was this dialogue:

«What are you going to do, you and the girl?» said Tialys.

«Open this world and let the ghosts out. That's what I've got the knife for».

I looked at these words and thought: Yes, now we need to release these spirits, who are the asuras, from the world of the dead. The world of the dead is the material world.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And they must be released from the world of the dead into the world of the living, into the spiritual world. But then I thought: but it is said that my purpose is to release all spirits from the land of the dead. I need to free all of them, not just these old lions that we will send in the third action.

I remembered operation «Saifa, the maximum destruction, the big wave». I remembered how I was destroying RA from different planets and through them was routing a powerful fire into all those asuras under them. And I thought, these big old lions, the elders, also have a big network of many other asuras. I thought that I should ensure that our third action also will cover all of them, since I was told in the book that I should help all the ghosts to come out from the land of the dead forever. In the book Lyra said, «I got to help all the ghosts out of the land of the dead forever. Me and Will — we got to rescue you all. I'm sure it's that. It must be». I thought that Lyra's words directly related to me: we got to rescue all. As Will said, «That's what I've got the knife for».

Will had a unique knife that made windows between worlds, and he could get from one world to another world through a window cut with this wonderful knife. Will could walk on all worlds with this knife, and he decided that he would make by this wonderful knife a slot from the world of the dead into the world of the living and will return all the ghosts to the world of the living through this slot between the worlds.

Further in this book I read the following:

«They sat silent for a few moments, and then Tialys said:

“This will undo everything. It's the greatest blow you could strike. The Authority will be powerless after this”.

“How would they ever suspect it?” said the Lady. “It'll come at them out of nowhere!”»

When I read this, I thought that it would be very cool to take not only the old lions of the asuras, but also everyone who is somehow connected with them, who gets their guidance, who they lead. This will be a very severe blow for the asuras, like a bolt from the blue.

I continued to read this book. Evil harpies came to Lyra and Will and began to interfere with them, and the harpies were offered the following:

«Then», said Tialys, «let's make a bargain with you. Instead of seeing only the wickedness and cruelty and greed of the ghosts that come down here, from now on you will have the right to ask all the ghosts to tell you the stories of their lives, and they will have to tell the truth about what they've seen and touched and heard and loved and known in the world. Every one of these ghosts has a story; every single one that comes down in the future will have true things to tell you about the world. And you'll have the right to hear them, and they will have to tell you».

But the harpies thought this was not enough, and the chief harpy said:

«That's not enough. We want more. Under the old laws, we had our own business. We served faithfully — diligently carried out the order of the Ruler, and we were respected for it. Yes, they were afraid, Yes, they hated — but they also respected them. What happens now? Will the spirits pay attention to us if they can simply go back into the world? We have our own pride, and you must not discount it. We want to be in the place of honor! We need our business and our responsibilities-this will ensure us the respect we deserve!»

I thought that these old lions have great authority among the asuras and are used to receiving deep reverence, respect and gratitude. Yes, they were feared, Yes, they were hated, but also respected. I looked at these words in the book “The Amber Spyglass” and thought that here I am told clear about the asuras in our third action — about the old lions of the asuras, about their elders. From these words, I saw that they want to be in the place of honor.

I realized that those old lions of the asuras, when they learned that we were taking them into our next action, said to me in the words of the harpies in this book: «We need an honorable place! We need a duty and a task to do, one that will bring us the respect we deserve!» I thought: this is reasonable. Those old lions were great authorities among the asuras, they are able to somehow guide others in the certain direction. And I thought that if we give them the right path in order to they can guide others in the right way, than they can do it and will do it successfully. I thought it is the right decision and these old lions of the asuras will be like that.

Further in the book were these words:

«They shifted on the branches, muttering and raising their wings. But a moment later Salmakia leapt up to join the Chevalier, and called out:

“You are quite right. Everyone should have a task to do that's important, one that brings them honor, one they can perform with pride. So here is your task, and it's one that only you can do, because you are the guardians and the keepers of this place. Your task will be to guide the ghosts from the landing place by the lake all the way through the land of the dead to the new opening out into the world. In exchange, they will tell you their stories as a fair and just payment for this guidance. Does that seem right to you?”»

I looked at these words and thought: they show me clear, right in the book, what those old lions of the asuras will be like and what they will do. They will be guides from the world of the dead to the world of the living, that is, they will be guides from the material world to the spiritual world. It will be very important task that brings them honor. They will perform this task with pride. And they will be the guardians and the keepers of this duty. It's an honorable place. It will be a duty and a task to do, one that will bring them the respect they deserve.

Their task will be to guide the ghosts from the landing place by the lake all the way through the land of the dead to the new opening out into the upper world. That is, their task will be to guide the souls embodied in the material world from the landing place, that is, from the planets and worlds in the material world where they live, through the entire land of the dead, that is, through the entire material world, to a new exit to the upper world. And this is an exit to the spiritual world, and not to the higher planets, because at the higher planets, too, life is not eternal, because the higher planets are part of the world of the dead. This is also indicated by Lyra's words: «What I got to do, Roger, what my destiny is, is I got to help all the ghosts out of the land of the dead forever». Forever. Life at the higher planets does not last forever, since souls fall from there when their stock of pious merit runs out. And the higher planets also end their existence along with all their inhabitants, when the entire material world winding down into an unmanifested state before the start of the next creation of the material world.

But these old lions will be guides of souls to the world of the living, where there is no death, that is, to the spiritual world. They will help souls get out of the land of the dead forever, that is, return into the spiritual world. Their task will be to guide the ghosts from the landing place by the lake all the way through the land of the dead to the new opening out into the world. And where is our new way out into the spiritual world? Here, on planet Earth. Here Srila Prabhupada used the wonderful Subtle Knife to cut a window into the spiritual world. He took the wonderful Subtle Knife, the mahamantra Hare Krishna, and with this knife cut a window from the world of the dead to the world of the living, from the material world to the spiritual world. And it is here, on the planet Earth, that the new exit to the upper world, to the spiritual world, is located.

And these old lions will be guides. They will guide the ghosts from the landing place by the lake all the way through the land of the dead to the new opening out into the world. They will guide souls through the entire material world from their place of stay here in the material world, through the entire material world to a new exit to the spiritual world — for the birth of these souls here on the planet Earth, to these souls can use this window to the spiritual world. They will be guides, leading those souls who want to return to the spiritual world. They will be guide these souls to a new exit to the spiritual world, to the window that was given to us by Srila Prabhupada and which is the greatest value, because in the role of guides of souls to this window were chosen the greatest asuras, their old lions, their greatest authorities, their pride and their greatness.

They will be guides from the world of the dead. The world of the dead is the material world. Death reigns here. If someone thinks that this is not the case, then they are simply under an illusion. The material world is the world of death, samsara. Mortality here is 100 %. And these old lions will be guides from the world of the dead to the spiritual world, and this will bring them honor and respect. This will give them an awareness of their value, their importance, and their necessity.

This definition of the future of the old lions of the asuras came to me on the evening of November 9. There were three days left until the end of the Kartika month, there was time for a third action. I looked at the calendar and thought that the best day for third action would be November 12, the very last day of Kartika, Tuesday. And in the 308th series, I offered wicks for Damodara on behalf of those asuras who will go with these old lions to their future, where they will be guides of souls from the world of the dead to the world of the living. I offered the wicks to Damodara on behalf of the old lions of the asuras and on behalf of those asuras who will go with them, so that they all become good guides of souls from the world of samsara to the spiritual world. They will help souls to leave the world of the dead, because the world of the dead is a very sad place where no one needs you because you are dead. Everybody only needs what you have. But if you lose the right to own something, then you will be of no use to anyone. This is a very sad phenomenon.

I thought it would be a fair and just payment for Shri Ram's telling me that when an old lion growls, all you hear is a wheeze. This will be a good price for his telling me that I am old for him, even though he, as my husband, received me at our heavenly wedding, thereby vowing to always be with me, in joy and sorrow, in sickness and in health, through the good times and the bad, in felicity and adversity, until death separates us, and even more, forever, because we are an eternal couple and our relationship does not depend on the time of our stay in the physical body. He should always be with me, but he said I was too old for him.

This will be a fair and just payment for the fact that Shri Ram, being my eternal husband, told me that I am old for him and that he needs others, young women, although in fact he doesn't need anyone, because he is dead. The dead don't need anything. But he thought he is alive. He's not an alive, he's dead, and nobody wants him. After all, when a nun was offering everyone a photo of Tsar Nicholas II at chapel of Saint Matrona the Wonderworker of Moscow in Moscow, no one wanted this photo, even me. I then thought: «He's dead. Why do I need him, dead?» And everyone in the queue turned their eyes away from that nun who continued saying, «Who needs a tsar? Take the tsar!» No one needed this tsar. So is Shri Ram. He's dead. He is in the world of the dead. Everyone's dead here. And nobody wants him here. And he needs no one.

But he thought it would be good to enjoy with that young woman, who was the third take. And it is necessary that the lonely spirits of the depths now pay in full. The asuras will pay for Shri Ram telling me that I am old for him, even though I am his eternal Shakti.

333. Unexpected usefulness of a second foreign language

And so the last day of this Kartika began, on November 12, 2019. I had set up for our third action with the old lions in advance and had saved up a lot dirty dishes for this day. As soon as I woke up, my dad called me. This was the beginning of our third action, because my dad started asking about my children, in particular about their success in learning a second foreign language. Since this year, a second foreign language has been included in the school curriculum. To English was added German, with very strange teaching methods for second language. Children have never heard German language, they do not know it, but they have been given textbook without a smooth system of mastering the language from the alphabet and gradually to reading simple words, and they must read, translated and understood large sentences.

Children do not know the alphabet, do not know how to read words, but they already have to translate large texts and must know numbers up to 1000. And they are given tasks to tell in German about themselves, about their family, although this year they have German from scratch and although there were only a maximum of 18 lessons. It's not clear why was added a second foreign language if they don't know the first foreign language. More mother tongue instruction are needed, but was added the second foreign language, with such an innovative method of language acquisition.

My dad called me in the morning about this, because I had complained to him about it the previous week. And he was asking me for 15 minutes who came up with this. I was saying I didn't know. He kept asking me why children need a second foreign language, because one foreign language enough. He finally made me very angry, and I told him that this was done in order to make the children feel even more stupid and defective. Because you has little foreign language proficiency, but was added the second foreign language. You are still even letters not know, but already need to speak, and translate, and already count up to 1,000 by heart.

But my dad did not let up and kept shouting into the phone, «Why they added a second foreign language? What kind of pests did it?» I told him that school curriculum at our school was much simpler and clearer, but now school curriculum is very complex and confusing. Children feel like idiots with such a school curriculum. And when add a second foreign language and such a strange method of learning that you do not know the letters yet, but already have to speak this language fluently, with such a scanty number of lessons, you will definitely feel defective, mentally retarded.

But none of my explanations calmed my dad, and he kept shouting: «Why did they add this second foreign language?» And then he started demand: «Call the minister of education, ask him why they added another foreign language to children and why they teach children thus». I told him: «Which minister should I call?» He shouted: «To minister of education, the most main! Call him right now!» I told him: «Daddy, I'll do everything as you say», and I thought: «Don't spoil my mood early morning». And he shouted: «Call right now! To the minister of education! To the most main thing! Demand! Let him explain to you why they added another foreign language». I told him, «All right, dad, I'll call right now».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And I thought: I was told through my dad that the decisive moment has come, right now we need to do the third action. Right now, we need to send the old lions, the most main ones of the asuras, to their future lives. And I thought: right now we'll hit them. Dad said, «Call the minister and demand right now», and I told him, «OK, dad, I'll call the minister, the most main one right now». And I thought: really, we will destroy the most main asuras, right now. And I immediately went to wash the dishes and eliminate the most main of the asuras, their elders.

When I started washing dishes, at the first I began to sing a song about the lonely spirits of the depths:

Our radio operator does not sleep at this night.
He goes crazy because of Morse code.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Only the iceberg above us is shaken by the Moon.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Lonely spirits of the depths,
We received in full.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.
Our stars faded, and now the deep dark.
Under the keel half a mile to the bottom.

I sang the whole song, I was extremely motivated... My dad put me on edge, got me in a right state. He knows how to drive me into rage. And up there, they know about it, and they took advantage of my daddy to get me enraged, because in the morning I was listless, indifferent to everything and thought: «How will I have done away with them? I don't even want to think of it». Up there saw that I am too lazy to engage this affair, and they riled my daddy up real nice. He began to make phone calls to me and demand. He drove me to the point where I turned on this song about the lonely spirits of the depths, going to furious myself, and thought: «Lonely spirits of the depths, now you will pay in full, right now».

I immediately turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra, «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham». Usually I stand above them somewhere high in space and emit a powerful pillar of fire into them, but this time I didn't it. I didn't get up over them in space as a snake or anything else, and I didn't let fire into them. This time I had stood downstairs of each of them at the same time and began to sing this mantra in order to mantra burned them all itself, and then I somehow found myself inside each of them, and in them the raging fire began to burn from the bottom up. Then, from somewhere above inside them, a large blue tunnel appeared and filled them all.

Then I turned on my Gurudev's kirtan. The kirtan lasted for 20 minutes, and all these 20 minutes they sang with me, with my Gurudev, and with the devotees during this kirtan. I was washing dishes at the time, I was really psyched. I looked at them on my inner screen: they were standing somewhere below, and there were a lot of them. I thought it was all those elders of the asuras with their considerable staff. They sang kirtan and looked up with deep longing, and it was clear that kirtan struck a chord with them. And then suddenly they became blue glowing singing stars emitting the sounds of kirtan around them as a blue radiance piercing everything.

There were many of them, and suddenly they became as one big star, that is, each of them was as a star and at the same time all together were as one big blue star, and from them there was a radiance in all directions, and through this radiance the sound of kirtan, the mantra that they sang together with my Gurudev, spread in all directions.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I thought: Yes, they will be guides of the souls from the world of death to a new exit to the upper world, the spiritual world, and they will spread around them this radiance, this purity, this call to souls who want to escape from the world of death.

Then I turned on the bhajan «tumi bhaja re mana tumi japa re mana om shri ram jaya ram japa re mana» performed by Manish Vyas («Oh, mind, always worship (bhaja) and chant (japa) the name of God! „O Sri Rama! Glory to Sri Rama!“ — my mind sings»). I thought of Shri Ram and felt somewhere in my solar plexus, in the heart chakra, a clot of longing for him, which Shri Ram does not allow me to open, so that I do not burst into tears. When sometimes I try to feel this longing for him, Shri Ram blocks it, and I can't touch this longing for him. But now I remembered that sadness, and I kind of formed a bridge between that longing for him and those old lions that were a blue star and gave off a glow. I saw that they had connected to this sadness and that they also were feeling so shrill, deep and all-encompassing sadness.

I thought I was lonely without this Shri Ram, and I wanted them to feel their loneliness in this material world and the longing for the spiritual world, for Krishna. And all the while they continued to emit a blue glow around them, like these stars. As soon as they connected with my longing, they began to emit the Hare Krishna mantra and this longing for the spiritual world, such a shrill sense of loneliness in this material world that you are so alone in this world, and when you connect with this longing, the tears stream from your eyes and the whole world seems empty to you. They began to emit the Hare Krishna mantra along with their radiance, and this feeling of loneliness, this longing for the spiritual world.

334. Guides of souls to a new exit to the spiritual world

Then I turned on the bhajan «Shri Ram Jay Ram Jay Jay Ram» by Chris Parker. This bhajan also bring such a sweet feeling of longing, a feeling of love in separation. I was singing this bhajan and was remembering one place in the 308th series (at 14:50) where under my face and a photo of Tsar Nicholas it was written «on Vaikunthas». I thought it was written about Shri Ram and me. We were a couple, together at Vaikunthas, and we will go back there together. We have our place there. Maybe we will go to Goloka Vrindavana, this is also the spiritual world, Vaikunthas. But we will go to the spiritual world, because of Vaikunthas means the spiritual world. I was singing this bhajan and thought that these old lions will be guides of souls. They will transport souls from the world of death to a new exit to the upper world, to the spiritual world. They will help souls return from the material world to the spiritual world.

I remembered the words from the book “The Amber Spyglass”: «Then», said Tialys, «let's make a bargain with you. Instead of seeing only the wickedness and cruelty and greed of the ghosts that come down here, from now on you will have the right to ask all the ghosts to tell you the stories of their lives, and they will have to tell the truth about what they've seen and touched and heard and loved and known in the world. Every one of these ghosts has a story; every single one that comes down in the future will have true things to tell you about the world. And you'll have the right to hear them, and they will have to tell you». I thought that everyone to whom these old lions will help reach the new exit to the spiritual world would tell them the truth about what they saw and heard, what they touched, what they loved and knew in the upper world, the spiritual world. From these words, I realized that these old lions of the asuras, who were their elders, will be guides of souls from the world of death to the new exit to the spiritual world, and at the same time they will listen to what these souls are like telling about what they were in the spiritual world and what was there. That is, these old lions will continue to be in the world of death, and those whom they will guide will somehow tell them about from where they came to here, to the material world, from which planet Vaikunthas, from where they fell here and what did they do there.

I saw exactly this in the words from the book "The Amber Spyglass". They will have such a blessing, such a role. Everyone they will help to return to the spiritual world will tell them the story of their real life, in the world of the living, in the spiritual world. They will tell these guides of souls the truth about what they once saw and heard in the spiritual world, what they touched, what they loved and knew there. The book said: «Every one of these ghosts has a story; every single one that comes down in the future will have true things to tell you about the world. And you'll have the right to hear them, and they will have to tell you». And from this I saw that these guides, who were old lions, would have the ability to understand the speech of those souls. Thus some hidden meanings are woven in our ordinary words, and the asuras can see these meanings and can learn about us even what we do not know about ourselves, since in this way we manifest ourselves at the level of our higher self. And thus we're disclosing ourselves in such hidden meanings interwoven in our ordinary speech. This is how we tell asuras everything about ourselves. And these guides, who were the big old lions of the asuras, will have the right to ask everyone whom will be escorted to the new exit to the spiritual world, what they did there, what they saw there, what they loved there, what they knew there. And everyone they will escort from their landing place across the land of the dead to the new exit to the spiritual world will somehow tell them about it, so that those guides of souls will understand it all. And this way they will know that the spiritual world really exists.

They will guide different souls there, and each of these souls will tell a different story. There, in the spiritual world, everyone was in his place, on some of the Vaikunthas. And everyone has information about it, here it's just hidden, blocked, so that we don't come into contact with it, so that we don't burst into tears and die of this longing in an instant, because we need to live and enjoy. We all want to enjoy here, and so that we can do this, we don't have contact with that memory of how we were in the spiritual world. But all those who will return to the new exit to the spiritual world with the help of these guides of souls will somehow tell them their stories about the spiritual world. These guides of souls will hear many true stories about the spiritual world, because they will help many souls to return there. And when I was singing this mantra «Shri Ram Jay Ram Jay Jay Ram» by Chris Parker, I thought about it.

Then I turned on the farewell kirtan of Bhakti Tirtha Swami «jai jai radhe jai jai shyam jai jai jai vrindavan-dham». I thought about Bhakti Tirtha Swami, about his team, which he has somewhere between lives, and when I thought about them, high in space a portal opened. This portal had connected with these old lions who were standing below and were like a shining star which was spreading around them in all directions a bright blue glow, the sound of a mantra and longing for the spiritual world. And from space through this portal into them went some kind of flow.

I thought that Bhakti Tirtha Swami has some kind of team between lives, and they are such guides of souls, they help souls to somehow rise and somehow go to the spiritual world. And I thought these old lions would do something like that. They will also help; they will also be guides of souls, like Bhakti Tirtha and his team, there, between lives. But it was not clear to me how they would do it: would they incarnate or not? I was confused by the fact that when I told about these old lions, I didn't say that they would be born here on Earth. I thought: what they would be, these old lions, and where will they be? Will they be born here on Earth? Will they live here? Maybe they have a completely different mission? What guides of souls will they be? And where will they do it? Maybe they will be guides of souls from the world of death, from some lower planets, and will lift souls to here, to Earth, so that they can return to the spiritual world? How will they do their job as guides of souls?

The answers to all these questions I saw later in the words from the book "The Amber Spyglass": «Your task will be to guide the ghosts from the landing place by the lake all the way through the land of the dead to the new opening out into the world». These words showed me quite clearly that they will guide souls from their landing place, that is, from the places where these souls are as if were landing, that is, incarnating, where they live in the material world. They will collect these souls from different planets and worlds of the material world. They will guide them through the entire land of the dead, that is, through the entire material world. And they will guide them to a new exit to the upper world, that is, they will guide them to Earth, because it was on Earth that Srila Prabhupada opened a window, a new exit to the world of the living, to the spiritual world.

I realized that these old lions will not be born and live here on Earth. They will not be any spiritual masters, mentors, or curators here on Earth. They are unlikely to be born at all. They will gather from over the material world, from different planets those souls who want or need to be returned to the spiritual world, and now job of these old lions is to transport those souls from the world of death, from the material world, here, to Earth, to their new birth, to a new exit to the upper world. They will carry souls from different parts of the material world to here, to Earth so that they can be born here, so that they can return to the spiritual world, because here, at Earth there is a new exit to the upper world, to the spiritual world. Here on Earth is the window to the spiritual world. And this window was opened for us by Srila Prabhupada. The boy in the book "The Amber Spyglass" by his wonderful knife cut a window from the world of the dead to the living world and opened to the spirits languishing in the dark world of the dead, the way up, into the bright world of the living. And Srila Prabhupada similar way opened for all the souls in the material world a new gateway into the world of the living, into the spiritual world. And so many guides will work, transporting those souls who want to return to the world of living to this new exit there, to the spiritual world. What interesting secrets were revealed to me with the help of my magic videos and wonderful clues...

With their help, I discovered that we have been in the spiritual world already. Some say that souls who are in the material world have never been in the spiritual world, have never fallen from there. But in the words from the book "The Amber Spyglass", through which was opened the future of these old lions of the asuras, I was clearly shown that the souls who are in the material world, were already once in the spiritual world, because those souls who with the assistance of these guides will come to a new exit to the world of the living, will tell them their true stories about that world of the living. And they will tell them about what they've seen there have heard, what was touched, what was already loved there. That is, they were already in the spiritual world, and each of these souls already has its own history there.

Some say that souls who exist in the material world have never been in the spiritual world. Let them say what they want to. But in our third action, we took the old lions from the asuras, and I was told quite clearly about them that those souls who will be helped by those guides-lions to reach a new exit to the world of the living will tell these guides true stories, as they once were there, in the spiritual world, where they will now return.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And they have already seen something, heard something, touched something, and loved something there. If they weren't there, in the spiritual world, then they wouldn't have these true stories. If they weren't there they would not have anything what they saw, heard, and loved there. Then they would have loved nothing and known nothing there. If they had never been there. For some, this is not an argument, but for me, it is an indisputable argument, because it happens in my novel, during the unfolding of my plan, created by me and my team before I was born in this body of mine.

After that, when I with these big old lions of the asuras were singing the last kirtan of Bhakti Tirthi Swami, I thought that I've gotten tired of they a lot and I should stop messing with them and get them away as soon as possible. I turned on the Narasimha Maha Mantra «ugram viram maha-vishnum jvalantam sarvato mukham nrisimham bhishanam bhadram mrityur mrityum namamy aham», stood among them down and lit inside them a fire. And this fire was burning, and everything inside them was completely burned down. Then everything at top of them fall back to earth as ashes, and from the bottom of them a long blue glowing rod slow moved out and went somewhere high up.

Then I turned on the mantra Narasimha Kavacham. I looked at them from somewhere above, from far space, and they began to turn into small glowing balls, one by one fly out from where they were, fly somewhere up and gather there in a bunch. And then a funnel formed from above, to where they all fly away, and it linked with them by some kind of stream. They began to soar in this stream, slowly and smoothly ascend it and fly away up into the funnel. And this happened long before the last couplet of Narasimha Kavacham. They gradually rose in this stream between the funnel and them, floated smoothly up this stream, as in weightlessness, as in space, and flew away into the funnel. And when it came to the last couplet of the Narasimha Kavacham, the funnel spun like a tornado, and all of them, along with that had not yet left by that time, blew away into the funnel. And with that, it was over.

They flew away into that tube, and they will be the guides of the souls. They will not be born here on Earth. They will be guides of souls from different planets of the material world. They will ferry these souls across the material world to Earth in order to these souls can be born here and receive the mercy that Srila Prabhupada gave us with the use of the window that he opened for us here on Earth. And I learned all this from Philip Pullman's book "The Amber Spyglass", because in it was told me who these big old lions would be. And it was my magic videos that helped me understand this.

And these magic videos of mine revealed to me that those souls who are in the material world were in the spiritual world, and these guides of the souls will bring them back to where they were once in the spiritual world, and these souls will somehow tell them the stories about the place where they were, how they were there, whom they loved there. And these guides of the souls will understand this, and they will know that Yes, the spiritual world actually exists. And when the time comes — when the window opened by Srila Prabhupada here on Earth has already completed its mission and Kali Yuga enters the phase of its complete domination — then those old lions who will be guides of the souls will return to the spiritual world. They will hear so many stories about the spiritual world, will help so many souls to return into the spiritual world through this window opened by Srila Prabhupada that Krishna will take them to the spiritual world. All this was opened to me by my magic, wonderful videos. Thanks to them, I got so many realisations. No one could reveal this to me, but they did it. Truly, the energies of the Lord are inscrutable.

335. My magic videos

My videos are alive. Moreover, they are magical. They can talk. I used to think it is me talking in my videos. How naive I was! Now I see it's my videos talking through me, I'm just their tool. Or the world is talking to me through these videos. So much has been told to me through them...

I started recording these videos in the spring of 2017. At that time I had no idea it's not me recording these video, but they dictate to me the development of the plot and reveal to me the secrets of my distant past. How much I didn't know when I was starting to record my videos, and what woeful revelations came to me through them.

I found out that I am a real woman, that is, a woman who was a woman in the spiritual world and who here in the material world is born only as a woman. For me it was just a shock, because I always thought that we are souls and can be born both men and women. But when I was recording my videos, they revealed to me that this is true only for those souls who were male in the spiritual world. Here in the material world they can be born both men and women, and it is said about them that if a woman will fulfill her dharma of a woman and a wife, then in the next life she will be lucky to be born a man.

That's true. If a woman fulfills her dharma of a woman and of a wife, then in the next life she may be able to be born as a man, but this applies only to those women who actually are eternal men, that is, who in the spiritual world were male but for some reason were born as a woman.

And now they can be born as a male as a result of their righteous behavior. But I'm not one of them. I'm not that woman who can get a chance to be born as a male. And all because, it turns out, I am an eternal, primordial woman. I can be born only as a woman. Even as a result of the most righteous behavior. Because in the spiritual world I had a female nature. I was woman in the spiritual world. That is why I can be born only as a woman in the material world. I am eternal, a real woman.

This is beyond my understanding and my agreement. I can't accept this concept, it's too strange for me, but during the recording of my videos, the revelations that came to me were convincing me of it. Yes, to some extent they were able to convince me of this, but, to be honest, not completely. it's absolutely preternatural idea, it's too much even for me, even though everything that came to me during the recording of my videos, which were actually recorded by themselves, said that I am a real woman. And I have my eternal husband, my eternal soul mate.

This concept of the soul mate in my understanding has always been a myth, and now, after two years of recording self-expressed videos, I look at this concept with distrust and cautious, but my videos gave me a lot of confirmation that eternal couples are existing and that, it turns out, it most directly related to me. Well, it's all very strange, but I have to at least pretend that I'm treating this idea graciously and favorably.

And these videos revealed to me that I have an eternal husband and that I have come to him in this life to give him a chance to return with me into the spiritual world. This revelation is beyond my comprehension. I can somehow think that I have my eternal husband, but is it possible that we can approach to each other, in this innumerable ocean of souls, who are in the Brownian motion in their journey at different parts of the material world? Is it possible to meet your only soul mate in this endless ocean of lost souls?

Even here, on the planet Earth, the probability that two people, making up two parts from one two-part puzzle, somehow accidentally found each other among seven billion people, is negligible. But is it possible to these two parts, scattered on different worlds of the boundless material world, suddenly by some miracle meet at one point and again become a coherent whole? That's a pipe dream. That sounds like science fiction.

This does not come within the scope of my understanding when I try to expand my view of the world beyond our Solar system, beyond our dimension and the form of our existence. So I'm very confused whether to believe to these my videos which in fact were leading me and gradually were opening the veil over my own past.

Some people try to find out who they were in a past life, what they were doing there, with whom they were. I completely had zero interest in that, but I have been forced to take my look there, into my distant lives, in which, as my videos were convincing me, I lived. This is hard for me to accept and somehow give my consent to the fact that all this was and it was with me. I don't believe that. Seem to be, I have a very fertile imagination, but what can I do if my videos miraculously were opening up my past, my present and were showing me the way, to where, it turns out, I go long ago, many lives.

How many secrets hidden from us were revealed by my simple-looking videos! Moreover, these videos were revealing these secrets gradually, sparing my feelings so that their avalanche would not bury me underneath. Yes, my videos are not only magical, but also live. They so neatly, lovingly, with such compassion, were revealing everything to me... I am grateful to them for their charity, for their concern, for their sensitivity and for their love.

Season 11. Unconditional surrender

336. Cancellation of the contract in the Asuric landing

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I realized that some Asuras had made Shri Ram their bodyguard. It can be understood that I am a charioteer, a leader, through whom the signs of the Universe are carried, and these signs go to someone who has some connection with me. Shri Ram is very lucky that I am such a charioteer, the guide of these signs. He sees everything that happens in my life, and this is a projection on what's going on with him, and because of this he can see what to put to get the benefit, and what to avoid to not get on the cap and not lose all, who better to be, and from whom better to stay away what to do and what not. And some Asuras decided that it is necessary to make my signs go to them and protect them. They somehow connected to Shri Ram so that my signs would go through him to them.

I didn't know anything about it when I was living a normal life in my physical body, but at the level of the higher self, I could see it, and from the level of the higher self, through these screenshots, I told these Asuras that they were fools, because I would absorb them. I said to them, " I am very much displeased that you have the audacity to use Shri Ram and me to protect you! I will devour you all! My signs will show you the wrong things. If you follow them, you will lose everything. Your wealth will float out of your hands. You will remain homeless beggars. And you will be completely defeated. You will be gone. I will devour you all!»

When I realized that some Asuras had the audacity to make me their bodyguard, using the signs carried in my life, I wanted to kill them all. I wanted to imagine them on my inner screen and let my wild fire go at them so that they wouldn't be there, and then I thought, let my signs destroy them themselves. If my signs are really coming at them and if they don't stop, then let my signs absorb them and everything will happen by itself, and I won't have to do anything about it. Everything will happen by itself, I won't even know about it. It's just that my signs will tell them to do things that will cause them to lose everything and put themselves at risk.

Then I understood what my words about Dhrishtadyumna meant. In the first seasons of my novel, I talked about some Asura who saved me in the life when Shri Ram was made an Asura. There I said from the screenshot with Dhrishtadyumna that Shri Ram had received a loyal reliable friend and powerful protection in his person, that he was of a brahminical nature, had a high status and great blessings. I told him that he would never be disturbed by burns and that he was the only one who could kill some big guru Drona that no one else could kill. When I said this, I didn't understand what it meant, but now, as time has passed, I understand what it was about.

I realized that this means that the Asur can kill, that is, stop me. None of the Asuras can do this. In these words, I saw that none of the Asuras has any power over me and none of them can do anything with me. I can only be controlled by the Asur who saved me in that distant life when Shri Ram was made an Asur. I also realized that this Asura can't be affected by burns, that is, the frenzied fire that pours out of me when I destroy them.

I also realized that it was in that life when this Shri Ram was made an Asura that he fell away from me and ran to the asuri woman who was called to seduce him so that he would become an Asura.

A lifetime before that, we did something very bad to some sage, because of which Shri Ram was cursed that he would be childless, and I would be alone, without a husband. And when we were reincarnated in the next life, we were together, but we couldn't have children. We were husband and wife, but the curse was already working, and we couldn't have children.

When I was talking about Shri Ram's first wife in this life, I said that he abandoned her at the level of his higher self and sent her on a transfer to other men, just from the thought that they do not have children. He thought that with some other woman he would have children.

And when I described this story, I understood why in that life, when Shri Ram was made an Asur, he still went to that woman. It was because we didn't have children. In a previous life, some wise man cursed us that I would be alone and he would not have children, and we were born together again, but the curse was already beginning to work: we could not have children, and he thought that maybe it was me and some other woman he would have children. And when that asuri woman appeared on his horizon, just to remove protection from me, so that some Asura would have the opportunity to play with me, Shri Ram went with that woman, thinking that with her he would have children. Here's what I learned when I reviewed the fall videos.

Then I found out what promises I released Shri Ram from in September 2017 after I sent the teacher Shri Ram and some big Asura who had no body and was tending the minds of others, whom I called Shepherd, I don't love you, to future lives. Then I told the Asuras that either they would cancel all the promises that this Shri Ram had made to them, or I would cancel them all, that is, I would simply deal with everyone to whom he had given any word, with everyone to whom he owed anything, and send them all to their future lives. As they say, no person — no problem.

Then I gave the Asuras an ultimatum that if they did not quickly hurry up and cancel the promises made by Shri Ram to them, then very soon they would end their current Asuric existence and be sent by me to their future lives. I told them then not to delay their decision, as I wouldn't be waiting long, and then over the next three days I received a steady stream of thank-you letters. From everywhere I suddenly began to write that they thank me, thank you very much for the wonderful gifts, with the words»I will definitely return». So I understood then that the Asuras understood the gravity of the situation and canceled all the promises of Shri Ram. Because I gave them a choice without a choice: either they will cancel those promises themselves, or I will remove them and in any case there will be no one to keep those promises to.

At the time, I didn't know what promises I had released Shri Ram from, but now I understand. I released him from the so-called service in intelligence, from his obligations to perform all that he should do, being part of the Asuras landing on our Earth and in General on different planets of the material world. When Shri Ram was still in the Asuric worlds, he performed some severe austerities and received the blessing of Shiva to go to all the worlds to look for me, that is, his eternal Shakti, his eternal soul mate. But how would he go looking for me? He enlisted in the landing of Asuras on different planets of the material world, where Asuras are born to the inhabitants of different planets and live as the inhabitants of these planets and do their abominable work.

Shri Ram has signed a contract that he will do whatever is required there for the common good of the Asuras. And when I canceled all the promises that he made to someone, it turns out that I released him from this service in intelligence, from service in the Asuras landing on different worlds. I didn't know it when I gave that ultimatum to the Asuras, but now I understand it.

337. Outstanding generosity

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Also this spring of 2020, I discovered why Shri Ram in September 2016 not only siphoned off all my pious services, but also threw other people's troubles and three other people's deaths into me. Shri Ram himself revealed this to me. It is clear that if there is a garbage can, it is good to throw your troubles there in order to avoid these troubles, get rid of sinful karmic reactions. This is understandable.

But Shri Ram then just wanted to get rid of me and improve his situation. And to do this, it was enough just to siphon off my pious merits, to withdraw them from my piety account to your own. Such a large infusion of piety into his account would have served both of these purposes-both to remove me and to improve his position. This would be enough to get rid of me, because as a result, I would gradually or quickly lose everything I had and fall to the bottom of life, and then end up and go into animal forms of life, because without pious merits I could not pay for human birth. I would have left his life, I would not have been on his horizon.

Why did you have to throw other people's deaths at me? Even three. And Shri Ram revealed to me that he did this so that I would not suffer too much. It turns out that he felt sorry for me. It was his generous gift to me. He threw three other people's deaths into me, and it was a great gift to keep me from suffering.

From this I learned that when too much of a person's pious merit is taken away from them, they end up in such deplorable conditions that their only escape from it is their death. A man loses everything in this merciless robbing of his account of piety. And since I have children who are still at school, something would happen that they would lose me, and I would end up in terrible conditions, where I would be treated not as a person, as a person, but as meat. It would have been very bad for me and my children, and Shri Ram just felt sorry for me and my children, so he threw three deaths at me so that I wouldn't get caught up in all this. He did this so that I would quickly leave my body and not go through the separation of children from me, the loss of housing, the loss of work, money, respect, human appearance, through getting to places where I would be treated as meat, and not as a person. He just felt sorry for me so I wouldn't have to go through all this. He did this so that I would get into some situation where death would suddenly catch me, so that it would immediately cover me and knock me out of life, so that I would not go through all the suffering that I would have gone through if he had not thrown these deaths into me.

I would have suffered very much, and he threw these deaths into me so that I wouldn't suffer too much. Such a gesture of mercy. Such euthanasia is first to drain a person of all his pious merits, and then, so that he does not suffer much and so that his agony does not last too long, to throw death into him, so that he comes out of this life and avoids those sufferings. And it was his unheard-of generosity that he threw these deaths into me.

In fact, he was so incredibly generous, not only to me, but also to my children, because there were three deaths, and one death was enough for me. One death has been thrown in, and this is already enough for this soul to leave its body. But he threw three deaths at me. Why? Because I have two small children, they were just starting school at the time, and so that they would not suffer without me, he threw in a death for each of them. In this way, he showed such unprecedented generosity to all of us, saving us from going through the process of being torn apart, and also so that the children would not suffer knowing what was happening to their mummy.

That is, he put death in me so that I would not go through the suffering that I would have gone through because he had drained all my pious services. As a result of the unprecedented generosity of death, I would have left my body, and my children would have been left without me. Apparently, Shri Ram looked at what would happen to my children after that, because, as I understood, he makes quite balanced decisions, and just then my sister came to see me, it was September 2, 2016. He searched her brain, searched her mind, gave her various ideas to see the possible future scenario of the situation and her attitude to all this. He looked at her and realized that my children and my sister would not be happy.

He also looked at my eldest daughter, rummaged in her mind and realized that my children will not be happy with her either and they are not particularly needed there. He also searched the mind of my ex-husband, the father of my children, and also looked and saw that my children were not needed there. He realized that in this case, my children have only one road-to the orphanage, and so he felt sorry for them and threw in two additional deaths — for each of my children who are not yet grown up, just so that they, too, would pass away. What an unheard-of generosity! Such unheard-of charity, out of the ordinary.

When I found out all this, I revealed to this Shri Ram that what I demanded was recognition of his incapacity and compensation for my moral damage from the women he might have been with — was actually my generous gift to him. This is adequate to such an unheard-of generosity.

He put three deaths in me for me and my children, so that our agony wouldn't last too long, so that we would be quickly knocked out of life, and that was it. This is such an unheard-of generosity, an act of charity. I showed him in this act of mercy that my demand for his incapacity and compensation for moral damages is a similar manifestation of my unheard-of generosity towards him.

Before that, he was very offended that I demanded all this. He thought I wasn't fair to him, that I'd done him a bad turn. And he was shown that it was really just a gift to him, because I was going to get out of the material world and into the spiritual world anyway. We are an eternal couple, and the pious services he receives mostly from me, we are communicating vessels, even if not together. I would have left the material world, and it would not have been able to exist normally here without my nourishment. He would just have an agony that would last forever. The same agony that I would have had if I had lived, but without my pious services.

I showed him that everything is adequate, that I just felt sorry for him and that my demands are an unheard-of gesture of mercy. It also means that I have very serious intentions to return to the spiritual world, otherwise why would I feel so sorry for him? I have shown such unprecedented generosity to him that his agony in the material world, without his Shakti, without its nourishment, without its protection, and without the influx of its pious merits, will not last indefinitely. I made him a gorgeous gift that he hadn't agonized so he just left without anything and of complete hopelessness, a bullet sped to the spiritual world, because here he did not Shine and won't Shine at all.

It turns out to be a gift to him. This is not an insult to his personality, it is not disrespectful to him, it is not a diminution of his dignity. This is a great gift. About the same as he did to me and my children, throwing three other people's deaths into us so that our agony would not last long and painfully.

When I found out why Shri Ram put three other people's deaths in me, I thought that many women who say: «Think a hundred times before you put yourself in the power of a man. A predator sleeps in each of them. And if you do not give yourself to it and resist, this beast will Wake up in passion. You will be lucky if the knife is sharp and you will die quickly, and not blunt and you will not be killed for a long time and painfully».

This Shri Ram turned out to be a sharp knife. I long suffered, he dumped me three more dead after he had drained me of all my pious merits, order the case quickly ended and we have not covered that would be covered after ochisheniya them my stock of piety. After all, everything pays off at the expense of pious merits. A good or at least more or less tolerable standard of living could not be paid for. Being with children also could not be paid for, so the children would have been taken away somehow. Housing would also be gone. Nothing would have happened, no job, no money, no health, and then I would have ended up in places where I would have been treated not as a person, not as a woman, but as a piece of meat. But Shri Ram spared me. He turned out to be a clever knife and did everything to quickly get us out of the body and not suffer for a long time.

338. The prevention of Shri Ram on the application to him of force

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Then I remembered one of the first conversations I had with Shri Ram when he first joined me. It was a conversation through a karate coach when I first brought the kids to his karate class. Then at the end of that class, the coach told me that my son was difficult. I answered him: «Yes, I know». He asked me, " How do you handle it? »

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I answered: «Power method». He asked me, " is there a choice?» I looked away and didn't say anything to him.

Then in the conversation of Shri Ram through karate coach asked me to bend, to put on stream, so I fulfill all their desires, so they had me on the energy plan when wanted and as wanted, and that extorted from me my pious merits. He said that I was difficult to deal with, I did not give in to any of his actions, I was moving away from any of his influence. I told him that you can only use force with me. He said, maybe there is some other option, maybe you can use some other way to influence me? He told me: «Anyway, we will bend you by force, let's agree, we will bend you anyway. Power methods are very cool, any female will break. Let me not use these methods of force on you, and you will fold your paws, give yourself up to our mercy and obediently fulfill all our whims». But I looked away and didn't say anything about it.

In fact, in that conversation, I told Shri Ram that he was difficult. Over the course of many lifetimes when we were separated, I saw everything that happened to him. I saw how he behaved, how he constantly changed women and did not put them in anything, and I said that it was difficult with him. Because the karate coach said that my son is difficult, and I told him that Yes, I know. With these words, I told this Shri Ram that he was difficult, that he was not amenable to any kind of education.

And when I told the coach that the only way to cope is through strength training, it was me who told Tom Shri Ram what to expect. I told him: «You are not amenable to education. I'll have to use force on you. I know how to use force, and now our plan is being put into action». At the very beginning, I told him what was waiting for him. Applying force methods to it.

Also the karate coach said, «But maybe there are some other options?» Through this, I saw that Shri Ram from the height of the view, not really knowing about it here, was asking about other women: «maybe there will be some other women? Now you're going to use your power methods on me. Maybe there will be at least some batteries that will warm me?» And I looked away and kind of said,: «Figushki. You can't wait, Shri Ram».

Because his compass in the genitals is constantly rushing back and forth, twitching at one woman, then another, then a third, and can not stop. He just can't stop at one thing. It's difficult. No educational measures have any effect on him, and he only needs to be forcibly taken and stopped so that he doesn't twitch anymore.

And then I thought that I was right to demand recognition of his incapacity and compensation for my moral harm from the women who will ever be with him, in the form of all their pious services. I did the right thing. These are power methods. It's no different with him. He said so himself: «Something is so difficult with your son»... These words said that it is so difficult with him that you will have to use force methods.

I thought that I had done the right thing by using force against him, and I should make sure that he did not seek to get what he did not have rights to. Don't let him think about any other options at all. I thought that it is necessary to make sure that he was afraid even to think about other options.

I remembered how I used to make Asuras into reusable space shuttles, real men, develop a conditioned reflex so that they would not look at the side, so that they would take on Board a single Mataji, a woman who wanted to return to the spiritual world, and all their life they were only with her and simply did not look at any other options. We gave them the operation «You twist my balls» so they wouldn't look at others.

I thought that we should do something like this Shri Ram, so that he would not even think about other options. Why? Because I was told that a vine doesn't run from a tree.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Shiva has told me many times to be with him and not leave him alone, and Krishna has told me to be with him no matter what happens. I mean, I have to be with him no matter what happens, and he's going to jump back and forth on different options. This is not correct.

339. Condition of the sword Chandrahas

I was listening to a lecture by Bhakti Vigyana Goswami «Ramayana Moscow. 02.04.09" on «Ramayana». There he talked about the sword Chandrahasa. I thought back to the time when the Asuras put me on their Asuric sweepstakes to empty and lower me, to make me the last bed for scoundrels of all stripes, to drain me of all my pious merits, to lower me to the very bottom of life. Then the Asuras gave Shri Ram an ultimatum: either he gives me to them, or they will kill him. He was very hesitant at the time, did not want to be killed, and was already thinking of giving me to them, but he was shown the 420 episode of Devon ke dev Mahadev, in which Shiva gave Ravana the chandrahas sword. There Shiva said to Ravana: «I give you this weapon, the chandrahas sword. Never abuse it. If you mistreat him, he will come back to me».

And just when I was thinking that I should do something like «You twist my balls» with Shri Ram so that he wouldn't look at other options, I was listening to a lecture by Bhakti Vigyana Goswami, and it said this about This chandrahas sword: «Shiva took out the sword. A special sword. Not just a sword, but a special projectile. This sword could fly anywhere at the behest of its master. He could punch anyone, execute any orders. He could destroy Maya, he could create Maya. The sword was called Chandrahasa. Shiva said, " I give you this sword. But there is one condition. The sword will serve you faithfully. And this sword can fulfill any of your goals. On one condition-if you will read it. If you neglect him, if you treat him with some disrespect in one way or another, he will betray you».

I listened to these words and thought: I am such a sword Chandrahas, who can fulfill any wishes of the one with whom he is. But to do this, there must not be even a shadow of disrespect for me. And if there is even a shadow of disrespect, I change and leave. And this is the quality of this sword. Not that it is so changeable and fickle in nature, no. This is the reaction of this sword, this is such a condition. The sword is with its owner as long as the owner is respectful to this sword, as long as he does not show anything bad in his direction and does not abuse it.

I thought we should make sure that this Shri Ram doesn't look at other options, other women, and is afraid to even think about it. Why? Because I am his eternal wife, I must be with him, and for this it is necessary that he never show even a shadow of disrespect towards me, otherwise I will change the condition of this sword and go somewhere, but this cannot be allowed. So, the operation «You twist my balls» should be done. Something must be done to ensure his loyalty and respect for me.

And then I remembered what he once said to me through the words of captain Hook to Emma in the 15th episode of the 5th season of the movie «Once upon a time in a fairy tale»: «I'm glad you came for me. Maybe I'm worth something». And I kind of said to him through Emma's words: «and when we're done, will you come back with me?» He said, " Yes. If it's important for him that I live, he'll have to live up to his expectations».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I then thought that Nrsimhadev himself said that without Shakti, Shiva is a corpse, so if this Shri Ram is not with me, then he will be a corpse. I felt very sorry for him. I felt so sad, and I thought that I was his eternal wife, I was the sword Chandrahas that was given to him, and I was told not to leave him. I can fulfill all his wishes, but for this it is necessary that he does not show even a shadow of disrespect to me, that he is faithful to me, and he has this compass constantly twitching by itself on different options. It's just that he's been twitching like this for many lifetimes, and he's developed the need for this compass to twitch. If he doesn't twitch, he feels uncomfortable. And I thought that it is necessary to ensure that this compass was twitching. To do this, you must apply these power methods and do something like the operation «You twist my balls».

This realization made me very sad. I thought that he wanted to destroy me, to erase me completely, then drained me of all my pious merits, pumped other people's deaths into me so that I would not be. I thought that even if it erased me completely, I would still get back on my feet and find it. I will find it wherever it is, and I will destroy it. But then I thought that I should not destroy it. I hated him so much that he did all this to me. I thought that I can't direct this hatred at him and I will direct it at the Asuras. I thought that I would hold another Grand action and destroy a large pile of Asuras.

I thought he was mine, but his compass is always twitching, and I was told to be with him. And he needs to be with me to be alive. And to do this, it is necessary that his compass does not twitch. It's difficult. He is not amenable to any education. We have to use force against him and conduct some kind of brutal operation «You twist my balls» so that he is afraid to even twitch in the direction of other options.

I felt so bitter... I thought that I would pour all my negative feelings on the Asuras. At that time I didn't know what kind of Asuras they would be, but after a while I thought who they would be, because when Shiva gave Shri Ram me As the chandrahas sword, the Asuras put me on the Asuric sweepstakes. I decided that I would destroy those Asuras who on different planets participate in such Asuric sweepstakes on emptying, lowering and breaking good personalities.

I thought that the Asuras on these Asuric sweepstakes smear good personalities into dust and I will destroy all those who have anything to do with these sweepstakes, I will erase them all into dust, smear them completely. I thought that all the hatred that I have for this Shri Ram, I will direct at all those who have anything to do with these Asuric sweepstakes on different planets. This will be a grandiose action on a global, universal scale on different planets of the material world, where there are Asuras and where they arrange these Asuric sweepstakes.

I decided so, and I immediately felt better. I saw how this hatred that I had somehow flows around this Shri Ram and goes past him somewhere in those who participate in these sweepstakes. I thought that this hatred should be given an outlet. I can't keep it in myself. I need to let her out somewhere. If I can't direct it at this Shri Ram, then I must direct it somewhere else. To whom? The surest thing is for those Asuras who have at least some relation to the Asuric sweepstakes. I thought that I would kill all the Asuras who participate there, and nothing would be left of them. I thought they might run fast, but they wouldn't be able to hide. I then felt very much better, and I then bought a silver charm for a bracelet in the form of dice, which symbolizes that I will destroy all the Asuras from those Asuric sweepstakes and nothing will remain of them.

340. Unsuccessful registration to the hospital

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

In December 2019, I had to put my son in the hospital for a checkup about his heavy weight. We collected all the information for this case, passed all the necessary doctors, and my son passed all the tests. Everything was fine, but on the day when we had to go to put him in the hospital, he woke up at one in the morning and complained that he was not feeling well. We took his temperature, and it turned out to be 38 degrees. I told my son that we were not going anywhere, that at 9 am I would call the hospital and tell them to reschedule the start date of the examination, but he said that it was okay, everything would pass.

I thought that his temperature might have risen because of nerves, because it was the first time he went to the hospital, and even had to be there alone, without me, and before that he had never been without me. I thought that he was nervous and it resulted in a temperature, but still said that we are not going anywhere. I gave him a fever pill and we went to bed.

In the morning, the alarm rang, the son woke up and said that he was feeling well. His fever was gone, and he was in a good state. I told him that we were not going anywhere, that I would call the hospital and cancel everything, but he assured me that everything was fine. He said that we spent a lot of time collecting certificates, passing doctors, that he was doing well and had to go. He managed to persuade me.

We took the bus and went. When he was a couple of stops away from the hospital, he began to feel sick. The driver stopped the bus and we got off. I told my son that I should go home, but he said that the bus smelled bad and that he often vomits on the bus, that this is not something out of the ordinary. I thought it was, but I tried to persuade him to go home anyway, but he was adamant. He said that he felt fine, that we went out into the fresh air and everything immediately passed, and that it was a 10-minute walk to the hospital at most.

He refused to come back, said that everything would be fine, that it was all from nerves and from the smell, and we went to the hospital. In the waiting room there were a lot of people. We sat there from 9 am to 12 PM, in the stuffy and crowded atmosphere, and my son was very tired at the end. I told him that he didn't look well and we were leaving, but he said that it wasn't long, that it would be our turn, that he would go to bed there, rest, and everything would go away. He got me to go back to the Department and they put him in. There, a nurse and a doctor checked him, everything was fine. I made sure that he was well settled, and went to my friend.

Sometime after four o'clock in the afternoon, my son called me and said that he had a headache, that he went to the nurses at the post, took his temperature, it was 38.5, asked for a pill, but they did not give him. He asked me to come and take him home, as no one pays attention to him there and does not help. He said the nurses looked him straight in the eye and said they didn't care.

I went to see him. At 5 PM, I was already there, in the Department, asked the nurses for a fever pill and said that I was taking my son home. The nurses said that they could not give the pill without a doctor's appointment, that the working day of the Department's doctors was already over, they had already gone home, and only the doctor on duty was in the hospital now. I said okay, then we'll just go home. But they said that to do this, you need to wait for the doctor on duty to sign all the papers. I asked them to call the doctor on duty, they immediately called, the doctor on duty said that he would come soon.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

But the doctor did not hurry to us. We waited for him until 9 PM. Many times, at my request, the nurses called the doctor on duty. Each time the doctor answered that he would come, but did not come. His son was getting worse, but no one cared about him. I forced the nurse to come to his room and examine him. His temperature was already approaching 39. The nurse began to ask her son how it happened that he got sick, and he, looking into her eyes with an honest look, said that even at night he had a fever and his mother took him to the hospital with a temperature of 40. The nurse stared at me, but I reminded her that both she and the doctor had checked him out at the time of his appointment and everything was fine. But he kept insisting that it was 40 degrees and I dragged him to the hospital with this temperature.

The nurse didn't know what to think, and I told her that she really believed that I would take the child to the devil knows where with a temperature of 40? All the more so because, indeed, they took him in and examined him, the chief doctor of the Department personally examined him, weighed him, asked questions, filled out his card, everything was fine. The nurse was somehow reassured, but still no help was provided, since there was no doctor on duty. The nurses said that the doctor on duty was in cardiology, so I went to look for the cardiology Department.

The time was already late, it was December, after 9 PM. I walked through the empty, dark, echoing corridors of the hospital all alone and poked at all the doors, looking for an open one, but all the doors were closed. I was scared, and then I found an open ward, cried there, and they took me to the emergency room, saying that I couldn't go to cardiology, but I could go to the emergency room.

There was no doctor on duty in the waiting room. I started pestering the nurses and emergency room residents to call the doctor on duty. They said that they were not up to me, there was a large crowd of people with children who were waiting to be accepted. The nurses told me to wait for the doctor on duty, that they do not solve anything without the doctor on duty, and they refused to call the doctor.

I was indignant in the emergency room: «What kind of hospital is this strange? Everyone wants to get here!» There were a lot of people sitting there, waiting to be accepted. I told: «So many people want to get here to cure their children, but my child is lying here and no one can help him. There is no doctor on duty. What kind of place is this?»

They told me, " No problem. We'll let you out now. Here is the emergency room, here is the door to the exit, we will open it for you now, go to your home. What are you so worried about? A child in a children's hospital. Nothing will happen to him. One day this doctor on duty will come, and one day they will help him, put him in a separate isolated box and treat him there. Why are you so worried? Here's the door from the hospital, we'll open it for you right now, go home right now». But it was brought to my mind that they would open the door for me, and I would go out and never go in again.

At the end, the doctor on duty came. It turned out to be a tired, tortured, nervous woman who said that no one had called her and that this was the first time she had heard about my son, although the nurses called her from 5 to 9 PM and she answered them. She said that now she will see the children in the emergency room and will come to her son in the Department. She told me to go to my son and wait there.

I bumped into the doors from the emergency room to the wards, and they were all closed, on chips. I asked the emergency room staff to open the doors for me, but they refused, saying that according to the instructions they are not allowed to open the doors to the departments to everyone. They told me to call the Department's nurses to come and take me there themselves. I asked them to call them, because they have a hospital phone number, and I do not know the phone number of the Department, but they refused, saying that they do not have to do this.

I was standing in front of the closed doors, unable to leave the emergency room and feverishly thinking about how to get to my son, because the doctor on duty could come there at any moment, and then I thought to call my son. I called him and told him to go to the nurses' station and give them a tube. He went to the post, gave the phone number to the nurse, and I told her to come with her key to the emergency room and take me to my son.

The nurse came with her key and led me through all the closed doors to the ward. About half an hour later, the doctor on duty arrived. She examined her son, gave him a fever shot, we signed the necessary papers, I called a taxi, and we went home. It was already past 10 PM.

341. Falling into the material world and damnation

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

After a while, I saw a lot in this story that applied to my situation with Shri Ram.

Before my son was admitted to the hospital, everything was fine. We received certificates from doctors, the pediatrician examined my son, everything was fine. He was ready to be sent to the hospital for examination. But the night before I went there, he woke me up and said he wasn't feeling well. He had a temperature of 38. The pill made him feel better. I told him he wasn't going to any hospital. I said I'd call the hospital in the morning and cancel, but he said it was okay, we'd go anyway. I thought that he might have been scared and that his temperature might have risen on a nervous basis. But I still told him we weren't going.

He talked me into it this morning. His fever was gone, and he was alert and determined. We went. On the bus in front of the hospital, he began to feel sick. The driver stopped the bus, we got off, I went to the bus stop back home, but my son said it was nothing, it just smelled bad on the bus. He bent me again.

At 9 am we were sitting in the waiting room. And there we sat until 12 days. There was a crowd of people with children. In the end, my son was very tired, and I said that we would stop sitting here and go home, but he said that now it would be our turn, they would give him a bed in the Department and he would return to normal there.

In short, many times I told him «no», and each time he begged me. When he was admitted to the Department, everything was fine, and I calmly went to my friend, but after 4 PM, he called me and said that he had a bad headache. He said that he went to the nurses, took the temperature, it turned out to be 38.5. He asked them for medicine, but they said they didn't care, and they didn't help. He cried that no one cared about him and he was the only one lying on this bed.

In this situation, I saw how this Shri Ram and I got into the material world and how we got a curse that he would be childless and I would be alone, without a husband. I saw that it wasn't my fault. I told him: «Let's not do this. Let's not go to the material world. We don't need to go there». And he said: «It's okay, everything will be fine. What are you worried about?»

I tried to dissuade him many times, saying: «Don't go to the material world. I don't want to go there. What are we doing there?» And he said: «No, let's go. Everything will be alright. I love you. What can happen to us there? We are together. I'll protect you, don't worry about anything, don't be afraid». And I, as an obedient wife, said: «It is the duty of the wife to make any decision of the husband». And we went with him to the material world.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

It turns out that we got into the material world at his request. I didn't want to come here to the material world at all. I came here because my eternal husband, with whom we were together in the spiritual world (as we were clearly shown in the 311th episode of my novel), suddenly wanted to go to the material world. I, as his faithful and devoted wife, agreed with him, accepted his decision, and that is why I hang out in the material world. Doing the Dharma brought me to the material world. How sad it is!

It was the same situation when he and I received the curse, here in the material world. We did something very wrong to some wise man, because of which he cursed me with my eternal husband, that he would be childless, and I would be alone, without a husband. Apparently, we left this sage without his wife, because, as far as I understand, his wife became one, without a husband, so he cursed me for the same share, and as a result of our actions, that sage was left without children, that is, his wife left him, respectively, children could not be born to him, since he took her as his wife for life and other options were unacceptable for him.

So we made a wise man's wife leave him, leave him. How we did this is unknown, but as a result, she was left alone, without her husband and children, he could not have been born. He was left to live all his life alone, without children, without a wife, so he cursed my eternal husband to be childless, and me to be alone, without a husband.

And it turns out that I dissuaded my husband from the act that led to this curse. Because I told my son: «Let's not do this. Let's not», and he said: «No, don't worry, everything will be fine». And it turns out that I was not the initiator of the action, as a result of which that sage was left alone to live out his life without a wife and without children, which he could not have had, because he no longer had a wife.

And the situation with my son shows that I was not to blame either when we got into the material world, falling from the spiritual world, or when we received this curse.

I was innocent. I was just fulfilling the wishes of my husband, who said, " Don't worry. Everything will be alright. You believe me, don't you? Do you trust me?" I said, " Yes, Yes, of course, I believe you, I believe in you. I trust you». He said», go ahead, then, «and I said», whatever you say, the will of the husband is the law for the wife». Dharma led me to the fact that we were in the material world and I got a curse that I will be alone, without my husband. Here's what I learned from this situation.

He and I went to the material world and got the same curse. He ended up in a hospital bed, so to speak — he was turned into an Asura, although he was not an Asura. But somehow it happened that he went through some kind of transformation, his nature was replaced by an Asuric one, and he began to be born in the Asuric worlds. There he was very ill, because when my son got to the hospital bed, he became very ill, he called me and said that he was lying in this bed, he had a fever and no one came to him. Everyone there looked at him as an empty transparent place, as if he didn't exist. There were other children in his room, even a woman with her daughter in the next bed, and no one paid any attention to him, as if he was not there.

He approached the nurses on duty, asked for help, and they told the child right in the eyes that they didn't care. Adult women, nurses at a children's hospital, told the 11-year-old child that they didn't care. This was the case with Shri Ram when he was in the Asuric worlds. He was the only one there, and no one there gave a damn about him. He was there with some women, but no one really cared about him, they looked at him as an empty place, as worthless.

I couldn't help him. He wanted to see me. He felt that he had an eternal mate. He didn't know that. When we are born again, we do not remember what happened to us in past lives. And he didn't know that, it turns out, he wasn't always an Asur, but he felt that he had an eternal couple, he felt some kind of connection. And it was like he was calling me to him: «Well, come, come, help, help». But I didn't go to see him. And then he thought I'd left him. Because when I went to my son and asked the nurse to come to him, the son said, looking her in the eye with an honest look, that my mother brought him to the hospital when he had a temperature of 40.

First, and at one o'clock in the morning, he was not 40, but 38, and secondly, when we went, the temperature was not at all, the pill that I gave him at night, still worked. And when he was registered in the Department, they looked at him, there was no fever, but he still insisted that he had a temperature of 40 and I brought him to the hospital with this temperature. I looked at him and didn't know what to say. I told the nurse: «Do you believe him? Do you think that I, a grown woman, will drag a child to the hospital, carry him across the city on a bus with a temperature of 40? Do you really believe that?»

She looked at me and didn't know who to believe. 40 degrees is already a very serious temperature, and he kept saying that he had exactly 40. And besides, she took it herself and saw that everything was fine with him, that there were no 40 degrees, but he kept saying exactly about 40 degrees, that I dragged him with 40 degrees and the temperature did not decrease.

This means that when this Shri Ram was in the Asuric worlds, he blamed me. He didn't know that he wasn't always an Asur. He thought that he had a couple, his Shakti, because this connection was felt, and he called me to him. But I didn't come because I wasn't going to go to the Asuric worlds and because I was shown what he had become and told that it was dangerous and forbidden for me to go to him. I was forbidden to do this. I couldn't go there to see him. But he thought it was all my fault. Because my son blamed me for dragging him to the hospital with a fever of 40, it's all my fault.

And Shri Ram thought that his Shakti turned out to be some kind of hooker, some kind of lascivious and ran after other men to have fun with them, because he is not like that, no one is interested in him, everyone looks at him as an empty place. He thought I looked at him the same way I looked at an empty space and ran, tail up, after the other men. He thought it was all my fault, that I was such a goat. Here's what was revealed in this episode.

342. On the higher heavenly planets

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Then I saw the following in the situation with the hospital. When my son called me and told me to take him home, I went there and told the nurses on duty to give him a fever pill and we would go home. They said that they couldn't give the pill without a doctor's permission, that the doctors' working day was over, that there was only one doctor on duty for the entire hospital, who was very busy in cardiology, and that we should wait for him. We waited for the doctor on duty for a very long time. Many times

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I teased the nurses to call the doctor on duty, but it was no use, no one wanted to help, and then I ran to look for the doctor on duty at the hospital.

It was already dark. It was December, after nine in the evening. I left the ward and wandered through the dark, echoing, deserted corridors. I tried every door I could get through, but they were closed. I was scared. Then I managed to go to one branch where they forgot to close the doors. There I cried to the nurses that the child was ill and needed a doctor on duty, and one nurse took her key and led me through the closed doors to the emergency room. So I ended up in the emergency room.

Thus I found myself on the higher heavenly planets. I've already told you this story. When I wandered everywhere between lives looking for this Shri Ram, poking at all the doors and everything was closed, I let out my cry to him in all directions across all the Universes, so that he would respond, but there was no answer. And there some powerful people came to me. They showed me that he had become an Asur, what was happening to him, what metamorphosis had taken place with his subtle body and what he had become. And they said that I should not go to him in any case. This is forbidden. This is very dangerous.

They offered me another pair. They told me, " Take it. You are an eternal couple, you are his Shakti, but you will never be together. And since your Svarupa, your natural position, is to be a wife, it is not natural for you to be a loner, and you will not be able to exist normally in the material world. Let us break this eternal bond and give you another eternal husband».

I refused, although I was very much hesitating, and although I was already thinking of accepting, because their arguments were really very strong. I was told that we will never be together, that my natural status for me is the status of a wife, this is the position of being a wife, that I can not be a single person in any way, for me it is very, very uncomfortable. And they gave me a normal husband to choose from.

But although I was already inclined to accept the offer, the curse that I should be alone, without a husband, affected me, and I refused them, because the curse said that I should not be with my husband. So the curse affected me so cunningly that I refused. And in doing so, I showed loyalty and chastity. This is a very pious act, and for this act I ended up on the higher heavenly planets, that is, similarly to the situation with the hospital — in the emergency room.

There, in the waiting room, I also harassed everyone — both the nurse who sat on the phone and received patients, and the resident who examined the incoming patients. And there was a whole crowd sitting there with children who needed to be examined and put in the hospital. There were a lot of people there, but no one could help me. I stood in the middle of this waiting room and said: «Everyone is rushing here, everyone is breaking down here, everyone thinks that they will be helped here, but no one can help me here. What is it? Help!» And they told me: «Wait for the doctor on duty. We can't decide anything without a doctor on duty. Go to your son and wait». I said, " I'm not going anywhere until I talk to the doctor on duty».

This indicates that I was in the higher worlds. In the emergency room, I said that everyone was eager to come here. I mean, I was where everyone wanted to be. Everyone is eager to enjoy Paradise. Everyone wants to enjoy. Everyone, even if they don't know about the higher Paradise worlds, wants to enjoy Paradise, so they want to get there. And I was there, because I said that everyone is eager to come here.

And I was talking about the crowd waiting in the emergency room: «Everyone wants to get here, everyone is eager to get here, but no one can help me here». I'm there on the higher heavenly planets, it turns out, all pestered. I asked everyone there for help to help me with this Shri Ram, but no one could help me. I said, " What are these heavenly planets where they can't help me? Everyone is eager to get here, everyone wants to get here, but here I am, on the higher heavenly planets, and no one can help me». That's what the emergency room episode is all about.

There I was told in this emergency room: «No problem. We'll open the door now, we have a door outside, go out there and go home. Drive home. Why are you so worried? Your son is in a children's hospital. If he's sick, it's okay. He will be put in a separate isolated box and cured. Why are you so worried? Drive home».

And they were already opening the door to the outside and trying to push me out, because I had them all there. I went to all the offices of the emergency room and did not let them work quietly. The resident was watching a child, and I was standing over her and moaning: «Help, help, call the doctor on duty». They said: «Get out of here quickly, here's the door to the outside, open, get out and go home». What does it mean?

This means that I was told there on the higher heavenly planets: «you have no reason to be in the material world. You came here with your eternal husband, but he suddenly became an Asur. You are cursed to be alone, without a husband, and you are an eternal wife. You didn't want another husband. What do you want from us now?» So I was told on the higher heavenly planets.

I was told there: «Return to the spiritual world. Here is the door to the spiritual world that is open to you». Somehow, the door to the spiritual world was opened for me. The emergency room told me: «Here you are. We're going to open this door, go home. Don't worry, your son will be put in an isolated box and cured». I was told on the higher heavenly planets, " Don't worry, one day your eternal husband will come to you in the spiritual world. Why do you suffer so much? What do you want to connect with him here? See, no one can help you here. You have no reason to stay here in the material world. You were with him. You're alone now. He will still return to the spiritual world at some point. He's going to be fucked up without you. They will put him in an isolated box, so to speak, cure him there, and he will return to you in the spiritual world. Go straight to the spiritual world right now. The door is open for you there».

I could return from the higher heavenly planets to the spiritual world! The situation with the emergency room suggests this. I do not know how I could have returned directly to the spiritual world from the higher heavenly planets, but the door was open to me. They opened the door to me and said: «Please. Home. At the output». On the higher heavenly planets, I was offered to return to the spiritual world and was told that everything is possible for me, but I refused.

I said, " I'm not leaving my son here alone. I will not leave this Shri Ram here in the material world alone to rot in the Asuric worlds, so that he will end up in some isolated box, in which he will be very lonely and bad. Yes, he will return to the spirit world at some point, but I don't want to leave him here alone». I didn't go into the spiritual world, I didn't leave it. The door to the spiritual world was already opening for me, but I stayed here. That's what the emergency room situation means.

In short, there in the emergency room I refused to go home, I got everyone there, and they called the doctor on duty. The doctor came. She was a tired, tortured woman. I told her about my son, and she pretended it was the first time she'd heard about us, even though she'd been getting calls all evening. She listened to me and said that first she would examine those who were waiting in the emergency room, and then she would come to her son's room. She told me to go to my son and wait.

I realized that I had fulfilled my mission, I can't do anything else here, and I really just have to go to my son's room and wait for the doctor to come there. I bumped into the doors from the emergency room, and they were all closed. I asked the emergency room staff to open the doors, but they said that according to the instructions, they are not allowed to open the doors to strangers in the evening. I said that I am not a stranger, my son is in the Department. But they still refused. I stood there and thought, what should I do? The doctor on duty has disappeared somewhere. I thought I had to go to my son's room right away, the doctor might come at any moment, and I'm sitting here in the emergency room and I can't get out, the doors are closed.

And then I had the idea to call my son. I called him, told him to go to the post and give the nurse the phone. He did so. The nurse took his phone, and I told her that I had spoken to the doctor on duty, that she would be here soon, and that I should wait for her in my son's room. I asked the nurse to come to the emergency room with her key, which opens all the doors, and take me to my son's room. She came to the emergency room. We went through all the closed doors with her key and got to the son's room. What does this mean?

This means that when I was on the higher heavenly planets, I harassed everyone there. Everyone told me to get behind, that there was nothing to keep me in the material world, and that I should go to the spiritual world, but I decided to go to the most important, to the highest, so to speak, to the doctor on duty. I went to dance the dance of devotion to the deity Nrsimhadeva on the higher heavenly planets. There is a Deity named Nrsimhadeva, and I danced devotional dances to him, praying That he would help us with Shri Ram.

Nrsimhadev pretended that he didn't know anything, that He didn't know anything, and stood there like a Deity and looked at me. But after a while, my feelings for this deity flared up, and I mentally began to fly to Him during the dance, embrace Him and dissolve in Him. At one point during one of the dances, the call to Him came out of me: «Become my husband!» And He accepted my call. And after that, during one of the dances, I mentally flew to Him, mentally entered Him, dissolved into the deity and did not return to the body. I don't know what happened to the body there on the higher heavenly planets.

I was inside the deity nrsimhadeva, dissolved in Him. I spread out all over the deity, merged with Him. For a very long time, I was absorbed in the deity Nrsimhadeva and assumed the nature of Nrsimhadeva. And then after a while, He said to me, «now go out there and live and wait to be reunited with your husband. Your wish will be granted. Go and wait».

As the doctor on duty told me to go to my son's room and wait. And so I stopped being dissolved in the deity and began to reincarnate and wait for this reunion to happen.

343. Shri Ram's call through the worlds

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

So when I went to incarnate and wait (when I had to go from the emergency room to my son's room), I called this Shri Ram. I somehow, so to speak, called him and said: «Go ask Lord Shiva's blessing for our reunion. Because there's no way I can get to you. All doors are closed, all on chips. I'm sitting in this emergency room (I was already incarnating at the time) and I can't get to you. You and I can't be reunited, only Shiva's blessing can help us. I did my part, now you have to do yours. Go and ask for Shiva's blessing».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And it turns out that this Shri Ram started doing that austerity for our reunion and got Shiva's blessing, because I called him once. And thanks to this, all the doors that had been closed before were opened. I calmly went from this emergency room to his room and waited there for the doctor on duty to come and let us out of this hospital.

Shiva's blessing changed the course of history, and this Shri Ram went looking for me in all the worlds of the material world. He enlisted in the Asuras' landing party on various planets of the material world, and the lines of fate brought him to this planet to make all this happen here.

The doctor on duty then came, gave my son a shot, I signed the papers that we were leaving the hospital of our own free will, that everything was done as it should be. I immediately called a taxi. It was past ten o'clock in the evening. We drove home safely. When we were driving home in this taxi, the driver's radio was playing, and there was a humorous program. Some comedian told me that he and his wife went either to Denmark, or somewhere else to travel. He had pre-booked a place for them to live there, but when they got there, it turned out to be a gay neighborhood.

When they went to the house where rooms were reserved for them on the second floor, they saw that it was a gay house. They, too, were shocked that an ordinary traditional married couple showed up. It was well past midnight, it was too late to find another place, everything was paid for, and they stayed there for the night on the second floor, and he told his wife: «I won't give you to anyone», and she said to him, «I Won't give you to anyone». Thus it was shown that when this reunion takes place, this Shri Ram and I will be together, he will not give me to anyone, and I will not give him to anyone, and we will return to the spiritual world, to our real home.

When I had to pay for the trip (I had to pay 420 rubles), I handed the driver four hundred pieces of paper and three coins — one for 10 rubles and two for 5 rubles. I saw in this that this would be the fourth marriage of each of us in this life, and that he should take responsibility for all three of my children — both for the eldest daughter and for the two youngest. And I also apologized to the driver for not giving him anything else, no tips, to which he said that everything was fine and so good. So I told Shri Ram that there were no other women for him, and he replied that it would be all right, everything would be as I wanted.

We fell from the spiritual world to the material world at his request. This was confirmed in the 308th and 311th series of my novel. In the 308th episode (from 14: 23), there was a moment when I was on my desktop with a picture of Tsar Nicholas II symbolizing this Shri Ram, and under these two images there was a screenshot from the Mahabharata with the words «on Vaikunthas». In episode 308, we were shown that Shri Ram and I were in the Vaikunthas, in the spiritual world.

But he had doubts as to what the coincidence might mean. And to dispel his doubts, in the 311th episode, when I showed this place with the coincidence of us with the words «on Vaikuntha», a screenshot came out with the words «from heaven to earth " (from 27:11). This moment showed that Shri Ram and I fell from heaven to earth, and we fell from Vaikunthas, because above the words " from heaven to earth «were the words»on Vaikunthas».

Shri Ram and I were already in the spiritual world. We were in the Vaikunṭha planets. This is what the words «on Vaikunthas» say in the 308th episode of my novel. And we fell from Vaikunth, from heaven to earth. This was said by the words «from heaven to earth» in the 311th episode of my novel. This is proof that we were in the spiritual world together.

Some say that souls who are in the material world have never been in the spiritual world. Maybe someone wasn't there, but Shri Ram and I were there, because in episode 311, it was shown to me and Shri Ram that we were on Vaikunthas and we fell from heaven to earth, from the spiritual world to the material world.

And in the 311th episode immediately after this moment with the words «from heaven to earth» came the word «back» under the photo of Nicholas II and my image. This moment shows that we will return with him back to the spiritual world. We will return back to Vaikuntha. And this means that «I will not give you to anyone», «No, I will not give you to anyone» — this is our return to the spiritual world with him. We'll go back with him. Why the word «back»? This means that we have already been there with him, otherwise the word «back» would have no meaning and could not have appeared, but it appeared, and at this very moment. How can you go back to where you weren't? You can only go back to where you were once. We were in the spiritual world! And we'll go back there with him.

We came here at his request. He promised me everything would be fine. I granted his wish. I always fulfilled his wishes. What happened as a result of all this? All that is described in my novel «is My novel. I am Asura's wife». So now the mission of his fall here is over. All his promises were broken. We must return to the spiritual world.

344. Save the wisdom tooth

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

At the same time, in our local Vaishnava chat, a Mataji wrote that one of her recent acquaintances was interested in Krishna consciousness, but could not buy a book. She asked me to donate a book on Krishna consciousness for him. I wrote that I can donate the «Source of eternal pleasure». Just before that, I went to the library and found on the shelf with books that readers bring as a gift for everyone, an ancient «Source of eternal pleasure». I had this book, but in a new format-not as one big book, but as two small ones, with the new title «Krishna. The Supreme Personality Of Godhead». I took this big, thick, battered book from the public library shelf for myself, because I thought maybe I'd donate it to someone, and now it's time.

We agreed to meet this Mataji in the city before my dentist appointment, met, and I handed her this book. She was very surprised that there was only one book. She is still a young girl and did not find the time when this book was in this format. I told her that there were two of them now, and in those early years at the dawn of my Krishna consciousness, this book was one. She said that some strict Brahmachari must have taken her to the library.

After a while, I saw that through this conversation I told this Shri Ram that we used to be together, like this one big book, but then we became separate, like these two small books, and he told me through the words of this Mataji about a strict Brahmachari, as if he said that now he is a strict Brahmachari, he does not make any Shura-Mura with anyone, so that I would not worry.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

That Mataji asked me where I was going, and I said I was going to get my teeth fixed. She asked which dental clinic, and it turned out that the same one where she treats her teeth. She asked me to recommend a good dentist in this clinic. I said that my dentist is very good at treating teeth, and gave as an example a recent case of a wisdom tooth. Just before that, I had a bad toothache, I went to my dentist, she said that it was my wisdom tooth that was inflamed, and she decided to keep it for me. She treated my wisdom tooth for two weeks and cured it.

And I told the girl I gave the «source of eternal pleasure» To that I recommend this dentist to her with a pure heart, because no one would bother with this tooth, they would immediately send it to the surgeon for removal, but she tried and saved it for me. I said she saved my tooth. I said that she looks simple, but she is a master at what she does.

Through these words to this girl, I told this Shri Ram that I had saved him. Because I said that this dentist saved my tooth. I told Shri Ram that no one would mess with him about the situation he was in and his condition, that he had fallen into the Asuras and that his compass was constantly twitching at all the women and couldn't focus on any of them. It seems that he has found a woman, he is with her, but the arrow of his inner compass is still rushing back and forth, according to the principle of the Asuras «we remember only the best», and he thinks that somewhere there may be a better woman. And he is constantly determined to find the best. The best, of course, is always there. Something is better, and something is worse, but the best is always in something.

And I said to Shri Ram through my words to that girl: «The way you're twitching compass, no one to save you would not. You fell into the Asura. You can't concentrate on any woman. You can't be faithful. What kind of normal woman will be with you? No one normal will be with you. And no one would save you from the Asuras. You'd be thrown out of your life right away, like an inflamed wisdom tooth that gets removed right away, and that's it».

I told him that he would have been forgotten and not remembered, they would have said: «We remember only the best. You haven't been the best for a long time. What are you the best? First, you have become an Asura, and second, you have a constantly twitching internal compass. You're not in the best category. We only remember the best. We're not going to remember you». I told him that no one would have saved him when he was so twitchy, but even so, I went to him and put myself at risk to save him.

After a while, a new era began in our interaction with Shri Ram: I was presented with metaphorical associative cards, eight decks of Irina Orda's MAC. Shri Ram and I began to interact through these metaphorical maps. I started communicating with him through these cards.

You will think that it is hardly possible to communicate with a person whom you do not know personally, with whom you are not familiar in physical reality, but with whom you are in some kind of connection, at a distance. Most likely, you would think that this is an irrepressible flight of fancy or, in extreme cases, some kind of obsession, a connection with some subtle, disembodied, with some spirit, energy vampire or just a Ghost staggering back and forth from nothing to do, but I have long been shown that this is a real, living, living, like everyone else here, an ordinary person. This was explained to me by the example that as soon as he joined me, I began to chant the Mrityunjaya mantra in his defense. But the Mrityunjaya-mantra is sung for the living, so that they do not leave the body before time, do not die. It was brought to my awareness that since I started singing the Mrityunjaya mantra for him, it means that he is alive, this is a real person who lives here and who has not died yet, who is not a disembodied spirit or something subtle.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

But how can you communicate with someone living who you don't know personally and with whom you don't have the opportunity to communicate in the usual way, like all of us, eye to eye, or by voice on the phone, or by correspondence? How can two people communicate when they are separated by a distance and not able to communicate in a normal way?

Communication can occur through the entire world around you — through words heard in an ad, in a movie, flashed in a text, spoken by a passing person, through a fallen object that attracted your attention, or a loud sound indicating something. Communication can actually happen through everything, through the whole world, the world acts as a connecting medium.

The signs of the Universe can be different. I often use screenshots on my computer desktop as signs of the Universe, which change each other every 30 seconds. Metaphorical Association cards are a very convenient tool for communicating with a person who is far away from you, but who is in touch with you and who cannot convey their messages to you in the usual way. And when I was presented with metaphorical maps, our communication with Shri Ram moved to a new level.

Also, thanks to these maps, I learned a lot of interesting things. As soon as I received these cards, I immediately asked that I use the «Matrix of worlds» deck. Games of the Universe " showed what this Shri Ram is like. I got a map of Budha. Budha is mercury. Mercury is communication, it is Hermes, the God of trade, money, and the Internet. Budha is also intelligence, meaning Shri Ram is very intelligent, quick-witted.

He figured out how to remove me completely — to drain me of all the pious merits, and then pump the deaths of other people so that I would not suffer for a long time. In order to think of such a thing, you need to have a lot of intelligence, so that, without killing a person, you can destroy it.

He pitied both me and my children, adding two additional deaths for them so that they would not suffer without their mother. This is a very peculiar mind, and the map with Budha shows this, since there is both a lion representing Nrsimhadeva and an elephant's trunk pointing to Ganesha removing obstacles. I saw a lot of different attributes and images of the Buddha and thought that Shri Ram I like.

345. Save from the Yamaduts

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Then I asked them to show me why I had come to this Shri Ram, why I had come to this. I took out four cards from the Matrix of worlds deck. Games Of The Universe». The maps showed me that I came to him to save him from the yamadutas, from the hellish worlds, because the very first map came out with the yamadutas, that is, with those who take souls to the hellish worlds and cruelly torment them there as a punishment for their sins.

He earned the hellish worlds with this kind of twitching towards different women in accordance with the Asuras ' motto «we remember only the best». There is always something better, because we are not Lord Krishna, who is the reservoir of all opulences and qualities, and there is always someone who will surpass you in something.

This Shri Ram was constantly in search of the best, he always had the status «in active search». This is like a married man who has a family, wife and children, but who registers on a Dating site and puts the status «in active search». And for this active search, constantly turned on Wi-Fi with a constant search for all sorts of different networks to connect to, he deserved the infernal worlds, yamadutov. He offended many women, humiliated many women, threw them off.

What he did to me, he did to many other women. Many of the women he needed to get rid of in order to interact freely with the new, better ones, he destroyed, draining them of all their pious merits and throwing other people's deaths into them. He has done this many times with many different women. He gave them away to be reviled and amused by the crowd; he sold them for money. He gave many women to the Asuric sweepstakes, so that they would break all her feminine nature, so that someone would earn money from it, and someone would get the exciting spectacle of her transformation from a good worthy woman to the last whore, intemperate and unable to stop herself as a litter for all the rabble. He's done it all with different women in many lives.

He had drained many women of all their pious services; he knew what they were. He knew what happens to a woman when all her pious services are drained from her. He did it. He saw it with his own eyes, which is why he threw these deaths into me, showing an unheard-of mercy, an unheard-of generosity. Apparently, it was something exceptional. It is unlikely that he would have pitied anyone else so much. He had destroyed many of them in this way, watching dispassionately the fall of a worthy, interesting, charming, self-respecting woman into a promiscuous, oblivious, disgusting, rejected and despised by everyone, it is not clear what kind of untidy, degraded creature, trash, carrion, whose place is in the dump of society.

For this, he has long earned the hellish worlds. I asked him why I had come to see him, if he was like that. The first map (with the yamadutas) showed that I had come to save him from the yamadutas. I came to heal him, because the second card is dhanvantari, the one who heals. I came to save him from a well-deserved punishment, because the third card is Omkara, this word contains the word «Kara»: Omkara = om + Kara. The Omkar map showed that I had come to save him from a well-deserved punishment, from the yamadutas (the Omkar map, the Kara, is located right under the yamadutas map). Who can save you from the yamadutas? Nobody. Only Krishna, His Holy name, can save you from the yamadutas, only the spiritual master. I have come to save this Shri Ram from his well-deserved punishment, from his well-deserved punishment in the hellish worlds. And I did this by removing obstacles like Ganesha on the fourth map and making him a disciple of my spiritual master. I was shown that I had come to save him from punishment in the hellish worlds.

But after a while, I remembered the words of Shiva to Shri Ram that his crime is unforgivable, that he married me on his own, so he must give me the status of his wife, but he did not fulfill his duty, and this is a crime, and for this crime he must be punished. I thought that I kept 16 Shiva Mondays so that this Shri Ram would be forgiven for everything that he had done wrong to me, and that thanks to my 16 Shiva Mondays, he escaped the punishment that he must necessarily suffer. I thought that he had drained me of my pious services and thrown other people's deaths into me and he would not get any punishment for it, but Shiva said that this crime is unforgivable and he must be punished.

When I thought it was unfair if he didn't get a sentence for a crime that is unforgivable, we had drunks on the common corridor at the same time in the evening. They had another Sabantuy, they were hot and figured out the relationship. As I listened to them cursing and hitting each other, I began to think that this Shri Ram had drained me of all my pious services, drained my stock of piety, just robbed me, robbed me, and as a result, I would definitely end up with some scumbags who are even much worse than these drunks in the corridor, and they would mock me without feeling any pity for me, and I could not answer them.

And I thought it was wrong that, thanks to my 16 Shiva Mondays, he was lucky to escape punishment for what he did to me. I was completely disconsolate that it wasn't fair, and I really wanted him to get what he deserved.

As I listened to the drunks cursing outside the door, I remembered that I had once asked why I had come to this Shri Ram, and I had been given the answer through metaphorical maps with yamadutas and Omkara, that I had come to save him from the yamadutas, from a well-deserved punishment. Omkara is the ultimate punishment, the ultimate punishment that the yamadutas in the hellish worlds were supposed to inflict on him. He deserved punishment in the hellish worlds for many lives, when he was in the Asuras' landing party and broke many women, siphoned off their pious merits and threw into them other people's sinful karma, other people's troubles, other people's deaths. For this, he deserved the highest penalty — Omkara, working off sinful karma in the hellish worlds. And I came to save him from the punishment he deserved.

I thought it was wrong. He has done this to many women, and now he has done this to his Shakti, and it cannot be forgiven.

As I listened to the drunks start up outside the door, I wondered what kind of punishment he should get for doing this to me, and I pulled out two metaphorical cards. These were the Yakshas and Naraka, the infernal worlds. Both cards show sinners either flying into the fire or roasting in a cauldron of boiling oil. Through these cards, I was shown that for what he did to his Shakti, he should be punished in the hellish worlds. And I thought I was holding 16 Mondays of Shiva so that he could escape this just punishment.

After that, the next day, I went on business, and then I stopped by my friend's house. I began to complain to her that I wanted him to be punished for what he had done, that I thought it was fair, that he should not escape it, but that I should also protect him from this punishment, because he was mine. I complained to her that this dilemma (that I believe he should be punished, but I also have a responsibility to protect him from it) is causing me an internal struggle that I can't handle. I told her that I had to protect him from punishment, but it was fair and that it would be unfair if he escaped punishment.

My friend told me that I wanted revenge, that it was none of my business, that God would do it, that I should give everything to Him, but I didn't let up and kept on talking about it. Then we began to have tea with her, and then to guess at the coffee grounds. In my coffee grounds, she saw a Genie fly out of the bottle and sort of talk: "I will fulfill any of your wishes, but only one. Make a wish!" And she told me to say my wish out loud. She said, as if on behalf of that Genie, "Say your wish. It will be fulfilled."

I went back to that song about the need for justice, that I want him to get punished because his crime is unforgivable, and my friend asked me, "Do you want revenge?" I answered her: "Yes, I want revenge." She asked me, "what did he do to you that you want revenge so badly?" I said that he had drained me of all my pious services and thrown other people's deaths into me. She asked me when he did it, and I said it was in September 2016. She asked: "And you still want revenge?" and I said Yes.

She asked me what he had done that was so terrible that I was so eager for revenge, for his punishment, to which I replied that he had killed me, that he had thrown three other people's deaths into me to kill me. I said that I would have been dead a long time ago and that it was Krsna's mercy that I was alive. I told my friend that I wanted revenge so that justice would be served, but she said it was none of our business. She said several times that it was none of our business, but each time I said that I really wanted it.

When I got home, I saw the situation from a different angle. A hint of this was given to me by the maps of the day that I post every morning. That morning, the maps of the day showed some kind of meeting, about which I wrote the following: "This will be going out into the world, signing some kind of contract, signing some papers, as a result of which we will be freed from what bound us and severely restricted us. But this is not a meeting in private, but among people, since the child on the map below has three eyes, that is, there will be more eyes at that meeting than necessary. It will be a meeting where there are some other people."

When I read these words written on the morning of that day, I saw that through my friend some other persons were talking to me, telling me that this is not our business, that the decision to execute the punishment of this Shri Ram is not in our jurisdiction. I thought it was my light force team talking to me. I saw that they had told me through my friend that the matter of punishing this Shri Ram was under the jurisdiction of another Department, the yamadutas Department, which would decide how and when to punish him. But I insisted that I wanted revenge. It was as if I was telling them that I was demanding that he be punished not by the yamadutas after his death, but through his death in this life, since revenge is an eye for an eye, death for death. I said that he killed me and I demand revenge, that is, his punishment through his death.

It turns out that I spoke with my team of light forces and demanded that the punishment of Shri Ram be fulfilled not after his death by the yamadutas in the hellish worlds, but by my team through his death. Through fortune-telling on coffee grounds, I was told that I had the right to fulfill one of my wishes, and I expressed this desire.

They asked me on what basis they could demand that the case be transferred from the yamadut Department to my team, and I replied that my claim as his Shakti could serve as the basis for this. I said that I have the right to satisfy my desire, because I am his Shakti, because I suffered as a result of his actions, he killed me, and I want him to receive his punishment not after this life, but in this life. I was kind of saying that since he killed me, they should kill him, too. On this basis, I demanded that his punishment be meted out to them in the form of death for death, and that it be carried out by the forces of my team.

Through my friend, I made a demand that the case of this Shri Ram be transferred from Omkara, from the higher Department of punishment, from the yamadutas, to my team. I demanded that revenge be carried out now, by my team. And on the same day, in the evening, I was shown that this wish of mine would be fulfilled. I saw it in the maps of the day, which showed that some restriction will be eliminated, a contract will be concluded. I saw that it said on the contract between my team and the Department of yamadutas, the Department of Omkara, the Supreme measure of punishment. The cards showed that a contract would be made, that they would hand the matter over to us, and that we would carry out his punishment as we saw fit.

In the maps of the day, it was said that with this step, we will say goodbye to a certain limitation of something that we could not surpass before. We could not move because of the ropes that bound us, but now we will be free of these bonds and we can leave this meeting, we can go our own way. It was written in the cards of the day that signing some papers, signing a contract, agreeing to something today would be favorable for us. Let's leave the past in the past, where it should be. The path is open. I saw in the maps of the day the conclusion of a contract between the Department of issuing capital punishment, that is, the Department of yamadutov, and my team.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

It turns out that I expressed a desire and demanded the execution of the punishment for a crime that is inexcusable, by my team. I demanded it and got the go-ahead for it, and it was shown to me in the maps of the day. When I realized this, I immediately received confirmation of this through a screenshot with the words Draupadi "Whoever dares to touch my clothes will die a terrible death." This screenshot confirmed to me that he, so to speak, touched my clothes, he dared to commit an unforgivable crime against me, and for this he will be punished with a terrible death.

In this way I was shown that his punishment in the hellish worlds was abolished. He will not be punished after this life, but through a terrible death at the end of this life. He will both be punished for an unforgivable crime and escape punishment in the hellish worlds at the hands of the yamadutas. Then I wondered which of my team would carry out this punishment — a man or a woman? The answer was a metaphorical map with a woman and subsequent clarifying maps. Through them, I was shown that he would be punished by a woman who had herself suffered from the actions of the Asuras, who did not spare her or her children, and she would not spare this Shri Ram, she would take revenge on him for me. I cannot do this, because I am his Shakti, but she will carry out this revenge, and at the same time it will be the highest mercy, because at the same time she will burn everything in him on the energy plane, including his Asuric nature, he will cease to be an Asur. And although it will be a terrible death for him, because that woman will brutally deal with him and it will be very painful for him, but it will not be more painful than in the infernal worlds of the yamadutas, and much shorter in time, and he will not be an Asura.

I was told that I could rest easy, as he would receive his punishment and justice would be served. I was shown that I deliberately set myself up to be drained of pious merit and created a situation for him to be forced to do so. I created situations for him to strip my store of piety and throw other people's deaths at me. I created these situations so that eventually his case would be transferred from the yamadut Department to my team, so that his punishment would be carried out by our team, so that he would stop being an Asur, but he would definitely receive the punishment. And all this was done to save him from the yamadutas.

Indeed, I came to him to save him from the yamadutas. He will be saved from the yamadutas through his terrible death, in which some woman who has suffered from the Asuras will burn on the energy plane, at a distance, everything Asuric in him. It will hurt him, but it will save him from the hellish worlds where the yamadutas are punishing him. And all this was done by me. I put myself under his thumb for this — just to take his case out of the hands of the yamadutas and demand that the punishment be done by us. I came to save him from the yamadutas, so that he would cease to be an Asura, and so that we could be reunited, as Shiva promised him, and return to the spiritual world.

346. Tied to your drip

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The metaphorical cards showed Shri Ram his interaction with other women, with just one card. It was a card from Irina Orda's Emotions of fate deck. It shows a man lying in a hospital bed, who was put on an IV.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Here Shri Ram was shown that I am the IV to which he is attached. I am his Shakti, I give him the strength to live. I am his mate, from whom strength and pious merit flow to him, as from a woman to a man in a pair. I'm his donor, the most important one. He lives by it. And we are connected to it, as a man is connected to a dropper by a wire. But if he twitches somewhere to the side, then it necessarily becomes painful for him, because this wire is inserted into the man's arm with a sharp catheter. If he pulls his arm somewhere, the catheter will jerk and cause him pain.

So Shri Ram was shown that I am his eternal mate and that if he interacts with any other woman, then for him it will necessarily lead to some kind of tragedy in one form or another. And by applying force to him, it turns out that I'm just saving him from this pain. I'm his lifeguard. It may seem that these methods of force, applied to him in the form of demands for his incapacity and compensation for my moral harm, are cruel, merciless, unfair, but what can I do? The picture shown on this map is its natural position. He feeds on his mate, and if he interacts with any other woman, he gets hurt. This happens regardless of our wishes, our wishes, curses, whatever. This is an objective reality.

No healers, psychics, psychologists and so on can remove this from him, since this is his natural position — he has his Shakti, so interacting with other women causes him pain. No one can shield him from this pain if he is not with his Shakti, but with some other woman. No one will remove this corruption, this hex, this evil fate, as they would call it, because this is not an evil fate or a corruption, this is his natural position, he has his eternal mate, from which strength flows to him. All the other women are nothing to him, and if he interacts with them, this sharp catheter will prick him painfully. No psychics or psychologists can pull this sharp catheter out of him or ensure that his interaction with other women is cloudless and happy. It's just unrealistic.

And if he is not with his Shakti, but with other women and because of this he is torn apart by acute pain, then how can he be saved from this pain? How can you save a man from this constant pain that he felt, constantly twitching at other women? He will jump on another woman, like there is good, better. It is better than the previous one, all in accordance with the principle of the Asuras that we remember only the best. But the acute catheter is not dormant. A sharp catheter is bound to break and break everything, and it will be very painful. It will be like heart surgery. Because we are an eternal couple. So clearly, the metaphorical maps showed Shri Ram the scheme of receiving these heart operations, which led to all his relationships with women for many, many lives.

347. One girl — two blades

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

These metaphorical maps also showed why we fell from the spiritual world to the material world. I had my own signature author's layout, which was called «Sarasvati's Message» by Irina Orda, the author of these metaphorical maps. I have done it to many women, and in the layout made by one of them, I saw that it refers to Shri Ram. This is the «Message from Sarasvati to Lyudmila» layout. From her words, from the layout made for her and from the maps of this layout, I saw that it describes the path of Shri Ram.

There it is clearly seen that he has fallen into some lower worlds and they are catching up with him. This is shown on the map of the girl with burning candles at the bottom. He wants to escape from these lower worlds, as the girl on the map tends to escape from the candles burning up from below. But these lower worlds are constantly catching up with it and want to burn it down completely. And he was in some kind of armed forces (the map of the woman in the fur coat said this), but this is long past (the girl in the green sundress looking back). He's done with these armed forces, because I canceled all his obligations to the Asuras and his contract in his service in the Asuras landing on different planets. I said that either they would cancel all his promises, or I would cancel them all. So I canceled all his contracts with these asuran armed forces, with the asuran landing force on different planets. It's all in the past, he has nothing to do with them.

But the Asuric world still wants to get it and burn it (like burning candles catching up with a girl trying to escape from them). The Asuric world wants to burn him down, because I turned out to be his eternal wife and destroyed many Asuras. The Asuras have a big grudge against him. They want to destroy it because I did a lot of damage to them because of it. But he wants to escape from them to enjoy (as the girl with candles stretches her hands to the rainbow, and above her the girl drinks the elixir of youth, which speaks of the higher heavenly planets where they drink Amrita and soma and where there are solid pleasures of the senses).

He wants to enjoy it. He is not going to the spiritual world. He doesn't want to go there. He has no such desire. He just wants to enjoy, because the girl on top does not drink the nectar of immortality, but the elixir of youth, that is, he does not want to go beyond the mortal world, so that he no longer has to be born and die. He just wants pleasure.

All the women that he had, according to the principle of the Asuras «we remember only the best», the twitching of his compass is like butterflies flying behind a girl in lilac in this scenario. They are not related to him in any way, they are flying somewhere far away, and he does not remember about them. And the topmost card in the center shows that he has an unusual wife. She holds a blade in each of her hands and has a blindfold over her eyes.

It shows that his wife has two real husbands, both in the material world and in the spiritual world. In the material world, it is he and the Deity Nrsimhadeva who accepted my call to become my husband when I danced devotional dances for Him on the higher heavenly planets. And so it is in the spiritual world.

That is, this Shri Ram was shown to be the husband of a woman who has another real husband. This was also indicated by my «Sarasvati's Message» layout, which I made for myself. It contains a card of the bride of the Lord, as well as two cards on which a woman has a red dot on her forehead, the sign of a married woman.

That is, I have a husband, and he is my eternal husband and he was my husband in the spiritual world. This is clear from the fact that the girl has a red dot on both cards, so I am a married woman in both cases-both in the material world and in the spiritual world.

And the fact that this husband is the same person, the same man, pointed out the screenshot with the words «Only one», which came out just when I was talking about it in my video on the layout. Only one man is my husband in both cases, that is, both in the material and spiritual world, he is my eternal husband, and I am his eternal wife.

In other words, I am a married woman in the spiritual world. I have my eternal husband. He is my eternal companion, and I am his Shakti, and we have been together since the beginning of time, before we came here to the material world. Back in the spirit world, we were a couple. That is, the metaphorical maps confirmed what was already openly my videos that Shri Ram was in the spirit world and fallen there, from heaven to earth, as two cards of the girls with a dot on her forehead are standing nearby and when I talked about it in the video scenario, there was a screenshot with the words «Only one». He is my one husband in both cases. In both cases? Both in the spiritual and in the material world, so we were in the spiritual world.

And I am also the bride of the Lord, and this is also my original permanent status, because on the upper right card of my layout is drawn a nun, the bride of the Lord. I am the bride of the Lord, and this is my original, highest position, since this card is at the very top.

And these cards of the girls with a red dot on their foreheads and the bride of the Lord in my hand and the card of the girl with two blades from the Shri Ram hand show that my original position is to have two husbands, one of them is my eternal husband, and the other is God himself, and they are equal for me, because the eyes of the girl with two blades are covered with a blindfold, she does not see any difference between the blades, they are equal for her.

This means that my original Rasa, or relationship with the Lord, is parakiya — Rasa. I am a married gopi in the spiritual world. I am a married gopi there, that is, a girl who has her permanent eternal husband, but who is also in some kind of love relationship with Krishna. This is the parakiya race.

Apparently, this parakiya-race of mine is the reason we came to the material world. Most likely, this is what prompted Shri Ram to leave the spiritual world. When we were together, an eternal married couple in the spirit world, he wanted me to belong only to him, to be only his, so that there would be no second blade in my hand. That's why he wanted to leave the spiritual world for the material world — so that I could belong entirely to him and no one else.

Because of this, I realized that this Shri Ram loved me so much in the spiritual world. He loved me even more than Krishna himself, that he even sacrificed the spiritual world and his love for Krishna for the sake of loving me. And what did he do to me here? He gave me all my fun, sold some other Asuras, gave me just, wanted to give me euricase tote to Asura everything I have ruined, extorted from me, all my pious merits, bring me someone else's death and someone else's sinful karma, as in the trash in a public toilet. This is what he did to me in the material world. And he loved me so much that he left the spiritual world in order to love me and that I would only love him, that I would only be with him.

I did my Dharma, I went with him as his faithful, devoted wife, fulfilling her husband's wishes, because of this I fell from the spiritual world to the material world. What did I get for it? I received a curse and the fact that my eternal husband gave me and sold me to everyone, wanted to deprive me of everything and send me to animal life forms without my pious merits. And it's a good thing that he pitied me by throwing deaths into me, because if it weren't for those deaths, before I was born into animal forms of life, I would have had to experience an abyss of humiliation and suffering here in this life.

348. «My precious...»

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I was also playing a game with metaphorical cards at the same time, and there was a card that showed a scary babaika crawling from under the bed to a girl sitting on the bed. As usual, I first described everything I saw on the map, and after a while I saw what was actually said in my own words.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

There I wrote the following: «A boy and a girl are playing hide-and-seek. Their pictures are on the wall. The boy is hiding under the bed, and the girl is sitting on the bed. The boy invents that he is a babaika to make it more interesting to play. This babaika is like Gollum in the Lord of the rings, who ran after his beauty and said: «My beauty... My darling»... Well, very similar to him. Gollum pretended to help. What he really needed was a ring. And for the sake of the ring, he could do anything mean. Apparently, this charm for Gollum is this girl, his eyes are burning with the fire of waiting for a meeting, and for her he is ready for anything. That's what this map is about. About the long-awaited meeting of this «Gollum» with this girl. They turned their eyes on each other. There is no one else on the map. This means that there are no extra third parties and is not expected. The girl is also waiting for this meeting with her «Gollum», for whom she is the most expensive and desirable and only on which all the dreams and desires of this»Gollum« are directed. Yes, they haven't met yet, but it looks like the hug is close, since they are already close to each other. Gollum is so looking forward to this wonderful meeting... So joyful, lit up with happiness. Yes, he does not look very good, in the sense that he, apparently, is an Asur, but what can you do, such is their planida that they are so different, but already a couple. After all, there are two photos on the wall: his and hers. They're a couple. In Gollum's eyes, such a joyful hope is visible, a very good map. Now I would call it «a long-awaited meeting Soon»«.

After I wrote all this, I saw in it Shri Ram and his attitude towards me. In the words «Gollum pretended to help. In fact, he needed a ring» I saw that Shri Ram, when he was on a landing of Asuras on different planets, pretended to help. He showed the Asuras that he was helping them, that he was working as a team for their common goal. He pretended that he went in the Asuras ' landing party to plunder the inhabitants of different planets, extort their pious merits from them, crush them, influence them, and secretly rule them. But he didn't really need to. All he really needed was the ring, which is me. He received the blessing of Shiva to be reunited with me, and for this he went to this Asura landing party.

Further in the description of this map with babaika it was written: «And for the sake of the ring, he could do anything mean». This means that all the meanness that he did in the Asura landing (giving good women to the Asura sweepstakes to be broken there, and everything else), he did in order to meet with me. That's why I took it all in when I got close to him. Because he did all this to meet me. Yes, he would have done everything with them anyway, on his own, but here I was the culprit. He did not feel sorry for anyone when he was in the Asuras ' landing, and did everything that was told to him there.

He was looking for me on many planets of the material world in the Asuras 'landing:" My beauty, my beauty».... How many women he destroyed, humiliated, and completely disfigured in order to find me. When he found me, he did the same to me. For the sake of this charm, he was ready to throw anyone from anywhere, destroy anyone, and go to any meanness, for the sake of this charm, which turned out to be me.

What a wonderful material world! He left the spiritual world for me, and here in the material world, he did so many mean things to find me. When he found me, he did all these mean things to me. This is the material world. Draw conclusions, dear friends, ladies and gentlemen.

349. Confidentiality agreement

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

On March 8 of this year, 2020, a potential customer called me, found me somewhere on the Internet, said that he represented some cool translation Agency in Germany. We talked to him, he sent me a small text, I made it, and he called me again, said that I was suitable for them, that they now need to make a large book, that he will send all the necessary papers for placing an order and we will work.

During the conversation, he said several times that I could not hear well, although I heard him perfectly normally, the audibility was excellent, but he constantly spoke: «Something is so hard to hear, you must have something wrong». I said it was his connection. He said that this is not the case with us, and I replied that no, we are fine, it's something wrong with them. He also asked me where I was geographically, and said that everything was not in order here, and I told him that everything was in order here.

He sent me the necessary papers and a confidentiality agreement to start making the book. I read the papers carefully, and I was a little confused by one point in the confidentiality agreement. It said that if the files he sent me got somewhere on the Internet, there would be a trial and I would be charged a lot of money. Yes, I know that confidentiality agreements sometimes include such clauses, but this time I was alerted to something.

I thought that someone could hack into my computer over the Internet and steal these files from me, maybe they would do it themselves, I wouldn't even know about it. I thought it might be a simple scheme to hack into my computer and deliberately steal files that you sent yourself, put them somewhere, and then through the court to blame me and shake off a lot of money from me.

I wrote to him that I was very confused about this point, because if someone steals these files from me, it will be me. I asked him to smooth it out so that I wouldn't be so scared. He replied that this is a standard item, everyone has it. Yes, many people have similar clauses in the confidentiality agreement, but this time there was a wording that really bothered me.

He sent me his photos with his data and his record, then called again and said that I can trust him, everything will be fine, that he is the Director of a cool translation Agency, a respected person, they say, everything is serious. He pushed me again, I said I agreed, so be it, I will sign this agreement, and we came to a consensus.

I sat down to work and then I feel: I have turned on the stove at the bottom, it is burning very hot. I feel that Gorenje is rising down there, and it is getting more and more intense. I sit and think: why would this happen? Absolutely nothing. I'm sitting here working, where could this Gorenje, this stove come from? But this stove worked independently of me, and it was as if someone from outside pressed some button in my energy body that turns on this stove at the bottom, and presses it, pumping and pumping this Gorenje that it was amplified and broke through the protection.

And I started tracking this state. Because I have been interacting with this Shri Ram for more than four years, and I have been through this switching on of stoves many times, I know what it is. I thought it wasn't like this Gorenje had turned on by itself. There was a clear and sharp interference from outside. I decided that I would sit and look at this case as if from the outside, as an outsider.

All of a sudden, I started thinking about this man, and I started seeing pictures of him that he had sent me for some reason. Why did he send me his photos? You don't need this to work at all. Not his photos, not his impressive track record. My mind became filled with thoughts about this customer as a man, as a representative of the male sex, that he was so interesting and everything like that. I sit and track it all. Gorenje stove continues, the pressure is being pumped up, thoughts of him as a man and rush through my mind in a continuous stream.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I think: why on earth am I thinking about this man? I have Shri Ram. And even if it doesn't exist at all, why should I think about some strange man who is nobody to me, who just sent a book for work and that's it? Why should I think of someone else's man as a man, no matter how interesting he is? He's nobody to me, absolutely nobody. But these thoughts are so pressing, and from below it is also pressing and pressing.

I thought: well, this is definitely Asur. I remembered the file he sent me. He graduated from the translation Department of Moscow state University, worked in many cool places, headed cool translation bureaus and is now the cool Director of a cool translation Bureau in Germany. Looks normal, trustworthy, presentable.

I thought: all Asuras look pretty, all inspire confidence. And his good fortune, well-being may indicate that he could steal enough from others of their pious merits, due to which he could be well-settled, buy a good standard of living, a good career development. I thought: Yes, maybe this is Asur. Maybe it's burning at the bottom and these thoughts are just the effect from the outside. I pressed a button in the women's centers on the energy plane just to arouse this desire, and I manipulated my mind to have sex with someone, if there is someone, or to masturbate with thoughts of him.

I took the metaphorical cards, Irina Orda's «Emotions of fate», and asked them to show me if this was really an invasion from outside or if I had some kind of sudden hormonal surge. I pull the cards, lay them out, and the cards show that, indeed, this is an invasion from outside. There was a map with a sinister scary black monster with burning red eyes, crawling and pulling its terrible claws. I looked at this map and thought: really, this is Asur, lezet, so cute in appearance, inspiring confidence, with a representative voice, all so cool. I thought: he's so cool because he's picked up other people's pious merits, which is why he can be so cool.

I remembered the phone conversations I'd had with him and the words he'd used. First of all, why call so many? Secondly, the word «connection» was used several times in the conversation, and this may mean establishing a connection, and what kind of connection? If Gorenje is switched on from below, it is clear what connection is being discussed. I remembered that in the conversation, he said many times that something was wrong with us, and I replied that it was something wrong with them, but we were fine.

This was before March 8. The March of the coronavirus had already begun in Europe, and this friend had a translation Agency in Germany, even though he was a Muscovite. I thought: the coronavirus has started in Germany, and it seems that many customers have fallen off from it. Apparently, everything went wrong in his business. There is no profit, but you have to pay. Because of this coronavirus, because of the quarantine, because everyone has collapsed, all its customers have disappeared. Business is at zero. This means that we need to improve the situation somehow. And there may also be a fear of getting sick with this coronavirus and dying, since there are such strict measures around — self-isolation, a mask regime.

I thought that all this is very stressful for him and he just wants to get rid of it, pumping out of another stupid chicken its pious merits and at the expense of these pious merits, improving his financial situation, providing himself with a safety cushion and protecting his health and the health of his loved ones. I thought: how clever he is! Indeed, he said that it was not good for you, and I replied that we were all right, it was something wrong with him. I mean, I thought he was asking if we were good with pious services, if there was anything to steal, and I said Yes, there is, a lot, take as much as you want.

I told him that everything is fine with us, it's not good for him. In other words, it was shown to me that he has some problems there and wants to solve these problems at my expense. He wants to establish this connection so that I will engage in self-satisfaction, get my dose of sexual pleasure, and that he will take a large portion of my pious services from me as payment for receiving this pleasure. This is a purchase and sale transaction: he will arrange for me to discharge, receive pleasure through this invisible connection established on the energy plane, and I will send him a portion of my pious merits for this. Like, everything is fair, everyone got what they wanted.

And I confirmed to him in a telephone conversation that I am doing well, I have pious merits, I have something to take. I met the desired criteria. And it just remained for this stupid chicken to manipulate her mind, throw these thoughts about him as a man into her mind and turn on the stove from below, so that she, the fool, would run to have sex with someone or masturbate, with thoughts of him. And he'll connect, and when will be the release of energy discharge, she receives his goods, and he'll get paid for the goods, there will be an exchange: she discharge him — pious merits.

He will pump out a lot of pious merits, and accordingly, everything will get better for him. Of course, everything will be ruined for me, because the pious merits have sailed away, and they were needed as a safety cushion. He will have an influx of pious merits, a generous infusion of resources, and he will improve his situation at my expense, at the expense of my austerities, get a safety cushion so that this coronavirus does not affect him in any way. Even if everyone gets sick, these pious services will protect him from this coronavirus. And his business will not collapse. Instead of the departed customers, there will be new ones who have money and who do not care about all this.

I thought: how clever he is! Very clever! But for me, this is an unprofitable deal, an unequal exchange: I will only get a detente, enjoy a certain amount of time, and he will get a radical improvement in his situation. And I made my complaint to this Shri Ram. Knowing that this Shri Ram is also an Asur and understands everything about this and should protect me as his wife, I said to him: «what is it, Shri Ram, that you let some goat, your Asur, come to me, so that he can push my female centers and manipulate my consciousness with complete impunity? Where are you sitting? You're not protecting me well! Why did someone from outside come to me? Is this protection? You don't know how to protect something! You should! You are an Asur, you understand everything about all these energy matters. This is me, a stupid chicken, sitting and just tracking external manifestations, I do not see it and do not know, but you see and know everything. Why did you let this goat come to me?»

I have made my complaint to Shri Ram and I think: what will he say to me? I decided to look at Shri Ram's answer through metaphorical maps. I got the cards that he told me to use: «I'm sorry, I overlooked, I made a mistake. Indeed, this type got through. I see it all. Forgive me. Guilty "(card with the words «I'm sorry» written in blood).

He assured me (through cards with a dog barking menacingly, then with a Buddha and a couple of old men on a bench): «But don't worry, I'll break this goat right now, don't be afraid, I'll deal with it, everything will be fine. Relax, calm down, I'm on guard. No one can get through. It's just the two of us, that's all. No Asuras will pass».

I sit and think: okay, since he told me that he would sort it out and I just need to calm down, I'll see what happens. I sit, continue to do my business, and monitor, as an outside observer, these signs in the body and thoughts in the mind. I look: thoughts about that man slowly began to disappear by themselves. Before that, it was as if these thoughts were thrown into my head. You just get your thoughts thrown in, and you sit there and think that's what you're thinking. And here I see: this stuffing stops. I look: this Gorenje, which was pumped up from below, begins to subside slowly and completely subsided. I looked at it and thought: Shri Ram has dealt with this freak, now we can relax. I relaxed, and everything went as if nothing had happened.

350. Fly away, cockroach!

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I thought that was the end of it, but that night my dad called me and said that he found a cockroach in his house. My dad is super clean, very zealous for cleanliness, he does not have cockroaches. We brought cockroaches to him a couple of times, he was coping with them safely, and then suddenly he calls and says that he saw one cockroach. He said that they had been gone for a long time and suddenly there was a cockroach. Dad said that he chased this cockroach to the last, did not let it go and killed it.

I didn't understand anything at the time, what was being said to me through my dad's words, but the next day my dad called me again and started talking about this cockroach again, and at the end he said that I should also not miss the cockroach, beat it and finish it off. And he even said that the cockroach should be fried with something hot. He said: «Throw a cockroach on a hot stove to burn it».

And when he said something about a hot stove, it hit me. I immediately remembered how I fried these Asuras with a hot stove, how I let them into a mad, furious, burning fire, and I thought that my dad was calling for a reason. This is the second time he's called about this cockroach, even though he killed it a long time ago. This is not for nothing. Moreover, he said that it is necessary to roast a cockroach on a hot stove, finish it off.

And then I realized that I had been told through my dad's words about the cockroach about the friend who turned on my stove, threw thoughts of him as a man into my mind and wanted to Rob my piety account. I realized that I had been told not to miss him in any way, to catch up with him, finish him off, and throw him on the hot stove like a cockroach, so that he would not be there.

I thought that this Shri Ram told me through metaphorical cards that he would deal with him so that I would relax and be calm, they say, strangers will not pass. And indeed, the Gorenje then subsided, the manipulation of consciousness ended, those thoughts about that man disappeared, and I then relaxed. But then they tell me through my dad that I should not miss this guy, I should fry him on the stove, finish him off so that he does not become.

Apparently, Shri Ram just told him to leave me alone, that it was better not to touch me, but they tell me through my dad that this is not enough. He is not to me, so to another now will stick in the same way and will extort from her her pious merits. And he does it all the time. This is his way of existence in the material world-to steal from a woman, a stupid chicken, her pious merits, to be always afloat, to get a good birth, a good education-he graduated from Moscow state University, became a translator, built a career in cool firms, all such a cool Director, a representative man, speaks down, with a sense of superiority.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Why is it like this? Because he's got a lot of pious merit from all over the place, which is why he can be so cool. And they say to me: we must end it. You need to finish it off like that cockroach, and throw it on a hot stove, burn it completely. I thought: well, since I was told so, we'll do it, throw it on the hot stove.

I immediately imagined this friend on my internal screen and threw him on my hot stove, did a lot of things with him, drained everything from him and then sent him to the funnel from above. When he flew into this funnel, he folded his hands in Namaste, looked at me with pleading eyes and begged my forgiveness. I didn't even look at him. I was so disgusted to look at him.

I thought: now this coronavirus is spreading across the planet. Europe has already been quarantined. I live alone with two children. He's so cool, he has a cool translation Agency, he's so Packed, but he decided to Rob me. Who should I Rob? Me, a woman with two children who needs help. But he decided that I didn't have the right to live a normal life, that I didn't deserve even the conditions I'm living in now. What is this all about? Rob a woman who needs help.

I thought: this cockroach in any case should not be pitied, in any case. He flew with such a pleading look, so folded his paws, begged me to forgive him, but I didn't even look at him, I thought: «Fly, cockroach, fly». I tried to turn on the hot stove so that everything would burn down, and sent him there.

There were no more letters or calls from that friend. I didn't write there either. I thought that if this is all true, then he is no longer alive, and if this is all an invention of my mind, then it means that he has found other performers and then what will I write to him? Although it didn't look like he went to look for other performers, since he called so hard, sent all the documents, I gave my consent, and he said that we would work.

After that, I was very sad. I thought this Shri Ram was the same. He is exactly the same Asur who presses the same energy plan in women on their female centers, so that they have this stove turned on, so that they want to satisfy themselves, so that this Gorenje stops baking so much. And these manipulations of consciousness, he also does, throws into the minds of other people thoughts that are beneficial to him, so that people think that they think it. I thought: this Shri Ram is the same. He's doing the same thing as the one who did all this to me. In the same way, he drains other women who need help from their pious merits in order to be such a pretty, so polished, so successful man in life.

These thoughts made me feel so sad. I thought: I should be with this one. But if you were told to be with him, no matter what happens, then you need to continue to be in it and somehow endure it. We must somehow tolerate his presence, so invisible, as they tolerate an itchy pimple. Yes, there is one. Yes, it itches. But you have to put up with it. I mentally told him, " you're a pimple. I'll put up with you like a pimple. You're a pimple now. Just so you know». I immediately felt better.

351. Only Shakti and no one else

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

After that, one morning in a game with metaphorical cards, I came up with a map that shows a boy who fell off a Bicycle. I looked at it and wrote that I called this card «Fell, did push-UPS, got up, went». I didn't understand it at the time, but right after it, a screenshot of Arjuna asking for forgiveness and the words «Forgive me» came out on my desktop, then a screenshot of Arjuna asking for forgiveness from Draupadi, and then a screenshot of Karna saying «you can't hang a fruit that Fell from a tree back». I looked at all this and thought: did this Shri Ram fall with someone again and do push-UPS? I decided to ask the metaphorical cards and pulled out a single card. A map came out with one man and two women in bed.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I looked at it all and thought: right, I'm being shown that he's back at it again, that his twitching compass has turned sideways and found someone to stick to. Even knowing everything about us, even knowing that it will bring him, that it will end in something bad for him, he still wants to pull this compass into someone. I felt so sad. I thought life was crap. This Shri Ram does not value me at all, does not value my good mood and my attitude towards him.

And then our cat Sonechka ran across the table to her favorite place on the window and accidentally threw the Deity Lakshmi-Nrsimha on the floor. How she threw it off is completely unclear. It's metal and very heavy, you can't just throw it off. And besides, Sonechka usually walks very carefully, without touching anything or even moving it, and here she not only moved the Deity, but even dropped it from the table to the floor with a loud sound.

I looked at this and thought that Nrsimhadev was telling me: «But I love you». I had a perfectly clear idea, as if He had told me: «But I love you». I thought He fell on purpose. Yes, the cat could have thrown it off, although It has been on my Desk for years, the cat goes back and forth and it has never fallen, but suddenly It fell, and just when I thought that this Shri Ram does not value me. Even though he knows everything about us, he's still trying to pull his compass on someone. And Nrisimhadev said to me: «But I love you».

I thought that Nrsimhadev himself told me that even if no one loves me and no one cares about me, He always loves me. I put It next to me and thought that there is nothing in the material world to hold on to, and what am I doing here? Why am I here? What am I doing here?

Then I thought that I should take from the woman with whom he was there, all that she has, all her pious services. I felt sorry for her, but then I thought that if Krishna gave her to this Shri Ram, then I shouldn't feel sorry for her, because the higher eye knows who to direct where. If she was sent there, it means that she is worthy of it. As in the famous slogan: «I deserve it». This ad never says who is worthy of what. In this case, the woman was worthy of my draining her of all her pious services.

I felt sorry for her, but I still thought she was worth it, since she was with Shri Ram. I thought that Krishna had given it to him on purpose to make it disappear. I looked at my internal screen and immediately saw her there. I stood on the side of it and thought to go inside and sing «ugram viram mahavishnum», but I was so disgusted because he was there. I thought: ugh, what an abomination!

I just turned on the light in it, then the glow, and then imagined that everything went from it to me in a big stream. Then everything there collapsed and came out of her in a single pop, and she deflated like a burst balloon, all shriveled up and curled up. I thought: it is right that others should not be offended, that no one should ever approach him of their own free will, in any case, knowing that this will happen to them and that I should not be offended.

I did not like the idea that he was pleased with her, and I was such a mymra, cuttlefish, but I thought that no one else would be pleased with her, because without her pious merits, she would lose everything that she had, and she would no longer be pleasant to anyone. I thought that if anyone else was with him, I would drink them all, so that everyone would be afraid to even approach him. I was very, very sad.

And then I came across the words of my Gurudev to one of his students on the Internet. He told her: «You weren't born to be a mother. Sorry. But you took this birth to end your material existence. I know it's not easy, but you have to try. You must be determined. Life is short. And soon you will die. By then, you should be in Krishna consciousness. This is the reason you were born».

I thought: Yes, indeed, I was not born to be a wife or a mother. I was born to do away with having to support all that Shri Ram's activities, to do away with his antics at my expense. I have to finish this completely and return to the spirit world. Nothing keeps me here, because I came here, I came here because of him, because of his desire. But what did I get as a result? A curse to be one.

I thought it was a good thing he got the curse of being childless, not me. How good it is that I have children in my life! I felt very sorry for him. I thought: how many lifetimes after that curse, he lived here, and he never had a child of his own in any life. Not at all. I thought: how grateful I am to the wise man who gave this curse to him, and not to me. He pitied me so much, that wise man! God, what happiness!

I thought: the material world is such a sad place, I wasn't born to be a wife or a mother. I was born to end it all. In my case, Gurudev's words were: «You were not born to become a wife or a mother. Sorry. But you took this birth to end your material existence». I thought: I also took birth in order to end the material existence of so many Asuras, and I must complete this task.

I also remembered that when this Shri Ram first joined me and began to push me under his brotherhood, I came to Enya's song «Only Time». I thought: even then, this Shri Ram was shown everything: Only Time. Only time. Time is Kala in Sanskrit, Kali. Kali is Shakti. He was already told that he would have no other women, only his Shakti. Only Time. Only his Kali, only his Shakti. There won't be any others. And I thought: if anywhere else, in any way, they show me that he even has someone, I will drink them, dry them mercilessly, because Only Time. Only Shakti and no one else.

352. Test drive for the new sun

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Then the metaphorical maps showed me that after some time this Shri Ram will transfer his Asuric organization to some other RA, that is, a big Asura who can manage large Asuric organizations, who is like a big spider, who holds in his paws, so to speak, all the web, all the threads of the web and directs them, like fingers pressing the keys of a piano, and the hammers on the other side of the piano strike the strings, the strings vibrate and make a sound. And this big Asur RA somehow presses the Asuras from his Asuric organization, and they do what he needs. This RA, the spider, the most important in the Asuric organization, is constantly connected to them and communicates with them on his thought chat. They constantly have online chat Asuric conferences on a mental level, without any Internets, without any vibers, skypes, vatsaps, zooms and others like them. The Asuras have their own ways of communicating. This is a thought chat. And some big Asur, RA, will take over the position of the most important Asur in the local Asuric organization. In our big city, he will be the most important Asur of the local Asuric organization.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I learned that Shri Ram will hand over his entire Asuric organization to some other big Asura from a metaphorical card layout I made for a girl in March of this year, 2020, for her marriage. She was interested in the prospects of marriage in this place and far away, one might say, on the other side of the country. When she thought about whether to go there or stay here, she compared this and that place, and in relation to this place, she came up with a map of Surya, in which the shining Sun God rides on his chariot drawn by horses. I didn't really understand what this card means at the time, but then I posted its layout on my website, and in the verse, his words attracted my attention to its layout:

Fate... will come, fate will descend,
Here, half is given to everyone.
Maybe Yes... maybe no, who knows?
But I believe that I am no longer here alone.
I haven't met you yet.
You and I still have everything ahead of us.
Let's start our whole life over,
With each other together to go.
I thought: how strange:
I haven't met you yet.
You and I still have everything ahead of us.
But I believe that I am no longer here alone.

I thought: how is this? And then I realized: this is how the Asuras can do it. Outwardly, on the physical plane, there have not been any meetings yet, and people can be very far from each other, but on the energy, on the mental plane, the Asur can already connect to a person and can already sit in his thoughts, see through his eyes, read his thoughts, influence his decisions, his desires.

I thought that this verse clearly indicates that in this place, for this girl, to whom I did this alignment, the cards were written by an Asura husband, because she has not met him yet, they still have everything ahead of them, but she is not alone here. He's already with her. But how could he be with her if she hadn't met him yet? Well, it is clear how: he is already connected to her at a distance, and he is already with her, although she does not know about it and does not feel anything. It does not occur to her that any of the desires that she has may not be her own at all, but are gently implanted in her mind by someone from outside. It doesn't know that this is possible, so it doesn't track it. If she knew that such a phenomenon exists, she would at least try to track it, but she does not even have the assumption of such a thought in her mind, and therefore she does not track and does not even guess that someone can connect to it and already be with it.

And then I looked at Surya's map and its entire layout in a different way. I reviewed her entire layout, all the videos that I recorded on it, from this angle and saw that when I recorded these videos, it turns out that they somehow interacted through these videos, and there this RA was selected for the girl to whom I made this layout. I saw that he would be here leading the Asuric organization that this Shri Ram is now leading.

Why did I come to this conclusion? Because On the map at this point, the sun God appeared to her in his chariot. In Egypt, the Sun God is called RA, and RA among the Asuras is such a big Asur who has reached great heights and is able to influence other people and not just influence them, but he is able to connect to them and connect other Asuras to them. And he knows how to keep a large Asuric organization under him in their mental chat somehow energetically and mentally.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

On Surya's map, I saw clearly drawn RA, the big Asura. On the map, the Sun God symbolizes this big Asura RA, and under him are many horses, his servants, that is, under him are his Asuras, the whole big Asuric organization, and they serve him. He rules where they go, what they do, and they follow his commands.

When I realized this, I thought: this girl's cards here have drawn an Asura husband who will replace this Shri Ram and who will be the most important Asura here in this city.

I reviewed all the videos according to its layout and saved the places that carry some information about it, about this RA, and in the 330th episode of my novel "My novel. I am the wife of Asura» according to the screenshots of these informative places, RA told about this. There I told the following.

Outwardly, this is a good-looking man, decent, cultured, intelligent, inspiring confidence, great self-respect, endearing, smart enough, erudite, interesting interlocutor.

The fact that the cards were drawn to this girl by an Asura husband was confirmed by the place in the video where I spoke about the card of her alignment with the third eye and said that I also thought that this man would have something to do with Shiva. Just at this time, a screenshot was released with the words "if you want to get answers to your questions, then contact Lord Shiva». When I recorded that video on its layout, I did not understand what it was about, but when I understood about the sun God Surya — RA, I saw that Yes, indeed, this is an indication of RA, because the Asuras worship Lord Shiva. Her husband in this place will be directly related to Shiva, as it will be an Asur, although outwardly he is an ordinary man.

The next saved informative place was a screenshot with the words «You are not my choice, you are my destiny». When I recorded a video on its layout, this Asur was somehow highlighted. He knew at once that this was a conversation about him. He was told that he should become the husband of this girl, because this is not his choice, but his fate. Through a screenshot with the words "are You a warrior or a eunuch?» he was challenged over a map with a light bulb. That is, we sort of highlighted it, as indicated by the map with a light bulb over the man's head. During the recording of this video, he was all as if he was manifested and immediately realized that now this is all being said about him. And all the Asuras also understood this.

And he was told: «Are you a warrior or a eunuch?» So they told him: «You need to accept this challenge. We know it's not your choice, it's your destiny. If you do not accept this fate, you will become a eunuch. We will try, and you will become a eunuch». It was blackmail.

The next place that carried information was a screenshot with the words "Without Shakti, Shiva is a corpse (Shav)". When I spoke about this screenshot in her video, I thought that someone needs her as much as Parvati needs Shiva, but in fact at this point this big RA was told: «You won't just become a eunuch if you don't accept this fate, even if it's not your choice at all. If you don't agree, you will be gone. We won't just make you a eunuch, we'll drink all your manhood out of you, so you'll have nothing left. You will become a corpse, I'm sorry, but you should grow up to this girl as to the earth, become her husband and accept this fate, whatever it may be. You have to. If you don't accept this fate, you're dead. You're still alive, sort of breathing, but you're dead. This time period will pass quickly, before you know it, this life of yours will be over».

Through a screenshot with the words «For the good of Hastinapur, you must accept these responsibilities», he was told: «You should marry her because it's for the greater good». They did not tell him that he should become a big RA here and lead an Asuric organization. He was given a test drive, checked for lice. He was told, " You must accept these responsibilities. You must marry this girl and accept her as your destiny. For the good of Hastinapur» — and saw if it would pass this test drive.

The next informative moment — with the words " I Saw the companion of my life!» — showed that he thoroughly considered this situation and made a decision. He was highlighted, he had nowhere to go, all the Asuras saw that he was already highlighted, there is no escape. In the video, he was told: «If you do not agree, you will be a eunuch, and then you will become a nobody, a corpse, go to the next life, and there is no telling what will happen in the next life if you are made a eunuch before that». And he decided: «I will accept this fate. Yes, it's not my choice. I would have chosen something else, of course. I have a lot of different interesting women in mind, because I am a cool Asur, cute, women are greedy for such, but I was told that I must accept fate».

And through the screenshot with the words " I Saw the companion of my life!» he said: «Okay, good. I accept her as my life partner, as my wife». And the next moment, with a screenshot of Arjuna drawing three lines on her forehead, showed that this big RA had vowed that he would accept this fate as her husband. It passed the test drive successfully.

In a place with the words «you must take an oath of allegiance to the great Bhishma», he was told that he must take an oath of allegiance to the great Bhishma, that is, to me, that he would not go beyond the limits of what was allowed and would do everything right so that the Supreme would not punish him severely, otherwise nothing would save him.

353. The radiance of a new sun

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Screenshots saved from the video on the layout, told a lot more about this RA. They said it was reliable and reliable. This was explained by a screenshot of Krishna putting his hand on someone's shoulder. He is like Matsya, the Savior who saved everyone from the flood. There is no better candidate for the position of the local RA, as the screenshot from the Mahabharata said. We have highlighted the best for this place. It is the best, optimal option. The local Asuras can't count on the best, they already got more than they deserved. They should be happy that they will have such a cool RA. And it is blessed from above.

He uses the right words at the right time, that is, he knows where to apply what Asura for the right purpose, knows how to delegate authority, distribute responsibilities, and knows when to do what is best. He is very intelligent, will be good at steering the local Asuras.

Screenshot with the words " this is poison from gandhar. From it, even the largest animals die instantly» said that if someone needs to be destroyed, then he has the strength to do it. He is a very powerful Asur. It's unusual. God blessed him with perfection. The screenshot with the words «I can hit the target by sound» said that he has some unusual abilities, because not everyone can hit the target by sound.

A screenshot with the words «Temper Maharishi Durvasa is known to all» said he was quick-tempered, but on the other hand, the temper may say that it can burn anyone with his ardour, because of the temper from the word «zeal», «flame», that is, he has the ability to burn his ardor, heat, burning its laser, which means it can burn any, it can introduce anyone to this ability, so he's got some kind of beam, which with its heat, fire can burn, to burn any. Those that he needs to destroy, he somehow sprays, burns with his energy beam.

Screenshots with the words «my Uncle appreciates his truthfulness» as well as «Aware of my duty with my heart and mind, I am unwavering in my loyalty» said that he keeps his word. If he has given his word, he will keep it. The screenshot with the words «Yudhishtira is a smart politician and an expert on the Scriptures» said that he is an expert on the Scriptures, and not only those that we have here, but also some other rules.

The screenshot of Arjuna and Subhadra standing at the bottom of the Yamuna river, the waters of which parted and created walls around them, and Krishna standing in front of them, said that the girl for whom I did that alignment would be the protection of her Asura husband. And that's why he won't run away from her. She wouldn't have to worry about him getting away from her, because he'd been told that if that happened, he'd become a eunuch and then leave the body, and there was no telling what would happen to him. You can't run anywhere, the road is closed. Therefore, for his own safety, he had better be with her. Yes, and here he will have a large Asuric organization, great advantages.

It will be his armor, so he will be invulnerable. It will be his divine armor that can withstand even brahmastra, some very cool weapon. Only the wrath of a mighty sage, that is, my wrath, can kill him. That is, if he thinks that thanks to her protection, he can do anything and nothing will happen to him for it, then he has already been warned that I can kill him.

Also, many screenshots from the video on the layout showed how he should treat it. Through the screenshot with the words «only yours», this big RA was told that this girl who will become his wife will be only his, that is, he has no right to connect and allow anyone to her. He must protect her and not allow anyone to influence her or be with her in any way. He must protect her.

Through a screenshot with the words «only for married men», which came out at the same time as a map with a barking dog and the words «All the best to you, my children», he was told that sex will only be possible when they get married, because the dog barked there: «All the best to you, my children», that is, the business that results in children, they can only have when he becomes married, that is, when he marries her, and not before. This is the condition set for him.

Screenshots with the words «and he is so proud of his righteousness» and «Let it only exude the fragrance of righteousness» said that he should do everything to ensure that it is always righteous, pure, and not polluted by anything. He has to protect her from all sides so that she doesn't have any punctures or anything like that.

Through a screenshot of Krishna saying «Soon all his riches will be mine», this big RA was told that if his appointed wife wanted to direct his money to Krishna consciousness, then he should accept it and let it happen. I thought it was very good for the Yatra here to develop well.

When I spoke from the screenshot with the words «She who has become dear to the heart of king shantan will be very lucky», a screenshot came out with a prayer to Nrsimhadev: «Fulfill, fulfill my desire to serve you faithfully! Save, save me and everything around me!" Here this big RA was told to keep it and everything around it, that is, all the Yatra here. He also has to protect and protect all the devotees of Krishna here and all the Yatra here.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Through a screenshot of an old man with a dog and the words «will be very lucky» he was shown that due to the fact that he will be with her, he will be very lucky, he will be farty in everything.

Through a screenshot with the words «you are forbidden to violate the borders of the land of Bharata», he was told that he was forbidden to have at least some relationships with other women both in real life and on the energy plane.

In the screenshot with the words «If you guide me, Yes», it was shown that he was interested in whether she would guide him, give him signs on how to conduct his life and his Asuric organization, how to conduct his business and how to behave with her, and the answer was «Yes». She will give him signs. The Asuric organization here will go the right way, because it will be a devotee of Krishna who will give him the signs to lead his Asuric organization, and they will be the right signs.

The fact that she will guide him, give him signs, means that everything that will happen in her life will be a projection on his Affairs, including his activities in his Asuric organization. From this, I saw that they will have at least two children, necessarily of different sexes, in order to make it easier for these signs to go.

And because of this, he will earn a return to the spiritual world. This was told by a screenshot with an untied shoelace on an open palm with the words «Return to the spiritual world». How lucky he will be! Just by living a little life with a devotee of Krishna and helping her and those who are with her, he will earn a return to the spiritual world.

So they showed a video on the layout of metaphorical maps that I made to that girl on the prospects of her marriage in the place where she lived, and to a completely different place, far away from here. The maps showed her that in the place where she wanted to go, her husband would be a devotee of Krishna, and in this place where she lived, she would have a rich husband, who turns out to be an Asur. Thanks to these videos, he was forced to accept this fate, but the girl still went to another place after. Of course, she has the right to make such a decision, because no one forces her to marry an Asura. But thanks to these videos, a new leader, a new sun, a new RA was found for the Shri Ram Asuric organization. Whether that girl will be his wife or not, we don't know. In any case, this could be a test of the RA's trustworthiness, which he successfully passed.

354. «To put your head in my lap, you will have to remove the crown, otherwise it will hurt me»

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Then there were screenshots that showed that he had not come here to take away Shri Ram's Asuric organization. He did not come here for power, for a Kingdom, or for a position. He came because we highlighted him and told him: «You will either be a eunuch or her husband, and in General, without Shakti Shiva is a corpse, choose». He wasn't coming here. He lives in another city, far away from here, and to just come here, he needs to sell everything, close everything, move everything here, register here and start everything from scratch. This is quite a serious step.

Screenshots showed exactly when he will take up this position. This was shown by the moment when the words «From this moment on, he is the king!» and a metaphorical map with a flying pair of birds on the background of a full moon. The new sun, the new

RA, will accept the Asuric organization of Shri Ram when Shri Ram and I become together, a couple. Then the new RA will leave his former life and become fully involved in the local activities. He will get everything at once. We gave him a great gift. He didn't do anything about it, but he'll get it all at once.

Shri Ram was told through the screenshots to give him a more cordial welcome, to provide him with comprehensive assistance in his arrangement here. Through a screenshot with the words «You don't need to build it», Shri Ram was told that he doesn't need to build this RA. When this RA accepts the local Asuric organization, this entire city and the entire region will belong to him, and he will influence the minds of all, and mayors, and governors, and officials, and businessmen, and all who need to. The RA of the Asuras know how to do this. They are able to influence others on a mental level, at a distance, and everyone will dance to his tune, they will think that they are thinking. People will think that they want it and decide it. And Shri Ram was told that it was not necessary to build it, to instruct it, to instruct it, to give it unsolicited advice, he would handle everything himself, he would figure it out. It is not necessary to build it. He is a brave warrior, he does not deserve to be built, to be pointed out.

Of course, the question may arise as to why Shri Ram would have to show such an unheard — of generosity-just to give away his Asuric organization, which he was building here, cherishing like a big spider weaving its web. Why? This is indeed an unheard-of generosity. This is to make my life easier. Since I am connected with this Shri Ram, signs are sent through me for all his Affairs, and since he has an Asuric organization, signs are also sent about it, which makes my life very uneasy. And to make my life easier, it is necessary that he does not have this organization, so that there will be no signs of it.

When we are reunited with him and will be together, the signs of his organization will affect our life with him, because in our life then there will be some events that will show everything that happens in his organization, and the Asuras there will crush different women, siphon their pious merits from them, crush someone, destroy someone, and all this will bring discomfort to our family life with Shri Ram, if what's going on in his organization. And in order to avoid this dissonance due to his Asuric organization in our life, he needs to get rid of it, so that the signs on his Asuric organization stop going, because he no longer needs to serve it.

This is well shown in the screenshot with the words «my Dear, to put your head in my lap, you will have to remove the crown, otherwise it will hurt me». That is, this Shri Ram will have to remove his crown, stop leading this Asuric organization, resign the authority of the local king, a kind of underground king, that is, an invisible ruler who actually rules everything here, although no one can see it, since mayors and governors rule outwardly, but in fact everything is ruled by Asuras, who do not have to be in power to rule everything. And even they don't need it, because why draw unnecessary attention to themselves? The Asuras have everything well thought out in their invisible intervention. They don't get into power, they just influence the minds of those in power from a distance.

And Shri Ram will have to stop doing this, to be the king over everyone here, to stop invisibly ruling everything here and making everyone dance to his tune. He will have to give up his crown, otherwise it will cause me pain, because this reign through my whole life for him are signs, and since we will live together, these signs will bring a strong dissonance, great discomfort and pain in our family life, which is very undesirable. Therefore, he will have to take off this crown and get rid of his Asuric organization and the post of the local underground king. Only then can he put his head in my lap.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And when that happens, he will be free. We have already released him from the contract in the Asuras landing, but he still has to participate in Asuric Affairs, because he is a big RA and the leader of a large Asuric organization. It remains to free him from his Asuric organization, and then he will be free. Therefore, a new RA from some other city, which we have highlighted and forced to accept these responsibilities, is needed. And when this Shri Ram and I are together, then he will not be pressured by the rules of these organizations, it will not concern him.

This is what I told you about the new sun, the new RA, who will lead the Asuric organization here. He will hold the entire city and the entire region in his hands, all official power, will pull the strings of everyone, completely unnoticed. He is here a kind of an underground king that nobody knows, nobody can see, which is apparently not associated with the government, but which actually governs all, governs all, who is sitting at the top, like a puppet, because Asura can affect the consciousness, at a distance, and it does not feel. And when people do not know that it is possible to influence their consciousness completely imperceptibly, at a distance, they do not track it. They are like a herd of obedient sheep. And even if you track it, it is difficult to notice someone else's influence, and if you do not track it, then even more so. And this big Asur, who will come here from another city located far away, will lead everyone here like this.

355. Hanuman with a large mountain of magic grass

On the day when I was recording the 330th episode of my novel, in which I talked about this new sun, in the morning I took out the maps of the day, as usual. Every morning I get the maps of the day without looking, and post them on my instagram svetlana.vinodavani and describe them. The maps of that day showed the situation with the new sun, with this big RA. There, the first card came out with the words «I'm sorry» written in blood, the second card with Hanuman flying high in the sky and carrying a large mountain with the life — giving sanjivani grass, the third card-a strong handshake. The description of these maps of the day was as follows:

«Today I took out three cards of the day. The first is the inscription «I'm sorry» with a hand covered in blood, the second is Hanuman, a loyal servant and friend of Lord Rama, and the third is a firm handshake. In these cards, I see that today you need to forgive someone, because this is your loyal friend and assistant and you are colleagues and good friends with him, you should be together.

The cards of the day tell you to forgive someone, forgiveness is necessary, this person you can trust, he is your loyal friend.

When applied to various cases, the cards speak of mutually beneficial cooperation, the need for compromises when concluding deals and contracts.

Today's cards of the day act as a sign of support in a situation that worries you. They assure you of a positive outcome-provided that you do not give up and continue to move in the chosen direction, radiating love and consent.

Put aside your doubts and act. You are on the right track. The idea that comes to you will benefit you. The cards anticipate a positive outcome.

Song of the day. We look forward with confidence: the new day brings us success and happiness».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

When I posted them and described them, I didn't think about this new sun, I just described the maps of the day, but when I recorded a video about the new sun in the evening, I remembered these maps of the day, and I saw that they showed the whole situation.

I saw in these maps of the day that Shri Ram tells everyone from his Asuric organization that they are dear to him, that he is very sorry that their interaction will end, that his heart bleeds for all of them, he wishes them only the best, but it is necessary to say goodbye. I also saw that the new sun will be his true friend, because Hanuman is the true friend of Lord Rama, Shri Ram. Shri Ram will hand over his Asuric organization to the new sun, everything will happen honestly, cleanly, and a mutually beneficial agreement will be concluded. The new sun will carry this Asuric organization in its arms as securely as it carries mount Hanuman. His organization will be safe with him, everything will develop successfully for the common good, and it will be well protected. Hanuman carries a large mountain with sanjivani grass, a herb of immortality that heals even the dead. And Hanuman had to bring just a little of this grass, and he brought a whole mountain of this grass. This means that all wishes will be fulfilled, and the results may be even better than expected. Here's what we learned about the new RA, the new sun.

356. The last action of the novel is Asuric totalisatores

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

On July 14, 2020, I came to the last action in my novel-to destroy the Asuras who had something to do with the Asuric sweepstakes on different planets of the material world, where they land by landing, just being born to the inhabitants of those planets and living there just like them.

The idea for this promotion came to me on January 25, 2020. I woke up that morning and Enya's song «Only Time» was playing in my mind. I thought, why would this happen all of a sudden, and asked my daughter what the date is today. She replied that it was January 25, and I remembered that exactly four years ago, on January 25, 2016, this Shri Ram, my eternal husband, joined me, completely imperceptibly, imperceptibly, and began to use force methods to crush me under his entire brotherhood, under his entire Asuric organization. And that's when I got this song «only Time» by Enya.

When I realized that four years had passed, and remembered what had happened and what I had discovered, I felt very bitter. I thought that life was shit, that I came to him to make a whore out of me. And it turns out that he succeeded. Thank God, not on the physical plane, it didn't come to this, although it would have come to this after he drained me of all my pious merits. This would have happened if Krishna had not saved me. But on the energy plane, he did it all. I thought he did everything he could to destroy me.

That day, my daughter and I were going to a drawing class. All the way, as we drove, I thought about it, I had a bottomless hatred for him, I thought that I would destroy him, that I would do everything so that he would have nothing to be proud of. I remembered all the bad things he had done to me, and I wished I could destroy him, because I couldn't. I was so bitter at the thought, I thought that even if he erased me, I would still find him one day and destroy him, make him a nobody, so that he would have nothing to be proud of.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

He was so proud that he could break any female and make a litter out of her. I thought he treated me like an expendable item. I thought I'd smear him to dust and never forgive him. I very much wanted to destroy it all the way, when I went with my daughter to draw. I thought he could run fast, but he couldn't hide. I will find it everywhere and destroy it wherever it is.

When we arrived for the drawing, I again felt that I needed him. I saw him again in front of me on my internal screen and thought that I couldn't live without him. I thought that if I destroyed it, how would I be? I need it. And then I thought that this hatred that I have for him should be directed somewhere. It bubbled inside me and didn't go away, although I looked at him on my inner screen, and I felt that I needed him, and I thought, how can I destroy him, direct all this hatred at him, how can I live if I need him so much?

And then I decided that I would hold another action, just to send this hatred that is bubbling up somewhere. It should be thrown out. It's not going anywhere. But I can't direct it to him, because I need him. And I decided that at the end of this novel, " My novel. I am the wife of an Asura» I will smash a huge party of Asuras and direct all this hatred at them, just so that this hatred does not destroy this Shri Ram.

I thought: who will it be? And then I remembered how he extorted from me, my pious merits, after the Asuras put me on euricase tote, and told him that he or I will give them, or they will kill him, and he hesitated and gave me them, if not for words of Shiva about the sword Chandrahas.

I remembered how I found out about these Asuric sweepstakes. This was in August 2017. Some big Asur was revealed to me, I didn't know who it was at the time, but I was shown it when I watched the movie «rat race». When I watched in this movie, as there rich people put bets on the participants of those rat races, I realized that the Asur that I was then given, organized such a rat race, Asuric sweepstakes.

And now, on January 25, 2020, I remembered about it and thought that these Asuric sweepstakes are a favorite fun for Asuras on many planets. I thought they might run fast, but they wouldn't be able to hide. I'll get them all. I thought that on different planets of the material world, where the Asuras land by landing, being born among the inhabitants and conducting their invisible intervention, there are Asuric sweepstakes on which they break the recalcitrant, throwing the whole crowd. They do this not in the arena, not on the physical plane, but at a distance, on the energy plane, completely invisible.

They connect to this person, to this living being and affect his consciousness, his energy centers, poison his thoughts, pull out of his subconscious hidden desires and crush him from all sides. They obscure all his good feelings, imbue him with badness, bend him to their will so that he breaks the boundaries of morality and begins to commit crimes and what is not allowed. They pollute his feelings about what he holds dear, poison his mind, and distort his view of things to be driven by negativity.

And since these Asuric sweepstakes place large bets, not only in the form of pious merits, but also in the form of money that goes there in circulation in physical reality, very large Asuras are collected there that can break anyone. And they all crowd at a distance, imperceptibly connect to this victim and break. Someone earns good money on this, someone gets a high and satisfaction, mentally looking at this action, as this good person, who does not succumb to their influence, becomes a rag with which you can do anything.

I thought they might run fast, but they wouldn't be able to hide. I decided that they would all go to our campaign, that I would destroy everyone who had anything to do with these Asuric sweepstakes. The Asuras will see the collapse of all their evil plans.

Moreover, they will experience the pain of all those they tormented on these sweepstakes. I thought, we're not going to kill them one by one. We will take them all at once in one action from all these planets and send them all to future lives. This will be the last action in my novel. Since they entered the last action, it seems that they committed the most sins on these Asuric sweepstakes, so they will be the last to be punished.

357. Breaking victims on the Asuric totalisatores

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

You will not find this Asuric sweepstakes anywhere, since all actions take place not in the arena, but on the energy plane. Although for the Asuras, this is the arena. They see everything on their mental screen. They see what happens to the energy body of the victim, what manipulations of consciousness are carried out with the victim, what desires are thrown into his mind, how he tries to get away from it, turns out, but how he is firmly held and not released. For the Asuras, this is a fascinating, exciting sight that suddenly began to get up this good man, who had not previously succumbed to their influence, who behaved with dignity and followed the right path.

He was so nice and clean and suddenly he was a pedophile. He was such a good, wonderful, unsullied man. Why did it bother him that he raped his young student at school, and in a cruel way, did not regret it? Or he suddenly stole all the money. He was so good, he was everyone's pride, he set an example for everyone, everyone tried to follow him, and all of a sudden he stole all the money, went away and fucked up his entire organization, threw mud at everyone and set everyone up. Everyone thinks that this is who he is and that everything is so bad in this organization. But nothing like that.

It was just put on the Asuric sweepstakes. It was like being tied to a pillory. He doesn't even know about it, because it's all happening on the energy plane. He lives an ordinary life, not suspecting that he is actually in the palm of some Asuras, about whom he also does not know. And they look forward to how this good decent man will try to escape their influence, how he will spin like a hot pan, from the stream of alien desires and thoughts that will be thrown into his mind. They all look at him and wait for him to break down and start doing whatever their twisted minds think up for him.

They set big powerful monsters on him, and a whole bunch of them on him alone. This is an unequal battle that he doesn't even know about. It is in Gladiator fights that the victim sees his opponent in front of him. But when the victim is put on the Asuric sweepstakes, the victim does not even realize that now it will start to break and that everyone is sitting and waiting for the fascinating spectacle of its breaking. This victim is treated in different ways, from different sides, with different techniques, so that this victim breaks down and begins to get up all sorts of abominations that are contrary to morality.

In Gladiator fights, the victim was simply killed, but in Asuric sweepstakes, they don't kill to death. They just kill everything bright, good, and good in a person, pull out all the dirt from his subconscious and throw tons of filth into him. And a person under the influence of this gets up a lot of all sorts of nasty things, and everyone thinks how good he was and what a shit he turned out to be. How is this? He was so good and suddenly became a pedophile or a thief, or suddenly began to accuse all his colleagues and say shameful things about them, suddenly began to try to drag some harmful innovations that kill all good laws, new rules into a society in which he held some high positions.

And then there is a fuss about the actions of this person. It's so nice to suck the bones of a person who was good and suddenly turned out to be a pedophile or ran to prostitutes. He talked about loyalty, following duty, and suddenly broke up someone else's family and began to sleep with someone else's wife, and with his student. He talked about purity and lofty thinking and suddenly began to cover up for homosexuals and advocate for the recognition of the rights of sexual minorities, attacking adherents of the traditional way of life. Was good and became bad.

But all this happens not because it is such in itself, but because it was simply broken. Powerful monsters that have the power to break anyone are set against him, and the whole crowd of Asuras who have placed bets or just enjoy the interesting spectacle of breaking another victim, watch this breaking on the mental screen and shout to the whole crowd: «Finish him off so that he becomes the last shit! Finish it! We want to see him do this, and this, and this, too!» And they place bets on when it will break and who will break it, and pay for the victim to fulfill their perverse desires. They shout out their wishes for what this unfortunate person should do, and pay for him to do it.

Many Asuras pay for him to do things that make everyone on the physical plane gasp at his behavior and throw mud at him in unison. And on Asuric sweepstakes, the Asuras throw off good, unruly asuram personalities to the lowest level of consciousness.

I remembered the movie «the Running man». There, too, the victim was taken, a completely defenseless, unarmed person was sent to the game space and put against him not opponents armed to the teeth, but executioners. And these sadistic torturers were cutting him apart, and there was nothing he could do about it. The same thing happens on these Asuric sweepstakes, but not in physical reality. However, they do not cut the victim there, but make something unsightly out of it. This is very beneficial to the Asuras, because everything that is good can be doused with mud, and they do not pour mud, but a croaking crow, eager for such sights. They throw mud at croaking crows who like to croak at all kinds of carrion.

And these good people become such carrion, about which these croaking crows croak: «He was so good, and turned out to be a pedophile! He was so exalted, but he robbed everyone, took the entire Treasury with him, bought a business with the money donated for spiritual advancement, and enjoys life! I was a light of knowledge, an exalted preacher, and I bought a computer company, a gas station, and spent all the public money on prostitutes and gambling!»

Everyone is cawing indignantly, fiercely indignant, showing their just anger, but in fact this one who showed his «true» side is just a victim. He was a good man, but they didn't put up an opponent against him, but a sadistic executioner who turned this good man into such a carrion. And many Asuras sit, place bets and wait for this good person to become a rejected carrion. And then they sit and watch as everyone on the Internet, in Newspapers, in society condemns and throws mud at this carrion, which is really just a victim.

And this carrion could not fail to become carrion, because the victim is defenseless. Not one, but many executioners with sadistic tendencies and with some extraordinary abilities and powers were put up against him. They are armed to the teeth. They can do anything with it.

He lives a normal life. He does not even know that he was put on the Asuric sweepstakes, that they are already engaged in it. He thinks: «Something I suddenly wanted this and that too»... he was attacked by an irresistible desire that is simply impossible to endure. Him and what I want and that. And his body suddenly starts behaving strangely. He thinks it's probably a hormonal surge, a call from nature. He struggles with all his might with these base, shameful motives, with these thoughts that have fallen on him from nowhere, with these strange sensations and physical manifestations that are not peculiar to him, but then all this takes over. A toggle switch suddenly clicks in his mind, and he doesn't think about anything else. It just becomes carrion.

And those who put bets on it earn money and live in peace. And there are a lot of viewers who watch with such passion how this good person is made a carrion. And then it's so nice to see this good man who has become a carrion, all the others throw mud and shout: «They're all like that! They just pretend, but in reality they are all pedophiles, Libertines, brazen liars!»

And so the Asuras have fun. The Asuras have such fun — the Asuric sweepstakes, where good people are made into carrion. The pride and greed of the Asuras brought so many calamities. They made so many good people despised by everyone and made a lot of money on it, amused their pride that they are so cool, and these stupid people do not even know that, it turns out, they spent it all with them. And how funny it is to look at these croaking crows, who pour mud on this carrion and say that they all have such. It is very pleasant for the Asuras to look at this.

How many disasters did it bring... They caused many to forget their Dharma, their duty, their values in life, and themselves, and people fell into low sense gratification on the lowest platform. Because of these Asuras, these people committed crimes, because when this good person was broken on this Asuric sweepstakes, he, of course, began to commit crimes, because they paid a lot of money for it. They also paid for the show. What a sight? For this good man to commit some meanness, some crime, an act condemned by all, beyond the bounds of morality, to do something vile, so that then these croaking crows would CAW and say: «He was your pride, but it turns out that he is carrion!»

Because of these Asuras on the Asuric sweepstakes, many individuals have committed many crimes, respectively, have taken on sinful karma. After all, they committed an action. He was a good man and suddenly did something obscene. He did it. He has earned sinful karma. He committed a crime beyond the bounds of morality, and now all the barrels are rolling on him.

But in reality, why did he commit this crime? Due to the fact that it was made by carrion. Because someone on the Asuric sweepstakes affected his consciousness, his energy centers, poisoned his thoughts, impregnated him with filth, subordinated him to his will, so that he violated the boundaries of morality and began to commit crimes and what is not allowed. He has committed a crime against what is most dear to him, because someone has polluted his feelings about what is dear to him, poisoned his mind, and distorted his view of things in order to be driven by negativity.

358. Team at shooting of rabid dogs

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I remembered an article by one of the founders of the CIA, General Allen Dalles: «The war will end, everything will somehow settle down, settle down, and we will throw everything we have — all the gold, all the material power to fool and fool people. The human brain and human consciousness can change. If we sow chaos there, we will imperceptibly replace their values with false ones and make them believe in these false values. How? We will find our like-minded people, our allies in Russia itself.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Episode after episode will be played out the grandiose tragedy of the death of the most rebellious people, the final, irreversible extinction of their self-consciousness. From literature and art, for example, we will gradually erase their social essence, wean artists, discourage them from engaging in the image, the study of the processes that occur in the depths of the masses. Literature, theaters, movies — everything will depict and glorify the lowest human feelings.

We will do everything possible to support and raise the so-called artists who will inculcate and drum into the human consciousness the cult of sex, violence, sadism, betrayal-in a word, all immorality.

In government, we will create chaos and confusion. We will quietly but actively and continuously promote the tyranny of officials, bribe takers, unscrupulousness. Red tape and red tape will be elevated to a virtue. Honesty and decency will be ridiculed and will not be needed by anyone, will become a relic of the past. Rudeness and impudence, lies and deception, drunkenness and drug addiction, animal fear of each other and shamelessness, betrayal. Nationalism and the enmity of peoples, above all enmity and hatred of the Russian people — all this we will deftly and imperceptibly cultivate, all this will flourish in double color.

And only a few, very few, will guess or even understand what is happening. But we will put such people in a helpless position, turn them into a laughing stock, find a way to slander them and declare them the scum of society.

We will pull out spiritual roots, vulgarize and destroy the foundations of spiritual morality. We will shatter generation after generation in this way. We will take on people from childhood and youth, we will make the main bet on young people, we will begin to corrupt, corrupt, and corrupt them. We make them cynics, vulgar, cosmopolitan».

I thought that this article shows the situation with the influence of Asuras on people. Only a few will guess that these fallen, once good people, who are all covered with mud — are just victims of such Asuric sweepstakes and the invisible but effective influence of the Asuras on their consciousness, on their energy centers, on their sexual centers, on their environment.

I thought of Dalles' plan and thought that only a few, very few, would guess or even understand what was going on. «But we will put such people in a helpless position, turn them into a laughing stock, find a way to slander them and declare them the scum of society». This is what happened at these Asuric sweepstakes. They made good people become carrion, ridicule, scum of society, outcasts, criminals.

I thought: what are we going to do with those Asuras who had something to do with Asuric sweepstakes? And I thought that we would throw them to such arrogant politicians who want to put something like the Dalles` plan into practice and are doing something for it. These Asuras from Asuric sweepstakes are able to make anyone a carrion, can extinguish the self-awareness of any victim, throw him off his pedestal, from a height down. Let them in future lives throw off the pedestal of those who contribute to the General degradation, who sow chaos in the minds of those who imperceptibly replace people's values with false ones and make them believe in these false values. Let the Asuras from the Asuric sweepstakes in their future lives remove from the arena those who corrupt, corrupt, corrupt the people, tearing out the spiritual roots, vulgarizing and destroying the main foundations of national morality.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

For these Asuras, this is not difficult, because throwing someone off the arena was their usual occupation. And they will continue to do the same things that they did on the Asuric sweepstakes, but this time their victims will be others. Their victims will be those who love to make others victims, who promote base human feelings. These Asuras will do the same, but this time they will throw off the pedestal not the good, but the bad, and among those who are at the very top, who can influence the masses, the fate of the world.

These Asuras will bring down to the very bottom those politicians and their accomplices who can somehow influence politics and politicians to promote degradation to the masses. Those Asuras on Asuric sweepstakes threw off, dragged good souls down to the lower platforms of consciousness, and here they will throw off, pull off those who contribute to dragging everyone down, who are against the spiritual development and elevation of people, those who are against the path of people to the spiritual world and who obstruct the Dharma and spiritual development of people.

I decided that we will take the Asuras from the Asuric sweepstakes and throw them to the rabid politicians who want to introduce into society the degradation of morals, nationalism and hostility of peoples, to those who inculcate and hammer into the human consciousness the cult of sex, homosexuality, violence, sadism, betrayal, in a word, all immorality. We will throw these Asuras to those who make laws that contribute to degradation, to those who want to introduce total control over people, chipping, electronic concentration camps, juvenile justice.

I decided that the Asuras from the Asuric sweepstakes would become a kind of service for destroying mad dogs. Those politicians who want to impose total control, General stupefaction and degradation are just mad dogs that cannot be cured. You just need to destroy them, take a rifle and shoot them mercilessly, because it's useless to treat a rabid dog.

Those Asuras made good people carrion, and in future lives they will shoot mad dogs that are completely crazy and commit outrages. If some politician wants to push through anti-family, anti-parent or other laws that contribute to the General degradation and create a threat to the righteous path of people, the Asuras who will become a rapid response team will quickly destroy them, like mad dogs that need to be destroyed for everyone's safety.

It is dangerous to sterilize a mad dog and let it out on the street, because if it senses a weakness in a person, it will definitely attack and tear him to pieces, without showing any humanity. This beast is dangerous, you just need to destroy it. And these Asuras from Asuric sweepstakes will destroy politicians and their accomplices, like mad dogs.

All those politicians who contribute to the General degradation will be victims of their plan to deprive all freedoms, because it will come back to them like a boomerang. They will be visited by those whom we will take from the Asuric sweepstakes in our last campaign and who will simply destroy them, just as the Lord Kalki will come to destroy the degraded ones to whom it is useless to explain anything. Because mad dogs don't need the pill, the pill won't work on them. You just have to shoot them to make them disappear, because rabies is not treated.

I decided that the main rule for the rapid response team we are creating, the service for shooting mad dogs, will be the absence of rules. On Asuric sweepstakes, the main rule was «there are no rules in this game». They could break the victim, using any influence, any methods, without limiting themselves in any way. And this will be the main rule of this team shooting mad dogs. The main rule is no rules. The main thing is to destroy the dangerous beast. At any cost. The main thing is to win. By all means.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Of course, they will have nothing to do with any spiritual or religious movement or movement. They will be just executioners. They will do everything to wipe out those who plant unrighteousness from the face of the earth, so that they will not be. They will do it by any means, no matter what. And they won't let any of them escape. They will not pity any of those who inculcate unrighteousness and degradation. All those who will drag dark deeds into the laws and society, they will deprive them of their hopes of victory, just ruthlessly destroying them. I thought that the gods wanted to do good to the world by using this command to shoot mad dogs.

359. The last fight, it is the most difficult

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

On July 14, 2020, we held a campaign to turn Asuras who had something to do with Asuric sweepstakes on different planets into a team to shoot mad dogs. The action turned out to be in the style of a horror movie, so I strongly recommend that you do not read this.

I bought a lot of potatoes that day and decided to make something out of them. I began to clean potatoes and included a «Ugric viram Mahavishnu» and immediately saw all the Asuras on my inner screen. For some reason, they all looked like burning candles at once. There were a lot of them, standing on my internal screen, blazing with bright fire like burning torches, and writhing in pain.

I was chanting this mantra, peeling potatoes, and I saw that a powerful stream of fire was rushing from them into me. Then I stood somewhere below among them and began to spin like a plane, a disk, and created a vortex among them with a powerful thrust, they spun in this vortex, and from them something was rushing into me in a spiral in a large powerful stream.

Then I accidentally burned my hand with hot water, and it hurt. I immediately thought that this was a hint to me that they should do the same, and I decided that they should be burned with something hot. I imagined that from above they shed the mantra of «Ugric viram Mahavishnu» and she is as hot as boiling water. They experienced a lot of pain from this boiling water.

Then I accidentally pricked my chest with a knife. I was peeling potatoes, my hand slipped and the knife hit the right side of my chest. The injection was painful. I thought it was a sign. I imagined myself high above them, stuck a sharp rod in them, and began to split them in two with the point. And then I used this point like a knife to cut and stab them. Then I stood under them from below, turned into a kind of disk with jagged edges, began to spin under them like a sudarshana chakra and cut everything there, quickly rotating right inside them.

After that, I suddenly found myself on top of them and saw that everything was swollen at the bottom, as if each of them had formed a bag at the bottom, which began to swell. I didn't know what it was, so I looked at this sprawling place and saw a bunch of rats. I thought of horror movies where they put a rat on top of a person, cover it with something, put coals on top, and to escape the heat, the rat chews through the inside and crawls out. But this was not the case. At the back, the rats just swarmed in on the rats in front of them and pushed them forward. And they in this bursting bag from below pressed against each other and gnawed everything from the bottom up, trying to gnaw the way up.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Then I saw those Asuras boiling in oil, like the devils in hell boil sinners in a cauldron of burning oil. And I saw them boiling in a cauldron of boiling water, and they were boiling there, holding their hands up, and they were completely broken.

Then I remembered that I was the sword Chandrahas. I remembered how bhakti vigyana Gosvami had told Me about this sword: «Shiva drew his sword. A special sword. Not just a sword, but a special projectile. This sword could fly anywhere at the behest of its master. He could punch anyone, execute any orders. He could destroy Maya, he could create Maya. The sword was called Chandrahasa». I thought that I am such a sword Chandrahas and I can create an illusion.

And then I created an illusion for them all. I put them all in an illusion, the kind that happens in horror movies when a person has just been here and suddenly finds himself in a completely unfamiliar place, in a completely different dimension. It's dark, scary, dark corridors stretch, from everywhere it is unclear what evil spirits are climbing, and there is nowhere to hide. Terrible screamers, terrible creatures that are not here, climb out of all the holes and want to do something terrible, and there is no escape. This is the illusion I created for them. And I could really see the horror in their eyes.

And then I created a different illusion for each of them. I remembered that in horror movies there is a move where a character falls into an illusion that embodies his most terrible fear. And I created this illusion for them. Each of them suddenly found himself in some illusion that embodied his most terrible fear. And I've seen some of them look like terrified little boys. They were completely immersed in this illusion and really experienced their most terrible fear, each had their own special fear. And they felt everything as it really was, although it was an illusion, but their feelings were completely natural, and it seemed to them that it lasts forever.

Then I saw that each of them was being squeezed from the bottom up by a huge black snake, like a terrible Anaconda, and all their innards somehow burst from the inside through the holes formed in their skin and crawl out, like minced meat from a meat grinder through the holes in the grate.

Then they began to burn like a fire. I saw a big fire in the place where they were on my internal screen, and they were in that fire, burning and couldn't hide anywhere.

Then I got sharp, long claws like Freddy Krueger. First I stuck these claws in their eyes, and then inside them, and all their nerves joined my claws, all at once. I saw that my long claws were connected to their white threads-nerves, and I pulled them in all sorts of ways and stuck them in them, they had to experience an indescribable sensation. I pulled out all their nerves at the same time, pulled in and pressed on all their pain points. All this time playing the mantra «Ugric viram Mahavishnu».

Then I turned on the kirtan Bhakti Tirthi Swami «Jai Jai Radhe Jai Jai Shyam Jai Jai Jai Vrindavan-Dham» and in the dance of hands began to format their chakras, thinking that they will destroy those who pose a threat to society and inculcate degradation. Then I made them sing kirtan with Bhakti Tirtha Swami. I stood on top of them and saw that they were standing at the bottom, there are many of them, and they began to break away from their bodies under the sounds of the mantra. There was a powerful stream coming from below, and they themselves were this stream, and under the force of this stream they sought to break away from their bodies.

Then I turned on my Gurudev's kirtan and filled them with the hatred and anger that I had as a result of Shri Ram's actions towards me. I remembered that I had to direct all my hatred and anger at them. I imagined that I had some kind of anger, some kind of hatred, and that it was passing from me to them and they were all filled with this hatred and this anger. I thought it was to make them hate the people they were going to destroy. They turned bright crimson and glowed with that rage and anger. They were filled with a fierce anger directed at those they would have to destroy.

Then I thought that I don't want to bother with them anymore, I want to quickly finish this action and record a video on it. I went back to «Ugric viram Mahavishnu» and thought that right now I'll throw them quickly into the funnel and close this topic. I started singing «ugram viram mahavishnum» and they turned into a funnel from below, and from there something flew at me, and then I began to pierce them from above with a laser that burns everything.

Then I turned on the Nrisimha-Kavacha performed by bhakta Marga on guitar, started singing it, looked at them and saw that they had turned into a bunch of balls completely torn from their bodies. They hovered like a handful of light globes. I charred them and they became completely black, then all this black crust came off them and they became light, then I burned them, then I charred them again and so many times.

Then I started giving them orders. I stood over them all and gave them orders that the main thing for them is to kill those who pose a threat to society, at any cost, without sparing themselves or anyone else. I told them from above that the main thing is to destroy. I gave them such instructions that they don't need to be tortured. The main thing is not to torment, but to destroy. They held their hands in front of them in Namaste, bowed and said that Yes, they would do everything, the order was accepted.

When the last verse of Nrisimha-kavachi was «iti Sri Brahmanda-purane prahladoktam Sri nrisimha-kavacham sampurnam», I spun them like a whirlwind, there was already a funnel on top, and they all went into this funnel very quickly at the same time.

When this mantra ended, I didn't look at my internal screen, but tried to relax. I relaxed and felt totally full the emptiness in the place where they were. There was complete calm and utter emptiness, vacuum, nothing. I thought: everything we've done.

When it was all over, I thought that it was not for nothing that I came out this morning maps of the day with a Parashurama and a breaking rope. Every morning I take out the cards of the day without looking, and in the evening, when the action was already held, I remembered the cards of this day and saw that they showed that everything worked out for us. Then there was a card with a Lotus, Kala, Parashurama, a game of tennis, a jubilant male with a bunch of flowers and a tearing rope. The description for these maps of the day was as follows:

«Today, the cards of the day talk about some clean game, some last fight, in which time will win and something will come to a natural end. This will give you cheerfulness, confidence and fill you with joy. The Lotus and the game of tennis is a net game. Kala-time. Parashurama is a battle, a well-deserved victory, because this is a warrior who destroyed presumptuous rulers. A tearing rope — something is coming to an end, ending. Kala together with the tearing rope — something will sink into Oblivion, get lost in the waves of time. A male with a bouquet — good feelings, joy, jubilation.

You are close to victory, it remains to make the last push. The game will be clean. Everything will be done properly. What was meant to fade into Oblivion will go into oblivion, end its existence, perish in the depths of time. This will bring you joy and recognition of your abilities and talents.

Song of the day. Just a little more, just a little more. The last fight, it's the most difficult one».

I thought: today was the last fight, the last action in my novel. And those who went into that funnel will be like Parashurama, they will fearlessly destroy presumptuous rulers and all those who try to impose degradation in society. A male with a bouquet and a tearing rope indicate that a lot of these males flew there, their lives ended. The game is fair, everything is done as it should be.

I saw that this means that we have destroyed all those who participated in Asuric sweepstakes on different planets and made good people who are not susceptible to the influence of Asuras into carrion. They all flew into that funnel, disappeared into Oblivion, disappeared into the depths of time, flew into the future, to destroy such as they were. Now they will be like Kalki. They will mercilessly destroy whom it is necessary. I told them they didn't need to be tortured. The main thing is that they simply do not become. They just need to be destroyed like mad dogs. If the dog is mad, it is useless to treat it. You need to take a rifle and kill. And they will do so. And their main rule will be-no rules. The main thing is to win at all costs, because the beast is dangerous for people, dangerous for society and it must be destroyed at any cost.

360. Capitulation

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

It's been a while since the last action in my novel. I was translating the last videos of the novel I recorded into text, and at this time there was that long-awaited meeting, the reunion of the eternal couple Svetlana Vinodavani and Shri Ram.

This fateful meeting took place in an ordinary city bus. I was going about my business and took a netbook with me. The mask regime adopted in our city due to the coronavirus epidemic was already lifted, but still many people still wore masks, and on the bus I, like many others, also wore a mask. My mask is homemade, made of light chiffon of a bright rich crimson color, I look like an Oriental woman in it.

It was like this. I'm on the bus, sitting, not touching anyone, turned on my little netbook, put it on my lap, put on my headphones, don't pay attention to anyone, sit in a corner and transcribe one of the episodes of my novel. This is a long case. You have to constantly switch between the video player and the word. I open the video, watch a small piece, go to the word and record everything in text, then go back to the player, and so on all the time.

I sit in a corner, huddled there with my crimson mask on my face, with a netbook and headphones, I sit, watch my video and immediately write something there. A man sat down next to me. I don't pay any attention to him, because he is also wearing a mask, like everyone else, why should I look at him? And suddenly he says: «Is it just me, or is it you in the video?» and points to the screen of my netbook.

I turn to him and say, " Yes, me, what's the big deal? » He says: «You say something interesting there. If it's not a secret, what?» I say, " This is my novel I am the wife of Asura ». I'm writing a novel. I already have a lot of videos on the Internet, more than three hundred, and I'm translating it into text now ».

He says: «Who's wife? Arthur?» I say, " no, not at all, Asura's wife ». He says: «What is your husband's nationality?» I say, " you Know, I don't know his nationality, what his name is, what he looks like, I don't even know if he exists or not. But I know all about his past lives. I know who he is to me and how we got into the material world with him, I know what he really does, living here as an ordinary person, if he lives at all, if he exists at all ».

This masked man next to me says: «The plot is too twisted ». I say, " Yes, we do ». He says: «It would be interesting to see what you have there. You talk so enthusiastically there. Probably something really interesting. What's the name of your novel?» I say, " My novel is called My novel. I am Asura's wife». He says, " my name is Roman, too». I say, " Yes? Wonderful. I'm sorry, but I have to go. My stop». He says, " Oh, what a pity. I would love to see this novel of yours».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I see: my stop is about to be, I quickly take out a business card, show him what it says: «a novel about the reunion of an eternal couple» My novel. I am the wife of an Asur, «and I say to him:" here you are, there is a link, look at it if you want». I close my netbook and go about my business.

So banal was this fateful meeting of the eternal couple Svetlana Vinodavani, the destroyer of the Asuras, and Shri Ram, the Asura.

I jumped out of the bus in my mask and went about my business. Then he called me, said that he had watched some episodes of my novel, read it on the site, said that I was interesting to tell, that he had questions and wanted to talk about this topic. We agreed to meet.

At the meeting, we were without masks, I looked at this Roman and remembered the man who in mid-October 2018 gave my card, which says «My».

Then the man behind us approached me at the checkout counter in the store. He asked me for my discount card, which is used in this store for a discount, with large letters " My " on the card. I agreed, and when the cashier counted all his products and it was time to spend the card to make a discount, I wanted to give this card to the cashier, but this man made a move ahead of time and somehow made it clear to me that the card should be given to him. I gave him this card, he took it and gave it to the cashier. The cashier scanned the card and put it on a change plate. I stretched out my hand to take the card and put it in my wallet, but the man again made a preemptive gesture and somehow, without saying a word, indicated that I should not take this card, that he would take it himself. And then he took the card himself from the change plate and handed it to me. I took the card from his hand and put it in my wallet.

I remembered the incident, told this novel about it, and asked him if it was the same. He replied that Yes, there was such a thing.

I was very confused by this: it turned out to be the same man, and his name is also Roman, like my Shri Ram in my novel.

I remembered the words about surrender that Shri Ram said to me in the spring of 2019 through words from the book «the third rule of the wizard»by Terry Goodkine. There Richard wrote to Kelen: «I explained to the representatives of the countries that you, the Queen of Galea, will marry me and your country will join mine. This will guarantee that the new Union will be created peacefully and based on mutual respect and common goals. I must ask you to return to Aydindril immediately and sign the Galey surrender. I have a lot of negotiations to do, and your knowledge will be invaluable. My Queen, I would give my life for you and only dream of becoming your husband, but if my actions turn your heart away from me, I will not force you to marry. However, please understand that the surrender of your country is necessary. We must live by the same laws. I can't afford to grant privileges to any one country, otherwise we will lose before we start».

I thought, what if this is this Shri Ram?

Then I remembered how in February 2018, when I was making up a meeting with him to record it on February 14, 2018, on Valentine's Day and at the same time mahashivaratri, a neighbor came to me, her zipper in her Shoe once again jammed, and I helped her. When she left, she stood up and looked me in the eye and said»,I won't forget you». When she left, I remembered the pillow session that Shri Ram and I had

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

when he had Lona, the standard of Lona. Then Krishna gave us a pillow session, in which I said out loud that Shri Ram was somewhere in his house telling me that I was loved, and there were also such words: «I won't leave you. I'm not leaving you anywhere. I'm not letting you go anywhere. You're mine. You will be mine». Then I thought it was of Shri Ram through this neighbor told me that he will not forget me, will not allow that we were separated, that there will be such that our contact with him was lost, that he will not allow it and will definitely come to me. From this, I then developed a line that he would not let others near me, because he is an Asur. He can easily manipulate the mind. And if some other man drives up to me, then Shri Ram will simply make him want to go somewhere. That is, I realized that these words of a neighbor «will not forget you» say that Shri Ram will come to me that no one else to come to me, as he did not let me because it should have come to me himself, not to forget me, that is so kṛṣṇa did not break our with Shri Ram communication.

I remembered all this and thought that this man I was talking to about my affair on the bus could only be my Shri Ram.

I thought: I've been waiting so long for my Shri Ram to come to me, and is this ordinary-looking man I met on an ordinary city bus really him? I thought that when I had the events that I described in my novel, I was sure that it was all true, but now I am sitting in front of an ordinary man and I can not imagine that he can do the things that Shri Ram did to me. I thought: if he did it on the energy plane, can he really do it all? Did he know how to do all this, and did he do it with many other women? Is this the one that this whole novel of mine is about?

And when, after that fateful meeting, our communication began and our romance began, these thoughts bothered me very much, I could not understand if this man could be the one that my whole novel is about, because everything shows that all this is true, but how can this man, ordinary in appearance, normal, do all the things that Shri Ram did to me?

And when these thoughts really bothered me, I started pouring them out in new videos, already looking at this man and remembering everything that happened to me when I recorded this novel of mine. I called my new story «My story: I am the wife of Asura» and began to speak there from the perspective of everything that was revealed to me in this novel, seeing this man in front of me and already communicating with him, already interacting with him, already becoming a couple with him. I began to talk about my realizations, which I received in this novel of mine, to vent my bewilderment: could this ordinary man really do all this to me? And is he really the one I've talked about in my more than 300 videos? I thought it could only be him.

I remembered what Shri Ram had said to me through Richard's words: «I have explained to the representatives of the countries that you, the Queen of Galea, are going to marry me and your country will join mine. This will guarantee that the new Union will be created peacefully and based on mutual respect and common goals. I must ask you to return to Aydrindril immediately and sign the Galey surrender. I have a lot of negotiations to do, and your knowledge will be invaluable. My Queen, I would give my life for you and only dream of becoming your husband, but if my actions turn your heart away from me, I will not force you to marry. However, please understand that the surrender of your country is necessary».

I remembered that many times I was told to be with Shri Ram no matter what happened, and Shiva told me to be with him and not leave him alone. I remembered that Matronushka of Moscow said to me: «Who needs a Tsar? Take the king! Take care of it!"

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I remembered Parvati's words from Mahadeva: «whatever happens, it will be Narayana's will. It will also be in the best interests of the world». I thought: I once made these words my motto, so okay, surrender is surrender.

I thought: Krishna said that whatever happens will be Narayana's will and it will be in the best interests of the world. And this situation applies to the same. So I accept it as Narayana's will. Krishna has a plan for this, but I can't see it from here. He has a plan for everything. And the game He's playing is beyond me.

I told Krishna: «Krishna, I agree to play this game. Your games are the best that can be. Thank you for letting me be a part of Your game».

Season 12. I want to say «thank you» and I say «merci»

361. Merci. I thank you

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The first time he gave me a box of mercy candy, I remembered a song from an ad: «I'm so happy: I have you! I want to say «thank you» and I say «merci». Merci, thank you! Merci, thank you for being there».

I thought that even with all the bad things Shri Ram has done to me, I still have a lot of gratitude for him. From the height of all this, I looked at the time of our interaction at a distance and began to remember what I want to say «thank you» to Shri Ram.

I went back to that time in my mind. This was when we first arrived here and lived in our first rented apartment. There I received an email newsletter with a book about the signs of the Universe. There was an exercise in this book. It was written as follows: right now, stand up, address the Universe out loud and ask it some question, but be sure to tell it to give a simple and clear, completely understandable answer, and within a certain period of time, for a maximum of half an hour.

I reduced this time to 15 minutes. I was worried about the man I was going to see, because I came to this city because of the sign in the song with the words «I know you are far away, between us cities, cities, I am with you forever, forever, you are my only love». After reading this exercise, I immediately stood up and said aloud to the universe: «universe, give me a completely clear, clear, understandable sign so that I can accurately understand your answer, will I soon have my same man that I came to, who is mine? And please give me an answer within 15 minutes».

I said so, sat down, and went about my business. I'm studying when I hear something gurgling in the hallway. I go out there, and there's a flood. 5 minutes after I asked the Universe my question, we had a deluge. We were flooded with neighbors from above. It was a very heavy flood. Water gushed from all the outlets. I had to immediately turn off all traffic jams, turn off the electricity in the entire apartment and run to the neighbors. I ran around all the neighbors, because I didn't know what to do in this situation, because we came from another city and I didn't know anything here and just recently rented this apartment. Of course, I went to the neighbors below, because the water flowed there as well.

The neighbor from below came to us, he helped me a lot. The universe thus gave me a sign that Yes, it will be, because just 5 minutes later there was such a smart sign: the man himself came to my house. Nice, interesting man. So he helped me, knelt in front of me three times: I stood while he checked the pipes in the kitchen, bathroom, and toilet. He checked all the plugs in the electrical panel, decided everything with the plumbers, even got the phone of the neighbor from above, who flooded us. He gave me his phone number and told me to call him right away if anything happened. He was so courteous.

In fact, it was Shri Ram who looked at me through this man for the first time. Then, of course, the universe gave me a sign. And Shri Ram was already going to take me into circulation, put me on the stream, kick me to use me as a female of the human race for their enjoyment of zikommunité, at a distance, with an energy connection, to milk out of me my pious merits at the same time. Because then that friend brought me a piece of paper with the phone number of the neighbor from above. And he did it for a reason. He could have sent me that neighbor's phone number by text, because he took my phone number from me. But he came himself, personally, gave me this piece of paper with the phone number of a neighbor. And when you are given this from hand to hand and you take it, it is a gesture, as if you are giving the go-ahead for something.

And Shri Ram has thus received a favor from me that he can kick me with his methods to put me on stream. But the next day it was 40 days since my mother died, and I went to this downstairs neighbor because I was going away for a few days and I was afraid that we might get flooded again and I wouldn't be home. I went to see him and told him that I was going to stay for 40 days of my mother, and asked him to call me if the water came down again.

Then Shri Ram canceled his active actions to remind me. He either felt sorry for me, or thought that it was useless to break off this chicken now, because she is not up to any sex with men, or in the form of Masturbation. The Asuras mostly extort pious merit from a woman during her enjoyment, and apparently Shri Ram then thought that at this time I was not in a state to do this, and was not in the mood for it, and he canceled everything, although he had already made a plan for me. It doesn't matter what reason he did it, because in fact it turned out that he lost sight of me then, canceled my deflection, and I am grateful to him for this. What were the motives, it doesn't matter, because the main thing is that then he did not engage in my active processing. This was the first petal in the flower of my gratitude to Shri Ram.

What makes me think he didn't work on me then? To start with, in order for him to start doing this (and this was included in my plan, which I and my team of light forces made up before I was born in this body), in order to attract his attention back to me and so that he still started to kick me, I had to go to fitness. I didn't know that. I live here like a normal person. But events were going according to the plan that was created a long time ago, even before this life of mine. The fact that I went to fitness was manipulated by Shri Ram. I didn't know that I was going there to manipulate Shri Ram, the master of manipulation, but the fact that I went to this fitness club was manipulation.

I was very bored there. Stupid swinging on simulators tired me, and one day I decided to remember the trick that I had mastered in Moscow in Alexey Mamatov's club «Bulat». In the morning I got the email newsletter, in which it was written: «Do something extraordinary today, out of the ordinary, shake Olympus, do something that no one can expect from you».

And under the influence of this mailing list, I did it. I went all over the fitness club and pestered all the men with a request that they agreed to become a whipping doll for me, a rabbit for practicing a fighting technique on them. I didn't tell them what this technique was, I just said: «I Want to remember one combat technique, can I practice it on you?» All men from me, didn't want, was afraid. It was very disgusting to me, because in the club» Bulat " the men were knowledgeable, I approached anyone and worked on it as much as I wanted, and no one had the right to refuse. And then all of a sudden the little men turned out to be a bit frail.

Shri Ram himself wasn't in that gym, of course, but he was watching everything from the eyes of someone in that gym. He was interested in this maneuver of mine, and one of them he bent, he agreed, and I showed him the trick. Shri Ram was impressed, and after that, he decided to take me up close and start taking measures to push through this naive and arrogant chicken. Initially, he was going to kick me, because the neighbor downstairs brought a piece of paper with a phone number, although he could not bring it. This is a move in the game: you are given something, and if you take it, then you give the good. That is, you give the go-ahead for a certain lining, which is embedded mentally in this action. For example, many people throw small change on the sidewalk, throwing off their troubles along with it, and if you take small change, you should say: «we take the Money, we leave the lining», with the idea that if they threw their troubles with this money, then we don't need them, we leave these troubles, this lining, we don't need it.

The same situation when we are given something-leaflets, business cards, pieces of paper with something-is the same as with money. There may also be some kind of lining, the presence of which no one is going to notify us. And when we take this piece of paper, we also take the lining, because we don't know that there can be any lining at all.

The downstairs neighbor might not have come. He could have texted, he could have dropped it all, but he came and gave me this piece of paper with the phone number from hand to hand. This means that Shri Ram was going to kick me out, because this is how he intended to get good from me, and he got it when I took this piece of paper with the phone. It turns out that we take a piece of paper — and the lining, too. And what's the lining? The lining is the question: «Do you agree that we will drive you as we want?» And when you take this piece of paper, you give them the go-ahead to this inaudible question, you answer it: «Yes, I agree».

I mean, Shri Ram was going to kick me out, but when I said I was going to stay for my mom's 40 days, he canceled it, he let me out of his sight, and so that he wouldn't miss me, I had to go for manipulation. I had to drag myself to this fitness center and show this trick.

I mean, Shri Ram was going to take me in, but he canceled it, and for that I am grateful to him.

Then I remembered the next thing I was grateful for. The shower room at that fitness center had open booths, no doors. And at the very beginning, after one of the first fitness classes, in the shower, a woman who was washing in the stall opposite me, brazenly stared at me. I didn't understand her close attention, I thought, maybe she's a lesbian, what does she want from me? She looked at me all over, and I could not hide from her impudent gaze, but in fact it was Shri Ram who was looking at me from her eyes. He then connected to her, as the Asuras are able to, and looked at me there when I was washing, although I did not know that through the eyes of this woman I was looking at a man who lives here just like everyone else, and walks like everyone else, but he is just an Asur and knows how to connect to other people and look through their eyes.

And he then brazenly looked at me from the eyes of that woman in the fitness shower. Such a blatant violation of personal space is, of course, very bad, but at the same time, after looking at me from all sides, Shri Ram decided that I would fit their criteria. If I hadn't met their criteria, he wouldn't have kicked me out later. Why should a woman be turned away if she is not a fountain at all, if she is absolutely no good and no one will peck at her? And since he then carried out various measures, it means that he then decided that I could meet their criteria.

That is, I was not the worst, quite suitable in appearance. I mean, it was like he was saying that I wasn't so bad in appearance. For this I am grateful to him. Although he has said many times since that others are much better than me, but when he looked at me in the shower from the eyes of that woman, he decided that I would suit them, that a pathetic mouse would fly. And thank him for that.

362. Thanks for taking care of me on a Dating site

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Next thank you to Shri Ram for sending me on New year's eve the same man who lived below us, who was so courteous, so wonderful. The man turned out to be a natural pickup truck. Shri Ram put pressure on that man, and he asked to come to me for New year's. Thanks to this, I learned about such a phenomenon as a pickup truck. After that, I read a lot of books about the pickup truck, because the behavior of that man was somehow wrong, alarming. Everything looked decent and good, but something very much alarmed me, and I safely escorted him out, and then I had thoughts in my head about what had strained me so much in his behavior, and I received information about the pickup truck on the Internet. I read and saw in the behavior of the man pick-up techniques. I realized that the man was just using pickup techniques and just wanted to put me in bed with these techniques.

But because Shri Ram put pressure on this pick-up guy and he came to me, first of all, I learned a lot about the pick-up truck, and second of all, I took it as a good sign of the Universe, because on New year's day a man came to my house by himself, nice, showered compliments, invited me wherever I want, so courteous, just a sweetheart. I thought this was a good sign of the Universe, and for this sign of the Universe I am grateful to Shri Ram.

The following, for which I am grateful for a dream «definitely». That spring, Shri Ram hired an Asura who knows how to find people in the dream territory based on their image. Shri Ram came out of the Asuric worlds to find his Shakti. He went on a contract to serve in the Asuras landing on different planets of the material world, and he was attracted here, to the planet Earth. He incarnated here and became a member of the Asuras ' landing party to carry out his activities, but he did not know whether his Shakti was on this planet. And to find out, he hired some of their craftsman who knows how to find people in the territory of the dream in the image.

Shri Ram wanted to know if his Shakti was on this planet. If the result was negative, he would go to the next planet, where the Asuras land and are born to the inhabitants of those planets, and would look for his Shakti, that is, me. But that craftsman found me, and Shri Ram made sure that he could find me here, that his Shakti was now living here on this planet.

And for this dream, in which I said to him «stopudovo», I thank him. Because then, in order to find me, he paid this craftsman a lot of universal currency, that is, pious merits that he extracted from someone. The master's fee was very high, but Shri Ram did not spare any money, that is, the universal currency, and laid it out to him. He found me, it was quite a close meeting, and I am grateful to Shri Ram for it.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Later in the summer, I registered on a Dating site, and I am grateful to Shri Ram for taking into account my interests on this Dating site, selecting candidates for me according to my wishes. Dating sites are a gold mine for Asuras, because they can connect with people, look through them, influence them, pressure them, encourage them to act. Shri Ram, being the main Asura here, holds Dating sites in his hands, not in terms of the fact that he is the owner of these sites or has something to do with their work, but in terms of the fact that he sees everything through the people who sit on these sites and, by influencing them, makes these people converge or diverge. People don't even know anything about it. They think it's them. They think it's what they want. They think it's up to them.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram that when he gave me a date, he looked at my reaction and each time did not choose those that I knowingly reject, and rolled those that more or less fit the criteria that I have already shown in dealing with those men that he has already rolled me. And he chose men more and more clearly, more and more focused.

He looked at my behavior and thought: «Do you want to be treated like this? No problem. Do you not like it when you rarely get a call, when you interact with the pick-up technique «far-near»? Don't you like it? Not a problem! We will select those who will call you constantly and invite you somewhere. If you want something else, then this is not a problem! I'll find you another one. Any whim for your money, that is, for the sake of getting your pious services from you later». He connected to different men on the site, saw what they were like, and decided: «Aha, this one is more suitable for us to put this chicken in a bed, then enjoy it through the body of this man and pump out of it its pious merits when he has sex with it».

And so he picked me candidates that are more appropriate for me, obkladyvaya from all sides, like a bear on the hunt, gradually narrowing the circle and driving in the designated hunters narrow corridor that will not go away and surely got to precisely fill in the bed. Because those men who obviously didn't suit me, on the Dating site almost didn't show themselves in any way. Mostly those who met my criteria showed themselves. From the survey it is seen that Shri Ram really picked up them looking at me, studying, appraising look, assessing my behaviour, looking at my reaction to them so next time take this into consideration, order such bracani was not that it was taken into account.

And then he found me really good men, drove the bear into the right corridor, from where it could not escape. He showed such concern, even despite his true motives. Yes, he had his own, selfish goals — first, to have another chick in her sex with him through the body of a man who came up, on an energy connection, and secondly, of course, to milk out of her at the same time her pious merits and live very well due to this. But in any case, I am grateful to him for taking into account my personal preferences, interests, preferences, and my wishes. That's what I'm grateful for.

I am also grateful to him for setting me up on a Dating site with a woman I thought might be my friend. He saw signs coming through me and wanted to know about his Shakti, where she was, how she was, what he should do. And he sent that woman to me, putting pressure on her mind. We met several times, and she even came to visit me. He pushed her to come to visit me, and through her he asked about me, that is, about his Shakti.

I then laid out the Tarot cards and said that it is, but now there is no, we must wait. I am grateful to him for asking me about me through that woman on the Dating site.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that he still found me a more or less decent, good man on a Dating site and pushed his mind well so that he would take active actions in order for me to show him affection, so that I would somehow become grateful to him, so that I would feel good about him. Shri Ram tried very hard. He wanted to cut off the escape route for the encircled bear, because the man was very nice and it was very difficult for me to say no to him. Shri Ram found a man who needed to say Yes and to whom it was simply impossible to say no, because I felt like a pig to offend such a good person. Thanks to Shri Ram for this, he found a good candidate for my husband. That person really had serious intentions, and it really could have worked out there.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I am also grateful to this Shri Ram for asking me through this man about me. When this man and I were sitting in a cafe, this man asked me about his dead wife. He lived with her all his life, but then she died, he was alone for several years, and he said what to do if he constantly thinks about her.

I told him: «Write her letters. She's out there somewhere. She's a soul, so she's somewhere. And if she is somewhere, just write her, so to speak, letters, that is, send her good wishes to make her feel better there».

Then Shri Ram would ask me through that man, looking from his eyes into my eyes in that cafe and asking about me through him, and I, looking into the eyes of that man and thus into the eyes of Shri Ram, who was not there, but who was connected to this man, would answer Shri Ram that I was somewhere, I exist and you just need to write letters, think about me and wish me good, so that I feel better. For this I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for revealing to me after a while that he knew me when I was still on a Dating site. I didn't know about it. I thought he only recognized me when he connected with me and started using force techniques. But he revealed to me that he knew me much earlier, even when I was on a Dating site, that is, a year and a half before he joined me. It was a shock to me, because I found out that the men I once talked to there had been pushed to meet me by this Shri Ram.

He sat in the minds of these men, appraising my prowling and kicking and wondering how to bend this chicken, put it in a bed with someone. And he sent me one, then another, then a third man, looking at my reaction to them and each time taking into account my wishes, so that I had no reason to kick. He took a lot of things into account and used different techniques and tricks to still put me in a bed with someone, in order to connect to me through the body of that man and have me in that sex and at the same time siphon my pious merits out of me.

Shri Ram revealed to me that he was trying to do all this to me when I was on a Dating site. It was a big shock for me, and I am grateful to him for revealing it to me.

He passed me even then. I didn't know about it, silly. And no one knows that they are grazed there. You are carefully grazed, but you do not know about it. Because they graze carefully so that you don't guess about it. For this realization, I am grateful to him.

363. Thank you for my contact with my team of light forces

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to Shri Ram is for my contact with my team of light forces. This was when Shri Ram was already connected to me personally. He was angry that this chicken does not give in to the usual influence, the usual influence, in all practice, it should have given in long ago, but it turned out to be unyielding, and he decided to personally deal with me closely, in order to specifically push me, and then transfer me to one of his subordinates, so that they would already distribute who would have me on the energy plan, how much. And to do this, he was going to bend me personally, because I did not succumb to the usual measures of influence.

And when he personally connected to me, I learned about it from the fact that suddenly after talking with a karate coach about children, I began to notice a strange thing about myself, as if someone was looking at me from my eyes, and as if it was a man, and as if I wanted to please him. It was so amazing for me! No one else was at home, but every time I passed the mirror, I felt very uncomfortable, I was embarrassed by my appearance, and I wanted to dress prettily.

I also began to put on my rings and look at them. I suddenly started behaving as if a man was looking at me from my eyes and I wanted to please him, as a woman wants to please a man. And when during this time he tried to bend me, applying various methods to me, trying to break me, through me they began to tell him that we are an eternal couple, that we have an eternal, true love. He still couldn't figure out what kind of nonsense was going on about some real eternal love. In particular, there was a song by Sri vishnupad «I love Radhe Shyam» and the words in it «This is true love. Do you know what true love is?» And a lot of things like that came rushing through me, just a big concrete intense stream, different songs and everything about it.

Shri Ram looked at me from my eyes, then connected to my children and through them also looked at me from their eyes and thought that this time some stupid signs were coming through this chicken. He had known for a long time that some real signs were passing through me, but then he wondered what kind of true love it said, what kind of nonsense it was. And he mentally asked me about it, what kind of true love is this, they say, probably, it's all a deception, probably, it's like everyone else-today it is, and tomorrow it's over. I didn't hear his question, but through life situations it was shown to him that this is really eternal love, that I can't get out of it, because at some point it suddenly happened that some powerful flow of energy rushed out of me, which could not stop, and I repeated the same thing aloud: «I can't get out of this».

I repeated and repeated these words as I watched this rushing stream from which I could not get out, and Shri Ram could do nothing about it. Although he is a big Asur, he could not influence it in any way, and then my team of light forces came to my aid. That's how I knew I wasn't alone.

They spoke through me with my own mouth, and I clearly identified, heard different personalities in those words pouring out of me, I heard different intonations there, and there were both women and men, and there were many of them. They calmed me down and told me how much they loved me. And from that state I was brought out by one male voice who said: «what Are we here, fucking... crowbar click, or what?» I was abruptly slowed down by his words, because before that there were gentle, sympathetic female voices that spoke with love: «We love you so much». And suddenly, in the midst of the flow of tenderness and love, a man's voice whipped out such a rude phrase, and with an obscene word, «what Are we here, fuck....crowbar click, or what?». For me, it was like an ice shower. This gave me a jolt, and everything began to calm down.

It probably reminded me of myself, because that's probably what I told them when I was there, between lives. Apparently, when something happened, I told them: «what the fuck Are we doing here?crowbar click, or what?»

They then brought me out of this state and answered many of my questions, which I began to ask them when I realized that some other beings, higher ones, are really speaking through me, who see something from above and who can really help me even in a situation when a stream of energy gushes through me and cannot stop and I say at the same time: «I can't get out of this, I can't get out of this».... This is how I answered this Shri Ram, what is this eternal, true love. He thought it was just like everyone else, it ends quickly, and I showed him that I can't get out of it, and even to calm it down, some big team came to my aid.

And for the fact that I had this contact with my team of light forces, I am very grateful to Shri Ram, because I often think about this contact and think that somewhere there are those who know me very well, because this male voice said then: «it was always difficult With you». I asked him then: «Always?» I understand that we have been with them for a long time, we have a big team, because there were a lot of them, and they know their business. And every time something happens, I remember it and think: I'm not alone.

Yes, of course, there is Krishna, there is Nrsimhadev, there are gurus and many devotees, but I have a team that looks after me all the time. And they're not fucking....the crowbar clicks. They see everything, they see the subtle layers, everything that this Shri Ram is doing on the energy plane. What I don't see, they see there. And they can protect me. It calms me very much, I think: how great, I'm not alone, someone loves me and does not leave, they help me and support. And they see everything. Even if I don't see something, they see everything. And they can actually do something like that. And I am grateful to this Shri Ram for the fact that thanks to his question, what is this true love, I had contact with my team, with whom we before I was born in this body of mine, made this plan, on which we did a lot of important and necessary things.

364. Gratitude for power methods

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is for the power methods, Tiramisu, lift me up to heaven. Even when Shri Ram personally connected with me, I still did not succumb to his influence. It included on my energy plan different points in my female centers that are responsible for sexual stimulation, but I could keep it. He pulled out of my memory various memories of those times when I was with some man, extracted out frames from different movies with erotic moments, pulled out thoughts about sex, trying to warm up my sexual desire, so that I first began to masturbate, and then went to look for some man, in order to have sex in real life, maybe on the same Dating site, but with a pumped desire, so that through the body of that man they could have me and pump my pious feelings out of me. merits. But I didn't give in.

He tried so hard. He worked on my energy body, and on the female centers, and on Svadhithana, and on the volitional points, tried to bend the will, performed manipulations of consciousness, pulled out of my memory images with moments that stir up sexual interest, but I held firm, and he did not succeed, and then he decided to ask me how to cope with me.

This happened in the next conversation with the karate coach. When the children first went to a karate class and I took them home after the class, the karate coach said to me: «your son is difficult». I said», I know». He said, " How do you handle it?» I said: «Power method». The coach asked: «is there a choice?» I didn't say anything and looked away.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

This was a conversation with Shri Ram through a karate coach. Shri Ram wanted to know how I could be bent if nothing affected me: no matter what he did, I held on and didn't fall. And so he said to me through the karate coach, " you are difficult. No matter what I do, nothing affects you. You're an overly obstinate chicken. Tell me how I can break you!"» Because the karate coach asked, " How do you handle it?»

I replied to the coach: «by Force». I answered Shri Ram. I told him: «You must use force if you want to break me, because nothing else will work on me». He took pity on me. He said, " is there a choice?» I mean he kind of told me: «Look, I'll turn on your power methods right now, you will be trampled like cats in heat, when they stick out their Asses and yell with all their might, calling the cat. I feel sorry for you. Maybe you'll agree to it somehow. You get your ass off, and we'll have you in a crowd, first in your Masturbation, and then you'll find some guy, the Dating site is full of them. You're kind of weird. I didn't get laid with anyone there. Everyone gets laid, at least for their health. We tried to bend you for your health, but you didn't do it for your health, you said that your health is all right and you don't want to have sex for your health». He tried so hard there to bend me to sex for health, but I didn't give in.

And I told him through my words to the karate coach about my son: «Only force methods». He asked: «Maybe some choice?» I didn't tell him anything, so he had to use force. When he turned them on, I saw a strong, building up in my body, namely in the body, physical sexual pressure. It was as if someone had pressed some button that is responsible for the body's overwhelming need for sex, like a cat in heat, when it starts on the physical, on the animal plane and it can't do anything, it just needs to be fertilized, and that's it.

And I saw in my physical body the same signs as in cats, as in female dogs when they are in heat, and it is on the physical plane, in the physical shell. I have seen many times the signs of estrus in a dog, and I suddenly found all these signs in my body, in the human body, in the physical body! For me, it was just a shock! I looked at these signs and at the pressure building up in my body over the course of several days, and it looked as if the spring was being squeezed more and more and waiting for it to break, for the thread to break and everything to break.

I mean, I actually saw something strange happening to my body. I thought that this is not natural for me, I have never had this. I thought that I was still a human being, but my physical body suddenly began to work on such a primitive animal level, like animals. I thought that this was not in my nature, and I came to the only conclusion that I was being influenced from outside.

And then I complained to my close friends. They said, " you're under some kind of astral attack. They want to use you. They want to vampire you, drain your energy and just brazenly fuck you». A friend of mine who practiced Agni yoga sent me a prayer to address the lords of Moria and told me to complain to them. I looked at this sexual pressure building up in my physical body, on a purely physical, low, most animal level, with all the signs of estrus that can occur in female dogs, which suddenly appeared in the physical body of a human, in a human body, and rage rose in me. I was in a big rage and thought that they wanted to make me into such a powerful female, which the males take turns covering in front of everyone on the street and who can't do anything about it. I thought: they want to make this out of me?!

And I sent a complaint to the lords of Moria. I said», in the name of I AM WHAT I AM, I invoke the action of the thread that binds me to the Lord of El Moria. Lord El Moria, please help me in my situation (I presented the whole situation in detail). Help me find a Divine solution to my situation and give me the help that the Higher Law allows».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I asked for help because I am a woman and this is not typical of me, because I am a good person, I am a good woman and I completely disagree with the fact that this is happening to me. I demanded that they punish those who did all this to me, but that they do not punish this man who connected to me and about whom I feel that this is my man, with whom I was once in distant past lives and to whom I have now come.

Before that, I somehow found it in the depths of my life, in past lives. I asked them not to punish him, but I asked them to release me from this, to protect me from this, because I am a woman and I have the right to do this, because I completely disagree with this and did not give my informed consent to this.

And even though I told Shri Ram that only power methods would work with me, they didn't work either. This was done by us on purpose, although I did not know it, but it was a step in the plan that was drawn up by us before my birth in this body, on which I regularly walked, clearly fulfilling everything, without knowing it.

And I thank him for these power methods, for the fact that he applied them to me, because when he applied them, I threw my energy message somewhere in the vastness of the Universe and imagined that somewhere in the Universe there is some body, some individuals who stand guard and can protect me and who have some power, some authority, some authority. When I sent my complaint, my demand, my request to protect me and punish those responsible, all these signs of estrus in my body disappeared. It didn't even take 20 minutes for all of this to pass, as if none of this had happened at all. And this sexual pressure has also completely disappeared. It was as if the button was held down, just pressed down, pressed down and just waited for everything to break, but when I complained, this button seemed to be abruptly, at one moment released, and everything immediately passed, as if nothing had happened.

There was a very sharp contrast, just unimaginable. Before that, in my physical body, these signs like a female dog during estrus were a few days, they only escalated and escalated and suddenly disappeared in one moment, as soon as I sent my complaint. And 20 minutes didn't pass, as all this passed on the physical plane, all these signs, and this pressure also passed, and there was a complete calm. I immediately realized: Yes, indeed, it was pressure from outside. And I thought: all this was done to me by this man who connected to me, who I felt as someone to whom I came and with whom I was once together and was happy. I thought: did he do this to me?!

And then, knowing already that he was connected to me, and already seeing that he not only sees from my eyes, but also sees all my thoughts, I mentally told him: «You are my Tiramisu. Lift me up to heaven. You're my man. You and I were together. You're mine. But you didn't get it. You didn't realize that I'm yours and you're mine. And you, my man, began to forcibly put me under other men».

I told him: «If you, my man, did all this to me, used force methods to put me under other men, then what will others do to me who are nobody to me?» I had a very strong desire to escape from the material world and go to the spiritual world. Before that, I was aware of all this mentally, I knew all this theoretically, but I did not have the desire. Yes, it is one thing to realize purely on the mental plane, and another thing to desire. These are completely different planes, quite often not touching at all.

And I had no desire, but when all this happened to me, I had a very strong desire. I thought: I don't want to be in the material world anymore. There's nothing to catch. If the man who has been with you for many, many lives, who is yours, to whom you have come, puts you under other people's men and does it forcibly, so violently that even on such a physical level he wanted to make you a bitch in heat, who can't refuse, just can't, because the body was pushed, then I no longer want to be in the material world, I want to escape and go to the spiritual world, completely.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

So I told him: «You are my Tiramisu. You did what no one else could do. Now I have a desire to return to the spiritual world». For this I am grateful to him.

365. Gratitude for the heavenly wedding

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to this Shri Ram is for our heavenly wedding. This happened after he used force methods on me. After I sent my message to the lords of Moria and everything went quiet, one of my friends told me that it was an astral attack on me, an attack, and that whoever did it would take a full hit, it would be very bad for them. She felt sorry for him and told me to pray for him, to ask the Higher powers not to hit him too hard. She told me to recite the hare Krishna mantra circle for him and chant some protective mantras.

I started doing it. At first, I began to sing Mrityunjaya-mantra, then turned Nṛsimha's mantra, «the Ugric viram Mahavishnu» and the circle the hare Krishna mantra. And when I chanted these protective mantras, I had absolutely extraordinary meditations. I think it was specially made for this heavenly wedding to take place. It was something indescribable. While chanting the Mrityunjaya mantra, snakes would often come to my mind screen and protect this Shri Ram, and while chanting the Nrisimha mantra, I would go to different places, serve The nrisimha deity, and dance some Indian dances in front of Him, asking him to protect this Shri Ram.

After a month of these meditations, an online Oracle told me that I should take up writing. I was told to start keeping a diary, write down everything that happens to me, and I took this advice and sat down to write a diary. I began to describe in it the meditations that took place on my inner screen while I was chanting protective mantras. When I wrote all this down, I saw on some subtle plane a strong bewilderment in Shri Ram, that is, it was the image of a man, and I saw that he was very much surprised.

I didn't understand what was going on. By that time, I had long realized that a man was connected to me, that he had such unusual abilities, he can see through the eyes of other people, connect to them, can hear with their ears, can even see thoughts and influence others. I was sure that he was seeing these meditations, since he was seeing my thoughts, but he had a big puzzled look on his face on my internal screen, an extremely surprised look, complete discouragement, from which I realized that everything I wrote in my diary was a revelation for him.

I asked him in my mind: «Didn't you see that?» And I saw his answer that Yes, he did not even know that I was seeing something like this when I chant these protective mantras. He thought I was just sitting there, singing stupidly, and that's all, but it turns out that I saw something so interesting, and it really sparked his curiosity. He wanted to see it, so he decided to make a smart move.

By that time, we already had sex zikommunité, at a distance, without personal presence, for the conception of Asuric babies, that is, Asuras, which the Asuras are able to introduce into women, so that then these women give birth to these Asuric babies, when then they will have normal fertilization. Asuras are able to carry out some kind of energy fertilization, sewing into women some Asuric children, that is, Asuras that are part of the Asuras landing on this planet. And Shri Ram and I already had it, but after that he had to embroider these babies out of me to sew them into some other woman, because when I had contact with my team of light forces, I told them that I didn't want to give birth anymore, and they told me that I didn't need to.

Some time before this contact, I asked Shri Ram to arrange for me those gorgeous zikommunitate orgasms that I had a long time ago in Moscow, as a result of which Asuric babies are introduced to women, and Shri Ram arranged them for me.

I am grateful to him for this very unusual experience. I don't think many women have had the same experience as I have with this Shri Ram. This is sex zikommunitate, and the conception of Asuric babies zikommunitate, in a completely incomprehensible way, and sewing these babies out of me. This interaction itself is amazing, the fact that sex is possible at a distance, completely without the presence of anyone and without any body movements, completely without Masturbation and without touching your body. Yes, I know that something like this is possible with the subtle ones, but in this case it is not a subtle one, but a person who lives among us, who was born and lives as a human, but has such incredible abilities for us, because he is an Asur who can connect energetically from a distance and feel everything as if in reality. And I thank him for the incredible experience the kind of sex thecommunity.

As a result of that incredible zikommunitate sex, Asuric babies were sewn into some kind of energy capsule in my ovaries. But I wasn't going to give birth again. And so that they could be born, he embroidered them out of me and then sewed them into some other woman.

When he was embroidering them out of me, I saw on my internal screen that he had become small-small, found himself in the area of my ovaries and began to carve something there. After that, there was a lot of pain, as if they really did the operation live, without anesthesia, as if something was really cut out of there. He said that there should be blood, but there was no blood, and this surprised him immensely. From this, I realized that the statistics were one hundred percent — when the Asuras do this, it's like an operation, something like an egg donation, a woman then bleeds from there and hurts very much, so it's very difficult to tolerate it without painkillers, although women think that this is just an unscheduled too painful period.

And even then, when I had no blood after embroidering Asuric babies out of me, this Shri Ram was very surprised. And then he found out that I had some kind of meditation, which, it turns out, he does not see, although all the thoughts are visible to him. And he pretended that he had something to do inside of me. It became small again on my internal screen and again there, in my female organs, it began to do something. In fact, he just pretended that he had something to do there, and then he mentally said to me: «Oh, I can't see anything there. Can I see it?» I said, " Yes, look what you want».

So he got me permission to watch my meditations. Because what was the question? «Can I see it? I can't see it». What exactly should I watch? I thought that there was something to see, in women's organs, but the question was actually with a subtext, with a lining: «can I see those layers that are closed from me?» And I said to him, «Yes, look what you want».

In this clever way, he extracted permission from me to get in there, in the layers that were closed from him. And during another such meditation while chanting protective mantras, I saw on my inner screen how blocks with events that we had there with him when we were together were rising from some distant past lives. I saw that it was rising, that I could see it now, but I was very scared, and I thought: «Not this! I don't want to watch this! No, no, not that!»

But Shri Ram has already got access, and he has looked it up. Shri Ram was very curious. It is very curious, and we have used it for our own purposes many times. And everything that is described in this novel was revealed because of his curiosity, because he wants to know something, and I, as his wife, fulfill his wishes. He asked a lot of questions, and he got the answers in my chatter in my videos and in screenshots on my desktop. I don't hear his questions, but I voice the answers to them in my videos, and my screenshots also respond to him. So I learned a lot about myself, about him, about us, and a lot more.

Shri Ram saw the life files of the time when we were together rising from my past lives. I felt very clearly that I could watch it and that we were there together and happy, but I was very afraid to watch it, I was scared, and I refused to watch it, but he watched it all. And that same day, in the evening, he appeared in my mind's eye and began to say: «Be my wife». All evening he had been very insistent about it: «Be my wife, be my wife». I didn't understand why he wanted to do this, if we were already husband and wife. I somehow felt that we had been husband and wife for many, many lifetimes and that this has not gone away, we continue to be husband and wife, but he kept saying «be my wife».

I didn't understand anything, but then he started saying «become my wife». I was very much alarmed by this imperative mood «be, become», such an order, but he went on and on saying it. And then I said to him»,all right, if you come with me to my meditation». I turned on these mantras, and my meditation turned on again, and he was there with me. I saw a huge hall there, he and I were standing together, he was standing next to me, to my right, there were many devotees, there was a huge Assembly, and above us was a huge Nrsimhadev. This was not in reality, but in meditation. And it was kind of an illusion, but at the same time it was kind of real.

Nrisimhadev towered over us, big, big, huge, and he asked Shri Ram if Shri Ram would take me as his wife. Shri Ram said: «Yes, I agree». Then Nrsimhadev turned to me. He didn't ask me anything. It was as if he was looking at me and waiting for my answer, whether I agreed or not. And I looked at this Shri Ram, who was standing next to me and who had been telling me all evening, «be my wife, be my wife», and I mentally expressed my complaint to Nrsimhadev. I mentally sent him a whole block of complaints with the message that I don't believe Shri Ram a bit, that he is lying and that there is no love there, and without love I don't agree.

Then Nrsimhadev turned to Shri Ram and said: «She thinks you have no love for her», and Shri Ram said: «There is love». Then Nrsimhadev turned to me and seemed to say. It wasn't that he was talking, it was just that I had a very clear mental awareness that He was telling me this. And he mentally said to me: «Well, you see, there is love». And He looked at me with a certain wariness, waiting for my answer. I didn't say anything, but I suddenly turned into a huge star. I began to Shine there and ascended above the whole large congregation. There were many devotees there, and I felt like I knew them all, even though I didn't know anyone.

I shone, radiating a dazzling radiance around me, whirled and sang that I love everyone. I sang there: «I love everyone. I love you so much!» I danced, I sang, I shone like a star in all directions, and everyone stood and looked at it. I gave them a great concert. The furor was immeasurable! And then, when I was all out of myself, singing, dancing and it all came out of me that I love everyone, I somehow calmed down and again found myself next to this Shri Ram. Nrisimhadev looked at me with some apprehension, saying that we should quickly do everything before it swelled up again, and said, congratulations to them, they are now husband and wife.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Shri Ram and I had such a heavenly wedding. At this wedding, Nrisimhadev himself joined Shri Ram and me in a sacred marriage, so that even I felt the bond snap from below, as if a paper clip had snapped in that place.

When all this happened, I saw my Gurudev in that Assembly, and he touched me and Shri Ram with his danda, as if blessing me. I even saw Radha and Krishna there, and Krishna with a sly smile said to us, «Guys, let's live together», as Leopold the cat used to say. And Sri Krishna said the same thing: «Guys, let's live together».

I am grateful to Shri Ram for subtly getting me permission to view these secret life files, for which he was so insistent on getting my consent and telling me all that evening, " be my wife, be my wife». I am grateful that he said this and then went with me to my meditation. I am grateful to him for the fact that there he said that he agreed to become my husband, take me as his wife, and even said that there is love.

366. Thank you for asking me to lead his organization

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is that he asked me to become, so to speak, his charioteer, his leader. Once he saw that a stream of signs was passing through me, and they turned out to be a projection of what was happening in his mind. He saw that the signs that go through me are very useful to him. He realized that I have such a universal specialization as the charioteer, the leader, the one who leads, who gives signs to all that happens in his life to those with whom he works as such a charioteer, although they may not even know each other, because agreements occur at the level of the higher self, somewhere in some other spheres, and real work, real signs, real interaction takes place on the physical level, which does not pass those agreements to consciousness.

And this Shri Ram asked me to lead his organization. One day I heard a voice asking me to do it. It was very surprising to me, and I said to him», I don't agree to lead your organization, but I agree to help you as my husband, " because by that time we had already had a heavenly wedding. And I began to lead his organization, that is, signs went through me and on the conduct of his Asuric organization.

Since he is connected to me and sees everything through my eyes, hears through my ears, sees my thoughts, all this flow of signs, sees everything that happens in my life, he sees what his Affairs are projected on, and can use this to very successfully conduct his business — and his personal business, and his organization. And I'm grateful to him for asking me to lead his organization, because I learned a lot from it. Because I realized that everything that happens in my life is a projection of what is happening with him, and I began to listen very carefully to what I say and think, and to everything that happens in my life.

And because of this, thinking that this is a projection on something from him, I learned a lot about him, about the Asuras, and about myself. Just because I began to listen clearly and think about what it can be a projection and what it can even mean. So I am very grateful to him for asking me to lead his organization.

It also helped me learn that my children's behavior is also a projection of everything that happens to them. And I was shown something that I have children of different sexes and with different characters, often pisses me off and somehow I infuriating, it's not because I'm such a bad and kids are bad, but because I like this charioteer, one of the leading that should give the marks, I have such a specialization, and signs convenient to go through the children, as children are heterosexual, something all the time divide and has it all to resolve. Knowing this gives me peace of mind. And when I am very angry with children, I mentally say Shri Ram: «Shri Ram, you should behave more or less normally there, because you know that the behavior of my children shows what is happening there. Please spare me. You are somehow kicking someone there, but here I have all this manifested through my children. You've got to be quiet, stop doing what you're doing. I don't know what you're doing there, but it really pisses me off. Please stop doing this». Knowing this gives me comfort that this is not me and not the children, but that this is the specialization and children are needed to translate these signs, and for this I am grateful to Shri Ram.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that through this I learned that I am a real woman, that is, a woman who was a woman in the spiritual world and who can only be incarnated as a woman in the material world. I didn't know about it. I found out about this because I started giving these signs to Shri Ram, because I noticed that at some moments I tell the children about the cat: «we Have such a good cat, she is so wonderful, what a beautiful tail she has, what wonderful ears and paws she has», and at other moments I tell them about her: «Don't touch her, she's a living thing like us, just born in a cat's body». I began to think, what does this mean, why do I say different things about the cat at different times? Yes, of course, this is nonsense, no one would pay attention to it, it's a small thing, but I found fault with this little thing and thanks to this little thing I learned a lot.

Because I began to think, why at one time I call our cat a beauty with beautiful paws, a beautiful tail, and at other times I say to the children: «Don't touch it, don't push it, because it's a living thing just like us». And then, when I was thinking about it, I got an answer.

The answer came through Gadadhara Pandit's book the Secrets of the Mahabharata, part one. I read it before going to bed and came to the story of AMBA and Bhishma (p. 121). Bhishma from Amboy was the eternal couple, they were husband and wife in the spiritual world, but when they are in the material world got a curse and became separated, AMBA under the influence of the curse desired to destroy Bhishma and got Shiva's blessing that she would personally be the direct cause of Bhishma's death, she personally kill him, and being in a male body, born as a man. But even this blessing of Shiva was not enough. AMBA was born again as a girl, and only later, when she had a lucky chance, she received the use of a male body, but in any case, the male sex of her newfound body was maintained at a distance by the man who owned this body.

In this book, it is written that there is a text in the Puranas that clearly regulates the universal law of the sex of all embodied living beings. Men can be born women (that is, men can be born both men and women) either because of sin (mostly because of excessive lust for a woman), or by choice. But women never become men. This directly concerns those who are ever by nature, svabhava, are always women.

When I read this, I realized what exactly I was saying when I said different things about the cat. I realized that these words in the Secrets of the Mahabharata are very consistent with what I say about the cat, because my words are a projection of what is happening in Shri Ram. I thought that when I say about our cat that she is beautiful, this is how I give him signs of which of the women is a real woman, that is, a woman who was a woman in the spiritual world, before falling here to the material world, and who remains a woman all the time in the material world and who cannot be born a man.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I point Shri Ram at her, as if to say that this woman has a real feminine energy, which is very, very valuable, because it is the energy of a real, original woman.

And when I say about our cat that it should not be touched, it is the same living entity as we are, then I show Shri Ram to those women who are born and live as women, but who are actually originally men, who in the spiritual world were men, male, and who in the material world can be born both men and women. So I say to Shri Ram, " Don't touch her. Why do you need this aunt, who is actually the original man, who, due to some sin, was born as a woman? This isn't really a real woman. This is a man who fell into female incarnations, became born a woman. You don't need this aunt who may look cute and very feminine, which makes you think that she has a good female energy, but this is not true. She can't have anything real, because she is a woman for a certain number of lives, and then she will be a man again, because initially it is a man, and there is the original male nature. This woman's energy is not what you need. Yes, of course, you can shake something from her, but this is not the same, this is a surrogate, she is the same living being as you men, she is actually the original man, just born in a female body».

Because only real gold is valued, that is, real women, those who in the material world can only be born as women and who cannot receive a male body. In the «Secrets of the Mahabharata» it is written that this directly concerns those of women who are eternally, by all nature, svabhava, always remain women. These are women who were women in the spiritual world and who never become men.

Yes, I know that it is believed that souls can be born freely as both men and women, but in my interaction with Shri Ram, when I began to give him signs, I saw something completely different.

And when this Shri Ram through the karate coach asked me about my nature, whether I am a real woman or only for a certain number of incarnations, whether I have normal female energy, whether it is valuable for me or it is a surrogate, he said through the coach: «How do you earn? Probably not enough, is there something wrong?» That is, through these words of the coach, he asked me: «How are you with earning, how are you with piety? How do you earn your pious services, generate female energy, how do you deal with female energy? Is it real? Female or surrogate? Maybe you were a man in your past lives, but in this life you have become a woman?» And I told him: «No, I earn normally». That is, I answered that I earn money in a normal way, as a woman. I told him: «I am a real woman, because I earn money in a normal, feminine way, not in any surrogate way».

I told him that I am not one of the men who thundered into the female incarnation and in this incarnation generate female energy, which is actually fake. I told him that I had real feminine energy, normal as it should be. So I told him that I was a real, original woman.

For me, it was very surprising, because I always thought that I was closer to the male nature, that I had more masculine qualities. I thought that I was not what women should be-feminine, submissive, pliable, loving to dress up, make up, decorate myself in all sorts of ways, fixated on cleanliness, pleasant appearance. I've never had this before, I'm not interested in it at all. And for me, this discovery was absolutely amazing, because I thought: can real women be like me? It doesn't seem to fit. But everything showed that this was the case. And for learning that I am a real woman, I thank this Shri Ram.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that through interaction with Shri Ram, I began to listen to my own speech and to the speech of other people. I saw that Asuras can communicate with people through different people in an allegorical way, learning everything from them through meanings woven into ordinary words, and began to learn this art. I began to listen to my speech and to the speech of different people, and I learned a lot about them as well. I saw that people say ordinary words, but ordinary words can have a very different meaning. I began to search for this meaning.

And thanks to the fact that our communication goes through different people, I can see when he says something to me. However, it is usually not immediately, but only after the conversation you realize that it was communication with him through these people, but when I understand this, to some extent I can understand the true meaning of the words that were uttered from that side and from this side. Because of this, I learned a lot of things that I would never have learned. I learned a lot about my past lives, who I was in some distant lives, how it all happened and why. Simply by looking for the hidden meaning in ordinary words. This is a very interesting activity. And for this I am grateful to him.

367. Thank you for saying that we are from different planets

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to Shri Ram is for talking about different planets. After our heavenly wedding, which was from March 3 to 4, 2016, this Shri Ram in real life had a very good woman, and in early June we had a conversation with him through a karate coach. In this conversation, he told me that we are from different planets, and I told him: «Very heavy». This is me and the karate coach talking about something and he told me that we are completely distant from each other people, and I said that it is. But actually this is Shri Ram told me in coach, I'm not in his circle that I'm not his class, I'm not his type that he already has a woman, which suits him more, the more it corresponds to, and that I was her background, it is not listed.

He said to me: «we are from different planets. Why don't you get off my back? Yes, of course, we had some kind of celestial wedding, but I'm sorry, we're from different planets». I told him: «Very heavy». I reminded him of the dream in which we had a meeting in the dream territory. This is when he paid a lot of universal currency, pious merit, to some Asura craftsman who found me in the dream territory in the image that was in the mind of this Shri Ram. And we had a wonderful meeting in the dream territory. There Shri Ram asked me many questions, and when it came to children, he asked: «Do you sleep with children?» I said, " Yes». He looked confused and asked again: «Are you sure you sleep with children?", as if not believing me, and I told him in a dream: «Very heavy».

And this «stopudovo» was the key word, it reminded him of this dream. I mean how would he tell me: «You are not my type, you are not my class, you are so far from me. This woman I have now in real life is much better. And you're nobody. Let's break up with you». Shri Ram so told me through the words of the karate coach that we are from different planets. And I used the word «stopudovo» to remind him of that dream. I said to him, " Yes, of course, this woman is good, and you like her better, but you were looking for your Shakti, and you found her. Remember when that craftsman found your Shakti in the dream territory? It was me».

Shri Ram knew that I was in that dream, because immediately after that dream I described it in my gratitude diary. I kept a thank-you diary at the time, and when I woke up, I wrote down my gratitude for the wonderful hugs we had there. I described the entire dream in detail, along with that word and everything that happened there. And after our heavenly wedding, I reread this gratitude diary, and he saw this entry. He made sure, got proof that I was in that dream. It was a confirmation to him that he had found his Shakti, that his search had been successful.

I reminded him about that dream with the word «stopudovo». I told him, " You were looking for me, and you found me. Do you want to give up on me just because of some woman who's just better than me? But you were looking for me, not that woman». That's what I told him.

But because he told me that we were from different planets, I held a great campaign to delete Asuras from the list of Asuras. We have taken many great Asuras, RA, from different planets because Shri Ram said to me», we are from different planets». And these people from different planets will be born here on Earth for many lifetimes and will be great human rights defenders. No metal can stand against their fire. They will stand for the preservation of traditional family and life values, loyalty, family duty and normal traditional attitude to people, will protect the rights of parents and children to be together and live as they see fit, without interference from outside and imposing someone's will. These human rights defenders will fight against those who want to bend the world under them, under a completely wrong concept that is unnatural, they will fight against juvenile justice, gender philosophy, homosexuality and all that. They will fight against the imposition of completely wrong stereotypes on us, against the propaganda of cruelty, irresponsibility, violence, depravity, permissiveness and vulgarity that pours on us from literally everywhere. They will stand up for traditional correct values, a normal family life, and for this I am grateful to Shri Ram.

If he hadn't said to me, «we're from different planets», this action probably wouldn't have happened. But as he said this, I took many great Asuras from different planets, where they landed with their troops to crush the inhabitants of those planets, force them to commit bad deeds and extort their pious merits from them.

We took a lot of big Asuras of RA who were driving all this. And we not only removed these RA from the list of Asuras, but also cleaned all their organizations that were under them. It was a big wave, maximum destruction. There is no stone left unturned, and for this I am very grateful to Shri Ram, because this action was due to the fact that he said that we are from different planets. He was looking for me, but when he found me, he told me: «Sorry, we're from different planets». For this I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for giving me a hint about the action with the so-called delayed-action mines. This is when some Asuras set out to put some programs on Shri Ram that would work in some of our distant future and would cause our destruction by each other there. So I decided that those who did this, I would send them to the end of Kali Yuga and they would be devotees of Krishna for many more lives, much more than everyone else, because they would be devotees of Krishna until the very end of Kali Yuga.

And when I decided to do this, Shri Ram informed me that not only the Asuras living on Earth, but also others who are in some other worlds and on other planets, were involved in the installation of these programs, time-lapse mines, and that they also need to be raked into this action. Because of this, I decided to include in that action all those who were or will be involved in this in any way, even in these worlds, ours, or in other worlds. And for this I am grateful to him.

368. Gratitude for his choice to be only mine

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to this Shri Ram is for the mutes. That summer, when he had that good woman, the first double, the Princess, he began to connect to me in our intimate interaction at a distance, zikommunite, without personal presence, all of his Asuric organization. He connected them through himself. I thought it was him, and he was there, but in parallel with himself, he connected everyone from his Asuric organization. I thought he needed me, but he wasn't really interested in me. Actually he told me: «Get out, go free swimming», and I said to him: «I'm not going anywhere from you. You are mine, I am yours». He said, " Oh, right? You say «you're mine»? Right now I will connect a bunch of those that are «not mine»«.

And he spent the whole summer connecting them to our intimate interaction with him, which in this case was carried out in the form of Masturbation, but since for the Asuras there is no difference whether he connects at a distance or is present in person, and since they feel everything as it really is, it was as it really is. He connected all his Asuras from his Asuric organization to me through himself, and so it turned out that a whole bunch of strange men passed through me, about whom I didn't even know, but who, being connected to me, felt everything as it really was.

Because I said «you're mine» and he said: «No, now there will be a lot of «not-mine»", I made everyone who was with me that summer mute. Once they said, " No, I'm not yours, I'm not mine». Do you say «my, my»? There is no «my» here, there is only «not-my»", I made them all mute and sent them to their future lives as mute. They will preach Krishna consciousness among the mutes. For this I am grateful to him. Not because he connected them to me, no, but because we made a bunch of people who would preach Krishna consciousness among the dumb. For this I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to him for choosing to be mine. In July 2016, he finally decided to completely get rid of me and began to squeeze me out of his space in all sorts of ways, as a result of which he was attacked by a life collapse. All his money suddenly began to float away from him. He began to lose everything. In the two weeks since he started taking active measures to remove me from his space, he has lost almost everything. He almost became homeless and completely bankrupt. He was attacked by a fatal bad luck, so fatal that everything he did only resulted in deafening losses.

This was a reaction to him for telling me «be my wife, become my wife» and agreeing to take me as his wife in front of Nrsimhadev himself, so he behaved-sent me on a free float, connected everyone who got to me, giving them for fun, and then decided to get rid of me completely. For this, he was overtaken by a reaction, and he almost lost everything.

Then it was shown to him that he must ask me for help and only this will save him. He performed Vaisnava aparadha, which almost burned his entire life. He would have been homeless, bankrupt, lost everything. Having lost all his possessions, he would have gone to live with that woman, the Princess, in the hope that everything would work out, and then she would have somehow got rid of him, since she did not need other people's failures, and he would not have ceased to be a fatal failure. And then he would have died a shameful death on the street, before that he would have spent some time begging and crawling through garbage cans, unable to influence anything, being without his Asuric abilities, because somehow Krishna would have shown me what he was doing to me, and I would have burned all his Asuric abilities. He would not be able to see other people's thoughts, or influence anyone, and would be an ordinary insignificant homeless person, not adapted to live in such conditions and fight for a place in the sun, and he would simply be beaten on the street.

He was told to ask the woman for help. He asked for help from that woman, the Princess, not directly, of course, but through hidden meanings in ordinary words. She didn't know what pit he was in. He did not get any real help from her, although she wished him a lot of luck, but it was all to no avail, because he had committed Vaisnava aparadha and insulted his own Shakti into the bargain. He insulted me, and I am his Shakti, the real eternal half, his eternal mate. And for that, no one could save him.

And then he decided to get me to help him. He began manipulating my mind to make me wish him good luck, so that his financial situation would be restored. I didn't fall for his manipulations, which was unimaginable for him, because usually all his mind manipulations were successful. He was famous for his ability to manipulate the mind.

This is not like in NLP or our other systems of manipulating people, when words, gestures, or something else force a person to follow a desired pattern. Asuric manipulation of consciousness is something else. This is when at the mental level they influence, give orders, push through the consciousness and force the person who influences to do what is necessary. At the same time, the person thinks that he thinks it. He thinks that these thoughts running through his head are his own thoughts. He did not even realize that the thoughts he could just pop into his mind. Man thinks that he wants. It can't occur to him that the desires that he has may be thrown in from outside and that they may be someone else's desires. The person thinks that it is decided by him. But in fact, this is imposed on him from the outside by manipulating his consciousness on a mental level.

And these manipulations of consciousness in my case did not work for Shri Ram. And then he sent me his regimental ladies, that is, women, of whom he had a lot and who served his entire Asuric organization on an energy connection. They somehow stood in front of me on my mental screen and seemed to say: «You are one of us, and there are many of us». And they gave off a horribly unpleasant sensation of a prostitute's foul smell. It really pissed me off. I told him: «It's either me or them». And I said to them, " It's either mine or nobody's. Choose. Because if he chooses you, he won't be there. You will lose it. Then you will go to others. Someone else will take his place. It will be either mine or nobody's».

I didn't know anything about his terrible financial situation or the collapse of his life, but I told him: «Choose: you are either mine or nobody's». For some reason, I had a firm belief that if he chose them, he would be a dead man and those regimental ladies would pass into other hands, that is, they would definitely not be his, and he would become nobody's, because he would simply not be there.

He had to accept that he was mine because he wanted to restore his financial position. By then, he had almost lost everything. There was only one day left before the test shot, when he would have lost everything, and he had almost no choice. He said: «Okay, I'm giving up all of them and choosing you». And then I wished him good luck, and he recovered and began to grow.

Of course, when he chose me, he planned to deceive me. He devised a plan to fulfill my condition in order to restore his financial position, and at the same time get rid of me and have the freedom to freely play with whomever he wants, without any restrictions. That woman, the Princess, did not know anything about his real activities, she was an ordinary woman who did not know about any energy connections and his tricks with numerous regimental ladies on the energy level, she could not interfere with him in these amusements and was suitable for ensuring his sweet life in real life.

He was going to continue his rampant fun and came up with a smart plan to beat everyone. He decided to drain me of all my pious merits, as a result of which I would first fall to the bottom of life, and then, after some time of continuous humiliation and deprivation, I would die. We have everything in life because of our pious merits. If all pious merit is lost, then there is nothing to pay for good living conditions. If pious merit is siphoned off, then everything is lost on the physical plane.

He thought he was with me all my pious merits and such a large infusion of universal currency will help him in his life, his finances will go to growth, everything in his life will bloom, I'll lose everything, sink to the bottom of life, where I would be treated not as a person but as meat, and then my life will end and I'll get born in animal forms of life, will be born an animal, because I'll miss pious merit to pay for human birth.

But in order not to have to wait too long for me to go completely out of life, he threw someone else's sinful karma and three other people's deaths into me, so that I would definitely be gone and that it would happen soon, so that he would not have to wait too long for him to be free from the need to be only mine.

He sort of told me: «You demand that I be either yours or no one's. So be it, I'm yours. I made my choice. See? Now I'm waiting for my financial situation to recover and my luck to return to me. But I don't want to be with you. And I said I was yours. And that's why I'm going to get rid of you quickly. I will drain you of all your pious merits, pump other people's deaths into you, and you will simply be gone. And then your request will be met, because when you are gone, I will be free from the obligation to be only yours and I can be with anyone. I'll have fun with whoever I want again, with these regimental ladies, and with anyone. Then you can't stop me from doing it. You'll just be gone». That's how he decided.

But his plans were not destined to come true, although he did it all. Krishna somehow saved me from this. But the fact is that Shri Ram responded to my demand that either mine or nobody's, said that he was mine. He had to do it. And now he has to do it. Based on the fact that he said that he is mine and no one else's, I can demand recognition of his incapacity and compensation for my moral damage from all other women, since he made his choice even then. It's mine and nobody else's. He made the choice. He made the decision. And he must follow it.

He made this decision then and this choice to be mine, and just because of this alone, I already have the right to claim his incapacity if he is with any other woman suddenly, and I have the right to shake off this woman all her pious merits for not being with me, but with her, even though he said that he is mine and no one else's. He should be mine, because he made that decision then. Yes, he did it under the pressure of circumstances, Yes, he wanted to get rid of me later so that he could enjoy himself to the full, but then he said that he was mine. If it's mine, it's only mine. I told you it was just mine. And so it is on this basis alone that I have the right to demand all this, and that is why I am grateful to him. I am grateful to him for the fact that on my demand to make a choice, it is mine or nobody's, he said: «I'm yours».

369. Gratitude for the great pumping out of pious merits

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is that he made a big discount of my pious merits from my piety account from September 3 to 4, 2016, for six months of our heavenly wedding. We made a good point of it, and at the same time he connected three Asuras to me, to whom he sold me on their Asuric exchange, where they sell sex on an energy connection, at a distance with women who do not even know about it. Those three Asuras threw their sinful karma and their three deaths into me, which they were in danger of and which they wanted to avoid. At the same time, Shri Ram drained me of almost all my pious services, leaving a measly 5–6 percentiles of my entire piety score.

After that, I should have ended my existence pretty soon, having lost everything before, but Krishna saved me. Why do I thank Shri Ram for doing all this? After all, I would have lost everything, been left alone on the street, and then someone would have killed me somewhere. And then, without pious merit, there is only one road — to animal life forms, monkeys, rabbits, hedgehogs, cockroaches. And what is there to thank for? But I am grateful to him for the fact that as a result of this, I took those Asuras who liked to make big discounts and sent them to future lives, making them so-called orderlies of the forest.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for giving me the idea of what to do with them. When I found out about this in mid-December 2018, I was filled with indignation, in this mood I went to the mirror and, looking myself in the eyes in the mirror, began to pour it out to Shri Ram, knowing that he is connected to me and sees everything from my eyes. I, looking at myself in the mirror, began to tell him that men like him have no right to anything and that such men have no right to be men, in General, in principle, because a man is a defender.

I remembered the words of Sergey Vladimirovich Serebryakov: «What is the Dharma of a man? In the protection of women. What is the father's Dharma? To protect your children. How should he protect his daughter? Help her choose a husband and create her personal life. What's the point of a kettle if it doesn't boil? It's useless. What's the point of a man who doesn't protect you? It's useless. Like a candy — beautiful in appearance, but you unfold, and there is not a candy, but a dummy. Dharma means functionality, fullness. Sugar should be sweet».

The Dharma of a man is to protect a woman. If it doesn't protect a woman, it's useless. It's like a kettle that doesn't boil. If the kettle doesn't boil water, it's trash, it should be thrown in the trash. Similarly, a man who does not protect a woman is not a man. It should be thrown in the trash. And these Asuras, being men, do not protect women, but, on the contrary, make women completely defenseless and throw them to the bottom of life, so that they are treated not as people, not as women, but as meat.

I then told Shri Ram, looking into my eyes in the mirror, that he was not supposed to have a man's pee. Why does he need a man's body if he does not fulfill the purpose of the male body and uses it for violence against women? Why does he need a man's body if he doesn't behave like a man at all? A man is someone who protects a woman. If he doesn't protect a woman, then he doesn't need a man's pee. And if you don't need it, you should be born a woman.

When I heard these words spoken by me to Shri Ramu in the mirror, I realized that I had received an answer to my question, what should be done with those who like to make large discounts of pious merits from the account of women's piety.

Because of my monologue, I realized that fans of making big discounts will be born as women for many, many lives, get a female birth, because they have no right to be men. They were Asuras, good-looking, attractive, successful, educated men, with good manners, with a man's peep, they were very well settled in the world, because they made big discounts of pious merits from women, and we all get in this world at the expense of pious merits. They were high-level men, and suddenly they will be born many, many lives as women, have a female body, and will be single women and will attract to themselves, like a dust collector, Asuras who like to make big discounts of pious merits from women, as well as any rabble, just to destroy.

They will be such orderlies of the forest. They will live like ordinary-looking women, but they will be like witchers, because they will not be approached, because if you go and do something bad to her or just think badly in her direction, then some invisible gateway will immediately open in her and through this gateway the sinful karma that the spiritual teachers of Krishna consciousness have collected from their students will flood into the offender.

This will solve the problem of unloading spiritual teachers from the sinful karma of students, with the destruction of those who like to make big discounts, as well as ensuring the protection of single women from any rabble. And to do this, those female nurses will not need to do anything, it will be enough just to live, and just by their life they will attract those who need to be destroyed, while unloading spiritual teachers from the sinful karma of students.

And for what we did, I am grateful to this Shri Ram, because it was done because he made a big discount of pious merits from me, and because I told him in the mirror that a man who does not protect a woman has no right to be a man, which means that he does not need a man's pee, and so we made all those Asuras who made big discounts, women witchers, and this is the right decision.

You may think that this is a cruel decision, but you would hardly think so if you were given a big discount, all the pious merits were taken out of you, because as a result, you would lose everything, literally everything. Somehow something would happen to make you lose everything, because when there is piety, everything comes by itself, and when there is no piety, everything somehow flows away by itself. Everything would have flowed away so quickly and so painfully that you would have cursed those who did what you would have suffered as a result if you had known it, but hardly anyone would have guessed that such a thing is possible.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for making so many of these forest attendants thanks to that big discount.

370. Thanks for the thrown into me the deaths

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is that he revealed to me why he threw three other people's deaths into me when he drained me of all my pious services. I thought that he had put these deaths into me in order to get rid of me as quickly as possible, so that I wouldn't have to wait too long to be dragged down to the bottom of my life and leave my body. I also thought that he wanted to earn more money in this way, cutting off a lot of pious merits from those Asuras over whom death was inevitable, for getting rid of this death by throwing this death, these sinful reactions, as a result of which they were inevitably covered with death, into me as into a garbage can. They must, of course, have paid him for this deliverance with some portion of pious merit.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I was sure that he put those deaths in me in order to earn more money, universal currency, pious merits, and also to get rid of me accurately and quickly, so that I would definitely be gone and as soon as possible. I thought that he had decided that simply draining me of pious merit was not enough, that I would continue to live a miserable existence in this body for some time, and so he decided this issue radically so that I would definitely be gone. But it turned out that in addition to this, he also felt sorry for me.

And I am grateful to him that he revealed to me that, having thrown these other people's deaths into me, he pitied me so that I would not fall into the society of those who would humiliate, insult and mock me. He saved me from an agony that would have lasted for a while. And before that, I would have lost everything: housing, children, work, money, opportunities, health, respect, and human appearance. I would just be mocked, mocked like a piece of meat. And so I went through with it, so I don't have to grovel before some thugs and degradantov, in whose society it would be deprived of all his pious merits, and he dumped me three other people's death to me just knocked from life and so I don't go in those terrible conditions.

It turns out that he pitied me by throwing these deaths into me. After all, he might not be sorry, but just wait for me to fall there and leave the body one day. He could revel in revenge while watching me humiliate myself. It turns out that he didn't want to enjoy revenge while enjoying my suffering. He said: «I feel sorry for her. I don't want her to be bullied there, it's better to leave her body right away, and that's it». And he put these deaths in me.

For the fact that he still felt sorry for me, did not want to revel in my suffering, and for the fact that he revealed it, I am immensely grateful to him.

I am also grateful to him for putting these deaths in my children's lives as well. He took pity on my children. He could have thrown one death into me, and that would have been enough to make me leave my body as soon as possible and give him access to unrestrained pleasure with everyone. That would also make him feel sorry for me. But he threw three deaths at me, two of which were intended for my children who were not yet grown up. He took pity on my children.

He wanted my children not to go through separation from their mother and see their mother in the state she would have been in if she had lost all her pious services. Yes, of course, they could not have seen me in that state, since we would have been somehow separated from them, because I would not have had the pious merits to pay for my life together with my children. But they would have known something was wrong with mom. They would have somehow heard what a pitiful state she was in. And so they were not in a terrible state knowing that their mother like a sheep to the altar is cut a ruthless butchers that children didn't feel it, not passed it, he put death to them. For the fact that he took pity on my children, took care of them in this way, I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful that he took care in this way that my children would not be harmed when they were left without me, which would have been unavoidable as a result of my loss of all pious services. They would have been torn away from me in one way or another, and they would have had to go somewhere else, which in itself would have been a great tragedy for them.

Shri Ram searched the mind of my older sister, the mind of my eldest daughter, and the mind of my ex-husband, the father of these children, and he saw that my children were not needed there, and that even if they got there, they would not be happy there. And Shri Ram saw that they would most likely end up in an orphanage. And that they didn't get there to get them there, not mocked and humiliated, so they haven't been through everything they've been through would have deprived me of my defense, he was dumped in someone else's death for them, that they too soon left the body and went into the next life. And for this I am grateful to this Shri Ram. Yes, it is a very peculiar concern, but still he pitied them and took care of them, even so.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for learning that my children are my friends. When Shri Ram drained me of all my pious services, my children shared their pious services with me, just to be with me. On the external level, the flow of pious merit from person to person is not visible, this was revealed to me by Shri Ram. It turned out that my children generously shared their pious services with me, Baring their backs and jeopardizing their future. For the sake of being with me, they did it. They are my friends. They saved me. And for the fact that he revealed it to me, I am very grateful to him.

I also learned through Shri Ram about the role of pious merit in our lives. I learned that divorces and all sorts of troubles in life can happen not because we are so bad, with someone here behaved badly, but because we lost our pious merits for some reason. Yes, of course, there is a reason for everything. There is karma. And if there was a higher sanction so that someone could shake off these pious merits from us, it means that there was something for us, for some of our sinful actions in the past.

And all these divorces, troubles, vicissitudes in life can happen for the reason that we could simply be robbed, completely invisibly draining us of the pious merits that we earned by performing some good deeds, observing fasts, limiting ourselves in something, taking part in charitable activities. I didn't know that there are space pirates who chase these treasures to different planets and are ready to do anything just to steal these treasures. And I thank him very much for learning about the role of pious merit through this Shri Ram.

I am also grateful to him for these deaths thrown at me, because this fact gave me the right to demand the execution of revenge — an eye for an eye, death for death. This gave me grounds to demand that the case for his punishment be transferred from the Department of capital punishment, yamadutami in hell, to my light forces team. I demanded revenge on the grounds that I was his Shakti, that I had suffered from his actions, that he had actually killed me by throwing other people's deaths into me.

I demanded that my desire for vengeance (death for death) be fulfilled, and so the matter of his punishment was transferred to us and his punishment in the infernal worlds was canceled. The sentence became possible after his lifetime, Yamaguti, and in the process his death at the end of this life, the forces of my command. We have received permission to carry out his punishment on our own, and the Asuric nature will be burned out of him, as a result of which he will no longer be an Asur. And I thank him for that.

371. Gratitude for what he paid for my mistake

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is that he paid for me after I removed those Asuras who threw their sinful karma into me along with their deaths.

When I had to throw all our sinful karma into them and send them to the hellish worlds, I really didn't want to do it. And then I was thrown memories of a small episode that happened a couple of days before. I was on the bus, and a woman sat down with me and said, " Pay for me, please». She said that she was coming from the hospital, there was no money for the bus, and she had to get home. I paid for it.

And when I had to send those who needed to throw all our sinful karma and then send them to the hellish worlds, I was thrown memories of how this woman sat next to me and said: «Pay for me, please». I thought that she could easily have thrown her troubles at me like this, making her request with this insidious lining: «Pay for me, please. I don't want to work off my sinful karma. I want a celebration of life, I want to be happy and enjoy. Work out my sinful reactions instead of me, please pay my sinful bill. I don't want to pay my sinful bill».

I was very scared then, realizing that she could ask me to pay for her on her sinful account, that is, to take her troubles, voicing a simple question about a ticket on the bus, because I paid for it on the bus. And then I got a sign that Shri Ram had seen through all this and had already taken action, because after that I was on the bus and a banner with the words «and friends will pay for your bream» caught my attention.

Seeing this banner, I thought that I made this bream, I foolishly agreed to help that woman. She could easily take advantage of my naivety, impenetrable stupidity and ignorance of all these subtleties and ask me a question with a lining. She could voice a simple-looking question with something else in mind, so that I would «pay» for her, and not feel sorry for me or my children, or even ask if I wanted to take her troubles for myself. She didn't care at all.

And when I was concerned about this question, Shri Ram tried to convey to my mind the idea that he had already solved it — returned everything to this aunt and loaded her with a lot of his sinful karmic trash, and therefore I came across a banner with the words «and friends will pay for your bream». It was a sign that my problem was solved, everything was fixed, everything was returned to where it came from, and in addition that aunt was used as a garbage can, throwing a lot of her own garbage into it.

I am grateful to him for paying for my mistake.

372. Gratitude for the awareness about the constant risk of failure in the material world

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to him is that I saw how easy it is to make a mistake in the material world, even if you do not want to harm anyone and try to avoid unrighteous actions. For example, the Princess, the first double, the woman who was with Shri Ram in the summer of 2016. She didn't know that he had a wife, because our wedding was on some invisible energy plane, in some illusion. But even if it was an illusion, it was still real, but that woman didn't know it, because there was no woman in his life and he was acting like a completely free man. And having entered into a relationship with him, it turns out that she became a mistress. Because I was still his wife. And she, it turns out, became a mistress, and she served to ensure that the husband abandoned his wife and gave it to others for fun.

She had committed a sinful act without any intention or thought of doing it. Moreover, for her, love triangles were taboo. The role of a mistress was unacceptable for her, she could not even think of becoming someone's mistress, much less taking a husband away from his wife and breaking up someone else's family, she had never dealt with busy men, but she did not see energy plans, all these subtle things. There was no way she could have known that he was married, because she was only looking at the external manifestation, the physical plane. On the physical plane, he was a completely free man, with a clean passport, and there were no women in his life in real life. She's so screwed up!

After that, he put it on Erasure and began to siphon off its pious merits. And even I was shown that one day she came to him, complained that her position was greatly shaken, and asked for his help. How silly! She went to this man she was with that summer, complained to him that something was wrong with her business, something else was wrong, and asked for help, not knowing that this man was the reason that her business sank so sharply that she even had to ask him for help, and not only from him, but from many people she knew.

She had to go ask for help, and even from him. And she didn't know that he was the cause of her distress. He put it on Erasure. Why? Because she made a mistake. She made a mistake by entering into someone else's relationship, invading someone else's family and breaking it up, being the reason that the wife was put on the panel by her husband. This Shri Ram and I had already had a wedding, even though it was heavenly, we were husband and wife, even though he was free in physical reality, outwardly, and she got caught in it. It is so easy to make a mistake in the material world! This was revealed to me by Shri Ram. In the material world, you can't be sure of anything. And for the fact that I got such a clear implementation of this, I am very grateful to him.

She saw a completely free man, but he was married. We had a wedding in some kind of illusion, and even Nrisimhadev himself married us, United us in a sacred marriage. And she invaded it without knowing it. This is a natural deception of vision. Material nature can deceive anyone. Anyone can get a puncture like this and then be put on Erasure, and then run around and ask for help, but not get it.

It was a good thing that he had stopped pumping pious merit out of her, because he could sit next to her, look her in the eye with an honest, sympathetic look, Express sympathy, and then continue his vile business of emptying her store of piety. And then she couldn't have come to him. She just didn't have enough godly merit to have access to where successful people like him live. There was no way she could have gotten in. She would have been barred from his home. The material world is cruel, and I am grateful to Shri Ram for this realization.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for seeing the value of Srila Prabhupada's gift as a result of all this. He has come to save us from the constant risk of getting something wrong in the material world and being left with nothing, completely without help. I saw what Srila Prabhupada brought to us from a completely different angle, which is not open to anyone here. What Srila Prabhupada has given us is a generous gift to us, alms to us, the blind, the stupid, the poor, and the poor. And as a result of what was revealed to me in my novel " My novel. I am the wife of an Asura», I saw how generous this gift is and appreciated it.

373. Gratitude for the fact that there is no reason to lose weight

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I'm grateful for is that I have no reason to lose the extra pounds. From the time I started recording the video, and then the text of my novel «My Roman. I am the wife of an Asur», I am very fat. Previously, I would immediately go on a diet, lose the accumulated pounds and for a long time would observe a bunch of different posts that give good and at the same time keep the weight within the desired limits. But now I think, why do I need it? Well, if purely for health, then Yes, you can throw off a few kilos. And even then I read such theories that when a woman enters a certain age, when her ovaries stop producing estrogens that protected her body from all sorts of diseases, then fat takes on the protective role of estrogens. They say that when estrogens in the body becomes less and less, their protective function begins to perform fat, and therefore fat is useful for women when their own estrogens are already becoming scarce.

From this point of view, I really need fat, although there are still calls for weight loss everywhere, and the appearance is better when there is not so much fat. And in smaller clothes, I think I look prettier. But I don't want to go on a diet and somehow infringe on myself in some way right now. Previously, I would have forced myself, but now there is no reason. If only for health, but not in order to please someone, to throw dust in the eyes and show that you are so beautiful and cute.

There is no point in trying to look better, because I still won't be able to make it to the three takes that Shri Ram had and because of which he refused me. The first take was a very nice woman, I called her the Princess. She was with Shri Ram in the summer of 2016. I'll never make it. But even this he put on Erasure. He had a lot of beautiful women, but none of them he did not regret, so there is no reason to throw dust in the eyes of their appearance.

In the summer of 2016, I was much slimmer and prettier than I am now, but he did not spare me then, made a big discount of pious merits and threw other people's deaths into me to destroy. I was much prettier then than I am now, but he didn't spare me. I used to get into skirts that I don't get into now, but now I don't do anything to get into them again, because I don't want to and I don't need to, because other men are not interesting to me, they are nobody to me, my husband is Shri Ram, and he is an Asur, and he didn't feel sorry for me when I was much prettier. And even he did not spare that Princess, and then set about erasing from her her pious merits.

He began to put it up for sale in their burichenko directory and make the most of the Asuras for sexual fun with her in the distance, at the energy connection, pressing her mind on Masturbation for health, so that they gradually extorted from her pious merits to it, losing their pious merits, would lose its stable enough high existence, moving gradually from a luxury home in a not so fancy that then in a nice apartment, then the apartment is worse than all of the dormitory, and then in a room in a hostel, at best. She would have lost everything, health, friends, business, money, comfort, good looks, even respect, and would have been left alone, without friends, without help, without hope.

He didn't feel sorry for it, he put it on Erasure, even though it was very pretty and good. I was shown that it can make any man happy, it can make any man happy, but even such a woman he did not regret. And why should I try, why should I? If he is ordered to be with me, then let him receive his punishment. I will give him this punishment. If he doesn't like looking at that fat face, that's his problem, because don't spit in the well that you'll drink from later. And once you spit, now you drink. He is to be punished, and we will give him the full penalty.

And for the fact that I have no reason to lose extra pounds, I am grateful to him. This solves a lot.

374. Thank you for accepting the wedding offer

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is that he accepted my Gurudev's offer. Shri Ram drained me of all my pious services and threw three other people's deaths into me on September 3, 2016, for six months of our heavenly wedding. And he was already waiting for me to be gone and he could have fun with everyone again, but his plans didn't come true.

The next day, September 4, I came across my Gurudev's lecture on the Internet and started listening to it, and through this lecture, my Gurudev proposed me to this Shri Ram as his wife. He described my virtues by the example of the story of the blessings received by Hanuman and the qualities of Hanuman and said to Shri Ram: «I suggest to you, Shri Ram, Svetlana of Windvane. You told her, «be my wife, be my wife», and then you called it off, but I'm offering her to you. Take her as your wife».

Shri Ram didn't want to agree at the time, but on September 7, I watched random episodes of Devon ke dev Mahadev (it was the story of Chandradev receiving The Daksha curse in episodes 53–58), and through them Shiva told Shri Ram that what he had done was a crime and that this crime was unforgivable and he should be punished for it. Shiva told Shri Ram that because I wished him good luck, the collapse of his life did not kill him, but he did not go away from him, because he committed a crime that is unforgivable and must be punished. Shiva told Shri Ram that Shri Ram himself, of his own free will, took me as his wife at that heavenly wedding, but he did not give me the status of his wife, he did not make me his wife, and this is unforgivable. Shiva told Shri Ram that he should take me as his wife, even if he didn't want to, because you have to answer for your words and because otherwise Shri Ram will definitely get that life crash that will definitely kill him.

Shri Ram was very afraid and accepted my Gurudev's offer. He accepted me, despite the fact that before that he had drained me of all my pious merits, drained me of his sinful karma, and the sinful karma of three other Asuras, and even their three deaths. He was very afraid that he would again become a fatal loser, start losing everything, and then become a homeless man and die an inglorious death somewhere on the street. He didn't want this, so he accepted my Gurudev's wedding proposal, accepted me as his wife.

The reasons why he did it are not the best, but for accepting this wedding proposal, I am grateful to him. He respected my Gurudev, even if he didn't want to, but he did, so I am grateful to him.

The next thank you to Shri Ram is that thanks to this Gurudev lecture, I learned a lot of interesting things about myself, of course, in an allegorical form. There, my Gurudev said that Hanuman's speech can defeat any opponent with raised sabres. It was Shri Ramu who was told that I was like the sword of Chandrahas, whose blow no one could withstand, that with me he would become invincible. His speech, i.e. I (since the second part of my name, Vani, also means speech), can defeat any opponent with raised sabers. Then Gurudev told Shri Ram that I am a cool weapon that can destroy any opponent. My Mahabharata started ten months later, and Shri Ram could see the truth of these words.

My Gurudev said that Hanuman uses the right words at the right time and never uses the wrong words, and this was an allegorical reference to me. For a woman, the right words are her husband, all other men are like wrong words for her. Then Gurudev said that I only go with my husband and I don't go with other men.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

My Gurudev also said that when Hanuman spoke, he had no problems with his body. He always remained very focused. In these words, in an allegorical form, my Gurudev told Shri Ram that when I am with a man, I am only with him, he is always doing well and I am always very focused on him and do not think about other men. My Gurudev said that this is right, that this is the dignity of a woman. If it wasn't a virtue, he wouldn't have said it in this lecture. This suggests that a woman should only think about her man, this is correct, this is chastity. It turns out that I am like this, and I learned this from the lecture thanks to Shri Ram, because my Gurudev told him this, but it was also a very pleasant discovery for me.

375. Thanks for the favorable selection of pairs

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to him for helping many couples connect. I help a lot of single people stop being single. However, I don't do anything for this. Do you know how I help them?

Shri Ram is connected to me, and he is a big Asur, and he has a big Asuric organization under him. Through their thought chat, he constantly coordinates the actions of his Asuras, and through the eyes of different people, he can see what they see. Asuras need people to have sex and women to have regular orgasms. If a woman has a regular orgasm, the Asuras connect and receive their dose of pious merit drained from this woman.

Pious merit is the universal currency. Due to pious merits, we get good health, good birth in a good family, good parents, good appearance. We get all the opportunities in life-money, wealth, homes, businesses, luck, relationships, attractiveness, success with the opposite sex, including maintaining a normal sexual orientation.

And I help Shri Ram, give him signs, which plug-dad to which plug-mom to connect. For example, let's look at how this happens on a Dating site. Different women come there, and different men sit there. How can a woman know who a man is? Maybe he's a pick-up guy or an NLP guy, maybe he's not interested in starting a family at all and just wants pleasant pleasures without obligations. Try to guess. To find out this method, sorry, poke — not the best thing. And I give Shri Ram signs, which woman with which man will be safe, good, with whom she will be happy and long.

These signs can go through anything, through situations in my life, through words and stories in movies, in books, on the Internet. Often these signs go through our cat. For example, our cat likes to climb into the closet. She likes to crawl into hidden places to hide there and sleep sweetly. She hides, then we open the closet and look, and there she sits, all happy. I say: «how nice it is for her, children, don't touch her, let her sit there». And this is the sign of Shri Ramu. He is currently studying the situation with a woman, for example, on a Dating site. He wants this woman to be attached to some man, so that she periodically has sex and that she has a regular orgasm, because during her orgasm, the Asuras siphon her pious merits out of her, little by little, like a snake taking her poison little by little. And when our cat is happy and happy, it is a sign to Shri Ram that the woman he is looking at at this time is very suitable for some man, about whom he is thinking, whether to set him up with her or not, whether it will be of any use.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And in the same way, I give them signs that they should not pump out much, and also from whom they can pump out a lot, and from whom a little, and to whom they should not approach at all, otherwise they will be punished by material nature.

Or children catch a cat, drag it somewhere, put handkerchiefs on it, cover it with pillows. The cat doesn't like it very much, and I say, «Don't touch it, it doesn't want to sit in these pillows. She wants to sit in her seat. Stop it!» And so I show him what kind of man this woman will definitely not be good with, because this cat, that is, a woman, does not like to sit in pillows and it should be released.

Or, for example, a cat asks for food, meows, goes to the refrigerator, and the children, instead of giving it food, start to squeeze it and say how much they love it, and I tell them: «Stop squeezing it, it wants food. Everyone just squeezes, but no one gives her food». And so I show Shri Ram that this cat, that is, some woman, for example, on a Dating site, everyone wants only to squeeze, everyone wants only sex from her, but no one gives her food, no one cares about her, no one cares how she lives.

And through various signs, I show Shri Ram which man which woman should not be with, and which of them is suitable for her, with whom she will sit like our cat in the closet and it will be good, pleasant, reliable. This means that the woman will sit with this man for a long time, reliably, pleasantly, she will have regular orgasms, and the Asuras will be able to constantly pump out of her pious merits, but so as not to damage her much.

And I also give signs of which woman is good and which is bad, in which you can, like in the trash, throw all your sinful reactions that have surfaced along the way. For example, some Asura suddenly has troubles in life, so to speak, a parcel comes from past lives with sinful reactions that periodically rise to the outside, to the event plan and which need to be worked out. His karmic sinful reaction has surfaced on the event layer, but he does not want to work it out, and thanks to my signs, Shri Ram sees who can be used as a garbage can to throw these pop-up sinful reactions there. He uses the person indicated by the signs as a garbage can, merges karmic reactions from his Asura into this garbage can, and this Asura quickly evens out the situation, troubles disappear, a resource comes to him, and life is good again. Therefore, Asuras are usually quite well organized and their success is quite stable.

Shri Ram invisibly brings together men and women on the Dating site and in real life, in order to constantly have a feed of pious merits, and I am grateful to him for the fact that I, even without knowing those women and those men whom he sees through the eyes of his subordinate Asuras and through the eyes of different people on the site and in life, contribute to Shri Ram used to try to take into account the wishes of different individuals before my leadership, but he did not always do this, but only in some cases, when there were finicky people like me who rejected the options offered to them. For the most part, he wasn't particularly interested in the compatibility of the couples he was bringing together, since why consider the wishes of these dim-witted, primitive, easy-to-read, fun-loving, easy-to-follow natives of this planet? Put pressure on their minds, and they will run to bed with anyone, and pump out there as much as you want... Pumped out of these, threw them out as waste material and took others.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for helping some people find a suitable match without even knowing them, because it is not my business at all. I just live a normal life, and everything that happens in my life is a projection on something in those with whom I am in touch, including those people whom Shri Ram wants to take in turn. And thanks to the fact that I give him signs, and he constantly sets someone up with someone, these people find a normal life, not one where they are constantly thrown and in which no one cares how they live, but a reliable, stable, satisfying life.

For example, I say to children: «Do not touch the cat, it is good there, calm, it can sit there all day, almost without getting out of there. Let her sit there». Shri Ram is looking at some woman and some man from a website or somewhere in the real world and wondering if they will fit together, and here I am with my cat in the closet, and he projects my words about the cat on these people and thinks: «This woman will be fine with this man». And he somehow puts pressure on their consciousness, it is not difficult for him, because he is an Asur, he knows how to influence the consciousness of people at a distance, being far away from them.

He somehow puts pressure on their minds, and this man suddenly has a desire to look at this woman, to whom I Shri Ramu gave a sign that this cat in this place will be good, safe and pleasant and she will sit there for a long time. Shri Ram puts pressure on this man's mind, and he has a desire. He starts writing to this woman, calling, inviting her somewhere. Also, Shri Ram somehow pushes her consciousness. And you see, they are already doing well, a strong family unit of society has been formed.

And I am very grateful to Shri Ram for helping some people to find their normal human happiness, and I do it without even knowing these people, without even making any effort, just because I am such a sign giver. I am such a fan who gives signs with his whole life, with everything that happens in his life. I give him signs, including this one.

Do you think you choose someone there somewhere? Maybe someone chooses it. But mostly on Dating sites Asuras rule, and they rule completely invisible, through you guys. They look at your thoughts when you get there and see who to push you with. If they don't have such a set of signs, they push just to push. Therefore, women, when you sit on a Dating site, do not listen too much to your voice of desire, because it may not be your desire, but imposed by someone from the outside, in order to quickly throw you in a bed with someone, and then connect to you during this sex, fuck you completely unnoticed by you through the body of that man and get out of you your pious merits, your luck, your opportunities, your money, your good position in this world.

I am glad that due to the fact that Shri Ram has such a good Khan like me, he can act as a good matchmaker, although those people do not even know that some Shri Ram actually connected them, brought them together, and this Shri Ram was actually given a sign by some Svetlana Vinodavani, who is sitting somewhere at home and who does not even know them and who does not need this

I am grateful to Shri Ram that somehow, by giving these signs, I show him which woman will be better off with which man, simply because when Shri Ram looks at them, our cat suddenly finds itself in its favorite place or eating its favorite food that it likes. And if she doesn't like some food or it makes her vomit, Shri Ram immediately understands that with this man, nothing good will happen to this woman, she will vomit from him, like our cat from this food, which is good in appearance, but which did not suit her.

Alas, from our meeting with Shri Ram, such a meeting of suitable people and the combination of their destinies is destined to come to an end, since in order to make my life easier and not burden our family life, it is necessary that these signs for all these permutations of figures on the Board of life were not present, and therefore Shri Ram was shown that he should transfer his Asuric organization to another large Asura, and already in advance this Asura was selected and notified of his appointment to the post of the local RA, the local spider holding threads from everything on this large territory.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I am very grateful to Shri Ram for agreeing to give up his entire Asuric organization to facilitate our family life.

376. Thanks for explaining the word «cockroach» in the stream of signs of the Universe

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful that he revealed to me the meaning of the word «cockroach», because I did not understand what my words about cockroaches indicate. I knew that everything that happened in my life was a projection of what was happening in his life. We have cockroaches in our apartment. I have taken them out many times by all means, but they are all over the house, and after a while a crowd of cockroaches from the neighbors comes running again. I wondered what my words about cockroaches showed, for example, when I told the children to close the bowl of cat food, otherwise the cockroaches might get in. Shri Ram revealed to me the meaning of this.

He told me that when I talk about cockroaches, I'm pointing to some men who think that a woman must work and if she doesn't plow, then she sucks his blood, sits on his neck, lives on other people's bread, such a calculating parasite, parasite, snake Podkolodnaya. Shri Ram revealed to me that men are like cockroaches. And I even wrote about it in the Chapter «they lost their trust, Maharaj». There I wrote that from a woman to her man go her pious services, so that he would act in the external environment, bring the means of life to the house, provide her comfort and take care of her. And all this comes to him through her pious services. But now nobody knows about it. Everyone thinks that if a guy is cool, it's because he's so cool. But in fact, behind every great man is a great woman. And when a man and a woman converge, such a symbiosis is formed, although invisible, because the eyes do not see how pious merits from a woman go to her man.

This process is not visible to the eye, and people are deprived of knowledge about it, so many men are now outraged when a woman wants to live at his expense. They believe that it should provide for itself. But the truth is that if she is with a man, he gets opportunities in life because of her pious merits, and they go to him only so that he can provide her with a protected space, so that she can sit on his neck and sit there quietly, having been freed from the need to go to work, meet other people's standards, communicate with other men and make subtle connections with them.

And if he is dissatisfied with the fact that a woman wants to sit on his neck, and in one way or another forces her to earn money, then he turns out to be a thief: he uses the pious merits that flow to him from her not for her, but for himself. He's just a parasite on the body of civilization, Alphonse, even though outwardly he works and does something for the family. And in addition, he contributes to her corruption, sending her to earn a living and thereby pushing her to other men. He lives with a woman, drinks her juices, her pious services, he gets opportunities in life because of her piety and at the same time believes that she does nothing and must provide for herself, and he does not consider himself obliged to repay her for her pious services given to him, at the expense of which, in fact, he lives.

What a clever, attractive trap of the material world for men to think that you are doing everything, when in fact you are enjoying the piety of a woman and do not even consider yourself obliged to thank her by doing your duty to her. The level of a cockroach who thinks that all the plates are his, even though he didn't do anything to get funds for the food that is on the plate, and didn't cook this food, but he is sure that this plate is his, just because he ran here. Alas, such a cockroach level is inherent in many men now.

All this I wrote under the influence of this Shri Ram, it was his desire and his words put into my mind, and when I wrote them, they made me cringe. But I did not know this, I thought that I had suddenly come up with this idea, and these words really jarred me, but Shri Ram then revealed to me that, it turns out, it was he who prompted me to write this and that this is actually an objective reality.

I didn't know that it was he who put these ideas in my mind and pushed me to write them all, but when these words were bothering me for a long time, he calmed me down by revealing that I wrote them at his request, that this is the truth of life and that I don't have to worry so much about these words. He informed me that these are the realities of life and that when I talk about cockroaches, I point out to him those men who treat women like these cockroaches, who believe that a woman must work and if she does not plow, then she is a Freeloader, successfully settled, lives at his expense.

In fact, from the woman to the man with whom she lives, her pious merits flow, and he actually lives at the expense of her pious merits, because everything in his life somehow goes well because he has these pious merits, which she passed on to him, completely unaware of this, on some higher plane of being. And it turns out that he improves his life at her expense, but does not want to do anything for her. He believes that she should take care of herself and that all her problems are just her own problems, not his.

I was very annoyed by the words about men and cockroaches that I wrote in the Chapter «they lost their trust, Maharaj», they seemed to me too harsh and categorical, out of touch with our modern life, but Shri Ram reassured me that these were his words, and that they were true, no matter how revolutionary they might look from a modern point of view, and that it was his desire that these words were written, and He made it clear to me that this does not mean that a woman does not have the right to earn money herself. This means that she doesn't have to do it, that if she doesn't do it, she has the right to do it. I am grateful to him for revealing this to me.

377. Thanks for the Fedka (a rag, a gift from God)

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I'm grateful for is that he hooked me up with an Asura, one of his Asuric organizations, as a voltage stabilizer, a kind of bodyguard. This is not a bodyguard who goes everywhere with the client and does not let anyone offend him. It is energetically connected to me. He somehow began to stabilize our contact with Shri Ram on the energy planes, because before that I was very shaken when Shri Ram and I somehow connected on the subtle planes. I was shaking and Bouncing away from it like a high-voltage power line, like an electric current.

Shri Ram connected this voltage stabilizer to me, which I gave the name Fedka rag God's gift. Somehow Shri Ram connected our energy channels with this Fedka, and this Fedka rag began to stabilize our interaction with Shri Ram, which made possible the so-called pillow sessions, that is, sessions of some kind of immersion in past lives. And for this I am grateful to Shri Ram.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for the fact that this Fedka rag understands me. Although he is an Asur and a high-level specialist in his field, but he turned out to be gay, and in the role of a girl, and he understands me. And when after Shri Ram left me and refused me, this Fedka rag God's gift somehow understood me and comforted me. This Fedka rag was more sympathetic.

When Shri Ram connected this Fedka rag to me, I said to him, " Rag, know that you are going to have a hard time. I guarantee you that». I didn't know yet that we were going to have this Mahabharata in which I would destroy a bunch of Asuras, that I was, it turns out, an inspector of the universal watch. I didn't know any of this, but I told him so beforehand when Shri Ram first connected him to me.

I told him, " I'll give you a big load. You will develop your muscles well. You will then remember this time with me as the most terrible and most beautiful dream. True,true. You thought you were just doing a task? Ha, you're in the middle of a mess. I'm still a sensor. I will test you to the fullest. Don't be afraid, you won't burn. And remember. I'm telling you in advance. The Lafayette will come to an end. Appreciate every moment with me. You will never have such a drive again. Cool you got on T-V!» I didn't know I was going to record this novel, I didn't even know it, but even then I said how cool it was to get on T-V.

I told him: «You're a star! Just know it! Oh, you're in trouble! Haha. Whether there will be more. You all got there!» I didn't know what it was going to be, that I was going to conduct a Mahabharata, a purge of the Asuric community, but I already said that they were all hit.

I said to him, «Rag, hi. You're pretty lucky. I'm going to take you through a full-time intensive training program right now. Hold on. It will hurt. Don't worry, I'm joking. Although who knows... " Yes, when I started my Mahabharata with the Asuras, some Asuras attacked this Fedka rag and began to demand that he stop doing his job, ensure our stable interaction with Shri Ram. They gave him an ultimatum that either he would stop it or they would kill him. Then I brutally killed some of them and told the others that anyone who touches this rag, I will smear in the trash. They realized the gravity of the situation and stopped their attacks. But at the very beginning, when this Fedka rag was just connected to me, I warned him.

When it was connected to me, I stopped being thrown out of contact with Shri Ram and shaking like when a high-voltage current passes through you. And Shri Ram and I were able to stay on this plateau and go deeper into our unity with him. And for connecting this Fedka rag, I am grateful to this Shri Ram.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for connecting this Fedka to me just like that, without payment. Because he told me through the karate coach: «A gift for you. Although others paid both for participation and for a rag-belt». Yes, of course, he said this because before that he had shaken off all my pious services and there was nothing more to take from me, but what difference does it make? He gave it to me as a gift. He did not shake off a single penny of pious merit for connecting this bodyguard, although some other women before me paid pious merit for the participation of Shri Ram in their lives, and for this bodyguard, so that they could somehow interact with this Shri Ram normally, like an ordinary woman with an ordinary man, and that they did not shake at the same time from his Asuric energies.

For the fact that he gave me this Fedka as a gift, and for the fact that he actually gave me this Fedka, I thank him.

The next thing I am grateful to Shri Ram for is one of the pillow sessions made possible by the connection of Fedka rag. There were a lot of pillow sessions, one of which took us deep into the layers where he became an Asur and I was left alone. There I discovered that I was wandering alone in the vast Universe between lives and throwing my call signs to him everywhere, calling him to me: «Come, come, where are you? Why aren't you anywhere? Why can't I hear you?»

I looked everywhere for him, but he was nowhere to be found, and some powerful individuals came to me there between lives. They showed me what Shri Ram had become. They told me that we would never be able to be together, and suggested that I break off our eternal relationship with him. They gave me another eternal husband to choose from, and I refused. We had a pillow session about this.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for finding out about this, because it happened because he connected this Fedka rag to me, because how can you even find out? It was somewhere between lifetimes very, very many lifetimes ago. No psychotherapist, no specialist in past-life regression, could have got to the bottom of that situation, because it wasn't in a past life, it was in the old days, many lifetimes ago. And this was not in life, but between lives. And it was revealed to me in that pillow session. For this I am grateful to Shri Ram.

378. Thanks for my Association with the Holy names of Krishna

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to him is for a pillow session with the Holy names of Krishna. It was Shri Ram who was thinking about what would happen if he didn't come to me, because he accepted my Gurudev's offer, but I didn't give him any sign that he could come to me in real life. He thought what would happen if this sign never came and he never came to me. And Krishna arranged a pillow session in which I had communion with the Holy names of Krishna. This was pure chanting of the Holy names of Krishna.

What kind of chanting was that? This was not chanting, but real communication with the Holy names of Krishna, when Shri Ram was shown that Krishna can break this eternal connection at any time, completely and then I will not have Shri Ram, as if he never existed, at all, and then I will have Krishna. I will go with Krishna.

Krishna showed me all this in that pillow session. Krishna then showed that He could break this eternal bond. I then really felt how this paper clip, which I felt at our heavenly wedding with him and which binds us to Shri Ram, somehow came loose, unfastened, it was gone. And at the same time, this Shri Ram was gone. He wasn't just gone. It never existed at all. Never at all. Did not have. There was me, and there was Krishna. And there was no one else at all. The whole world ceased to exist for me then.

I began to recite the hare Krishna mantra, slowly and slowly. I said every word of the mantra and savored the taste of it on my tongue. And at the same time, I was looking at this name of Krishna, as if it was standing in front of me, in front of some inner vision. And each name of Krishna in this mantra was a separate person. I spoke the words of the mantra slowly, very slowly, and immediately looked at the name I was saying, seeing it in front of me, I felt the taste of this name and saw it in front of me as a person. And such a familiar person and such a native.

As I went on to say the next name in this hare Krishna mantra, I was surprised to see this new name and looked at it with a new feeling. It was as if the name itself stood before me and stood there, and I recognized it, this dear person, and I looked at it and felt it, it was new, each name was a new person. And with each name-personality, I had my own, special relationship. And at the same time I felt so native and so close... And really delicious. A completely different taste, which I could never even imagine here in material reality.

Then I started singing my song, which I composed a long time ago, transcribing the words «Manasa Deha Geha» by Bhaktivinoda Thakur in Russian in a song version. I started singing it:

You are everything to me, father, mother, and son,
And my beloved, my husband, and my mentor, my Master.
Krishna, You hear me, Krishna, Radha's Lord.
You are the light of life For me, I am not alone with You.

I sang this song, and every word in this song was my personal appeal to Krishna, my personal attitude towards him. It was so amazing... Shri Ram got the answer to his question, and I got a completely unimaginable experience of communicating with Krishna, With his Holy names that I felt Them, Krishna, with whom I communicated and had my own personal relationships, and with each name separately, as a person, individual, special and special for me. Krishna showed both Shri Ram and me that he can at any time remove this connection completely and free me for Himself, for the one who lives in these names of this mantra and whose names are him, Krishna.

It was amazing! I saw each name of Krishna in the hare Krishna mantra in some way as a separate person, and I looked at this person, a separate person, at each individual name of the mantra, I looked at this person as the most dear to me, very familiar living entity, as a person.

I was looking, and I was communicating in some way, I was communicating with every name of Krishna, I had a special relationship with every name as a person.

I am grateful to this Shri Ram that I had it, because I think it was a pure chanting of the hare Krishna mantra, no matter how loud it sounds. And this was because Shri Ram had a question that was answered in this way. I didn't realize the power of this mantra. I didn't realize it was alive. I didn't realize that this mantra is not just a droning song, but that each name in this mantra is a person, a special, unique person, with whom you have a special, unique relationship and a special feeling.

I did not imagine that every name, every word in this mantra is alive and that it can be seen and felt as a close and familiar living being. I did not realize that each of these names in the mantra is a separate person, with its own character, with a special connection with you, and that it is even possible to be with this name in some kind of relationship. And for this pillow session, I am very grateful to Shri Ram.

379. Thanks for protecting my honor

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

My next thank you is to Shri Ram for protecting me from the Asuric sweepstakes. I stepped on the tail of many Asuras, and they decided that they would break this obstinate female of the human race. In October 2016, Borka, a former leader of the Moscow Asuric organization, put me on their sweepstakes with his lot. Their chief elder, whom I called Bhishma, gave the go-ahead for me to break down there. Many Asuras placed their bets there. Many spectators were waiting for the exciting spectacle of my breaking.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

There came venerable breakers of female nature, who were at that time on the planet Earth and who had various blessings, tantric powers, extraordinary abilities to break female nature, and they were going to use their entire Arsenal to break me, so that I would stop wandering and go on a spree.

Many of the Asuras have already signed up to use me when I am completely broken. They were going to bend me first to Masturbation, and then to regular sex, so I ran to look for men to fuck. They were going to connect through the bodies of these men and have me in all sorts of ways, most likely somehow perverse, and siphon my pious merits out of me.

They wanted to empty me, completely draining my pious merits. They didn't know that Shri Ram had already succeeded and they had nothing left to pump. But in this case, their task would be easier, because then it would be much easier to put pressure on me and break me.

Borka, the former leader of the Moscow Asuric organization, was very angry with me and wanted to take revenge on me in this way. He and other interested Asuras came to Shri Ram on their thought chat and said: "well, we put this obstinate goat on the sweepstakes and soon we will push it, go put bets, you will earn a lot of money, you will get rich. Money is never superfluous. And pious merit is also needed. This is health, luck, and success for people of the opposite sex. Go place your bets. We will break it, put it on its knees, and it will be a bed for all of us».

But Shri Ram refused them. Just recently, his life was in danger of complete collapse, the memories of this were still fresh, he remembered well that Shiva had told him that his crime was unforgivable and must be punished, that the collapse of his life was still there and he could only be saved if he was with me. Shri Ram remembered that in order to continue living well, he had to be with me, so he refused the Asuras.

But they told him they would destroy him if he didn't agree. He was told that it was in his best interest to give his consent, since otherwise he would not be there, because he would have to take part in a battle on the subtle plane, in which a very formidable opponent would come up against him, who would incinerate him in this battle. They also told him that if he gave me to them, they would not touch him and even allow him to place bets and earn a lot of money.

Shri Ram did not know what to do. He thought about this situation from all sides and realized that he would have to meet them halfway and give me to their sweepstakes. And when his doubts were very much tormented and he thought that he would really be killed there, and was inclined to give me away, he was shown the 420 episode «Devon ke dev Mahadev», in which Shiva gives the sword Chandrahas to Ravana and says that if Ravana abuses this sword, he will return to Shiva. Through this episode, Shiva reminded Shri Ram of the collapse of life hanging over him, saying that if he abuses me, that is, if he gives me to the Asuras for their sweepstakes, then I will return to Shiva, that is, then Shri Ram will lose me, but in this case he will get his punishment for the crime he committed, which is unforgivable and from which he is protected by being with me.

Shri Ram thought that if he gave me up to them, they would not touch him, but he would be ruined, bankrupt, homeless, and then freeze to death somewhere on the street with his shoes full of holes in some garbage dump. What an inglorious, cruel death, he thought, to walk homeless on the street, begging, begging, sleeping in unknown places, walking in rags, eating scraps from garbage dumps, and no one knows how long it will last. On the other hand, he thought, if he didn't give me to them, they would destroy him. Everywhere you throw, there's a wedge. And there is bad, and here. And there and there death.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Shri Ram thought that if he didn't give me up to them, they would just quickly destroy him. In this case, everything will be resolved quickly, and death will be glorious, and there will be no need to go to garbage dumps, beg, freeze in the cold in leaky shoes and hide in basements.

He thought that death at the hands of an Asura in a battle on the subtle plane would be faster and easier than death when homeless. If you're going to die either way, then of course it's better to choose what's easier. So he decided not to give me up.

He told the Asuras that he would not give me up, and accepted their challenge. Against him was a very formidable opponent, who had not known defeat before, and who would certainly have incinerated Shri Ram with his eyes. He had a terrible red eye that burned everyone. And Shri Ram went to this mortal battle without giving me to the Asuras for the Asuric sweepstakes, just to make death easier and faster.

But despite the fact that the motives were such, he defended my honor. He didn't give me to them. Whatever his motives, he acted like a real man, a defender. He said to them, " I will not give it to you for reproach. Cancel your bets. You won't earn anything there, because you won't get it». They told him:" you're a fool, we'll kill you anyway». He said, " I will fight to the death, but I will not give it up». And for this I am very grateful to him, because whatever the motives, the fact remains that he protected my honor.

I am also grateful to this Shri Ram for making me know that I am a powerful weapon like the chandahas sword. This was shown to him in the words of Shiva Ravana: «I give you this weapon, the chandahas sword. Remember: never abuse it. If you mistreat it, it will come back to me».

Yes, through these words, then Shri Ram was shown that if he does wrong with me, if he gives me to the Asuric sweepstakes, then I will not be with Shri Ram and then he will receive his punishment in the form of financial collapse, become a homeless person and then death will still overtake him. Because of this, he decided not to give me up, because he was told that he would be incinerated anyway, and he thought that it was better to be incinerated quickly than to go homeless and still get the same result, the same death, only very unpleasant.

But in the same words, I was shown that if Shri Ram does something wrong, I will return to Krishna. Shiva said: «It will return to me», which means that I will return to Krishna. And for this I am grateful to Shri Ram.

380. Gratitude for the tenacious violets and my innocence

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to him for the metaphorical card with a girl watering indoor violets, which fell to me in the same game with MAC. Then I wrote on this map that I have no violets do not hold, but this violet in the picture somehow miraculously not only holds, but also grows and even blooms luxuriantly. Other flowers grow normally, orchids bloom with enviable constancy, but violets, no matter how many I plant them, for some reason die, something they do not like here. And I noted on the map that the violet on the map is persistent and viable, grows well and blooms luxuriantly. And then I realized that this is what I was saying about Shri Ram. And I am grateful to him for being so resilient and persistent that he grows and blooms, even though all the others were lost.

I also saw from this map that it wasn't my fault that violets didn't take root with me, that is, men didn't stay with me. It's not my fault that the men somehow went off the course. It's not me who is so bad, so unbearable, with such a quarrelsome character that no one can stand me. This was not because I was like this, but because of the curse that Shri Ram and I received God knows how many lifetimes ago. Many lifetimes ago, he and I received a curse that he would be childless, and I would be alone, without a husband. Because of this curse, I couldn't be with my husband for long, not with anyone. And no matter how wonderful and wonderful I was, it would still end. It was just the effect of the curse that we received when we mortally offended some wise man in a far, far away life. And because of that curse, I couldn't be with any man for long.

So I am grateful to Shri Ram for finding out about this. So it is gratifying to know that you're not the one that cannot be tolerated, and such is fate.

Also, thanks to Shri Ram, I found out that I had sold my second husband. This I learned from my story to my cousin that I had an apartment in a remote Moscow region and I sold it. I was talking about my second husband. In the last couple of years with him, Borka, the former leader of the Moscow Asuras, noticed me, and he did a lot of things with me, although I didn't know about it. He took a lot of my pious services out of me, and had a great influence on that husband of mine, so that I couldn't stand his behavior and divorced him. Then I, though not immediately, but succumbed to these manipulations and went for a divorce.

But in fact, I sold that husband to fill up my empty stock of piety. Borka had robbed my stock of piety well, and I had to make up for it as soon as possible. I found a good woman on some higher planes of existence, and on the higher planes I sold that husband of mine to her. She paid me a great deal of pious merit for it. In this way I filled up my stock of piety.

Borka would have pushed me to break up with my husband anyway, and in that situation, the best solution was to get lemonade out of the lemon, that is, since the break was inevitable anyway due to Borka's active actions in that direction and because of the decrease in my piety level as a result of pumping out pious merits, the most optimal and reasonable solution was to throw off this asset that I was already losing, closing the gaps in my piety account.

This is a bit like losing investors dumping their assets, knowing for sure that they will lose them anyway, and deciding to take advantage of it.

I would have lost that husband anyway, but I decided to make a profit, so I found a good woman in some higher spheres who was willing to buy these assets, that is, that husband, and threw it to her, getting my profit for it, adding to the stock of piety.

My stock of piety was severely depleted, and to make up for it, I had to make a purchase and sale deal with the woman who is now his wife. She doesn't know about it, and neither does he. I know about this, and even then it was revealed to me through my interaction with Shri Ram and his excessive curiosity.

I sold my then-husband to fill my empty stock of piety. His current wife paid me a lot of her pious services to get it, and I did it in order to be able and have the resources to continue to exist normally and fulfill my mission, to go according to my plan, which I made before my life in this body. I would never have guessed it myself, since the contract of sale was made at the level of the higher self. We, who live here, did not know about it, but at the level of the higher self, we signed a purchase and sale agreement. No one would have guessed this at the event level, but all these realizations came to me thanks to the excessive curiosity of Shri Ram, for which I am grateful to him.

381. Gratitude for an alternative to both Asuras and the reptilian space aliens

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to this Shri Ram is that thanks to him I was able to calm my second husband to some extent. My ex-husband and I are on good terms. It turns out that he is very concerned about the topic of chipping, electronic concentration camps, invisible world government, the reptilian space alien, alien races, invisible world domination. He is very afraid of it, which is not surprising. I'm afraid of it, too. He called me and said that no matter who he addressed with a conversation on these topics, everyone just shrugs it off, no one wants to listen to it, immediately closes and leaves this topic. He had no one to talk to about it, but thanks to Shri Ram, I was able to understand my ex-husband's concerns, share them with him, and present a new perspective on the subject.

He was particularly concerned with the subject of reptilians and their attempts to suppress us and seize world domination on our planet. I told him that Yes, there was probably something like that. Because Shri Ram is an Asur. Asura here, in our Land, ruled like a kind of invisible underground kings. Underground not in the sense that they live somewhere underground, but in the sense that no one sees that they rule everything here. The Asuras rule us, not under some land. They live among us, and they do not seek to personally get into power and sit in parliaments, in Senates, in Dumas and Marias. They don't become presidents, deputies, or any prominent bigwigs. They live like ordinary-looking people, not connected externally with politics and large corporations, but they are very well-off and rich. They don't rush to the top, to the public eye, because they don't need the hype, but in fact they rule everything. They are some kind of underground kings that no one knows about, but who rule everything.

They are able to connect to people, influence their consciousness, their energy centers, and their desires. They can put into their minds what they want to put there. They can perform mind manipulation, and they are actually the kings. They rule everything. They are kings, though underground, that is, not visible to everyone. But Shri Ram revealed to me that the Asuras here not only rule over us, but are also at war with someone who is even worse than them.

He told me this through a man who once passed us on the street. The man was walking along the sidewalk behind us, Smoking his cigarette and swearing into the phone. After that, he overtook us, and all the cigarette smoke with swearing rushed in our direction. I was with my daughter and, apparently, when he passed us, I looked at him accusingly, because after passing us and walking a few meters ahead, he stopped, looked back and said to us: «Yes, I am bad, but I beat those who are even worse than me».

Then I realized that Shri Ram had told me through him that Yes, he is bad, he is an Asur, he is one of these underground kings, he rules us humans like a flock of sheep, but in fact he beats those who are even worse than them, the Asuras. I thought: who do the Asuras beat, those who are even worse than them, if the Asuras do such abominations-siphon off pious merits, make women intemperate bedding for scoundrels of all stripes, lower people's consciousness, break them? If the Asuras are so bad, who are they hitting, who is even worse than them?

And I told my ex-husband that Yes, most likely there are some the reptilian space aliens or someone else who, just like the Asuras here, want to use us humans as cattle for their own purposes, and these the reptilian space aliens or the beats space alien are much worse than the Asuras, because Shri Ram told me that Yes, he is bad, but he the beats space alien those who are even worse than him.

And I then told my ex-husband that there is, of course, something like that, but the Asuras are fighting them. The Asuras are constantly taking place some contractions because in my words I say that are a projection of everything that is happening in Shri Ram, I see that they constantly occur any battle, they're someone destroyed and there is someone stronger than them, because in my words it happens that it is better not to touch it, and it is very dangerous. Sometimes I say: " don't touch this one, but beat this one mercilessly " (for example, when I talk about stray moths that accidentally flew in the window, or about impudent cockroaches). And I told my ex-husband that these Asuras exist, they live among us, and no one knows about it, and they actually rule us like underground kings, completely invisible, and we are a herd of sheep for them, but some the reptilian space aliens or the bears space aliens are even worse than them.

If the Asuras do this, then what do these the reptilian space aliens want to do to us? For the Asuras, we are just a herd of sheep, a breeding ground and garbage at the same time, but what then do the the reptilian space aliens or whoever else wants to do with us, if they are even worse than the Asuras?

I told my ex-husband that he doesn't have to worry, because we are still a herd of sheep, both for these the reptilian space aliens and for the Asuras. We have such insignificant abilities, we are so weak and pathetic in comparison with them, we can not oppose anything to either Asuras or the reptilian space aliens, that we are in any case a herd of sheep.

I told him we were a herd of sheep. You just have to go back to the spiritual world. We must seize the moment. We have the opportunity to return to the spiritual world. Srila Prabhupada gave us this window. I told him: «Why are you clinging to your body like that? This body is already many years old, it sees poorly, it hears poorly, why do you cling to this body so much? Well, there will be this chipping, well, they will drive us some terrible poison through these vaccinations and in six months everyone will die in terrible convulsions and suffering. So what? If you suffer a little, it's okay, you will end your material existence in this body. Is it really so strongly attached to this body shell, which sees poorly, hears poorly, and is all sick? Especially since now some the reptilian space aliens are constantly fighting with some Asuras, constantly, every day. And there are some very dangerous the reptilian space aliens that even the Asuras find very difficult to fight».

And I am grateful to Shri Ram that I was able to say something to my ex-husband and he has someone to talk to about it, because if it wasn't for Shri Ram, I wouldn't know what to say either. I would brush it off just like everyone else, but I can see that this is serious. Indeed, we're being ruled by a completely invisible as the underground kings. They rule everything, and we just don't see it. We just don't track it, because we don't even have the idea that this is even possible.

We're just a bunch of sheep to them. And we can't be different in this life. We are a flock of sheep in this life. We must understand this and take advantage of the opportunity offered by Srila Prabhupada for this flock of sheep. It is necessary to escape from the material world, so that you no longer find yourself in this herd of sheep, which is fought for by some Asuras and some the reptilian space aliens or the bears space aliens, which are even worse than the Asuras.

I am grateful to Shri Ram for being able to calm my ex-husband to some extent, because I told him about the Asuras and how they beat those who are even worse than them and who are dangerous. I told him that the Asuras are really at war with someone here on planet Earth, and that we have nothing to oppose either of them. There is only one alternative — to leave the material world, where you always risk being in a herd of sheep.

382. Gratitude for Lakshmi's blessing to marital fidelity to husband

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to Shri Ram for is that he actually did something to protect me in the Asuric sweepstakes situation. The fact that he went to the death fight then was his own selfish interest, so that death would not be so cruel, shameful and pathetic. But he also took care of my protection. He was sure that they would destroy him there, kill him, and he knew that since I had already been placed as a lot on the Asuric sweepstakes, they would definitely break me there, because he knew what venerable breakers of female nature were gathered there.

He was sure that then I would definitely be broken, made a public litter, and since my pious merits were drained, they would just cut me up like a chicken on a chopping Board. And he decided that I should be protected in some way.

He decided that after his death from the Asura with the red eye, I should have at least some protection that could hold back the onslaught of the Asuras when I would be left without his protection. He knew that that Asur with the red eye would incinerate him on the subtle plane and as a result, his physical body would stop functioning, maybe as a result of a heart attack or something like that, and he would leave the body. And then the path to me for the Asuras from the sweepstakes will be open. They will fall on me invisibly, on the energy plane and push through, just burn through all the centers. And he was thinking about how to protect me while he was gone.

Just when he was thinking about how to protect me when he was dead, Diwali was approaching, and I began to receive information about this holiday from everywhere. It was written that on this day, women in India ask the goddess Lakshmi for a blessing to be faithful to her husband, in order to be as faithful to her husband as the goddess Lakshmi is faithful to her Narayana.

Shri Ram saw this as my chance and asked me to ask the goddess Lakshmi for this blessing. Thoughts of this blessing began to come to my mind, and they swarmed in my head, giving me no rest, which made me realize that he was asking me to do this. I realized that he was asking me to ask the goddess Lakshmi for her blessing to be faithful to him as my husband on this Diwali. He thought that maybe it would somehow protect me from the pressure of the Asuras after he was no longer in the physical body.

He knew that when he was gone, the Asuras would rush at me and break me, and he didn't want me to turn into a pathetic sight. It took him a long time to persuade me. I had a lot of objections, but he found reasons for each of them in favor of blessing Lakshmi. And he convinced me. On that Diwali, I asked the goddess Lakshmi for her blessing to be faithful to Shri Ram as my husband.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Six months later, when my Mahabharata to purge the Asuric community was about to begin, I saw the effect of this blessing. In order for this Mahabharata to begin, I had to understand something about their techniques, and to do this, Shri Ram had to involve one of his Asuras in our intimate interaction, and I noticed this. But in order for him to connect it, he had to push me to ask the goddess Lakshmi to take this blessing, remove it. Because as long as this blessing was there, he couldn't connect anyone to me. Then only he could be with me. He couldn't connect anyone to me.

So it turns out that this blessing of Lakshmi really protects. And it would protect me from the Asuras. This blessing worked because in order for Shri Ram to connect another person to me, I had to give up this blessing myself. This blessing was my shield, and there was nothing he could do until I asked Lakshmi to remove it. So the blessing of Lakshmi can protect you from the Asuras.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for suggesting that I ask Lakshmi for this blessing and persuading me to do so. I am grateful to him for breaking down all my counter-arguments and asking for this blessing on Diwali. I am grateful to Shri Ram for taking care of me in this way so that I would not be broken in the Asuric sweepstakes, and for learning the value of Lakshmi's blessing to be faithful to her husband.

383. Thanks for the initiation on the level of the heart

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Next thanks to this Shri Ram for becoming a disciple of my spiritual master. When Shri Ram sent me away to ask the goddess Lakshmi for her blessing to be faithful to him as my husband, I made a condition for him, although I didn't know about it here, living a normal life. I do not know how all this happens, but somehow at the level of the higher self it happens and everything is somehow known. But the filter of the physical body does not allow this to pass into the area of consciousness. But the manifestation of that activity at the level of the higher self is realized and seen in our conversations with people, in an allegorical form, and when Shri Ram pressed me to ask for the blessing of Lakshmi, it turns out that I pushed him to agree to become a disciple of my spiritual master.

Through conversations with different people on different topics, I urged him to do this, and in order to protect me, to ask for this blessing of Lakshmi, he agreed to this condition. He agreed because he was sure that he would be killed. He was sure it wouldn't come to that. He was sure that he would be killed and I would be left without him, but the blessing of Lakshmi would somehow protect me from those Asuras who were going to break me, and so he agreed to my condition.

And when he had a battle on the subtle plane with that Asur with the red eye, I was given to understand that he was now in a mortal battle and that he would be killed. This was made clear to me. I was scared, because I was given to understand that after this, my life will somehow come to an end and my children will be left without me. And in order to protect my children, I began to intensely chant protective mantras and ask my Gurudev and all-all-all to protect this Shri Ram. And Shri Ram was not killed. Moreover, he won, even though that red-eyed Asur had never been defeated before.

And the day after that, Shri Ram became a disciple of my spiritual master. It was all on the subtle plane, on the energy, mental. I was doing my own business and suddenly I saw myself on my inner screen, Shri Ram standing to my right, and my Gurudev standing in front of us, at some small distance. And there was an interaction between me and my Gurudev, as if there was an invisible conversation going on between us. Not a word was spoken, I just saw all of us on my internal screen and felt quite clearly that there was some exchange going on between me and my Gurudev, some conversation that I couldn't hear, not even on a mental level, because my thoughts were completely silent, but somehow it seemed that there was some kind of dialogue going on between us.

Suddenly this conversation stopped, and my Gurudev turned to Shri Ram, who was standing on my right. He was not yet Shri Ram. I called him RAM then. It's a name I've found in the depths of my past lives. The name of Shri Ram it is then.

As I stood there, completely amazed, I saw two streams of energy flow between my Gurudev and Shri Ram, simultaneously, in both directions, like a high-voltage power line, and then I saw Shri Ram grow up somewhere and rise above the heavens. I looked up and tried to look for him, but he was so high up that I couldn't see him.

And when it was all over, I thought I saw initiation on a subtle plane. When all this was happening, I didn't understand what it meant, and then it hit me. And then I thought: what is his spiritual name? After all, initiations give names. And after a while, I was on the bus and started listening to my Gurudev's accidentally opened lecture on Vkontakte. It was a lecture about the initiation of Constantine in Yevpatoria.

There the initiations were scheduled for the next day, but my Gurudev decided to initiate one bhakta, without Yajna, so that the next day that bhakta would take part in the common Yajna. Gurudeva gave initiation to only one bhakti, and there was no sacred fire, nor any of the attributes of an initiate, nothing. Gurudev said in that lecture that initiation actually takes place at the level of the heart, at the level of relationships.

And as I listened to it, I thought: what a parallel! Shri Ram was also alone, like bhakta Constantin, and there were no attributes of Yajna, everything was happening on some subtle, energetic plane, at the level of the heart, just on my mental screen they were standing opposite each other and between them there were powerful humming and sparkling streams of energy. And when my Gurudev came to the spiritual name of that bhakta in his lecture, he said: «Now his name is Shri»... And he said: «Nam». And I always called this Shri Ram as Ram, and when my Gurudev said «Shri Nam», I just jumped out: «Shri Ram». And I thought, " well, now I know what his spiritual name is. Shri Ram». From that time on, I call him Shri Ram.

When I recorded a video about this initiation (in the 28th episode), I said that Shri Ram did not make any vows at this initiation, there were just energy flows, and on these words in the video there was a screenshot with the words of Bhishma «and if you order someone to be punished, I will certainly fulfill this order of yours». I thought that there was a vow he must have made, and in these words of Bhishma I saw what a vow He had made. He made a vow to my Gurudev that if he ordered someone to be punished, Shri Ram would certainly execute that order.

For agreeing to this condition of mine, even though he thought it wouldn't come to that, and for carrying it out, even though he could have hushed it up and put the brakes on it, I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to him for doubting the truth of this initiation. He strongly doubted that this initiation had any power. He thought that if it has any power, it is something truncated, incomplete, because everyone gets initiated on Yajna, for several years before that they recite 16 rounds of mantra daily, observe all four regulative principles, receive pranama mantra, pass tests for recommendation for initiation, make vows before the sacred fire, and he had on some mental screen, at the level of the heart.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And he thought that maybe this initiation is not true, not real, some kind of short, truncated, like to distract the eyes. And for the fact that he had such doubts about the truth of this initiation, I am grateful to him, because I received an answer to his doubt. When I was sitting on a Sunday program with a good friend of mine, she started asking me about my children, and I answered her question that my children are Muscovites, registered in Moscow. She asked me, they say, they have some shares in the apartment, and I told her that no, they are registered on a General basis, municipal property.

And then I realized that it was through her that I told this Shri Ram about this initiation. He kind of asked me, they say, probably, this initiation was not real, not like everyone else, like a share, a part of the real one, and I told him that no, on a General basis, like everyone else. Thus Shri Ram received the answer that the initiation he received was real, true, in parampara.

Yes, this initiation was only for him and only in such a situation, but it was true, real, despite the fact that he is an Asur, and a real Asur, he landed here as part of the Asuras ' landing force, was born as they are all born, and lives among us, but he is a real Asur, because many lifetimes ago he became an Asur, took an Asuric nature.

And for his doubts, I am grateful to him, because thanks to this, we were shown the truth of this initiation at the level of the heart.

384. Gratitude for the signs of the Universe

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for my screenshots from the Mahabharata series on my desktop, which change randomly every 30 seconds. It was mostly his idea. I was reviewing the Mahabharata at the time, and I suddenly wanted to take screenshots of it. I thought it was me. I thought it was my wish. I thought it was my decision. Nothing like that. It was a manipulation of consciousness. And this manipulation of consciousness was performed by Shri Ram. He wanted more signs of the Universe, and he encouraged me to save screenshots from this movie.

At first, I put them on random selection every 5 minutes, then less and less, and it came to 30 seconds. Every 30 seconds, they change randomly. There are great hits. Through these screenshots, I get messages from my team and even from Krishna himself personally, because Krishna can manifest himself through anything, and through screenshots from the Mahabharata he can. Krishna gives his hints, explains everything.

Through these screenshots, the world communicates with me, and so do we with Shri Ram. He asks his questions, which I, my consciousness, cannot hear here. He asks them somewhere at home, far away from me, sitting at home, mentally, to himself, but the answers go to him and through my random screenshots on my desktop. He specifically asks questions, hoping to get answers to them, including through my random screenshots. And these screenshots revealed a lot to me and helped me a lot, because these are signs, and multi-channel and multi-time. There are visual images, words, and incredible explanations that you won't get anywhere else.

And when I record videos and in them my words are superimposed on random screenshots, we get such coincidences that can only be called revelations from above, lifting the veil from the hidden. And for these screenshots, I am grateful to him.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I am also grateful to him for the screenshot about returning to the spiritual world. At the very beginning, when he gave me the idea with screenshots from the Mahabharata, I began to save them and collect them in one folder. And when I put these screenshots as Wallpaper on my desktop with random brute force, I saw that my desktop became talking, it talks to me using these screenshots. And when I realized that the signs of the Universe were coming through my desktop, I asked Krishna: «Tell me, please, will you even take me to the spirit world? Do I have any hope of that?» And at the same time as I asked this question, a screenshot came out on my desktop, showing an open palm with a shoelace untied on it. Krishna immediately replied to me through this screenshot that He would take me to the spiritual world, that the wheel of samsara would be opened and I would leave the material world and go to the spiritual world.

For this, I thank Shri Ram, because the idea with the screenshots was his.

I am also grateful to him for another screenshot that was released in the very first series of my novel. It shows Shikhandini with her hands folded in Namaste walking through a corridor created by burning bars on either side. There is fire everywhere, but she goes through it with a prayer, untouched by the fire. In this screenshot, I saw Krishna's protection in future lives. I was very worried, because Kali-Yuga tightens the screws, degradation increases, total control is possible, how will we live? And I was shown a screenshot of Shikhandini walking through the fire. She goes forward, everything is burning, but the fire does not touch her. She simply surrenders to Krishna, prays To him, and she is protected. This is how I was shown Krishna's protection. Through this screenshot, Krishna told me: «Go ahead and don't be afraid, do your job, I'll protect you. Even if everything around you is on fire, it won't affect you. Just do your job». I am grateful to Shri Ram for giving me this screenshot.

385. Thanks for the word of a gentleman and for other good points

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you is for the word of a gentleman. He gave me this gentleman's word for Valentine's Day on February 14, 2017 through Boris Akunin's book «the Falcon and the Swallow». I then took it from the library and read it before going to bed, and just on the evening of February 14, before going to bed, I read it and came to the word of a gentleman.

I noticed this at the time and thought that Shri Ram was telling me somewhere, and the universe was revealing it to me in this way, through the words of this book. We communicate with him through the world. This world is a conducting medium. Shri Ram has thought of something somewhere, wants to tell me something, and they tell me this through everything, including books, phrases in films, through different people, through the world. The world is the medium that transmits messages from me to him and from him to me.

And thus the world from him to me on that day of all lovers conveyed such a message. Shri Ram then said to me, " I will not harm you, miss. A gentleman's word. On the contrary, I am so grateful to you for coming out of nowhere to brighten up my loneliness. Trust me! Here's my hand. I will not abuse your trust. We are alone in this dark world, so let's stick together».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And although he broke that word of a gentleman many times after that, I am grateful to him for giving me that word of a gentleman.

The next thing I thank Shri Ram for is his words to me, «Mother of Light, I love you», which came to me through his question what will happen to him when I leave this body, because it was shown to him that I will leave the body before him. He was afraid that when I was no longer with him in this life, the Asuras would tear him up, because I had broken many Asuras because of him. And he asked what would happen to the PostScript, that is, what would happen to it when the letter was finished, when my life was over. Krishna assured him that everything would be all right and that Nrsimhadev would protect him. And when he found out, he said to me, " Mama Sveta, I love you».

He told me this through the words of my daughter. She then came up to me, held up a flower and said: «Mama Sveta, I love you». Before that, she had never addressed me with the words «mother of Light». Shri Ram used to say» mother of light " to me. Mother, that is, a woman of light forces. He told me that right after I destroyed his teacher. Then he told me through the karate coach: «Mama Sveta, you killed my 10 minutes». He told me this when I came to pick up the kids from a karate class and went to the gym.

Through these words of the karate coach, Shri Ram then said to me: «Mother (that is, a woman) of the light forces, you have destroyed my teacher». 10 is the number of a leader, authority, or teacher. I just sent his teacher to his future lives, where he will be some very big teacher. And when Shri Ram received assurances about the PostScript, he said to me through my daughter, " Mother of Light, I love you». For this I am grateful to him. And for the flower, too.

I am also grateful to him for his words to me through books, the words of other people, and through this world. First, he told me about a friend's hand: «Here's my hand. I'll do anything for you, anything for you. I will do everything I can to help you return to the spirit world». Second, he said to me, " And I'm not going anywhere. For me, there will be no other such person. You're the only one I want, and that will never, ever change». He also told me: «We lived together and will leave here together». He told me that we lived in the material world together, as a couple, and will leave the material world together.

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is for his words that he once said to me in his mind: «I am glad that you came for me. Maybe I'm worth something». I said to him, " and when we're done, will you come back with me?» He said, " Yes. If it's important for him that I live, he'll have to live up to his expectations». This he told me through the 15th episode of the 5th season of the movie «Once upon a time in a fairy tale». He said that he would come to me because nrsimhadev did not destroy him and intercedes for Him, favors him. Shri Ram said that if it is important for nrsimhadev to live, Then he will have to meet the expectations, come to me in real life, become my husband, pretend to love me, surround me with care, love and wealth. And for this I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that before the new year, 2019, he said that children need a Christmas tree, that is, that he needs me. He very strongly insisted, said, convinced me that the children need a holiday, that he needs me, and for this I am grateful to him.

I also thank him for his words that he told me in June 2019 that he would never fall in love with another woman. Yes, he meant to deceive me with these words. The motives were not pretty at all, but he told me so, and for that I thank him.

386. Thank you for starting my Mahabharata

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to this Shri Ram is that in the spring of 2017, he connected a sandwich, that is, some Asura from his Asuric organization, who seems to be an ordinary man, like everyone else, but is actually an Asur. Shri Ram did this completely unnoticed. No one sees it. How I saw it is not clear, but I saw it, and only once, at the very beginning, when he was approaching me on my internal screen at the time when I had sex with Shri Ram at a distance. And just at that moment, on my internal screen, I saw another man approaching me, which really alarmed me. I only noticed it the first time, at the very beginning. I never noticed it again, so it's impossible to notice such a connection, especially if you don't know that it's possible.

But Shri Ram hooked up that sandwich guy to me. And for this I am grateful to him. Not because he connected it, but for the fact that I saw it, and then when I demanded it after a month of me embroidered, as if untied, unfastened, disconnected from me, I saw that very similar I had when I was in Moscow with her second husband. I saw that I had something similar then. I drew Parallels between what Shri Ram did to me and someone else in Moscow. By then, I had already realized what Shri Ram had done to me. He connected some other man to our long-distance sex on an energy connection. Yes, it was on the energy plane, but he connected it, and the man was there, invisible, completely invisible to me. But for the Asuras, all this feels like it really is, because for them there is no difference whether it happens in real life or on an energy connection.

Then I saw that the same thing happened to me, it turns out, was then in Moscow. And when I realized this, I felt a strong desire that whoever did this in Moscow would be punished. And because I saw and understood all this, I brought charges against the so-called Borka, the former Moscow leader of the Asuras, and then destroyed him, and this began my Mahabharata to clean up the Asuric community. And I am grateful to this Shri Ram for the fact that thanks to the sandwich that he wrote to me, and then wrote out, I saw that the same thing happened to me in Moscow, although at that time it was absolutely not noticeable and not realized in any way.

But this time I saw it with my inner eye, and then when Shri Ram wrote it out for me, I saw it manifest in my physical body. And this was the beginning of my Mahabharata and the destruction of a bunch of Asuras, for which I am grateful to him.

Of course, every time I removed one of the Asuras, I would ask them for forgiveness and say to them, " I'm sorry for interrupting you». In fact, this is a clever move, because when you ask someone for forgiveness, they no longer have the right to curse. If I killed someone there and then, even making a face, said: " I'm sorry for interrupting you, " then no one can send anything bad in my direction, and if they try, it will all be returned to them, because I have already asked them for forgiveness.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for the fact that the Asuras paid very dearly for separating the eternal couple for so many lifetimes, making the man of this pair an Asur and the woman a single one. Of course, all this happened as a result of the curse, but on the external, event plan, the Asuras were to blame, for which they paid in full. And for this I am grateful to Shri Ram.

387. Gratitude for a gorgeous man

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you is for a gorgeous man, a small dog. This is when I already started broadcasting about the Asuras in numerous videos of my novel " My novel. I am Asura's wife». At the same time, I informed Borka, the former leader of the Moscow Asuras, that all this was happening, and he was very dissatisfied with my quickness and the fact that I was opening up for everyone to see what no one knows about the Asuras. And he wanted to shut me up. He did various mind manipulations like «Shut up and fly straight» and all that, but nothing worked on me, and he decided that it would be good to shut me up by switching me from my videos to a man in real life. He decided that I should have a man come to me in real life who I would think was Shri Ram. He expected me to have an affair, love-carrot, family life, and I would forget about this romance and switch to a real man in real life.

Shri Ram had to do something at Borka's request to shut me up so that I wouldn't say anything about the Asuras, because by that time I had already said a lot about them, which was already enough to make Borka mad, so that he wanted to shut me up so much. Shri Ram found me some gorgeous man in real life who was so good that I said about him that I thought there were no such people anymore.

Shri Ram found it for me somewhere. He tried very hard. He was looking for a man who would match the information about Shri Ram that I had at the time, so that I would think it was Shri Ram. And he would interact with me directly through this man, like a man with a woman, but through the body of that man. Yes, he was a gorgeous man. Shri Ram said this about my expected life with that man: «at least you will be rich. I will do everything to make you happy». But it would not be Shri Ram.

Shri Ram found me a very nice man, who I said was a great man, but in reality he was just a little dog, because Shri Ram would have crushed his mind and this man would have thought that he was thinking, that he wanted to be with me, that he wanted to marry me, take care of me, have sex with me, and so on, but in fact, through him, Shri Ram would have been with me. But the man was actually very nice and rich, and I wouldn't have any problems in life, at all. Shri Ram would have done anything for me through that man. He would have crushed him so hard, that little dog, and pressed his mind so hard, that he would have made me happy. And for the fact that Shri Ram found me a very nice, gorgeous man, I am grateful to him.

388. Thank you for taking part in the story with the Asur-recruiter

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I thank him for is his active actions in the story related to the Asura who recruited him into the Asuras. It was revealed to me that in a distant past life, he was recruited by an Asur who convinced him to give his consent to become an Asur. And they gave me that recruiter. When I was burning through its centers on my internal screen, a woman appeared there, as if asking for it. I then slowed down.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

In fact, the desire to ask that woman for him was caused specifically so that she would appear there and so that I would not destroy him, because it was necessary for the Asuras to shake out all his life files and for Shri Ram to personally see in them how his recruitment took place, how he was processed there and how he became an Asur.

So when I flashed this recruiter, when I was burning through his centers and a woman appeared on my internal screen, I braked, and Shri Ram appeared there. I clearly saw Shri Ram on my internal screen, he was at the bottom, right under the recruiter, who just stood still and with whom I did nothing. Suddenly Shri Ram shot a crimson, coral, and cherry ray at him. This ray entered the recruiter from below, refracted in him in the area of the Svadhithana chakra and went to me, to the center of me and went for a long time.

I am grateful to Shri Ram for participating in all this, because that recruiter screwed him once so many lifetimes ago and separated us from him, even though we are an eternal couple. I am grateful to Shri Ram for putting his hand in punishing that recruiter, for showing up and burning the recruiter with his ray.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that when the Asuras shook out his life files from that recruiter, he was curious and looked at the events related to his recruitment in those life files. In fact, this requires a lot of courage, because, for example, when I was given the opportunity in my meditation while chanting protective mantras to look at the life files of my past lives, I was very scared and did not do it. It's scary to look at your past lives. But Shri Ram was not afraid. He looked at the life files that the Asuras had shaken out of that recruiter, and saw with his own eyes the old life we had with him, when he was made an Asur and we were separated.

He saw what was there, how I behaved, how he behaved, why he even gave his consent to become an Asur, and for this I am grateful to him.

389. Thank you for contribution to the story about asuri-homewrecker

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I thank Shri Ram for is that he revealed to me exactly why he agreed to become an Asura. Yes, of course, it was a result of the curse that I should be alone, without a husband, and he should be childless, which led to the fact that we did not get children. This was the original reason. When Shri Ram looked at the recruiter's life files, he did not know this, but he saw there what exactly in that life influenced his decision to agree to become an Asur.

Shri Ram didn't want to tell me this, but I thought he should have seen it and so he should have told me all this. I wasn't sure if Shri Ram had looked at the recruiter's life files, but when I was shown what was left of the recruiter on my internal screen, which was a completely empty, limp rag, I realized that the Asuras had shaken everything out of him, and Shri Ram had to look at those life files. I terrorized him for a long time in all sorts of ways so that he would reveal it to me. He resisted for a very long time and did not want to open it, but then he did, and for that I am grateful to him, because it was really difficult for him to do it.

It turns out that he just fell for a beautiful attractive woman of pleasant appearance, with pleasant manners, with a pleasant manner, who simply praised him to the skies and did not demand anything from him. Men fall for it. And he fell for it, it turns out, when we were together in some far-off life, in which we became separated from him.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

He fell for a woman, and he revealed it to me. I am grateful to him for revealing this to me.

Then I'm grateful to him for telling me to give her more. When I realized that some woman took him away from me and served as a bait for him to become an Asura, she appeared on my internal screen and I burned everything in the area of female organs. I gave her a complete sterilization and burned out all her ovaries with all her Asuric eggs, but even after that I was very dissatisfied, I thought that this was not enough. And when I thought that, I felt that Shri Ram agreed with me, that it was not enough for him either.

He told me that this Madame lured him to her then, and then after a while she left him as a waste material, and he was very bad, and then everyone left him, for many, many, many lives. I then thought that this should not be allowed to pass, that I would definitely take revenge on her for it. And then Shri Ram told me that this is not the main thing, that it is not because of this that he is dissatisfied, that this, of course, also happened, but he does not consider it as important as what happened to me later and what I suffered.

Shri Ram saw in the life files that the Asuras shook out of that recruiter, what tricks he performed with me, what tricks and manipulations he practiced on me, what he threw at me to subdue me. Shri Ram did not tell me all this, but I had enough of the feeling that came from him that I realized that there was a lot of terrible things done to me and it can not be let go. He conveyed to my consciousness that this is the main thing, that it can not be forgiven and it must be done very cruelly.

Most likely, that recruiter worked out some Asuric tricks with my energy centers on me, and also set some scumbags on me in real life or dogs, so that I was under great threat and was afraid of everything, so that I really had something to be afraid of. He could put pressure on the minds of some thugs to threaten me, want to harm me, so that I would be forced to seek someone's protection. He could influence dogs, horses, and other animals to rage in my presence and attack everyone around me, so that people would think that I was possessed by an evil spirit and I was dangerous to them, since animals react to me so strangely and sharply.

He could influence people's minds so that I would be slandered and everyone would turn away from me, become hostile to me, consider me a witch, possessed, bringing trouble to everyone with whom I came in any contact, so that I would be banished from society and left all alone, vulnerable and defenseless. That recruiter could have created such a situation that I was forced to hide from the wrath of people, despised and rejected by everyone, so that I was afraid and had nowhere to go, and all in order for me to accept his help and patronage, as a kind of noble-looking defender and knight, who actually organized all this harassment. And when I didn't accept his generous «helping hand», he could set some terrible people on me so that I wouldn't be so proud and would crawl to him myself, begging for protection and protection.

And when I was saved and taken under my protection by some good man who turned out to be the master of this recruiter, he would find a way to take revenge on his master, frame him, slander him for not letting the recruiter finish the job and lead me out of the fire. That recruiter would have done anything to throw his master off his throne for ruining his plans to enjoy my humiliation for my obstinacy and defiance, for refusing to be with him.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for supporting my thoughts about that woman who is separated, that she is not enough and needs to be given more. I am grateful to him for bringing to my mind the fact that that asuri woman was responsible for my being left to fend for myself, in a helpless position, open to attacks, and something terrible was done to me. I am grateful to him for being resolute in saying that this cannot be forgiven and that the asuri woman should be punished. I am grateful that he insisted on punishing her, not because her actions made him feel bad, but because her work put me at risk. I am grateful to him for taking pity on me and saying that she should be punished.

I am also grateful to this Shri Ram for revealing to me that in the life when he was made an Asura and when he went to another woman, it was because we did not have children, we did not get them. It was because of the curse we had received in our lives before. I didn't know about it until he told me. I thought that I was comparing him to other men, praising them, behaving badly and it hurt his ego a lot, but it turned out that nothing like that, I just wanted children and looked at those families where children were. Maybe I showed your interest in what the other good kids, and that is, first, hurt him, and secondly, suggests that children have not work for me and some other woman will succeed and that gave him a powerful impulse to go to the arms of another woman. And I'm grateful that he revealed it to me, that it wasn't my fault.

390. Thank you for discovering the secret of a dangerous Asuric thingy

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you is for reminding me of a moment in one of the pillow sessions when some powerful personalities came to me between lives and suggested that I break my eternal connection with Shri Ram. Then they showed me what became of him after his conversion to the Asuras, and there I exclaimed with disgust, horror, and a shudder in my voice: «What is this?» At the time, I didn't know what it was about, because I didn't see what was there, I just voiced it. After this pillow session, I had a lot of suggestions, from which I could experience such a strong feeling of disgust, which sounded like " what is it?!".

And Shri Ram revealed to me what it was all about. As always, he did this by somehow putting thoughts and memories into my mind. Shri Ram revealed to me that when I exclaimed «what is this?!", I was shown on his subtle body some vile thing that was installed on his energy body when he received the Asuric nature, and which is very dangerous for living beings.

When he revealed it to me, I almost burned it on my internal screen, but I managed to slow down in time. After that, I was attacked by decadent thoughts that he is my second half, but he has some Asuric abomination, because of which I was ready to completely destroy him, burn everything out completely. I thought that we had no prospects with him, because he has this Asuric thing «what is it», and I don't like it and I don't want to be with someone who has it, I'm afraid of it and it's disgusting to me.

So Shri Ram gave me the idea that my fervor, my anger, and my rage should be directed at the people who put this thing on him. He informed me that there was some craftsman of theirs who had put all this on him, who had performed that Asuric initiation of theirs and had implanted this terrible thing in him.

Shri Ram revealed to me that the Asuras have such craftsmen who make Asuras out of ordinary living beings with normal nature, that is, somehow put the Asuric nature on them.

I realized this and as a result, I destroyed the entire artel of such craftsmen here on Earth. And all this happened due to the fact that Shri Ram was not afraid to tell me about this thing. He took a very big risk, because when I found out about it, I was miraculously able to stop and not burn this thing with him. He knew what he was getting into, but he still revealed it to me, and that's why I'm grateful to him.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I'm also grateful to him for asking me to get this thing off him and insisting on it. I unhooked it from him, and then I was shown that he was no longer wearing this terrible thing, and for this I am grateful to him.

391. Gratitude for his expression of his attitude towards mind manipulators

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I'm grateful for is his displeasure with the Asuras who manipulated my mind to turn me away from him. He showed very great dissatisfaction with their activities and what they wanted to do. He then said that they deserved to be punished, and insisted that I punish them.

There were two mind manipulators. I was told to forgive them, that is, to send them to future lives. I forgave the first manipulator, turning him into my faithful slave and directing him against his fellow Asuras, saying that I was very afraid of them and that he was my only protector. He fought them to the death. Some time after I sent him to my defense, I felt that I had definitely forgiven him now.

Confirmation of this came to me through the movie «spy Kids 4», which was on TV just when I felt that I had forgiven him. That's when the little girl in that movie flunked her first malware and her mom said: «Our little girl failed her first spy». So I realized that I had failed the first manipulator, that he had protected me well there, until he was torn apart by his own fellow Asuras like a mad dog, when he rushed at all of them to protect me, his beloved and only mistress. Then I was able to forgive him.

But I didn't want to forgive the second manipulator. And it was Shri Ram who insisted that the second manipulator should be forgiven. Those manipulators tried to create an inferiority complex in me by making me think that Shri Ram didn't need me. They put a lot of things in my head so that I would see myself as a stickler that they want but can't get rid of, and so that I would come to a complete reluctance to have any relationship with Shri Ram and break up with him myself, because no self-respecting woman would tolerate this and continue to remain in such a relationship.

Shri Ram made it clear to me that this should not be allowed to go away, that he was very dissatisfied with what they were doing and what they were trying to achieve, and that he wanted the second manipulator to get what he deserved, too. Thanks to this, I forgave the second manipulator, along with the entire cohort of mind manipulators, along with their most important one.

I am grateful to Shri Ram for saying that he was very dissatisfied with them and that it was very painful for him because they wanted to sow in my mind even more dissatisfaction with themselves, which made it worse, even though my mood was already at zero. I am grateful to Shri Ram for being very displeased that they wanted to tear us apart and turn me away from him. Of course, I am grateful to him for saying that the second manipulator deserved to be punished and should also be forgiven, but I am much more grateful to him for the fact that he was dissatisfied with the fact that they wanted to turn me away from him and that it was very painful for him.

392. Gratitude for the secret about canceled promises

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to him for revealing to me what promises I canceled in September 2017. Then I told the Asuras that either they would cancel all the promises that this Shri Ram had made to them, or I would cancel them all, that is, I would simply deal with everyone to whom he had given any word, with everyone to whom he owed anything, and send them all to their future lives. They were very scared then and canceled all the promises that he had made to them, because just before that I sent the teacher Shri Ram to the future lives, and this was a very large value for the Asuras, and some big Asura who did not have a body and who tended the minds of others, whom I called the shepherd, I do not love you, he was also a very unusual person for the Asuras. None of the Asuras thought that they could be destroyed in any way, but I managed to do it. Then I released Shri Ram from all the promises he made to the Asuras.

I didn't know what those promises were, but after a while, he revealed it to me. It was revealed in the same way as usual. It is as if a thought, an idea, is gently placed in your mind, completely unnoticed, and you look at this thought and think that this thought is yours, that you are so smart that you have guessed this. I also thought at first that I had guessed it, but then I looked at the thought critically and decided that it was beyond my imagination and that it was rather a thought put into my head by this Shri Ram.

He revealed to me in this way what promises I then canceled. I canceled his contract to serve in the Asura landing force on various planets of the material world. I revoked his military service to the Asuras and all his obligations to them. I am grateful to him for revealing this to me.

393. Gratitude for his immense curiosity, courage and trust

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to Shri Ram is for his immense curiosity. Because when, in the sixth episode of my novel, I told him that I gave him access to my life files, and as a result, he started saying to me, «be my wife, be my wife», I then said that I didn't actually give him access to all my life files. This piqued his curiosity so much that he then began to ask my permission to look at the life files that were closed to him. He started asking me for access to the rest of his life files, and I gave him access when I wrote an email to a friend and congratulated him on his diploma. In that letter to a friend, I wrote that I wish him to successfully get everything he needs there, in a favorable way. And through this letter to an acquaintance, I gave access to this Shri Ram.

He got access and looked at those vital files. There were files with my lives, when I was born in the Asuric worlds and became the wife of each time a new, the biggest Asura. I became the wife of the Emperor of the Asuras, and after some time of living with him, I destroyed him. And so I killed the forty emperors of the Asuras, their greatest leaders, who were inaccessible and inaccessible to anyone, but who had to be destroyed because they did a lot of bad things. And Shri Ram saw it in my life files.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I am grateful to him for being curious, asking for access, and seeing all this. I am grateful to him for the fact that he knows how to do all this, I don't know how to do it, and also for the fact that later, after a while, he revealed it to me. I didn't know that, because I live a normal life. I haven't seen it myself in my life. I didn't go through any regressions in my past lives. I just gave Shri Ram access to the life files where these lives are archived. He unzipped it all and looked at it, and then somehow revealed to me what he thought was necessary from what he saw there. It just came to me somehow, and I knew exactly what it was and what it was with me. I am very grateful to him for all this.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that after the sixth episode of my novel, he pulled out of me access to my life files and looked at them, he still after a while revealed to me what he saw there. Yes, most likely, he did not fully reveal all this to me, but he somehow revealed to me what I did in my past lives, when I was born in the Asuric worlds to kill the most important Asuras, becoming the wife of a new most important Asur every life. And he even told me how I did it, exactly how and why.

I am very grateful to him, because it was very difficult to discover what he saw there, and bring it to my consciousness so that I could live after that, somehow more or less normally exist, having learned this.

Many people want to know what happened to them in their past lives. What nonsense! Don't need to look at it in any case. What if you find out that you killed someone there, as I killed those big Asuras, and as a result of what and how exactly? If you knew this, if you had this, would you be able to live at all after that? But for the fact that Shri Ram did reveal this to me and did it as delicately and gently as possible, I am grateful to him.

He saw my past lives there, the episodes in them that I gave him access to. He saw it with his own eyes, and then I terrorized him, demanding that he tell me what he saw there. It was extremely difficult for him to open it, he tried to avoid it in every possible way, but I continued and continued to insist, and he still opened it, slowly, very carefully, so that when I found out what was there, I could continue to live.

How did he look at my life files, in which I destroyed the most important Asuras, becoming the wife of a new most important Asur every new life? Shri Ram saw those life files through my eyes and heard my thoughts and feelings. He saw how I killed the main Asura, sitting on it during our sex with him. Shri Ram was there with me, immersed in those life files. He saw through my eyes, as then before my mind's eye flashed visions in which I, being introduced to a state where I was not aware of reality, was with my husband-Asur and a group of his friends. He saw in my visions what they did to me there. He saw how, having realized that it was real, I destroyed that husband lying under me, with some incredible fiery sword that appeared inside me on some mental, energy level. He saw this sword move inside that Asura's body in sync with the movements of my body, moving higher and higher. He saw that Asura being sucked into a frenzied state of bliss as he raised this fiery sword, and then he left his body, and I remained on the dead body, completely exhausted and did not want to live any more. And he saw me die every time. He saw it through my eyes there. How could he look at this? And how could he reveal it to me afterward, so that I could live with it?

He revealed a lot, even what he saw in the life files of the Asura recruiter about what happened to me after I was left alone in that distant life when he was made an Asura. I did not tell it in the video and briefly touched on it in the text, because to think that you were like this is not the easiest thing to do, and I do not know how he could tell me that after he was torn from me, the Asur who wanted to amuse me, staged a bullying on me to drive me into a corner and that I I can't believe it's even possible that that Asur somehow influenced the animals that I was around so that they would rage in my presence and attack everyone who was there in a rage. I can't believe that the Asur was manipulating the minds of people around me to make them think that I was possessed by an evil demon, that I was dangerous to them, and that for their own safety I had to be brutally killed. I can't believe that I was forced to hide from the wrath of those people with crushed minds who fear for their loved ones and for their good and think that I carry evil and misery for them. Did all this happen to me once in distant past lives? Was I hiding from people in some dark places, being rejected and abandoned by everyone, alone, without help and participation? Surely I was raided with dogs and staves in their hands?

How could Shri Ram reveal this to me? And I understand why the Asura who helped me in that life and took me away from the fire is not afraid of burns, my fierce fire, which can kill any Asura, is not dangerous. He protected me from that Asura recruiter who set me up for that hunt, that bullying. That Asur recruiter intended to drive me to the extreme of despair, so that afterward he would come to me with the air of a benevolent patron and pretend that he sincerely wanted to help me. He would get rejected and after that he would tighten the screws more and more and drive me into a corner. No wonder he found a way to get back at the person who got me out of that fire. And how is it possible that after so many lifetimes after those events, this was revealed and that my real Savior received proof of his innocence before the Asuras, and the one who threw him off was devastated and turned into a pathetic weak-willed rag, deprived of something alive? And all this was revealed to me by Shri Ram. I don't know how he could look at all those events in that recruiter's life files through his eyes and hear those thoughts, and then reveal it to me.

It cost him a lot of effort. And this whole novel was mostly made up of pieces of old lives that he saw himself, with his own eyes, entering the life files of past lives. This whole novel was made possible by the fact that he discovered what he saw there. And he also opened what the screenshots showed, because they answered the questions he asked inaudibly, and a lot of what he opened up to me, which is also intertwined in the narrative of this novel. And I am grateful to him for his courage, for the fact that he fearlessly asked his questions, watched the answers and then revealed it to me so that I would tell it in my videos, and then in the text.

And I am grateful to him for all this my novel " My novel. I am the wife of Asura», because this whole novel is the result of immense trust. I trusted him immensely, opened everything to him, gave him my life, and he revealed to me what needed to be revealed, and so that after that I could continue to live.

And I am grateful to him for the fact that he justified the trust. My team of light forces and I, even before I was born in this body of mine, drew up some smart plan in which Shri Ram was prepared for certain moves, and he justified it all. As we recorded it, so he was doing here, like a programmed doll. It was very important, and for that I thank him very much.

394. Thanks for canceling the Asuric initiation and for Manuel's letter

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I am grateful to this Shri Ram for not giving me an Asuric initiation. In the summer of 2016, when he had a very good woman, the first take, the so-called Princess, he was going to put their Asuric initiation on me, making me a low-grade intemperate sex rag for crooks of various stripes who could not control their nature. But even though he was going to do it, he canceled it. Yes, he canceled this Asuric initiation not of his own will, but because he was told that he could not do it, because it is an article for him according to universal laws and for this he will fall into the hellish worlds. Of course, he was scared when he realized this, and therefore canceled it, but still, for the fact that he did not put this initiation on me, I am grateful to him.

The next thing I'm grateful for is his words to me through Manuel's letter. On November 3, 2017, I came across a letter from a certain Manuel Navarro from Mexico on a website. He wrote there: «A few years ago, I came across your page on the Internet. Since then, I like it, especially the video. I didn't know who the host was, but I immediately thought this girl knew her stuff. He conducts the program very naturally, naturally, and attractively talks about his recipes. Since then, I liked the program that she leads, so without a shadow of doubt on my part, I gave my vote to her. Thanks. Goodbye!»

Through this letter, Shri Ram told me in an allegorical way that he was lucky to see me in the line of women who pass before his mind's eye as he selects victims to pump energy and pious merit, looking out of the eyes of different people. Shri Ram said that since then he likes me, especially the video, that is, visually. I am grateful to him for telling me that he liked me.

Through this letter, Shri Ram told me that I knew my business. At the time, he didn't know how well I knew my business, but he said it. He said that I conduct my show naturally, naturally, that is, that he likes me, he likes that I am natural, real, not celluloid, that I behave naturally, that I speak attractively, that is, I am attractive.

Shri Ram said that he had enjoyed the show since then and that he was giving his vote, that is, all of himself, to me without a shadow of a doubt.

He said this on November 3, and on November 8, he got Lona, the standard of Lona, the second take, and he refused me. But just five days before, he told me that without a shadow of a doubt, he gives himself to me.

November 3, through the words of Manuel, he told me goodbye, that is, that is fine, and then, when he had Bosom, he told me «good-bye, we part forever». And although this is not pleasant at all, I am still grateful to him for this letter.

395. Thanks for the situation with Lona

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

My next thanks to him are for telling me that the street is three times better.

After Manuel's letter, Shri Ram had Lona, the second double. Lona appeared on November 8, less than a week after he told me that without a shadow of a doubt he was giving all of himself to me, that he was devoting his life to me. Lona was the eraser of the Asuras. She threw off the big Asuras, those who interfered with some other Asuras.

She had everything honed to attract male attention to herself. In sex, everything was buzzing at the highest level, she was the standard of the womb. Everything was perfect for her there. Somewhere in the Universe, long before this life, she had found such an expensive specialty. She's been doing this for many lifetimes. Some Asuras were directing her to some big Asur, who had to be thrown off the arena so that he would not be a pain in the eyes. It came into his field of vision. He was attracted to her, they had rough sex, as a result of which everything was drained from him. He became empty, impotent on the physical plane, like a man, and then lost his business, money, all his possessions, all his luck, lost everything, and when his life came to an end, he went into a disembodied existence, that is, a spirit, a Ghost. He couldn't even be born a human, he didn't have the piety to just be born. He staggered around like a thin, disembodied spirit, without a physical body.

She, of course, did not touch his sinful karma, it remained with him. She pumped out only the good — his pious merits, powers, abilities. And all this she pumped in some way to the Asuras for whom she worked. They paid her well for this, of course, with pious services, so she was always very well settled in material life. Therefore, she has always had a very beautiful, pretty and attractive appearance, excellent health, and she has always been lucky in life. Men liked her. She had refined manners, good surroundings. And all this she had at the expense of pious merits, which she received in the form of a fee for throwing some big Asuras, so to speak, from heaven to earth, and even lower, into disembodied existence, from where they could no longer interfere with anyone.

On November 8, 2017, Lona appeared on the horizon of Shri Ram. Because of her, he told me that it was three times better on the street, meaning that she was much better than me. This is not surprising. She took a large fee in the form of pious merit for throwing off the big Asuras, and therefore everything was on top of her. She had everything for luring men who like nice women. She was a real woman in the eyes of men. She was much better than I was.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for telling me that it is three times better outside. I'm not grateful to him for hurting me so much, no. I thank him for what happened as a result of this. Because he told me that it was three times better outside, I destroyed a lot of Asuras. We conducted an operation called «Shitto-covered». We took such Asuras who contributed to the introduction of Asuras among the inhabitants of different planets in the form of Asuras landing on these planets and who carried out the procedure for the introduction of Asuras, their assimilation in society by their birth among the inhabitants of these planets.

They are also born among us, and no one knows that it is the Asuras who are born, because they are born to us in a cunning way, through a certain manipulation. And I took all those Asuras who performed this procedure, who sewed some Asuras into women at the energy level, so that these women then gave birth to these Asuras as their children. I took everyone who performed this procedure and made them reusable space shuttles that will carry good women to the spirit world. Each of them will take a new, single woman on Board every life who wants to return to the spiritual world, and do everything to ensure that she returns to the spiritual world in a favorable way during one life with him. It will be sewn to such women, every life to one such woman.

He will carry her on his own to the spiritual world and will always successfully cope with his task. And when after that his life comes to an end, everything that he had with her will be reset, and he will be born again and take on Board the next mataju who wants to return to the spiritual world. He will take her to the spiritual world on his own, fully ensuring her good existence and return to the spiritual world in a favorable way.

This was made possible by Shri Ram telling me that it is three times better outside. So I made my own insurance. If something happens, they can also take me on their own to the spiritual world. And I have this insurance because Shri Ram told me that it is three times better on the street.

I am also grateful to him for his words to me that he will not leave me anywhere. When he had Lona, the eraser of the Asuras, he said to me, «goodbye, we are parting forever». And this is natural, because there it was impossible not to say goodbye, because she had everything sharpened to ensure that the man to whom she was sent, completely hooked on her. After that, he threw his woman out of his life, because Lona liked it. And Shri Ram just threw me out of his life, just like all the other men that she had erased many, many lives before.

He then said to me, «goodbye, we are parting forever». But somehow, even while he was still with her, he told me: «I won't leave you. I'm not leaving you anywhere. I'm not letting you go anywhere. You're mine. You will be mine». This happened during a pillow session, when I wanted to completely move away from it, because this situation was very painful for me. Then we had a pillow session, and I found out that he told me that.

For the fact that he thought so and said so to me, despite the fact that he was firmly captured by the Womb and could not escape from it, I am grateful to him.

I'm also grateful that he somehow got away from her. He's the only one who got away from her. None of its tenacious paws broke free. It was so specialized that anyone who fell into it could not get out. But Shri Ram somehow managed to break away from her. It's a big mystery to me how he did it. Yes, of course, I exposed Lona, her cover story, we completely exposed Her, and he saw what she was doing. Because of this, he made a strong-willed decision to break away from it, but still he would not have been able to break away from it, and it seems that Krishna himself helped him in this. Lona had a very strong vaginismus, much stronger than dogs that mate on the street and then can't get away from each other. At Lona's it was much cooler, the coupling was unbreakable, but he was able to break away from it, and for this I am grateful to him.

396. Gratitude for discovering the secret of the birth of Asuras on different planets

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I thank Shri Ram for is that he revealed to me how Asuras are born among us. I didn't know that. Shri Ram revealed to me how as a result of some zikommunité sex with an Asur who can conceive on such an energy level without personal interaction, some Asur is sewn into the female organs of a woman in some energy form, which is transferred from the Asuric worlds to us by an energy ray.

And this kind of conceived Asura, which in an unmanifested form in some kind of energy capsule sits in her female organs, waiting for her to have an ordinary fertilization with an ordinary man in the most ordinary way as a result of ordinary sex. When the sperm fertilizes the egg and a zygote is formed, the Asur sitting in the energy capsule in the woman throws out of this zygote the soul that was attracted to the couple who had this normal fertilization. The soul that was supposed to grow up in this zygote, and then be born to this couple and be their child, is thrown out by the Asura from its rightful place at the zygote stage. This Asur occupies the zygote of the real child of this couple and begins to develop there instead.

According to the physical characteristics, the child born to this couple will be one hundred percent their child, since the zygote was created by merging the sperm and egg of the male and female of this couple, but in fact the person who will live in this body as their child will not be the person who was supposed to become their child. The soul will be completely different, the personality will be completely different, with a completely different character, with completely different abilities and with completely different tasks. There should have been another soul in that zygote, but some Asur is settling there instead.

All this was revealed to me by Shri Ram. My imagination would not be enough to think that at the moment of formation of the zygote, the soul that was supposed to be born to this couple is thrown out of this zygote and instead of this soul, this zygote includes some Asur who for some time was in some energy form in some energy capsule in the female organs of a woman from this pair, and he was there because she was impregnated by some Asur whom she does not know at all, there was something completely unimaginable on the energy plane. My imagination could never have reached this point. All this was given to me by Shri Ram, so I am grateful to him for it.

397. Gratitude for a man from my past lives

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to Shri Ram is that as a result of the fact that he then refused me and said «goodbye, we are parting forever», some man from my past lives was able to come to me. Yes, he didn't come to me in physical reality, but he would have come to me if I had chosen him. He then came to me on those higher spheres, and I really felt him. It completely filled my mind. My consciousness flowed to him, completely, and Shri Ram then fought for my consciousness to return to him again.

I am grateful to Shri Ram for sending me on a transfer because of Lona, because through this I learned that there is a man who is so dear to me that he fought with Shri Ram, overcame his Asuric moves, when Shri Ram pushed him out of my consciousness, out of my space, out of my thoughts, out of my feelings.

I found out that there was a man who really cared about me and who was fighting for me with this Shri Ram. He came and said that he would do anything for me, that he loved me, that he had loved me for many lives and would always love me, and this was true. It was just sewn on to me. He loved me. I was the most beautiful for him, because it was sewn to me. I didn't know about it, but I found out because Shri Ram sent me on a transfer. If he hadn't sent me on a transfer because of Lona, I wouldn't have known about it in this lifetime.

But I found out, and so I am grateful to Shri Ram. The realization that I am so dear to that man and so necessary that he was in great grief when I chose not him, but Shri Ram, is very dear to me. He wanted to protect me from Shri Ram. He struggled with it. He fought to the last. He never left. He gave up trying to get the upper hand only when I firmly chose Shri Ram and justified it by saying that I had come to give him a chance. I said that if I made a choice now, if I gave it up, it would be wrong, because I would regret it later, because this life is dedicated to giving Shri Ram a chance. I give him a chance and see if he takes that chance and what he does with that chance. That's why I refused that man.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for fighting for me, pushing this man out of my mind and wanting to be with me. I've seen him push it out. This man completely filled my mind. My consciousness flowed to him, and he claimed me. He said that Shri Ram had given up on me and now I was his. I told Shri Ram that Shri Ram himself said that he would not let me go anywhere, and now let him do it himself, since he said so. And he did it.

He was somehow replacing that man. How the Asuras can do this, I do not know, but I just watched as that man gradually left my mind, until the last one. The next day I felt his presence and dominance again, and then this Shri Ram again somehow pushed him out. I didn't do anything, I just watched. I was wondering how it all works. And for what he did, I'm grateful to him.

398. Commendation for the task at capturing lady Trix

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to Shri Ram for is that he then had a desire to find out what I was doing in other worlds. By then, he had already seen that I had destroyed very large Asuras. I destroyed the teacher Shri Ram and even some unique Asura, whom I called Shepherd, I don't love you, who could not be killed because he was not in the body. He had no body, and it was impossible to kill him, but I first kicked the teacher out of his body, and then I put the shepherd in this body and kicked him out of the teacher's body.

I destroyed their elder, the so-called Bhishma, as well as Borka, the former Moscow chief Asura, and many others. And Shri Ram was interested in what I was doing in other worlds, because he realized that somewhere in other worlds I was doing something serious. And because of his desire to find out, SIA's song «Never give up» came to me.

I've fought demons that keep me awake.

I asked the sea to give me strength,

But it left my request with no response.

But I won't give up, I won't give up,

No, no, I'll never give up, no.

I won't let you break me,

And if I fall, I will immediately get up from my knees.

I'll find my way, find my way home.

This song then foreshadowed Shri Ram's answer to his unspoken question of who I was in other worlds. I was at war there with some demons that would not let me sleep, that is, take a vacation for the life of an ordinary woman who wants simple female happiness and says: «Every woman is born to be happy, and I deserve it». I couldn't afford to spend even one lifetime on such a vacation, just an ordinary woman living for her female happiness. And I was fighting some demons that wouldn't let me sleep. I was constantly on a combat post and could not take a vacation for a normal life. Those demons tried to break me, but I was a tough tin soldier and always stood up.

I was destroying some creatures. Because of this, I saw that my name Vinodavani, the personification of love for God, indicates that I was working to destroy some creatures. It was then that I saw that the word «personified» can be decomposed into «and the face of the creature on I», that is, the face for some creature I give (on = take) I. I gave some creatures in some other worlds a face. I gave face to some creatures that didn't have a face, that didn't have a face, that didn't have a normal physical body. This was shown to me as a result of Shri Ram's desire to know what I was doing in other worlds.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Then I received an order from some portal while I was sleeping. I had a strange dream. It was as if this was not a dream at all, but a real conversation with someone there, in a dream. In that dream, I was talking to someone from a completely different world, through a portal. I had a feeling that I was very familiar with this person, but I didn't see him, because he was on the other side of the portal. And he told me that somewhere in other dimensions, some lady Trix did a lot of nasty things, and now she came here, to our dimension, to do her filthy evil things here on Earth. And as if this interlocutor of mine (I can't call him a person) asked me to do something with this lady Trix, so that she would not do her abominations anywhere else.

I took this order. It turned out that this lady Trix is some kind of parasite sitting in a woman. It turns out that I was given an order for such an energy parasite. I didn't know about it, but I accepted this order. Then it was revealed to me that this is some kind of creature that is actually an energy parasite sitting in a person, completely subdued and suppressed his will. And I sent this parasite, this lady Trix, through this portal to another world, where she was already being punished.

I didn't know about this before. I know this due to the fact that Shri Ram wanted to know. It turns out that I was fighting in other worlds with some creatures that have no face. I gave them face. How can you give a creature a face? The thing that doesn't have a face, that doesn't have a normal body. How can you give her a normal body with a normal face? Only by destroying it and wishing it a normal birth like the rest of us, because it's still a soul. It's just that she has no piety at all, she is in full disadvantages, and she only does what can bring only disadvantages out of these disadvantages. And she can't break out of this vicious circle.

It's like an alcoholic who, no matter what they do to him, will still drink. Why? Because he doesn't have enough pious merit to give it up and get on a normal path. He simply has no piety. He can be helped if someone gives him piety, prays for him, asks God to help him, and prays for him, thus giving him their piety. And when piety accumulates, then this alcoholic or drug addict can rise to another level, higher.

It's the same with these things. This thing can't break out of this vicious circle. She doesn't want it, like an alcoholic saying that everything is fine and that everyone should leave him alone. And these things are just the same. They say: «I'm fine. Everything is captured, everything is paid for. Everyone I sit in listens to my command and follows it without question. I'm in charge of everything».

I am grateful to Shri Ram for wanting to know about this at the time. I'm also grateful to him for helping me out. Because when this order was accepted and this creature was inside me and wanted to suppress me, my consciousness, my will, I was very confused. I was shocked that the thing had passed into me at all. I was very scared, but Shri Ram was on duty. He said, " Don't worry, we'll do it right». We escorted this creature through an energy portal to another dimension. And I am grateful to Shri Ram for helping me complete this order.

399. Thanks for the knowledge about my specialization bodyguard and spontaneous dance of hands

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that thanks to him I learned that, it turns out, I am a great unique, very valuable and very necessary specialist who performs some important tasks in different worlds. I destroy someone somewhere, but not physically, but somehow energetically. I have a well-trained team. I work as a bodyguard for people whose lives are at risk. I do not protect them personally, with my personal presence, but through signs that are constantly flowing in my life and that are a projection of what is happening in those whom I protect and who may be in other worlds at the same time, but who, being connected with me, receive these signs and thanks to them can act according to the most effective, optimal and safe scenario for them and thus can be protected. Since they have a connection with me, these signs go to them, and this protects them, shows them what to do and what not to do, so as not to get caught. And so I am their bodyguard, being the devil knows where from them, and even on other planets and maybe in other worlds.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

He who is forewarned is armed. These signs warn them, respectively, they do not get into situations that are very dangerous for them. This way I act as a bodyguard without being around. A bodyguard is someone who protects himself. I'm not protecting myself, not with my physical body. I protect through signs that go into my life just by themselves.

I am a unique specialist, well-known in those circles where such specialists are required. I do not recognize any moral standards, and I am happy to take any job, no matter how dirty it may be, as long as it is well paid with pious merits. That is, in order to ensure the protection of those for whom I work, I do not disdain any living conditions, I go into such lives with such circumstances that are necessary for broadcasting the signs necessary for the protection of my clients.

For this broadcast marks I get a lot of pious merits, but I'm not spending it on a luxurious life and pleasures and hoarding, as with a great stock of piety, you might be able to get back on the path of return to the spiritual world, you can perceive your mind, your mind the value and importance of spiritual truths. This requires a lot of piety. And I'm happy to take any job, no matter how dirty it is, as long as it pays a lot of piety. And I only follow one rule — don't back down until the job is done. For what I have learned about myself through Shri Ram, I thank him.

The next thing I'm grateful for is that I found out that I'm a universal proofreader, repairing some souls that have been damaged in some way. And I repair them in different ways, repair them, in particular through spontaneous hand dance. I didn't know before that when I let go of my hands in a spontaneous dance to the music, it turns out to be a correction through the space of the energy bodies of some living beings that I don't know here and hardly ever recognize.

I, as a universal proofreader, am given somewhere, maybe in completely different worlds, in other dimensions, to fix someone. I'm here, just listening to music, in the mood to let go of my hands in a free dance, and they just dance. I used to think it was like hand gymnastics, but when I started interacting with this Shri Ram, I noticed that when I want to do something different, I feel that the hand is still going where it was going, and not where I want to direct it with my mind. And looking at these movements, you can see that they are not random, there is a clear pattern and a certain goal, as if the hands are doing something somewhere, although they are here. It looks like these movements are a projection on something that isn't here, and I'm tweaking it somehow. And I am grateful to Shri Ram, because I learned about it through him.

400. Gratitude for knowing that in this life I am in transit on the wheel of samsara

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you for the fact that when he was interested in who I was in other worlds, and when I received an order for lady Trix in a dream from some portal from another dimension, from other worlds, I replied to the person who gave me this order: «it was a hot Night, and now I'm sleeping». Then in a dream I went there with the claim that they interfere with my sleep, that the night was hot and I have not yet got up and I want to sleep longer. From these words, I saw that my current life, which I now live — is my dream, I sleep here, but before this life, in previous lives, there was some hot night. There was some kind of hot battle with someone, I fought, fought with some demons, destroyed some creatures.

When I realized this, I thought that this life that I'm living now is, it turns out, my vacation, I'm sleeping here, taking a break from my work. I do not know who I really am, because here I just relax, I'm at the resort, on vacation. I have a well-deserved vacation. I'm sleeping now. It was an incredible revelation for me to find out that this life of mine is a vacation and in some other lives I was struggling with someone. I've fought demons that keep me awake. I was fighting someone in other worlds and I couldn't sleep. I couldn't take a vacation even for one lifetime to be an ordinary woman, just to relax. But now I was able to take this vacation.

And thanks to this, I realized that I am a transit in this life and on this Earth, and where I will go in future lives, it is unknown if I am the kind of specialist who is needed where the night is hot, where you need to fight someone, do something.

Because of this, I thought that we should appreciate the simple joys of life, which in other worlds may not be at all. Shower, clean water, hot and cold tap water, delicious food, lots of Goodies — it's great! I've stopped fasting now. Yes, I don't eat meat, fish, or eggs, and I fast in Ekadashi, but even in this fast I eat something delicious-I make my favorite draniki or buy delicious fruits and berries, what I love, and what you can eat in Ekadashi.

Yes, I've grown fat, but I think I don't know what will happen in the next lives if the night was hot and I'm sleeping now. Maybe in the next lives the night will be hot again, because the vacation in this life will be over. In this life, on this planet, I am in transit. Let me get fat, but I will eat what I love and what I like, my favorite sweets, cakes and sweets (of course, within the framework of compliance with regulatory principles). Maybe in the next lives, some hot night will start again and some kind of battle with some unknown demons, because of which I will not be able to sleep.

How good that there are sweets, cakes, pies, draniki, fried eggplant, strawberries, strawberries, boiled corn, sweet watermelons, melons, black currants! How good it is to have friends, relationships, children with me, a nice view from the window, birds Trilling in the morning, rain outside the window when you are at home in a warm and cozy place! Just a quiet life — such beauty! I don't need to fight with anyone, I don't know what kind of hot night it was, that someone came to me in a dream from the portal and looked at me from there, waiting for me to feel the importance of the case and at least a little recover from my dream. Not from the dream in which I slept, but from the dream in this life, when I live here-I sleep, not knowing who I really am, what I can do and what

I do there. He waited patiently, but relentlessly, for me to say something. So he needed me to tie up that lady Trix and send them to their punishment.

I thought: just a quiet life here on Earth, it's such a thrill! Because here, it turns out, I'm just sleeping. And it is clear that this time should not only be enjoyed, but also properly used to go forward, to Krishna, to the spiritual world. I don't know what I will do in the next lives, where the hot night may start again, where I will have to do again what I am an expert in. You should serve Krishna more while you are here, so that you can make a good start for shooting yourself into the spiritual world when the time comes. And I am grateful to this Shri Ram for this realization that, it turns out, I am now sleeping and this life is in transit.

My Gurudev said: «You may not get everything you want in life, but you have far, far more than the six billion people who inhabit this planet. Much more! You have the freedom to choose your religion, a sound mind, food on the table every day, clean water to drink».

We have clean water. It is unknown what kind of water was in those worlds where it was a hot night. Maybe they drank from different water bodies is unknown what kind of water. I don't know how I ever lived to complete the task I was given every time. After all, I took any task, no matter how dirty it was, as long as it was well paid with pious merits. My credo was not to back down until the job was done. I don't know how I could have lived there. Maybe there was no clean water or proper food. Or maybe I lived in luxurious palaces there, because when I came to the Asuric worlds, every new life I became the wife of their Emperor and, accordingly, lived in wealth and luxury.

I don't know what kind of lives I had and what kind of lives I will have when I find myself back at my combat post instead of on vacation. My Gurudev said, " you have the freedom to choose your religion, a sound mind, food on the table every day, clean water to drink, a Holy name, Association with Vaishnavas, service to Deities, and the opportunity to visit Holy dhams. Look at the world around you and see what most people have lost, and be grateful for all that you have gained». And now I understand these words from this angle thanks to this Shri Ram, thanks to our interaction with him, during which I was sent this order. He and I completed this order, and I found out that here I am in transit and this life is my vacation.

Just taking a shower can be such an exorbitant luxury, which was not necessarily in those lives where I performed the task as some cool specialist. Just to have clean hot and cold water in the tap that flows, and just to live when you don't have to hide from anyone or run away from anyone, is happiness in itself. This happiness is such a calm, ordinary life that few people appreciate and in which everyone wants something different-in the winter of summer, and in the summer of winter. And we must take advantage of this opportunity, these benefits in this life, because we do not know what will happen in the next lives.

I am grateful to Shri Ram for realizing the value of this simple-looking life. This life is beautiful, this world is beautiful, as the song says:

I see green trees and red roses,
I see them blooming for you and me
And I think to myself, what a beautiful world.
I see blue sky and white clouds,
The bright blessed day,
Dark sacred night
And I think to myself, what a beautiful world.
The colors of the rainbow, so lovely in the sky,

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

They are also on the faces of people passing by,
I see friends shaking hands,
Speaking: «How are you?»
In fact they say: «I love you».
I hear children's screams, see them grow up,
They will learn more than I will ever know,
And I think to myself, what a beautiful world.
Yes, I think to myself, what a beautiful world.

I think it's a beautiful world. I don't know what world I'll end up in, what worlds I'll live in. We should be happy here and now. This world I live in now is a beautiful world. Now I'm sleeping, now I'm on vacation, and we should appreciate this opportunity, because it's a gift.

In this life, I just sleep. I'm glad I found out about this! Just this one realization that this world is really beautiful, gives so much veal delight! And I am grateful to Shri Ram for this.

401. Gratitude that he won't forget me and that he hasn't forgotten me

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Next thanks to this Shri Ram for helping me come up with the meeting I described in episode 181. Then I wanted to finish broadcasting this novel. I was very tired of it, so I could barely stand it and wanted to finish it as soon as possible, but I didn't know how. I racked my brain over the scenario of this meeting, trying to figure out different versions of the plot, but Shri Ram made his own adjustments when our neighbor came to us and asked us to unbutton the zipper on her Shoe, because of which she could not remove the Shoe from her foot. I helped her, and she began to apologize for coming to me so often for help, and then she told me, " I won't forget you».

When she left, I remembered the pillow session that Shri Ram and I had when he had Lona, the standard of Lona. Then Krishna gave us a pillow session in which I said out loud what Shri Ram had said to me somewhere in his house — that I was loved, and there were other words like this: «I won't leave you. I'm not leaving you anywhere. I'm not letting you go anywhere. You're mine. You will be mine». He was thinking it somewhere in his room, and I, as a contactee, was saying it all.

So when I was puzzling over the plot of the series about the meeting, I thought that it was Shri Ram who told me through this neighbor that he would not forget me, that is, he would not allow us to be separated from him. I thought at the time that he wanted me to say something about it in the 181st episode of my novel, and I decided to make a better point there, that he would not forget me. I decided to tell him that he had no choice. If he doesn't come to me in real life, then Krishna will completely break our relationship with Shri Ram, even though we are an eternal couple.

I took this story as the basis for the story of our meeting with Shri Ram. He gave me the storyline for episode 181 with the words «I won't forget you» from my neighbor, and I'm grateful for that.

The next thing I am grateful to him for is that when he came to me in the fall of 2018, he attracted my attention with a focus with a discount card «Moya» in the store. It was a small episode when a man at the checkout attracted my attention with an interesting maneuver with a discount card «Moya». When I had already paid for my purchases, the man behind me in the queue asked for my discount card, and it says «My». When it was time for him to give the card to the saleswoman to take into account the discounts, I handed the card to the saleswoman, but this man took the initiative and let me know that the card should be given to him. I gave the card to him, and he gave it to the saleswoman. When the saleswoman held the card and the discount was credited, she put the card on a plate for change. I reached out to take the card, but he slowed me down again and took the card himself, then handed it to me.

This interesting maneuver intrigued me very much. No one has ever done that. If a person just needs a discount, then such movements are simply illogical. But if you take into account the fact that the map says «my», then you might think that it was Shri Ram himself who personally came and it was a symbolic action, a symbolic gesture: I gave him «my», and he gave me «my».

I thank him for this maneuver, because it intrigued me very much, attracted my attention, and gave me an image of him that I could meditate on all that time away from each other.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for allowing me to choose my own person among those around him in his home in advance, and this is a woman who is meant to be my friend. Even when I didn't know Shri Ram, I didn't know where he lived, I already knew that my friend was waiting for me there, because Shri Ram gave me the opportunity to choose my little man, who would be only mine, who would be only my devotee, who would follow only my orders, and for this I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to him for actually coming to me when I finished the narration of this novel, «My novel. I am the wife of an Asura», and gave the name of a new story about us — «My story: I am the wife of an Asura». This narrative is " My novel. I am the wife of Asura " opened by itself, gradually, rather stretched over time, but after all this was already revealed, I wanted to tell it all from the perspective of everything I had learned. I didn't know what to call that story, so Shri Ram gave me the title «My story: I am the wife of an Asura». This is the name he suggested, and I like it. I am grateful to him for it.

402. Gratitude for Akshaya Tritiya

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you to Shri Ram is for his participation in the story of clearing the sewer blockage that happened in 2018 on Akshaya Tritiyu. On that day, I told in my videos how my Mahabharata to clean up the Asuric community began in the first place. I told him that I had informed Borka, then the leader of the Moscow Asuric organization, that his life was going on (like a house of cards). I told him that when I started recording my videos about the Asuras, Borka started taking various actions to stop me, that he manipulated my mind «shut Up and fly on», although I warned him many times that he had no right to do this. I told him how he overstepped his bounds and brought his own punishment. Also on that Akshaya tritiya in 2018, I told how I finally destroyed Borka, and then the elder of the Asuras, Bhishma, and how my Mahabharata began.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And when I recorded a video with all this material, we had a sewer blockage in our apartment. I started gushing out of the toilet and out of the bathroom right on the floor. I ran for help to the neighbors, called the plumbers, the plumbing is very long didn't go, and I spent the evening gathering instances from the toilet on the floor, shit in a bucket and carried into the street, fearing that it will flood our entire apartment. By nightfall, the plumbers arrived. They didn't want to clear our blockage, they extorted money, but then Shri Ram put pressure on their minds, and they quickly did everything and left. I am grateful to him for helping me.

I am also grateful to him for calming me down and even cheering me up. I was sad and inconsolable walking around with this bucket of shit from our toilet and I thought that no one would help me, waiting for the plumbers, and then the plumbers came and immediately turned around to leave, and I was standing on the street with this bucket and I was thinking what to do and how to live, and then Shri Ram threw into my mind this thought that the same thing this is my Mahabharata.

It turned out that Borka was to blame. He was told in plain text not to do what he was doing. Many times he was given a chance to correct the situation, to ask my forgiveness for his criminal actions, and then everything would have been fine, but he did not understand, he got into trouble, for which he received. It was all right, you can't get away with it. The Asuras did not know this. And when I opened it up and they saw it, they had the same shit pouring out of their mind chat as I did from the sewer. And Shri Ram revealed it to me.

When he revealed it to me, I was so amused that even these endless buckets of shit began to amuse me. I never thought that pulling shit out of the bathroom could be so joyful and fun, with the realization that this is a projection of what is happening somewhere in the Asuras. And for the fact that Shri Ram revealed this to me and made me very happy, I am very grateful to him.

403. Gratitude for the vow of Shri Ram

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I thank Shri Ram for is that in the summer of 2018, he asked for my forgiveness. Then I discovered that all the summer of 2016, when he had a good woman, the Princess, he connected me with Asuras from his Asuric organization. When I found out, I didn't want to be with him. I had an immense aversion to it. Then he asked me to forgive him. I found out about it when my son came up to me and said: «Mother, please forgive me». I asked him, " For what? » He said: «For everything». Then I put together a list of everything that Shri Ram could ask for my forgiveness for. The result is a fairly large list.

At the time, I was reading a book called the time Paradox by Jon Colfer about Artemis fowl, and when I was making that list, I read these words in the book: «Maybe you made the wrong decision. Maybe I would have made the same decision myself. We are from different worlds and can never trust each other completely. Let's move on, let's leave the past in the past, where it should be». And then it said, " He nodded. He didn't have to count on the best, he already got more than he deserved».

I am grateful that Shri Ram did ask for my forgiveness.

I am also grateful to him for taking a vow in our interests. At that time, he took a vow for our benefit, and Krishna showed it to me through a screenshot from the

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Mahabharata with the words «You can follow him». It was at this time that I was listening to a lecture by my Gurudev, in which he offered me to Shri Ram and described my virtues by the example of Hanuman's blessings, and in this lecture my attention lingered on the words «Ram took a vow in our interests». This is where Lord Ramachandra said: «If someone only once seriously surrenders to me, saying to me, 'My dear Lord, from this day on I am yours, ' and prays to me for courage, I will immediately grant him this feeling of courage, and he will always be safe, from then on and forever».

In the lecture, Gurudev said that after hearing these words of Rama, all the monkeys were subdued and there was such a silence that you could hear the needle drop, so they carefully meditated on the mercy that comes from RAM, because RAM took such a vow in our interests. And after that, Rama turned around and started to leave. Then he turned around, and he said to all the monkeys, and the bears, and his soldiers: «Even if Ravana asks me for shelter, I will give him the same blessing».

As I listened to this in the lecture, my attention lingered on the words that RAM took the vow in our interests. They overlapped with Krishna's words in the screenshot, «You can follow him», and I then realized that this Shri Ram had taken a vow and that I needed to forgive him. I forgave him then.

After a while, I discovered what kind of vow he had taken. He has taken a vow that he will not consider his mission accomplished until we are liberated with him — returning to the spiritual world at the Lotus feet of Sri Sri Radha Krishna. I am grateful to Shri Ram for asking my forgiveness and taking this vow to do everything possible to bring us back to the spiritual world.

404. Gratitude for his words «You are pure while I am with you»

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thank you is for his words «you are pure while I am with you». He said these words to me when I was playing a game with metaphorical cards and I got a picture of a girl looking at a notebook and two sweets on the table in front of her, and behind her is a Cabinet full of sweets. In the map I saw two candies in front of me is my husband, because in the description I said that I love them, and the cupboard with sweets — a lot of men who want to be with me and that is very good, sweet, delicious, but I turned my back on them and say, «nuts to you», as between a girl and sweets is a notebook in the form of a wigwam, of figvam. I kind of say to those men: «Figs to you, I have my Shri Ram and Nrsimhadev, I love them».

When I deciphered the picture like this, I said to this Shri Ram, " look, Shri Ram, you're going to jump. Now I'm going to turn around to this locker and look at one of them, and then the man I'm looking at will come to me in real life, and I'll be with him, and you'll snap it all out, you fool».

When I was translating this story from Russian to English, the online translator suddenly gave this: «Look, or I'll divorce you and your teeth will get knocked out». I saw in this that I was kind of saying Shri Ram: «If I go to someone from that Cabinet with sweets, then your own Asuras will destroy you, because because of you, I have destroyed many Asuras and they have a big grudge against you». And he answered me then: «You're clean as long as I'm with you».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I am grateful to him for telling me this, because in this way he gave me a guarantee that I would be clean with him. He said that he protects me and will protect me, that he does not allow and will not allow any intrusions, any alien presence in our interaction with him.

I am also grateful to him for giving me a completely different perspective on what Srila Prabhupada has given us. I saw that Srila Prabhupada was completely right. The hare Krishna mantra and the four regulative principles that he has given us actually protect us. This is our protection from the Asuras ' unhindered invasion of us and from the siphoning off of our pious merits and the resulting deterioration of our own lives. It also hinders the decline in the overall level of development on our planet, since we are all connected. The more pious merit is drained from people, the more the overall level of piety on the planet decreases and degradation increases. The less General piety, the more degraded the whole society.

Thanks to Shri Ram's words «You are pure while I am with you», I thought that this Shri Ram is protecting me now, but who will protect me if this Shri Ram is not there? It turns out that if I look at someone from that Cabinet with sweets and I will be with one of them, then I will not be clean, that is, some Asur can get into our sex with that good man and be present there invisibly, connecting on the energy plane, defile me and destroy chastity. I thought that the Asuras are able to invade completely unnoticed, invade someone else's sex and be there, through the body of a man and his woman. And yet they don't just have a woman, they also pump out pious merit.

I thought that this was very bad and that the regulatory principles were really given for a reason. And I saw from a completely different angle what Srila Prabhupada had given us. He gave us protection so we wouldn't fall for it. Because everything that he has given us protects us, does not allow the Asuras to come to us. And since this protects us from desecration and at the same time prevents our pious merits from being stolen from us, we are protected from a catastrophic fall in the standard of living either in this life or in the next lives, which occurs as a result of the emptying of the account of piety. Simply because of compliance with regulatory principles, we are protected from such robbery.

I saw from a very different angle what Srila Prabhupada gave us. This is a great value, a powerful shield. No one knows about it, but I saw it, and for this I am very grateful to Shri Ram.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram that as a result of this, I saw that many Asuras must have been very dissatisfied with Srila Prabhupada's activities and could have somehow influenced both him and someone around him to stop their activities. I thought that the Asuras could easily have initiated poisoning or anything else to remove Srila Prabhupada so that he would not spread the principles of protection from the Asuras to the masses. At the same time, the Asuras do not need to be personally present there and do something themselves. They might have put pressure on someone around him. Asuras can do everything at a distance, pushing the consciousness of those who are nearby to do it, sometimes without even realizing what they are doing, or realizing, but with a distorted and crushed consciousness.

This is a standard tactic of the Asuras-to do everything with someone else's hands, forcing someone to do what the Asuras need, and so that all the bumps fall on the crushed victim, made a scapegoat. And the Asuras themselves, who actually did this, remain unnoticed by anyone and RUB their hands in satisfaction.

I thought that the Asuras were very unprofitable for Srila Prabhupada's activities and they might have taken some action to throw him out of the arena, completely out of life.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

The Asuras could also influence some great devotees of Krishna, leaders, to discredit Krishna consciousness. When I realized this, I thought that they would answer for it. I thought that Srila Prabhupada was not a fool, and even more so Krishna, and that this was done at the request of Srila Prabhupada. He wanted to protect his ISKCON, his child, and to do this, he put himself under the attack of the Asuras, only to protect his ISKCON in the future.

When I realized this, I decided that I would definitely do his will, and I was one of the Asuras who did all this, and I created an air defense system, a system of protection against Asuras for Krishna consciousness. I made them irresistible sleepless Darts. I decided that the same Asuras who attacked would now defend against the same as they were. They will be an irresistible dart. They will be such weapons that will have the most powerful radars, always turned on and tuned to any encroachment in the direction of the bhaktas of Krishna. And if somewhere some Asura or something like that tries to influence some bhakta, the movement of Krishna consciousness and do something bad, some invisible radar in these irresistible Darts will immediately turn on homing torpedoes and instantly destroy, burn completely and the one who tried to do it, and the one who ordered it, their entire chain.

This weapon can be used for the purpose of defeating either one enemy unit or the entire enemy army. This weapon burns its target to the ground with a single powerful, pinpoint, targeted strike. No armor, no blessings, no shielding can protect against these weapons. This weapon is so powerful that it can neither be stopped nor neutralized. It is self-activating, instantly reacting to attempts to influence. Any impact on this weapon is broken against it, without causing any harm to this weapon, making it practically indestructible and invulnerable. They will be sleepless guards, always on duty, always on alert. Instant reaction, ruthless, cold-blooded and irrevocable destruction of the enemy of any power.

These are the Asuras who were involved in stopping Srila Prabhupada's activities and in influencing the devotees of Krishna to discredit Krishna consciousness. They will be good devotees of Krishna, inconspicuous in appearance, not climbing anywhere, but if someone somewhere wants to do something bad to a devotee of Krishna, somehow influence, they will immediately turn on some invisible radar, which will immediately detect this attempt to act, influence, do something bad, and on the subtle energy plane, a powerful ray will automatically come out of this weapon, which will kill all those who tried to do it. And no enemy will creep through.

This I did because of Shri Ram's words, «you are pure while I am with you», and for this I am grateful to him.

The next thing I am grateful to him for is the creation of an air defense system for married couples, since the idea of creating it also came to me thanks to the words of Shri Ram «You are clean while I am with you». When I was making this air defense system, I saw real twin flames on my internal screen. There are many different pictures of eternal couples, twin flames, kindred spirits, second halves on the Internet, but there is nothing real in those pictures. In fact, those images have nothing to do with all these phenomena.

I saw with my own eyes on the subtle plane, on my mental screen, what twin flames are, because when creating an air defense system for married couples, such twin flames were created. There was no Kama Sutra, there was no one sitting naked, there were no naked body parts like in pictures on the Internet, there was no kissing, hugging and sticking to each other with undisguised lust. Everything was pure, chaste, and sublime. And for what I did and saw, I am grateful to Shri Ram.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I also thank him for his share in the liberation and reunification of the eternal couples. In those eternal pairs that were separated in much the same way as Shri Ram and I were, we released those who had accepted the Asuric nature and sent them to future lives to be reunited with their eternal halves. And for that, I thank Shri Ram.

405. Thanks for a solid evidence base

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to this Shri Ram for the third take that he had, for a pretty woman with a young strong body, because of which he already regretted that he was with me, that he had to make vows, give the word of a gentleman, agree to my Gurudev's proposal and accept me as his wife, make promises that he would be with me, protect me and tydy and typy. Because of this woman, he was very sorry that he had made all these promises. She was so good, and he wanted to enjoy himself with her.

As a result, I received a solid evidence base for the claim of his incapacity and compensation for my moral damage. That's why I'm grateful to him. Apparently, this third take was needed. Apparently, in order to have a solid evidence base, it was necessary to present three facts of his completely conscious decision to abandon me, with his clear awareness that I was his Shakti. It was necessary that he, being of sound mind, firm memory and clear consciousness, acting voluntarily, understanding the meaning of his actions and not deluding himself, give up his Shakti for the sake of other women.

It was necessary to present three such facts, so that the upper, higher court accepted them as evidence and on their basis satisfied my legal requirements. The Supreme court evaluated the evidence presented and saw that Yes, indeed, he was aware that this is his Shakti, he gave his word, promises, vows, took a wife, but three times refused her for some other women who are nothing to him, and therefore the court decided to satisfy my demands in full.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for giving me a solid evidence base to support my claims. As the movie «family Man» says, you don't have to play with fire. A good wife is a very harsh creditor. If you invest elsewhere, it will close your account. Forever. And I demanded that his account be closed forever if he ever wanted to be with any other woman, because he was mine. He is my eternal couple, we were together in the spiritual world, and I decided to return to the spiritual world, and together with him, because eternal couples return to the spiritual world together. I made such a decision and demanded his incapacity, so that no other woman would have the benefit of being with him, so that everything that she would have received from him, some pious services, preferences, was canceled and returned to me, because I am his wife, because he gave me a lot of vows and promises and must keep his word.

I demanded his incapacity to be with me and no other woman at all, and also demanded compensation for my moral damage by shaking off all pious merits in my favor from the woman who would suddenly be with him, if anything. If any woman suddenly happens to be with him, I will, like a leech, stick to her on the energy plane and suck out all her pious merits, to the drop. There would be nothing left of her, and no other woman would want to go near him, let alone be with him.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Because no woman wants to be drained of all her pious merits and lose such a beautiful life in such a beautiful world and end up as a leech in a stinking swamp, and actually, physically, be born as a leech, or a mosquito, or a cockroach. No woman would want this, because no man is worth losing the opportunity to be born and live as a human being in this beautiful world because of him.

And since everything is decided at the level of the higher self and all this is visible there, no one will ever approach it. It's only mine. And for making this possible, I am grateful to him, because he gave me three necessary facts for my evidence base.

I am grateful to him that now he is an empty pot without honey for all other women. He's a honey pot just for me. For everyone else, he is an empty pot as a result of the fact that I demanded recognition of his incapacity and compensation for my moral damage, if he will be at least with some woman at least once. And I am grateful to him that he will never have other women again.

Then I bought another charm for my bracelets—a pot of honey, which added to my collection of very symbolic charms and rings. Thanks to our interaction with him, I now have a whole collection of charms for bracelets that symbolize different situations that are described in this novel, and I am grateful to him for this.

406. Gratitude for the guides of souls to the spiritual world

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

The next thing I am grateful to Shri Ram for is that we held an action with the old lions at the Asuras. We took their greatest authorities, the elders, and made them guides of souls from different parts of the material world to a new exit to the spiritual world — to birth here on Earth, where Srila Prabhupada opened a window to the spiritual world. These old lions will not be born here on Earth. They will be needed as guides.

After the second year of the Institute, I worked all summer in the student team of train guides, and there I took all the hares. Our whole team knew that if a hare breaks into the train, it should be sent to me, because I will definitely take it. I was the guide who took all the hares. This shows my activities outside of this life. There I took those souls who were hares, who did not have a ticket, that is, or did not have the necessary stock of piety, good qualities (there was no money for a ticket), or did not have the opportunity to get to where they needed to go (there was no ticket at the box office). I took all the hares, like Asuras or some creatures that are in full cons for the gradation of spiritual development. I took them and took them to their destination, to a good place where they could be born normally and develop normally.

Such a hare was the organizer of the Asuric sweepstakes, which I kicked out of his body and sent to some good world for re-education. And when I sent it, I saw that someone meets, and I'm passing it from hand to hand, from myself to them, I just as a guide, I brought him from this world, from this body, kicked and helped achieve peace, which he never reached because he was Asura, he then broke, he was the organizer eurychasma betting on which the Asuras broke many good personalities, down to the lower levels of consciousness. He was such a hare, he was in full cons, but I helped him, I took him in my car and took him to some good worlds, to some good place where he was accepted.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

I passed it from hand to hand to those who receive them there, but then I thought that I had put a pig in it. This may have been correct before, but now Srila Prabhupada has opened a window to the spiritual world here on planet Earth, and from here, from planet Earth, you can return to the spiritual world. And when I realized this, I asked Krishna to make sure that the former organizer of the Asuric sweepstakes quickly went through his re-education on the planet where he was taken by me, delivered in my car, and that he quickly finished his life there and was born here on Earth, so that he could get the opportunity to return to the spiritual world, because here we have a window.

And those big old lions of the Asuras will be such guides. They will take souls in different worlds who want to return to the spiritual world and send them here, to the planet Earth, because here is a window to the spiritual world. Those former old lions of the Asuras will not be born here. They will somehow convey souls in their carriage, as I do. They will take hares, as I did, and take them to a place where there is an exit to the world of the living. It will be a job that will earn them respect and that they will perform with pride.

I found out about their future in Philip Pullman's book «the Amber telescope». It said that their task would be to guide the spirits from the landing place at the lake through the land of the dead to the new exit to the upper world. In other words, their task will be to guide the souls embodied in the material world from the place of landing, that is, from those planets and those worlds in the material world where they live, through the entire land of the dead, that is, through the entire material world, to a new exit to the upper, spiritual world.

And a new way out into the spiritual world is here, on the planet Earth. Then Srila Prabhupada made a cut into the spiritual world. He took a wonderful knife, the hare Krishna Mahamantra, and with this knife cut a window from the world of the dead to the world of the living, from the material world to the spiritual world. And it is here, on the planet Earth, that a new exit to the upper world, to the spiritual world, is located.

407. Gratitude for receiving confirmation that we have already been in the spiritual world

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

In Philip Pullman's book the Amber telescope, the following was written about the fate of these old lions: «You will have the right to demand that each spirit tell you the story of his life, and each newcomer will have to tell you the truth about what he saw and heard, what he touched, what he loved and knew in the upper world. Each of these spirits has its own story; and anyone who comes here in the future will be able to tell you something true about that world. And you will have the right to listen to them, and they will have to tell you. Your task will be to accompany the spirits from the landing site at the lake through the land of the dead to a new exit to the upper world. And in return, they will tell you their stories-this is a fair and just payment for your work as guides». These old lions will bring here to Earth those souls who want to return to the spiritual world, and everyone they bring here will tell them the truth about what they saw and heard, what they touched, what they loved and knew in the upper world, the spiritual world. In these words about the future of those old lions, I saw that there is a spiritual world and that we were there.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

For some reason, many people think that the souls who are in the material world were not in the spiritual world before, that they did not fall from the spiritual world to the material world. But these old lions will be guides from the landing place of souls, where they live, through the land of the dead, through the material world, to the new exit to the world of the living, to the window to the spiritual world. And all these souls will tell these guides that in the spiritual world, before they came here, they saw, heard, touched, and loved and knew there, in the spiritual world. And this means that these souls have already been in the spiritual world, since they once loved someone there, saw and heard something there, and knew something there.

And I am grateful to Shri Ram for the fact that because of this action with the old lions, we learned that we were with him in the Vaikunthas, in the spiritual world. We found out about this in episode 311, in which I described how I sent old lions on their future mission as guides of souls to the place of a new exit to the spiritual world. In the middle of that episode, I showed a screenshot from episode 308 with my image and a picture of Tsar Nicholas II symbolizing this Shri Ram, with the words «on Vaikunthas» under them, and right under that screenshot came the words «from heaven to earth».

Shri Ram and I were on Vaikunthas, this was revealed to us in the 308th episode, when the words «on Vaikunthas» came out (from 14: 23). But Shri Ram had doubts, and whether we were with him in the spiritual world, maybe there is a completely different meaning? He thought that this was not an argument, that it did not indicate that we were there with him. He thought that the words «on Vaikunthah» might indicate that we were going there, not that we were there, and in episode 311 (from 27: 11), he got the answer to his doubts in the form of the words «from heaven to earth» right under the words «on Vaikunthah». This coincidence clearly indicates that he and I fell from Vaikunth, from heaven to earth. He and I fell from Vaikunth, from the spiritual world, here to the material world.

And for the fact that Shri Ram had those doubts about whether we were in the spiritual world at all, I am very grateful to him, because for me personally, the answer is quite clear. Yes, of course, someone may say that these screenshots on my desktop are all nonsense, an accident, but in my novel nothing is random, however, as everywhere else. And in episode 311, we were clearly told that before Shri Ram and I were born here in the material world, we were in the Vaikunthas, in the spiritual world, and we fell from there, from heaven to earth. From heaven does not mean from the heavenly planets, since it is written «on Vaikunthas» on the top. We fell from heaven, from Vaikuntha, from the spiritual world, to earth, here, to the material world. We were in the spiritual world before we came to the material world. And this we learned from the fact that Shri Ram had a doubt, which was answered in this form, for which I thank him.

I am also grateful to him for showing us that we will return to the spiritual world with him. This was also shown to us in episode 311 through the word «back», which came out immediately after the words «from heaven to earth». And «back» came right under the words «on Vaikuntha». First, it confirms that Shri Ram and I were in the spiritual world, in the Vaikunthas, because it is impossible to go back to a place where you have not been. You can only go back to where you've already been. We will not just go there, but we will go back there, which means that we were there. And secondly, it means that Shri Ram and I will go back there, back to the spiritual world. This is very good news.

408. Gratitude for discovering my original spiritual form in the spirit world

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to him for finding out that I was not to blame for our fall from the spiritual world to the material world and was not to blame for our receiving that curse. Both times I fulfilled my wife's Dharma, followed my husband. It was his decision to leave the spirit world and do something that resulted in us getting cursed. It turns out that it wasn't my fault in the least. For what I found out about it, I am grateful to him. This removes the burden from the heart, causes respect.

I am also grateful to him for learning about my Svarupa, the eternal spiritual form, and my race, and my relationship with the Lord in the spiritual world. Turns out I'm a gopi. Yes, many people think of themselves as gopis, beloved of the Lord, and I was one of them. I also think I'm a gopi. In the spiritual world, I am a married girl who has a loving relationship with the Supreme Lord himself. This may not be the case at all, but in my interaction with this Shri Ram, I was shown that it is so.

It's so amazing to be here, in the material world, to suddenly find out about this in some way! I learned all this thanks to this Shri Ram, thanks to this narration «My Roman. I am Asur's wife».

I am also grateful to him for the fact that, it turns out, he loved me so much in the spiritual world that he decided to leave there. He wanted me to love only him and be only with him, and I have a parakiya-Rasa, a relationship with the Lord. And he loved me so much that he even went to the material world and persuaded me to go with him so that I could be with him alone, and he also loved Krishna. And for the fact that he loved me so much, I am very grateful to him.

409. Gratitude for his desire to be with me

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am grateful to this Shri Ram for the fact that when he lived in the Asuric worlds, he very much wanted me to come to him, and called me to him. I found out about this in the fall of 2018 from my conversation with my son's music teacher about my ex-husband, when I said that he tried very hard to persuade me, he did not believe that he could get children, that he really wanted children and tried to persuade me to get these children. From these words, I understood that this Shri Ram had called me once in previous lives, and after that I really wanted to know why he called me, why he needed it. I didn't understand why he called me there, what he wanted, and then in a game with metaphorical cards, I got a picture of a boy and a girl holding hands, carelessly jumping in a puddle.

This map showed that he wanted to be together with his Shakti, a real eternal couple, he wanted to enjoy the feelings, the joy of life, victory. The girl has interesting pigtailed on the map, like antennas that receive signals from space, signs of the Universe, and the boy knows how to read them, decipher them, he looks at these signs of the Universe that go to these pigtailed-antennas of the girl, and using these signs, can make the right steps in material life, and thanks to this they are happy together and have fun jumping in this puddle, and a puddle of oil is wealth.

This map showed that Shri Ram wanted to be with his Shakti, he wanted happiness and wealth. And for the fact that he wanted it when he was in the Asuric worlds, I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that he constantly thought about his Shakti, that is, about me, wanted to be reunited with me, and without me he felt bad. He waited every day for me to come to him. He somehow persuaded me, mentally sent me his call signs and requests that I come, that I was born where he lives, in the Asuric worlds. His heart was crying without me, because there, of course, were many different women, but his real couple, his Shakti was not with him, and he really wanted to be reunited with her, because if there is an eternal couple, then no other women can give happiness and interaction with them leads to some kind of tragedy, it hurts the heart, like a catheter from an IV when moving to the side.

What for most is only a myth, namely dreams of some mythical second half, for Shri Ram turned out to be an objective reality. We were a couple before the fall from the spiritual world to the material world. We are a real couple, I am his real soul mate, and all other women are like other people's wives for him, taboo. And since he was with other women after our separation, he was constantly going through some tragedies, which made him feel very bad. They could not give him happiness, and he constantly felt a craving for the happiness that is possible only with his own, real couple.

Being in the Asuric worlds, having the opportunity to be with different women, he felt a great longing for his real Shakti, and for this I am grateful to him. For his suffering there for me, I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful that when he was in the Asuric worlds, he did something to make me come to him. I learned this from the 270th episode of my novel, when I described screenshots from the TV series «Mahakali», in which Andhaka called his mother, Parvati, to him. Shri Ram made some effort to get me to come to him in the Asuric worlds. He tried to draw me to him somehow, but I didn't come to him, I was forbidden to do this, because he became an Asura, I didn't go to the Asura, and I was told that I was forbidden to approach him. But as a result of some austerities, I acquired the ability to be in touch with him through distance and, even being far away from him, I knew everything that happened to him there.

And because we were separated as a result of being made an Asur, I had a strong desire to take revenge on all the Asuras, and this desire made me a weapon that destroyed the Asuras. I couldn't go to him. I would have destroyed it. I was confined to the destruction of the Asuras. But despite the fact that his efforts did not bear fruit, he did not give up, he still continued to do something for it. And I am grateful to him that he did not stop trying and did not give up, and also for the fact that thanks to him I became a weapon to destroy the Asuras.

410. Thanks for his decision to go to looking for me

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that when he completely despaired of trying to attract me to the Asuric worlds, he decided to leave the Asuric worlds and go to search for me in all the worlds of the material world. I also found out about this from the screenshots of the story about Andhaka in Mahakali, when he was pining for the love of his mother, Parvati. There Andhaka said: «If you can't stay here, then take me with you, mother!» In these words, I saw that when Shri Ram was in the Asuric worlds, he performed some actions, he tried to persuade me to come to him there, but I did not come, and then he decided that if I could not come to him in the Asuric worlds, then he would go to where I live. And for this decision, I am grateful to him.

I am grateful to him that he decided to go into the unknown to look for someone unknown. He decided to go to the place where I was born and live, to go somewhere unknown to look for I don't know what, while not even being sure that his craving for something is really a craving for his Shakti and that his Shakti exists at all. He wasn't even sure that he had his Shakti, his real eternal mate, but he still decided to go looking for her in all the worlds of the material world, and for that I am grateful to him. Before going, he decided to ask for Shiva's blessing to be reunited with his Shakti, and for this purpose he performed some severe austerities. Shiva easily gives his blessings only to women, and even then it is necessary to keep a fast for 16 consecutive Mondays and read Shiva. Men cannot get Shiva's blessing so easily, and it follows that Shri Ram went through severe austerities to do so.

To get Shiva's blessing, he made some vows and refused to have sex. He became an Asura because he was seduced by an asuri woman who was sent to tear him away from me, because an Asura wanted to have fun with me, but Shri Ram prevented him. And in order to open me up for maneuvers with me, to bend me, that Asura needed to tear Shri Ram away from me, and he sent to him some seductress, an asuri woman, who achieved her goal, and so the curse we received was fulfilled, we became separated from him.

But in order to completely, irrevocably open me, so that that Asur could calmly, without looking back, with full confidence throw his forces to bend me, in order for me to accept his protection and give myself to him, he needed that Shri Ram could not return to me, and for this, that asuri woman seduced Shri Ram to accept the Asuric nature, agreed to become an Asur. He was seduced by the fact that when he accepts the Asuric nature, he will be irresistible in sex and no woman will want more than others. Because when that Asur tried to pull Shri Ram away from me, to make me vulnerable and open to his advances, he affected my consciousness so that I would broadcast outwardly, even in speech, to my husband, Shri Ram, that there are some men who are better than him. This was facilitated by Shri Ram's curse that he would be childless. We didn't get children together, and under the influence of that Asura recruiter, I said about some other men that they get children, that they are somehow better at this business.

This comparison with other men hurt him very much, and that asuri woman used this to her advantage and sang to Shri Ram that if he accepted the Asuric nature, no woman would ever doubt his sexual abilities and capabilities and would never say that there are any men who are better than him. She told him that with the Asuric nature, he would be irresistible in sex and no woman with him would think of another man. He became an Asura because of sex, to become irresistible in sex and so that his woman would never think of another man. But in order to get Shiva's blessing to reunite with me, he refused to have sex, for which he became an Asura. He passed some kind of trial by fire and received the blessing of Shiva. And I'm grateful to him for doing all this.

411. Thank you for going in search of me

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for having received the blessing of Shiva and left the Asuric worlds to look for me. He left the Asuric worlds where he grew up, pursued his Asuric career, and was somehow settled. He went into the unknown, into the unknown, to find his Shakti, that is, me. He went there I don't know where to look I don't know what. He went for it, and for that I am grateful to him.

To do this, he entered the service under a contract as part of the Asura landing force in other worlds. Asuras in this landing are born on other planets in order to force the natives of those planets to commit some unrighteous acts and thereby gain access and permission to influence them, and all in order to extort their pious merits from them.

Shri Ram went as part of the Asuras ' landing party to different planets, different worlds, to look for me. He did not go there to enrich himself with the plunder of pious merit. He didn't go there to gain power and influence. He did not go to feel superior to these natives of different planets, who, like fools, do not even realize that they live next to them like the same in appearance as they are, living beings, but who are actually Asuras, who are able to connect with these natives and extort pious merits from them, and pious merits are the universal currency for which we all get — and good looks, and good luck in life, and wealth, and a long life span, and love. Even love, because in the material world everything is bought and sold, including love.

If you have enough pious merit, you can pay for life with a woman who will give you her love on the higher planes of existence, on the level of the flow of pious merit. But you have to pay for it. The better a woman is, the more pious merit must be paid for living with her. But in any case, you will be in the black. It's like investing in good stocks, a good investment, because from the woman to the man with whom she is, whom she considers her own, flows strength, energy, her pious merits, so that he takes care of her, and thanks to this, everything works out for him. The Asuras know this very well and take advantage of it.

But Shri Ram did not go to different worlds as part of the Asuras ' landing party in order to buy the love of different women there at the expense of pious merits stolen from them, and not to live in luxury. He went there to look for his Shakti, because without Shakti, Shiva is dead. He said to me then through space: «I know you are far away, there are worlds between us, but I am with you forever, you are my only love». And for this I am grateful to him.

I am also grateful to him for the fact that when he found me here, he told me that he would be with me and protect me, that I was above everything in the world for him, that he was happy that I was with him, and that's all he needed. He told me: «I'm so happy: I have you! I want to say «thank you» and I say «merci». Merci, thank you! Merci, thank you for being there». And I'm grateful to him for that.

412. Gratitude for my knowledge that I am the wife of Nrsimhadev

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for the fact that for so many years I have always been able to say with complete confidence that I am married. Often there are all sorts of different provocative questions in real life or write in social networks all sorts of ambiguous sentences. I wrote there a long time ago that I was married, knowing very clearly that I was, because I was married to both this Shri Ram and Nrsimhadev. Even if this Shri Ram goes down, I still have a husband who is my eternal and who told me so himself, so I can always tell anyone with absolutely firm confidence that I am married. And no amount of scanning, NLP techniques, and so on will ever determine how it really is. And for this I am grateful to this Shri Ram, because through him I learned that I have a Supreme husband and this is Nrsimhadev.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

During my interaction with Shri Ram, it was revealed to me that when Shri Ram became an Asur, and I was left alone, and I was offered to break off my relationship with him and was given a new eternal husband, I refused. I didn't do it because I was so loyal, but because I was affected by the curse that separated us from him. In fact, I was very hesitant and wanted to give my consent, but that curse did not allow me to do this, because I had to be alone, without a husband. And so I refused that offer, showing loyalty and doing a very pious thing.

As a result, I ended up on the highest heavenly planets. There, without receiving any help from anyone, I decided to turn to Nrsimhadev and began to dance the dances of devotion to the deity Nrsimhadev. Over time, I developed feelings for this deity. While dancing in front of the deity, I mentally flew to Him and completely, with all the molecules of my subtle body, I dissolved in this deity and merged with Him.

In one of the dances, the call to Him «Become my husband!" came out of me, and He accepted the call. And after that, on one of these flights to the deity, I was merged with Him and remained there, not returning to the body. For a very long time I was absorbed in the deity nrsimhadeva, and then He began to fulfill my desires. And since my long-standing desire was to be reunited with my eternal husband and take revenge on the Asuras for making him an Asur, then Nrsimhadev began to fulfill this desire of mine. I became the destroyer of the Asuras.

I learned this through Shri Ram. I found out that it turns out that I have a Supreme husband and this is Nrsimhadev, who is always with me and who always protects me, so that I can perform my tasks and am a unique specialist. This was possible because when I was absorbed in the deity Nrsimhadeva, I found His nature, and also because He always protects me and manifests himself through me. For what I learned about this, I am grateful to Shri Ram.

I also saw my spiritual name of Windvane in relation to this story. I got this name on the Nrisimha-caturdasi, and when my Gurudeva spoke the name of Windvane, he said it means «the personification of the love of God». And now, from the height revealed in this novel, I see that I am the personified love of God. I fell in love with the Deity Nrsimhadeva on the higher heavenly planets and merged with Him. I am the person who is that love for God, for Nrsimhadev.

Shri Ram had a question about why my love for Nrsimhadev was not shown here in this life, and he was answered through the 167th episode of my novel about Duryodhana's parents. There he was told that this love is there, but it is not shown now, so that he would not feel too much discomfort seeing this love of mine for Nrsimhadeva. And I am grateful to Shri Ram for revealing all this to me.

Because of this, I looked at the words of the song «Radha-Natha» from a completely different angle, my arrangement in the song version of the Bhajan «Manasa Deha Geha» by Bhaktivinoda Thakur. The words in this song are:

You are everything to me. And father, and mother, and son,
And my beloved, my husband, and my mentor, my Master.
Krishna, You hear me, Krishna, Radha's Lord.
You are the light of life For me, I am not alone with You.

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

Earlier, when I sang this song, I thought, how can Krishna be my lover, my husband, because I feel very different feelings for Krishna? But it turns out that there is Nrisimhadev, who is also Krishna. And it turns out He's my husband. And now the words of this song sound very different to me.

I am also grateful to Shri Ram for my realization that there is someone who will tear anyone for me, and he is so strong that he can do it, because it is Nrsimhadev himself, God himself. He'll rip anyone up for me. He showed me this. This realization is so amazing! I have someone who will tear up anyone for me and who loves me.

This gave me a new perspective on what my former mother-in-law said to me when I asked her for help. When I begged her: «Help me, protect me», she said to me with a haughty look: «You have someone to help. You have someone to protect you». Then I was perplexed and thought: who can protect me here, where I suddenly turned out to be nobody and where no one protects me? How wonderfully the energy of the Lord manifests itself! Then Nrisimhadev himself told me through her not to worry, that He always protects me and will protect me. I didn't know about it, I didn't see it, but He told me through her. And then He told me this through the earthquake that occurred in Moscow just at the moment when the epic with the ships ended, when the last point was put there. This was may 24, 2013. Just as the last court session was over, and I got out of there and went home, and the road ahead was open before me, an earthquake happened in Moscow. And this was Nrisimha-chaturdashi. Nrisimha gave me a sign through this earthquake on his day that He is with me and protects me, that we have successfully completed all the business here and now we will go to where He has prepared for me a gift-the fulfillment of my long-standing desire, the desire for which I danced the dances of devotion to Him many lifetimes ago on the higher heavenly planets.

Nrisimhadev even caused an earthquake in Moscow to give me a sign! After the earthquake in Moscow, which is an unusual phenomenon, Nrisimhadev told me that everything was going according to plan and he had prepared a great gift for me-the fulfillment of my desire, which I had so much time ago. For my sake, Nrsimhadev shook Moscow itself! He set up an earthquake there for me, to give me a sign and reassure me that everything is under control, everything is moving as it should.

413. The story of how Nrsimhadev shook not only Moscow, but also the whole of my father's house

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

Nrisimhadev shook not only Moscow for me, but also the whole of my father's house, and many times. Before that, Nrisimhadev came to my house of his own accord. In the fall of 2018, a friend of mine threw me a link with the deity Nrsimhadeva in a Vedic online store and wrote that she wanted to buy such a Deity. Just that day I had the whole day in my mind I had the Nrsimha mantra:

Sri nrisimha Jay nrisimha the Jaya Jai nrsimhadev prahladesha Jaya Padma
Mukha Padma bhringa

«Glory To Lord Nrsimha! Glory to the Lord who is in the heart of Prahlada! Like a bee, he always looks at the Lotus face of the goddess of prosperity».

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And when my friend sent me a link to the deity Nrsimhadeva, I immediately understood why I had been chanting this mantra all that day. In the words «he is like a bee, always looking at the Lotus face of the goddess of prosperity», I saw that nrsimhadev was showing his desire to come to me and stand right in front of me, because He wants to always look at the Lotus face of the goddess of prosperity, that is, my face. Then I thought that if this is what Nrsimhadev wants, then I should fulfill His wish, and so I immediately ordered the Deity from the link sent by my friend. Since then, this Deity has been standing in front of me on my Desk. In this way, Nrsimhadev, for my sake, came to me of his own accord, showing me his love for me. Nrsimhadev expressed a desire to look at my face and immediately appeared to me in the form of a deity. And He showed me very clearly and quite clearly that He doesn't like it when I leave Him without me.

He showed this in the summer of 2018, when he shook my dad's entire house for me, many times. Then my dad went to visit my sister in Moscow. He needed his help there, so he went there for four months and wasn't going back until November. I decided to take advantage of this situation and spend the whole summer in his nice two-room apartment, with a vegetable garden, currants, tomatoes, a cozy protected courtyard, normal Internet.

I took my children, my deities, including Nrsimhadeva, and went there. We stayed there for a couple of days, and then I was called home on some urgent business. I did everything in one day, and we went to my dad's apartment for the whole summer. This time I did not take the Deity Nrsimhadeva with me, I left it at home, thinking that it was heavy and let it stand there, but I did it very wrong. I don't risk doing that anymore, I always take it with Me because I'm already afraid. Do you know why? Now tell.

When we arrived at my father's apartment, I started to open the door of my father's apartment and I was alerted by an unpleasant smell coming from behind the door. It was late in the evening, and we had only been away for a day. When we left, everything was fine, but when I opened the door, I saw that the entire floor of my father's toilet (and it is combined with the bathroom) is flooded with shit that spurts from the toilet, and the entire bathroom is filled with sewer emissions. It's a good thing that dad's toilet has a high ceiling and all this has not had time to pour into the rooms, but another hour or two, and the whole apartment would have floated. We arrived just in time.

I immediately ran to the neighbors, raised the whole house on my ears, it's good that there are only eight apartments in the house and everyone knows each other well. Neighbors called the emergency service, the emergency service arrived, the plumbers looked and said that they would not do anything, because there you need to punch a special machine. They turned off the water in the whole house, told me not to use the toilet and water, and left, and we stayed, and I spent half the night collecting all this from the toilet floor and from the bathroom and dragging a bucket outside. Tired as hell.

In the morning a car came, broke through the clog, water and toilet has become possible to use. After that, I scrubbed the toilet all day, washed everything, but the smell still did not go away. We calmed down, but we did not manage to enjoy peace for a long time, because a few days later the situation with the blockage was repeated. The sewer was clogged again, which was surprising, since the house is only eight apartments, everyone knows each other, no one throws anything in the toilet, for many years there was not a single blockage, and here two in a row.

Again the car was called, again the whole system was punched, again I carried buckets outside, again I scrubbed the toilet, then everything was quiet again. And so it was four times in a row with breaks for a couple of days between blockages. After the third blockage, I was already very determined to go home, but I was afraid that if this happened again, it would flood my father's entire apartment, and this slowed me down. In the end, when I went outside with buckets and scrubbed the toilet for the fourth time, my neighbor called my dad. She yelled at dad to drop everything and go home and deal with everything himself, since no one throws anything in the toilets, and the blockages don't stop and the whole house can't live normally because of this, but dad firmly cut off that he won't go anywhere and will sit there until November.

I was very tired, I no longer had the strength to clean the shit out of the toilet, I shuddered at the thought of the possibility of the next blockage and thought that I simply could not stand it anymore. But then a couple of days later, dad called and said that he had quarreled with his sister and was flying home. It was just incredible, because they always got along well and never quarreled, and then they quarreled to such an extent that he dropped everything and was already flying home.

And then I realized what it was. All these blockages pushed me home, but I endured with all my might, and then the heavy artillery was turned on, so that I finally returned home to the deity Nrsimhadeva, who was standing alone on my table. I no longer run the risk of leaving one at home Nrsimhadeva. It is heavy, of course, but now I always take it with me, because it was very clearly and clearly explained to me that I was wrong to leave Him at home alone.

I don't think dad has ever had such blockages, especially in a continuous series. All the neighbors said in unison that the last time there was a blockage was about twenty years ago, and everyone has lived there for more than fifty years. And here are four blockages in a row, although the neighbors all know each other and take precautions, do not throw anything in the toilet, not even toilet paper. After we arrived at our place, dad didn't have a single blockage anymore. He wondered what it was.

No matter how many times we visited, there were no blockages, but when we arrived for the whole summer and did not take Nrsimhadev with us, there were four blockages in a row, and for no apparent reason. And dad wasn't going to come back, but he had to. I tried to persuade myself to stay after each regular clearing of the blockage, but we still had to leave there, we were there for a very short time.

I was very tired there. I thought we were going to rest there, but I was really tired shoveling shit out of dad's toilet. He wondered if it was so often and so much. Therefore, the worship of Deities is a serious matter. But I don't worship Deities, they just stand there. Nrsimhadev came to me and said that he wanted to always look at the Lotus face of the goddess of prosperity like a bee. I decided that I would fulfill His wish. But when I didn't take Him with me and wanted to be there all summer, until September 1, He said, " Oh, right? Are you not fulfilling My wish? I'll arrange it for you! " — and arranged it.

On the one hand, I was very tired there, and on the other hand, it is very pleasant to realize that Nrsimhadev himself wanted to look at me so much that he even made so many blockages in my father's toilet, although in my memory this has never happened, and I lived there all my childhood and often came back after. And even pulled my dad away from my sister. Dad probably would have stayed with her until November and everything would have been fine, they always lived soul to soul, but suddenly at this time, when there were these blockages that did not affect me, because I still did not return home, cherishing the hope that everything would be all right, dad and his sister had a fight and even returned home.

Nrsimhadev has made it very clear that he doesn't like me to leave Him without me. What did Nrsimhadev do when I decided to leave Him at home and go to my dad's apartment for the summer, when my dad went to my sister's? Dad had never had a blockage after blockage for several days in a row, even though the system was completely cleared and no one clogged the sewer. The house is small, with only eight apartments. Neighbors know each other well. Well, we cleared the system once. Everyone already knows that you can't throw anything in the toilet, no one throws anything. But why did the second blockage suddenly occur, why the third, why the fourth, one after the other? And then dad was kicked out of here so that we could leave and go to him, to Nrsimhadev. Because I left Him here alone. He didn't want to be alone. It's so amazing when you get to know all this from this angle. This is how nrsimhadev showed his love for me! It pays off.

414. Gratitude for the words of Nrsimhadev to me «But I love you!»

Unfortunately, it's a machine translation of the chapter. More precise literal translation from Russian into English will be done later.

And already in my interaction with Shri Ram, Nrsimhadev has shown his presence and attitude, his help and protection so many times. Thanks to Shri Ram, I found out that I have someone, and that is Nrisimhadev himself, who will tear anyone up for me and who can actually do it. He is ready to tear up anyone for me, for such an insignificant one, and also at my request, He can spare someone. He didn't kill Shri Ram in the summer of 2016 because I asked him to. He could have completely destroyed Shri Ram when Shri Ram was attacked by the financial crisis that would have made him bankrupt, homeless, and then led him to an inglorious death at the garbage dump, but I asked Nrsimhadev on the higher planes of existence to spare Shri Ram, not to kill or maim him, so Shri Ram remained intact.

I have learned through Shri Ram that there is someone who is ready to break up anyone for my sake and can do it, and who is ready to spare anyone for my sake and can do it, and he is my husband. It's amazing, but it turns out that way. And this I learned through Shri Ram.

In the 271st episode of my novel, Nrsimhadev told me through a coincidence of screenshots that he was waiting for me every day when I would come to Him. And there, when I said «and Nrisimhadev told me»..., a screenshot came out with the words»You are my Shakti«. It turned out that through this screenshot, Nrisimhadev himself said that I was his Shakti, his wife. This was already said not by me, but by Nrisimhadev himself, through the coincidence of my words and the words in the screenshot.

And when Shri Ram gave me a very big offense, when I found out about the third take and asked Nrsimhadev to break Shri Ram for my humiliation, Nrsimhadev said through the screenshot with the words «Without Shakti Shiva is a corpse!" that if Shri Ram is not with me, he will become a corpse. Nrisimhadev will tear it up, and there will be nothing left of Shri Ram. Nrisimhadev can tear this Shri Ram to shreds, because he doesn't like to be hurt. It's great to know that there is someone who does not tolerate being hurt and is ready to tear anyone to shreds, even this Shri Ram, who is my eternal husband and whom Nrsimhadev gave me as a gift, which even shook Moscow by setting an earthquake there.

I am also very grateful to Shri Ram for the fact that Nrsimhadev has shown me so many times during our interaction with Shri Ram that he loves me. Whenever Shri Ram did something bad to me, when I found out about it, and when I felt very bad, each time Nrsimhadev told me in one way or another: «But I love you!»

My Roman. I'm asur's wife

And even to get my attention and tell me this, he fell off my table when the cat passed near the deity and when I was grieving for another blow from Shri Ram. Our cat knows how to move so as not to touch anything, but then, when I once again thought that why did I come to this Shri Ram, if he does not need me and he needs anyone but me, our cat suddenly miraculously moved the Deity Nrsimhadeva and it fell off the table with a loud sound. I then looked at this case, and I immediately came up with the idea: «but I love you!»

And for the fact that nrsimhadev himself told me that He loves me, I am immensely grateful to Shri Ram. To have the Lord himself tell someone that he loves them is something amazing. It's worth a lot. And this is the most precious thing for which I am grateful to Shri Ram.

So I have something to say to Shri Ram: «I am so happy, so happy: I have you! I want to say «thank you» and say " mercy». Mercy, thank you! Mercy, thank you for being there».

I am grateful to this world for revealing all this to me, for allowing me to pass through these revelations, and for treating me with compassion and understanding, for revealing the secrets of my past very delicately, sparing me. All I can say is that the world will never be the same for me again.
